The 4th Parades, Fireworks, New Citizens And Renewed Freedom

From Staff and Wire Reports

Fourth of July fireworks will punctuate the skies over Seminole County tonight as a fitting climax to a day of festivities in celebration of the nation's 200th birthday.

Fireworks displays are scheduled at dark on the lakefront in Sanford behind the Altamonte Mall in Altamonte Springs, and behind the Oviedo Post Office on Geneva Drive.

Local residents celebrated in traditional ways with picnics and backyard barbecues are having fun at one of the area festivities. In Sanford's Fort Mellon Park a day of activities included games, contests and entertainment. In downtown Oviedo an old-fashioned barbecue, bluegrass and gospel music are to continue until dusk. Geneva celebrated with a patriotic parade in the morning followed by a Beastly Beauty Contest for men and games and other activities at Geneva School.

Lake Mary Civic Improvement Association sponsored festivities at Lake Crystal Park including a bathtub regatta and hot air balloon rides. Horseshoes and chicken dinners will continue until 9 p.m.

Live entertainment at SkyBlast 85 in the Altamonte Mall parking lot will begin at 7 p.m. including a skydiving exhibition. Sponsors advise arriving early to avoid traffic jams.

Elsewhere around the nation immigrants became U.S. citizens. Americans held hostage sampled their renewed freedom and a Tennessee town celebrated the Fourth of July with fitting independence, holding a parade one minute past midnight.

Garlinburg, Tenn., ever mindful of the traffic snails caused by Independence Day parades held its festivities at 12:01 a.m. EDT.

But County Nixes Another

One Shopping Plaza, Apartment Complex OK'd

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

After receiving an unsigned agreement from three developers to spend $275,000 to improve the intersection of Red Bug Lake and Tuskawilla roads, county commissioners Tuesday night approved rezoning to permit development of a seven-acre shopping plaza and a 90-unit apartment complex on Tuskawilla.

But earlier in the month after a public hearing the commission turned down a bid from Art Davis for rezoning to build a six-acre shopping center at the southeast corner of state Road 46 and Lake Markham Road in the Paola area near Sanford.

In both cases, home owners joined the commission meeting room at the County Services Building to protest the rezonings of the agriculturally zoned lands.

Hugh Harling, engineering consultant for Frank Tepper, trustee of the two parcels on Tuskawilla Road, told commissioners that the Tepper trust and other developers have agreed to finance the intersection improvements before certificates of occupancy are issued for their properties. The other two are Ron Jackson, developer of a parcel at ready-zoned commercial on the northeast corner of the Tuskawilla-Red Bug Lake intersection and Shari Seest, developer of the property in the northeast quadrant of the intersection.

Harling said the improvements will include dual turning lanes from east to west and turning north, dual turning lanes from west to east and turning south, a through lane, one turning lane at that location and the four lanes on Tuskawilla Road immediately adjacent to the commercial sites.

County Public Works Director Larry Sellers said the proposed expansion of the intersection will greatly improve it but he added the intersection will still be classified "E."

At a public hearing in March, Sellers described an "E" intersection as one where drivers are totally frustrated and feel trapped because cars cannot move through several changes of the traffic signal.

Harling said his clients, the Tepper trust, composed of Charles Clayton, Malcolm Clayton and Edward Field, would not contribute to the intersection improvements unless both properties are rezoned.

Commissioners Barbara Christensen, Fred Streetman, Robert Sturm and Sandra Glenn voted for the rezoning for the shopping center. Mrs. Glenn voted against the zoning for the apartment complex. Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff, who is on vacation, was absent from the meeting.

Altamonte Man Murdered

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

A 27-year-old Altamonte Springs man is dead and a 22-year-old man who allegedly shot him in the chest was being held today without bond charged with murder.

There was apparently an on-going dispute between the pair but Seminole County sheriff's spokesman John Spolski said deputies haven't determined the basis for the dispute, which led to the killing of Robert E. Wiggins of 402 Magnolia Ave.

Dennis Wayne Thompson of 118 Salem Court, Altamonte Springs, is accused of gunning Wiggins down outside Thompson's home at about 10 p.m. Wednesday.

When Seminole County sheriff's deputies arrived at the scene at about 10:20 p.m. they reported finding Wiggins, who was initially misidentified as Robert Steel, lying on the ground with a single bullet wound in his chest, he was dead at the scene, deputies reported. Deputies said Wiggins apparently also used the name Steel at times.

Wiggins' two companions, Jerome Hampton 26 of Altamonte Springs and Nathaniel White 25, told sheriff's investigator Dan Prast when they drove up to Thompson's home he came out and confronted Wiggins, a sheriff's report said.

According to the witnesses' accounts, Thompson told Wiggins, "You aren't going to get me or mess with me."

Wiggins got out of the car from the passenger's side and started walking toward Thompson and said, "I'm not scared of you." He started to push at Thompson, the report said.

Thompson allegedly pulled a handgun and said, "Don't come near me or I'll shoot." He then allegedly fired a single shot at Wiggins with what witnesses said appeared to be a .38-caliber handgun, the report said. Thompson ran into his home with the gun, the report said.

When sheriff's investigators arrived at the scene and made the arrest they reported a handgun, which matches the description of the murder weapon, was recovered from inside Thompson's home.

Sheriff's Sgt. John Thorpe reported that an occupant of the home, Veronica Lanette Thompson 15, said Thompson had fled to a southwest bedroom in the home following the shooting and she recovered a gun, which she turned over to Thorpe, from that room, the report said.

Wiggins' body was transported to Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford where an autopsy was scheduled to be performed, the report said.

Both Wiggins and Thompson worked as laborers, according to the sheriff's report.

Boy Killed In Crash With Truck

Just hours after the Independence Day holiday officially began at 6 p.m. Wednesday, a Geneva boy was struck and killed by a pickup truck apparently driving on the wrong side of the road.

Dead is Steven Fussell, 11, of P.O. Box 907, Geneva. The accident occurred about 9 p.m. on Harney Heights Road, about three-tenths of a mile north of Lake Harney Road, according to the Florida Highway Patrol.

An FHP report said the boy was riding a bicycle without lights south on the dirt road when he was struck by a northbound pickup traveling in the southbound lane.

The impact caused about $10 worth of damage to the truck driven by Steven Kent Miles, 36, of 984 Meade Road, Geneva.

The boy was transported by ambulance to Central Florida Regional Hospital, Sanford, where he died in the emergency room at 10:34 p.m.

Charges are pending while an investigation is conducted. There is some speculation that the pickup was in the southbound lane to avoid pot holes in the road.

Fussell's death brings the number of traffic fatalities in Seminole County this year to 21.

School Vandals Made Pancakes

The identity of vandals who went on a destruction spree at Sanford Middle School over the weekend and then apparently made themselves at home in the building remained a mystery to police and school officials today.

After breaking windows and equipment the vandals apparently made pancakes in the school's home economics room and used the teacher's lounge for a bedroom.

Monday morning Principal Dan Pellham discovered two men sitting in the school office. They fled and despite a call to police were not captured.

Discovered broken were 12 windows, destroyed two vending machines. Other school equipment was pounded with hammers taken from the custodian's tool shed, according to Assistant Principal Roger Gardner.

Gardner said the two apparently crept into the school at 1700 S. French Ave., Sanford, after dark on Saturday. The school's burglary alarm malfunctioned so the two remained in the building undetected, he said.

The vandals went through the school's main hallway, bashing out the windows of the classrooms.

Summer School Blues

Ela Weizman, Longwood, junior at Lake Mary High, waits for her ride after school Wednesday. Weizman is one of about 5,000 students attending summer school in Seminole County this summer. Schools spokesman Karen Coleman said many kids are not in summer school because of bad grades, but to pick up an extra credit or two.

Low Cost Housing Adds To Problem

Tax Exempt Land City Woe

By Rick Brunson
Herald Staff Writer

There are no solutions to Sanford's alarming problem of having too much tax exempt land, according to City Manager Frank Faison. It comes with being the county seat, he says.

In a summary attached to his proposed budget he released Monday, Faison wrote that it's alarming to note that over 35 percent of Sanford property is exempt from taxation.

The statement was part of Faison's explanation of why he recommended that property tax rates be raised for the first time since 1970. He is proposing the rates be increased from $3.44 to $4.94 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

About 10 to 15 percent of the land in Seminole County is tax exempt, Faison said.

Because of Sanford's large amount of tax exempt property — mostly city-owned and county-owned land — the city draws fewer tax dollars but still has to provide services, Faison said.

But he said the problem is typical of cities, like Sanford, that are county seats. Sanford also has a lot of churches which are tax exempt, he said.

There are no solutions for getting the land back on the tax rolls, Faison said.

Adding to the problem, Faison said, is that Sanford has a lot of low income housing.

There's a lot of low cost housing that escapes paying taxes altogether or pays a minimum amount," Faison said.

By the time the owner of a low cost home subtracts the state's $25,000 homestead tax exemption from the assessed value of his or her property, there is little left to tax, Faison said. A home must be valued at $75,000 before it starts paying its way for police and fire protection, at current tax rates, Faison said.

As a result, middle and upper class homeowners, as well as businesses and factories, have to pick up the tab for city services provided to everyone, he said.

Some cities that are county seats, such as Tallahassee, draw many businesses and industries because of their distinction as a county capital. This in turn boosts tax revenues and offsets the shortage of taxable land, Faison said. But that has yet to happen in Sanford, he said.

The city commission is scheduled to hold public hearings to discuss the proposed budget July 9, 10, 11, 16, 17 and 18 at 4:30 p.m. each day at city hall before adopting a final version.

On The Road... Cheers At The Finish Line

A tired Jerry and Don Gross were to bask today in the cheers of a holiday crowd of well-wishers lining the streets of New York City, the last stop of the grueling 11-day, 3,300-mile "Great American Race."

The drivers were scheduled to participate in the Big Apple's afternoon Independence Day parade with the winners expected to chauffeur Mayor Ed Koch during the procession. All the drivers are scheduled to be honored at a banquet tonight at the Top of the World restaurant in New York's 110-story World Trade Center.

The Sanford rally team is not expected to win the race, according to Patty Austin.

Jerry Gross's secretary at his Sanford architectural firm. She said Gross reported Wednesday night the team was in 38th or 39th place. There were 76 cars in the race as of Wednesday, she said.

Ms. Austin said Gross was in a "bad mood" Wednesday because the team won't win.

IN BRIEF

Fireworks Could Blast West Into A Blazing Fourth

United Press International
Firefighters in the tinder-dry Western states, already weary from battling scores of brush fires that have ravaged more than 150,000 acres, killed three people and driven hundreds from their homes, are braced for what could be a disastrous Fourth of July.

With more than a dozen fires burning out of control in Arizona, California, Idaho, Oregon and Washington, firefighters pleaded with people to use extra caution on the holiday because of the extreme fire danger.

The most dangerous situation involved three fires burning out of control and lapping at the outskirts of Ojai, Calif., in Ventura County, where hundreds of people sought shelter from the flames that blackened more than 38,000 acres and destroyed three houses.

Firefighters thought they had the main fire in hand Wednesday morning, but winds and temperatures in the 100-degree range caused it to flare up again.

Those searing temperatures, coupled with low humidity and an area-wide drought have resulted in extreme fire danger. Authorities in several areas cancelled scheduled fireworks shows because of the extreme conditions. Fire officials said they would keep a close watch on other holiday fireworks shows.

Feds Probe Kiddie 'Marines'

CEDAR CITY, Utah (UPI) — Federal officials are investigating a paramilitary group for young children that provides desert training in the use of machine guns.

The group, known as the Young Marines and led until recently by two Marine Corps recruiters, consists of some 50 youngsters ranging in age from 8 to 18 who dress in fatigues and train in the southern Utah desert after school and on weekends.

The use of a machine gun drew the attention of Jerry Miller, an agent for the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms.

"We suspect there may be an illegal transfer of machine guns in that area," he said. Machine guns are legal but require a special permit. A Marine Corps spokesman said the gun was registered, the owner had the proper permits and its use was carefully supervised.

But Miller said, "From a moral standpoint, I just don't see it's right — my personal opinion only — letting young children handle these types of weapons, which are used for military weapons only."

Judge Charged With Murder

DARLINGTON, Wis. (UPI) — A veteran judge returned without robes to his former courtroom where he was ordered to stand trial on murder charges in the stabbing of an associate of the lawyer who turned him out of office.

The decision was made at a probable cause hearing held Wednesday to consider evidence against Lafayette County Circuit Judge Daniel McDonald, 43, charged with first-degree murder in the June 22 stabbing of James Klein, 31.

Klein worked as an attorney in the law office of William Johnston who defeated McDonald for the judgeship in a bitterly contested election last April. McDonald's term expires July 31.

A packed courtroom heard Johnston, the prosecution's chief witness, say he watched helplessly through a window in his office as McDonald lunged at Klein with a 6-inch hunting knife.

Milwaukee County Circuit Judge Janine Geske, called in to preside over the case, ruled McDonald should be held without bond because he is a danger to residents and could intimidate witnesses.

McDonald, a 14-year veteran of the bench, said he was "set up" and did not go near the law office the day of the stabbing.

Court Won't Press New Charges In 1981 Murder Of 2 Americans

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — A judge dismissed new charges against an army captain accused in the murder of two American land reform advisers in 1981, despite allegations that the officer had admitted to the crimes.

"Having examined the case, and finding no criminal evidence against Capt. Eduardo Ernesto Alfonso Avila, the court rules, provisionally, in his favor in the case of the homicide of Americans David Pearlman, Michael Hammer, and Salvadoran Rodolfo Viera," Judge Rolando Calderon Ramos said Wednesday.

Pearlman and Hammer, both AFL-CIO land reform consultants, and Viera, the head of El Salvador's Agrarian Reform Institute, were gunned down in the coffee shop of the Sheraton Hotel in San Salvador on Jan. 3, 1981.

A week ago today, Gerald Smith, who had served as U.S. military attaché in Panama, and his wife Patsy, told a San Salvador court that Avila had admitted to them that he was responsible for the killings.

The judge reopened the case on the basis of the statement, but found that there was not enough evidence to order Avila's arrest, or press new charges.

Former Florida Senator Shot

MEDELLIN, Colombia (UPI) — Former Florida state senator Robert Fulton Brannen was recuperating today in a Medellin hospital after reportedly being shot on his Colombian farm.

Brannen, 57, who has lived in Colombia six years, was under treatment at the Clinica Soma in Medellin, 160 miles northwest of Bogota with wounds to his left eye and his shoulder.

Ivan Rivera Osorio, mayor of the town of Zaragoza, told Bogota newspaper El Tiempo that Brannen was injured when unidentified assailants entered the former state senator's farm and shot him near the gold mine located on his property. Further details of the shooting, including when the incident took place were not available.

Brannen, a Democrat, served four years in the Florida House of Representatives before he was elected to the state senate in 1970. Brannen was president of Blue Seal Excavating and Paving Co. in Lakeland.

$450,000 For Three Acres

County Makes Library Site Offer

The Seminole County Commission has made a $450,000 offer to purchase three acres on Montgomery Road in Altamonte Springs from the Catholic Diocese of Orlando as a site for a branch library.

While the diocese hasn't formally agreed to sell, County Services Director John Percy said church officials indicated during negotiations that $450,000 was an acceptable price.

The site has been favored for months by the county's library advisory committee, County Librarian Jean Rhein said, and Percy said the property's value is enhanced by a paved parking lot.

He said the three-acre site will be sufficient not only for the 12,000-square-foot facility but also for the future expansion to 24,000-square feet.

The commissioners agreed

Tuesday to offer to buy the tract contingent upon the city of Altamonte Springs granting a special zoning exception to permit the library construction. While the city has a moratorium on rezoning in that area, the existing zoning allows a library as a special exception.

Commissioners also agreed that the Annunciation Catholic Church, which occupies part of the original parcel of property, can use the parking lot on Sundays.

Ms. Rhein said early in the search for a library site in southeast Seminole, the library advisory committee considered this property a first choice but negotiations fell through after the two sides couldn't agree on price.

The total 7.3-acre tract was purchased in February 1982 at a cost of $307,000. Since then the church has been built and the balance of the property improved. Percy told commissioners that Public Works Director Larry Sellers has estimated the value of improvements on the three-acre portion the county wants to buy — paving and lighting — at more than $100,000.

Meanwhile, negotiations have fallen through with developer Robert Hattaway on another proposed site.

Commissioners offered Hattaway $217,000 for a 2.5-acre tract on state Road 436 near Bear Lake Road, but the former democratic state representative from Altamonte Springs wanted $647,000. The search committee considered the figure exorbitant.

Commissioner Barbara Christensen said she thought the price tag for the church property was too high, but other commissioners were pleased with the site. The four commissioners present, including Mrs.

Christensen, voted to make the offer for the property. Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff is on vacation.

Money for the property acquisition is to come from the $7 million library bond issue approved by the voters in October 1982.

Four other libraries also are to be built with the funds. A site for the Sanford library immediately behind the present one on First Street in Sanford has already been purchased. A tract on Oxford Road in Casselberry has been selected for the main library replacing one in Seminole Plaza, but that property has not been closed on.

A donated site at the Crossings development near Lake Mary Boulevard and Interstate 4 is being considered for a branch for that area and a site must yet be acquired in the Oviedo-Tuskawilla area. —Donna Estes

More Animal Control Officers Issuing Citations

A three-member team of animal control officers has been authorized by the Seminole County Commission to serve citations on the owners of dogs found running loose in the county — that is if they can find the owners.

Tuesday's action won't cost anything since the three are already working as animal control officers. All seven animal control officers are now empowered to serve citations in addition to their regular work. The citations may be paid at the clerk of the circuit court's office in the courthouse in Sanford just as one would pay a traffic citation.

The citations can be issued for infractions ranging from animals running loose to dogs creating a nuisance with constant barking.

The fines are $29.50 for a first offense, $52 for a second offense and a mandatory court appearance on the third offense.

The citations were authorized by a special law enacted by the Florida Legislature during its 1984 session.

Bob McIntosh, director of the county's animal control program, said enforcement of the law is working well.

"We first give a warning and a lot of those warned are complying" by keeping their pets within their yards, McIntosh said.

Before animal control officers are empowered to issue citations they must have served at least six months with the department and have completed 30 hours of training administered by the state attorney, county attorney, sheriff's department and veterinarians on serving citations and picking up stray animals.

The animal control officers now empowered to serve citations are Cheryl Lauterback, David Murray and Linda Oldham.

The department has issued 56 citations in the past three months. All but four of the offenders have paid fines. The others have asked for court hearings. —Donna Estes Dogs, like these, running loose could get their owners cited for violating the county animal control ordinance.

Winter Springs Man Charged In Sexual Assault On Boy

A 21-year-old Winter Springs man was being held without bond today charged in connection with a sexual assault on a boy.

The man was arrested at the Winter Springs police station at 3:36 p.m. Wednesday.

The arrest came after the victim, who was not identified in a police report, told police the man invited him into his apartment at about 2:30 p.m. Tuesday and performed various sex acts on him and had the victim reciprocate, a police report said.

David Brandon Hatfield, of 154 Lori Ann Lane, has been charged with sexual battery and performing a lewd and lascivious act on a minor.

...Rezoning

Meanwhile, approval of the expansion of the commercial zoning on the Serrest property was recommended to the county commission by the Seminole County Planning and Zoning Commission Wednesday night. Part of the tract was zoned commercial earlier but because of confusion about the location of the flood plane, not all had been zoned earlier. The county commission is to consider this rezoning at an Aug. 6 public hearing.

The rezonings of those approved Tuesday night were contingent upon the three developers submitting a signed agreement on the intersection improvements within 90 days.

County Attorney Nikki Clayton said if the agreement, signed by the developers, is not submitted within the 90 days, the zoning will revert to the former status.

Residents from the Tuskawilla Red Bug Lake area protested the rezoning, reminding county commissioners that 6,000 new homes are approved or under construction in the area and can be expected to impact the roads even further without considering the proposed new development.

Sellers said it will be three to four years before Tuskawilla and Red Bug Lake Roads are widened to four lanes.

While the county commissioners turned down Davis' request for a change in zoning from agriculture to commercial for the six-acre tract at SR 46 and Lake Markham Road, the commissioners hinted they may look at it more favorably if a request were submitted for commercial planned unit development.

Mrs. Glenn mentioned the possibility, saying the county can control what would go into a commercial PUD unlike strict commercial zoning which permits construction of any one of a number of items listed in the zoning ordinance ranging from gasoline stations to other service shops.

Davis said he wishes to build the shopping center in two or three phases with the first to include a combination general store and feed store. In the second or third phase, he said, a major grocery market might be built.

Davis said septic tanks would handle the sewage from the development and that drainage retention ponds would be built at the site to contain drainage water which ultimately would wind up in Yankee Lake.

He said he would build a turning lane into the property and a deceleration lane and would donate the 70-foot right of way requested by staff on Lake Markham Road.

Among those speaking on behalf of the project was J.C. Lavender, former county road superintendent.

But the majority of those at this hearing, shown by raising their hands, opposed the project.

Dan Pelham, a former county commissioner and a resident of the Paola area, urged the commissioners to consider a moratorium in rezoning for the area until a land use plan and map can be prepared. Pelham noted the county has no real plan for Paola, only plan policies.

When County Planner Tony Vanderworp was asked how long it will be before a plan and a map is developed for that area, he said it may not be completed until 1987.

Other residents said commercial development is not needed in their area because there are all kinds of stores within a short distance from their homes and the Paola area may be the "last bastion" of rural residential in the county.

The staff and the planning and zoning commission recommended the request be denied. The four commissioners present voted unanimously to deny.

But Fewer Houses

Floridians To Buy More Cars

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — A consumer confidence survey released by the University of Florida indicates Floridians plan to buy fewer houses in the next six months but plan to buy more cars and major appliances.

"People in Florida are getting worried about what's going to happen with the federal deficit and tax reform," Lucia Dunn, who heads the survey program at the University of Florida's Bureau of Economic and Business Research said Wednesday.

Currently, 8.5 percent of Floridians plan to buy houses in the next six months, which is down from 9.1 percent in May.

"Nevertheless the figure is still substantially higher than it was in March," Dunn said, when 6.7 percent said they planned to buy houses in the near future. The June survey is the first one taken since President Reagan announced his tax reform package, and Dunn said Floridians are aware the reforms could have a negative impact on the real estate industry and on second home ownership.

In June, consumers felt mortgage rates would rise to 13.19 percent in a year, while in May, they felt the rate would be 12.98 percent one year in the future, according to the random survey of 433 people.

The good news in the June survey is the increase over May in the percentage of respondents who said they plan to buy cars, air conditioners, furniture and carpeting, televisions, and eight other specific household items in the next six months.

Results of the June survey dropped the Florida Consumer Confidence Index to 97.1 from the May level of 102.6. But this is still higher than the June national consumer confidence index of 96.5, calculated by the University of Michigan.

Dunn said the fall in the state index was caused primarily by Floridians' concern about the strength of the national economy.

"People are very confident about Florida's economy, but they don't know about the national economy as a whole," Dunn said.

In June, 67 percent of Florida's consumers felt Florida's economy will do better than the national economy in the coming year, up from 61 percent in May.

There may also be a seasonal factor in the recent drop in Florida consumer confidence.

"Summer is an off-season for much of the business sector in the state, and we might expect our confidence index to be somewhat lower in the summer months," Dunn said.

Fifth Suspect Sought In Walker Spy Ring

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A fifth person — identified only as "A" — may have participated in the suspected Walker family-and-friend spy ring, according to records seized by the FBI, the Los Angeles Times reported today.

Government investigators are trying to pin down the identity of the potential suspect, thought to be a retired military person, the Times story said, citing an unidentified source familiar with the case.

All those charged in the suspected operation, allegedly headed by retired Navy warrant officer John Walker Jr., 47, are either former or present military men.

Walker's references to "A" in a diary, seized by agents during a two-day search of his home in Norfolk, Va., are more cryptic than the descriptions authorities say represent the other three suspects, the Times said.

Liberty, a parade down Broadway, and out at Coney Island, Nathan's 69th annual Hot Dog Eating Contest.

Participants from 50 states will march in an Independence Day parade in Washington, D.C., followed by a concert by the Beach Boys at the Washington Monument and a fireworks display.

Several towns across the nation, festooned with flags and yellow ribbons, planned homecoming celebrations for some of the 39 Americans held captive for 17 days in the hijacking of TWA Flight 847. But many of the former hostages said they only wanted to spend Independence Day at home with their families.

On the nation's 209th birthday, about 500 immigrants will become citizens in a massive swearing-in ceremony at the Seattle Center Flag Pavilion.

Members of Vermont's Libertarian Party got a jump on Independence Day observances Tuesday with a "swim-in" to declare their independence from laws restricting nudity and swimming.

More than 20,000 country music fans headed for an outdoor concert area near Austin, Texas, for Willie Nelson's annual Fourth of July picnic — dubbed the "Texas Woodstock" — with all the amenities recent outings lacked. Nelson canceled the concerts in 1980 because of logistical problems ranging from uncontrollable crowds to a lack of adequate portable toilets.

An Indiana judge, concerned about the rowdiness associated with Independence Day, plans to double the bond for anyone arrested for drunken driving on the holiday.

The judge said he tried a similar program last New Year's Eve, and police couldn't find a single intoxicated motorist on city streets.

Another popular Fourth of July treat — watermelon — will be hard to come by in Oregon and Washington after a voluntarily recall of striped watermelons.

The recall followed reports by one southwest Washington and two Portland families of illnesses thought to be linked to the consumption of striped watermelons.

Earlier this week, the Consumer Product Safety Commission issued an urgent warning against fireworks, citing the case of a Nebraska man who suffered burns, a broken neck and ruptured eardrums when a firecracker exploded in his lap.

Officials said 10,000 people — most of them children — will be hurt this holiday by cherry bombs, firecrackers, bottle rockets, Roman candles and sparklers — about 1,500 more than were wounded during the Revolutionary War.

The team was to leave Philadelphia this morning for the last 200-mile leg of the race. The Grosses were to journey through the Pennsylvania countryside and arrive in New York City at about noon, she said.

In Philadelphia Wednesday, the Grosses were supposed to participate in a parade honoring the race drivers but were held up in a traffic jam caused by fans trying to get into Veterans Stadium to see a Phillies baseball game, Ms. Austin said.

There were no problems with the team's 1932 Deluxe Model A "Jenny Steamcleaner" and the weather was a picture perfect 78 degrees, Gross reported.

Gross is scheduled to return to Sanford Tuesday. His father Don and brother, Ken, one of the team's mechanics, are to tow the car back to Chicago by trailer.

"They then went down to the home economics room and fixed themselves some pancakes and peanut butter sandwiches," Gardner said.

Then, with the custodian's tools, went to the teachers' lounge and "totally destroyed" a soft drink machine and a snack machine, he said. The vandals broke into one of the machine's coin boxes and stole an undetermined amount of money, according to Walter Merriwether, risk manager for the Seminole County School Board.

The vandals bedded down for the night in the lounge, using bags of clothing donated for a school charity drive as makeshift cots.

Custodial crews were still cleaning up the mess Wednesday. Gardner said the amount of damage was undetermined. Merriwether termed it "extensive."

A Hoax On Human Rights

One of the sadder chapters in the recent history of the struggle for human freedom ended not too long ago in Ottawa, unsuccessfully and all but unnoticed. That's because the Soviet Union wanted it that way and succeeded in keeping a 35-nation conference virtually off-limits to press and public. The Soviets even tried to keep the debate as far as possible from the subject the meeting was convened to deal with: human rights.

The six-week session of delegates from nations that signed the Helsinki Final Act of 1975 — a treaty ratifying the postwar boundaries of Europe, setting up a framework for resolving East-West conflicts and guaranteeing human rights — was so bitter, and so far from reaching even a vague consensus, that no final document was issued. What little progress there has been during the past decade is, for the moment at least, at an end.

The result of the Ottawa meeting also reflects the extreme defensiveness Moscow has displayed in recent years about Western attempts to force Soviet compliance, or at least to focus world attention on Soviet violations of the treaty's human-rights provisions. Soviet delegates didn't even want a debate proposing instead that each country merely describe how it is implementing its commitments in such areas as religious freedom, freedom of emigration, freedom of access to foreign diplomatic and consular missions, and measures to reunify families divided by the Iron Curtain.

Fortunately, the West wouldn't play Moscow's cynical game, and a number of delegates took the Kremlin to task for violating virtually every human-rights provision in the Helsinki accord. Moscow responded by attacking racism, unemployment, crime and housing shortages in Western societies as human-rights violations. By all accounts from Western delegates to the closed-door meeting, the U.S. delegation skillfully turned the tables by citing statistics about similar social and economic problems in the Soviet Union, a tactic that apparently raised a number of eyebrows among delegates from other Soviet-bloc countries who have never had access to such information.

But as gratifying as that may be in terms of debating-point victories, it offers little comfort either to the victims of Soviet repression or to their friends, relatives and defenders in the West. Andrei Sakharov remains a prisoner as do Anatoly Shcharansky and Yuri Orlov, whose "crime" was to attempt to monitor the Soviet government's compliance with the treaty it so readily signed in 1975. There are hundreds, perhaps thousands, of other less-known prisoners of a government that cynically denies it even has any political prisoners.

It's legitimate to question the usefulness of such review conferences, which a former French diplomat has called "a vast international hoax." It has long been obvious that Moscow has no more intention of adhering to Western concepts of human rights than it does of relinquishing control over the countries it annexed or occupied during and after World War II. And unless the Reagan administration revives the concept of linking progress in arms control to Soviet human-rights behavior — a concept that, however superficially appealing, has serious built-in disadvantages — then this country has only limited leverage over Soviet behavior.

And yet there is value in continuing the Helsinki review process. It keeps world attention focused on Moscow's beastly behavior at home as well as abroad. And however much Soviet officials may stonewall and growl about "interference" in their internal affairs, they clearly are discomfited by the attention they get. And for now, at least, that's the best weapon the civilized world has against the Kremlin's barbarism.

Robots To Free The Weekend Gardener

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Once in awhile, a high tech system developed for one purpose will turn out to have other, more practical applications.

I read in the magazine High Technology that laboratory robots capable of performing routine experiments have been developed for the pharmaceutical and biochemical industries.

Such "tedious and inconvenient" tasks as biological assays on weekends can be automated, "freeing up technicians for more analytical chores," the publication says.

Yes, but how about such tedious and inconvenient weekend chores as mowing the lawn, weeding the garden and painting the shed?

Freed of these tasks, many suburban homeowners could devote more time to analyzing ball games, golf tournaments and other televised events. Yet robots that do yard work seldom make the magazines.

Another potential lies in the development of a loudspeaker that magnifies chewing noises fruit fly larvae make inside grapefruit.

"We found we could detect, in a few seconds, a single one-day-old maggot in a grapefruit," said an engineer who worked on the project.

Forget about the entomologists reported ready to adopt the technique to insects that munch on grain rather than a citrus fruit. Forget also about the hi-fi fans who soon will be demanding that insect chewing sounds be recorded in stereo.

And finally forget about the insects that will be wearing false teeth to disguise their chewing noises.

Sure, it will come as a shock the first time a researcher puts on the headphones and picks up a slurping, rather than a gnawing, sound.

Or imagine the bewilderment of the first researcher to tune in a grapefruit and hear what distinctly sounds like the chewing noise made by cotton ball maggots.

None of these setbacks should deter experiments with robots with stethoscopic heads who would be able to tramp over suburban lawns and detect nematodes chewing on the grassroots.

I have long suspected that nematodes are the big reason my lawn turns brown in summer. But I have never been able to prove it, mainly because I lack the expertise to identify the bugs feasting thereon.

If robots are developed to do this work it certainly will be a giant step for the practical application of technology.

They wouldn't even have to mow the grass to earn their rental fee. Pushing an anti-nematode spreader should do it.

Foreign Trade Threat

Many local and state industrial development commissions are living in a dreamworld. They believe that communities in their areas will be able to land new plants as they did so successfully in the 1950s and 1960s. They don't seem to realize that many of the new plants that would have gone to their areas in earlier decades are now going offshore.

With the Executive and Legislative branches of government failing to take decisive action against imports from countries with subsidized, guided or directed economies, U.S. companies are increasingly unable to compete. Wage scales in the United States are a fraction of what they are in Latin America and Asia. The footwear industry, for example, is rapidly disappearing. Seventy percent of the shoes purchased in the United States come from Brazil, South Korea and Italy. So it goes with other industries.

Robert Galvin, Chairman of Motorola Inc., is an industrial leader who is deeply concerned about this trend. In a speech before the International Iron and Steel Institute, Mr. Galvin said that hundreds of U.S. corporations are emphasizing offshore plants — that is plants in Mexico, Brazil, the Philippines, Indonesia and elsewhere. The products of these plants are sold in the United States.

Mr. Galvin is aware that free trade purists don't worry about the movement of U.S. plants offshore. Some, like Dr. Richard McKenzie of Clemson University and the Heritage Foundation, actually encourage the flight. They apparently believe that the United States will fare well by performing services and technical functions for foreign manufacturing.

No such thing, says Mr. Galvin. In his speech, he asserted that "As a larger percent of U.S. industry goes offshore, so too will employee insurance coverage move with it from Hartford, CT, USA. So too will the information system reside disproportionately there and so on. Integration will rapidly follow, including engineering and much marketing and servicing functions to the operations."

Will anything replace the U.S. industries lost to other countries. Yes, the Japanese are building a number of plants in the U.S. But their plants involve partial manufacture or assembly work of equipment produced in the home country. The nation will be the loser, he said, if it adopts an alternative to "a healthy, vigorous, balanced, American directed economy." The loss of American ownership of industry is not a minor matter. As Mr. Galvin warned, "If ownership were significantly abandoned, the ripple will multiply and cascade through large slices of our whole economy and tax base."

Libel Harassment Makes Us All Losers

By Jack Anderson and Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON — The media is under constant pressure to suppress stories for a variety of causes that, supposedly, would serve the public interest better than publication of the truth.

Americans may have thought this issue was settled by our founding fathers, who set in cement the people's right to the truth. But an erosion has taken place lately, caused by court rulings that encourage libel suits and puncture holes in the First Amendment.

It is no longer possible for the press to expose criminal conspiracies, political scandals and government wrongdoing without risking costly, protracted libel litigation. A recent appeals-court ruling held that the mere publication of "hard-hitting investigative stories" is evidence of malice.

The judges, of course, are pro-

JEFFREY HART

Retaliate 500 To 1

As I write this column I cannot know how the latest hostage crisis is going to be resolved. So far, however, President Reagan has flunked the challenge of dealing with it more effectively than Jimmy Carter dealt with the immensely prolonged Iranian hostage crisis, in which the ineffectiveness of his tactics undoubtedly encouraged terrorists and terrorist governments throughout the world.

There are professional strategists who consider that terrorism is a much more dangerous threat to civilization than nuclear warfare. For one thing, you yourself are much more likely to be killed by a terrorist, especially if you travel by air than you are to be killed by a nuclear bomb. For another thing, terrorists have the capacity of changing the balance of power by disrupting the normal political and democratic process.

For example, the present Shiite Moslem hijackers have almost certainly jeopardized the diplomatic initiative which President Reagan launched with King Hussein of Jordan. The parties to the Mideast equation who have most to lose from a stable settlement which recognizes Israel's life and right to exist are Syria and the Soviet Union, for political reasons, and Iran, for religious reasons. Syria desires to become the dominant regional power, and, with the Soviet, thrives on chaos. The Ayatollah and the Shites who currently run Iran want to extirpate Israel and humiliate us, "the Great Satan," and go to heaven.

We clearly require a new theory for dealing with the kind of terrorism we increasingly face. The only way, it seems to me, to deter such terrorism is to make it lethal to the interests it represents.

Thus, the Shiite Moslems are the immediate interest behind the present hijackers. If the Shiite terrorism proved lethal to a sufficient number of the Shiite community it might well be deterred. Perhaps the Shites themselves, which include numerous factions, would then prove lethal to the terrorist operation.

Therefore, I would recommend that the president go on television and make the following brief announcement. As a former presidential speech writer, I offer it free of charge. (It would have to be altered only in minor detail depending upon the resolution of the current crisis.)

"Ladies and gentlemen, fellow Americans. It is regrettable that the government of Israel has had to release some 700 prisoners in order to gain the release of the American hostages held by the Shites on the airliner.

"This kind of terrorist practice is a threat to us all and must be halted forthwith. The following policies are therefore in effect:

"First of all, the U.S. and Israeli governments have reached an agreement that all convicted terrorists, guilty of violence, will be promptly executed, rather than jailed. Thus the freeing of prisoners will not exist as a motive for terrorism and hijacking and kidnapping.

"Second, there will be savage U.S. reprisals for any act of terrorism directed against U.S. citizens. If the hijackers believed that they have done their fellow Shiite Moslems any sort of favor, they are wrong.

"I have ordered the carrier U.S.S. Nimitz to launch its planes and annihilate 15 Shiite villages, which have been selected at random.

"In the future, and on principle, we guarantee that we will retaliate for the death or injury of any U.S. citizen at a ratio of 500 hundred to one. As I speak to you, I have received word that the 15 villages and their inhabitants no longer exist.

"Thank you, and good night."

Drinking While Pregnant

By Jan Ziegler
UPI Science Writer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Heavy drinking during pregnancy is risky. One drink a day carries no apparent risk to the fetus. But what about expectant women whose alcohol consumption falls somewhere in between? Are they doing their unborn offspring any harm?

Scientists around the country are in the midst of studies they hope will provide clues.

The issue is complicated because many factors are involved. For instance, are the effects of having two drinks a day different from binge drinking on weekends? And is there a particular time during pregnancy when drinking would be riskier? How much does a woman's weight, which affects how quickly the body metabolizes alcohol, influence alcohol's effect on a fetus?

"Part of the problem is that women who drink do so many other things," said Nancy Day, assistant professor of psychiatry, epidemiology and pediatrics at the University of Pittsburgh. These include smoking, which is known to lead to smaller babies, and use of drugs such as tranquilizers and marijuana.

The effects of chronic alcoholism on a fetus have been well studied. About one in 10 women who drink heavily will give birth to an infant suffering fetal alcohol syndrome or some detectable problem attributable to alcohol, according to Dr. Robert Sokol, chairman of obstetrics and gynecology at Wayne State University.

Fetal alcohol syndrome is a constellation of abnormalities that may occur in infants of heavy-drinking women, including mental retardation, facial deformities and heart, liver and lung problems. Less dramatic effects such as hyperactivity or attention span deficit may appear after consumption of four drinks a day, according to some scientists.

Complicating the study of lesser effects is the question of how much genetic heredity or other factors are involved.

From animal studies, scientists have deduced that a drink a day consisting of one four-ounce glass of wine, one mixed drink containing an ounce and a half of hard liquor or one 12-ounce glass of beer probably has little or no effect on a fetus.

"I believe there's no measurable risk from having a single drink in 24 hours, but I would not go beyond that," said Dr. Henry Rosett, clinical professor of psychiatry at Boston University of Medicine and co-author of "Alcohol and the Fetus: a Clinical Perspective."

As for binge drinking, Rosett said, "There is no time during pregnancy when a high concentration (of alcohol) is safe. You can't save it up and have seven drinks on a Saturday night."

Americans Quiet Nationals, 4-0

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

TAVARES — The way the Sanford American and National League all-star teams were playing defense Wednesday it was either going to take a breakdown in pitching or someone to hit one out of the park to break open the game.

Both pitchers, Al Perkins for the Americans and Brian Grayson for the Nationals, had excellent control through the first three innings and almost everything that was hit was handled.

After three scoreless innings, the Americans got back-to-back homers from Perkins and Harvey Clinger in the bottom of the fourth and they went on to claim a 4-0 victory behind Perkins' two-hitter in the Florida

Little Major League Sub-District 3 Tournament.

The Americans advance to Saturday's 10 a.m. finals and only need one more win to go on to the District 4 Tournament. The Nationals will play Tavares Friday night at 7 in the loser's bracket final with the winner playing the Americans Saturday morning. The Nationals must beat Tavares then come back and down the Americans twice for the tournament title.

In Wednesday's first game, host Tavares built up a big lead early and held on for an 8-5 victory over Orlando Bruton.

"We wanted to beat them very bad," said James Jackson who was a vacuum cleaner at shortstop for the Americans. "They were talking too much."

Perkins quieted the Nationals

Baseball

in a hurry as he allowed just two hits, both by Anthony Roberts, struck out nine and walked just two.

Roberts, who had four hits in Tuesday's win over Orlando, led off the game with a solid single up the middle off Perkins. Roberts was forced at second on Mike Dillon's grounder to third. Dillon took second on a passed ball and Joe Wiggins followed with a walk. Perkins settled down and got cleanup hitter Grayson on an infield fly and struck out Al Dixon to end the inning.

Grayson allowed a leadoff single to Tony Duval in the bottom of the first but retired the next three hitters in order with Dillon snagging Albert Anderson's hard liner for the third out.

Both teams went down quickly in the second as, after walking the leadoff hitter, Perkins struck out the side and Grayson set the Americans down in order.

Roberts continued his hot streak at the plate as he led off the third with a single to center. Perkins rared back and struck out the next two hitters, Grayson then hit a hard grounder up the middle but Jackson stabbed it behind second base and tossed to second baseman Erskine Howard for the force out, ending the inning.

"The fielding was great behind me," Perkins said after being nudged by Jackson who, asked when he last made an error, looked as if to say "What's an error?"

After Grayson breezed through the bottom of the third the Nationals had their first and last scoring opportunity in the top of the fourth. With one out, Alonzo Brundidge dribbled a grounder in front of the plate. Perkins got a late jump so he tried to put a little extra on his throw. The throw was wild though and it rolled all the way to the right field corner.

Meanwhile, Brundidge motored around second and was waved home by manager Al "Skip" Mitchell. Rightfielder Floyd Henderson finally ran down the errant throw and relayed to Howard who fired a perfect throw to catcher Lorenzo "Lo" Polk and Brundidge was called out on a close play.

"The outcome of the game had a lot to do with what happened on that play," Mitchell said. "If we would have scored that run I don't think they (Americans) would have scored. It had to take the best relay in town to get him and that's what it was."

Sanford American assistant Duane Lalonde agreed that the play was a key one in the outcome.

"When the ball got in the corner, I thought that might be it for us," he said. "But Erskine (Howard) made a perfect throw."

The Americans broke the scoreless tie in the bottom of the fourth with three runs on three hits. With one out, Anderson

Juniors Bash New Smyrna

PORT ORANGE — Sanford's Junior League all-stars turned down the speed and turned on the power Wednesday night as they slugged New Smyrna Beach, 9-4, to move into Saturday's championship game of the District 4 Florida Junior Major League baseball tournament at Ray Gant Jr. Field.

Sanford unloaded six extra base hits to back a strong pitching performance by Mike Merthie. Ronald Cox popped a solo homer and a double. Willie "Sugar Tex" McCloud walloped a pair of doubles for three runs batted in. Bernard Mitchell socked a two-run triple and Sammy Edwards added a double.

"Our hitters really came around," said Sanford manager Jim Lucas. "The guys that didn't hit Monday got straightened out. All of the bats came together at once."

The timely nine-hit explosion sends Sanford into the title game Saturday at 10 a.m. The Juniors need just one win in two games to earn a trip to the state tournament at Key West.

If the Juniors continue to combine strong pitching and hitting with an almost airtight defense and their usual aggressive baserunning, the state tournament berth may just take one game Saturday, regardless of whom they play. New Smyrna Beach plays Ormond Beach or Holly Hill Friday night to determine the losers' bracket survivor.

Merthie, a 13-year-old in a tournament where the pitching is usually dominated by 14-year-olds, hurled the first five innings. He gave up a run in the first on a walk and a single by Jason Roberson but was nearly untouchable thereafter. He gave up just three hits and struck out three. The first-inning walk was his only free pass.

Sanford's bats went to work immediately to erase a 1-0 first-inning deficit. Dwight Brinson, who had three hits Monday, singled up the middle to lead up the first. He stole second and third before coming home on an errant throw by the catcher.

Ray Williams followed with a walk and moved to second on a balk. Cox's groundout moved him to third. McCloud rapped a grounder to shortstop to push Sanford on top, 2-1.

Sanford knocked out NSB starter Daryl Lee in the second. With one out, Jimbo Lucas rilled a single to left and "Boon" Merthie walked. New Smyrna then called on its ace, right-hander Stanley Evans, who beat Ormond Beach Monday.

He received a rude greeting. Mitchell picked on a high fastball and hammered it to deep right center. It went for a triple to drive in both runs for a 4-1 lead. "Coach (Harry Chibberton) told me he'd throw me a fastball and I was ready for it," said Mitchell. "I got a single Monday but I wanted a real hit. That was it."

Chibberton said he detected the NSB pitching pattern was to open with a fastball. "We just told the kids to stay back in the box on the first pitch," he said. "If they got a strike they would come back with a curveball. We wanted the guys to move up and hit the curveball out in front of the plate, not behind it."

Brinson followed Mitchell's triple with a deep fly to right field to make the score, 5-1, after two innings.

In the third, Sanford picked up another run when Cox socked a homer. The powerful 14-year-old reached down for a low fastball and rode it over the center field fence.

After a scoreless fourth, Sanford put the game out of reach in the fifth with three more runs. Scooter Leonard walked to start the inning and moved to second on a wild pitch. Cox ripped a double to right center but Leonard could only make it to third. McCloud followed with a liner one foot from the top of the left center field fence. It went for a double which scored both runners.

One out later, Edwards' groundout scored McCloud.

"I got better pitches to hit tonight," said McCloud, who was 0 for 3 Monday. "They were good fastballs."

Edwards came on to pitch the sixth and gave up a run when he walked the leadoff hitter and then tried to pick him off first. His throw skipped down the right field line allowing the runner to go to third. Evans doubled for the run but Sanford used a double play to end the inning when Troy Glandorf flew out to right field and Evans left too early from third base.

Greising's Runs Lift Seminoles Past SW Volusia

The Oviedo Seminoles took advantage of some heads up baserunning Wednesday night to pull out an 8-6 victory over Southwest Volusia in District 14 Big League action at Vann Park in Deltona.

The Seminoles improved 6-16 with the win and return to action Saturday at 5 p.m. at West Oak Ridge.

"It was a pretty sloppy game," said manager Mike Ferrell. "We didn't get that many hits but we ran the bases pretty well. Jeff Greising did a good job on the bases and so did Tracy Turner."

The Seminoles scored once in the first when James Hersey singled in Jeff Greising. Greising had singled and stole both second and third to set up Hersey's hit.

Greising used his baserunning skills in his advantage again in the third when he reached first on a dropped third strike, stole second and third and scored when Brian Sheffield reached on an error.

The Seminoles added three more runs in the fourth with two coming on bases loaded walks and one on a wild pitch.

It was baserunning that paved the way for the Seminoles in the decisive seventh frame. Tracy Turner walked, stole second and, after Troy Turner lined out to center, Tracy stole third. Joey Coral beat out an infield single to score Turner. Coral then stole second and scored on an overthrow on Donald McKinney's bunt to the pitcher. McKinney went all the way to third on the play and scored on Ricky Kidd's sacrifice fly to left field.

Tracy Turner pitched the first five innings for the win while Greising got the save with two strong innings of relief.

Hersey led the Seminoles with two singles.

AWS Nears Title

Apopka-West Seminole moved to within one win of clinching the District 14 Big League title with a 14-2 rout of Pine Hills Wednesday night at Lake Brantley High.

AWS, which swept a doubleheader from the Oviedo Seminoles Tuesday, ran its record to 21-2 with Wednesday's win. AWS can secure the title Sunday when it plays a doubleheader with Southwest Volusia at Orange City.

Pine Hills jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the top of the first but Mike Davis and Kevin Bass combined to hold them to two hits and no runs the rest of the way.

AWS came back with three runs in the bottom of the first with Davis doubling in Tim Bruchl for the first run and two more scoring on a Pine Hills error.

An RBI single by Tony Johnson and Davis' sacrifice fly enabled AWS to build its lead to 5-2 in the second. Johnson drove in another run when he hit into a force play in the third and Bruchl's bases-loaded walk made it 7-2.

Apopka-West Seminole sealed the win with seven runs in the fourth. AWS had seven hits in the game led by Johnson who was 2 for 4 with five RBIs. Davis, the winning pitcher, was 1 for 2 with two ribbies.

Tuesday at Lake Brantley, AWS crushed the Seminoles, 18-0, in the opener then claimed a 13-4 victory in the nightcap.

In the first game, Skip Cousins and Mike Brown combined on a two-hitter. Bruchl led the offense with three hits and two RBIs while Bass drove in five runs with a pair of hits. Tracy Turner doubled for one of the Seminoles' two hits.

In game two, Apopka-West Seminole broke open a close game with seven runs in the bottom of the sixth inning.

AWS took a 2-0 lead in the first on RBI singles by Bass and Bruce Carlson. Seminole cut it to 2-1 in the third on Troy Turner's solo homer. Bass answered with a solo shot in the bottom of the third to make it 3-1.

Seminole came back with two runs in the fourth to tie it at 3-3. Tracy Turner and Jeff Greising both singled and both runs scored on consecutive errors by AWS.

Apopka-West Seminole took the lead for good with three runs in the fifth. Davis singled in one of the runs while one scored on an error and another on a wild pitch.

"We just need one more," said AWS manager Richard Coffey. "We hope to wrap it up Sunday."

The Florida Wildlife Federation has been in the forefront of the conservation battles since 1937, fighting for our fish and wildlife resources, and the habitat necessary to support them.

IN BRIEF

Rauch: USFL Is Toddling Down The Road To Oblivion

TAMPA (UPI) — Rack up another no vote for the USFL's planned shift to a fall schedule.

John Rauch, a former NFL head coach with the Buffalo Bills and Raiders and the director of football operations for the Tampa Bay Bandits until his resignation two months ago, said Wednesday the 3-year-old league is toddling down the road to oblivion.

"I don't see how the league can survive under the fall format," said Rauch, who resigned May 9 following a dispute with Bandits' principal owner John Bassett. "Knowing how much in debt certain clubs are, I don't see anyone pouring money into them to help the franchises continue. It doesn't appear to me anyone wants the league to play in the fall. With the NFL, colleges and high schools, they're probably fourth-best to start with and the key is they have to have TV and radio sponsorship. I can't see anybody in his right mind pouring money down the drain to carry an insecure franchise."

Rauch is waiting at home for a call from an NFL team inviting him to return to his first love — coaching. He needs one more season in the NFL to reach the 15-year plateau, a level which will increase his pension significantly.

Canadian Too Tough To Call

OAKVILLE, Ontario (UPI) — With the defending champion, course designer and the event's winningest player in the field, the $650,000 Canadian Open is too tough to call.

Among the 144 participants, defending champion Greg Norman and course designer Jack Nicklaus begin play today. Hal Sutton looks hot again after winning the Memphis Open last weekend and shooting a course record 60 at the Toronto Golf Club in an exhibition.

The Canadian Open, however, isn't at the Toronto Golf Club. It's on the Nicklaus-designed Glen Abbey, which plays to a par of 72 over its 7,102 yards.

So Sutton would do well to wipe that 60 out of his mind while he's playing a course where four 2-unders would make one start looking for the best deal on a currency exchange.

The tournament pays off in Canadian funds. The winner gets $117,000.

Hayes Hopes For Release Soon

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Former Ohio State University football coach Woody Hayes, who suffered a stroke in May, expects to be out of the hospital within a few days.

He also suffered an attack of angina two weeks ago, but has responded well, according to his physician.

Hayes, 72, entered the hospital May 24 after suffering a stroke while flying to Vancouver, British Columbia, for a speech.

He suffered some weakness on his right side with the stroke and is now walking with a cane.

His physician, Dr. Robert Murphy who is also the physician for the Buckeye athletes, confirmed Hayes' angina condition.

Funderburk Can't Save O-Twins

Mark Funderburk continued his torrid hitting Wednesday night but the Orlando Twins dropped an 11-9 decision to the Knoxville Blue Jays at Knoxville in Southern League baseball.

Funderburk, who leads the SL in homers, rapped his 20th of the year among his four hits and drove in five runs for the Twins. Despite the loss, Orlando held a one-half game lead in the Eastern Division.

The Twins play at Knoxville today.

In other minor league play, the Osceola Astros were hammered, 10-1, by Daytona Beach in the first game of a double header at Kissimmee's Osceola County Stadium.

Bob Parker went 0 for 3 for the Astros. Osceola travels to Lakeland today.

US Team, Rowdies Play Tonight

TAMPA (UPI) — With a mesmerizing laser and fireworks show to follow, two teams with little to celebrate meet tonight in Tampa Stadium.

The U.S. national soccer team, humbled five weeks ago by a loss to Costa Rica, seeks a bit of redemption on Independence Day in a game against a group of all-stars from the Tampa Bay Rowdies. The Rowdies have their own motivation for the 7 p.m. EDT matchup, which serves as a prelude for a spectacular light show that promises to eclipse the competition on the field.

General manager and coach Rodney Marsh says the turnout and support of the community will determine the future of the Rowdies — a team in search of a league.

Mike Merthie has his eye on the target. Merthie responded with a three-hit effort over five innings as the Sanford Juniors advanced to the title game of the District 4 tournament with a 9-4 victory over New Smyrna Beach.

13-Year-old Merthie Turns In Rare Effort

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

PORT ORANGE — Thirteen-year-old pitchers are about as rare in Junior Major League District 4 baseball tournaments as starting teenage hurlers in the big leagues. Sure, there are a few Dwight Goodens and Fernando Valenzuelas but they usually hit the big time in their 19th year.

Young men just reaching their teens usually find a nice comfortable spot next to the coach on the bench. When they do enter the game, it's usually when it's out of reach one way or the other.

A 13-year-old who does break into the starting lineup is usually relegated to left field or somewhere else where he "won't get into the way."

Sanford's Mike Merthie, who is in his first teenage year, is one of those rare ones. When you look at the Sanford Junior League pitching staff, there's Willie "Sugar Tex" McCloud, Ronald Cox, Sammy Edwards and Dwight Brinson. Pretty select company — and all 14-year-olds.

Cox pitched Monday. Sanford manager Jim Lucas had McCloud, Edwards and Brinson available. He wanted to save McCloud for Saturday's title game, so he had Edwards and Brinson to choose from.

But he chose Merthie. Without hesitation, Mike carried Moose with his pitching most of the year, said Lucas. "And when I was at Five Points (Seminole Pony Baseball), I remember him as a Mustang (9-10 year-old). I knew he had a good head and would pitch smart."

Baseball

That he did, with a little help from a familiar catcher, his brother Anthony "Boon" Merthie. Mike hurled the first five innings. He checked New Smyrna Beach on three hits and struck out three.

Sanford whipped New Smyrna, 9-4, Wednesday night to advance to Saturday's title game. A win there sends the locals to the state tournament at Key West.

"I didn't know I was pitching until I read it in the paper," said Mike about Lucas' decision. "I just loosened up some Tuesday with Sammy (Edwards)."

Brother "Boon" said Mike's fastball was his big pitch. "Mike was mostly throwing fastballs and moving them around," said the catcher. "He had a little trouble in the first but he was okay after that."

Okay enough to retire 11 batters in a row until the fifth inning. During that span, he struck out three. "I started out throwing a lot of curves but I couldn't get them across," said Mike. "Then I just went to my fastball."

"We got a good defense and I knew they'd back me if I just threw the ball over the plate."

His brother turned in the top defensive gem of the night when he popped out from behind the plate to gobble up a slow roller and gun the batter out a first in the third inning. Ranga Bernard Mitchell at first made a nice stretch for the ball.

No Rust: Perkins Scrapes Off Nationals

By Chris Flster
Herald Sports Writer

TAVARES — Al Perkins could very well have been a little bit rusty when he took the mound Wednesday night but the Sanford American pitcher sure didn't show it.

Perkins, who hadn't pitched for about three weeks, tossed a two-hitter, struck out nine and walked only two as the Americans blanked the Sanford Nationals, 4-0, in Wednesday's Florida Little Major League Sub-District 3 Tournament winner's bracket final.

For most of the regular season, Perkins was either the second or third pitcher on the Sun Bank team which went 18-0. However, when Sun Bank ace Derrick Taylor was ruled ineligible because he was too old it made Perkins a much more important player in more ways than one.

Taylor and James Jackson usually took turns pitching and playing shortstop for Sun Bank and the same would have been true for the all-stars. But, with the loss of Taylor, Jackson had to play shortstop full-time. That made Perkins the man to go with in Wednesday night's game.

Perkins didn't pitch in the City Championship Series which was two weeks ago and the regular season ended a week earlier. So it was a long time before mound appearances.

"I hadn't pitched since the regular season," Perkins said. "But I felt ready tonight. I really wanted to pitch against the Nationals."

The loss of Taylor, one of the top power hitters in the league, also caused the Americans to rely on Perkins for more offensive punch. And he came through in that respect also as he slugged at two-run homer in the bottom of the fourth to break a scoreless tie.

Thanks to Perkins' pitching and hitting performance, the Americans are one win away from a berth in the District Tournament.

The Americans will meet the winner of Friday's Sanford National-Tavares meeting Saturday at 10 a.m. with a second game, if necessary, Saturday night at 7.

Sanford American will come back with Eric Washington on the mound Saturday. Washington tossed a two-hitter in Monday's 4-2 win over Tavares.

"Eric pitched his best game of the year Monday," Sanford assistant Duane LaFollette said. "He was kind of snakebit during the regular season. He lost three times to Sun Bank."

Meanwhile, the Nationals will probably go with either Scott Sestak or David Dunn in Friday's game. Sestak pitched a five-hitter in Monday's 2-1 win over Leesburg while Dunn fired a two-hitter in Tuesday's 20-0 rout of Orlando.

The Nationals have one of the top hitters in the tournament in Anthony Roberts who is 7 for 12 in three games for a .583 average. For the Americans, Tony Duval is 4 for 6 in two games for a .667 average.

...Quiet

beat out an infield hit and he then moved up two bases on a wild pitch.

Perkins, who was 0 for 3 so far in the tournament, then stepped up. With the count at 2-1, Grayson fired a fastball high and outside but Perkins tomahawked it over the fence in right field for a 2-0 Sanford American lead.

"It was high and outside but I thought I could hit it," said Perkins. It was the third homer of the season for the big 12-year-old.

Clinger then came up and snatched Grayson's very next pitch over the centerfield fence as the Americans took a 3-0 lead. It was the first hit of the tournament for Clinger.

Perkins set the Nationals down in order in the top of the fifth and the Americans added an insurance run in the bottom half. With one out and Jackson on first, Henderson singled to left. Jackson was forced at third on Anderson's grounder for the second out.

However, when the throw back to the pitcher got away, pinch runner Lakoscia Kennon, who went to second on the force out, raced to third. Kennon then scored on a short passed ball to give the Americans a 4-0 lead.

Perkins came back to retire the side in order in the top of the sixth with Jackson and third baseman Ray Adecock each handling a chance along with a strikeout.

Jackson and Adecock anchored the Sanford American infield with both handling three chances without an error. The error in the top of the fourth was the first for a Sanford team in the tournament. The Nationals later made their first two errors of the tourney.

Al Perkins tossed a shutout and clobbered a home run.

In-Law Of No Means Could Be 'Richest' Of All

DEAR ABBY: My husband is one of four married brothers. All his brothers have beautiful homes, lovely furniture, new automobiles and certificates in the bank. My husband makes $20,000 a year. He could earn more, but he loves his job because it's so rewarding in other ways. He's a fine person and loves to help people. I work part-time as a waitress. We aren't foolish with our money, we pay our bills on time and save little or nothing.

Dear Abby

Abby, I don't want to attend the August family reunion I've asked my husband to go without me, but he says if he shows up alone, they might think we're having marital problems.

However, I don't want to subject myself to all the feelings of inferiority that surface. Our financial situation is not apt to change.

What do you think?
POOREST OF ALL

DEAR "POOREST": If you consider yourself "poorest" because you lack the material things your husband's relatives have, that could be your problem.

A warm, loving relationship with one's mate and contentment with your lot are more precious than designer clothes, diamonds and trips.

You could be the "richest" at the reunion, so please don't measure your wealth in dollars and cents. I say "go, hold your head up, and don't be blinded by the diamonds. Reassess what you have and don't sell yourself short.

This may be a tall order. It's too tall at the moment, it's your privilege to avoid situations that are too painful to handle. Good luck and God bless.

DEAR ABBY: After several years of infertility tests and various treatments to conceive, we were informed that I could possibly become pregnant, but it was highly unlikely. We chose to adopt and welcomed our delightful little daughter with much love.

Five months later, much to our surprise, I became pregnant. We are thrilled!

However, the thoughtless comments of friends and relatives infuriate me. A simple "I knew if you adopted you'd get pregnant." "You just needed to relax." "If you had only waited a while longer."

Please, Abby suggest that people restrain themselves from offering such comments. We would have been so pleased to hear a simple, unqualified "Congratulations."

Thanks for letting me air my frustration. I feel better already. Not wishing to offend those who have offended me, sign me

JOY-FULL

DEAR JOY: Congratulations. And a pox on all those insensitive "I told you so's!"

The problem is his family get-togethers. (I have no family. I was raised in a children's home.) His brothers and their wives always discuss what new item they've acquired — their new car, VCR, motorcycle, etc. His parents have started to ask us when we are going to buy a house. (We save all year to buy them nice Christmas gifts.)

His brothers have children. We have none, and it haunts me to think that if we do have children, they will wonder why they can't have all the things their cousins have.

I feel out of my league at these reunions with the sisters-in-law with big diamond engagement rings, designer clothes and their talk of what they have and the trips they take. (My husband isn't bothered by this at all.)

We have a warm, loving relationship, and I never feel "poor" — until I'm around his relatives.

School Secretary Retires

A surprise retirement luncheon was held for Mrs. Margaret Piercy at Sanford's Gaslight Supper Club and Restaurant.

Hosted by the faculty and staff of Wilson Elementary School where Mrs. Piercy has most recently worked, previous fellow workers also attended to honor Mrs. Piercy for her 28 years of devoted service in education.

Born Margaret Jackson in Brunswick, Ga., Mrs. Piercy moved to Crescent City and then married Clyde Piercy of Sanford. She has two children, Winston of South Carolina, and Susan Warren of Brandon.

Her work for the Seminole County School District began at Southside Elementary's lunch room. She later worked at Pinecrest, Lake Mary Elementary, Westside and Monroe. She had most recently worked as a secretary at Wilson Elementary.

Mrs. Piercy is a member of the First Baptist Church of Sanford and volunteers time in the church's library.

Sharing surprise luncheon festivities with Margaret Piercy, standing with Wilson School Principal Terry Raborn, are her husband, Clyde, and daughter, Susan Warren.

No, A Change In Diet Won't Cure Meniere's

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have Meniere's Disease. Can a change in my eating habits help this?

DEAR READER — Meniere's disease is a disorder of the inner ear and is characterized by loss of hearing and balance, and by a hissing or buzzing in the ears. Nobody knows what causes it and there is no cure. If you eat a balanced diet, additional foods or vitamins are unnecessary. The symptoms of Meniere's disease may result from other, readily treatable conditions. Check with an ear, nose and throat specialist. If you truly have Meniere's, he may be able to offer you respite from your symptoms.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My husband is 26, 5 feet 11 and weighs 148. During the winter he works as a ski instructor, and he doesn't drink or smoke and is in fine health. In spite of this, I worry that he may be a candidate for future heart disease. He eats healthy foods from all four food groups, but loves to load on extra butter, drinks six to eight cups of coffee a day and eats about a dozen eggs a week. His blood pressure is normal.

DEAR READER — Congratulations on being the recipient of this week's Healthy Spouse Award. About the only suggestion I can make is that he switch from butter to polyunsaturated margarine. In addition, he may choose to limit his coffee consumption to two to three cups a day, and his egg intake to five to six per week. A healthy man like him is more likely to get into difficulty on the ski slopes than at the breakfast table. If his serum cholesterol is normal and he continues to keep fit, he will probably be around for years.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have heard that babies have to cut down on cholesterol. My 4-year-old eats two eggs every day. Is this bad?

DEAR READER — Cholesterol deposits start to line the arteries at a surprisingly early age. A significant number of young servicemen who died during the Korean War were found to have cholesterol plaques. Since there appears to be a relationship between cholesterol deposits, atherosclerosis (hardening of the arteries) and vascular diseases, we would probably enjoy better health if we consumed less dietary cholesterol.

The situation regarding cholesterol and heart disease is, however, a complex problem that also involves exercise, smoking and alcohol consumption.

Two eggs a day for a 4-year-old is certainly at the upper limit of normal. I am more concerned, though, about what his or her dietary habits will be in three, five or 10 years. You would probably serve his best interests if you, by example, favored whole grains and unsaturated fat products, dislaid tobacco and high-fat junk foods and encouraged exercise as he grows older. You might also pray aloud that he would be unusual enough to avoid alcohol and drugs when he enters school and is under tremendous social pressure to abuse these substances.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

If I were a songwriter instead of a bridge-column writer, I'd like nothing better than to set these words to music so you'd never forget them: "Do not double a freely bid game or slam for a one-trick set. Your frequent but small profit will be more than wiped out by the times you double will cause the declarer to play the hand just well enough to make the doubled contract."

We turn now to today's deal featuring greedy West and a declarer smart enough to listen to the bidding and draw the right conclusion. When South eventually bid six spades, West was certain that the spade ace would be on his right. That made his K-Q look like two certain tricks, so he doubled.

Declarer won the opening lead with the club king, and immediately realized that the only justification for the double would be the guarded K-Q of trumps with West. And so to work. He played ace of clubs and ruffed a club. He overtook the king of hearts with the ace, played the queen and ruffed the third heart.

Then he played a diamond to the queen and ruffed the fourth club. Poor West had to follow. Next came the ace of diamonds and a ruff of the king of diamonds in dummy. South was now down to nothing but A-J-10 of spades. He called for one of dummy's spades and put in the 10, and the avarice of West turned to grief.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY
 JULY 5, 1985

Take care this coming year to distinguish between real opportunity and wishful thinking. If your selections are wise, the results will be profitable.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Commercial proposals presented to you by others today may have some strings attached. Don't make impulsive deals or commitments.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't make hasty judgments today regarding important matters you haven't investigated thoroughly. More research is needed.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) This is one of those days where you may spend more effort finding excuses to procrastinate than doing what needs to be done.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Today you must not only guard against your extravagance, but also that of a companion who could involve you in something frivolous and expensive.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Establish priorities today so that whatever you do can be done properly, rather than attempting so many things that you can't give adequate attention to any.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Don't be a shirker today and try to get others to take care of your responsibilities. Take care of things yourself.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Usually you're quite prudent in financial matters. However, today you might blow caution to the winds and spend wildly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Should you encounter resistance in your aims today, you may start to slack off instead of pushing forward more vigorously.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You could create unnecessary problems for yourself today if you're not careful. Think before acting. Be your own best friend, not your worst enemy.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Assess your finances realistically today and spend accordingly. This is not a time to be wasteful or to borrow from others.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Take care to behave properly in the presence of others today, especially in career situations. A poor performance will tarnish your image.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) It will prove wise today to temper your grandiose schemes with a smattering of realism. Strive to maintain a sensible perspective.
