Defendant Objects To AIDS Revelation

By Deane Jordan Herald Staff Writer

A woman sentenced today to 21/2 years prison on a charge of grand theft will appeal her sentence on the basis that the judge should not have heard testimony that she carries the AIDS virus.

Julia Brown Brooks, 31, of Orlando, was sentenced by Circuit Judge O.H. Eaton Jr. who sentenced her to 30 months in prison, 24 months community control, a form of house arrest, and 6 months probation. He also gave her credit for 330 days already served. It was the sentence the state requested and stiffer than what her public was held at the Seminole County jail at 8:10 a.m.

Ms. Brooks, who has a criminal history of prostitution, shows no symptoms of AIDS. She was called a carrier of the virus by Assistant State Attorney Steve Plotnick.

Dr. Benjamin Newman, head of the jail's health facility, testified that medical literature says Ms. Brooks has a 40 percent chance of developing AIDS within the next five or six years.

He said AIDS is transmitted most commonly by sexual relations and use of contaminated blood products.

Newman testified that once a person develops

> Assistant Public Defender Paul Arlt said Ms. Brooks' medical condition was irrelevant to the charge for which she was being sentenced, grand theft. He asked for a sentence of two years community control and credit for 330 days served. Eaton overruled Arit's objections to Newman testifying and to the sentencing being held at the jail rather than at the Seminole County Courthouse. Those attending the hearing included jail and court personnel, Newman and six members of the press.

Chamber Scholarship Applications Up

One of the best investments a community can make in its future is a scholarship fund that serves as a 'door opener" to deserving young people, and Sanford is leading the way, Karen Coleman, Seminole County School Board coordinator of community relations said.

The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce's "Business and Education Partners for Success" scholarship program has this year received more applications from local students than since it began in 1984. The evaluation team, which consists of Chamber representatives from the business and political community, is having a tough time deciding which students to recommend for scholarship interviews. Mrs. Coleman said, "because all the students are deserving.

The scholarship fund reached an all-time high last year with total contributions of $21,616, and although it is about $1,500 short of last year, Mrs. Coleman said that she is confident. that this year will be another record year. The deadline for scholarship donations is 4 p.m. April 8.

Scholarships in amounts of $250, $400, $500 and $1,000 will be awarded to student recipients at a recognition ceremony in May, Mrs. Coleman said. Students who may apply for echolarships are seniors at Seminole and Lake Mary high schools, the two schools in the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce area. The money is to be used by students to attend Florida community colleges, colleges, universities of vocational/technical centers and scholarship checks are made payable to the students as well as to their chosen institutions, Mrs. Coleman said. The Sanford program is one of the largest in Florida to the best of Mrs. Coleman's knowledge and has been used as a model for other scholarship programs, she said.

"Volunteers who interview the students take a great amount of time and give so many hours to these deserving people," Mrs. Coleman said. "It's one of the few programs where 100 percent of the contribution goes to its stated purpose with no overhead costs."

Barbara Hughes, the extension home economiat for Seminole County, has served on the scholarship evaluation team and interview committee since the program began and said it's one of her favorite jobs.

"All students who apply are very deserving," she said. "If people in this area realized the caliber of students applying, they would be willing to give money.'

Students come away from the program feeling that someone has given them a pat on the back, Ms. Hughes said, and their scholarship money can serve as "an initial impetus that will open doors for them in the future."

She said the scholarship recipients feel someone is saying to them, "You're special; you're important to the community and you're going to make it."

Any business or citizen interested in providing a student scholarship this year should call Dave Farr, executive director of the Sanford Chamber, at 322-2212, or Mrs. Coleman, program coordinator, 322-1252, before the deadline.

This year's scholarship sponsors include: Cavalier Motor Inn; Holiday Inn; First Federal of Seminole; Conklin, Porter & Holmes Engineers, Inc. (2); Rich Plan (5); Kiwanis Club of Sanford

Sanford Man Nation's Top Counselor

A Sanford man has won recognition as the nation's top secondary school counselor, but says he feels uncomfortable in the spotlight.

Jeff Siskind, a Lyman High School guidance counselor, named as the National Secondary School Counselor of the Year by the American School Counselor Association said, "It's exciting and I do feel honored; but humbled, too."

Siskind, 33, said that winning the top counselor honor has made him scrutinize himself more.

"When you deal with each student or parent or teacher." he said, "there is a new perspective in interaction. It re-emphasizes to me that I want to do the best job I can." He said he now asks himself, "Did I treat that child as a 'counselor of the year' would have?" He added, "It's really an honor to represent the excellent counselors throughout Seminole County."

The Florida School Counselor Association in August named Siskind as state counselor which then qualified him for the national title. He is serving his first year of a three-year term as president of the Florida Association for Counseling and Development.

Siskind's parents, Zelda and Melvin Siskin, who own the Army Navy Surplus Store on Sanford Avenue in Sanford said they could not be prouder of their son. Mrs. Siskin said her son has always enjoyed people.

Siskind was raised in Sanford and graduated from Seminole High School where he eventually landed his first teaching job and has served in a counseling or teaching capacity in Seminole County Schools since 1977. He has a doctorate in education from the University of Florida and a master's degree from Rollins College in guidance and counseling. Sanford Police Chief Steve Harriett said the suspect, Dexter Williams of 1122 Oregon Ave., Sanford, the reported victim, and another woman were reportedly involved in a dispute when the alleged robbery attempt and the cutting occurred. Alleged gunplay involving a reported shot fired at the Cool Breeze bar on Sipes Avenue, Midway, brought the arrest at about 2:34 a.m. Wednesday of a man who was stopped by Seminole County sheriff's deputies at another bar, the Club 2 Spot, State Road 46, Midway.

Deputies had a description of the reputed gunman who had just fled the scene of the gunplay when they confronted the suspect. In a search a handgun was found inside the suspect's car, a sheriff's report said.

Tyrone Grooms, 21, of 20th St., Midway, has been charged with aggravated assault, discharging a fircarm in public and carrying a concealed weapon. He has been released on $1,000 bond to appear in court April 20.

PTL Spokesman Denies Resignation Rumors

Dortch, the newly-named president of -PTL, took a day off Wednesday from the organization's. "PTL Show," and that spurred a new round of rumors that he was about to resign. Those rumors were strongly denied.

"They're making it up." said PTL, Vice President Neil Eskelin. "He has no plans to resign from PTL. I don't expect any more big news from here until April 28 when the board meets."

An audit of the PTL organization is expected to be released when the group's board of directors holds its next scheduled meeting.

Dortch became president of PTL two weeks ago, when Bakker admitted rumors of sexual infidelity were true. Bakker said he had a one-time sexual encounter seven years ago with a woman named Jessica Hahn and has paid "blackmail" money to her since.

Since that revelation, Bakker has remained at the home he and his wife Tammy own in Palm Springs, Calif.

Without explanation, PTL ran a rerun Wednesday of last Thursday's program introducing the new board of directors. Eskelin said it is not unusual for the program to use reruns.

'in the last six months, approximately 50 percent of all the programs that have been seen on the network were repeats," he said. "Today was no exception." Dortch ran into trouble when religious watchdog Paul Roper, who represents Hahn, revealed he had helped negotiate payment of $265,000

The new FTL board ordered an audit to see whether any PTL monies were spent to cepted an invitation to attend a church "cover up the sexual liaison. New chairman inquiry next week; and rumors continue Jerry Falwell later suggested if such were the case, there might be legal repurcussions.

> "The paying of extortion is against the law," he said, "especially if it is not your own money."

> But Solicitor William "Red" Ferguson, in York County, S.C., repeated Wednesday no charges have been filed against Dortch and he knows of no investigation into any legal wrongdoing at the PTL.

> Both Dortch and Bakker have been invited to appear before an Assemblies of God panel next Tuesday afternoon to discuss their resignations as ministers in the charismatic church. So far, however, neither has indicated he will attend.

> The church can accept the resignations, revoke the ministerial credentials of the pair or suspend credentials for two years while they undergo rehabilitation.

> Charles Cookman, superintendent of the church's North Carolina district, last week asked Bakker to reconsider the resignation and this week urged the evangelist to attend next week's meeting.

"A lot of people think, it would be appropriate and significant for Bakker to return to the same town where he was ordained 23 years ago," Cookman said, praising Bakker for the programs he directed at the PTL.

"A lot of people ... have failed to tell the story of the great work done." Cookman said. "(They) not only are involved in saving souls, but in feeding the poor, providing facilities for the physically handicapped, unwed mothers, the elderly and the unfortunate victims of drug abuse."

Duchess's Jewelry Sale Begins

GENEVA (UPI) - Some of the late Duchess of Windsor's jewely will fetch up to five times its estimated value, Sotheby's experts said today in advance of the two-day auctionofher multimillion-dollar collection of baubles.

Sotheby's jewelry expert Nicholas Rayner received telephone calls from would be buyers from around the world today, hours before the start of the sale. Rayner. was heard to tell callers to expect to bid up to five times the estimated price of some pieces because of their historic value.

Sotheby's officials said most potential buyers would be represented by dealers. They would not reveal the identity of people telephoning for advance advice on likely prices.

"But only some of the more interesting pieces will go for several times the estimate," one expert said, although the overall total Sothbey's estimate of $7.5 million would "probably be doubled or even tripled.'

The 95 most important pieces in the collection were being sold tonight and lesser items on Friday.

Sotheby's originally made arrangements for around 500 people to attend the sale but ended up handing out 1,800 tickets.

Because of the crowd, the auction was shifted to a huge candy-striped marquee on Lake Geneva and near the Hotel Beau Rivage where the Windsors spent part of their honeymoon in 1937. The duke of Windsor abdicated as King Edward VIII to marry American divorcee Wallis Simpson.

Officials said there were seats for 1,000 people in the tent while the others would watch on closed-circuit television screens in hotel recepion rooms.

Sanford Insists No Deals For His Highway Bi Vote

By Robert Doherty WASHINGTON (UPI) - For Sen. Terry Sanford, the North Carolina Democrat once considered the most progressive of Southern governors, the first splash on Capitol Hill was a bellywhopper.

Sanford, a 69-year-old freshman whose election last year returned him to political office for the first time in a quarter-century, plunged into the pool on no less than President Reagan's critical veto of the $88 billion highway bill. # EPA Aids Asbestos Clean-Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Environmental Protection Agency will help 366 schools in 30 states remove potentially cancer-causing asbestos that is flaking into the air from insulation, acoustical and fire-proofing materials.

The EPA said Wednesday it will award $34.2 million in grants and loans to "the nation's most financially needy schools" to eliminate asbestos hazards.

The money will pay for removal of friable asbestos material that crumbles when dry, releasing asbestos fibers into the air where they could be inhaled. Asbestos is known to cause cancer in humans.

The money will be given to schools that applied for federal funds under the Asbestos School Hazard Abatement Act of 1984. The public and private schools that were granted money were those the agency felt had the most severe asbestos problems and the greatest financial need.

The EPA has passed out more than $126 million in assistance to schools for 1,400 asbestos abatement projects and plans to give an additional $8 million in assistance in June. The first round of awards. $34.2 million.

Much of the scientific world is stunned by a recent disclosure that Dr. Daniel Zagury injected himself with a prototype AIDS vaccine last November. In doing so, the doctor, a researcher at the Pierre and Marie Curie University in Paris, became the first known person to subject himself to such experimentation in order to discover a cure for the deadly disease.

Thus far. Dr. Zagury has not suffered any negative side effects from the live-virus vaccine made with recombinant DNA technology that could cause recipients with weakened immune systems to develop a serious viral infection similar to infections afflicting AIDS patients. Discounting charges that he is either a hero or a fool, Dr. Zagury said he would not have injected himself were the vaccine not safe for humans. Indeed, he likened his experiment to that of Jonas Salk's, creator of the original polio vaccina-tion, who injected himself with an influenza vaccine in 1942 and a polio vaccine in 1952 before the polio vaccine was used on others. Subsequent to his self-experimentation, Dr. Zagury injected several other researchers as well as a small group of volunteers from Zaire. Two of the Zairians, who were critically ill with AIDS, have recovered dramatically from their symptoms as a result of the treatment. Dr. Jean-Paul Escande, of Tarnier Hospital in Paris, described the recovery as "altogether extraordinary," given the victims' previous condition.

This is not to suggest that a cure for AIDS is imminent. Dr. Zagury's experiment is only the first step in a painstakingly complex process of developing a safe and effective vaccine, which could take as long as 10 years.

Still, it is encouraging that dozens of dedicated researchers such as Dr. Daniel Zagury have committed themselves to extending the frontiers of medical science by

HELEN THOMAS Baker Learns From Experience Of Regan

WASHINGTON (UPI) - White House chief of stati Howard Baker is not going to make the mistake that got his predecessor, Donald Regan, In trouble with Nancy Reagan.

Baker says he is in touch with the first lady every day. He does not go into detail about their conversations, but apparently Mrs. Reagan is keeping a concerned eye on the president in terms of his work schedule.

As a result of the better relationship, the East Wing and the West Wing will be able to better coordinate their activities.

Mrs. Reagan also invited White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater for a chat when he took over his job and she basically told him that she had no apologies to make for being a protective wife.

Now that she feels the White House, shaken by the Iran arms-Contra scandal. is back on an even keel, Mrs. Reagan apparently feels more secure about resuming her anti-drug travels and social duties.

The Reagans will be host at a black tie dinner at the White House on March 31 in honor of French Prime Minister Jacques Chirac.

Between the Reagans' spaniel. Rex, and the squirrels that flit across the lawn, the White House uniformed police are having their troubles. It seems that when Rex is taken out for his morning walk, he trips the sensors and sets off alarms. The squirrels do that all day on the north lawn.

Rex is certain that Lincoln's ghost is still around. Up in the family quarters, he is apt to go to the door of the Lincoln suite and bark, but he never goes inside.

A sign that White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater is getting more comfortable in his job - he had his office painted a light cream and yellow. Fitzwater still has an open door policy. which is astounding to reporters after having that door slammed in their faces so often.

The open door is a sign that he has no fears. Secrets, maybe at times, but not enough to be furtive.

The door of the press spokesman's office was closed nearly a year during the Watergate scandal when Ronald Zieger could no longer face the questions. He also had become by that time an aide de camp to the beleaguered Richard Nixon.

But word that the president is ready to play ball with Congress may be premature but is not ball with Congress may be premature but is not dead wrong. It is true he is accelerating his contacts with bipartisan leaders in the af-termath of the Iran scandal, but he has not moved one inch from the conservative goals he has espoused for the last 25 years.

So conciliatory is a strong word for what is happening and the more the president feels he is out of the woods, the more adamant he will become. He is determined to have his "third act." as he puts it and to fulfill the destiny of his presidency.

Another sign that Reagan is back in form is his wit. He opened the meeting with the husiness leaders, saying: "Please be seated. As Henry VIII said to each of his six wives: 'I won't keep you long."

VIEWPOINT Imbalance Saps U.S. Strength

By William R. Hawkins

Some claim that our trade deficit is a benefit because Americans gain real items in exchange for bits of paper money. But common sense should tell us that such a simpleminded analysis is wrong. Foreign businessmen, banks and governments are not staffed by fools. Trade deficits are always paid for by something of value.

The strength of the United States makes its currency a relative safe way to hold wealth, so the dollar is widely used as a reserve currency. The U.S. had consistently run balance of payment deficits in the post-war era, and this has provided the international economy with its main source of liquidity. However, the U.S. ran trade surpluses to partially offset its expen-ditures and foreign investments so that the net outflow of dollars was small enough for others to absorb. Further, as a creditor nation, income was earned from past investments. Today, the flood of dollars going to buy imports is far larger than foreigners wish to hold else in the international monetary

ANTHONY HARRIGAN Nation Is Indebted To Lehman

WASHINGTON - The nation owes a debt of gratitude to John F. Lehman, Jr., who will step down soon after six years as Secretary of the Navy. Historians surely will characterize him as one of the great civilian leaders of the naval service. On his watch, the U.S. Navy has been rebuilt from its low ebb during the Carter administration to a fleet that will soon number 600. The United States also has a clearly enunclated maritime strategy.

Americans who understand how a maritime strategy safeguards U.S. interests and ensures peace in the world may wonder, however, what will happen to that strategy after 1988 and to the 15 carrier battle groups which are at the heart of it.

Since the end of World War II. carrier task forces have made it possible for the United States to project its power into the most remote regions of the world. They have safeguarded the sea lanes vital to America's NATU and Pacific region allies. They have represented an alternative to a nuclear confrontation. Without these warships, the United States would be pushed to the brink of the most dangerous conflicts.

Et Tu Roma

Traffic congestion in downtown Rome isn't just a hazard to lungs and limb, it's an offense against the ages. All of that smog and the constant vibration from trucks and cars pose a real threat to the delicate antiquities that dot the Eternal City. So it comes as no surprise that city officials have been especially ardent in their efforts to control the traffic problem. And their experience may shed some additional light on why the Roman Empire fell in the first place.

First, to measure the the extent of the problem, the officials included a question on the national census to identify how many city residents have private cars. But since the Italians are suspicious that any information on their census forms will eventually be turned over to the nation's tax collectors, that effort simply produced the startling conclusion that hardly anyone in Rome owns an automobile.

Then to reduce the problem, the government six years ago determined to restrict access to the downtown area to those vehicles with special permits. But since they are a generous people, they passed out tens of thousands of these permits.

Now, to put an end to the problem altogether, they've prohibited all cars and trucks from the city center during rush hour, just as Julius Caesar once banned litters from the same area 2,000 years ago when the foot traffic got to be more than the streets could bear. The idea is that people should be encouraged to park around the city's periphery and then use trams and buses to get downtown. The only problem is that they haven't built the parking lots yet or established a public transit system that can handle that many people.

BERRY'S WORLD

What do foreigners do with their dollars if they do not use them to buy American goods or services? The dollars come back to the U.S. as loans and investments. The country has run such large deficits that it was transformed in just three years, 1983 to 1986, from the world's largest creditor to the world's largest debtor, owing foreigners $200 billion. Like individuals, countries can only buy more than they produce by borrowing the difference, and by repaying the debt with interest.

Most of the capital flow into the U.S. has been short-term. Under normal conditions, this stabilizing action allows a nation time to get its house in order. But the U.S. has yet to start on effective adjustment policy to bring trade into balance. and this block of short-term "hot" money is destabilizing. It can flow out as fast as in. "If the securities buying from abroad were to dry up. we would be in a pickle," says a Merrill Lynch analyst. Foreigners could trigger "a recession that would be hard to stop." Continued decline of the dollar, or political turmoil in Washington, could start a stampede out of the dollar.

The Wall Street Journal calls this growing dependence on foreign capital the "de-Americanization" of the U.S. economy.

JACK ANDERSON

By now there can be no doubt that Mikhail Gorbachev, the new Soviet boss, is up to something. The only question is, what? When a new general scretary of the Soviet Communist Party authorizes the release from prison or internal exile of Andrei Sakharov and upwards of a hundred other "dissidents," that's news. When he goes on to advocate a teensy bit of 'democracy" in the selection of lesser communist officials (e.g., giving Soviet voters a choice between Tweedledumsky and Tweedledeesky), that too is news. And when criticisms by half a dozen prominent exiles now in the West are printed in a Moscow weekly and the blunt remarks of such a wellknown anti-communist as Barry Farber appear in Literaturnaya Gazeta, that, my friends, is news.

We can, I think, dismiss the idea that Gorbachev has suddenly been converted to democracy. Mikhail Gorbachev is a product of Soviet communist society, and we can safely assume that he intends to strengthen it and perpetuate it, and If possible extend its sway still more widely around the globe. If by any chance he were to lose sight of those objectives, he would quickly run into trouble with the Soviet ruling class - the "nomenklatura," whose interests it is his central duty to protect. This powerful group briskly sidelined Nikita Khrushchev when he began to perform erratically, and there is no reason to suppose they have lost any of their clout.

There are, however, two quite distinct possibilities when it comes damental motive. There are those who believe that all of these gestures are merely intended to lull the outside world into relaxing its guard and perhaps even helping the Soviet Union in various ways. Alternatively, it may be that Gorbachev's chief purpose is domestic: to coax a better performance out of Soviet society by loosening the reins a bit. Of course. Gorbachev may have both purposes in mind, but it seems likely that one or the other predominates. Which is to assessing Gorbachev's fun-

Certainly the enthusiasm with which the world's fatuous liberals have halled the recent gestures would justify those gestures, if indeed they were merely for foreign consumption. The prize for the most exaggerated reaction so far goes to West German Foreign Minister Hans Dietrich Genscher, who called on the West to "take Mr. Gorbachev and his 'new policy' literally, with all that implies." What it implied to Herr Genscher was not only arms control agreements but a Western readiness "to launch large-scale economic cooperation that will help the Soviet Union modernize its economy." Quite a handsome return on Comrade Gorbachev's modest investment in "openness"!

On the other hand, few things that really large nations do are done primarily for foreign consumption. And that rule applies with particular force to measures that are in conflict with the basic drives of the society.

To maintain its naval peacekeep. ing presence, the United States will have to continue to build ships in the years ahead. A number of the carriers now in service have steamed for a generation. The country must make a commitment to replacement ships of the size and sophistication of the carriers now in the fleet. An effective maritime strategy cannot be carried out by mini-carriers built at low cost. The United States fleet must keep its qualitative edge over the Soviet high scas fleet, which is being expanded and modernized all the time.

Our vital maritime strategy also may be endangered by the recently approved change in the Joint Chiefs of Staff system, which gives unprecedented power to its chairman. It's possible that a future JCS chairman would favor junking the maritime strategy and replacing it with an all-strategic missile confrontation strategy. And if the anti-defense lobby has its way, naval construction will be stretched out or cancelled.

The American people need to know about the Soviet Union's expansionist operations on the high seas. The USSR is building impressive aircraft carriers. Its Red Banner Pacific fleet now operates from the giant base at Cam Ranh Bay in Vietnam, which the United States built at immense expense.

Child Soldier Abandoned By Uncle Sam

By Jack Anderson

And Joseph Spear WASHINGTON - The Veterans Administration was set up, in Lincoln's phrase, "to care for him who shall have borne the battle," but don't try convincing Walter Lee Martin of that.

At age 13, Martin wound up in Vietnam, where he "bore the battle" for nearly two years in the infantry. Yet the VA's officious paper shufflers have refused to pay for his medicine for a chronic lung disorder he contracted in the Army.

The bureaucrats say Martin ian't a qualified veteran, and by their nit-picky rules, they're right. He was as old as many drummer boys who fought in Mr. Lincoln's army. and he served as well and honorably in Vietnam as many grunts twice his age. But he was never properly mustered in, and when the Army brase finally found out he was under age, he was still only 15.

So the boy-soldier was unceremoniously booted out of the Army, without a proper discharge. Lacking the official documentation so dear to the bureaucratic heart.

Martin, now 31, has been steadfastly rejected by the VA in his claim for veteran's benefits.

Here's what our associate Stewart Harris learned by poring over Army and Veterans Administration files:

Army investigators went to Martin's hometown, Arcadia, Fla., where they learned that as a boy of 12 he was more than 6 feet tall and weighed 160 pounds. The secretary of the local draft board told the investigators that in 1968, at age 13, Martin tried unsuccessfully to join every branch of service.

The secretary said he spiked Martin's application when he saw the boy's birth date: Aug. 9, 1955. The draft board official also thwarted Martin's attempt to enlist in Arizona under the name of Walter Martin Lee that same year.

What happened next is in dispute. Martin claims he was standing in a bus terminal in Atlanta in January 1969, when the police picked him up as an AWOL soldier. The Army claims Martin stole a GI's duffel bag and assumed the soldier's identity.

There's no dispute about what the 13-year-old was shipped to Vietnam and put in a replacement battalion at Long Binh.

Martin saw his share of action in Victnam. He said he was awarded a Bronze Star for valor during a night battle in which he operated a two-man M-60 machinegun singlehandedly, but there is no record of the award in military files.

Eventually, however, the soldier who lost the duffel bag reported that someone was drawing his pay, and the Army tracked Martin down in Vietnam. It took three separate investigations before the Army finally learned it had a 15-year-old on its hands. Martin was then kicked out.

The authorities freely acknowledge that Martin fought and was injured in Vietnam. But an Orwellian VA memorandum in 1976 explained why his soldiering didn't count:

"Although Martin did perform duty in Vietnam and was wounded in Vietnam, he has no valid service, was never legally enlisted in the armed forces, was never honorably discharged from the armed forces happened next: About a week later. and is not entitled to any Veterana Administration benefits of any shape or form."

He wasn't declared an unperson. just an unveteran.

In January, Martin lost his last chance to convince the military that he is entitled to veteran status. when the Board for Correction of Military Records refused to review his case. Without a board decision to legitimize his military service, the VA won't reopen Martin's case.

Rep. C.W. "Bill" Young, R-Fla., plans to submit a private bill that would give Martin's military service official recognition. But an aide predicted rough going because Congress will be reluctant to set a precedent.

Meanwhile, Martin is back in uniform: the prison denims of a federal penitentiary, where he is serving a three-year sentence for impersonating a member of the military and passing a bad check. Martin told us he put on his old Army fatigues and entered an Army base in Florida, where he got a doctor to write him a prescription for his expensive lung medicine.

Hospice of Central Florida is looking for a suitable site in Seminole or Orange county to locate Hospice House, a residential facility where terminally ill patients without families can spend their final weeks.

Mark Smith, director of development for Hospice said,"These patients have very special needs and Hospice House would have unique requirements for its construction. Ideally, we are hoping someone will donate a quiet, centrally located site or be willing to sell it at a reduced rate. It would have to be a sufficient size to build a sixbedroom house."

Zoning regulations are a major factor in site selection as well, Smith said. Anyone with information about a potential site should contact Jane Weber, executive director of Hospice at 875-0028, as soon as possible.

Smith said there are only two other similar houses in the country for Hospice patients. It would be too expensive to provide the staff to care for one individual, he said, but by providing care in one place for six patients it would be more cost effective. It is estimated that 45 days would be the average stay.

Ability to pay is not a re-quirement for a patient to be eligible for hospice care, Smith said. Medicare provides a hospice benefit as do many private insurance plans. There are also grants available for indigent patients.

One of the most important criterion for admission to the hospice program is that, which requires a primary caregiver or caregivers to provide 24-hour care for the patient.

Hospice of Central Florida averages 130 persons at any one time. Most of the terminally ill hospice patients have cancer. but patients suffering from any physician certified terminal illness are eligible, including AIDS (Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome), Smith said. # Soviets Deny Shift On Jewish Emigration

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union today denied it had agreed to sharply increase Jewish emigration and said it had not invited an Israeli delegation to visit Moscow.

Foreign Ministry spokesman Gennadi Gerasimov denied point-by-point a series of stories from Israel and the United States in recent days that reported a major shift in Soviet policies.

A Soviet delegation of "modest consular officials" will visit Israel to check on Soviet property there, but no reciprocal visit to Moscow is planned because there is no Israeli property or Israeli passport holders in the Soviet Union, Gerasimov said.

Gerasimov also denied reports of an agreement with a visiting Jewish delegation that 10,000 to 12,000 Soviet Jews would be allowed to leave.

"There will be no quotas," he said.

Edgar Bronfman, president of the World Jewish Congress, and Morris Abram, chairman of the Presidents of Major American Jewish Organizations, held several meetings with medium-level Soviet officials, Gerasimov said. "Nothing concrete came out of these," he said.

Gerasimov said prospective emigres must still follow the "accepted procedures" that require applications to be considered by the government.

"We cannot guarantee an exact number of applications that can be presented and receive favorable outcomes," Gerasimov said in rejecting the report an increased number of Soviet Jews would be permitted to leave.

He said the main obstacle to emigration requests is knowledge of state secrets, but said each former employer made its own decision on how restriction should be applied. Some people have been refused emigration on the basis of work done in the 1960s.

Bronfman, chairman of the Seagrams Corp., visited Moscow at his own request "and primarily on account of his own affairs," Gerasimov said. would arrive within weeks and in return, an Israeli delegation would go to Moscow.

Gerasimov said the Soviet position had not changed since last summer when a meeting in Helsinki broke off with Moscow rejecting Israeli calls for reciprocal consular visits.

In Jerusalem, an Israeli spokesman said his government has legitimate property interests in Moscow because it still rents the vacant embassy building. Israel also considers itself responsible for Jews in the Soviet Union.

The only point on which Gerasimov provided some support was on a report that Soviet Jews might fly to Israel without going to Vienna, the normal route.

Gerasimov said Israel made that request to curtail the number of emigres that move from Vienna to other countries — "scattered around like spiders" — rather than to Israel. But he told a news conference, "officially it has not been discussed."

Gerasimov said the dispatch of consular officials to Israel, which has been under discussion for at least a year, was not related to a possible resumption of the diplomat relations severed by the Kremlin in 1967.

He said the Soviet position on resuming diplomatic relations is "unchanged "

Coke Is It: Gooden To Enter Rehab

By Mike Tully UPI National Baseball Writer

NEW YORK - For over a year, Dwight Gooden's decline was the subject of speculation. Wednesday, the worst - and most suspected - fears proved founded.

The New York Mets righthander, the youngest player to win the Cy Young Award, has agreed to enter a rehabilitation center for treatment of cocaine use.

Gooden tested positive for cocaine and was placed on the disabled list, Mets General Manager Frank Cashen announced Wednesday. Urinalysis was recently administered at Gooden's own request and the 22-year-old right-hander accepted the evaluation procedure to avoid a suspension by Baseball Commissioner Peter Ueberroth.

"There is some indication of past usage," Cashen said. "But the extent is uncertain and that will be up to competent medical people to ascertain. Gooden will be evaluated and counseled on future remedial action."

Two years ago, Gooden seemed invincible, and won the Cy Young Award. Since then, his performance began to deteriorate last season and he was involved in a series of controversial incidents, including a scuffle with police in his hometown of Tampa, Fla., just before Christmas.

The Mets, scheduled to open defense of their World Championship Tuesday, said Gooden left camp 10 a.m. Wednesday after being confronted with the test results by Cashen. Gooden went to his Tampa home, but was not available for comment.

Baseball

Gooden was placed on the 15-day disabled list, pending the results of the evaluation. Cashen estimated the absence at one or two months. Gooden was scheduled to fly last night to New York where he will check into the Smithers Institute at St. Luke's-Roosevelt Hospital. The Smithers Institute is a treatment center for drug and alcohol problems.

Cashen said the club learned of the test results carlier this week, then took the matter to Ueberroth and National League President A. Bartlett Glamatti.

The Commissioner told the club he was prepared to suspend Gooden immediately, but would withhold disciplinary action if Gooden fully cooperated in an appropriate treatment program and aftercare.

Baseball has made a great deal of progress in the area of fighting drig abuse." said Ueberroth from Milwaukee's spring training camp in Chandler, Ariz. "However we expect sporadic skirmishes and this is one of them. Our policy is simple: If a player is willing to help himself, he gets one chance. If he is unwilling to cooperate or a problem occurs a second time, then we will take the penalty route."

Gooden's agent Jim Neader said he met with the pitcher just before the Mets announcement.

"Well, I'm hoping there isn't a problem. I became aware when the Mets called me this morning it was a potential problem, Neader said.

"The deal is this, that he be evaluated just to see just where he's at. One of two things. If it's a clean report, fine. If there's some problem, then nip it in the bud, take care of it and get back on the field."

"It's very unfortunate." Mets Manager Davey Johnson said. "It's been a rough week. You lose your Opening Day pitcher. The stature of Dwight Gooden. it's not easy. It's just unfortunate a young man like Dwight. who is a fine individual in my opinion, gets mixed up in this." Johnson said he saw no sign of drug abuse in Gooden.

"None whatsoever," he said. "It totally caught me by surprise."

Said Meta first baseman Keith Hernandez: "My concern is for

Oviedo Thumps Patriots

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS -The Oviedo Lions came into Wednesday night's game against Lake Brantley in a slump. The Lions had lost two out of their last three games, and were not hitting the ball.

As it turned out, Oviedo broke out of its alump as the Lions pounded out seven hits, and got a solid pitching performance from Scott Bowers while cruising to a 10-5 Seminole Athletic Conference victory before 211 chilly fans at Lake Brantley High. The triumph lifts the Lions to 111-5 overall and 3-3 in the SAC. "The loss drops the Patriots to 6-13 and 1-4.

Hagen's Double Puts Rams In Drivers' Seat

By Scott Sander Herald Sports Writer

CASSELBERRY - Lake Mary's Rams, who seem to have a penchant for winning the close ones, did it again Wednesday as another new hero emerged.

It was junior Jeff Hagen's turn to enjoy the spotlight against Lake Howell. With the score tied 3-3 all in the top of the sixth inning, Hagen cracked a two-run double to left, lifting the fifthranked (4A) Rams to a 5.3 come-from-behind Seminole Athletic Conference baseball victory over Howell, before 155 fans at Lake Howell High.

"I have been in a slump all season long," Hagen said. "It feels really good to finally get a hit, let alone a game-winning hit.'

"It's not over yet." Tuitle said. "Any team in this county is capable of beating us. We are in the drivers' seat, though."

The Rams will return to action today at home against DeLand in nonconference action. The Rama will travel to Lake Brantley on Friday in a SAC game. Lake Howell will journey to Seminole on Friday afternoon.

The Rams received another strong pitching performance from senior righty Anthony Laszaic. Laszaic tossed a fivehitter, raising his record to a Letterio proceeded to steal second and second baseman Weg Weger then sliced a double down the right-field line, scoring Letterio. Weger advanced to third on a passed ball and scored when Laszaic helped himself with a sacrifice fly to right field.

Lake Howell took the lead in the bottom of the fourth with three runs. Ernest Martinez reached on an error before designated hitter Vito Scutero then walked, moving Martinez to second. Left fielder Matt Yearick Lake Brantley coach Mike Smith said Bowers was the difference in the game. "Number 20 (Bowers) controlled the game," Smith said.

Bowers (4-3) gave up only four hits while striking out nine and "walking six. "It feels good to get a win after three losses in a row." Bowers, whose ERA stands at 1.80, said. "I threw one bad pitch in the game, and " the guy hit it out."

Brantley right-hander Randy Green (0-2) went five innings mand took the loss for Brantley. "Greg Markham pitched the sixth, while Jamle Mouw pitched whe seventh for the Pats. The Patriot pitchers gave up six walks.

Oviedo scored a pair of quick runs in the top of the first. Center fielder Mark Merchant led off with a walk and went to Oviedo lengthened its lead in the fifth with two runs. Randy Ferguson reached on error and stole second. Ferguson moved to third on a ground out and scored when Bowers rolled out. Merchant then took a Green fastball and sent it well over the eft field fence for his fourth homer of the season.

"He really hit it," Mabie said. "He got around late, but he got all of it."

Oviedo cushioned its lead in he sixth with six runs. A pair of singles and a walk loaded the bases. A walk forced Reichle in. and kept the bags full. Ferguson then rapped a single to left, scoring Cox and Jody Spelman. Merchant follwed with a walk that reloaded the bases. Another walk forced Gary Pelczar in, and kept the bases jammed. Yet another walk forced in a run. Merchant scored on a passed ball to give the Lions a 10-0 lead.

Lake Mary's Anthony Laszaic plants and fires. The senior right-hander picked up his sixth victory without a setback with a five-hitter against Lake Howell Wednesday afternoon.

The victory ups Lake Mary to 15-2 overall and 5-0 in the SAC. The setback drops the Silver Hawks to 11-8 and 4-2. The victory gives Links Mary the inside track to the SAC crown.

"We are pretty much out of the picture," Lake Howell coach Birto Benjamin said. "In order for us to win the conference, they (Lake Mary) will have to lose to somebody else, and we will have to beat them."

Stevens Outduels Joyce On 'Giveaway Night'

By Sam Cook

Herald Sports Editor LONGWOOD — Lyman's Dale Stevens and Seminole's James Joyce are first cousins. They locked up in a pretty good pitching duel Wednesday night but it was pretty obvious there was not another relative on the field.

Step brothers would have give better support than the defenses of Lyman and Seminole.

"It was horrible baseball," Lyman coach Bob McCullough said. "It looked like 'Giveaway Night."" Seminole coach Mike Ferrell agreed.

Lyman gave away two runs carly, Seminole gave three in return during the middle before the Greyhounds added a touch of respectability with John Burton's solo homer and Kenny Jackson's two-run single for a 10-5 Seminole Athletic Conference victory before 44 chilled fans at Lyman High School.

pressed into starting service by an injury to Sandy Hovis, allowed five hits, struck out seven and walked three while going the distance. No runs were carned. He improved to 2-2 for the scason.

Joyce, a sophomore righthander, allowed just two hits before leaving after Burton's homer in the fifth. He struck out six but was wild, walking three and hitting three more. Joyce fell to 0-3.

Lyman committed five errors. four of them coming in the first four innings. Seminole committea four error, all of them coming from the fourth inning 01.

Seminole took a 1-0 lead in the first when Gary Derr singled and stole second. After Joey Corst struck out, Jeff Blake lifted a deep fly ball to right center. Derr tagged on the catch and went to third. When Lyman shortstop Darren Boyesen mishandled the relay, Derr alertly speed around Stevens, a senior right-hander third and beat the throw to the Seminole took a 2-0 lead in the fourth when third baseman Burton gunned a throw over the first baseman's head, allowing Corsi to reach second. Jeff Blake hit an easy roller to Chris Brock at second who let the ball trickle into right field, scoring Corsi for a 2-0 lead. Stevens escaped further trouble when Roy Jensen lined out to center fielder Johnny Luce and Blake was caught off second for an inning-ending double play.

Whereas Lyman gave away its runs in small doses, Seminole handed back the lead in one play. Joyce, nevertheless, did not help his survival any by walking Stevens and hitting Boyesen with one out in the fourth. He then came back to strike out Marty Martin on a dandy curveball.

appeared to be out of the inning when Noah Talesnick, subbing for academically ineligible Chris Radcliff, bounced a two-hopper to Derr at third. Derr's throw, though, was poor to first base. It rolled deep into the right field corner, allowing all three runners to score for a 3-2 Lyman lead.

A passed ball then cased Talesnick home for a 4-2 edge.

An inning later, Burton crunched a pitch way over the left-center field fence for a 5-2 lead and Ferrell summoned reliever Michael Edwards. The round-tripper was Burton's third, tying him for the county lead. Stevens, meanwhile, had little trouble with the 'Noles until he tired in the seventh. He retired seven in a row at one stretch and used a nice play on a hard one-hopper by Brock at second to escape the sixth.

"Dale was breaking his Joyce then walked Gib curveball off real well and his Lundquist to load the bases but change-up was working, too," Lyman catcher Martin said. "He was more relaxed since his other start."

'Noles Don't Dodge Competition With Invitational

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer While Seminole High would like

nothing better than to win its own invitational, it is certainly not avoiding competition in order to keep the championship trophies at home.

Both the Seminole boys and girls teams will have stiff competition Friday night at the Seminole High Invitational. which is annually sponsored by the Optimist Club of Sanford. The meet starts with field events at 4 p.m. followed by running prelims at 5 and running finals start at 7:30.

On the boys side, defending state champion Seminole will be the favorite but coach Ken Brauman expects the Seminoles will have their hands full with 3A power Lakeland Lake Gibson along with 4A foes Orlando Evans and West Orange. Orlando Oak Ridge will not be on hand as it will run in the Winter

Track & Field

"Lake Gibson has many of the outstanding individuals in the meet." Brauman said. "Based upon times turned in, they should be right in the running for the team title."

Among Lake Gibson's more impressive athletes is sprinter Keith Strong who is among the state's finest in the 100 meters (10.3) and 220 dash (21.7). Lake Gibson also has one of the best 440 relay teams in the state and a 22-10 long jumper in Travis Green.

Seminole is hoping to put together two strong relays to offset Strong in the sprints. Earle Martin, Dwayn Willis, Steve Warren and Maurice Roberts are among the Tribe's key relay people.

In open events. Martin is one of the top runners in the state in the open quarter points in the sprints. Hurdlers Alan Seward and Arthur Herney are also key runners for the Tribe. Field event strength is provided by triple jumper Lewis Butler, high jumper Walter Hopson, discus thrower Jerod Jones and pole vaulter Sonny Osborn.

Other teams who will be on hand in the boys division include Lake Mary, Lyman, Lake Howell, Lake Brantley, Orlando Colonial, Orlando Jones, Orlando Evans, West Orange, Spruce Creek, Daytona Mainland, Daytona Seabreeze and New Smyrna Beach.

The girls division has all the makings of a classic as defending state champion Seminole and defending runnerup Oak Ridge will go head to head. Both teams are expected to be among the frontrunners in this year's meet.

"The girls know Oak Ridge will be there but they are mainly thinking about going out and running," Seminole coach competitive and stay healthy since Seminole has two state-leading individuals in juniors Shownda Martin (880) and Dorchelle Webster (330 hurdles) and both are members of the state-leading mile relay team. Other key members for the Tribe include Adrian Hillsman. LaShon Cash, Yolanda Baker, Tasha Wynn and Michelle Pearson. The Lady Noles will also have Ramona Jamison back after she missed the first half of the season because of academic ineligibility.

Oak Ridge has the state's leading 110 hurdler in Barbara Moore and the leader in the long jump in Michelle Spear. The Lady Pioneers also lead in the 440 relay.

Sonmor: Chicago Fans Enthused But Few Have Mental Problems

United Press International

In his return to coaching, Glen Sonmor questioned the mental capacity of Chicago Stadium fans and the ability of referce Bob Myers.

Sonmor, coaching his first game since replacing Lorne Henning, guided the Minnesota North Stars to a 4-4 tie against the Blackhawks Wednesday night. The game was marred by fans throwing bottles at Myers when they believed he should have called a penalty on the North Stars.

"The people here are enthusiastic, but a few of them have mental problems," said Sonmor, who began his third stint as North Stars coach Tuesday when Henning was fired. "They were insulting my players at a time when they didn't need to be insulted. The security people should have done something before it got to that point."

The fans were not the only ones dissatisfied with the officiating - the North Stars also had their gripes.

Myers disallowed an apparent game-tying goal by Minnesota's Brian Lawton in the second period. Ed Olyczk then gave Chicago a 2-0 lead at 5:01 with his 16th goal of the season. The period included 16 penalties - one a delay-of-game call on Minnesota at the start of the period.

"Myers gave us no breaks whatsoever," said Sonmor, the winningest coach in the North Stars' 20-year history. "That (delay) penalty was a Mickey Mouse, childish call. That egomaniae said we were late by a couple seconds, but our clock said we weren't. I don't know what's going through his mind."

Elsewhere, Washington crushed the New York Rangers 5-1, Montreal edged Hartford 3-2, Philadelphia nipped Detroit 2-1 and Vancouver pounded Los Angeles 8-3.

Testaverde, Bucs Agree Verbally

BOSTON (UPI) - Heisman Trophy winner Vinny Testaverde and the Tampa Bay Buccancers have verbally agreed on a six-year pact worth more than $8 million, which would make the former Miami quarterback the highest-paid rookie in NFL history.

Boston-based attorney Bob Woolf, representing Testaverde, said Wednesday, "We have a verbal agreement. The negotiations went well. I felt Vinny always wanted to play in Tampa."

Dolphins quarterback Dan Marino carns $9 million over six years and Buffalo's Jim Kelly currently makes $8 million over five years.

"This shows me that Tampa Bay wants to have a winner." Woolf said of the contract terms. "They want to go forward and produce a winner for the people of Tampa."

In both 1986 and 1987, Tampa Bay had the No. 1 pick in the college draft. Last season, Auburn's Bo Jackson chose to play baseball for the Kansas City Royals rather than

Fitch Can't Locate Star, Rockets Fall

United Press International Houston Coach Bill Fitch. seeking "a star" to rise from his bench Wednesday nights sat Akeem Olajuwon and Ralph Sampson most of the fourth quarter.

From the sidelines, they watched as the Suns went on a 7-0 burst and pulled away to a 117-104 victory. In one of the few times the Twin Towers were on the court at the same time this season, Olajuwon and Sampson played the entire third quarter. Sampson, playing in his second game after undergoing arthroscopic knee surgery in February, left the game for good at the beginning of the fourth quarter.

Olajuwon, who scored 11 straight points for Houston in a span bridging the third and fourth quarters took a permanent scat with 8.31 left.

Fitch went with Richard Anderson and Dave Feltl down the stretch.

"I'm not sure we can play in the playoffs with the 12 we have now," said Fitch. "It would have made me happy if we had found a star out there.

The move left the Suns befuddled, but willing to make an attempt to understand.

'Maybe they were trying to build the guys coming off, the bench with some confidence for the playoffs," said Phoenix guard Walter Davis, who finished with a game-high 35 points.

Said Phoenix Coach Dick Van Arsdale: "Sure, when they had that lineup in there in a close game, you're a little bit surprised. Pleasantly."

Houston clinched a playoff berth on Tuesday night, and Fitch said he wanted to look at his reserves as post-season 'play draws near.

"Let's say we make a roster change. We want every know they got a chance," Fitch said. "I'd rather find out tonight in Phoenix than three weeks from now if we're not ready for the playoffs. If we'd have been at home, I'd have done the same running back for the Buccaneers.

Tampa Bay owner Hugh Culverhouse had said he wants to have the Buccancers' top pick signed before the April 28 draft, to avoid a repeat of last year's problems.

Noah Brilliant Upon Return

CHICAGO (UPI) - Yannick Noah, one of the better

Wednesday in his first match after recovering from a shoulder injury.

Organizers of the Chicago Grand Prix tournament begged Noah to fill one of the holes left when Ivan Lendi and John McEnroe withdrew with injuries prior to the tournament. Although he quit a match one month ago because of a shoulder pain and had only four days to prepare, Noah agreed.

In his first match Wednesday, Noah dropped the first set to Peter Lundgren 6.0 and his backhand was ineffective. With the crowd cheering him on, Noah came back to win the last two sets 7-5, 6-4 to advance to the second round.

No Jail For Ex-Colt Schlichter

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) - Although former Indianapolis Colts quarterback Art Schlichter will not go to jail after pleading guilty to gambling charges, he will never escape the disease that drives him to wager on sports events.

"I'll always be a compulsive gambler. It's something I'll have to deal with the rest of my life," Schlichter said Wednesday after his appearance in Marion County Municipal Court.

Robinson Grows Into Wooden Award

LOS ANGELES (UPI) - As a freshman. David Robinson was a lightly regarded 6-foot-7, 175pound center. Four years later, he's six inches taller, 60 pounds heavier and the winner of the 11th Wooden Award as the top collegiate basketball player in the nation.

He's also a man with a lucrative but mysterious future. The Navy senior ran away with the Wooden Award in a nationwide vote of 1,000 sportswriters and broadcasters announced Wednesday at the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

What will Robinson do next. reporters wanted to know after John Wooden, the legendary retired UCLA coach after whom the award was named, opened an envelope and announced the winner.

Basketball

Secretary of the Navy John Lehman Jr. reduced Robinson's military obligation, in part because he had grown too tall to be assigned to many Navy dutics, but James Webb reportedly is considering rescinding the decision when he replaces Lehman as expected next month.

Navy made "a commitment" and he does not think Webb can rescind the decision, which would allow him to either play in the NBA or on the 1988 U.S. Olympic team.

Under the agreement. Robinson would serve two years of active duty and four years of Los Angeles Clippers.

reserve duty, instead of the standard five years of active duty required of Naval Academy graduates.

'My crystal ball is cloudy and I really can't see the future."

Robinson has maintained the assigned to one of the major

Future Dividend: Hook A Child On Fishing

Spring is a great time of year to go freehwater fishing in Florida. It is also an opportune time to introduce children to the sport of fishing.

and the second

Teaching children to fish is a rewarding experiment. We can all remember and cherish the adults who played an important role in showing us how to fish.

Springtime is when fish become more active and aggressive and they go through their spawning rituals. When water temperatures rise, gamefish such as largemouth bass, bluegill, shellcracker, speckled perch. sunshine bass, and redbreast sunfish concentrate in areas of lakes and rivers where they can be caught in large numbers by fishermen.

Action with these fish concentrations can be fast and furious, and children caught up in fishing of this type will be hooked forever.

Fishing equipment for children need not be complicated or expensive. In fact, the simpler, the better. A cane pole or a closed-face spinning reel would be a good choice for a jew ster who is on his/her first fishing trip.

The most important aspect of the fishing trip is to assure the child plenty of action. Panfish such as bluegill, speckled perch, shellcracker, or redbreast sunfish make an excellent choice as they are abundant and usually always hungry.

Adults should assume a supportive role and ensure that the children have a good time. Hooks need to be baited, fish taken off the hook, and snags and snarls straightened out.

Creature comforts are also an important part of the outing. Children should be dressed appropriately for the present weather conditions. If the trip is going to last more than several hours, protective sunburn precautions must be followed.

Snacks and cold drinks make the fishing trip even more enjoyable. Food tastes especially good when you are fishing.

A little planning on your part can result in a lifetime of enjoyment for a youngster. A child hooked on fishing and the excitement of the outdoors will enjoy the "highs" of real life and perhaps avoid the pitfalls of drugs and alcohol that fill the empty voids of too many of today's youth.

Make an investment in the future and take a child fishing this weekend.

SHUPE'S SCOOP - It is important to be attentive when you take children fishing. They can be frustrated easily, and it is up to the adults to see that everything goes smoothly.

... Overall, fishing has been slow due to extremely poor weather and cool water temperatures. The current cool front will likely slow things down even Ron Rawlins from Highland Park Fish Camp said that few anglers have been getting out due to the bad weather. Large numbers of speckled perch have been caught in the IIIIy pads. Shiners are now in good supply, and good bass can be caught fishing them near liceting cover.

Deli Abernethy from Osteen Bridge reports that things have been slow due to the poor weather and the rising water level. Bass fishing is really tough, and anglers would be wise to find moving water for the best action. Quile a few bream and catflish are being caught on worms and mussels. Speckled perch are hard to locate, but experience fishermen

The present cold front will slow things down even more. Captain Jack at Pert Canaveral reports that fishing is at a standstill. Offshore fishing is non-existent due to high seas. While Oviedo and Lake Howell figure to duel for the girls title, a four-way free-for-all could take shape in the boys division of the Seminole Athletic Conference Tennis Championships Friday and Saturday at Red Bug Park in Casselberry.

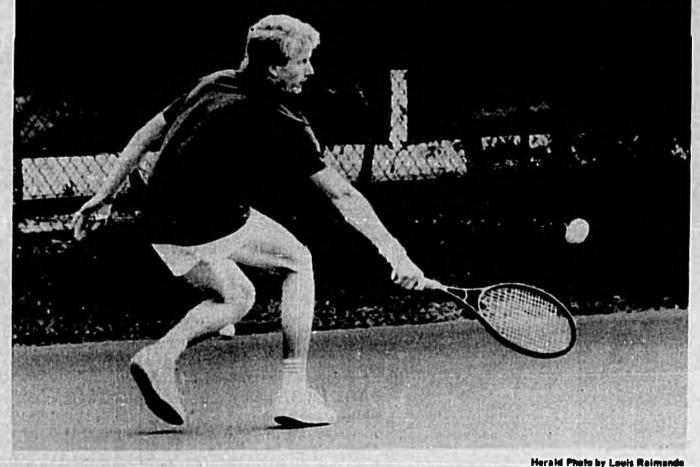

The first round of action begins Friday afternoon at 3:30 while the finals are scheduled to being Saturday morning at 8:30. Lake Brantley's boys and Lake Howell's girls are the defending champions.

"The boys division looks like it's going to be wide open," Lake Howell coach Mike Hargis said. "Us and Lake Mary have the best seeds but Lake Brantley and Lyman could also win it with the right upsets."

Lake Howell's boys have four of the top-seeded singles players including Vince Regan at division two, Mark Enriquez at division three, Larry Floyd at division four and Patrick Regan at division five. Vince Regan and Floyd are also the top-seeded division two doubles team.

The Rams are led by number two seeds Tom Boysen (division three), Brett Thorpe (division four) and David Sheridan (division five). Lake Mary also has the number two division two doubles team in Boysen and Thorpe.

Lake Brantley is led by the division one top-seeded player in Mark Palus who played for last year's state championship team. Chip Devine is seeded second at division two and the Palus-Devine team is top-seeded at division one doubles.

No April Fool: DeLand Blasts Seminole, 18-0

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

DeLand 18, Seminole 0 - April Fool?

Seminole High and coach Lance Abney wish they could write Wednesday's game off as a bad April Fools' joke but the harsh reality was an embarassing 18-0 loss at the hands of DeLand's Lady Buildogs before 51 fans at Fort Mellon Field.

Seminole, which fell to 6-5 overall, had only four hits on offense, committed 10 errors and gave up 13 hits in its worst defeat of the season. The Lady Tribe will try to get back on track today as it goes to Lake Howell for a big Seminole Athletic Conference matchup.

After two scoreless innings, in which DeLand managed only two hits and Seminole just one, the Lady Bulldogs broke loose with nine runs on six hits and four Seminole errors in the top of the third. Six of the nine runs scored via Seminole 11 mistakes.

"Up until the third it looked like it was going to be a defensive battle," Abney said. "But we decided to stop playing defense in the third and it was history after that.'

While Seminole continued to struggle at the plate, DeLand tacked on two runs in the fourth on 🚙 Shawn Lane's two-run homer, scored three runs on one hit and three Seminole errors in the fifth and pushed across three more runs on three more Tribe errors in the sixth. The game ended after six innings due to the rarely seen 15-run slaughter rule. Tammy Bailey, Shelly Sanders, Vikki Oliver and Amy Hawkins each had a single for Seminole's only hint of an offense while beLand played errorless defense behind pitcher C.C. Hayden. Heather Eckman had three hits to lead the DeLand offense while Lane and Teresa Maggio had two hits each. Lori Bird's pitching was one of the few bright spots for Seminole as she walked only one and struck out one in her third appearance on the mound. Bird took over the starting pitching slot when Jackie Suggs became academically ineligible.

Although it has only the second-seeded division one doubles team. Lyman is seen as a threat if it. Eric Hochman did not get a top two seed but is capable of winning the title if he gets on a roll. division one. Oviedo's only seeded player is Greg Lampke who is number two at division one singles. For Seminole, coach Jim Edmonds said Matt Albert at division four has the best chance for the Tribe.

In the girls division, Lake Howell and Oviedo have been the frontrunners the past two seasons and it is expected to be the same way this season with Lake Mary having an outside chance.

"Unless Lake Mary gets some upsets carly. It will be us and Ovledo in the end," Hargis said. "The matches between our players along the way will be the difference. Right now, it looks pretty even.'

Lake Howell has two number one seeds in singles including Emmylou Dulce at division two and Bonnie Oliver at division three. Number two seeds include Mindy Gardberg at division four and Mina Allian at division five. The division one doubles team of Rence Martin-Dulce is seeded first while the number two team of Gardberg-Alilan is accded second.

Longmire is seeded first at division one singles and combines with Lisa Linden to form the second seeded division one doubles team.

Hagler Eyes Swell Account

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) - Marvin Hagler has seen life from both sides, and he is happier as the hunted than he was as the hunter.

With fighters like Ray Leonard chasing him. Hagler has watched his bank account swell considerably.

"I never really started making good money until I was on top." he said Wednesday. "Now I'm a hunted man."

Hagler will carn at least $12 million and Leonard $11 million Monday night when they meet for Hagler's World Boxing Council middleweight title.

Hagler, 62-2-2 with 52 knockouts, said the i don't think he has any business being in there with me right now," he said of Leonard. "I've given the public a gift, I'm giving you the opportunity. I'm the one who said yes to fighting Leonard."

Leonard is not the only person hunting Hagier, who cherishes his status as undisputed 160-pound champion. The World Boxing Association has stripped Hagler and the International Boxing Federation is considering doing the same.

Those groups object to Hagler fighting Leonard after being inactive for more than a year. Neither the WBA and IBF were asked to sanction the Leonard bout.

Hagier Tuesday lost a battle in a Boston purt room to overturn the WBA's ruling. On Monday night at Caesars Palace, he pects to have more control over the inuation.

"I'm going out as undisputed champion, "I tell you that right now." Hagler said.

"Bonaventure played a tremendous game," Lake Mary coach Karen Nolen said. "She had five hits, scored five runs and she was responsible for two more runs when she purposely got caught in run downs so the runs could score."

Brooke Taylor and Teri Peters were both 4 for 4 for the Lady Rams with Taylor scoring three runs and driving in two and Peters also collecting two RBIs. Val Smith added three hits to the onslaught while Paula Songer, Sherry Alderson, Reedy Metz, Marnie Frey, Laurie Leiffer and Amy Adams contributed two hits each.

Reagan To Ask Senators To Sustain Highway Bill Veto

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Reagan scheduled a dramatic visit to Capitol Hill today in a last ditch effort to persuade one or more of 13 defecting Republican senators to change their minds and vote to sustain his veto of the $88 billion highway bill.

Senate Republican leader Robert Dole of Kansas announced Reagan's visit on the Senate floor, saying it will be "an effort by the president to persuade some of them to change their minds on the veto.' "I'm not certain that it will succeed," Dole said. "Win or lose, he's going to do all he can." Earlier, assistant Senate Republican leader Alan Simpson of Wyoming disclosed that he had urged Reagan not to veto the highway bill and that new White House chief of staff Howard Baker had not pushed for the latest confrontation with the Democratic Congress, Simpson had indicated he had given up hope that Democrats can be stopped short of victory.

DEAR DR. GOTT - Who nerve irritation, your tingling about when to take medicine: the doctor or the pharmacist? DEAR READER - When taking medicine, you should listen to the advice given by both the doctor and the pharmacist. Most physicians try to be thorough in giving information about drugs, but we sometimes forget certain items - such as when to take the medicine (with food or on an empty stomach) and what effects it may have when taken with other drugs. This is where the pharmacist can be of invaluable help.

Use both your doctor and your pharmacist as resources; they can complement each other. If their instructions differ, ask the two of them to resolve the issue. I get a lot of advice and help from pharmacists in my community, and I believe that my patients are better off because we work together.

DEAR DR. GOTT - 1 was given papain injections for a ruptured disc. A few months later, a tingling sensation began in my feet. The pain is getting worse. Two myelograms show peripheral nerve damage and the neurologist wants to do a nerve biopsy. Could the material from the myelogram or the papain have caused the problem? No one has mentioned this as a possibility.

DEAR READER - Initial enthusiasm for papain injections (to heal ruptured discs in the spine) has dwindled because the treatment has side effects, such as nerve damage, and often is ineffective. If you have continuing symptoms and signs of nerve malfunction, you should see a neurologist or neurosurgeon. Although the material that is injected for a myelogram (X-ray of the spinal nerves) can cause should give people instructions and pain probably are due to a persisting disc rupture or to the papain itself.

By James Jacoby

Here is a deal with several items of interest. First, the bidding. North, after responding two diamonds, later bld three hearts, supporting the opening bidder's suit. Was that threeheart bid forcing? Within your partnership you may have an absolute rule, but my answer is that South is expected to bid on unless the opening bid was extremely weak. The play of the hand is tricky after the club opening lead. Declarer won in dummy and immediately played a diamond. East was right to duck the first diamond. When he won the second diamond, he played another club. (That choice was certainly better than un-derleading the ace of spades.) Now declarer did best by leading dummy's heart jack. West allowed that trick to hold. Dethe jack of hearts had held. He should have next played a diamond. East would ruff and South would overruff. South could now lead a club and ruff with dummy's small heart. Now a spade lead, and East would be helpless to prevent declarer from getting to his hand to ruff his last club. Declarer would be left with K-Q-9 of hearts and West would not be able to take more than one trick with his A-8.

Woman's Proof Of Love Is Male Virgin's Proof Of Sin

THE CONTRACTOR AND AND A CONTRACTOR AND

DEAR ARBY, Larre a normal man of 49, except for the fact that I have never had sex (unless you can count masturbation). I am not gay or anything: it's just that I believe that sex should be reserved for marriage.

I am very much interested in a lady who says she loves me and wants to prove it by going to bed with me - in fact, she has demanded it! I will be 50 soon, and she has given me an ul-timatum that if we don't go to bed by the time I am 50, she is breaking up with me.

My church teaches that it is a sin to have sex outside of marriage. What should I do? Am I being old-fashioned? Help me out, please.

A.S. IN NEW YORK

DEAR A.S.: Clinging to one's religious principles is not "oldfashioned." Your reasons for not going to bed with the lady are valid, and if she ends the relationship because you refuse to yield to her demands, you may be better off without her.

DEAR ABBY: I need to get something off my chest that's been bugging me for two years. My mother-in-law keeps a large framed picture of her son and his ex-fiancee prominently displayed in her living room. It's a lovey-dovey pose of the two of them. She has her arms wrapped around him and they're looking at each other - all smiles and goo-goo eyes.

I told my husband it bothered me, so after we were married, he asked "Mom" to please put it away. Maybe he wasn't emphatic enough because it's still there. It hurts my heart to go over there and have to look at it.

I'm sure Mom would rather have had the other girl for her daughter-in-law because I'm a few years older than her son, and I was married before. Please print this. Maybe Mom will see it and put that picture was it? somewhere else.

HURT

DEAR HURT: And maybe she won't. Ask your husband again to respectfully tell his mother that you hurt when you see that picture, so please remove it. At the same time, present her with a lovely large replacement - one of you and him, framed!

DEAR ABBY: I want to share one good thing that has happened as a result of the AIDSscare publicity.

My husband of 50 years has been a skirt chaser for 49 of them. Last year he gave up his hobby (women) and I am now "Sweetheart," "Honey" and "Dearle."

After no sex for 20 years, I'm not sure I want to resume sleeping with him again. I find it hard to get accustomed to the feeling that I am really desirable since we have lived like sister and brother for so many years. Don't use my name. Sign me

MINNIE HA-HA

DEAR MINNIE: Please, no "ha-has" about a subject as serious as AIDS. Considering your husband's fast-track record, should you decide to resume marital relations, first, make sure he is tested to determine whether he has been infected with the AIDS virus. Then wait another six months, because it could take that long for the virus to show up in a test.

DEAR ABBY: Some years ago you wrote something quite beautiful about people who love deeply never growing old. What

RUTH COMSTOCK.

DEAR RUTH: "Those who love deeply never growold; they may die of old age, but they die young." And thanks for asking because I'm one of those people.

DEAR ABBY: If children have no manners, whose fault is it? Their parents'. Listen to this: Every year, our 42-year-old daughter-in-law has acknowledged our carefully chosen Christmas gifts in the following manner: "Thank you for the lovely silver bowl for us for the nice jacket and sweater for Jane (age 18); for the stereo for Dick The least she could have done was to have added: "We are fine. How are you? Dick and Jane broke their right arms so they are unable to write."

ANONYMOUS IN ROSWELL, N.M.

DEAR ABBY: After two years of dating Rick, a very loving and good man, he opened his eyes one night in the middle of making love and asked. "Say, what does your gas bill run a month?"

I was hurt and dumbfounded and haven't spoken to him since. (We are both in our late 40s.) What should I do?

HURT

DEAR HURT: Tell him you were hurt and why. Rick may be a loving and good man, but his timing is poor.

Soap Quietly Celebrates 31st Year On Television

By Nancy M. Reichardt NEW YORK - No trumpets

blared; no formal announcement was made, and no party took place on the set. But despite the lack of fanfare, "As the World Turns" celebrated (quietly) the beginning of its 31st year on television on April 2.

"ATWT," which premiered on April 2, 1956, is the second longest-running daytime drama. ("Search for Tomorrow" was the longest, but its cancellation last year pushed "Guiding Light" into the longest-running spot.)

From its inception, "ATWT" was a hit with the daytime soap audience. It was the reigning Nielsen ratings champ from 1959 through 1971. And although the show slipped in the ratings during the time that other shows were catering to a "youth craze," "ATWT" has quietly been creeping back into the top five. Sometimes the CBS show even garners second or third place. "ATWT," which is currently PANE PORTUNE & ROunder the creative scripting of Emmy Award-winning principal D (11) ALICE D (10) SOLDIERS OF THE SUMwriter Douglas Marland, has been sneaking up on the competition during the past year or 80.

its ups and downs, it attracts fans of all age groups.

from the days when Nancy Hughes (played by Helen Wagner, the show's only remaining original cast member) spent most of her time pouring coffee and discussing the day's happenings while her family and friends gathered around the kitchen table. "ATWT" has taken its armchair-bound viewers to England, Italy, Spain, Greece and Jamaica for exciting location scenes.

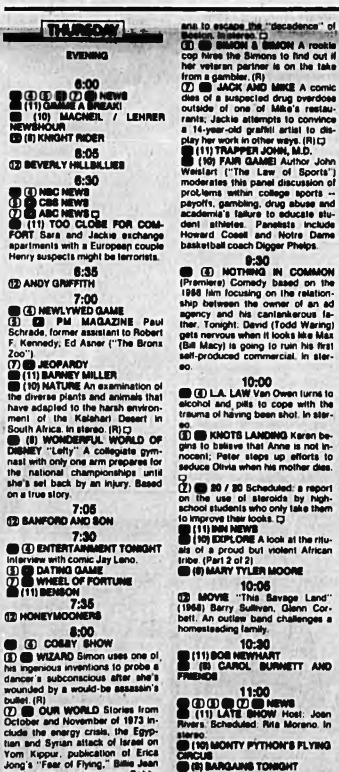

The soap also boasts an impressive list of alumni, including Martin Sheen, James Earl Jones, Richard Thomas and Michael Nader (who stars on "Dynasty") and Danny Pintauro of the popular sitcom "Who's the Boss?" Keep up the good work,"ATWT," and have a happy 31st year! MAILBAG:

The plot against Shane and Kimberly's star-crossed love "ATWT" has come a long way thickened again last week when the audience learned that Shane's ISA (the show's FBI equivalent) partner, Gillian Forrester, played by Camilla More. has set her romantic sights on her secret-agent colleague.

Spicing up Gillian's scheme to snare Shane is Gillian's twin sister. Grace, played by Camilla's real-life twin sister, Carey More, who has arrived to help sis accomplish her romantic goal.

Camilla and Carey, who are from England, have worked on several acting projects together, including the feature film "The Twins," which was released in Europe.

What makes "ATWT" so popular?

Over the years the show has maintained a balanced blend of contemporary and traditional story lines. Even though the show has undergone several changes in writers (as most soaps do), those in charge have for the most part stuck to the grass-roots soap opera concepts. The writers haven't jumped on the bandwagon every time a new craze has hit the business, such as the unpopular science fiction and mass murder story lines that have been so prevalent on the other soaps. "ATWT" does it's own thing well. The show mixes just the right amount of suspenseful stories with its traditional stories of love, romance, happiness and unhappiness. They keep all the necessary elements of intriguing soap opera fare in balance, and even though the show has had

NATION IN BRIEF

Marines Were Warned Of Sexual Entrapment By Soviet Spies

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Security personnel were acutely aware of the vulnerability of U.S. Embassy guards in Moscow to sexual entrapment by spics and repeatedly warned the young Marines about it, a top State Department official says.

In an interview with United Press International, Assistant Secretary of State Robert Lamb, director of the Bureau of Diplomatic Security, said officials have been "stunned" by the revelations at America's most sensitive diplomatic outpost and see "a very serious breach of security."

The Marine Corps' commander of embassy guards, meanwhile, warns more personnel could be implicated in the Soviet sex-for-secrets scandal that has led to the jailing of three Marine suspects, two of them charged formally.

Already the entire Marine guard detachment is being recalled from Moscow and other Marines are being Sent to fill the 28 posts.

Reagan Vows AIDS Cure Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Reagan, with the government predicting a nine-fold increase in AIDS cases In the next four years, yows to "find a way or make one" to cure the epidemic.

But the president, speaking publicly for the first time on the subject, said Wednesday that schools should teach abstinence from sex as well as the use of condoms to help contain the disease

The dangers of AIDS "should be taught in connection with values, not simply taught as a physical, mechanical process," he told reporters. On Tuesday night, he said, young people should not be taught "how to do it, but that you don't do It."

Reagan's speech Wednesday to the Philadelphia College of Physicians, while emphasizing his administration's billion-dollar proposal to research, treat and test for AIDS, also touched on a broad range of medical issues.

Man Ends World Walk

BETHEL, Onto (UPI) - An aspiring writer who became the tirst person to walk around the globe alone says his 21,000-mile trek through 20 countries convinced him that "this is a compassionate world."

After four years, four pairs of boots and an estimated 40 million steps, Steve Newman, 32, completed his journey Wednesday by returning to the arms of his mother in his hometown, about 35 miles cast of Cincinnati.

Officials of the town of 2,200 declared it a holiday, and hundreds of people accom-panied Newman as he waiked his last mile down Main Street, wearing a large backpack with an American flag.

"I will never forget this day if I live to be 150," Newman said after embracing his mother Mary on the front porch of their home.

On his journey, Newman was arrested in Turkey and threatened with a shotgun in the Australian outback, and he almost quit on Christmas Day 1984 when he learned in New Delhi, India, that his father Edwin had died on Thanksgiv-

But Newman said the book he intends to write about his trip will stress the love and kindness he encountered.

"My job for the next 30 years is to keep reminding people through my stories that this is a compassionate world," he said.

"I set out to learn and find out what people are really like. I wanted to show people that it wasn't such a bad world, I figured the best way to do that was to put a pack on my back and start out walking. "I think the fact that I made it and don't have too many bullet holes in me says some-thing about the world. Mankind is dominated by pessionate love.'

According to the Guinness Book of World Records, no one has walked around the world sione — although American David Kunat completed the journey by walking part of the way with his bother John and the remainder with his brother

Analysts Say Prime Rate Hike Eases Fed's Burden

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Private banks did what the Federal Reserve could not do when they raised their prime lending rates, an analyst said Wednesday

Economic forecaster Michael Evans and other experts also said the Fed's Board of Governors is unlikely to change monetary policy in the near future, because any loosening of the money supply could trigger inflation, while a tightening action would be more than the weak U.S. economy could stand.

The Fed's Federal Open Market Committee. which decides how light or heavy a touch the agency should have on the economy, was meeting Tuesday when Citibank and Chase Manhattan raised the prime rate to 7% percent from 71/2 percent. Their move - the first rate change since last August - was matched Wednesday by several other banks.

"There's a fascinating rumor - but it's just a rumor - that the Fed wanted to tighten somehow but they didn't want to raise the discount rate, so they cooked up a deal with Citibank to raise the prime rate," Evans said.

"The Fed is not the! foolish," he said. Louis Crandall, an economist . ith Richard Wrightson and Associates of New York, said the Fed actually "went out of its way" Tuesday to let it be known its Federal Open Market Committee meeting wasn't producing any changes.

Evans, Gramley, Crandall and Allen Sinai of Shearson-Lehman Brothers in New York all said the banks had powerful concerns of their own that supersede any need to second-guess the Fed. Among those worries are Brazil's decision to suspend interest payments on its loans, they said.

"What the banks did is irrelevant for the Fed." Sinal said. "The Fed is in a no-change situation." Gramley said he expects the increased prime rate will have a minor impact on Fed thinking.

"Now that short term rates have gone up, will that effect the discount rate? The answer is 'no," Gramley said. "I don't think the Fed would make any overt and obvious signal that it wants to tighten. The economy is not growing enough, and I see nothing in the inflationary outlook that would sugggest a heed for tightening."

Parliament: No Death Penalty

LONDON (UPI) - Britain abolished hanging 22 years ago, and Parliament has decided it will stay that way for the foresecable future, despite outeries for its restoration and no matter how "evil" the murder.

The House of Commons Wednesday night firmly rejected a proposed law to reinstate the death penalty for murder. The result had been widely predicted.

The 342-230 vote marked the fifth time since execution was outlawed in 1965 that Parliament has said "no" to its return, despite claims by many Conservative members that the British public supports the death penalty.

Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher was returning from her trip to the Soviet Union and missed the vote on the proposal to reinstate the death penalty for murder "in circumstances which a reasonable person would consider to be evil."

Lawmakers: Some Farmers Skirting Subsidy Ceilings

WASHINGTON (UPI) -Lawmakers fear the integrity of farm programs is threatened by farmers who have reorganized their operations to circumvent a $50,000 subsidy celling - adding $900 million to federal spending by 1989.

Rep. Dan Glickman, D-Kan., chairman of a House Agriculture Subcommittee on Wheat, Soybeans and Feed Grains, said Wednesday that farm state individuals, corporations, lawmakers must not permit abuses to erode political support for subsidies - now providing up to half the income of some farmers. Subsidies cost a record $25.8 billion last year.

He said "a tiny minority" of farmers are reorganizing to evade the payment limit and called for legislation "which will ensure that no one is tarnishing the good name" of American agriculture.

But Rep. Harold Volkmer. D-Mo., said such circumvention is not new.

"I think we kind of put our heads in the sand and let it go," he said, adding that lawmakers should be honest if they do not 16,000 new "persons" created believe in the $50,000 payment since 1984 will add $432 million enacted.

The General Accounting Office, an investigative arm of Congress, told the subcommittee that unless rules are changed and the law is enforced, wheat, feed grain, cotton and rice farmers seeking multiple payments will have created 31,000 new "persons" between 1984 and 1989.

Under the law, "persons" are partnerships or other legal entitles involved in farming.

In a widely quoted abuse, called the "Mississippi Christmas tree," the GAO showed the subcommittee a diagram of how a father, four sons and a daughter created 15 corporations to collect 21 $50,000 payments for about $1 million last year. In 1985, the six family members collected $300,000.

'The Mississippi Christmas tree looks like a new defense by the Chicago Bears," said Rep. Pat Roberts, R-Kan. "It makes my producers mad as hell."

The GAO estimated that

To substantiate his feat. Newman had someone from every town he visited sign his log book. Newman said he will present the book to Guinness officials.

Newman stepped off his front porch April 1, 1983, and walked to Boston, took a plane to ireland and then walked through Europe, stopping briefly in Africa.

From there, he flew back to Yugoslavia and walked through Greece, the Middle, East, Pakistan and India, before flying to Australia. From Australia, he flew to Vancouver, British Columbia. for the final leg of his journey.

Newman, whose trek took him to 20 countries, spent only a third of his time actually walking along his route of approximately 21,000 miles.

The rest of the time he lived with families. He wound up staying with one Melboume, Australia, woman for three months.

The cost could rise to $660
