Roosevelt Holds Off On Devaluing Dollar Until Many Details Of Act Are Arranged

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(A.P.)—Both Houses having disposed of the monetary bill they argued also about the St. Lawrence waterway act today.

The President decided to hold off on devaluing the dollar and establishing the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund until the mechanical difficulty of the task of seizing more than $3,000,000,000 in gold held by the Federal Reserve is completed.

The treasury's legal experts were busy drafting a series of executive orders covering all phases of the imminent change in the American monetary system last night to have them ready for promulgation as soon as President Roosevelt has signed the dollar devaluation bill, probably later today.

This was disclosed yesterday by Secretary Morgenthau, who also told newspapermen the gold of the Federal Reserve banks, to which the measure gives the treasury title, is for the present at least, to be left in the reserve.

AKERMAN HOLDS AAA AS OPPOSED TO CONSTITUTION

Wallace Rapped At Hearing As Dodging Test Of Its Legality

TAMPA, Jan. 30.—(A.P.)—Federal Judge Alexander Akerman today declared the Agricultural Adjustment Act unconstitutional and issued an injunction to a group of Florida citrus growers protesting the State Control Committee. The enforcing procedure will be under the act.

In an oral order from the bench at the conclusion of a two day hearing on injunction proceedings brought by the Hillsborough Packing Company and Lake Tern Groves, Judge Akerman said the act when considered in the light of the Constitution "is an ill of which you could drive eight coils of steel through it." He said "I would be more than happy if I could avoid the questions presented in this case but if I did I would be a coward." He added that public clamor and threats could not deter him from ruling as he saw the matter.

OGDEN MILLS FIRES BLAST AT DEMOCRATS

Leader Of Repudiated Party Says Attempt Has Been Made To Evade Constitution

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 30.—(A.P.)—Picturing the perils of a dictatorship and saying the Democratic Administration has attempted to extend the powers of the federal government beyond its constitutional limits, Ogden L. Mills, former secretary of the treasury, last night urged his fellow Republicans to be on guard against any possible public policies.

"I am opposed to revolutionary change without popular mandate and to government by men without any practical limitations of power," Mills, who is in the city on the occasion of the anniversary of the ratification of the Constitution, said today.

Mills, a recent member of the Republican party, said that the Democratic party had voted President Roosevelt power that are in opposition to the principles laid down in the Constitution.

Mob Stops Constable's Car To Seize Man, Take Him For Ride

TAMPA, Jan. 30.—(A.P.)—Robert Johnson, negro held for investigation in an attack on a young white woman, was held and taken to the police station by a mob of men who took him from the car as he was being taken to the county jail.

The mob stopped the constable's car and took Johnson away with them. Johnson was held for several hours before being released.

Parrish, Schmidt In Capitol On Matters Relating To Roads

Accompanied by Wm. H. Schmidt, local restaurant owner who was active in the Shultz campaign, State Senator J. J. Parrish of Titusville left here late yesterday afternoon for Tallahassee where they were scheduled to appear before the State Road Department in the interests of several road projects in this county.

Senator Parrish was to have urged the immediate completion of the lakefront boulevard, and the completion of state road and on Roads No. 202 and No. 14 in the eastern half of the county.

It was learned at their departure yesterday that through the activities of the Highway Committee of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, Harry Papworth as chairman, that Governor Shultz had requested Chairman Tweedy of the Road Department to include a sufficient sum of money in the new road budget to take care of the completion of the lake front boulevard.

Attention was called by the trade body's committee that the road should be completed as an emergency safety measure if for no other reason, because of the fact that there are by more or less unguarded railroad crossings between Sanford and the Monroe bridge on the present highway.

Infant Harriett Dies At Home Of Parents

Mary Jean Harriett, two and one-half year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Harriett, died at the home of her parents on Chapman Avenue last night at about 9:00 o'clock.

Funeral services will be held from the Erickson Funeral Home tomorrow afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, with Rev. Wm. P. Brooks, Jr. of the First Baptist Church officiating. Burial will be in Swan Lake cemetery.

The baby, an only child, was born in Sanford on Sept. 9, 1931. Mr. Harriett is employed at the Crown Paper Co. plant, and he and Mrs. Harriett are the only survivors.

RFC LOANS MAY BE MADE ON 3 COUNTY BANKS

Institutions In Oviedo, Longwood, Sanford Will Be Able To Pay Dividend As Result

An approximate 10 percent dividend may be paid to the depositors of the Seminole County Bank within the next few weeks, it was announced here today by Harry M. Papworth, Sanford member of the Orlando Sub-committee of the Depositors Liquidation Corporation which exists under authority of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

In addition, depositors in the Bank of Oviedo may expect a dividend which will find them having received practically 100 cents on the dollar since the bank closed, while depositors in the Bank of Longwood may expect a dividend also representing practically the entire amount each had in the bank when it closed.

Payment of these dividends will come because Mr. Papworth's committee has recommended the granting of approximately $100,000 in loans upon the assets of the three closed banks. The committee's approval of the collateral offered was sent to RFC headquarters in Washington a few weeks ago, and word from Washington is being awaited daily.

W. R. Smith, Orlando receiver for the three closed banks made application direct to Washington for RFC loans on the remaining assets of the bank. His request was referred to Mr. Papworth's committee, and that group recommended that $114,000 be loaned on the assets of the Seminole County Bank, $50,000 on the assets of the Bank of Oviedo, and $21,000 on the Longwood State Bank.

The committee understood, Mr. Papworth stated, that the $114,000 loan for the Seminole County Bank will permit the payment of a dividend of approximately 10 percent on the $35,000 in Bank of Oviedo deposits which were their total returns on their deposits to nearly 100 percent. Mr. Papworth noted, while distribution of the $21,000 at Longwood will bring depositors there an approximate 100 percent return.

Mr. Papworth pointed out that not all of the amount of the loan will be returned to the county. Twenty five percent of each loan is returned by the RFC to be used in paying the state's debt liquidation during the three to five years that it has to repay the loan.

Mortgages and notes secured by what the committee considers as very valuable real estate comprising the principal assets of the Seminole County Bank, Mr. Papworth noted, as well as the Bank of Oviedo while the stock of the Longwood Bank constitutes the principal assets which were closed.

Mr. Papworth stated that the City of Sanford will benefit the most by the payment of the $114,000 dividend locally, since it is the largest creditor of the closed bank. Nearly 70 percent of the loan will be turned over to the City, Mr. Papworth stated. This fact, generally, influenced the committee in its decision to recommend the loan at this time, he added.

Increase The Demand

At the risk of appearing pessimistic we would venture to call attention to the rather bad beginning of another celery season. According to one of Seminole County's leading farmers, forty cars of celery left here last week to bring an average of only $1.50 a crate in the northern markets. The farmers who shipped this celery would have been ten cents a crate better off if they had plowed their celery under.

Last year plowing under was resorted to on a rather grand scale and met, we believe, with some success. In other words most of our farmers lost less than they would have lost if they had not plowed under. Plowing under again this year probably would be similarly helpful. It would reduce the losses. But that is hardly what the farmers want. It is hardly what any of us wants.

Seminole County farmers should make a profit. They are among the most intelligent and progressive farmers in the country. They resort to the most scientific measures in producing their crops. In good weather and in bad they grow first class celery. They are generally favored by climatic and marketing conditions. Their crop usually begins to move at a time when most of the rest of the country is blanketed with snow and when northern consumers depend largely upon extremely southern soils for green vegetables.

As we see it, however, there has been one drawback. Celery is widely regarded not so much as an essential item of the diet but rather as a luxury. It is eaten more as a relish than as a food. During the depression when millions of people were more concerned with keeping themselves from starving to death than with stimulating their appetites or in strengthening their nerves, celery fell somewhat into disrepute. Men would not buy celery when they couldn't afford grits.

One would think, however, that this winter, with millions of men going back to work on government projects of one kind and another, and with billions of dollars being lent to countless big corporations for payroll purposes that the situation, which so seriously affected the market for celery last winter and the winter before, would be materially improved. Perhaps it will as the season wears on but there have been few signs of it so far.

The situation requires, it seems to us, some sort of reminder to those persons who have gone without celery for several winters that there is such a thing as celery on the market that is delicious and appetizing, that it has substantial qualities as a food, and that it is good for the nerves. The real merit of celery has never been properly exploited. The innumerable ways of serving it have never been adequately explained. Every housekeeper in the country ought to be thoroughly conversant with the nourishing qualities of celery and with its healthful benefits.

To put this message across to the public, only a short intensive advertising campaign is necessary. The big cigarette companies have found that when the market is sluggish an advertising campaign will stimulate it. Farmers could do as much for their product. Advertising celery will increase the demand for it as surely as Fleischmann sold his yeast cakes through the medium of the press.

In the present situation it seems to us that the farmers have but one alternative if they would make positive efforts to help themselves. Either they must reduce their crop by plowing under, or if they would sell it at all, they must increase the demand for celery. The most effective way to do this is to advertise.

How Big Is A Universe?

We have been reading a great deal lately about the size of a billion dollars, and we have gathered the impression that a billion dollars is a very large sum of money, that a billion of anything is certainly a great deal of something. Now comes the New York Herald Tribune to explain that the universe, too, is rather large. The universe in fact is so large that a billion dollars seems very small by comparison.

"In every story on astronomy vast distances are given in terms of light years," explains the New York paper. "A light year, it will be recalled, is the distance a light ray traveling at 186,000 miles a second would cover in a year. Multiply 186,000 miles by the number of seconds in a year and one finds that a light year is 5,886,798,000,000 miles. Even 'near' stars no where near the edges of the universe may be thousands of light years away.

"How large then is the universe? In miles the distance would be expressed by a figure that would cover several lines of the type in which this story is printed. Like the five thousand billion miles in a single light year, the result is beyond comprehension even to a nation that talks of budget figures in terms of billions of dollars.

"Some idea of the vastness of the universe may be obtained, however, by the recent calculation of Professor William D. MacMillan, of the University of Chicago, that if all the molecules in the universe were evenly distributed, each would be separated from its neighbor by a distance of seven feet. When one remembers that even the smallest object that it is possible to view with the strongest microscope probably contains millions of molecules the significance of what astronomers mean when they talk about the 'universe' takes on new meaning."

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the First National Bank of Sanford was held recently. The same board of directors was unanimously elected and after a thorough consideration of the matter a resolution was adopted confirming the decision of the directors to take stock in and become a member of the newly constituted Federal Reserve Association by means of which all the national banks of the country are banded together in such a way that the strength of the largest and smallest becomes a help to the smaller and weaker in times of financial distress. The directors of the bank are: Frederic H. Rand, P. F. Forster, George H. Fernald, E. O. Chase, and Louis McLain. The officers are: Frederic H. Rand, president; P. F. Forster, vice-president; George H. Fernald, vice-president; E. P. Whitner, cashier; and A. J. Seta, assistant cashier. Fernald Lewis Clark, a millionaire of Spokane, Wash., is being held for ransom near Los Angeles, according to an anonymous letter to a newspaper. The letter is signed, "The Black-Mallers," and demands $75,000. Police are investigating the letter and relatives of Clark say they are willing to pay the ransom if convinced that he really is held a prisoner.

"WELFARE" ISLAND

NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE

Reporters who followed Commissioner McCormick on his drive through Welfare Island yesterday described the conditions which were revealed as almost literally incredible. Taken by surprise, as it were, in a semi-military operation, it stood last night as a fallen citadel of fever-till, gang rule, narcotic peddling, degeneracy and corruption—of all the elements which make too many American prisons the efficient forcing houses of the crime and industry and industry which they are supposed to restrain. In a long experience, said the new Commissioner of Correction at the end, he had seen many bad prisons; he was now ready to believe that this was the worst in the world.

There have been enough evidences of bad conditions there in the past to give the name "Welfare Island" an ironically sinister connotation. After this startling revelation it may stand, perhaps, as a monstrous reproach to the whole political system which could give lip service through the years to the public welfare, while neglecting it so utterly and shamelessly to that it may stand as a summary of the consequences of that vast, unhealed, shifting, corrupt and incompetent system, manned by professional politicians too completely absorbed in the greedy business of their organization machine to have even an idea of performing the simplest duties which they were entrusted with. It is in every other branch of the municipal business. It is a sufficient commentary.

SANFORD FORUM

Editor, Sanford Forum:

May I express myself, as a small citrus grower, to view the other side of the citrus industry? The Citrus Control Board is composed of Citrus Exchange members and other large shipping interests, as well as large growers, who by their ruling (now being withheld by order of the federal judge) would force the small grower to have all citrus fruits go through packing houses, washed at a cost 15 cents a box, graded, and inspected at a cost of $2 a load, if sold to trucks, besides forcing us to buy stamps costing a cent a box. This will come out of the growers' profits. All fruit, no matter how sound, not coming under their protecting order would be total loss to the grower. Previously we could sell to trucks in our groves, saving this cost, the fruit being taken to interior towns, not points where car loads were shipped.

Last year trucks were loaded from these exchanges and nearly all, if not quite all, packing houses, with culls that were not fit to be sold. But now the cry goes out that the markets are being ruined by trucks taking fruit that should not be sold, thereby ruining the markets by low grade fruit. These same exchanges and packing houses shipped fruit this past fall that was perfectly green as to maturity, (although passing the acid test), artificially colored, and markets were flooded with unripe fruit, and that has been going on for years, thereby ruining the markets for those who held their fruit to be ripe.

Last year my fruit was marketed through a company at a cost to me, F. O. B. packing house, of $1.13 a box, tangierines costing more. If sold out of the state, freight was added, so very little came to me as a grower, and in some cases red ink, for my year's expense. The only chance a small grower has is to sell to trucks. One of the greatest menaces to the small grower is the auction houses (if the controlling committee prevails). The auction houses pay what they please, and the grower in most cases is the loser. I was brought up in an orange grove, and know the business pretty thoroughly, and have seen it ruined by the way it is now handled by selfish interests.

The exchanges and all packing houses make their profits regardless of the grower, whether he or she makes one cent, after going to the cost of production. MISS NONA A. WYLLY, Lake Mary

U.S. Moves For Better Defense Of Its Borders

The first step toward doubling the navy's number of fighting planes at the same time that Speaker Rainsey was telling an anti-war delegation that he hoped there would be no war this spring between Russia and Japan but that both countries were building up their armament.

Chairman McSwain of the House military committee, meanwhile, introduced a bill to authorize creation of a junior air corps reserve as a civilian component of the army. In it, all physically sound youths between 18 and 21 could obtain army training to qualify them as pilots.

Rainsey, who has visited Russia and advocated recognition of the soviet for years, said that he thought the new relations between the United States and that country "contributed more to world peace than any other development in recent years."

He told the anti-war delegation flatly that he was not for a program which would "disband our army, and navy and turn over the CCC to civilians."

"To do so," he added, "would greatly encourage Japan in her moves toward Russia. I hope there won't be a war between Japan and Russia this spring, but Russia has 800,000 men in her standing army and is turning out 25 planes a day while Japan has refused to accept any non-aggression pact."

"In no instance have the authorities turned down a recommendation of our committee," he stated, "so that it is now merely a matter of time before we may expect about $200,000 into this county as an RFC loan on what we believe to be valuable assets."

The committee has passed on the assets of 10 closed banks in Central Florida, and final approval has been given to a recommendation that a closed Leasburg Bank be loaned $340,000. Liquidators for this bank have since applied for an additional $100,000 loan, Mr. Papworth stated.

Members of the Orlando sub-committee include Harry P. Leu of Orlando as chairman, W. M. Hamer of Orlando, A. S. Herlong of Leesburg, William Edwards of Zellwood, and Mr. Papworth.

Azzarelo Is Winner Of "Snooker" Contest

J. N. Azzarelo, local resident who was entered in the elimination "Snooker" pool contest which has been under way at Monk's Billiard Parlor for the past week, was declared champion of the contest after he had beaten Fulton Hester in two straight games last night.

Six players entered the contest. They were: Hollis Phillips, Ben Wade, Irwin Fleischer, Jim Spencer, Mr. Azzarelo and Mr. Hester. All six played nightly until they were eliminated in the following order: Spencer, Fleischer, Wade, Phillips. The final match was to have been for a best two out of three victories.

E. H. Bennett, operator of the billiard parlor, states that he will stage several contests and tournaments during the near future. He expressed satisfaction over the interest created in the recent contest.

banks as depositories of the government. At the same time Morgenthau set Washington to wondering again about the possibility of currency stabilization discussions with Great Britain in the near future, by telling correspondents that hereafter he would refuse to answer questions as to whether they had been begun.

Eventually, they are to be undertaken as part of the President's monetary program and then, said Morgenthau, "I would either have to lie to you, or give the game away."

Although he would not say exactly when the President would take action to peg at least 40 percent from the gold dollar, the impression prevailed that no time would be lost in bringing this about. Not until that time has been done can the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund, with which the Administration plans to regulate the foreign value of the dollar, be established.

He said a half dozen experts would be called upon for advice as to the operations of the fund. However, they apparently are not to be given the satisfaction of knowing just whose advice is followed for, said Morgenthau, probably no one but the President and himself will have an exact knowledge of what is being done.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York is to act as the treasury's agent in the Administration of the fund, just as it has in past purchases of gold abroad, Morgenthau said, and the state department will be called upon for reports bearing upon the situation from the nation's consular representatives abroad.

As to the effect of a currency war with Great Britain, Morgenthau gave it as his opinion that such conflict would be "very costly."

"To us or to Great Britain?" he was asked. "To both," was his response.

what I believe is an unconstitutional attempt to extend the powers of the federal government beyond the limits contemplated by the basic law," Mills said, "but the exercise of the enormously expanded authority has been vested in the hands of a single individual, so that the citizen is deprived not only of the protection of the fundamental law but is subjected to arbitrary, executive action freed from the restrictions of legislative control."

The asserted tendency toward a planned and managed national life, Mills said, is incompatible with the principles of individual liberty upon which the nation was founded.

"These actions," he said, "definitely violate the letter and spirit of the constitution. They abolish the sovereignty of the states. They make of a government of limited powers one of unlimited authority over the lives of us all. They destroy America's greatest contribution to the cause of human freedom—the guarantee of individual rights against the arbitrary power of the government.

Miss Ruth House Weds Mr. Verbridge

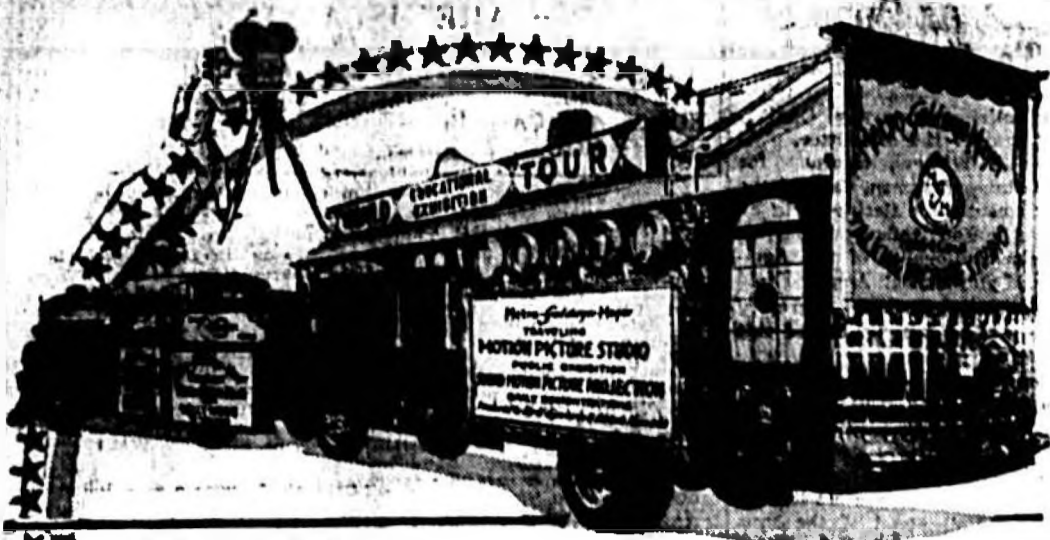

Announcement is being made of the marriage on Jan. 10 of Miss Ruth Peters House of this city, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. House of Waterbury, Conn., to Ralph J. Verbridge of Sodus, N. Y., son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Verbridge of that city. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. J. Kellaghan at the rectory of All Souls Catholic Church.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Verbridge left for Miami where they spent 10 days. Since then they have been in New York City and are planning to reach Sodus today to make their future home.

Mrs. Verbridge was born in Waterbury, Conn., where she spent her early childhood and attended Notre Dame Academy. She came here with her grandmother, Mrs. Frank Peters several years ago and was graduated from Seminoles High School in 1911. After her graduation she studied nursing at St. Vincent's Hospital in Jacksonville for a short time.

Mr. Verbridge has made Sodus his home the greater part of his life. He was educated in the Sodus schools and later attended business college in New York.

TRAVELING MOVIE STUDIO COMING HERE ON THURSDAY

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Traveling Motion Picture Studio on World Tour.

Through the co-operation of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, the management of the Milane Theater has made arrangements to have the elaborate Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer traveling motion picture studio visit Sanford on Thursday morning from 10:00 o'clock to noon. This lavishly equipped studio, costing $160,000, will be on display in front of the Milane Theater during those hours. It is completely equipped, capable of taking and recording sound pictures, as well as projecting them on the screen. A director, and a complete staff of camera, soundmen, electricians, and movie makeup experts compose the personnel of the outfit. A public demonstration of the studio will include the screening of several talking pictures featuring such stars as Greta Garbo, Joan Crawford, Norma Shearer, Wallace Beery, John Barrymore, and others.

Mayfair Hotel Will Be Steam-Heated For Roosevelt Birthday Party Tonight

Leaving no detail undone, members of the committee in charge of arrangements for the Presidential Roosevelt Birthday Party which is to be staged at the Mayfair Hotel tonight, starting at 8:30 o'clock, announced this afternoon that through the efforts of Charles F. Steenworth, local engineer, the huge steam-heating plant at the hotel will go into operation late this afternoon to provide warmth and comfort for an anticipated throng of fully 500 persons tonight.

At noon today, over 200 tickets had been sold for this event, listed as the social affair of the winter season. Winter visitors and residents alike are said to be giving hearty cooperation to the plea for a contribution to the Warm Springs Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, and as a result a gala evening is being anticipated.

Late this afternoon groups of women who had volunteered their services had nearly completed the transformation of the bare lobby, ballroom, and dining room of the hotel into a cheery scene which needed only some form of heating and a throng of persons to transform it into a scene resembling those of the days when the hotel was operated.

"Should Ladies Behave," which opens tonight at the Milane Theater as the latest of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's successful farce comedies.

In its juxtaposition of mixed jealous romances, loves, hates and jealousies, the picture is funny enough and with such talented players as Lionel Barrymore, Alice Brady, Conway Tearle, Katharine Alexander, Mary Carlisle and William Janney filling the leading roles, the various amusing incidents are played to the full. Considerable credit must also go to the excellent direction of Harry Beaumont, who only recently proved his skill at this type of high comedy with his clever work on "When Ladies Meet."

Arizona Politician Is Given Suspended Term

HOLBROOK, Ariz., Jan. 30.—(AP) Dillworth Sumpter, socialist candidate last fall for Arizona's Congressional seat, was given a suspended sentence of a year and a day in state prison, by Superior Judge Sawyer yesterday, for attempting Sunday to enter the First National Bank of Winslow.

Sumpter, who said he sought money to care for his invalid mother, pleaded guilty to burglary in the first degree in superior court after he had waived preliminary hearing.

Children get 4 EXTRA HEALTH BENEFITS from Bell Bread... the bread with More Food Value!

FIRST, Bell Bread contains a rich supply of Vitamin B—Nature's own spur to appetite. It actually helps children grow—experiments have proved it.

Second, the essential minerals, which build strong bones and sound teeth, are twice as rich in Bell Bread as in ordinary bread.

Third, we put more milk and richer milk into Bell Bread. And fourth, we control its baking so carefully that all its extra food value is made ready for the body to use!

No wonder careful mothers and ordering Bell Bread by name, to be sure they get these extra advantages for their children! Of course the whole family enjoys Bell Bread! It makes grand toast. Get a loaf today!

Is Your Child Underweight?
In a scientific test, 46 school children of Berkeley, Calif., gained remarkably when bread enriched with Vitamin B was included in their school lunch. Full report on request.
