Lawyer: Sanford Man's Killer To Appeal Conviction

Donald Ray Bean Jr.'s defense lawyer says he will appeal Bean's conviction on first-degree murder charges.

A Seminole Circuit Court jury Saturday found the 19-year-old Eustis man guilty in the robbery, kidnaping and shooting death of a Sanford man in a van parked near a Longwood bar two days before Valentine's Day.

Assistant Public Defender James Figgatt said that Bean faces life imprisonment with a minimum prison term of 25 years because the state did not seek the death penalty in the case.

Figgatt today said he plans to appeal the convictions, but declined to comment further.

Circuit Judge C. Vernon Mize ordered an investigation of Bean's background and scheduled sentencing for Dec. 30.

Bean was convicted under Florida's felony murder law which calls for a possible maximum sentence of death or life imprisonment with at least 25 years to be served if a person is killed during the commission of a felony.

Bean was charged with shooting to death John

Thomas Ellis, 43, of 816 Cherokee Circle, Sanford, during a robbery and/or kidnaping and was convicted of both charges.

Assistant State Attorney Angela Blakely claimed that Bean hid in Ellis' van after Ellis parked it near the Post Time Lounge at U.S. Highway 17-92 and Dog Track Road near Longwood during the early morning hours of Feb. 12.

Ms. Blakely said Bean kidnapped Ellis, took his wallet and shot him in the head, chest and stomach with a .38-caliber revolver during a struggle.

Bean was then driven away from the murder scene in a car driven by a friend of Bean's, Jay McDonald Willis, 18, of Eustis, Ms. Blakely said.

Willis has pleaded guilty to being an accessory after the fact and is awaiting sentencing.

Figgatt implied that it was another youth, John Papineau Jr., who resembles Bean, who was in the car with Willis on the day of the killing.

Papineau denied in testimony during Bean's trial that he was with Willis when Ellis was killed. He said he was in Ft. Pierce at the time.

After 'The Day After' Seminole Students See Room For Hope

By Diane Petryk
Herald News Editor

There's reason to hope nuclear war can be averted, 17 Seminole County high school students unanimously agreed after viewing ABC-TV's The Day After Sunday night.

"No one can win, so every country possessing nuclear weapons should just forget about it," said Tina Larson, 16, Seminole High senior.

But most didn't favor unilateral disarmament.

"If we disarm first, the Russians wouldn't take us seriously in negotiations," said Seminole High senior Bonnie Clark, 17.

The students said the United States should maintain as many nuclear weapons as the Soviets and only disarm if both sides totally disarm.

They felt the movie, depicting the aftermath of a nuclear attack on Kansas, was pro-nuclear freeze, otherwise "it would have had a more hopeful ending."

Watching as a group in a special gathering arranged by the Evening Herald at the Seminole Community College library, the students agreed to record their feelings before and after the film.

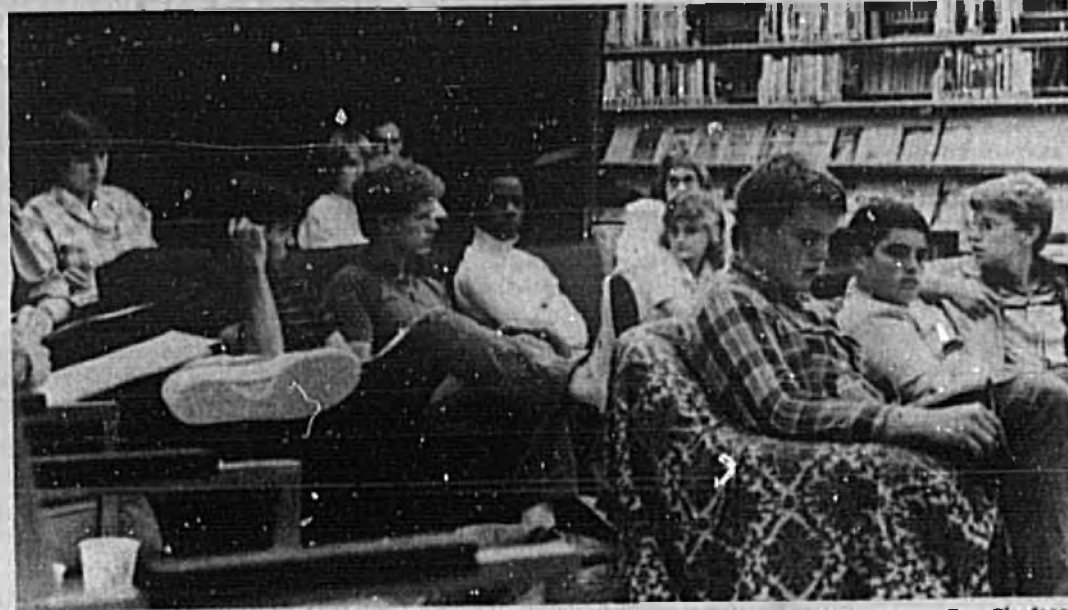

Fourteen students said they were concerned about the possibility of nuclear war before viewing the movie. Three indicated they were not concerned because neither side is likely to take such a horrendous step.

"World governments have enough dignity and respect for human life ... they would realize the disaster that would ensue," said Valerie Hartung, 16, Seminole High junior.

Gary Anderson, 17, Seminole senior, said he isn't really worried either.

"I feel the likelihood of nuclear war is extremely small. The nations of the world are too afraid to start a war because the majority of any nation involved would be annihilated," he said.

Others weren't so optimistic. In a pre-viewing survey, eight students said they feel nuclear war is inevitable sometime in the future. Two said they believe it's likely within the next 10-20 years and four feel it's "possible."

After the film, five students said it left them somewhat depressed. One said the movie was "sobering," another said it made him appreciate things in life we take for granted.

"Now I am really scared," said Lake Mary High sophomore Stephen Fraser, 15.

"My immediate reaction was a great feeling of concern for what might really happen."

Fraser said before the movie he thought the United States should base disarmament decisions on what other nations do.

"Before watching the movie I was in very good spirits, but after watching I became very depressed about what could actually happen to the us. So I feel every nation should tonight begin a disarmament program."

"I have decided that we should begin our own disarmament program on our own even if other countries do not. Because if the U.S.S.R. were to attack us they would most likely destroy us. Then what a great feeling they will have. They will have just inherited a whole continent of rubble."

Brian Kiesel, 15, Lake Mary sophomore, said: "After a nuclear war you can only say 'I should have done something about it when I had the chance.'"

The students' feelings were mixed on retaliation.

if we knew nuclear missiles had been fired at us, by accident say, should we retaliate?

Half of the students said we should fire back. Others took a different view:

"What's that going to solve? Why kill more people?" said Lisa Whitaker, 17, Seminole senior. "It's not as if anybody would win."

"It would be more logical to leave half the world safe," agreed Melanie Boyd, 17.

Deadly EDB Found In City Wells

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Up to five times the safe level of the cancer-causing pesticide EDB has been found in three wells from which Sanford draws its drinking water.

However, Seminole County Department of Health and Human Services director Dr. Jorge DeJu said at an 11 a.m. news conference that because the deadly chemical has been in the water supply apparently for only four months or less, he doesn't believe any of the nearly 10,000 families served by the Sanford water system — including the entire city of Lake Mary — have been harmed.

The affected wells were shut off Friday afternoon when preliminary tests showed a trace of the chemical, formally known as ethylene dibromide, City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles said today.

Sanford's major source of water was shifted from the tainted Mayfair Country Club site to the eight city wells off U.S. Highway 17-92 Friday afternoon.

Knowles said, emphasizing the city's water is now safe.

The city has seven wells at the golf course, three were found to have from .2 parts per million to .5 parts per million of EDB. An acceptable level determined by the Environmental Protection Agency and the state is .1 part per million.

Knowles said. One well at the site is down for repair and it has not yet been tested. No contamination was found at three others at the same site, he said.

Teams from the county health department's environmental health began testing 10 private wells within 300 feet of the golf course this afternoon to find if any of them are contaminated with EDB, DeJu said.

Results of the tests should be known within 48 hours, DeJu said.

If any wells are found contaminated, owners will be notified and bottled water will be provided by the state until a suitable water supply is found, DeJu said.

The problem could spread beyond the Sanford area, DeJu said eight other golf courses in Seminole County are known to have used an EDB-type chemical and information is being solicited from them.

In addition, a survey is planned of the Rolling Hills Golf Course area, near Longwood, in the next week or two. This may involve as many as 300 private wells, he said.

Knowles said since there is no recommended method of decontaminating or neutralizing wells contaminated with EDB, the three affected wells will be left idle until a method of decontamination is determined.

He said the wells apparently were contaminated sometime after Mayfair's operators placed EDB on the course in July. The course is owned by the city, but leased to private individuals.

Knowles said he learned of the EDB threat Friday in a managers' meeting in Winter Park from County Administrator Duncan Rose and local health department authorities.

After a conference with city utility department personnel Friday afternoon, he ordered the three contaminated wells shut down by 3 p.m., Friday.

Knowles said the Sanford problem was found when water at 10 or 11 golf courses in the county was tested.

Knowles said it has been usual practice to switch from one set of wells to the other to provide water to city customers to give each set a resting period from service.

"This system of rotation allows some of the wells to lie idle to recharge," Knowles said. Therefore, the shutting down of the three tainted wells will create no problems in meeting water demands, he said.

Earlier this year, eight drinking wells in Seminole County were tested by the DER and found to be free of EDB, a pesticide suspected of producing cancer, genetic damage and reproductive disorders in laboratory animals. It was first identified as a cancer-causing substance nine years ago by the National Cancer Institute.

The wells tested were located near orange groves where EDB had been used to control insects.

In recent weeks, the EPA banned most pesticide use of the powerful cancer-causing chemical, saying it threatens the ground water in several states. It is the most restrictive measure EPA can take under the law. It halted the sale and distribution of EDB for soil fumigation on a wide variety of crops including citrus and fruit trees, soybeans, pineapples, cotton, tobacco, peanuts and 30 other fruit and vegetable crops.

EPA spokesmen cited significant new evidence that EDB is contaminating ground water supplies in a number of states and that tests found the chemical in ground water not only in Florida, but also in California, Hawaii and Georgia.

'This Is Still The Day Before'

By Thomas Ferraro
United Press International

The aftershock of a television dramatization of nuclear war mushroomed across America today.

While the White House and anti-bomb groups debated the merits of an arms buildup, some of the children shaken by the ABC-TV movie The Day After put the issue in much simpler terms — "I want to grow up."

Tens of millions of Americans in homes, churches and schools Sunday night watched the depiction of the nuclear elimination of Kansas City and nightmarish efforts to survive by people 38 miles away in Lawrence, Kan.

"I don't want the film to be a preview of coming attractions," Lawrence Mayor David Longhurst told a candlelight vigil after the movie. "This is still the day before."

Special telephone hotlines were in operation in several cities for people frightened by the movie. One in Columbia, S.C. received five dozen calls by the time the film ended.

Secretary of State George Shultz, appearing on ABC's Viewpoint program after the movie, said the film underscored the nation's policy that "nuclear war is simply not acceptable."

Shultz was the first of what is expected to be a parade of administration officials and advocates to push Reagan's position on TV talk shows.

Anti-nuclear groups, however, said the movie showed America's traditional peace-through-strength policy is outdated for the nuclear age and an arms reduction is needed to save mankind.

"The only sane response is to protest the current nuclear buildup and demand a nuclear freeze," said Randall Kehler, national coordinator of the Nuclear Weapons Freeze Campaign.

Susan Muller, 13, of Wellesley, Mass., watched the movie with her parents and some of her friends. Said a shaken Susan, "I don't want it to happen. I want to grow up."

On an 80-acre farm on the edge of Lawrence, Kan., the Edmonds family saw the movie from their living room. Brynne, 10, and Jason, 14, sat close to their parents, Steve and Chris.

At one point, Jason said, "I'm going to build us a bomb shelter." But later, after seeing the massive destruction, de-

Storm Causes Power Outages But No Injuries

A cold front that spawned five tornadoes in north Florida moved into Seminole County Sunday afternoon, leaving several thousand power customers without electricity, but causing no injuries. Seminole was under a tornado watch from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m.

The storm dumped 1.3 inches of rain in Sanford, according to a measurement at the city's sewage treatment plant.

Bruce Berger, manager of Florida Power & Light's Sanford district, reported outages in the Sanford, Geneva and Deltona areas, mainly due to high winds that blew tree limbs onto power lines.

"We had 2,500 customers without power for varying lengths of time between 1:30 and 3:15 p.m. Sunday," Berger said. "Our main problem was in the Sanford Airport area where a feeder line went out at 1:30 p.m. There were two locations out on the main line — one at the end of the airstrip in an underground cable and the other where limbs fell on a line knocking out an airport sewer lift station. Another wire was down at Bungalow Avenue and Airport Boulevard. We had to call out repair crews and extra personnel to man the phones. Crews worked late into the night and all residential customers were back on in 8-10 hours."

Most of the lines were back on in two hours, he said.

There were several outages in Deltona caused by wind and lightning with less than 50 customers affected. There was wind and rain damage in one or two locations in Geneva, causing fewer than 100 customers to be without power, Berger said.

Florida Power Corporation spokesman Tracy Smith said damage was significantly less than expected, but there were scattered outages in Seminole County caused by wind.

"There a few major outages in the Pinecastle, Disney areas, but South Seminole had very little," Smith said.

Larry Strickler, manager of Southern Bell's Sanford office, said the phone company had no significant problems from the storm and received no more than the normal number of calls over the weekend.

Law enforcement departments in the county said no reports of storm damage were received.

A 23-year-old man was electrocuted when a power line was knocked down by one of five tornadoes that roared over the Panhandle Sunday, officials said.

Anthony Neese, of Cantonment, was electrocuted when he touched a fence on which an electrical line had fallen north of Pensacola, an Escambia County Emergency Medical Services spokesman said.

Five tornadoes touched down in north Florida in less than 15 hours, and winds of up to 70 mph were recorded, a National Weather Service spokesman said.

Two Local Musicians To Be In Macy's Parade

When you're sitting at home Thursday watching Macy's Thanksgiving Day parade, pay particular attention when the McDonald's All-American High School band marches across your TV screen because amongst all those talented teens will be two Central Floridians.

Terence Goss of Longwood's Lyman High School and Andrew Wright of Colonial High School in Orlando received a surprise bon voyage Thursday as they set off for New York to join 102 other high school seniors from all over the United States who were also selected to march in the Macy's parade with the All-American Band.

As the chauffeured limousine arrived at the airport at 8 a.m. carrying the two boys and their parents, they got the surprise of their lives.

There to give them a send-off was a throng of well-wishers in a specially choreographed ensemble, including members of their own high school bands in full band dress with instruments. Ronald McDonald serving as an honorary drum major, cheerleaders, flag twirlers, classmates, and family members.

The entire entourage marched through the airport and at the departure gate. Ronald presented Goss and Wright each with $100 cash as spending money in New York along with a watch as they boarded their 9 a.m. flight.

Terence is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Goss, Matland, and plays the alto-saxophone. He has been on the Florida All-State Band for five years and has been chosen to perform at the Tri-State Music Festival at Florida State University for two years.

Personal Income Shows Strong Gain

personal income climbed a strong 1.2 percent in October, the most in more than two years, the Commerce Department said today.

Even without some special factors that added to the improvement, the increase was more than strong enough to fuel a healthy level of consumer purchases and promised a good Christmas selling season.

analysts said.

When figured at annual rates, personal income went up $32.8 billion in October to a seasonally adjusted $2,819 trillion.

Income went up 1.1 percent in September after an upward revision, the department said.

A telephone industry strike and poor weather held down September's figure and exaggerated October's improvement, by about 0.2 percentage points. Without the strike and weather factors, analysts said, October's increase would have been about the same as September's.

Personal spending, also measured in the latest report, was up only 0.5 percent, far less than the previous month's 1.3 percent increase.

Bus Hit By Sniper Fire In Ongoing Labor Violence

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — A sniper put two bullet holes in a Greyhound bus in New Orleans and a Georgia bus was pelted by rocks in scattered violence accompanying a nationwide rank-and-file vote aimed at ending an 18-day strike.

The FBI and New Orleans police were investigating Sunday's shooting incident, in which a sniper fired at least two shots at a bus as it went under an Interstate 10 overpass en route to Mobile, Ala. Police said one bullet struck a window and another punctured a tire.

Bullet fragments were found inside the bus, but none of the 14 people aboard was injured. Occupants of a car and a pickup threw rocks at a Greyhound bus en route from Atlanta to Macon, Ga. The driver stopped at a State Patrol office and was given an escort for the remaining 75 miles.

Friday, local union presidents left the union-company negotiations in Scottsdale, Ariz. with copies of the company's latest proposal. Votes are to be relayed back to Phoenix, where Greyhound is based, by Nov. 29.

Union officials have recommended rejection of the proposal, which reportedly would cut wages 7.8 percent as opposed to an earlier proposed 9.5 percent cut.

Hunters Caused Blast?

PLEASANT HILL, Iowa (UPI) — Authorities suspect two 14-year-old hunters detonated 12 tons of dynamite with random shots at an explosives company's storage building and died in the blast that damaged 54 homes and was felt 45 miles away.

Officials called in heavy equipment to help search for Jeff Waddell and Clinton Woodward, but Polk County Deputy Sheriff Mark Breneman said if anyone had been near the source of the blast, "the chances of survival are slim."

Authorities Sunday found bits of clothing believed to have belonged to the two teenagers, and another search was planned today. A third youth who had been hunting with the missing youths returned home shortly before the explosion Saturday.

The blast blew a crater 100 feet across and 30 feet deep, flattening all trees in the area. Cross said 54 houses were damaged — two destroyed and 10 had "major structural damage" — although no serious injuries were reported.

DUI Cases Disposed

The following persons have been either convicted or pleaded guilty in Seminole County Court to driving under the influence. Most of them, as first-time offenders, have had their driver's licenses suspended for six months and have been ordered to pay a $250 fine, and to perform 50 hours of community service. In cases where a different sentence has been given, the actual sentences are reported.

...Students See Hope In 'Day After'

Seminole Junior, "even if it's them." The students also expressed concern about the theoretical EMP effect. The theory that a nuclear explosion over our continent anywhere would knock out all electrical power, including our ability to launch a counter attack. What if the Russians fired a missile and said "it was a mistake, don't fire back?" About half the students felt we should fire back anyway, before we are prevented from doing so.

"The Soviets aren't very trustworthy," said James Scheuerman, 17, Seminole senior. "I'd rather we retaliate than trust them."

As a group, the students were not optimistic about agreement being reached with the Soviet Union.

"Talking to the Russians is like talking to a wall," said Seminole senior Leonora Folsom, 17.

While Tina Larson said she doesn't think any country would start a nuclear war, James Wright, 17, disagreed.

"If the Russians could shoot down a plane like they just did, they could do anything," the Seminole senior said.

But Seminole Junior Steve Boney, 16, took another view.

"The U.S. would use nuclear weapons first," he said, "because the Soviets have superiority in tanks and conventional weapons."

If the Russians were winning a conventional war, he said he thinks the United States would be the first to try tactical nuclear weapons.

Admitting the movie left him "shook-up, somewhat," Boney said he feels the best deterrent to nuclear war is a strong anti-ballistic missile system.

"We must at all times be ready to go to war to avoid war," he said.

Scheuerman seconded that. "You cannot negotiate from a position of weakness," he said. "They tried that in World War II with Hitler."

"The only kind of (disarmament) agreement I would agree to," Boney said, "would be a fair reduction on both sides, making sure there was no cheating on the Soviets' part. I would especially like the zero-option plan where neither country had any nuclear warheads."

He said he felt the movie favored the anti-nuclear movement because it criticized the government for not knowing what to do after the bombing. Also, it's isolationist view, "the part about the U.S. should take care of its own country and don't worry about Germany," Boney said, wasn't too smart. "I'm sure the Germans, when they see that, will absolutely hate us."

While Nancy Juunto, 16, Seminole Junior, said nuclear war should only be the result of the U.S. protecting the people in America, Anderson agreed with Boney that we would have to get involved in an attack on our allies.

"We're too economically and politically involved in the rest of the world's affairs not to," he said. We have to get involved in places like Beirut and Grenada, he added. Otherwise the Russians will "tighten their clench" on the world, and we would be allowing their form of government to spread.

Is the attempted defense of freedom worth a nuclear war?

By almost two to one, the students favored nuclear war before capitulating to a communist enemy.

Nine students said if they couldn't live under the American system of government they might as well die in a nuclear war. Five said they would opt for preventing nuclear war, even at the cost of our system of government. Two said either way we'd lose, so it was really no choice.

"I hope I am never really faced with this decision," said Bonnie Clark, "but I know it is likely."

"Religion has a lot to play in this, and many Americans are Christians and perhaps not afraid to die. I am a Christian and if I or my future children had to be subjected to having no freedoms or choices, I would begin to ask myself the purpose of our lives. I possibly might choose a war ... rather than pray to the Soviets' leader."

"I'd rather die than give up our form of government," said Mike Cushing, 16, Seminole Junior. But H.T. Bennet, 15, Lake Mary sophomore, said he favors, albeit reluctantly, avoiding nuclear war at the cost of our system of government.

"The choice is really no choice at all," said Leonora Folsom. "After a nuclear war there would be nothing to govern. Either way, you lose. Either die in a nuclear war or die because we were kept from growing in freedom."

Freedom of thought and action is also paramount to Gary Anderson. "I'd probably choose nuclear war, simply because I like the freedom I have," he said.

What of their mood after the movie? There was a mixture of somber thought and reserved optimism and anger.

"I felt the movie was very depressing," Lisa Whitaker said. "It made me want to know more about nuclear war and its effects. The statement at the end of the movie that the 'real thing' would probably be worse, horrified me."

"It really made me mad," said Gordon Michael Moore, 14, Lake Mary freshman. "There is no need for that much power. We do not need that much power. The amount of nuclear bombs we have is totally outrageous ... extremely stupid."

"This film had an effect on me tonight," said James Wright. "I feel that all countries, big and small, should sit and talk. I feel that if countries have their own beliefs in religion and government, why can't they leave other countries alone?

"I feel that if this world would unite as one, believe in God and love one another the world would be a much better place to live. But the way I see it now, we have a good way to go before we get there."

"It really depressed me," Tina Larson said. "The film started as a few events kept building up and finally the missiles were launched. As I read newspapers and watch the news I see and hear of numerous military acts. I ask myself every day what is this leading to, where will it end?"

Although on a questionnaire before the movie, almost half the group said they feel nuclear war is "inevitable," after the discussion they unanimously agreed it's possible to prevent "that fateful day." David Moore, 16, Lake Mary world history student, summed up the feelings this way:

"I feel that if enough information about nuclear war is made public, the war will be delayed indefinitely. The U.S.S.R. is smart enough, I think, to realize the result of a nuclear holocaust, therefore probably won't launch any missiles."

"I also think America is the same way. If this is true, then an all-out holocaust, while always being possible, will probably be avoided by some means."

"There will probably be a World War III, but hopefully it won't be a nuclear holocaust."

cluded one would not do much good.

Thousands of schools planned special programs today to discuss the program with children. Some schools, like those in Portland, Ore., received tips last week from school psychologists.

Pro-defense and anti-nuclear groups scheduled news conferences, forums and appearances on TV talk shows. The campaign by the anti-nuclear groups also included a bevy of television ads.

The biggest effort is the 800-NUCLEAR spot sponsored by a coalition of 30 groups. It shows an American and a Soviet general blowing up a "world" balloon until it bursts.

"Take off the pressure before it is too late," the spot said. "Call 800-NUCLEAR to receive a 'Nuclear War Prevention Kit' that include tips on writing congressmen and joining nuclear freeze groups."

High Frontier, a private group headed by retired Army Gen. Daniel Graham, is also seeking air time to say what the United States really needs is a good non-nuclear defense shield.

Some members of the media estimated that up to 70 million tuned in for 'The Day After,' ABC declined to make any predictions before the official ratings were released.

Campaign workers for Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., who has made a nuclear freeze a centerpiece of his Democratic presidential bid, held more than 100 "watch-ins" during the movie.

At the same time, members of the conservative Young Americans for Freedom, who saw the film as propaganda against Reagan's arms buildup, demonstrated at ABC affiliates na-tionalwide. At the Asbury United Methodist Church in Kansas City, more than 100 people joined a group discussion after the movie. Many were visibly shaken as they talked about seeing the destruction of their hometown.

The Rev. Bud Cooper told them, "We must make the world safe for the children. This is an adult issue."

New York City Mayor Edward Koch offered his own review of the movie and an assessment of the danger of nuclear war.

"Forty-five years ago, Orson Welles did a better job of frightening the public than the ABC-TV ... did tonight," Koch said. "As a movie it was not very good. However, the issue of nuclear arms is bigger than the movie. It is the most crucial issue the world is facing."

In Washington, Assistant Defense Secretary Richard Perle said today the TV movie "The Day After" inspired fear, but he thinks Americans are sensible and will stick with present policy rather than try an untested alternative to preventing a nuclear holocaust.

Perle made his comments on CBS' Morning News program

2 Sanford Men Sentenced In Money Laundering Scheme

Two Sanford men and a British citizen have been sentenced in federal court in Orlando for their part in a money laundering scheme.

U.S. District Judge Elizabeth Kovachevich Friday sentenced Kenneth Kroesser, 34, to 10 years in prison, sentenced Roger Harmon, 48, to five years, and sentenced Gordon Rice, a 52-year-old Englishman, to a one-year prison term.

The trio entered guilty pleas Sept. 30 before Kovachevich.

Kroesser and Harmon, former federal security agents from Sanford, and Rice admitted they laundered stolen uncut currency through foreign banks in what was termed the largest laundering operation through foreign banks in the history of the U.S. Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

Harmon and Kroesser, who were both previously convicted in federal court of stealing at least $790,000 in uncut U.S. currency, each began serving 10-year prison

Longwood home has been released from the Seminole County jail after posting a $1,000 bond.

About 8:45 p.m. Wednesday, Seminole County sheriff's deputies stopped a flat-bed truck believed to have just been driven from the scene of the bottle toss at 804 Cypress Way.

The driver Jack Edward Selph, 19, of 453 Jessup Ave., was charged with throwing a deadly missile into an occupied dwelling.

The three occupants of the house were not injured, deputies said.

Teen Gets 4 Years In Shooting

An 18-year-old Longwood man has been sentenced to four years in prison in connection with the shooting death of another Longwood man this spring.

Seminole Circuit Judge C. Vernon Miz Jr. sentenced Jerry Darnall Roberts, of 466½ Orange Ave., as a youthful offender.

A grand jury indicted Roberts for manslaughter May 26, but a circuit court jury found him guilty of the lesser charge of aggravated assault which carries a maximum five-year sentence.

The state charged that Roberts shot Richard Franta with a .12-gauge shotgun at Roberts' residence on May 7 after the two quarreled about Franta's girlfriend.

Roberts said Franta came to his residence several times on May 7, kicked off the locks on the doors and broke into the residence, court records show.

Roberts said he pointed the shotgun at Franta and warned him not to come any closer, but Franta started toward him and Roberts shot him in the abdomen, records show. Franta died a short time later at Florida Hospital in Altamonte Springs.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Former County Official Gets 5 Years In Prison

FORT MYERS, Fla. (UPI) — Former Lee County Commissioner Ernest Averill Jr., convicted of swapping his political influence for sex, has been sentenced to five years in prison.

At the sentencing hearing Friday, acting Circuit Judge Hugh MacMillan rejected pleas from Averill, his pregnant wife, his minister and six members of his church to grant the 30-year-old former official probation.

"The defendant betrayed the public trust for an extended period of time," MacMillan said. "Any lesser sentence would diminish the seriousness of the defendant's crime and diminish the public's confidence in the system."

The state guideline for conviction of influence peddling is one year in jail. MacMillan also fined Averill $3,500.

Averill was convicted Oct. 6 in West Palm Beach of using his influence to help contractor Louis "Butch" Stramaglia secure county construction work.

In Cuban Jail: No SS

VERO BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Because of a new federal law, the family of a retired American machinist jailed in Cuba on marijuana-smuggling charges cannot collect his monthly $400 Social Security benefit check.

John Marker, of Vero Beach, has been in Cuba since July 3, when his 32-foot motor sailboat became disabled on a trip from Jamaica to Vero Beach.

He and his three college-age crew members were arrested, jailed and charged with marijuana smuggling. Marker confessed after 10 days of interrogation that he had carried 280 pounds of marijuana.

Although he will turn 62 in two months, officials say he will not be able to collect Social Security payments because of a federal law suspending such payments for people while in jail for a felony. The law does not say whether the imprisonment must be in a U.S. jail.

Reputed Investment Wizard Being Probed

MIAMI (UPI) — An investment adviser who calls herself a "Financial Fairy Godmother" may have lied on her license application, according to securities officials who are investigating the reputed credit wizard.

Bette Jean Janis, a 48-year-old investment adviser who was named Dade County Business Woman of the Year by a national women's organization, had a reputation for turning pikers into tycoons.

A gemstone-tipped scepter on her Coral Gables desk is inscribed "Financial Fairy Godmother with a Wand to Prove It."

But Ms. Janis has come under attack from government officials and former clients who charge that she is not what she claims to be.

The Florida Division of Securities has begun proceedings to revoke her license, believing she lied when she applied for a license as an investment advisor.

Ms. Janis wrote on the application that she had an accounting degree from Ohio State University but the school has no such record, The Miami Herald reported Sunday. A degree is not required for the license but it is illegal to lie on the application.

At least 11 lawsuits have been filed against Ms. Janis by clients who claim she made investments that enriched her while making them paupers. Most of them were airline pilots who once turned to her for help with tax problems.

Ms. Janis was considered something of a financial genius in Miami before the trouble started. A "PM Magazine" telecast last June portrayed her as a money wizard worth between $10 million and $15 million. Florida Trend business magazine wrote about her and her "magic wand."

But now, people like Thomas Burton, an Eastern Airlines pilot, and his wife, Linda, are suing Ms. Janis, claiming she misled them.

"We were told to use all our charge cards to the full amount, but only on things we needed to run the household," said Mrs. Burton. "That would free us up to give her cash for these so-called investments. For about a year, I stopped buying clothes. I felt she was an authority."

On the day the Burtons met Ms. Janis, in 1978, "She had this bottle of Perrier, Jout champagne on her desk next to the magic wand. She was draped with diamonds. She mentioned having 27 silk blouses," Mrs. Burton said.

But things didn't turn out the way the Burtons expected. A lawsuit filed against Ms. Janis complains that in 1978-1979, she sold the Burtons and other pilots tax-sheltered investments in master recordings of symphonies by German orchestras.

For awhile, the Burtons got huge tax refunds and refinanced their home to buy more. But in the next few years, the IRS disallowed the shelters and demanded repayment. Burton says interest on the debt is accumulating at the rate of about $1,000 a month.

Another suit charges that Ms. Janis used clients' money to purchase lime and avocado groves but never turned the land over to their limited partnership. The suit says she kept the property herself and mortgaged it for loans of $50,000 and $25,000.

Four other lawsuits on file in Marietta, Ohio, claim that she misrepresented the worth of oil and gas leases in that state.

Her lawyer, Lee Weintraub, said she did nothing wrong. He also said every investor received a detailed disclosure statement and should have known the risks of investing.

"People make investments and when they don't turn out profitably, they turn on the people who sold them to them. That's what's going on here," he said.

Coffee-Cholesterol Link Causing A Medical Stir

BOSTON (UPI) — Doctors on both sides of the Atlantic are questioning a recent study connecting heavy coffee consumption with high levels of cholesterol, which is associated with heart disease.

"The article reporting a positive association between coffee consumption and serum cholesterol level has caused a bit of a stir in Europe," said one of nine letters on the subject published in the New England Journal of Medicine.

Many of the letters' authors say they cannot duplicate the study's findings.

The original study was conducted by a group from the Institute of Community Medicine at the University of Tromsø in Norway and published in the journal last June.

The Norwegian study of 14,000 people aged 24 to 54 found drinking coffee raised the level of cholesterol, a common animal substance necessary for life but associated with heart disease at abnormally high levels.

"We are hesitant to accept coffee consumption as a major determinant of cholesterol levels," said Dr. Albert Hofman and three other colleagues from Erasmus University Medical School in the Netherlands.

"There was no evidence in American data of an association between the amount of coffee drunk per day and the levels of serum cholesterol when the data were adjusted for age," said Mary Grace Kovar, from the National Center for Health Statistics in Maryland.

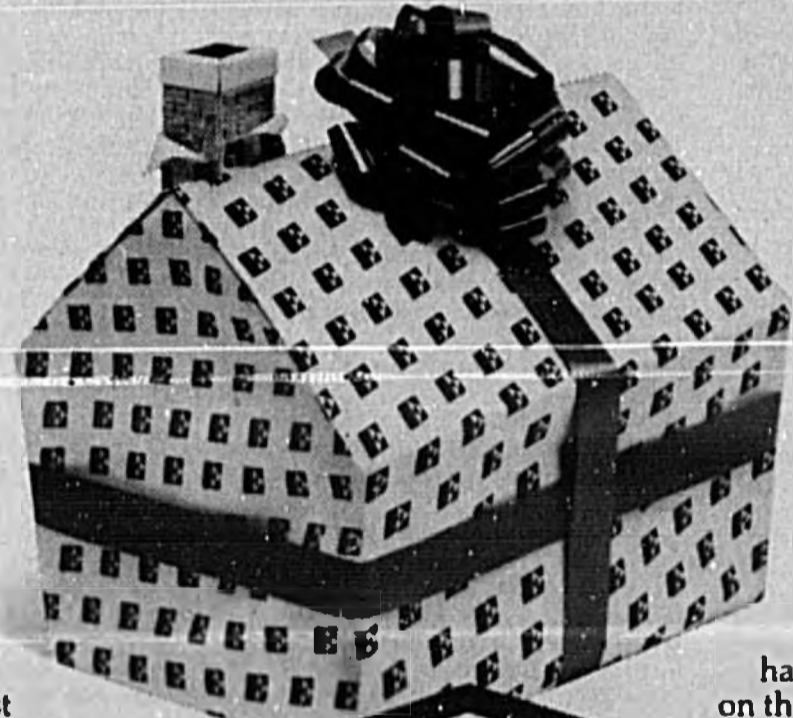

Dr. Dag S. Thelle and two colleagues, authors of the original paper, responded to the letters.

"The letters add to the already conflicting results from different studies of coffee and cholesterol. Three of the studies (the letter writers report) did not show any significant relation, one showed a strong relation but only in young people, and one a relation in women but not in men.

"The discrepancies are not easily understood and call for caution when inferences are made from one population about another," the response said. "Coffee consumption seems to be a major determinant of serum cholesterol level in our population but evidently not in others."

The Big E now has even lower rates!

You can still get the mortgage package that offers a rock bottom rate and a down payment of only 5%!*

9.75% Annual Interest Rate.

9.99% Annual Percentage Rate.

Right now, you can still get one of the best mortgage packages offered anywhere. It's the Big E ARM (Adjustable Rate Mortgage), a revolutionary new plan which combines an incredibly low rate with a down payment of just 5%. The Big E ARM makes home buying affordable for almost everybody.

With the Big E ARM, your low rate is guaranteed for the first year. Then it can be adjusted up or down once yearly. Because your rate is tied to the One-Year Treasury Security Index, adjustments are not random but are kept in step with the economy. You're ensured a fair rate for the life of your mortgage!

The sound thinking behind the Big E ARM has produced some impressive response. In less than one year, we've accepted nearly $930 million in applications for the ARM. Scores of businessmen and consumers nationwide have rallied behind the package. Their support has been echoed personally by President Reagan, who has praised the Big E ARM as a "bold plan" which has had a "tremendously positive effect" on the economy.

Besides offering incredible rates, the Big E ARM has some very strong advantages. Should you decide to sell, the ARM is fully assumable at the then current rate - with no points to you the seller. It carries a 2% ceiling on any annual rate increases. And, because you get a low initial rate, your payments are lower and you get more house for the money!

But the biggest plus is getting your home now, on solid terms. With all the proven advantages of the Big E ARM, there's no reason to wait! Why not visit a Big E mortgage expert today?

*Loans of $108,300 or more will require a down payment larger than 5%.

Who Bails Out Medicare Program?

The Advisory Council on Social Security has issued its recommendations for ways to keep the Medicare program from going broke by the end of this decade. Most of its proposals make sense from a practical standpoint, but this will not keep them from being poison at the box office.

Raising the annual premium paid by Medicare clients for their health coverage from $146 a year to $246 will be denounced in Congress as loading higher costs on the backs of those least able to pay. Raising taxes on alcoholic beverages and tobacco to help finance Medicare will bring out the big guns of powerful lobbies for two industries that resist any official recognition that drinking and smoking have something to do with health problems.

The proposal to consider employer-paid health insurance premiums as income and thus subject to taxes will bring down the wrath of workers who are already peeved at annual increases in their Social Security deduction. Advancing the Medicare eligibility age from 65 to 67 would be regarded as a breach of faith with those who have been counting on Medicare coverage at 65 as part of their retirement plans.

What distinguishes all of these recommendations is that they put the burden of reform on the Medicare recipient or the taxpayer. Only one major recommendation would affect what Medicare pays out to hospitals. The advisory council would scale back the future allowance for the cost of improvements in medical technology. Such cost increases would have to be offset by savings elsewhere in a hospital's budget.

Taken together, the council's recommendations would produce $300 billion in new revenue and savings over the next 10 years. But a reform package that leans so heavily on raising new revenue will get nowhere in Congress unless the government can start reporting some victories in its effort to check the spectacular rise in health care costs. Medical bills have continued to rise at a rate of about 11 percent a year even while the inflation rate for the economy as a whole has dropped to less than half as much.

A new system that took effect Oct. 1 will reimburse hospitals on a fixed-fee basis, the amount of the fee depending on the diagnosis that put a Medicare patient into the hospital. Hospitals have been reluctant to part with the traditional method of figuring bills on the basis of whatever costs were incurred, a method that carries no inducement to control costs.

A similar plan affecting Medicare payments to doctors is embodied in legislation now moving through the House of Representatives. Physicians treating a patient covered by Medicare would be required to accept what the government considers a reasonable fee as payment in full for their services. Representatives of hospitals and doctors have met both of these revisions with a warning that if the reimbursement becomes unfair, Medicare patients may have trouble finding doctors who will treat them or hospitals that will admit them.

When Congress was debating whether to adopt the Medicare and Medicaid programs in the 1960s, the debate turned on whether a major government commitment to providing health insurance for the elderly and the poor would lead to "socialized medicine." So far it hasn't; indeed, it has helped bring an unprecedented level of prosperity to private medical institutions and doctors, providing them with a guaranteed source of payment for treating a class of patients that in the past might have been treated at a reduced rate or excused from paying at all.

A consequence of this, however, is that government spending on health care has climbed to $150 billion a year. When expenditures on health care by private insurers and individuals are added, the country's doctors and hospitals now receive more than 10 percent of the gross national product, compared to six percent in 1965.

The quality of medical care in the United States has few if any rivals in the world. We think the American people are willing to pay a fair and realistic bill for the kind of care that our medical institutions are prepared to provide. But neither senior citizens on Medicare nor workers supporting the system with their taxes will accept the kind of reforms proposed by the advisory council unless the health care industry shows it can stabilize its costs.

BERRY'S WORLD

"In Beirut, the word 'presence' must be a synonym for 'TARGET'!"

By Donna Estes

Twenty years after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, many have forgotten the feeling of hope that he brought to the nation — hope that the quality of life would be better and that prosperity was just down the road for everyone.

That hope returned for some when Robert Kennedy began his move toward the White House, but it was dashed in short order with his assassination in Los Angeles in June, 1968.

How many today can name all the members of the cabinet? Few, I suspect. But in the days of late 1960 and very early 1961 as the names of each new Kennedy appointee to the cabinet was revealed, there was excitement and anticipation of good things ahead. And many could name all the appointees.

There was Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut to health, education and welfare; former Congressman Stewart Udall of Arizona to interior; Dean Rusk of New York, an academic, as secretary of state; Robert S. McNamara, who had been with the Ford Motor Co. in Michigan, as secretary of defense; Douglas Dillon to secretary of the treasury; Orville Freeman of Minnesota, secretary of agriculture; Luther Hodges of North Carolina, secretary of commerce; Arthur J. Goldberg, who was to go on to the Supreme Court, as secretary of labor. All represented quality at the time.

Even Kennedy's appointment of his brother, Bobby, as attorney general did not stir up too much controversy. People were ready to excuse and forgive that bit of nepotism.

Toward the end of the 1,000 days his popularity was waning somewhat, which was probably one of the reasons he made the fateful trip to Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963.

During his presidential campaign of 1960, it wasn't the popular thing to be a Kennedy supporter in Central Florida. Some people lost jobs for insisting on displaying Kennedy bumper strips on their vehicles.

There were a few brave ones around who stood tall in support of the Boston Democrat. One of them was now-Circuit Judge Joe Davis, who headed the Kennedy campaign in Seminole County. Judge Davis, who was a former FBI agent, would never talk about the problems he had as a result of that support.

Some have called the Kennedy era, a time of grace and style and idealism. And it was those things. But mostly it was a time of hope.

ROBERT WALTERS

It's The Great Oil Lottery

WASHINGTON (NEA) — "Here's your opportunity to become an oil tycoon. An investment of only a few hundred dollars could produce a lease on a sprawling tract of federal land with millions of dollars worth of crude oil beneath the surface."

That's the message millions of people hear every year in telephone calls from the "boiler rooms" operated by the estimated 200 companies whose unwilling yet uncomplaining partner in a fraudulent scheme is the federal government.

The Interior Department's Bureau of Land Management holds the subsurface mineral rights to approximately 822 million acres. Tracts which lie within a "known geologic structure" potentially containing oil are leased on the basis of competitive bids submitted to BLM.

But that procedure is used in only about 3 percent of all BLM lease sales every year. The remaining 97 percent are awarded in a government-conducted lottery officially known as the Federal Simultaneous Oil and Gas Leasing System.

Lottery drawings are held every two months. Anybody who wishes to participate can enter by paying BLM a filing fee of $75 — but there are few winners.

Last year, for example, there were approximately 2.5 million SIMOL System lottery participants but only 8,255 winners. That means the odds against winning are greater than 300-to-1 — and some of the most popular, presumably productive parcels of land attract as many as 5,000 bidders.

The few winners who receive 10-year leases must pay BLM $1 per acre in annual rent for the first five years and $3 per acre annually for the last five years. On a typical 1,200-acre lease, that's an investment of $24,000.

Because the vast majority of lottery participants have no knowledge whatever of petroleum exploration or development, the winners usually hope that an oil company will offer them a generous initial payment for drilling rights followed by equally lucrative royalty payments.

But the oil companies know better. Virtually all of the tracts in the SIMOL System lottery have been leased before — some as often as eight or nine times — without anybody searching for or finding oil.

Indeed, the oil industry views most lottery parcels as so inherently worthless that exploratory drilling has been conducted on less than 2 percent of all tracts — and commercially exploitable oil deposits have rarely been found.

Although the SIMOL System lottery obviously isn't a very good investment at $75 per parcel, an entire industry of con artists has convinced millions of people to pay $200 to $500 per parcel for the same product.

Teenage Jury For Young Offenders

By Frank Thorsberg

PARIS, Tenn. (UPI) — They looked like high school students waiting for class to start — giggling, talking under their breath and chewing gum — but when the gavel rapped, they were all business.

The teenagers were not in class. They were in court to sit in judgment of other teenagers who had run afoul of the law.

Henry County Juvenile Court Judge Ventimeglia started the juvenile jury program last summer. Since then, some 100 students have served on panels in his court.

Judge Ventimeglia decides the guilt or innocence of the accused.

The court issues recommended penalties for various offenses, but the teenage jurors can — and often do — set their own punishment.

Ventimeglia can overrule the jury's punishment recommended, but he seldom exercises that option.

"There have been a couple cases where I thought they were too hard," he said, but on the whole, the jury's decisions have been on target.

Ventimeglia, 34-year-old part-time attorney and juvenile judge, was elected to the bench last year and the juvenile jury is his first major program.

"I think the people here have been really receptive to seeing this court

JACK ANDERSON

Was DeLorean Bait?

WASHINGTON — Government documents in the John DeLorean case show that the Justice Department's undercover "sting" operators had a compelling reason to keep the automaker from pulling out of a cocaine distribution deal. If DeLorean had backed out, it could have jeopardized the G-men's case against a major drug trafficker they had been pursuing for months.

DeLorean claims he stayed in the cocaine deal only because of threats against his daughter by the government's chief informer, James T. Hoffman. I have little sympathy for DeLorean, but it would be illegal for the government to coerce anyone into committing a crime. A taped conversation, not yet scientifically authenticated, suggests this may have happened. Other circumstances also support DeLorean's claim.

Still other documents and tapes reviewed by my associates Tony Capaccio and Indy Badhwar explain why the government undercover agents might have been desperate to keep DeLorean in the case: The big fish they'd been playing so carefully, drug trafficker William Morgan Hetrick, might have pulled out of his part in the transaction, too.

Originally, the sting operations against DeLorean and Hetrick had "proceeded on separate and unrelated tracks," according to one government document. But in August 1982, "it became apparent that since DeLorean was looking for narcotics, while Hetrick was offering to provide cocaine, the investigation could be conveniently combined."

This joint "sting" operation began with a secret government videotape of a conversation on Sept. 14, 1982, between Hetrick and an FBI undercover agent involved in both investigations. He was known as James Benedict.

The undercover agent tried to rope Hetrick into the DeLorean deal. "Apparently DeLorean approached Hoffman," Benedict said. "He knows Jim (Hoffman) is in the dope business and said, 'Here's what I need.'"

Hetrick was reluctant to deal with Hoffman, however, explaining that Hoffman had once cheated him out of $10,000.

"Jim Hoffman victimized me for his personal gain. Therefore, how can I trust him? To put it bluntly, I think he'd beat his mother if he'd get a quarter for it."

"He's just not a trustworthy type ... He's got talent. I've seen it. He can sell ice to the Eskimos ... (but) with him you always got to watch your back."

So Hetrick demanded payment in advance of the $2 million DeLorean supposedly had raised for the cocaine deal. Benedict said it was supposed to be delivered the next day, Sept. 15, 1982.

Besides untrustworthy associates, Hetrick voiced another complaint about the professional dope dealer. "Reagan's drying things up," he said, mentioning the government's use of ships, helicopters and radar to track drug smugglers.

"It's heavy," he complained. "Their apprehension rate after detection by the radar ships is 100 percent."

Hetrick was also leery of Benedict's offer of stock in the U.S. distributing company for DeLorean's Northern Ireland-made sports car.

Hetrick then expressed doubt that Hoffman had a distribution ring for the cocaine.

DICK WEST

Computer Help For Candidates

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The threat to human job-holders posed by computerized "artificial intelligence" has been justly celebrated in song and story. But until this year, apparently, nobody suspected computers of having "political intelligence" as well.

What may be a breakthrough, of sorts, was demonstrated here this week at a meeting of the American Association of Political Consultants. In the proverbial spotlight was a software system named "Campaign Manager" and reputed to provide all the political acumen the average candidate needs.

Billed as a "powerful, new campaign tool," this system, according to its developers, "has it all."

Not only will it do work normally performed by pollsters, accountants, direct-mail specialists, media experts and other campaign professionals. For $499.95, it also sends thank-you letters to volunteers.

Moreover, it will put a candidate in touch with potential contributors who might have the wherewithal to offset the capital investment.

Here are three other vital chores the "Campaign Manager" is said to perform:

— "Prepares your treasurer's report in compliance with state and federal guidelines."

— "Projects your budget (bump-erstickers to store-fronts)."

— "Identifies ticket-splitting voters requiring special attention."

"Why," says a company brochure, it will even "help you get your press releases out in time for newspaper deadlines."

The system is the brain of Aristotle Industries of Norwalk, Conn. Aristotle, incidentally, is the middle name of the company president, John A. Phillips, who previously made headlines while a student at Princeton by designing a do-it-yourself atomic bomb.

He and his brother, Dean, who has the same middle name and was instrumental in putting the political software together, figured that with an election year coming up there would be a big demand for computerized campaign strategies.

Maybe they were right. But although John Phillips said the program has been selling "very well" since it was introduced last spring, the demonstration here drew fewer political consultants than the Democratic Party has presidential candidates.

While this city with its highly-charged political atmosphere might seem a natural market for software of this type, the Aristotle product has no data on "dirty tricks."

In devising a system suitable for all candidates "from the city council to the U.S. Senate," the brothers Phillips apparently envisioned campaigns in which the rivals accentuate the positive rather than sling mud.

seated and assistant attorney general Julie Grendels called the store owner and arresting officer to the stand.

Then Sherry testified she put the diaper pins in her pocket while Chrissy served as a lookout. Chrissy decided not to take the stand and the judge found her guilty of being an accessory.

The jury retired for five minutes and returned with these recommendations:

The panel said the girls should be kept apart and both should have 10 p.m. curfews. The jury also recommended the girls be put on in-home weekend detention and probation for three months.

The judge agreed with the jury's recommendation, but added a $25 fine and another $25 to pay court costs.

The judge tells his young charges "to treat the cause of behavior" and "to help a person learn from this case in juvenile court."

Most juvenile defendants plead guilty. Only a few bring a lawyer to court, but parents are required to be present for the hearing.

Chrissy's mother had this to say in court:

"The only thing I have to say is that Chrissy has learned a valuable lesson. She's gotten a pretty good scare over this."

being active," Ventimeglia said. "This court, more than any other and talking about juvenile court in general, gives a capsulized view of what's going on in the community."

Two six-member juries were called to the red brick Henry County Courthouse earlier this month to hear cases ranging from shoplifting to alcohol possession and public drunkenness.

Jennifer Walls, a 16-year-old juror, said she was impressed by the system.

"I think it shows our court has a lot of faith in teenagers," she said. "The most important thing I learned is how serious all of this is."

Kim Jackson, also 16, wants to be a lawyer and volunteered for the juvenile jury program to get a first-hand look at the judicial system.

"I found it very interesting, being called to serve on a jury and hearing the cases," she said. "I'm interested in studying law and it was interesting to see how it works."

In the first case, a girl named Sherry was accused of shoplifting a $1.07 package of diaper pins. Her friend, Chrissy, was charged with being an accessory.

Sherry pleaded guilty, but Chrissy told the judge she wanted to plead innocent.

The teenage jurors were born in and

Part of the juvenile court psychology, Ventimeglia said, is to scare kids back onto the right path.

Delinquent behavior, possession of alcohol, general unruliness and shoplifting are the most frequent cases to come before the court.

Debra, 17, was caught drinking by the police and pleaded guilty. Still, she had to go to court and face a jury of her peers.

The jury gave her an 11 p.m. curfew and recommended she stop associating with her drinking friends. Her parents imposed even tougher restrictions on Debra, but both were impressed by the juvenile jury.

"I think it's very good. With the children as jurors, I think they have an insight as to what's going on," Debra's father said. "They have better ability to judge their peers because these kids are experiencing the same things. I think it's an excellent program to give them that responsibility. They are going to have to make hard decisions from now on."

County juvenile officer Willie Johnson said teenage defendants don't like facing their peers in court.

"The kids that are caught, they'd much rather be tried by the judge than their friend," Johnson said. "It's a form of peer pressure."

County Runners Make Move Into Limelight

Cheeseman, Kingsbury, Garriques — All-State; Young Lady Hawks Finish 3rd, Look To Future

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

DELAND — Although Seminole County cross country teams haven't reached the caliber of a Largo or Tampa Leto, the county is developing into one of the best in the state. With this year's success and state meet experience, Seminole County should be ready to move into the limelight in the years to come. Three individuals made all-state and two teams finished third Saturday at the State Cross Country Meet at the DeLand Airport.

In the girls 4A meet, Lake Mary freshman Sue Kingsbury made all-state (top 10 individuals) with an eighth place finish and a time of 11:53.8. In the boys 4A meet, Lake Howell's Ken Cheeseman and Lake Brantley's Mike Garriques made all-state. Cheeseman was second at 14:53.2 while Garriques was ninth at 15:14.4.

In the girls 4A team standings, Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks capped off an impressive season with a third place finish in the Lady Hawks' first trip ever to the state meet. Tampa Leto won with a team score of 73 followed by Fort Lauderdale J.P. Taravella with 101 and Lake Howell with 107. Lake Mary was 12th at 277 and Lake Brantley was 14th at 303.

In the girls 1A team standings, Trinity Prep's Lady Saints finished third despite being without number one runner Adrienne Foltowicz. Lakeland Christian was first with a team score of 50 followed by Tampa Berkley Prep with 81 and Trinity Prep with 90.

Kingsbury accomplished a couple of goals with her eighth place finish. She went under the 12 minute mark for the first time this season (not including the Daytona Beach Run) and finished among the top 10 individuals. She was also the only freshman to finish in the top 10.

"We were hoping Sue could get in the top 10, and she had to go out fast at the start to do it," Lake Mary coach Mike Gibson said. "She ran a 5:45 first mile and a 6:09 second mile. That's the closest second mile (to her first mile) she has run this season."

Not only did Kingsbury accomplish her goals, but she came out on top of some highly touted competition to do it. Kingsbury outran West Orange's Louise Schweitzer, the winner of the regionals at Lake Mary and she also beat Orange Park's Sandra and Sonja Brasch, two of the highest ranked runners in the state.

Other times for the Lady Rams Saturday included Tracy Blakely (58th at 13:01), Fran Gordon (59th at 13:02), Liz Stone (90th at 13:33), Andrea Beardslee (93rd at 13:38), Niki Hays (95th at 13:41) and Shannon Weger (99th at 13:46). Hays ran her best time since the beach run and Weger, who missed some of the season with an injury, turned in her best time of the year. All seven of Lake Mary's runners will be back next season to try and send the Lady Rams to the state meet again.

Although it didn't come home with the champion or runnerup trophies, Lake Howell came home knowing it had established itself among the state's best and knowing that all seven runners will be back next season to make a run at the state title. You would need a pretty big trophy to engrave the Lady Hawks' list of accomplishments in the '83 season.

Lake Howell won 7 of 10 meets, finished second once and third twice. In two of those meets (the Lake Brantley Invitational and state) Tampa Leto was the champion. The Lady Hawks also claimed the Seminole County, Five Star Conference, District and Regional titles.

Sophomore Amy Ertel ran another incredible race to lead the Lady Hawks Saturday. At the regional meet, Ertel was the Hawks' top finisher with a personal best time of 12:25. Saturday, she shaved 23 seconds off that time with a time of 12:02.5, which was good for 16th place overall. Angie Smith, also a sophomore, was Lake Howell's next finisher as she came in 18th with a personal best time of 12:16.0. Her previous best was 12:27.

Three freshmen completed the team scoring for the Lady Hawks with Lisa Samocki coming in 29th with a personal best time of 12:27.5, Martha Fonseca was 31st with a personal best time of 12:31.5 and Mary Fonseca was 45th at 12:46.5. Other times for the Lady Hawks included, Junior Lyn Lucas (49th at 12:54.5) and Junior Nancy Nystrom (78th at 13:15.7).

Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots finished 14th in the meet with number one runner Kathryn Hayward and number two Joanne Hayward both a bit under the weather. The Lady Patriots' top finisher was Kim Lubenow (47th at 12:51.5) followed by Traci Rowland (67th at 13:08.1), Kathryn Hayward (71st at 13:11.6), Ann Wannerstrom (74th at 13:13.1), Barbara Holmes (79th at 13:19.6), Kim Pacetelli (81st at 13:20.5) and Joanne Hayward (110th at 14:45.0).

Kathleen Schaefer, a junior from Gainesville, Buchholz, was the individual champion with a time of 11:37. For the third time in three years, Cheeseman finished as runnerup in the state meet. As a sophomore, he was second in the Tennessee state meet (all classes run together), as a junior at Lake Howell he finished second to Winter Park's Brian Jaeger and Saturday, the Silver Hawk senior was outkicked by Fort Lauderdale Dillard's Greg Green.

Green came on strong at the finish to record a first-place time of 14:41.7 while Cheeseman was second at 14:53.2. "He (Green) ran a great race," Cheeseman said. "He really put on the kick at the end."

Lake Brantley's Garriques, also a senior, was ninth at 15:14.2 and Lyman's Doug McBroom, also a senior, was 26th at 15:44.9. The Lyman boys team finished 12th in the team standings at 297.

Perennial powerhouse Largo came away with yet another state title with a team score of 68. Dillard was second at 95 followed by Tampa Leto at 142 and Orlando Oak Ridge at 153.

Katie Sams paved the way for Trinity Prep's third place finish in the 1A meet. Sams, only a freshman, finished second overall with a time of 12:35. Berkley Prep's Laura Ibell was the individual champion with a time of 12:26. Beth Sheffield and Rebecca Baskin also turned in fine performances for the Lady Saints. Sheffield finished 12th at 13:28.6 and Baskin was 14th at 13:35.4.

Champions in the 3A meet were Titusville Astronaut's girls and Jupiter's boys. The 2A champs were Clearwater Central Catholic's girls and Jacksonville Bolles' boys and the 1A boys champion was Westminster Academy which placed four of its top five runners among the top 10 individuals.

Amy Ertel continued her incredible post-season running Saturday morning at DeLand with a 12:25 two mile to help the Lake Howell girls to a third-place finish behind Tampa Leto and J.P. Taravella. Ertel's time was 23 seconds better than her previous best and earned her a 16th place finish. Lake Howell, which doesn't have a senior runner, won seven of 10 races if entered this fall.

Payton, Suhey Do Rain Dance On Bumbling Bucs

TAMPA (UPI) — Premier running back Walter Payton and stablemate Matt Suhey put on a seminar on how to run in sloppy weather Sunday and in the process Payton moved into third place on the all-time NFL rushing list.

"It was Bears' weather," Payton said after Chicago blasted the Tampa Bay Buccaneers 27-0 at rain-soaked Tampa Stadium.

Despite a heavy downpour throughout the first half and a steady drizzle in the second half, Payton ran for touchdowns of 2 and 8 yards while amassing 106 yards rushing, and Suhey had 112 yards and a 2-yard TD run.

Defensive end Mike Hartenstein put the icing on the victory cake with a 10-yard return of a fumble he scooped up when quarterback Jeff Komlo was knocked loose from the ball in the closing minutes.

Payton's 106 yards boosted his career total to 11,257, third behind Jim Brown's 12,312 and Pittsburgh's Franco Harris, who had only 33 yards Sunday to up his total to 11,758. Payton moved ahead of O.J. Simpson, who had 11,236 yards.

"It's nice to break it but the win means everything," Payton said. "To pass O.J. means a lot because it shows what kind of team we have. Our line has done a great job all year and it was no different today."

Payton and Suhey became the first Bears to run for more than 100 yards in the same game since Payton and Roland Harper did so in 1978 against the Bucs in Chicago.

"It's really evident we are a bad-weather football team," said Chicago Coach Mike Ditka. "We played our best. We put the responsibility on the linemen to block and they did a great job."

Pro Football

The victory gave Chicago a 5-7 record to stay in the running for a playoff spot. The Bears trail Minnesota by two games and the Green Bay Packers by one in the NFC's Central Division and still have two games left with the Packers and one with the Vikings.

Tampa fell to 1-11. Its worst record since the infamous 0-26 record in the Bucs' first two years in the NFL, and they face 11 Houston next Sunday at Tampa Stadium in what could determine who will have next year's first-round draft pick.

It won't be Tampa Bay — win or lose. The Bucs traded their 1984 first-round pick to Cincinnati for quarterback Jack Thompson, who sat out the Bears' game with an injured elbow.

The Bears dominated the game, controlling the ball for 39 minutes 49 seconds to just 20:11 for Tampa and had 346 offensive yards to 132 for the Bucs.

Only 36,816 fans braved the weather and the Buccaneers' record to show up for the game and many of them left by halftime, drenched by the heavy rain. It was the lowest in-house crowd for a Tampa game since 1976, when 36,930 showed up for a game against the Cleveland Browns. There were 27,839 no-shows, far exceeding the previous team record of 16,828 against the Bears in 1980.

Elsewhere, Minnesota nipped Pittsburgh 17-14, Dallas clipped Kansas City 41-21, Denver dumped Seattle 38-27, Washington slammed the Los Angeles Rams 42-20, the Los Angeles Raiders nipped Buffalo 27-24, Miami blanked Baltimore 37-0, Detroit edged Green Bay 23-20 in overtime, Cleveland blanked New England 30-0, Chicago beat Tampa Bay 27-0, St. Louis routed San Diego 44-14, the New York Giants hammered Philadelphia 23-0 and Cincinnati defeated Houston 38-10.

The New York Jets are in New Orleans tonight, with the 6-5 Saints in position to create a three-way deadlock atop the NFC West. The Saints are a three-point favorite, despite quarterback Dave Wilson getting sacked nine times last week. George Rogers, the Saints' bruising fullback, is coming off one of his better games of the year with 129 yards last week.

For New York, QB Richard Todd threw for 245 yards last week while completing 25 of 36 passes against the Buffalo Bills. Halfback Bruce Harper ran for 102 yards.

Marino Outduels Hermann As Dolphins Shut Out Colts

MIAMI (UPI) — As Sunday's duel between two young quarterbacks developed, Baltimore's Mark Hermann struggled while Dan Marino and the Miami Dolphins soared.

Marino, the rookie flash from Pitt, led Miami to a 37-0 victory by completing 14 of 21 passes for 240 yards, including an 85-yard touchdown rocket to Mark Duper that highlighted a 24-point second quarter.

"I just threw the ball as far as I could and he went and got it. It was a great play by Duper," Marino said. "I don't believe I was sacked all day and the running game was working. When that happens, you can do well."

The victory, coupled with Buffalo's 27-24 loss to the Los Angeles Raiders, gave the Dolphins a one-game lead in the AFC East at 8-4. For the Colts, it dropped them to 6-6 and out of playoff contention.

Herrmann, who didn't find out for sure he was going to start until an hour before game time, was only 9-for-19 for 128 yards and two interceptions.

"You've got to be ready at any time and I felt like I was ready to play. But it was just a long day," said Herrmann, a third-year player who was acquired from Denver in the off-season John Elway trade. "I'm not going to panic, but I would like to start playing better."

Herrmann was injured during the pre-season and wasn't ready until last week, when he was inserted for Mike Pagel at halftime. Pagel didn't play a down Sunday.

Baltimore Coach Frank Kush was almost at a loss for words after the defeat.

"Really, there is not a heck of a lot you can say. They dominated us completely," Kush said. "I don't think we were ever in it but we did some things very well early and didn't capitalize on it."

In contrast, Miami Coach Don Shula was pleased with just about every aspect of the Dolphins' play, contrasting with his disappointment in last week's 17-6 loss at New England.

"Everything came together for us today," Shula said. "We needed it, especially after last week. Our defense continues to do a good job. Offensively, we just had everything going for us — the run and the pass."

In addition to Marino's 85-yarder to Duper, the Dolphins scored on a 60-yard punt return by rookie receiver Mark Clayton, an 8-yard run by Andra Franklin, and 1-yard efforts by Marino and Woody Bennett. The von Schamann added a 42-yard field goal.

Clayton said he was doing some jawing with one of the Colts' special-team members on a punt return early in the game and told him, "Next time, I'll meet you in the end zone."

He turned out to be a prophet as he took the ball on the Miami 40, headed up the right side and then cut to his left for the touchdown.

MIAMI (UPI) — Coach Don Shula and Miami Dolphins' owner Joe Robbie are close to wrapping up a new contract agreement. It was reported today.

"We don't have a complete agreement, but we have never been that far apart," Robbie told the Fort Lauderdale Sun-Sentinel. "I feel safe in saying we are both satisfied with the negotiations."

Shula's contract ends Feb. 28. There has been speculation he might leave the Dolphins — perhaps for a United States Football League club — but earlier this month Shula withdrew himself from consideration as coach of the New Jersey Generals.

"We have had a couple of productive meetings," Shula said. "But there has been no contract agreement."

Neither Shula nor Robbie would indicate when their next meeting would take place, but the newspaper quoted a source as saying the contract "should be wrapped up in the near future."

Thyhsen Tosses 4 TDs, Knights Rip Fort Lewis

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Finally, some relief. After knocking heads with Division I-AA opponents for several weeks, the University of Central Florida football team encountered a patsy of its own Saturday night when tiny Fort Lewis (Col.) College came to town.

The Knights took full advantage of their size and skills, beating the patsy to a pulp. Quarterback Dana Thyhsen threw four touchdown passes while halfback Lorenza "Chicken" Rivers and fullback Elgin Davis romped for two more scores each as the Knights pummeled the Raiders, 59-28, before a record crowd of 14,212 at the Orlando Stadium.

"We were looking ahead to Bethune (this Saturday)," said UCF coach Lou Saban, who picked up his 50th college victory and 150th overall (college and pro). "I didn't think we'd have a game like this, but we'll take it."

The 59 points broke the old record of 55, established against St. Leo College in 1980. The record crowd, thanks to a fund-raising activity by the Police Benevolent Association, broke the old mark of 14,188 against Ft. Benning, Ga. in 1979.

While the Knights' offense had little trouble scoring after a sluggish first quarter, the defense was porous, giving up 452 despite playing the first string for the whole game. "We really wanted a good effort defensively leading into the Bethune game," said Saban. "If we can't stop these guys (Fort Collins), then we could be in a lot of trouble against Bethune."

The Knights evened their season record at 5-5. Bethune-Cookman, which was rained out on Oct. 8, will be played Saturday. The 7:30 p.m. encounter will be the final game for both teams.

Thyhsen, who prepped at DeLand High, was afforded excellent protection by his offensive line. He probed the Raider secondary early in the game with short tosses to tight end Glenn McCombs before throwing long later on.

Davis, who led the UCF rushers with 80 yards, broke loose on an 18-yard gallop for a 7-0 first quarter lead.

The Raiders came back for two scores in the second quarter, but UCF awoke and punished the smaller (3,600 students) school with 31 points to seize a 38-14 lead at halftime.

Thyhsen unloaded his first bomb by hitting wideout Kelvin Collins with a quick slant which Collins turned into a 70-yard score. Davis followed up with a 20-yard TD scamper and then hauled in a three-yard swing pass from Thyhsen for another score.

Fort Collins bounced back with its second score, but Thyhsen then unloaded a 41-yard bomb to Jim Roundtree, who made a diving catch in the end zone, for the final score of the first half with less than a minute to play.

UCF senior Scott Ryerson kicked all eight extra points and also added a booming 50-yard field goal.

Rivers, who prepped at Kissimmee Osceola, scored on two- and 15-yard runs in the second half. Tailback Kim Nixon also pulled in a nine-yard pass from Thyhsen.

Irish Indecision Has Liberty Bowl On Hold

United Press International

The guessing game continues for Liberty Bowl officials, as well as players and coaches at both Boston College and Notre Dame.

The Fighting Irish, invited to meet Boston College in the Dec. 29 Liberty Bowl at Memphis, Tenn., have yet to inform bowl officials whether they will accept the bid. School officials had second thoughts about going to a bowl after Notre Dame's 23-22 loss to Air Force Saturday dropped the Irish to 6-5.

The team voted Sunday but university officials have not announced their decision nor the results of the secret ballot.

"I just hope we go," said sophomore tailback Allen Pinkett.

Coach Gerry Faust was more diplomatic. "If the administration wants to go and the players want to go, then I want to go," said the third-year coach.

Notre Dame will receive in excess of $620,000 if it goes to the Liberty Bowl.

Bill McElroy, a Liberty Bowl selection committee member, said if the Fighting Irish reject the bid several teams were under consideration as a replacement.

"Anything 7-4 or above would be under consideration," McElroy said. "Obvious teams would be Virginia Tech, East Carolina, Wisconsin and perhaps Oklahoma if they beat Nebraska and Arizona State and Washington State."

No. 20 Oklahoma is the only ranked team that is not already headed for a bowl. The Sooners expressed no interest in going to any of the lesser bowls except the Aloha Bowl in Hawaii. Unless it gets invited to the Liberty Bowl and has a change of heart, Oklahoma will not sit out post-season competition.

Top-ranked Nebraska meets No. 4 Miami (Fla.) in the Orange Bowl on Jan. 2. No. 2 Texas faces No. 7 Georgia in the Cotton Bowl on Jan. 2. No. 3 Auburn plays host to No. 8 Michigan in the Sugar Bowl on Jan. 2. No. 5 Illinois takes on UCLA in the Rose Bowl on Jan. 2. No. 6 SMU faces No. 16 Alabama in the Sun Bowl on Dec. 24. No. 9 Brigham Young entertains No. 17 Missouri in the Holiday Bowl on Dec. 23 and No. 10 Ohio State meets No. 13 Pittsburgh in the Fiesta Bowl on Jan. 2.

Also, No. 11 Iowa faces No. 12 Florida in the Gator Bowl on Dec. 30. No. 14 Washington meets Penn State in the Aloha Bowl on Dec. 26. No. 15 West Virginia takes on Kentucky in the Hall of Fame Bowl on Dec. 22 and No. 18 Baylor faces Oklahoma State in the Bluebonnet Bowl on Dec. 31.

In other bowl matchups, Air Force meets Mississippi in the Independence Bowl on Dec. 10. Northern Illinois faces Cal-State Fullerton in the California Bowl on Dec. 17. Maryland takes on Tennessee in the Florida Citrus Bowl on Dec. 17, and Florida State meets North Carolina in the Peach Bowl on Dec. 22.

While Notre Dame's players are sporting red faces, Washington is wearing its own shade of crimson after losing to Washington State 17-6 Saturday. It marked the second year in a row the Huskies were upset by their cross-state rivals and missed out on a chance to go to the Rose Bowl.

Kerry Porter rushed for 169 yards and Richard Calvin scored a pair of touchdowns to spark Washington State's victory. It was Porter's sixth straight game over 100 yards and gave the sophomore an even 1,000 yards for the season.

UCLA earned the right to represent the Pac-10 Conference in the Rose Bowl by whipping Southern Cal 27-17. Karl Dorrell scored on a 7-yard touchdown pass and Kevin Nelson and Bryan Wiley rushed for TDs in a third-quarter comeback by the Bruins.

Michigan took advantage of a trick play that backfired to defeat Ohio State 24-21 and earn a berth in the Sugar Bowl. Ohio State was leading 14-10 when it attempted to catch Michigan off-guard.

The trick play, in which the center leaves the ball on the ground while the defense rushes past, was one that enabled Nebraska to defeat Oklahoma a couple of years ago. But it backfired when no OSU player could reach the ball, allowing Michigan junior defensive tackle Mike Hammerstein to recover.

"It was a bad call," said Ohio State Coach Earle Bruce. "We practiced it all year. It looked like a million dollars but nobody picked up the ball."

Michigan quarterback Steve Smith took advantage of that mistake and an interception to drive for the winning scores. After the interception by sophomore defensive back Brad Cochran, he scored on a 1-yard touchdown run with 12:08 to play. Then, after the fumble, he threw 8 yards to junior tight end Eric Kattus to clinch the decision with 6:57 left.

Buckeyes quarterback Mike Tomczak threw a 32-yard TD pass to senior flanker Cedric Anderson with 1:52 left, but an onside kick failed. Ohio State got the ball back with 32 seconds to play but it was not enough time to go 80 yards and score.

In other games involving top-20 teams, Texas beat Baylor 24-21. SMU topped Arkansas 17-0. Illinois defeated Northwestern 56-24. Brigham Young walloped Utah 55-7. Iowa downed Minnesota 61-10. Pitt tied Penn State 24-24. West Virginia lost to Syracuse 27-16. Missouri lost to Kansas 37-27, and Boston College routed Holy Cross 47-7.

Florida A&M 35, Eastern Kentucky 10

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Tony Barber ran for three touchdowns Saturday night to lead Florida A&M to a 35-10 upset of Eastern Kentucky's defending NCAA Division IAA national champions.

Barber collected 80 yards with 19 carries, including scoring runs of 19, 2 and 4 yards. Charles Bevel got 71 yards in 12 carries, including a 12-yard touchdown, and split end Ray Alexander caught four passes for 135 yards with a 24-yard touchdown catch.

The Rattlers' defense throttled the visiting Colonels by stealing four passes and recovering a fumble.

Terence Thompson rushed for 100 yards in 15 carries to lead Eastern Kentucky. The Colonels' only scores came on a 20-yard field goal by Jamie Lovett late in the first period and when Bobby Scannell recovered a blocked punt in the end zone for a third quarter touchdown.

Florida A&M, 7-4, has won five of its last six games and is hoping for a playoff bid to be announced Sunday. Eastern Kentucky, finishing its regular season at 7-2-1 has won the Ohio Valley Conference which assures them a spot in the division playoffs.

MIAMI (UPI) — The fourth-ranked Miami Hurricanes waited impatiently Saturday for a long-awaited invitation to play Nebraska in the 50th Orange Bowl Classic Jan. 2.

The Hurricanes staged a block party at Mark Light baseball stadium with bands, fireworks and team introductions and speeches as they waited for Orange Bowl Committee members to arrive at 6 p.m. and extend the invitation.

Indian River Routs SCC In Overtime

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

If overtimes were five minutes longer, Seminole Community College might have had a chance to get back on track Saturday night at SCC. Instead, after a 62-62 tie at the end of regulation, Indian River's Pioneers scored six straight points at the beginning of overtime and went on to outscore the Raiders, 19-6, en route to a 81-68 victory and the Raider Tournament title.

"They (Indian River) scored six right away and we had to scramble around," SCC coach Bill Payne said. "We got all disoriented and couldn't get back into it."

SCC now stands at 3-2 for the season and will be back in action Monday night at 7:30 as it hosts Eckerd College's junior varsity. The Raiders are at Florida College on Tuesday. Indian River improved its record to 7-0.

Although the game was pretty even until the overtime period, a strong rebounding edge and numerous SCC turnovers enabled the Pioneers to stay right with the Raiders. Indian River outrebounded SCC, 48-34, and the Raiders committed 21 turnovers, 13 of them bad passes. Indian River also had a big advantage at the free throw line, making 17 of 29 compared to only 4 of 5 for SCC.

Indian River's Ron Wilkerson, who scored 14 points in regulation, added nine in overtime and wound up the game's high scorer with 23 points and he also grabbed eight rebounds. Louis Murrillo added 17 points for the Pioneers and pulled down a game-high 19 rebounds. Tyrone Thigpen added 17 points and eight rebounds and former Martin County all-star Mike Bethel tossed in 13 points and grabbed nine boards.

Luis Phelps had a fine game for the Raiders with 17 points and 12 rebounds. Delvin Everett added 16 points and pulled down five boards. Jimmy Payton netted 14 points and Bernard Merthie added 12 points and six rebounds.

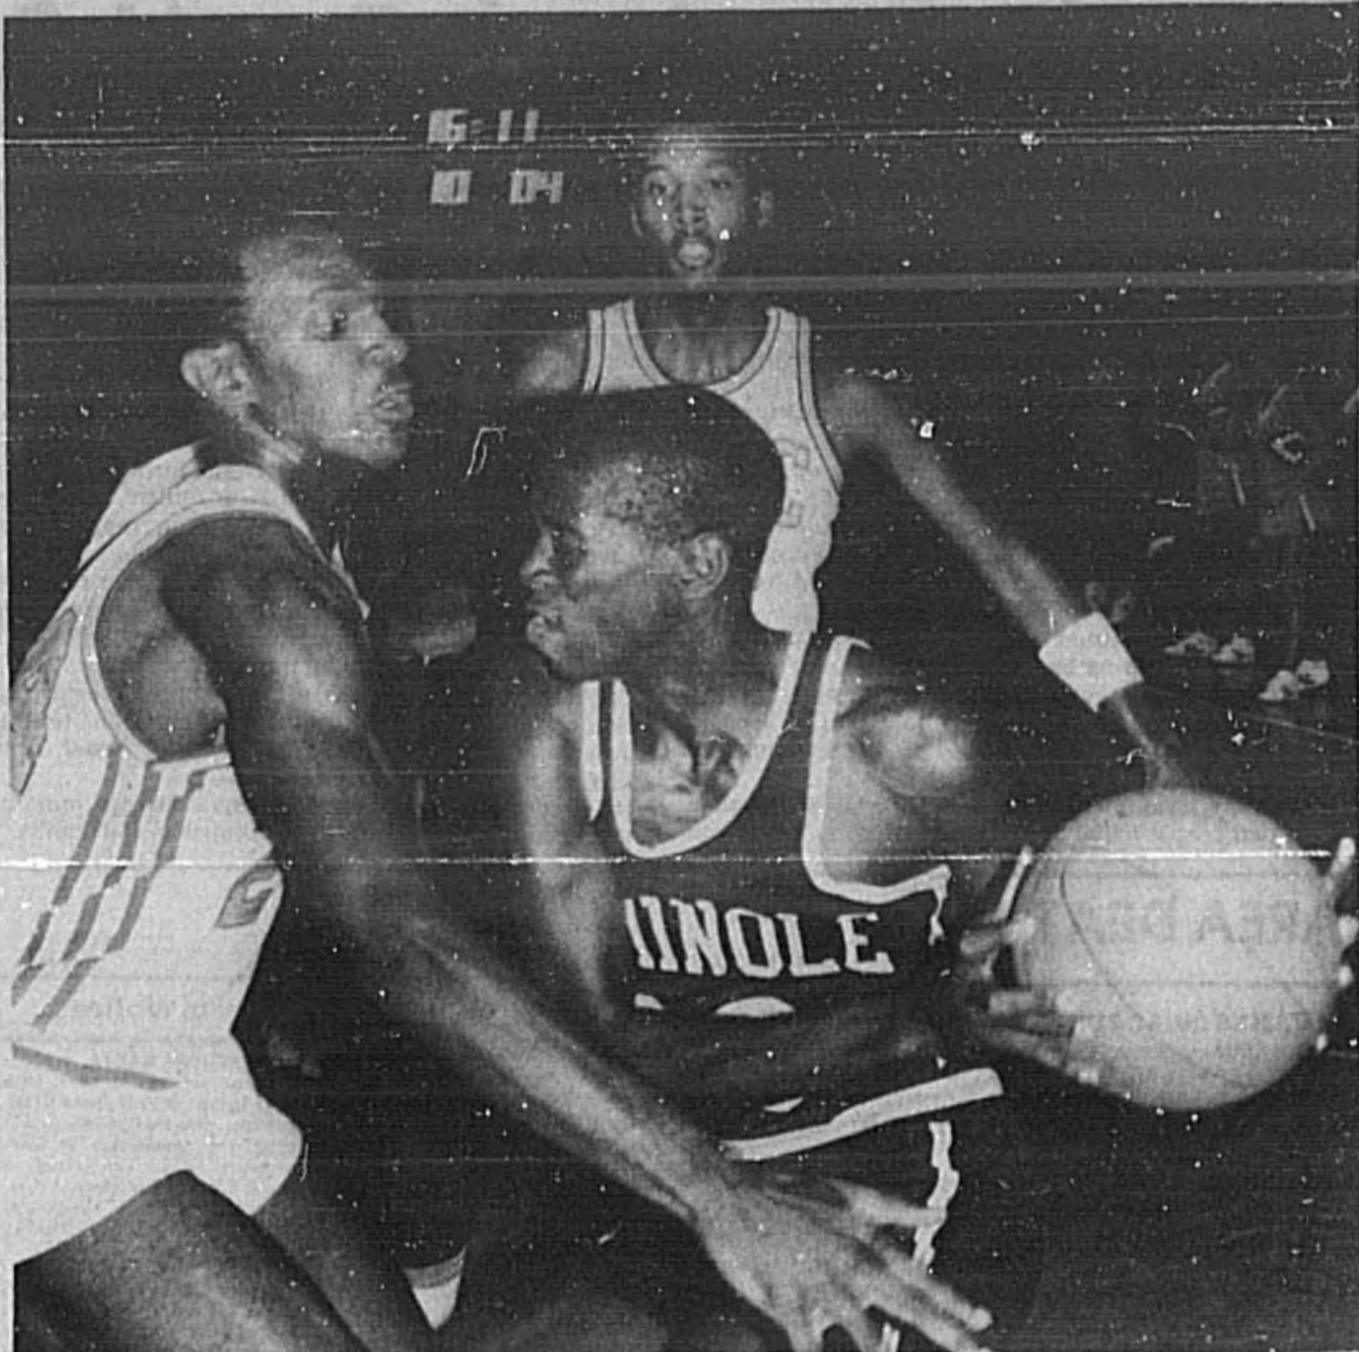

Neither team had an exceptional night shooting as the Raiders hit 32 of 72 shots for 44 percent and the Pioneers made 32 of 75 for 43 percent.

"We played pretty well," Payne said. "But, Indian River has a good team. We get to play them two more times, so it should be interesting."

Indian River (81) — McClellan 4-10 1-2 9. Wilkerson 8-14 7-9 23. Thigpen 8-24 1-2 17. Murrillo 6-10 5-7 17. Bethel 5-10 3-7 13. Henderson 0-4 0-0 0. Holman 1-3 0-2 2. Totals: 32-75 (43%) 17-29 81.

SCC (68) — Phillips 0-2 0-0 0. Payton 7-13 0-0 14. Grace 2-10 1-2 5. Tolbert 2-5 0-0 4. Johnson 0-1 0-0 0. Merthie 6-17 0-0 12. Everett 7-11 2-2 16. Phelps 8-13 1-1 17. Totals: 32-72 (44%) 14-58.

Halftime score: Indian River 27, SCC 26. Regulation score: Indian River 62, SCC 62. Total fouls: Indian River 13, SCC 22. Fouled out: Merthie, Payton. Technicals: none.

Jordan, Perkins Earn North Carolina No. 1 Ranking

NEW YORK (UPI) — The University of North Carolina, a proud piece of college basketball's aristocracy, was named the No. 1 team in the country Saturday in preseason balloting by United Press International's Board of Coaches.

Having won an NCAA title in 1982 and coming within one game of the Final Four last season, the Tar Heels have two All-Americans in Michael Jordan and Sam Perkins to punctuate a team strong up front and deep on the bench.

In an exceptionally close vote by the 42 coaches, North Carolina received 19 first-place votes and 568 total points to edge Kentucky by three points. The Wildcats, who at last return center Sam Bowie to form perhaps the nation's best frontline, received 16 first-place votes and 565 points.

No. 3 is Georgetown with two first-place votes and 460 points and No. 4 is

College Basketball

Houston with four first-place votes and 401 points. Iowa finished No. 5 in the voting with 393 points.

Rounding out the Top 10, it's No. 6 Memphis State, No. 7 Louisville, No. 8 UCLA, No. 9 Maryland and No. 10 Arkansas.

North Carolina, under Coach Dean Smith, went 28-8 last year, ending with a loss to Georgia in the East Regional. The Tar Heels are well equipped for a Final Four trip this season with Jordan, one of the country's most electric players, and Perkins, a soft-shooting 6-9 forward who can also go low.

The two are complemented by forward Matt Doherty, center Brad Dougherty and guard Buzz Peterson. There is also Curtis Hunter and Steve Hale and a killer of a freshman class.

"I don't pay much attention to it," Smith said of the ranking. "We've been ranked before and our players realize this."

Kentucky finally gets back Bowie, a 7-1 center who missed two seasons with a fractured shin bone. He teams with 6-11 Melvin Turpin and 6-9 Kenny Walker on a bruising frontline.

Georgetown attacks with a fury on defense to go with arguably the country's best big man in Patrick Ewing. Houston, which lost the NCAA title game to North Carolina State on a last-second dunk, features a menacing center in Akeem Oluajun and some "Phi Slama Jama" returns.

Iowa has a new coach in George Raveling as well as twin trouble underneath in Michael Payne and Greg Stokes. Memphis State gets another turn with All-America forward Keith Lee. Louisville loses brothers Rodney and Scooter McCray but its backcourt glistens with Lancaster Gordon and Mill Wagner.

UCLA regroups around Kenny Fields and looks toward more production from center Stuart Gray. Maryland has two tough numbers in Adrian Branch and Ben Coleman and Arkansas goes with 6-11 Joe Kleine and guard Alvin Robertson.

Rounding out the Top 20, No. 11 Louisiana State is led by forward Leonard Mitchell. No. 12 Oregon State gets its strength from rugged Charlie Sitton. No. 13 Michigan State brings the good times back with 7-0 Kevin Willis. No. 14 Fresno State, the NIT champ, has forwards Bernard Thompson and Ron Anderson.

Cummings Stuff Squashes Cavaliers — Tessier: Refs Picking On Hawks

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — They say those who fail to learn from their mistakes are destined to repeat them. The Cleveland Cavaliers are bad students.

Terry Cummings stuffed in a half-court pass from Bill Walton with one second remaining Sunday night to give the San Diego Clippers a 99-97 victory over the Cavaliers.

Cummings, with Lonnie Shelton picked off, raced down the right side of the lane, jumped for Walton's inbound toss from the left side and jammed it in.

"Basically, we're not supposed to let him go back-door," said Cleveland guard Geoff Huston. "One man was supposed to stay back, but we missed our assignment."

The Cavaliers, winless in eight consecutive road games, are 2-10 on the season following a 23-59 embarrassment a year ago.

Cleveland led until 1:44 remaining when Norm Nixon hit from outside the foul circle to put San Diego ahead 95-94. But Huston converted two free throws and Phil Hubbard hit another as the Cavaliers took a 97-95 advantage.

Walton dunked with 25 seconds to go to tie the score and rebounded a missed shot from the line by Jeff Cook with four seconds to play. San Diego called a timeout to set up the game-winner.

"If there's such a thing as a perfect pass, that was it," Cummings said. "There were two keys to the play. One was a perfect back-pick by Craig Hodges and the second was the pass. Shelton was guarding me and Craig picked him off."

Walton explained his thinking. "Nixon was the first option," Walton said. "Terry and the lob was the second. Norm had trouble getting open off the pick and it didn't look like he could get off a good shot so I passed that up instantly. I just put the ball up off to the side of the basket and it was there for Terry." Shelton admitted his team was confused.

"I was trying to communicate to my teammates that we were going to switch up on defense," he said. "I looked up and the play had started. We never got a clear understanding of what was happening defensively."

San Diego Coach Jim Lynam said Walton's practice made perfect.

"We practice throwing lob passes to the basket, but to be honest with you, not from 45 to 50 feet away," Lynam said. "Ironically, Walton was practicing the lob during practice today."

Cleveland's World B. Free led all scorers with 25 points. Shelton added 16 and Hubbard 13. Hodges had 20 points for San Diego and Walton had 16.

Orval Tessier thinks the Chicago Black Hawks are suffering from more than just the pending suspension of center Tom Lysiak.

Lysiak is currently playing under a restraining order preventing a 20-game suspension for tripping linesman Ron Foyt on Oct. 30, but after the Minnesota North Stars edged the Black Hawks 4-3 in Chicago Sunday night, Tessier tore into the on-ice officials.

"There's no question in my mind that since the Lysiak incident we've gotten the dirty end of the stick," said the Chicago coach. "The officiating was very poorly done."

Neal Broten's goal with 2:23 left moved Minnesota past Chicago into first place in the Norris Division. Broten scored after Steve Larmer scored twice on third-period power plays to tie it 3-3.

Bill Mahoney, the North Stars' coach, said, "The victory means first place, and it's the first time in a year that we've been there. This was an excellent game."

The North Stars led 2-1 after two periods. Keith Acton scored his second goal of the game at 6:59 to give Minnesota a 3-1 lead. Acton's goal came while the North Stars were short-handed. Al MacAdam poked the puck from a Chicago player and Acton picked it up at the blue line, skated in and beat goaltender Murray Bannerman.

Larmer's first goal, at 8:57 of the third period, came on a pass from Denis Savard. Savard, in the right corner, fed Larmer as he skated in on goalie Don Beaupre. Larmer tied it by knocking in the rebound of Doug Wilson's slapshot at 15:46.

Savard gave Chicago a 1-0 lead in the opening period. Larmer checked the puck away from Minnesota's Brad Maxwell at the blue line. Savard picked up the puck and skated in on goal to beat Beaupre. Acton tied the game at 15:56 on a rebound of Steve Payne's shot, and Payne put Minnesota ahead 2-1 in the second period after taking a pass from Brian Bellows.

In other games, the New York Rangers defeated Quebec 6-5 in overtime. Philadelphia topped Pittsburgh 5-4 in overtime, and Vancouver ripped Los Angeles 8-3.

Rangers 6, Nordiques 5

At New York, Kent-Erik Anderson scored his first goal of the season eight seconds into overtime to carry the Rangers. Quebec goalie Dan Bouchard broke his stick on the ice in anger as he left the rink. Will Palmentieri of the Nordiques scored with 16 seconds left in regulation to force overtime.

Flyers 5, Penguins 4

Bobby Clarke scored off a rebound from in close with 2:43 left in overtime to win it for the Flyers. It extended to 25 games the Flyers' unbeaten streak against the Penguins at the Spectrum.

Another Setback For U.S. In Lebanon

WORLD IN BRIEF

Sweden Checking For KGB-Computer Link

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI) — Swedish authorities said they could block a cargo shipment bound for the Soviet Union if it includes a sophisticated American computer being smuggled by a KGB agent.

Customs officials Sunday stopped movement of four containers at the free port of Helsingborg and said they would examine the cargo today.

The Sunday Times in London said unless the shipments were stopped, the Soviet Union would take delivery of the U.S. computer, which reportedly could be used as a missile guidance system.

He said that whatever happened, it would not leave for "several days."

Part of the same shipment, containing another computer, was impounded by West German authorities in Hamburg last Monday.

The seizure came at the request of U.S. authorities who apparently believed the equipment was being smuggled to the Soviet Union. U.S. law forbids the sale of this equipment to the Soviet Union.

PLO Rebels Closing In

TRIPOLI, Lebanon (UPI) — Guerrillas loyal to Yasser Arafat fought back waves of Syrian-backed rebels only 500 yards from his Tripoli headquarters today and the beleaguered PLO chief charged Israel captured ships carrying him reinforcements.

Arafat said he had accepted a cease-fire four days ago but the Syrians and Syrian-backed rebels opposed to his rule of the Palestine Liberation Organization ignored the gesture.

Arafat acknowledged his troops were under siege by the Syrians and rebel Palestinians and said the Israelis had blocked the Mediterranean coast.

"It is a joint siege. The Israelis have captured three ships from us. One carrying supplies — medical services — and another some of our officers and freedom fighters. They are now in Haifa," Arafat said.

He did not say what the third ship carried or when the three vessels were captured by the Israelis. There was no immediate comment from Israel.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Syria rebuffed U.S. Middle East envoy Donald Rumsfeld and Israel launched new air strikes at Palestinian targets near Beirut, underlining Washington's inability to get foreign troops out of Lebanon.

The almost-routine artillery and small-arms battles between the Syrian-backed Druze Moslem militiamen and Lebanese army soldiers erupted in the mountains nearest Beirut late in the evening Sunday and carried on into today.

The Israeli jets struck Sunday afternoon as Rumsfeld was in Damascus for his first face-to-face attempt to convince Syrian leaders to get their troops out of Lebanon.

One of the Israeli planes that roared to attack targets in the Syrian-controlled Shouf mountains east of Beirut was hit and slammed into the ground on the southeastern outskirts of the capital.

The pilot parachuted safely to earth despite shots being fired at him as he descended, Lebanon's private Central News Agency said. Although Western military sources said there were plans to hold him at least 24 hours, he was abruptly released in the evening and returned home in an Israeli helicopter.

The only casualties reported by official Beirut radio were two people killed in one Druze Moslem family and eight injured in another Druze family. Both families lived in the town of Sofar.

Israel said its air attack Sunday was in retaliation for a number of attacks in occupied southern Lebanon that included a bomb last Thursday in Sidon that killed one Israeli soldier and wounded six.

Western military sources said they initially thought the Israeli attack was aimed at Palestinian artillery but it later appeared it was against "anything Palestinian."

Syria said the attack was aimed against the Druze militia that has fought the Lebanese government since September. The area, from 12-16 miles east of Beirut, contains Palestinian, Druze and Syrian forces.

The attack appeared to signal a return to Israel's previous policy of launching massive air reprisals for individual guerrilla attacks behind Israeli lines.

Rumsfeld, the third U.S. emissary of the year to try to negotiate the withdrawal of foreign troops from Lebanon, received a cool reception on his first talks with Syrian Foreign Minister Abdul Halim Khaddam.

"Syria's foreign policy is immovable regarding Lebanon," Syrian radio quoted Khaddam telling Rumsfeld, repeating its demand that Israel first withdraw from Lebanon unconditionally.

Israel refuses to withdraw while Syrian troops remain, but is suffering a steady toll from ambushes and bombs.

Donald Rumsfeld ... expression on the U.S. Middle East envoy's face indicates the kind of reception he received from the Syrians during negotiations on the removal of foreign troops from Lebanon

The Reason Why

Having feelings is one of the things that makes us human... and our feelings need to be expressed. One of the reasons for funeral service is to enable family and friends to express their sorrow at a time of loss.

In And Around Longwood

CC To Hear 'Thankful' Refugee

The Longwood/Winter Springs Chamber of Commerce will meet on Monday, Nov. 28, at the Quality Inn North, Highway 434 and Interstate 4, at 12 noon. This general membership meeting will include a luncheon buffet for $3.75.

Special guest speaker will be Richard Veranes, a Cuban refugee who fled from his homeland at the time that Fidel Castro came into power. The general public is invited to come and hear Richard share his heartwarming story, as he speaks on, "What It Means to be Really Thankful," not only at Thanksgiving, but to live in and be an American.

Coming up: the chamber will hold its annual Christmas Banquet on Dec. 3. Guest speaker will be Glen Martin, CLU-ChFC. Mr. Martin will share his thoughts on success in business and business growth in store for the central Florida area.

Included in this banquet will be the official installation of the chamber's newly elected officers.

Longwood has recently received a new resident. Moving back into the area is Carolyn Humphreys. Carolyn, who studied music in Melbourne, went up to the Black Mountains of North Carolina where she taught music and put on musical workshops.

An ordained minister with the Church of the New Age Thought, Carolyn is a gifted pianist. As a young musician, she struggled trying to play piano and had to completely memorize music before she could play. Now, she just sits down, and plays music from her soul. Welcome back, Carolyn.

Rock Lake Middle School has been designated by the Florida Department of Education as the recipient of an Environmental Education Mini-Grant.

The grant of $2,000 was obtained through the efforts of Mr. Thomas Butler, an eighth grade teacher in the school's Science Department. The funds will be used to develop an "outdoor" education area at the edge of the school's lake.

While primarily designed to permit environmental study of the lake, its emergent shoreline and the remains of the adjacent grove, the site will be used in many other ways. The plans call for the construction of a dock, a nature trail and an amphitheater. This will provide seating for classes in art, creative writing, special American history presentations and other activities.

Detailed plans for the outdoor educational area will be finalized this month. Actual construction is planned to start after the first of next year, following approval of county and school authorizations. Construction will be carried out by local United States Army Reservists and parent volunteers under supervision of the Science Department.

For further information, contact Mr. Butler at the school.

During the latter part of October, Longwood Elementary School held a 1.6 mile "cross country track run" on the school grounds.

Competing in the event were students from Sabal Point, English Estates, Dommerich and Winter Springs Elementary Schools, who were invited to compete against the students from Longwood Elementary. Over 155 boys and girls showed up to take part of the track run.

Everyone who finished the race received either a ribbon, certificate, or trophy from David Scott, Longwood Elementary principal. Freedom Bank of Longwood helped sponsor the races while Longwood Elementary School physical education coach Mike Platt planned and organized the run. According to coach Platt, any school wishing to participate in future runs should contact him at the school by calling 831-6700.

The results of the races are as follows: boys, 8 years old and under: first place, Hubert McGuire (S.P.) second place, Clinton Scheels (W.S.); third, Steve Platt (L.E.); fourth, Tommy Denning (D.E.).

Boys, 9 years old: first, Brian Grzyb (S.P.); second, David Hudiek (W.S.); third, Jamie Shalls; fourth, Owen Poolee (W.S.).

Boys, 10 years old: first, Ryan Welch (D.E.); second, Eddie Scheer (S.P.); third, Marcus Egan (L.E.); fourth, Paul Marmon (W.S.).

Boys, 11 years old: first, Tommy Branell (L.E., who broke age group record); second, Matt Ely (W.S.); third, Glen Leslie (L.E.); fourth, Charlie Chapman (L.E.).

Girls, 8 years old and under: first, Carrie Peterson (L.E., who broke age group record); second, Elsa Miller (S.P.); third, Martha Teague (D.E.); fourth, Jenny Conway (W.S.).

Girls, 9 years old: first, Ryan Pauley (S.P., who broke age group record); second, Meghan McCarthy (D.E.); third, Missy Rivera (L.E.); fourth, Becky Delsile (L.E.).

Girls 10 years old: first, Shellie Ross (W.S.); second, Heather Pope (L.E.); third, Shannon Wise (W.S.); fourth, Brigette Finkelstein (S.P.).

Girls 11 years old: first, Leashoda Hill (D.E.); second, Kim Bean (L.E.); third, Janell Hopkins (L.E.); fourth, Tammy Ivey (L.E.).

Runaway Hotline Brings Parents Peace Of Mind

DEAR ABBY: I am enclosing your column of Nov. 17, 1981, with a request that you please run it again. It changed our lives.

ALSO GRATEFUL IN ILLINOIS

DEAR ALSO: With pleasure.

DEAR ABBY: Our problem daughter, not quite 17, ran away from home 14 months ago. She had been giving us a tough time for about a year — skipping school, staying out late and lying to us constantly. After a noisy scene, she stormed out of the house with only the clothes on her back. We didn't have a clue as to where she went. Only a parent who has lived through this kind of nightmare can realize what we went through. After a year of heartaches and sleepless nights, we were told by the police to give up and assume she was dead. But parents never give up. We continued to search and hope and pray that she'd return to us one day.

Well, our prayers were answered when, out of the blue, we received a telephone call from someone who said he was a volunteer with Runaway Hotline (formerly Operation Peace of Mind) in Houston. (We live in Michigan.) We were told that our daughter had read of the toll-free number in "Dear Abby" and she wanted to let us know that she was well and happy in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. The volunteer said our daughter would call him again on the following morning in case we had a message for her.

We told him we would welcome a collect call from her. Sure enough, she called us the next day! She sounded wonderful and said she was working and was going to night school to finish her education. This story has a happy ending. Our daughter is coming for Christmas!

Abby, will you please publish that toll-free number again so other runaway kids can establish communications with their families? Our daughter said that she had seen your column with the number posted near telephones where runaways hang out.

Dear Abby

We will never be able to thank you enough for giving us the happiest holiday we've ever had!

GRATEFUL IN MICHIGAN
With pleasure. Runaways, call this toll-free number: 1-800-231-6946. If in Texas, use this number: 1-800-392-3352.

An operator will take your call and telephone your parents anywhere in the United States with a message from you. There will be no lecturing or recriminations. Your call will not be traced. And only one question will be asked: "Do you need anything?" If you do, you will be told where you can get it, free. I repeat, no attempt will be made to contact you or bring you back home — regardless of your age.

If you are a runaway, I beg you to forget the past and send a message to your parents now. They will sleep better tonight and so will you. And you will all have the best holiday season you've had in years. God bless you. — ABBY

P.S. Runaway Hotline was established 10 years ago by a handful of public-spirited volunteers with the support of the governor of Texas. To date it has placed over 600,000 calls from runaways, assuring their families that they are OK. Beautiful!

(Problem? Write to Abby, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Smorgasbord Toppings Lend Culinary Strategy

Hosting family and friends at holiday time will be even more fun than usual for the hostess if a simple yet effective strategy is employed from the start.

The Scandinavian smorgasbord concept works beautifully to meet that objective since it keeps the time spent in the kitchen during the party to an absolute minimum. A number of lavish and tempting dishes, kept hot in chafing dishes or chilled on a bed of ice, are used as toppings for baked Idaho potatoes. America's favorite spud is available now in plentiful supply in your supermarkets.

To make sure your smorgasbord is a hit, use these other entertaining tips:

- Three weeks before your event, make separate lists for everything: ingredients, supplies, decorations, even what you will be wearing. Post them on refrigerator or bulletin board.

- One to two days before your party, the cooking starts. Refrigerate recipes directly in serving dishes. Gently reheat those to be served hot to be ready approximately one-half hour before your first guest is to arrive.

CREAMY HERRING TOPPING

1 jar (16 ounces) herring tidbits in cream sauce, cut in pieces

1 cup thinly sliced, unpeeled cucumber, cut in pieces

1 medium carrot, shredded

2 tablespoons chopped, fresh dill or ¼ teaspoon dried dill weed

4 Idaho potatoes

In medium bowl combine herring with sauce, cucumber, carrot and dill; mix well. Cover. Chill. Scrub potatoes, dry and prick with a fork. Bake in a 425°F. oven 55 to 65 minutes, until soft. When potatoes are cooked, cut an "X" in the top with a fork. Push some of the potato up with slight pressure of the fingers. Spoon herring mixture over each potato. Yield: 4 servings.

POTATOES A LA LINDSTROM

4 Idaho potatoes

1 pound ground beef

½ cup chopped pickled beets, well drained

¼ cup chopped onion

3 tablespoons capers, drained, divided

1 egg, lightly beaten

¾ cup heavy cream, divided

½ teaspoon salt

¼ teaspoon pepper

2 tablespoons vegetable oil

1¼ cups beef broth, divided

1 tablespoon cornstarch

2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Scrub potatoes, dry and prick with a fork. Bake in a 425°F. oven 55 to 65 minutes, until soft.

Meanwhile prepare potato topping. In medium bowl combine beef, beets, onion, capers, egg, ¼ cup heavy cream, salt and pepper; mix well. Shape into meatballs 1 inch in diameter. In large skillet heat oil; brown meatballs evenly. Shake pan during frying to help keep balls round. Remove balls; keep hot. Add 1 cup broth and remaining ½ cup heavy cream to skillet; bring to a boil, scraping up bits from bottom of pan. Combine cornstarch with remaining ¼ cup broth; add to skillet, stirring constantly, until mixture boils and thickens. Return meatballs to skillet; heat. When potatoes are cooked, cut an "X" in the top with a fork. Push some of the potato up with slight pressure of the fingers. Spoon meatballs over each potato. Garnish with chopped parsley. Yield: 4 servings.

Brighten Holiday Buffet With A Savory Pudding

Buffet-style meals are holiday party favorites for guest and hostess alike. An attractive table of festive foods, surrounded by linens, silver and seasonal decorations, offers an enticing setting for your company and frees you to have a good time as well.

Savory puddings are perfect for buffets because they are baked and served in the same dish to accommodate ease in preparation. They also have excellent keeping proerties, great for leisurely dining and late guests. While puddings are often considered a sweet, these savory ones serve nicely as side dishes for main courses.

Savory Rice Pudding is an elegant casserole of rice, Gruyere and Parmesan cheeses and tender, sweet red pepper bits, bound by a light custard, flavored with Tabasco pepper sauce. Decorated with crisp bacon strips and dotted with chopped parsley and scallions, it makes a colorful addition to any party. Another crowd-pleaser is Savory Noodle Pudding, an adaptation of Kugel, an ethnic, middle-European specialty. Noodle Kugels are either made with cottage cheese and sour cream or with fruit. This version is a dairy noodle pudding, lightly seasoned with poppy seeds and Tabasco pepper sauce. Served bubbly hot and golden brown, this simple-to-prepare pudding will go with almost any entree.

In choosing main courses for a buffet table, include a red meat such as roast beef and a white meat like turkey or pork. The addition of two or three relishes, a hot vegetable and dessert will ensure an ample, well-balanced meal. To keep serving plates at a minimum, cookies and other holiday finger sweets are good choices for dessert.

Giving some thought to logistics will also make your event flow more easily. For example, put twin dishes on each side of your table to keep serving lines moving. Leave plenty of space between platters for comfortable movement. When setting the table, it is important to arrange your linens, tableware and food in logical order and make certain that a serving fork or spoon is beside each dish.

With these tips and a menu of simple, delicious, attention-free foods, you'll be on your way to gala, yet tension-free entertaining.

SAVORY RICE PUDDING

1/4 pound sliced bacon
1 medium-size red pepper, coarsely chopped
2 cloves garlic, minced
1 1/2 cups cooked rice
1/4 cup chopped scallion
1/4 cup chopped parsley
3/4 cup shredded Gruyere cheese, divided
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce

In medium skillet cook bacon. Remove and set aside; reserve 1 tablespoon bacon fat. In same skillet saute red pepper and garlic until crisp-tender. In a 2-quart baking dish or casserole combine rice, scallion, parsley, 1/2 cup Gruyere cheese, Parmesan cheese and sauteed pepper. Combine eggs, milk and Tabasco sauce; stir into rice mixture. Top with remaining 1/4 cup Gruyere cheese. Bake in a 350°F oven 30 minutes. Arrange cooked bacon slices on top. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

SAVORY NOODLE PUDDING

1 package (8 ounces) medium egg noodles
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 1/2 cups chopped onion
1 cup shredded carrot
1 cup sour cream
1 cup cottage cheese
3 eggs, lightly beaten
1/4 cup chopped parsley
2 teaspoons poppy seeds
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce

Cook noodles according to package directions; drain. In medium skillet melt butter; saute onion and carrot until tender. In large bowl combine noodles, sour cream, cottage cheese, eggs, parsley, poppy seeds, salt, Tabasco sauce and sauteed vegetables; mix well. Spoon into a buttered 2 1/2-quart shallow baking dish. Bake in a 350°F oven 40 to 45 minutes until top is golden and pudding is set. Yield: 8 servings.

Dieters' Holiday Feasting

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — It seems the best of Christmas memories always center around family gatherings for traditional feasts.

The parade of steaming, aromatic dishes from the kitchen begins: Crisp-skinned turkey, mouth-watering ham, rich brown gravies, sweet potatoes and yams, dressing, fruitcakes, cookies and other baked delights. Pick up a fork and the magic begins.

Wonderful — except for people on medical diets.

"If somebody has just been placed on a special diet, it's extremely difficult to adjust" to holiday feasting, says Donna Kittridge, chief dietitian for Presbyterian-University Hospital in Pittsburgh.

"You're really changing somebody's tradition at that point."

Still, Ms. Kittridge said, people on medical diets, who must watch their intake of salt, sugar or other substances, can enjoy holiday meals.

"As far as a diabetic diet goes, you could essentially have a whole meal with your family without changing the menu at all," she said.

Sugar substitutes can be used in baking, with recipes developed especially for them.

"As far as your turkey, dressing, mashed potatoes, vegetables, the biggest factor here would be for the patient to select from them all in the correct portion sizes," she said.

Ms. Kittridge said meals for individuals on salt-free diets require a bit more planning.

"Some of your typical seasonings that you can use are readily available, but people don't rely on them because they're not used to cooking with them instead of salt."

She said sage can be substituted for salt in turkey dressing, dehydrated onions can be used instead of onion salt, poultry seasoning mixes and rosemary for turkeys. Salt-cured ham should be avoided.

Ms. Kittridge said anyone starting a special diet should consult a dietitian "just to get some reliable information, for example, on how to make substitutes so they can eat with their family instead of making something separate for themselves."

For dinners out, she said, many restaurants will prepare certain dishes without salt, sugar, butter or other ingredients if they are contacted in advance.

To make herb tea from fresh leaves, measure three teaspoons leaves to a cup of boiling water. Bruise the leaves, steep them and then strain from the liquid.

Execution

UM Dropout Center Of Latest Battle Over Death Penalty

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Attorney General Jim Smith believes Robert A. Sullivan will die in the electric chair this month as scheduled and plans a vigorous legal fight to see that it happens.

But anti-death penalty leaders believe Sullivan, like all Florida death row inmates listed on death warrants since 1979, will win a stay so federal courts can examine his case again. Many of them think Sullivan ultimately will be proven innocent.

Sullivan, 36, a University of Miami dropout who is the adopted son of a Boston surgeon, is scheduled to die in the electric chair at Florida State Prison near Starke at 7 a.m. on Nov. 29.

The first inmate sent to Florida's death row since the state re-enacted its capital punishment statute in 1972, Sullivan was condemned for the 1973 slaying of Donald Schmidt, 39.

The victim was an assistant manager of a Howard Johnson's motel-restaurant in Homestead. The state said Sullivan and an accomplice abducted the victim during a robbery and took him to the Everglades, where Sullivan struck him in the head with a tire iron and shot him four times with a shotgun.

"Robert Sullivan clearly is the person on death row that is most likely to have his execution take place."

Smith told reporters last week even as the electrocution of another inmate, Stephen Todd Booker, was pending.

The attorney general added: "At this point, I think, most honestly, I'd have to say I would be mildly surprised if it did not take place."

Smith said he would dispatch his assistants throughout the court systems to fight any stays that are issued. The last time the state challenged issued stays was in the case of John Spenklink, who was electrocuted May 25, 1979, for slaying a traveling companion.

Elected state officials have made forecasts similar to Smith's more than once in recent years. Members of the Florida Clearinghouse on Criminal Justice, an anti-death penalty group which coordinates most death row defenses, believe Smith will be proven wrong.

"I'm telling folks I think we'll get a stay," said Scharlotte Holdman, the group's director.

She said Sullivan's legal status is very similar to that of Booker, whose execution was stayed late Thursday by U.S. District Judge Maurice Paul in Tallahassee.

Sullivan, described in court papers as a heavy drinker who visited gay bars, has twice appealed his case through the state courts and once through the federal courts without success. But his new attorneys believe they have new information that they say casts doubt on Sullivan's guilt.

His new petition raises several constitutional issues but centers on a claim that his initial lawyers could have found witnesses to corroborate his claim that he was elsewhere at the time of the crime.

Police said Sullivan confessed to the murder after his arrest and told one detective, "I always wanted to commit a murder."

Investigators said Sullivan sought to commit the perfect crime.

This account conflicts with the impressions of Roman Catholic Bishop Rene H. Gracia, formerly of the Pensacola-Tallahassee diocese now of Corpus Christi, Texas, who once ministered to Sullivan, a Catholic, on death row.

The clergyman believes the murder victim's credit cards and wallet were left in Sullivan's apartment by two men who were staying with him and actually committed the crime. One of them testified against Sullivan, served a prison term as the accomplice and is now free.

"My intuition was — and is — that he is innocent," the bishop said.

Who's Responsible For Defense Spending, Anyway?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Serious problems are built into every phase of the defense budget process, leaving nobody responsible for the long-term consequences of defense spending choices, a study by Common Cause charges.

"The defense budget process is plagued by deeply entrenched institutional and political weaknesses," said the 90-page study, "Defense Dollars and Sense." "As a result, the defense budget may be nearly immune to public participation and may reflect poorly our stated national security needs."

The study said it is often unclear, whether weapons purchased are consistent with stated U.S. military and foreign policy goals, or whether the defense budget reflects balanced domestic and foreign policy needs.

The recent debate over the MX nuclear missile made clear that certain budget choices — in this case, the mere possession of a new, multiple-warhead intercontinental weapon — can have vital strategic implications, the study said.

Congress is finishing up work on a 1984 defense budget that will exceed $250 billion, including nuclear programs operated by the Energy Department.

Common Cause cited as the most serious problems:

- Congress is incapable of assessing the relationship between defense goals and spending choices due to haphazard and overlapping distribution of responsibility among committees, short-range focus and poor information management.
- There is fierce competition among the Air Force, Army, Navy and Marines that leads to distorted notions of strategy, duplication of weapons and poor coordination. That alone could waste up to $50 billion annually.
- The Joint Chiefs of Staff are incapable of overcoming their individual biases toward their own branches of service, so their advice is not very useful.
- Defense Department cost estimates are too inaccurate for Congress to make intelligent judgments about the cost effectiveness of new weapons.
- Lobbying by defense contractors is so sophisticated that it often draws congressional attention away from the merits of military spending issues.

—The executive branch typically has limited control over the defense establishment due to a lack of experience and brief stays in office.

—Members of Congress often use the defense budget as a "pork barrel" to provide jobs and revenue in their home districts or states.

Those obstacles make the budget process immune to citizen input, the study said, and Americans have little choice but to accept the annual defense budget.

Common Cause suggested establishing clearer, more realistic defense goals; rethinking roles and missions among the military services; reforming the joint chiefs; canceling unnecessary and low-priority weapons systems, and improved cost estimating.

Between God And Motorcycles Among The Aleuts

By Andrew MacLeod

ST. PAUL ISLAND, Alaska (UPI) — The Rev. Alvin Capener, who came to the wind-raked Pribilof Islands 17 years ago to minister to the largest Aleut community in the world, spends most of his time working on motorcycles.

The 68-year-old Capener did not start out in the motorcycle business, nor is he a cycle enthusiast.

As he had done before in several Alaskan bush communities, Capener first built a small green and white Assembly of God chapel in the village 800 miles west of Anchorage in the Bering Sea, and prepared to preach.

No one came.

People flocked, however, to his tool- and parts-lined garage for repairs, advice, rentals and sales of all-terrain motorcycles. In a village with few private vehicles and 35 miles of roads, Capener is a popular man.

"The largest part of my ministry is in the garage," said Capener, who has forgone the suit of a preacher for the blue, oil-resistant garb of a mechanic. "We know everybody in the community now because the contact through this (motorcycle) business."

Capener, a gray-haired native of South Dakota who has spent 39 years in Alaska, has been supported in his temporal endeavors by his superiors.

"They don't frown on this at all," the deep-voiced, slow-speaking preacher said. "They say, 'If it brings you in contact with the people, then more power to you.'"

Developing contact with 540 Aleuts on St. Paul, who compose the largest settlement of the 3,000 Aleuts in the world, has been a slow process.

In part because of the general wariness that a small, tight-knit, isolated community has of outsiders and partly because of the strong pull Aleuts have to the Russian Orthodox Church, Capener has had little luck in spreading his brand of charismatic Christianity.

"If I were thinking of (my ministry) in the terms of business, I would consider it a total failure," he said. "But we have established a presence in the community."

Ties to the Orthodox Church are a cornerstone of the Aleut culture on the Pribilofs, five small islands, only two of which are inhabited.

The bond runs back two centuries when Russian fur traders enslaved Aleuts on the Aleutian Chain and brought them to the Pribilofs to harvest the islands' rich northern fur seal population.

VD Bacteria Causes Sore Throats, Researchers Say

BOSTON (UPI) — The same bacteria that causes a common form of venereal disease may be the major cause of adult sore throats, and the same antibiotic could be used to fight both illnesses, medical researchers report.

Writing in the current issue of Science magazine, a team of Boston doctors said they have identified chlamydia trachomatis and Mycoplasma pneumoniae bacteria as a major cause of sore throats. Together, the two bugs are probably responsible for 30 percent of all scratchy throats in American adults, they said.

The chlamydia bacteria is also the leading cause of sexually transmitted disease in the United States.

Medical scientists previously believed that sore throats were either caused by a virus or a strep bacteria.

The antibiotic erythromycin is known to be effective against both chlamydia and mycoplasma bacteria and if further studies verify their findings, the same drug also may help cure many sore throats, the researchers said.

Both Drs. Anthony L. Komaroff of Brigham and Women's Hospital and Mark D. Aronson of Beth Israel Hospital, who headed the study, cautioned against expanding the use of antibiotics, however, until more is known about the role of both germs.

The drugs sometimes produce side effects that might be worse than the ailment and increase the drug resistance of bacteria so the medicine might not be as effective in fighting more life-threatening diseases, they warned.

As a venereal disease, chlamydia affects an estimated 2 to 3 million adults. If untreated, it can cause infertility and other serious complications.

Among males, chlamydia causes discharge and burning on urination. In females, there are no symptoms until the infection causes complications, such as pelvic inflammatory disease. Symptoms include menstrual irregularity.

Komaroff said doctors previously overlooked the two forms of bacteria in favor of viruses and strep bacteria as the causes of sore throats.

"We used to assume that any sore throat that wasn't caused by strep was caused by a virus," he said.

Viruses are not easily treatable and most doctors simply allow viral throat infections to run their course. Strep throat is treatable with the antibiotic penicillin, but penicillin is not very effective against these other two bacteria, Komaroff said.

Shots For Flu And Pneumonia Called Essential For Over-65s

ATLANTA (UPI) — An estimated 55,000 Americans will die of bacterial pneumonia and 30,000 will succumb to influenza this year, a fact that is prompting doctors to urge the elderly and chronically ill to get early immunizations.

"The time to get immunizations against influenza and pneumococcal pneumonia is now," said Dr. Richard Duma, a director of the National Foundation for Infectious Diseases.

Cases of influenza and pneumonia (often a fatal complication of the flu) begin to rise in November, reach a peak in December or January, and begin to decline in March, said Duma, who is on a nationwide tour urging people at high risk of the two diseases to get vaccinated.

"There are two vaccines available that can protect you against both ailments. But it takes from two to four weeks after injection for them to become effective," he said.

Influenza-pneumonia is the fifth leading cause of death in the United States, surpassed by heart disease, cancer, strokes and accidents.

This is the third year that Duma and other physicians associated with the non-profit foundation have toured the country publicizing the value of immunization, particularly for the elderly and those with chronic diseases. Individuals in these groups, said Duma, are the ones most likely to die of flu or pneumonia.

"I guess the tragic part about the whole thing is that these deaths are basically preventable," Duma said. "We have a vaccine that is 90 percent effective in preventing 23 different kinds of pneumococcal pneumonia. The influenza vaccine is rated at 60-70 percent effective."

The death rate from pneumococcal pneumonia, which causes half of the estimated 1 million pneumonia cases in this country annually, is 2½ times greater for people aged 65 to 74. And for people between the ages of 75 and 84, the mortality rate is 10 times greater.

Despite the threat of influenza and pneumonia to the 60 million Americans in the high risk categories, Duma said only 15-20 percent are getting flu shots and only 10 percent are getting vaccinated against pneumonia.

Both vaccines are safe, have few side effects and can be given in one visit to a doctor's office or clinic, Duma said. The pneumonia vaccine gives protection for at least five years, and perhaps for a lifetime, but the influenza vaccine must be administered annually.

Duma said Medicare will now provide payment for the reasonable cost of vaccination against pneumococcal pneumonia.

Many people incorrectly believe influenza and a bad cold are the same thing, but Duma said, "You can't equate the flu with a cold. It's not in the same league at all."

Influenza is a debilitating respiratory disease and is far more severe than a cold, he said. It can weaken the body's resistance to other infection, particularly pneumonia.

Execution

UM Dropout Center Of Latest Battle Over Death Penalty

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Attorney General Jim Smith believes Robert A. Sullivan will die in the electric chair this month as scheduled and plans a vigorous legal fight to see that it happens.

But anti-death penalty leaders believe Sullivan, like all Florida death row inmates listed on death warrants since 1979, will win a stay so federal courts can examine his case again. Many of them think Sullivan ultimately will be proven innocent.

Sullivan, 36, a University of Miami dropout who is the adopted son of a Boston surgeon, is scheduled to die in the electric chair at Florida State Prison near Starke at 7 a.m. on Nov. 29.

The first inmate sent to Florida's death row since the state re-enacted its capital punishment statute in 1972, Sullivan was condemned for the 1973 slaying of Donald Schmidt, 39.

The victim was an assistant manager of a Howard Johnson's motel-restaurant in Homestead. The state said Sullivan and an accomplice abducted the victim during a robbery and took him to the Everglades, where Sullivan struck him in the head with a tire iron and shot him four times with a shotgun.

"Robert Sullivan clearly is the person on death row that is most likely to have his execution take place,"

Smith told reporters last week even as the electrocution of another inmate, Stephen Todd Booker, was pending.

The attorney general added: "At this point, I think, most honestly, I'd have to say I would be mildly surprised if it did not take place."

Smith said he would dispatch his assistants throughout the court systems to fight any stays that are issued. The last time the state challenged issued stays was in the case of John Spenkellink, who was electrocuted May 25, 1979, for slaying a traveling companion.

Elected state officials have made forecasts similar to Smith's more than once in recent years. Members of the Florida Clearinghouse on Criminal Justice, an anti-death penalty group which coordinates most death row defenses, believe Smith will be proven wrong.

"I'm telling folks I think we'll get a stay," said Charlotte Holdman, the group's director.

She said Sullivan's legal status is very similar to that of Booker, whose execution was stayed late Thursday by U.S. District Judge Maurice Paul in Tallahassee.

Sullivan, described in court papers as a heavy drinker who visited gay bars, has twice appealed his case through the state courts and once through the federal courts without success. But his new attorneys believe they have new information that they say casts doubt on Sullivan's guilt.

His new petition raises several constitutional issues but centers on a claim that his initial lawyer could have found witnesses to corroborate his claim that he was elsewhere at the time of the crime.

Police said Sullivan confessed to the murder after his arrest and told one detective, "I always wanted to commit a murder."

Investigators said Sullivan sought to commit the perfect crime.

This account conflicts with the impressions of Roman Catholic Bishop Rene H. Gracida, formerly of the Pensacola-Tallahassee diocese now of Corpus Christi, Texas, who once ministered to Sullivan, a Catholic, on death row.

The clergyman believes the murder victim's credit cards and wallet were left in Sullivan's apartment by two men who were staying with him and actually committed the crime. One of them testified against Sullivan, served a prison term as the accomplice and is now free.

"My intuition was — and is — that he is innocent," the bishop said.

Who's Responsible For Defense Spending, Anyway?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Serious problems are built into every phase of the defense budget process, leaving nobody responsible for the long-term consequences of defense spending choices, a study by Common Cause charges.

"The defense budget process is plagued by deeply entrenched institutional and political weaknesses," said the 90-page study, "Defense Dollars and Sense." "As a result, the defense budget may be nearly immune to public participation and may reflect poorly our stated national security needs."

The study said it is often unclear, whether weapons purchased are consistent with stated U.S. military and foreign policy goals, or whether the defense budget reflects balanced domestic and foreign policy needs.

The recent debate over the MX nuclear missile made clear that certain budget choices — in this case, the mere possession of a new, multiple-warhead intercontinental weapon — can have vital strategic implications, the study said.

Congress is finishing up work on a 1984 defense budget that will exceed $250 billion, including nuclear programs operated by the Energy Department.

Common Cause cited as the most serious problems:

—Congress is incapable of assessing the relationship between defense goals and spending choices due to haphazard and overlapping distribution of responsibility among committees, short-range focus and poor information management.

—The executive branch typically has limited control over the defense establishment due to a lack of experience and brief stays in office.

—Members of Congress often use the defense budget as a "pork barrel" to provide jobs and revenue in their home districts or states.

Those obstacles make the budget process immune to citizen input, the study said, and Americans have little choice but to accept the annual defense budget.

Common Cause suggested establishing clearer, more realistic defense goals; rethinking roles and missions among the military services; reforming the joint chiefs; canceling unnecessary and low-priority weapons systems, and improved cost estimating.

Between God And Motorcycles Among The Aleuts

By Andrew MacLeod

ST. PAUL ISLAND, Alaska (UPI) — The Rev. Alvin Capener, who came to the wind-raked Pribilof Islands 17 years ago to minister to the largest Aleut community in the world, spends most of his time working on motorcycles.

The 68-year-old Capener did not start out in the motorcycle business, nor is he a cycle enthusiast.

As he had done before in several Alaskan bush communities, Capener first built a small green and white Assembly of God chapel in the village 800 miles west of Anchorage in the Bering Sea, and prepared to preach.

No one came.

People flocked, however, to his tool- and parts-lined garage for repairs, advice, rentals and sales of all-terrain

motorcycles. In a village with few private vehicles and 35 miles of roads, Capener is a popular man.

"The largest part of my ministry is in the garage," said Capener, who has foregone the suit of a preacher for the blue, oil-resistant garb of a mechanic. "We know everybody in the community now because the contact through this (motorcycle) business."

Capener, a gray-haired native of South Dakota who has spent 39 years in Alaska, has been supported in his temporal endeavors by his superiors.

"They don't frown on this at all," the deep-voiced, slow-speaking preacher said. "They say, 'If it brings you in contact with the people, then more power to you.'"

Developing contact with 540 Aleuts on St. Paul, who compose the largest settlement of the 3,000 Aleuts in the world, has been a slow process.

In part because of the general wariness that a small, tight-knit, isolated community has of outsiders and partly because of the strong pull Aleuts have to the Russian Orthodox Church, Capener has had little luck in spreading his brand of charismatic Christianity.

"If I were thinking of (my ministry) in the terms of business, I would consider it a total failure," he said. "But we have established a presence in the community."

Ties to the Orthodox Church are a cornerstone of the Aleut culture on the Pribilofs, five small islands, only two of which are inhabited.

The bond runs back two centuries when Russian fur traders enslaved Aleuts on the Aleutian Chain and brought them to the Pribilofs to harvest the islands' rich northern fur seal population.

VD Bacteria Causes Sore Throats, Researchers Say

BOSTON (UPI) — The same bacteria that causes a common form of venereal disease may be the major cause of adult sore throats, and the same antibiotic could be used to fight both illnesses, medical researchers report.

Writing in the current issue of Science magazine, a team of Boston doctors said they have identified chlamydia trachomatis and Mycoplasma pneumoniae bacteria as a major cause of sore throats. Together, the two bugs are probably responsible for 30 percent of all scratchy throats in American adults, they said.

The chlamydia bacteria is also the leading cause of sexually transmitted disease in the United States.

Medical scientists previously believed that sore throats were either caused by a virus or a strep bacteria.

The antibiotic erythromycin is known to be effective against both chlamydia and mycoplasma bacteria and if further studies verify their findings, the same drug also may help cure many sore throats, the researchers said.

Both Drs. Anthony L. Komaroff of Brigham and Women's Hospital and Mark D. Aronson of Beth Israel Hospital, who headed the study, cautioned against expanding the use of antibiotics, however, until more is known about the role of both germs.

The drugs sometimes produce side effects that might be worse than the ailment and increase the drug resistance of bacteria so the medicine might not be as effective in fighting more life-threatening diseases, they warned.

As a venereal disease, chlamydia affects an estimated 2 to 3 million adults. If untreated, it can cause infertility and other serious complications.

Among males, chlamydia causes discharge and burning on urination. In females, there are no symptoms until the infection causes complications, such as pelvic inflammatory disease. Symptoms include menstrual irregularity.

Komaroff said doctors previously overlooked the two forms of bacteria in favor of viruses and strep bacteria as the causes of sore throats.

"We used to assume that any sore throat that wasn't caused by strep was caused by a virus," he said.

Viruses are not easily treatable and most doctors simply allow viral throat infections to run their course. Strep throat is treatable with the antibiotic penicillin, but penicillin is not very effective against these other two bacteria, Komaroff said.

Shots For Flu And Pneumonia Called Essential For Over-65s

ATLANTA (UPI) — An estimated 55,000 Americans will die of bacterial pneumonia and 30,000 will succumb to influenza this year, a fact that is prompting doctors to urge the elderly and chronically ill to get early immunizations.

"The time to get immunizations against influenza and pneumococcal pneumonia is now," said Dr. Richard Duma, a director of the National Foundation for Infectious Diseases.

Cases of influenza and pneumonia (often a fatal complication of the flu) begin to rise in November, reach a peak in December or January, and begin to decline in March, said Duma, who is on a nationwide tour urging people at high risk of the two diseases to get vaccinated.

"There are two vaccines available that can protect you against both ailments. But it takes from two to four weeks after injection for them to become effective," he said.

Influenza-pneumonia is the fifth leading cause of death in the United States, surpassed by heart disease, cancer, strokes and accidents.

This is the third year that Duma and other physicians associated with the non-profit foundation have toured the country publicizing the value of immunization, particularly for the elderly and those with chronic diseases. Individuals in these groups, said Duma, are the ones most likely to die of flu or pneumonia.

"I guess the tragic part about the whole thing is that these deaths are basically preventable," Duma said. "We have a vaccine that is 90 percent effective in preventing 23 different kinds of pneumococcal pneumonia. The influenza vaccine is rated at 60-70 percent effective."

The death rate from pneumococcal pneumonia, which causes half of the estimated 1 million pneumonia cases in this country annually, is 2 1/2 times greater for people aged 65 to 74. And for people between the ages of 75 and 84, the mortality rate is 10 times greater.

Despite the threat of influenza and pneumonia to the 60 million Americans in the high risk categories, Duma said only 15-20 percent are getting flu shots and only 10 percent are getting vaccinated against pneumonia.

Both vaccines are safe, have few side effects and can be given in one visit to a doctor's office or clinic, Duma said. The pneumonia vaccine gives protection for at least five years, and perhaps for a lifetime, but the influenza vaccine must be administered annually.

Duma said Medicare will now provide payment for the reasonable cost of vaccination against pneumococcal pneumonia.

Many people incorrectly believe influenza and a bad cold are the same thing, but Duma said, "You can't equate the flu with a cold. It's not in the same league at all."

Influenza is a debilitating respiratory disease and is far more severe than a cold, he said. It can weaken the body's resistance to other infection, particularly pneumonia.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY NOVEMBER 22, 1983
Your prospects for the coming year look encouraging, provided you have the patience and endurance to see things through to conclusion. Be a finisher as well as a starter.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) While your motives in financial situations may be pure today, those with whom you have to deal might not be operating on your wavelength. Order now: The New Matchmaker wheel and booklet which reveals romantic compatibilities for all signs, tells how to get along with others, finds rising signs, hidden qualities, plus more. Send $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Mail an additional $1 and your zodiac sign for your Scorpio predictions for the year ahead.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Do not make any commitments today if you feel dubious about their outcome, regardless of who pressures you to do so. Use your own judgment.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be careful today not to get off on the wrong foot in any dealings you have with both co-workers or friends. All require tactful handling.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Unless you keep your priorities in order today, you are apt to achieve only a small portion of what you set out to do. Establish your objectives.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Do not swap your high ideals in order to gain your ends today. Poor behavior will cause those whose respect you value to think less of you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Stay within the confines of your own sphere of influence today. If you try to mediate issues beyond your control, you'll find yourself in trouble.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) The outcome of a venture which could exert an influence on your financial means may still be up in the air today. Don't take anything for granted.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Hasty or harsh judgments could lead to your undoing today. You might accomplish your purposes, but alienate others in the process.

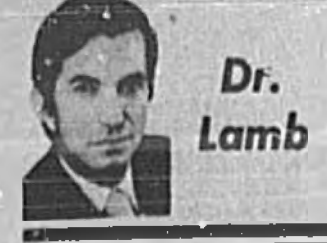

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you expect others to be cooperative and sharing today, you must first set the proper example. They won't give if you don't.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Before becoming too deeply involved with persons you've recently met, take time to get to know them better. They may be liabilities, not assets.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be open and frank today with those you love and trust. However, be a bit guarded around those with whom you have no strong bonds of affection.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Forego thoughts of trying to manipulate others today. If you pull too many strings, you could end up entangling yourself.

Milk Can Sometimes Ease Acid Stomach

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have read that milk is not good for people who have acidity — that it can make matters worse. But I have been plagued with attacks of acidity all my life and if I drink a glass of milk the acidity goes away. Am I doing the wrong thing? I can also get relief by eating something, such as a piece of toast or even a sandwich. Is that harmful? If I can relieve my acidity by a glass of milk, isn't that better than taking medicines to neutralize it? It seems more natural to me.

program is usually the best choice. But you must avoid acid provoking foods and spices.

To give you more information on antacids and food for acidity, I am sending you The Health Letter 8-4, Use and Abuse of Antacids.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Could you explain the symptoms and causes of an ectopic pregnancy? In cases of ectopic pregnancy do the babies ever survive?

DEAR READER — "Ectopic" really means any place except where it is supposed to be. In this case the fertilized ovum is supposed to be implanted in the top of the uterus.

But the fertilized ovum may be implanted in one of the tubes. That is the most common location. And this may occur because the tube is partially blocked from an old infection or endometriosis (displaced endometrial lining of the uterus).

As the developing ovum expands the tube cannot accommodate it. That usually causes a rupture of the tube with bleeding into the abdomen and pain. An ectopic pregnancy should be suspected in any woman who is pregnant or may be pregnant and develops severe abdominal pain. The pain may be confused with acute appendicitis. There often is bleeding into the vagina. The treatment is surgical — to remove the pregnancy. And that surgery is often an emergency because of the bleeding that may occur.

DEAR READER — You can't criticize success. One of the important symptoms of acidity, with or without an ulcer, is the relief the patient experiences when he eats or when he drinks a glass of milk. It certainly does relieve symptoms.

The question is, does it promote healing if you have an ulcer? Calcium does stimulate an increase in hydrochloric acid produced by the stomach. By instilling calcium at various levels it has been determined that when calcium is instilled in the small intestine, bypassing the stomach, it stimulates the acid formation.

But most of the effective antacids tend to neutralize acid and then the stomach simply produces more. But antacids that offer occasional or immediate relief, which include milk, do the job.

If you have persistent acidity you really must see a doctor and find out what you really have and why. It makes a difference in how you should be treated.

One of the most successful ulcer treatments was the Sippy diet. The continuous consumption of milk and cream neutralized the stomach acid and resulted in healing. You might say it depends on how food and milk are used rather than whether it works or not. Food combined with an antacid slips. North will wind up one trick in the soup. A rubber bridge player will complain about losing two out of two finesses; a duplicate player will feel that everyone else will get there and assume an average score."

Oswald: "There is no rule that you have to proceed to your final contract by the most direct route. North planned to get to four spades, but saw no reason not to try a little camouflage along the way. He rebid three clubs. South didn't know exactly what three clubs meant, but South looked at his club honors and 4-3-3-3 distribution and went to three no-trump."

Jim: "The game was match points. North guessed what that three no-trump call meant and passed in an effort to get a top score."

Oswald: "West opened the four of clubs and South took his 10 sure tricks. It wasn't the only North-South plus. A couple of players scrambled home with 10 tricks in spades, but the extra 10 points for no-trump produced a clean top."

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby
Oswald: "Simple, normal bidding with the North-South cards gets North to four spades quicker than you can say 'Ely Culbertson'."

Jim: "East has a normal 10 of clubs lead against four spades and eventually, unless the defense
