McGraw's Team Beats Senators by Score Of 4 to 3, Getting 14 Hits in 12 Innings

Nearly 40,000 See Contest at Capital
WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Before a crowd estimated to be nearly 40,000 people, the New York Giants defeated the Washington Senators on the latter's home grounds this afternoon by a score of 4 to 3.
The game went twelve innings before the McGraw men were able to beat out their adversaries. Up until the ninth the New Yorkers were on the long end of a 2 to 1 score, but in their half of this stanza, the Senators scored a run and tied the score.

EMMETTSBURG, Ia., Oct. 4.—Senator Smith W. Brookhart, storm center in Iowa politics since his election two years ago, and who early this week denounced Charles G. Dawes, Republican vice-presidential candidate, formally opened his campaign for re-election here Friday with an address in which he attacked President Coolidge and "machine party leaders."
Replying to reports that he would support the presidential candidacy of Robert M. La Follette, he said he never had a thought of leaving the Republican party.

WESTERN DIXIE HIGHWAY BOOSTERS FROM ALBANY, GA., PASS THROUGH "CELERY CITY"

REPORTS FROM WEST EXCITING G. O. P. LEADERS

Increase in Wheat Prices Fails to Serve as Bail to Secure Western Farmer Vote; G. O. P. is Blamed for Serious Conditions—Now Existing and Farmers Won't Forget

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Republican leaders appear to be astonished and hurt by the dispatches the correspondent of a Republican newspaper in Washington, D. C., is sending to his paper from the northwest. This correspondent, whose vitals are torn when he has to write stuff unsatisfactory to the Republicans, is none the less than an honest man. He has recently spent a good deal of time in South Dakota, and writes back to his paper in Washington that the farmers out there simply refuse to form bankruptcy and that the Republicans did the deflating. The recent rise in the price of wheat, he says, has not done a thing toward erasing the facts from the tenacious memories of the northwest farmers. They are glad to get better prices, but they hate to have to pay out all the money on their old debts.

The farmers have not forgotten that they were soldiers in the world war—that food won the war as they were told it would do—and that they have been treated a little worse than any other soldiers of that war by the Republican administration. In spite of what President Coolidge and the rest of the Republican leaders say about it, the farmers know that they were in debt, not as a matter of patriotism but as a matter of fact, and that they could expand their acreage and produce more food to enable the armies in the trenches to win victories. They have not forgotten that they had to compete with war-time factory wages for labor, that they had to buy machinery at twice the normal price and fertilizers at three times the bid figure. They know that they came out of the war debt-ridden in the service of their country. They have always been proud of their war wounds and labor, if they had been permitted to pay them with dollars worth a hundred cents.

But they remember that when the Republicans got control of congress, they started immediately to make the farmer's debt a half-dollar. They remember that a Republican senator, McCormick of Illinois, introduced a resolution demanding that the Federal Reserve Board adopt a policy which would force the member banks all over the country to make a drastic deflation of currency and credit. They remember that a Republican senator adopted this resolution, and that as a result of it, the banks called their loans, prices of farm products dropped, and the era of agricultural ruin began.

They have not forgotten that the Republicans did everything in their power, apparently, to make this ruin complete. They remember that the Republican candidate for president in 1920 declared in his speech of acceptance not only that deflation was necessary but that it ought to have begun on the day after the armistice. They have been told on good authority that capitalists and other Republican favorites were warned to "stand from under" when the deflation policy was launched, and they know that the full weight of it fell upon the farmers.

After having motored from Albany, Ga., to Chicago thence to Detroit and back to Cincinnati and over to Washington, a distance of approximately 3,700 miles, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Lee and C. E. Hibbard in the "Albany Scout" car, arrived in Sanford Thursday and spent several hours in this city looking over the celery fields and other show places of this vicinity.

Mr. Niel, who is secretary-manager of the Albany Chamber of Commerce, left that city several weeks ago on the trip which he described to a representative of The Herald as being "wonderful from the very beginning." Mr. Hibbard, who is driving the car, is United States marshal at Albany.

The purpose of this interesting motor trip as expressed by Mr. Niel is to supply reliable data to the automobile clubs and other sources of information for tourists from Florida as to the Western Dixie Highway through Georgia via Albany.

The Florida short route, according to Mr. Niel, connects with the Western Dixie Highway at Albany, the world's peanut center, the traveler then going north via Andersonville where is located the National Cemetery, a shrine for many, and thence to Fort Valley, the heart of the Georgia peach belt.

There is not a single detour said Mr. Niel, nor wooden bridge nor ford on the Western Dixie Highway but every stream is spanned by concrete or steel structures. It is claimed to be the best route from Florida through Georgia, the most perfect route and over the most perfect roads. Convenient free tourist camp sites and comfortable hotels will be found all along the route, Mr. Niel further stated.

Car Has Many Signs.—The Buick Six touring car, in which the party is touring, is painted on its top lengthwise a large white arrow lettered in blue "Albany, Ga., World's Peanut Center" and "Follow the Arrow to Florida." On either side of the hood is also painted the white arrow lettered in blue with the inscription "Follow the Arrow."

New Process May Salvage Millions From Sea Bottom

TERSCHELLING, Holland, Oct. 4.—A new process for salvaging and burying treasure of the gold cargo of the British frigate Lutine, which has baffled a century's efforts, has just been put into operation here with every promise of success.

The Lutine was wrecked on a sandbank near this island during a violent gale in the night of Oct. 9, 1799. Her crew of over 400 perished. Her cargo consisted of several million dollars worth of gold bars and specie.

Fifty feet of sand covers the wreck and repeated efforts have resulted in the recovery of about half a million dollars and the ship's bell, now at Lloyd's in London. At first divers were put to work, but later machinery was used to get at the wreck through the thick layer of sand by means of suction pumps.

Now a new apparatus, invented by a Dutch engineer, is being used. It goes away with the suction process and substitutes hydraulic pressure. A tubular device is put into the sand and steel grapples at the bottom seize any object beneath it. The machine can work in any weather that is not too rough for the salvage vessel to be out.

During the three days that the new apparatus was used recently no gold had been raised, but indications are certain according to the inventor that the right spot has been struck and hopes are entertained that the rest of the Lutine's cargo is again estimated at between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000 and will be secured from Dutch ports.

GREEK CABINET RESIGNS

ATHENS, Oct. 4.—The Greek Cabinet headed by M. Epponilla, has resigned.

ANNOUNCING AN OTHER BIG

LOT SALE!

ON THE EASY PAYMENT PLAN THROUGH OUR

PINE CREST CLUB

The sale starts Monday, October 6th, 1924, and will last until another one hundred lots have been sold. It will be remembered that our first hundred lots were sold in less than four days. Those wanting one or more of these lots must act quick. The Pine-Crest subdivision is located on Sanford Avenue to the south of the city limits and is in line for advancement in price, this winter. With the improvements already completed and the further improvements contemplated, with the unusually low prices and the very easy terms, this sale will offer the small investor an opportunity that happens only once in a lifetime. Every one is given an opportunity of owning some Sanford real estate through our plan. Remember, these lots can be purchased at the rate of

ONE DOLLAR A WEEK

We have added to our other club plans, the ONE DOLLAR CLASS. The lots are all priced from $95.00 to $195.00. By making a first payment of either $5.00 or $10.00 you can then join the Dollar Club and finish paying for your lot at the rate of One Dollar a week. And when you take into consideration the fact that these deferred payments do not carry interest, it makes your lot cost even less than the low price asked. It enables you to own real estate that is increasing in value and should be worth twice what you pay for it by the time you complete your payments. Already we have over a hundred in this club, and could have had more if it were not due to the fact that we took them off the market after the first hundred were sold. We have members in the club who were in position to pay cash but took out the membership to create a saving account for their children. And you can do likewise. There is not a better investment than Sanford real estate and you are bound to collect big dividends through our plan. Don't put this off, but get in touch with us immediately. We have three salesmen at your disposal.

First Free Lot Oct. 15

We promised our club members a free lot on each month for five months. We will award the first lot on Wednesday, October 15th. Every member of our club, whose payments are up to date, will get one of these lots, and then on the 15th of each month thereafter, until five lots have been given away, we will award another. Join the club now so that you will come in on the first award.

IMPROVEMENTS

A large sum of money has been set aside for improvements in Pine-Crest. These improvements will be paid for by our company. There have been four new streets already cut through and graded. Other streets will follow. The underbrush and unnecessary timber is being taken off the place. You will find Pine-Crest a beautiful spot for a subdivision. It will pay you to take the time to run out and look it over. BUT DO IT NOW. Next week may be too late.

OPEN FOR BUSINESS

Our office has been closed during the summer months, but we are now doing business at the same old stand, Rooms 515-6, First National Bank building. We have listed some very choice buys in Sanford real estate and no matter what your demands may be, it will pay you to look our listings over. We are in position to fix you up in a City Home, Country Home, vacant lots, lake front property, acreage for subdivisions, farm land or orange groves. And inasmuch as we are looking for big results from the prospects secured this summer, if you have something you want sold be sure it is listed with us AT ONCE. We have inquiries on our desk now for different kinds of Sanford and Seminole County real estate.

What have you to offer?

EXTRA SPECIAL BUSINESS PROPERTY

We have a nice piece of business property, well located with a net income amounting to better than 8 percent on $20,000.00 that can be bought right and on terms which scatter over a period of ten years. If you are looking for a real investment look this over.

GOOD PAYING BUSINESS

We are offering for a quick sale, a well established business in Sanford, located on First Street, at a price, with a guarantee that the business will pay for itself in less than two years. It is the best business of its kind on First Street, and the owner's reason for selling is because his health will not permit him handling the large volume. This is a good buy, see us about it.

VACANT LOTS

We have some good bargains in well located building lots, located on Oak Park, Magnolia and Palmetto Aves. All on paved streets. We are in excellent position to locate you, where you want. Several of these lots are being offered at a bargain.

One of the prettiest homes on Park Ave., has been listed within seven blocks of First Street. And the price is right.

The self-imposed bolt, the moment adds, "is a result of a piracy to defeat the right of people to elect a president at the polls and to force an election by a congress selected two to six years ago."

Senator Brookhart who opened his campaign for reelection Emmetsburg Friday with a vicious attack upon President Coolidge, declared that because he "was nominated by 200,000 Republican voters" it was he who represented the Republicans of Iowa rather than the present Republican organization which he said was controlled by "a small group of crooked and irresponsible dictators set up by the non-partisan league of Wall Street."

Illame La Follette Heads.
The committee declared that the heads of the La Follette party inspired Senator Brookhart's actions "for the malicious purpose of attempting to turn the attention of the voters from the real issues of the campaign" and "defeat the right of the people to elect a president at the polls," thereby throwing the election into congress.
The state central committee, in its statement, reaffirms its confidence in the heads of the national ticket and declares "we are proud to stand on the life and record of Calvin Coolidge against the attacks of any man."
Simultaneously with the committee's pronouncement Mrs. Miriam Stewart Hollowell, the Iowa national committeewoman, issued a statement in which she declared Senator Brookhart's "attack on my candidates, which comes like a slap in the face, leaves me with no other choice than to feel that he has forfeited the right to my endorsement."

Beginning with two addresses in Trenton and finishing with a speech last night at Newark, the nominee spent a busy day in this state. He spoke at the interstate fair near Trenton for a few minutes, then stopped at Elizabeth for talk on citizenship. He attended the beginning of a dinner of Essex county Democrats in Newark last night, taking an hour's rest before the last speech of the day.
Frederick W. Donnelly, Democratic nominee for United States senator, spoke with Mr. Davis in Trenton and accompanied him on the rest of his tour. Senator Edwards joined him in Newark, as did James Nugent, Essex leader. Governor Silzer made the circuit with the nominee, introducing him at Trenton and at the fair.
"I take it for granted," said Mr. Davis at Princeton, "that in 1925

He further pointed out that there needs to be a connecting link in the merchandising chain for a producer. Advertising, he said, means that it will be brought to the minds of the people quicker and it has been learned by experience that the advertising of such products pays well. It is certain, he declared, that co-operation in merchandising has become the best policy for the growers.

It was learned from Mr. Ivy that his company has representatives in 45 of the largest cities of the United States. In the plan of advertising proposed, the entire crop of celery will be followed to the various markets and it is in the sections where Sanford and Seminole county celery is sold that the advertising will be done.

Newspaper Advertising
He also stated that for the marketing of the local crop which lasts only four or five months of each year, newspaper advertising will bring the best results and it will be through such a medium that Sanford celery will be made known to the consumers.
All of the celery should bear one brand, stated Mr. Ivy so that it will have that distinction when placed on the market. He also stated that only good celery be shipped because if poor celery is advertised as that of high quality, such a move will kill the market for it quicker than anything else.

A recommendation was made that the committee of five be authorized to employ a suitable person and one acceptable to both the senate and city commissioners, to act as a general welfare agent in the county.
It is understood that the committee already has in mind a local plan for the position and an appointment of her appointment would be made within a short time.
The committee will expedite work by publishing its recommendations regarding the welfare work of the Chamber of Commerce committee, that after a more mature consideration it deemed it advisable to recommend the present plan because it would better serve the interests involved and save time in getting the work on the way.
Mayor Forrest Lake, who presided over the meeting in the absence of President Edward Higgins, announced that officials of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad have written the City Commission that work will begin soon on providing a new park space at the depot.
The organization voted to cooperate with Alex French in getting out a plan for a tourist camp into condition for campers to stay. It was agreed to let Mr. French have $200 to carry on this work.
The meeting heard several reports from various committees and one regarding the completion of statistical data in connection with the proposed St. Johns Indian River canal.

contest began. Mr. Coolidge was greeted by a thunderous applause which he acknowledged with a smile and a wave of his hand. Mrs. Coolidge showed intense interest in the game, several times applauding upon good plays.
The line-ups for the game were as follows:

First Inning
Lindstrom, lead off man for the Giants, flew out to center. Frisch with one ball and one strike on him, attempted to bunt and popped out to third. Young, with three balls and two strikes on him, retired the side by fanning wide at the third one. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Second Inning
Kelly started this inning for the Giants by putting Johnson in the hole, with three balls and two strikes, and then about one to left center for a home run, drawing the first blood of the series. Terry kept the good work going by singling to center after he had three balls and two strikes on him. Wilson fanned at three when Terry remained on first. Jackson drew a pass, but Hank Gowdy retired the side by hitting into a double, short to second to first. One run, two hits, no errors.

Third Inning
Judge flew out to right and Blouge went out, pitcher to first. Peckinpach singled to left and Nehf walked back, but Johnson's line drive along third ended in Lindstrom's mitt, retiring the side. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Fourth Inning
Walter Johnson cut down three of the men this inning by striking out Young, Kelly and Wilson, but was not able to keep the Giants from scoring their second run of the game, when Terry, peckinpach and Wilson hit one into the left field bleachers for the second home run of the game. One run, one hit, no errors.

Fifth Inning
Jackson helped Johnson's strike-out record by fanning at three. Gowdy connected for a safe one to right center but was forced at second when Nehf hit to short. Nehf was safe at first on the play but Lindstrom could not deliver and flew out to center. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Sixth Inning
The Senators went the one-two-three route. Peckinpach flew out on a short foul to third. Ruel flew out to left and Johnson was thrown out short to first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Seventh Inning
Wilson started the inning well with a single along first base line, but was forced at second as Jackson hit into a double play, third to second to first. Gowdy, after unsuccessfully trying to convince the umpire that a close one hit him was given his base on four bad ones, went to second as Nehf singled to short right, took third on Johnson's wild pitch, Nehf going to second, but Lindstrom ended the agony by being thrown out, short to first. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Eighth Inning
Peckinpach caught Frisch's fly to short left. Young, after striking out three times, hit a double along the left field line and went to third as Kelly was thrown out, short to first. Johnson walked Terry. As Terry and Young tried "the double" steal, Young was caught off third. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Ninth Inning
In Washington's half of the ninth, Lindstrom made a wonderful start as McNeely's summer and threw him out at first. Harris flew out to left. Rice walked and stole second as the second strike was called on Goslin, but was left there as Goslin struck out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Tenth Inning
Johnson had two strike outs to his credit in this frame. Lindstrom struck out Frisch angled to left and stole second, but died there as Young flew out to second, and Kelly struck out. No runs, one hit, no errors.

WIDE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

ALL ARE INVITED:—Come ye, and let us go up to the mountain of the Lord, to the house of the God of Jacob; and he will teach us of his ways, and we will walk in his paths. Isaiah 2: 3.

PERSISTENCE

Over and over I've tried and I've failed in the things I've wanted to do; my plans and my dreams have tumbled to earth.

With the sight of my goal in plain view, I've battled with sorrow, with grief, and distress, I've fought, I've struggled with sin.

And yet each new day hope whispers to me, "There's a chance—try again—and you'll win!"

What's worth having is worth paying for.

Promises are easily made but seldom lived up to.

The Chinese celebrate New Year's Day by paying their debts. We know some places in this country which ought to have hang-up celebration on January first.

Up until yesterday there had been approximately 900 acres of celery set out, which is estimated will be almost one-half of the crop for the coming season.

Many local fans hold a warm place in their hearts for the Washington Senators and are pulling for the Capital City team to beat the Giants for the World's championship.

The American Legion should have the support of all baseball fans in furnishing the return from the world series. It is an expensive undertaking, and the Armory should be filled every day.

Talk about thrift among immigrants. Fifteen young couples coming to America on the Scandinavian line, Oscar second, saved time by becoming engaged and doing their courtship on the way over.

Chairman Butler again makes a statement that causes one smile inwardly and outwardly. The idea that a coalition exists between the Democrats and the third party, as he charges, is too amusing to require serious consideration.

The New York Giants paid $75,000 for Jimmy O'Connell last year and now he has been purchased from the Yankees for $100,000.

Evidently the editor of the Collier County News believes in wearing golf breeches for golf's sake only for in his column of local happenings he remarks, "yes, Everglades will have a golf course a little later on. The short pants will then come in handy."

Turn that spare room into money. Every day sees many people arriving in Sanford who wish to secure living quarters and who consult The Herald's classified pages. To reach those people use a little wit and not only help yourself but help Sanford keep people here.

Miami is observing a Safety Week and has taken as its slogan "Always Be Careful." Sanford took the lead in a week of this kind and the special campaign put on here by the Kiwanis club has resulted in better and safer traffic conditions.

Election day is less than a month away. Will the good people who are interested in good conditions, take the time and the trouble to vote, or will they let the other fellow, who doesn't care much about conditions do all the ballot-marking.

The value of advertising has been recognized by local growers of celery and other farmers. At a meeting held at the Court House last night an extensive advertising campaign to aid the sale of the product was agreed upon. An assessment of three cents per crate on every one shipped from Sanford, will supply the money for this purpose.

Besides being the village blacksmith, Henry Lutz is the town barber of Fidelity, Illinois. He is usually handy with a razor. He is a barber in a corner of his shop and a barber in a corner of his mind. He is obliged to shave off his leather apron and his hair and comb the "stubble" from a farmer patron's face.

You Can Not Bully A Golf Ball

Do you know what we mean by the "golf ball bully"? He is the fellow who steps upon the toe of a particularly long and beautiful fairway, declares to himself that he will just knock that little white pill clear out of sight, and then proceeds to dub it. Who walks twenty or thirty feet down the fairway to where his ball lies, grips his club a little tighter, determines to make up for this distance thus lost, and ends with a terrific slice. Whose life on the links is one determined effort to brow-beat the gutta-percha into complete submission, to flatten the elusive orb into a pancake, with the inevitable result that each successive stroke is more precisely topped than the former.

But that temperament so nicely illustrated in the "golf ball bully" is evidenced not only in the golfer, nor is it confined exclusively to the links. It can be found in every sport, in every business, in fact in every walk of life. The polo player who unmercifully whips or spurs his pony, the baseball player who tries for a home run when a bunt is called for, the "social climber" who uses the telephone directory to compile her invitation list from, the merchant who refuses to advertise or to carry stock worthy of popular demand, all show inherent qualities of exactly the same temperament of the "golf ball bully."

We all know some of these persons. We come into contact with them every day and the question immediately arises, Do they get by? It is a question of sociology and psychology: Can a man bulldoze his way through life? Are there a sufficiently large number of Americans readily open to intimidation so that a man can buffalo his way about without needlessly endangering the points of his own horns or recklessly risking the possible gray matter which lies behind through contact at some time with some immovable object?

The answer from all is immediately "No!" A man of this type cannot get by! Americans are not mollycoddles! You can't intimidate an American!

Then why is it that so many apparently do get by? Why is it that we see about us every day men, apparently making a success of life, who employ in all they do the tactics of the "golf ball bully"? The answer is obvious. Their success is temporary. They are balancing chips on their shoulders which some day will doubtless be suddenly and unceremoniously removed. It may not be the local "bad man," a proclaimed victor over his weight in wild cats, who will knock the chip off somebody's shoulder. It may be the most mildly disposed individual, much averse to violence in personal disputes, who will knock the chip off and may knock a block off, too.

Back Of It All, "The Trade"

In Scotland the opposition to prohibition measures is called "The Trade." The same Dirty Dollar that is the chief power in the protection of evil institutions in this country has its counterpart in Great Britain. And there, as here, there are thousands of "respectable" people deriving revenue from the destruction of the happiness and the souls of their fellowmen.

During one of the most bitter campaigns ever known in Scotland an effort has been made to out-law the liquor business. But so entrenched is "The Trade" and so bulwarked by the laws their people have made to nullify the local option measure—which is the only measure under which the people can vote for prohibition—the elections went "wet" with ballots marked for "The Trade" by the lowest element that could be hired to come from the dogs of Scottish cities and "exercise their franchise." The results of the election are more "wet" towns, but an aroused people determined to overthrow the power of "The Trade" which is ruling the British Isles.

By selling stock in breweries and distilleries to the so-called respectable people of Great Britain, the liquor interests have woven a great network of influence in their behalf. The unclean money comes as respectable "dividends." The people deriving money benefits from "The Trade" have nothing to do with the direct making of drunks, with the direct ruining of British homes. They go to church and say their prayers. They live correct, nice lives. They give liberally to the missions and pay liberal taxes for the maintenance of insane asylums and orphanages for the care of their victims. And at election time they vote for their pounds sterling. They stand by "The Trade" with all its evil ramifications.

The "Dirty Dollar," after all, is the power behind the throne of all evil. If the liquor interests in this country had not made great fortunes out of the hellish traffic, they would not be using every means they can devise to nullify the national prohibition law. Their newspapers would not be advocating a return to the days of legalized rum-selling, if their newspapers were not looking for the success of the Democratic party on an anti-prohibition platform, if Al Smith and his crowd did not know that there would be money-making in it for the gang.

Watch the type of people who work—both openly and secretly—for the liquor business. Note their connections. See how the "Dirty Dollar" would increase their material prosperity. Back of it all, in this country as well as in Scotland, you will find "The Trade."

THINK NOT THY time short in this world, since the world itself is not long. The created world is but a small parenthesis in eternity and a short interposition for a time, between such a state of duration as was before it and may be after it.—Sir Thomas Browne.

ANY MAN MAY make a mistake; none but a fool will stick to it. Second thoughts are best as the proverb says.—Cicero.

THE OPPOSITE OF what is noised about concerning men and things is often the truth.—La Bruyere.

THE MORE VIRTUOUS a man is the less easily does he suspect others to be vicious.—Cicero.

WALK RIGHT

LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL.

The best new sign which has appeared in Louisville recently has been painted on the sidewalk the last few days.

"Walk Right!" This is accompanied with a painted line dividing the pavement in halves, thus indicating the sections to which the going and coming streams of pedestrians should keep.

The lesson is badly needed, and should be impressed by other means more effective than signs.

"Walk Right" means "Keep to the Right." If all pedestrians would observe that simple rule most of the inconvenience which obstructs progress on narrow, congested sidewalks would be obviated.

"Keep to the Right" for pedestrians is as essential a rule as "Keep to the Right" for drivers. And yet there are thousands in Louisville who violate it every day. Thoughtless persons who zig-zag carelessly; selfish persons who hug the left, inner side of a walk on hot days or rainy days; some women of old-time traditions who cling to the obsolete theory that it is the prerogative of their sex to keep to the left if the left be in shade of a walk—these are the main offenders against this law of the sidewalk, which should be as strictly enforced as the like law of the road.

Congratulations to the Louisville authorities for their effort to teach the pedestrians of the city this lesson.

Dangerous Decision. Smashing the Atom. Lotta's Real Estate. Al and Teddy the 2nd. BY ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright 1924)

LAYMEN out of respect for the courts, assume that the Supreme Court Judges of California interpreted the law accurately when, by a majority of only one, they decide that LaFollette's electors, although duly named by petition, should not go on the ballot in November.

The people do not like to be told by a judge or anybody, that they may not vote for their own choice. For a court by a majority of one, in disregard of established custom, to say that state electors are the servants and agents of political conventions, and that therefore the people have no right to name their own electors by petition is dangerous.

THIS CALIFORNIA decision will be worth a great deal to those who believe that the public, having power to put judges on the bench should also have the power to take them off.

AN ATOM IS so small that angels as big as atoms could dance on the point of a needle as comfortably as a hundred human beings could dance on a ball room floor.

The atom, its name comes from a Greek word meaning "can't be cut" was supposed to be the smallest particle of matter in all nature, and so small it could not possibly be divided.

Now we know that it is a little solar system in itself, having a center or nucleus around which revolve with a speed immeasurably to our minds, as planets revolve around our sun.

IT IS PROPOSED to smash and disintegrate one of these atoms. To do that a force must be exerted sufficient to overcome the power that holds the revolving electrons, which are nothing but units of electric force, around the central nucleus.

The task to be undertaken, in the research laboratory of Sheffield University within a few weeks, will require 600,000 horse power. An amount of energy great enough to tear a dozen skyscrapers from their concrete moorings or to move a dozen battleships at top speed is necessary to overcome the power that holds together the widely separated parts of an atom, so small that thousands of them in the corner of your eye would not be noticed.

WE ADMIRE nature in "beauty" rolling suns and planets. In beauty more marvellous beyond comprehension is the infinitely small. If you could realize, harness and use the energy that holds together the atoms that make up the crystal covering on the face of your watch that power would run the greatest factory in the world for years.

LOTTA CRABTREE, clever actress of a day gone by, is dead, aged seventy-seven. Learn from her that real estate pays, also that even wise real estate investors often fall to recognize a bargain.

Lotta invested her earnings in land, and died worth about $5,000,000. She made one investment in New York, at One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street, before the elevated railroad was finished. Having invested $8,000 in One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street lots, some one persuaded her that she had been cheated. She brought suit and her money was returned. The court decided that she had been deceived as to the value of the land.

IF LOTTA HAD hung on to that $8,000 investment she would have died worth $10,000,000 instead of $5,000,000.

Moral: When you get hold of a piece of real estate keep it. There is only just so much of this earth. Get some of it in the right place.

AL SMITH AND The afore Roosevelt II, running against each other for New York's governorship puzzle politicians and Wall Street betting men. How many votes will the ghost of F. R. bring to his son, trying to follow in his steps? Al Smith has a following considerable in number that nothing can take from him.

It will be an interesting fight. Bettors will be wise if they "hold off" for a while.

HERE IS A REALLY good international joke. Chang, Chinese general has been bombarding China's great wall with TNT from flying machines—hence known why—perhaps for target practice.

Now he takes to dropping explosives from the sky on his enemies, killing a few and the League of Nations solemnly says to him, "Hey, you mustn't do that. Don't you know that's barbarous?"

Poor Chang wonders why he can't imitate killing methods of the West along with other occidental accomplishments. He knows who "superior white men" bomb each other, when we want to.

HE'LL HAVE TO BE SOME STEPPER

JUST IN PASSING

By R. J. BOLLY

Read in daily dispatches the other day where some folks had discovered bread in Egypt that had been baked a century ago. This reminds me that some of that same bread has been handed down to the present generation.

With the news that snows have already fallen in some northern states it is well for Sanford to prepare for the winter season. More rooms, more apartment houses, more accommodations for all kinds of people. Sanford can easily take care of a thousand tourists.

Some states are trying to keep the names of LaFollette and Wheeler from the ballot. This is the wrong idea. LaFollette and Wheeler are candidates and have a right to be on the ticket. The more such things are stirred the more odor comes from the stirring. Such an action would do much toward electing LaFollette and Wheeler.

This is the week for sending out postcards. There has not been much said about it in Sanford, but nevertheless we should all send out cards and advertise our community. This holds good for all time and not only Post Card Week.

The writer of this column and the editor of The Herald are in Miami today looking at the tall buildings. If we like any of them we may bring them back to Sanford with us. Of course Rolland Dean thinks a lot about Miami, although he is being wined away from it day by day living in a growing city like Sanford.

My prediction about the lake front is gradually being verified in every way. Fifteen years ago I said the lake front would be the most valuable asset of Sanford some day and this is coming true. Every visitor to Sanford is greatly impressed with our beautiful lake and when that canal into Indian River is built we shall see what we shall see.

Watching the trend of events you will see that all roads running north and south through Florida from Jacksonville to Tampa and other points have been turned away from Sanford except Road No. 3. See to it that this important road is brought through the heart of Sanford and not turned in some other direction.

The many land sales being made in Sanford every day is evidence enough that this city is growing and is attracting capitalists from other cities and other states. You can believe it or not but a visit to other cities will convince you that Sanford has the best chance for growth today and there are few cities in Florida with our splendid location. Our only drawback has been the very low price on city property. Boost the price of your property and you will sell it twice as fast. If you don't believe this visit other places and get their prices on land not half as valuable as Sanford lands.

There are not so many inducements these days to grow and prosper as you may think. If you do not prosper you are a fool and if you do grow and prosper you are a crook so you can pay your money and take your choice. And then when it is all done and said, who cares about the other fellow's opinion?

There are always berries a little ripper farther along the pathway of life and how many of us have chased the Will-o'-the-Wisp of fortune just a few miles away when we had the whole world at our feet right at home. We are blowing bubbles and speculating about some other place and losing sight of our "here of diamonds" in the "back yard."

For instance there have been so many offers made to me to go to other cities that it made me dizzy, and yet while coming up for air the thought is always uppermost in my mind that while a setting hen may get a lot of mites on her, she eventually wins out, and the rolling stone will gather no moss. And in Florida if you will look around you at the trees you will find the oldest trees gathering quite a lot of Spanish moss if you know what I mean. And having lived here for many years and helped the old town to grow it is my intention to spend several more winters here while gathering a little moss in the finest gathering place in the state.

And in all our transactions let us remember that Sanford has the best location for a big city that any place in the south can offer today. We have been blessed by nature but as yet have not availed ourselves of the gifts of nature to any large extent. With that canal into Indian River and deeper water to Jacksonville, Sanford will be a city of fifty thousand in five years. And with this in mind, don't hesitate to boost Sanford and boost the prices of your property for our prices are extremely low and it cheapens our product and our whole proposition. And to the folks who intend to locate here our advice is to buy today. It is going higher and will never be any cheaper.

Seeing Mrs. Larramore here one day this week reminds me that she is a former Sanford girl and as Vivian Yeiser she is remembered by many old friends. Also Mrs. Larramore is a Sanford girl who has gained fame and fortune in the journalistic field and is now one of the well known magazine contributors. As one who has watched her efforts along this line since she was a little girl, it gives me much pleasure to know of her success. Mr. Larramore is prospering in the real estate business in Miami, where they are making their home.

Sanford is standing on the threshold of opportunity today such as we have never seen before. We need a big tourist hotel to put us over and make this city one of the best tourist resorts in the state. We have everything here for the amusement and comfort and convenience of visitors—except the big hotel built especially for the tourist business. And I would like to say that the hotel is just around the corner and in a few weeks we will need the efforts of all loyal citizens to put it over.

SATURDAY EVENING SERMON

(By Rev. Paul C. Burhans)

"Men ought always pray and never faint." Jesus.

"The effectual, fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much." James.

"More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of." Tennyson.

In the consideration of the subject of Prayer men usually think of it in relation to man's religious and spiritual needs in his approach to God; but, the facts are that prayer is a vital and necessary element in every department of human life.

Men pray who make light of prayer. Men are praying daily who are unconscious that they ever pray. All kinds of men, the weak, the foolish, the strong, the good, the bad, all men pray. In fact a normal man cannot pursue life's journey without praying.

What is prayer? To my mind the best and simplest answer is found in a poem written by James Montgomery.

"Prayer is the soul's sincere desire, uttered or unexpressed, The motion of a hidden fire, That trembles in the breast."

God has so much more that He has many and great needs. Each need supplies reveals many other needs awaiting attention. Man's capacity to assimilate seems to have no bounds. And yet, no matter how great or abundant or marvelous his attainments, in soul and desire he is greater than all.

To my mind, it is this illimitable and insatiable longing for greater and better things, that was breathed into man, that God put within him the breath of life.

Illimitable desire begets prayer. Prayer is the means by which God plans to fulfill desire. Hence there are three elements in every true prayer. Desire, faith, and effort to realize. These elements are active in the soul of every man. The farmer, the mechanic, the artist, the doctor, the builder, in fact there is no worth while life in which these elements of prayer do not function.

The basis of prayer lies in the fact of human need. From the depths within the man, the soul cries out, "I want." The child's life begins with a cry. We interpret it as an expression of unconscious desire. "I want to get soon." This is the lowest form of prayer. It is on the plane of selfishness.

As the intellectual man develops ideals arise, visions of what might be charm the mind; possibilities of greatness become an inspiration. Then his prayer rises and takes on new meaning. His heart's desire is not so much "I want to get" as "I want to do." He desires to accomplish great things. He is not content to get, he must leave his mark on the earth, he must build his monument.

But man soon discovers in his efforts to do, "Intense desire to know becomes his prayer. His quest leads him to men who are wiser than he. He goes to Nature and questions her, and while knowledge pours into his soul, he is not content. All of this praying has been of the earth, earthy. The soul within is not satisfied with the desire to live, the desire to do, the desire to know more. It must understand, it desires to unveil the mysteries of life.

Man must pray. The Infinite (the unknown) has been knocking at the heart of manhood. Man desires to look behind the veil. Nature is to him but a beautiful veil, skillfully woven and beautified that hides the face of Him who is the Master of all master workers, and who is seeking to unveil His face.

Imperious manhood at times feels its kinship, with the Creator of Worlds and cries out, "O that I might find Him!"

In response to this great desire God has revealed Himself, that man might find Him. We find Him in Jesus Christ.

When man honestly looks into the face of Jesus Christ, thoughts of infinite power, infinite beauty, infinite wisdom, infinite patience and infinite love flood his mind. It is then that he sees himself as he truly is, ugly and weak and foolish, with love so mixed and impure and utterly unworthy. Then he senses his need of forgiveness and cleansing. Then desire, intense and passionate arises within him.

To get, to do, to know, are all equipped when man arrives where he desires "to be like the Master." In the vision of the Christ, and the cross man sees his better self. He beholds the vast possibilities before him and he finds the answer to the vague and perpetual longings of his inner self. This then we can say "Behold he prayeth."

Man has learned that to be successful he must work in harmony with and submission to the laws of nature. This is the only way in which may come to "know" nature and her secrets. Can we not see that the only way in which we may come to nature's God is by the same humble approach in submission and in harmony with Him and His law.

Even so must men pray to God. Decide to see and know. Believe that He can be seen and known. Then take those steps of repentance and faith and submission to His will which ever lead from the cross to the crown which is given to all who thus come to the Throne.

AMEN.

Mrs. T. W. Getzen, and Mrs. W. R. Anderson and daughter, Gayle of Lakeland, spend Friday in Sanford, the guests of Mrs. Getzen's mother, Mrs. H. B. Connelly.
The many friends of Mrs. Leslie Bryan will be glad to know that she is doing nicely after operation, Thursday at the Fernald-Laughton Hospital.

AT THE CHURCHES

It has been announced by the various churches of this city that beginning Sunday, Oct. 5, evening services will begin at 7:30 o'clock instead of 8 o'clock as during the summer months.
The young people's societies which meet just before the evening services each Sunday will also take notice of this announcement and meet 30 minutes earlier.
SCRAP IRON CLASS
The Scrap Iron Class hopes to have at least 100 men present Sunday morning at 10 A. M. in the Milane Theater. Business and professional men have been addressing the class at each session just before Dr. W. J. Carpenter presents the lesson. Last Sunday Mr. Hutton of the Hutton Contracting Company addressed the class. Previously George A. DeCottet, F. L. Miller, F. P. Foster and G. W. Spencer, Jr., were speakers.
Tomorrow another of our members will speak. We are glad to see new faces each Sunday but there are others who would be welcome. Come and spend three quarters of an hour with the class. You will be pleased.
J. E. Stirling will speak Sunday morning.

BOOSTERS' CLASS
The Boosters' Class of the Methodist Sunday School meets Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock at the church. Young men not affiliated with other classes are cordially urged to attend. Judge E. F. Housholder is teacher. Come, bring your friends, and hear a good talk on the lesson. Important business to be transacted tomorrow morning.

METHODIST CHURCH
W. J. Carpenter, Pastor.
At the morning service the pastor will preach on "Selecting Laborers."
At night, 7:30, the subject will be: "Those Who Dream."
The Sunday School will meet at 9:30. Both Epworth Leagues meet at 9:30 instead of 7:00.
Good music and a Methodist welcome.

HOLY CROSS CHURCH

BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOL TO HAVE GRADUATION DAY

Departmental superintendents and general officers have been busy during the week getting in readiness for the annual commencement day in the First Baptist Sunday school. Every detail of preparation is expected to be completed by the close of today's work.
All officers and teachers will assemble at the church at 9:15 tomorrow morning. At 9:25 the entire school will assemble in the auditorium at the church where the commencement exercises will take place.
More than 100 will receive diplomas and be promoted at tomorrow's session of the school. The officers of the senior-adult department, have occasion to be proud of the attendance in this department, but there are a few parents in the church who have not yet enrolled in the Bible school. These parents are very cordially invited to be present and enjoy the commencement exercises tomorrow morning.
The officers of the school extend a cordial invitation to all friends of the work to be present and share in the inspiration of the hour tomorrow.

Surprise Party Given For Mrs. E. C. Smith By Sunday School Class

The Dependable Sunday School class of the M. E. Church Friday night gave a delightful surprise party in honor of Mrs. E. C. Smith, Jr., one of its members who married during the summer months.
The class met at the home of Miss Lillian Shindler, coming from there to the home of Mrs. Smith on Elm Avenue.
Mrs. Smith was presented with a cheese server, as token of the class.
Chocolate cream with home made cake was served by Mrs. Thornton, Mrs. Mason, and Miss Lillian Shindler.
Among those present were Mrs. W. S. Thornton, Mrs. R. M. Mason, Mrs. Neil Blount, Miss Boline Chapman, Miss Julia Zachary, Miss Maude Tyre, Miss Clara Rankin, Mrs. Herman Middleton, Miss Rosamond Radford, Miss Elizabeth Flowers and Miss Lillian Shindler.

Parish Meeting
In the present stage of progress of the reconstruction of Holy Cross by the Vestry, a parish meeting is called according to the pastor's notice last Sunday morning at 7:30 service, for 11:00 A. M. this Sunday morning. For the general convenience for the meeting, just for this Sunday, the High School was suggested. There will no regular prayer book service nor sermon. A short prayer service with hymns will precede the meeting. It is hoped all Parish members and all who are in any way interested in the work of Holy Cross will be present.

Arthur Seating Peck, Pastor.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Attendance Berean Brotherhood Class Steadily Increasing

There is considerable evidence that the men of the Big Berean Brotherhood are getting into the spirit of their fall's work. There has been a steady increase in attendance during September—each Sunday the number was larger than the previous Sunday.
The subject for study tomorrow morning is interesting many young men, and a very interesting session is expected. As a prelude a brief discussion will be made of the greatest world event of the last 80 days. Following this will be the study of the subject for the morning, Life—Its Source, Support and Highest Development.
The officers of the class extend a very cordial invitation to all young men who are not attending other classes.

Upsala And Grapeville

Mrs. Elsie Hansen has been helping care for her sister, Miss Florence Malin, who has been ill with influenza. Hamil Tolar is confined to his home with it.

Virginia Lundquist and Audrey May Neese are two new little beginners at the primary school this term.

Andrew Patterson, of Canada, who has been in Orlando, was a guest for a couple of weeks at the home of his cousin, A. F. Westerdick. Andrew has obtained work at the golf links and is now boarding with Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Bryant.

Mrs. A. F. Westerdick left Thursday to attend the dentist camp meeting which meets again this year in Orlando. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cramer have been there for two weeks, getting things ready, coming up from Miami.

Oct. 5 will be the regular day for preaching at the Presbyterian church and we hope to have Rev. J. S. Clark with us again at 3:30 Sunday School at 2:30, as usual. We have had an evergreen school this year with Alfred Ericson as leader. All are cordially invited to both services.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Reaves and daughter, Mary C., spent Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Tyner enjoying cake and coffee, it being Jim's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dressor and children, of Sanford, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lundquist. Ellen Lundquist also spent the week-end with her cousin, Melva.

Saturday was Grandma Lundquist's birthday and E. F. Lundquist and family called to see her. Captain Bengston also spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Lundquist were there on Monday evening.

Again in little over a month the death angel visited a home taking the spirit of Eva May, the 8 year old daughter of Wilson By and. She had been ill for some time, an operation being performed in April and since then had taken the A. S. treatment, but the tumors came again and she passed away after another operation at the Fernald-Laughton Hospital. Rev. King held a short service at the Miller Undertaking Parlor on Sunday at 9:00 a. m. and she was buried at Lake View cemetery. Her aunt, Mrs. Hall, of Eustis, was present at the funeral with other sympathizing friends. Eva May was a dear child, fond of play, a lover of the Sunday school, being with us two Sundays before her burial. Mr. and Mrs. Bryant live at the golf links and have the sympathy of all in their loss.

All the ladies who attended the Dorens Union which met with Mrs. Vihlen at the camp enjoyed by afternoon very much.

At a such a pretty place, on crystal Lake and fitted up so nicely with fireplace, table and chairs and cupboards, we thought we would like to spend a week there. Rev. Eckardt and wife made the trip from Pierson to be present at the gathering, returning home the same night. At 4 o'clock the hostess served delicious refreshments. Mrs. Hilma Lundquist, Mrs. John Horell, Margaret, Mrs. August Swanson and Dorothy, Mrs. Archie Swanson, Mrs. Kenneth Robinson and baby, Anna Elizabeth, and Mrs. Ballinger were present besides Mrs. Vihlen and children, Emil Magnuson and Leonard Vihlen who came in for coffee. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Borell on Oct. 23.

A 100 acres of land just north of Grapeville is being cleared for a colored settlement by two brothers by the name of Lockheart, it is said. A barbecue and sale of lots is to take place there Monday. The white folks here declare that they are indignant about it and think they should have had the first chance, it is so near the white settlement of Upsala and Grapeville.

A series of evangelistic services begins tomorrow. The church very heartily invites the citizens of Sanford and the district to the meetings.

Mr. Scholfield who is to have charge of the music is not expected to reach the city early enough to be in the service Monday evening, but a very attractive musical program has been prepared for the Monday evening's service.

Frank Takach and wife have arrived from Boston. They made the trip both ways in their car and have been absent for 18 months and intend to spend the winter here. Mrs. Adolph Molnar accompanied them home from New York City and intends to spend some time as the guest of Mrs. B. E. Takach at the Pico.

Important Notice

I have recently had telephone calls from some of my customers stating that they had had notice from attorneys in Orlando of accounts for collection in favor of the Elder Springs Water Company. Thinking that I am connected with the Elder Springs Water Company they have asked for explanations from me as to why I had placed such accounts in the hands of attorneys for collection, when they had never had any notice therefrom from the Elder Springs Water Company, person or persons of having accounts against them in favor of the Elder Springs Water Company. As I have heretofore stated through the Sanford Herald I will say again that I am not affiliated in any respect with the Elder Springs Water Company, but wish to say that I alone own the water business at present and have for the past ten months and have not yet had any notice to place any account in the hands of attorneys for collection, but wish to state that 25 per cent of my customers who have a charge account with me have promised to pay me promptly for their bills and I wish to extend to them my appreciation for same. All of my business is handled and transacted in the name of each below.

Flying Cadets from Lexington Journey to Atlanta to Take on Faced 'Golden Tornado'

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 4.—With the September season of discontent in football made glorious by the advent of October, today will bring battles of gridiron gladiators, in which almost anything can, and doubtless will happen.

The powers and setups in football are usually restricted to a single game as a warning up process and in most cases they were disposed of last Saturday. Many of the games today will bring real contests.

"You pay your money and take your choice," with one guess as good as another in advance shots at the probable scores.

Additional interest is found in an already hectic early season schedule by the invasion of the east by southern teams tomorrow. Four elevens have folded their tents and started a trek eastward that will cover many miles before it is ended. Two others make shorter but no less interesting journeys into a southern state but out of the regular route of southern teams.

North Carolina meets Yale at New Haven, the Tax Heels, following in a set back at the hands of Wake Forest in their opening game, making the trip unencumbered by any feeling of overconfidence.

Virginia is entertained by Harvard at Cambridge, the Cavaliers, like their neighbors to the south, have no reason to feel that the Crimson will be easy picking, as Neale's men barely nosed out Hampden-Sydney last Saturday. Mercer goes all the way from Marion to New York to try conclusions with Syracuse, hopeful in a forlorn way, for the Orange is considered a hard nut to crack in New York.

North Carolina State, backed as much stronger than last year, plays Penn State College and North Carolina supporters of the Raleigh outfit believe the game will be close. It was no walk over last year.

Two Virginia teams drop in on Maryland for games, William and Mary visiting Annapolis for a set to with the Navy while Randolph Macon is at Baltimore to meet Johns Hopkins. The Williamsburg lads scored on the Middies last year. Randolph Macon and Johns Hopkins are meeting for the first time in several years.

In the south some battles royal are expected, six conference games being meeting in important games and another conference even taking on a non-conference aggregation apt to make an exceedingly interesting afternoon. Final ratings are hanging in the balance in spite of the fact that the season is barely open with the door still ajar.

Alabama's Crimson squad leaves Tuscaloosa to visit Greenville, S. C., for a game with Furman University. The visitors are given an edge by many experts by virtue of a big score piled up last week but it is agreed that it will not be a rout.

The game between Birmingham-Southern and Vanderbilt at Nashville is expected to prove a severe test for the Commodores, the Panthers showing much strength against Auburn.

Tennessee and Florida open their seasons tomorrow, the Volunteers playing Emory and Henry and the Alligators meeting Rollins.

An All-Tennessee affair is booked for Chattanooga, where the University bearing the city's name takes on Cumberland and another at Sewanee where Carson-Newman furnishes the opposition to the Purple Jungaleer, with a matter of a no-decision contest last year to be considered.

Oglethorpe with a decisive victory over Fort Benning last season, is playing the Soldiers again, the Patriots facing the problem of stopping the scintillating Lieut. Smythe at Columbus.

Mississippi College, with the memory of a victory over Tulane in the days of "Goat" Hale, is trying conclusions with the Greenbacks in Davidson, with a record of two victories under its belt, will have Richmond for an opponent at Winston-Salem.

Mississippi will get all the glory and all the blame there is involved in a game between Mississippi A. & M. and the Millsaps at Starkville and North Carolina is in the same boat on the Trinity-Guilford clash at Durham.

HARRIS PREDICTS BIG SERIES WILL GO SEVEN GAMES

Sees Hard Fight Ahead But Believes Senators Will Win; Johnson Will Oppose McQuillan in Opening Game

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Manager "Bucky" Harris of the Senators expressed confidence last night that his team would win out in the world series which opens here today with the New York Giants, but added that he would not be surprised if it took seven games to tell the story.

Coupled with Harris' statement came an announcement from Walter Johnson, pride of the Washington team, that an 18 year old desire to win a world series game for the Senators would be back of his efforts today.

Harris said, "It's foolish" for people to talk of the series being decided in four games.

When two strong teams like the Giants and the Senators hook up in a series," he added, "neither can win out in four games unless aided with an unprecedented number of breaks."

After a snappy workout in the morning, Harris announced that the Senators would not don uniforms again until just time for a short lumbering up before the game. He said the team couldn't be in better shape.

Johnson said he realized today's game would be the suggest of his life.

"I know Washington is looking for me to win," he said, "and I'm going to try and deliver. Many times in big games like today when you know everybody is rooting for you, it just goes and things go bad."

"I'm going to try to hold those nerves down today. If I win, I'll be the happiest man in the world. If I lose, I'll be the most heart broken."

Walter Johnson and Muddy Ruel will be the battery for the Washington Senators for the first contest in the world's series and the indications today are that Manager John McGraw would name Hugh McQuillan and Hank Gowdy for the New York Giants. McGraw, however, rarely ever shows his hand in selecting his boxmen and if the New York manager should name a southpaw to take up the battery it would cause no surprise, though McQuillan is in top-top form.

McGraw knows that the three heaviest hitters in the Washington club swing their bats from the left side—Rice, Goslin and Lutz—and he has been pinning Art Nehf and Jack Bentley, two left-handers to stop them. The New York manager in his contest with the Yankees always figured that if he could keep Ruel from hitting the rest of the Yankee club would stop dead and there were suggestion last night that McGraw was planning to keep Goose Goslin under subjection. For Goslin is the Senator's heaviest and most dangerous hitter who through the season's play, has hit hardest in the pinch.

"Let the Giants stop me if they can," said Goslin, "but what their pitchers will be out there for, but I've looked over some pretty good twirling myself this year."

JAP STRIKES INCREASE

TOKIO, Oct. 1.—Japanese labor growing in class consciousness, is becoming increasingly unruly. Official statistics show that strikes were more than twice as numerous in the first half of 1924 as in the first half of 1923. There were 435 strikes involving 66,000 workers in the first six months of this year, as compared with 182 strikes involving 25,000 workers during the first half of 1923.

Presbyterian College of South Carolina will travel to Lakeland, Fla., to play Southern College.

Maryland, off in front, with the leading score of the day last Saturday, has Lincoln Memorial for an opponent today.

Roosevelt plays Lenoir at Salem, Va. King meets Bluefield at Norton. Elon is Lynchburg's opponent at Elon and Wofford plays Citadel at Charleston.

National Capital On Edge for Big Clash Between Harris' and John McGraw's 9

Bribery Scandal Is Hushed For Minute

Washington Supporters are Basing Hope On Johnson's Right

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The 1924 world's series between the Washington Senators, pennant winners for the first time in the American League, and the New York Giants, National League champions for the past four years, will start today under circumstances which have had no parallel in the eye of the game's greatest classic.

Last night, the playing issues of the struggle, a battle that promises to bring two closely matched teams into action for the game's highest stakes, came back to the limelight after having been obscured for two days by the sensational charges of bribery involving the Giants and raising the banishment of two members of the club, Jimmie Doherty and Cozy Dolan.

The eleventh hour cloud of scandal that has thrown the baseball world into turmoil and threatened to set a match to the whole framework of the game has not entirely vanished. However, in the absence of any fresh sensation, the fact that was heard on every corner the topic of conversation in all of the capital's social walks of life was centered on the game, not the suspicion that has been aroused by the bribery plot.

The National Capital was preparing to come into its own for the first time in its history and from President Coolidge, who will throw out the first ball, down to the youngest hero worshipper of "Bucky" Harris and Walter Johnson, Washington's most gallant figures, the city's population will be a tribute to the champions.

Only the physical limitations of the Washington Park, which accommodates 37,000 with all extra space utilized, will prevent the thousands of the city's population from viewing its heroes in their opening bid for triumph.

The hope apparently uppermost in the minds of Washington fans last night was that Walter Johnson, their pitching idol, would reach the summit of his remarkable career of 18 years in major league baseball by twirling the Senator to victory. Johnson, the hero of every street and fan and the admiration of the whole city, will carry their hope and faith in his powerful right arm.

Behind this high tide of enthusiasm, however, the excitement that always precedes baseball's little struggle, there remained an unmistakable undercurrent of tension, growing out of the O'Connell-Dolan disclosures. The possible reaction of this feeling when the two teams take the field today is a source of keen speculation.

It was conceivable to observers last night that the whole outcome of the championship fight might turn on the popular attitude taken today for the Giants, though they seemed to have regained their confidence and poise as they went through their final drill Friday, going into the frame keyed to a high nervous pitch.

The Giant morale, it is believed, has been shaken, although the players, after their brisk workout in the Senator's park, declared they would take the field ready to cast aside all thought of the scandal and fight unhampered for the game's major crown.

The Senators, under their 27-year-old pilot, Stanley Harris, who led the club to its first pennant in its inaugural year as manager, also put the finishing touch to their practice with an hour's drill this morning.

The American League champions will go into the opening game with the full strength of the forces that carried them to the pennant, but the Giants will be handicapped by the absence of their veteran third baseman, Heinie Groh.

Groh, who twisted a knee several weeks ago, still was hobbling about on a cane today and Captain Frank Frisch, who himself has just returned to the lineup after an absence forced by a finger injury, announced that the regular third sacker would be out of the entire series.

In Groh's place will be Freddy Lindstrom, 18 year old Chicago school boy, playing his first year in the majors, who convinced Manager John McGraw of his ability by playing sensationally in the closing pennant drive of the New Yorks.

Washington has in Johnson the outstanding moundman of either club, a pitcher, who in his 18th successive season with the Senators, has hung up one of his greatest records. If Johnson is victorious today in the opening encounter, when he will have, it is expected, either Hugh McQuillan, right hander, or Art Nehf, southpaw, as an opponent, Washington's prospects of triumph will loom especially bright.

The Senators are prepared to pitch two and possibly three games and the club's hopes revolve largely around his ability to muster the stamina for his greatest test.

12,000 LOSE JOBS
SAARBRUCKEN, Oct. 1.—Twelve thousand workmen were added to the unemployed of the Saar state by the announcement of the Roechling Iron & Steel Works closing down the plant. A deficit of 25,000,000 marks was shown on the last balance sheet, since which time the works have been kept running by state subsidies.

HOW MUCH WILL YOU BE WORTH IN TEN YEARS?

Financial success is a matter of plan. If you income, your expenses and a certain surplus to save. Your income naturally determines how much you accumulate. But if you do not put aside each month a certain amount, your income is of no use whatsoever in securing a successful future.

How much will you be worth in ten years? Will you be worth $1,000, $5,000 or $1,000? Or will you still be sitting there watching the other fellow—the one who has accumulated a fortune? You must decide. This cannot be planned. This big bank is anxious to help you to plan and to show you the way to success in building a future.

If you are as anxious to succeed as this bank you succeed, then you should come in now and see us. Don't wait and regret it all later.
