Refused the requests of my officer to continue the investigation during daylight and leave all of the alleged evidence in place.
The U.N. command has said
all along. It was a flat confession of a statement in the message from Kim and Peng to which Ridgway was replying.
The Red generals said "we did not on the night of the 22nd reject your making of the relinquishment in daylight."
Ridgway's note told the Reds
when you are prepared" to resume talks "I will direct my representatives to meet with you, with a view to seeking a reasonable armistice agreement."
The Reds broke off the deadlocked negotiations last Thursday because of the asserted bombing incident.
A public information office reported from Ridgway's headquarters, issued nine hours after his note was delivered to the Reds,
said:
"it has been the basic and controlling concern of the U. N.
commander "that the military armistice conference at Kaesong would make rapid progress toward a cessation of bloodshed in Korea and an honorable armistice."
The United Nations command continues to give the most serious consideration to reports of violations of agreements by either side. It is convinced, however, that nothing can be gained through further investigation of the alleged incident other than prolongation of the suspension of the meeting."
The public information office
said "the United Nations command already has carried out a detailed investigation of the alleged incident."
"it said Ridgway asked all national U. N. commanders "to investigate and report whether any incidents under their respective command, regardless of nationality, could have been involved in the alleged occurrence at Kaesong."
Their written reports certified that no forces under their command were involved."
U. S. 8TH ARMY HEAD
QUARTERS, Korea, Aug. 20—(AP)— Communist troops built up their strength along the Korean front
today despite clearing weather which exposed them to Allied air
and artillery attack.
A sudden break in the rainy spell also brought on a jet blast
along the Korean-Manchurian border. Sixty Red and Allied lettered from 8 down to 2 1/2 miles above the earth in a bloodless fight.
Red ground reinforcements were pushed moving up to the lines in the Iron Triangle sector of the neutral area on the west-

of 100 to 200.

The nation's elder statesman
this year deferred his customary birthday address until today. He had said it would contain his thoughts for his 77th birthday,
Aug. 10.
Hoover's remarks were made to thousands of fundings assembled at the state fair, and broadcast nationally. Preceding his address
he accepted "The Iowa Award."
It was the first plaque and scroll presented by the Iowa Centennial Memorial Commission for distinguished citizenship.
In following the theme "concerning honor in public life,"
the former Republican President did not specifically mention the Democratic Administration which followed his own. Although he cited numerous happenings since he left the White House, he said
near the start:
"Let me say at once that honor
is not the exclusive property of any political party."
Hoover reviewed many incidents which commented repeatedly "think about it." He said: "Our greatest danger is not from invasion by foreign armies. Our dangers are that we may commit sins from within by compliance with evil, or by public tolerance of scandalous behavior."
Turning to what he termed
"the flight from honor," Hoover said "during the recent past we have had a flood of exposures by congressional committees, by state legislatures, by grand juries in scores of cities, and the press."
He said he sometimes wonders
what the "founding fathers" would say about "the five per-centers, milk coats, deep freezers, and free hotels? Or favoritism in government loans and government contracts? Or failures to prosecute evildoers who spread cancerous insects and gambling rings with their train of bribed officials?
Or of those who equate with traitorship? Or of secret and disastrous commitments of our nation which were denied at the time?"
Hoover said corrupt propaganda which employs "standardized gadgets" and "slogans" is one of the chief instruments of intellectual dishonesty in public life.
"These gadgets," he said,
"have been very handy tools for making America over into 14
new varieties and getting us into hot and cold wars."
In this connection Hoover commented: "As an aside, I suggest at least we adjourn trying to make America over into some other shape until we get out of this cold or hot war."
"our present crisis is dangerous enough to require one concentrated undivided purpose in Washington. Many of our so-denial has come from the Governor's office that Smiley went to Denver on a trip to check gambling conditions in nearby Wyoming, the home state of Senator Lester Hunt member of the U. S. Senate Crime Investigating Committee.

Smiley said in a letter to the Comptroller's office he had made the trip to Denver for the Governor's office on instructions
from Loyd Compton, the Governor's press secretary.
Neither the Governor nor Compton would comment, either on Smiley's trip to Denver or on the Comptroller's action in shutting him off from further travel at State expense.
There have been unconfirmed,
and unverified, reports that the Governor is preparing a report on gambling in home states
the U. S. Senate Crime Committee members with whom he has been feeding over their investigation in Florida.
The Comptroller's office said
the Denver trip is only "one of many things" that has brought action against Smiley. Accounts are being checked back to his first day of employment with the Reverend Department soon after the Warren Administration began, it was said.
"We will not know exactly how much he will be asked to repay until the check is completed. We are still waiting for airline requisitions," the auditor
said.
Director Lewis Schott of the Reverend Department declined to comment immediately.
"I don't care to make any statement until I have an opportunity to sit down with the Comptroller's office and find out what the actual record is,"
Schott said.

dence to prove them.
"If he makes slanderous charges against his countrymen, he ought to be made to either prove them or bear the consequences in a libel court or his speech is part of a conspiracy to overthrow the government."
Another "smudge" on Democracy's armor, Tobin said, is the problem of racial and religious discrimination. "There is no more powerful weapon in the arsenal of Communist propaganda than the charges of discrimination in the United States," he continued.
Tobin said "tremendous progress" has been made, but "we must step up our efforts to eliminate the problem that has been the excuse for the lies" put out by the Reds to "impress" the world, particularly the African and Asiatic peoples.
While armistices will stop
Communist aggression, Tobin said,
only the untarnished idea of democracy will defeat the idea of Communism, which "you can't destroy with guns."
"This is the great battle that cannot be fought on a battlefield," he added.
Governor who is carried on the Beverage payroll has been asked to explain what State business took him into Maryland and New Hampshire, home states of Chairman Herbert O'Connor and Senator Charles Tobey of the Crime Committee.
Among the items Elliott bought and charged to the State on his trips were copies of Maryland elections laws and Senator To-bey's statement of campaign expenses.
The Comptroller's office said
the expense accounts of all persons who travel at state expense
are being audited "with criticism."
Periodic checks of expense accounts always have been made by the Comptroller's office, but the spokesman said, the discrepancies found in Smiley's vouchers is resulting in a "more intensive" audit this year.

Gruenther, who is General

In the same appearance, Gruen-

Prices Will Rise Despite Controls DiSalle Declares

Stabilizer Warns Of Futility Of Legislating End To Inflationary Danger

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—(AP)—Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle said today some prices may go up even if Congress changes the economic controls law as President Truman requests.

But, he told the Senate Banking Committee, elimination of the three provisions which Mr. DiSalle has bitterly denounced would give the Office of Price Stabilization a "workable program."

DiSalle and Mobilization Chief Charles E. Wilson were lead witnesses in the Administration's drive for repeal of the provisions. These make possible price boosts for manufacturers and dealers and ban livestock slaughter quotas.

Wilson warned of mounting inflationary pressures and appealed to the senators for "the strongest and most effective law you can give us."

"But an absolute holding of the price line may not be possible," he said. "Some cost increases are bound to occur."

"Repeal of these provisions will not provide us with a perfect price control law, but it will give us a law under which we can move forward with a sound and workable stabilization program."

He said a key point in restoration of the right to set slaughtering quotas on livestock.

"Without quotas, he said it will be impossible to control meat prices, and that black markets would be almost inevitable."

"It may well be that the issue presented to Congress is whether we shall have meat price controls or whether we shall not."

Used Car Dealer Denies Knowing Of Smiley Expenses

Hoagler Asks Return Of Letter Giving Travel Accounting

TALLAHASSEE, Aug. 30—(AP)—A Miami used car dealer today told Comptroller C. M. Gay he actually did not know how often Ted Smiley had borrowed cars from his lots or how far Governor Warren's part-time aide had driven them.

And he asked Gay to return to him an earlier letter in which he set forth exact figures concerning Smiley's use of his cars. The letter had been submitted as justification of travel expense vouchers claiming mileage for travel by Smiley.

Smiley, who is carried on the State Beverage Department payroll as a publicity man but is often used for special assignments by the Governor, has been barred from further travel at State expense by the Comptroller because of alleged inconsistencies and discrepancies in his past expense accounts.

The Comptroller announced he would demand that Smiley return a profit and expense account for the collection of automobile allowances for travel by private automobile, since records of the Motor Vehicle Department do not show him as the owner of a personal car.

Smiley told the Comptroller's office he borrowed cars from a friend. He submitted his proof a letter written by Ray Humley of Liberty Motors Inc., of Miami.

This letter said: "Ted Smiley was permitted to use various cars from my lot between Dec. 1, 1950, and Aug. 1, 1951, for a total mileage of 35,152 miles, which was checked on the (Continued on Page Six)

Dead were Alfredo Ortiz Vargas, 63, and retired professor of foreign languages and literature at the University of Kansas City, and Mrs. William Lay, 77-year-old Negro.

Discovery Of Two Diplomats Denied By British Source

LONDON, Aug. 30—(AP)—The Foreign Office denied today that British secret agents had located missing diplomats Guy Burgess and Donald Maclean, William Holladay, head of the Foreign Office News Department, said reports published in two London newspapers this morning were completely without foundation.

The Foreign Office kept silent for hours after the reports first appeared before issuing the denial.

Holladay conferred with top officials for an hour before making his comment.

He said that the search for the two is exactly where it was before the slayings were reported in today's edition of the Daily Herald and the Daily Express.

In other words, Britain is still hunting for the two officials.

The newspaper articles quoted agents of the British Secret Service as saying they had located the two diplomats who vanished without a trace last May 25.

False Economy On Foreign Aid Hit By Truman

President Declares Allied Forces In Korea Are Stronger Than Ever Before

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—(AP)—President Truman said today the congressional effort to cut $1,000,000,000 from his $8,500,000,000 foreign aid request is misplaced economy when success of the program is in sight.

The President told a new conference that prospects of restoring the proposed cut looked rather hopeless and it is a very serious situation. He also told reporters:

"United Nations forces in Korea are stronger now than when the Korean truce talks began."

The case of William N. Daniels, AF correspondent imprisoned in Czechoslovakia on spy charges, will never be closed until the reporter gets out of jail.

Aked if he intended to do anything more to win approval of the foreign aid program, the President said he has done all he possibly can. He added the program looks rather hopeless.

He said the Administration at the outset in 1949 figured at least $10,000,000,000 would be needed over four years to help European states off their aggression, and an informed Congress.

He and the last request for $8,500,000,000 would bring the total to date up to $14,000,000,000. He then went on to say it is a pity to spend the whole amount in the interest of misplaced economy, just on the verge of success.

He contended the economic improvement of Western Europe could be immensely aided under a more informed Congress.

Savage Attacks Are Mounted By Reds As Peace Failure Looms

Philippines And U. S. Sign Mutual Defense Alliance

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—(AP)—The United States and the Philippines today bound themselves together in a new defense pact, leading each to help the other fight aggression.

Speaking at the signing ceremony, President Truman called the treaty a strong step towards security and a peace in the Pacific.

"It demonstrates to all nations that we intend to continue our common course and to work together in the future as we have in the past, for peace for all mankind," Mr. Truman said.

The solemn economic pact took place in the inter-departmental auditorium and brought together top leaders of both the United States and the Philippines.

The treaty, pledging the U. S. and Philippines to come to each other's aid to meet common danger, is the first of a series of defense agreements designed to shore up Pacific defenses against Communist aggression.

The others, with Japan and with New Zealand and Australia, are to be signed in the next two weeks.

Philippine President Quirino said that while the new treaty has "unavoidable ramifications of military action" it is "wholly dedicated to peace and to the method of peace."

"We have no aggressive aims against anyone," Quirino said. "Our purpose is rather to give notice that a potential aggressor must honor his obligations to meet common danger and to meet common danger."

Pacific Defense Pact Is Demanded By Gov. Dewey

NEW YORK, Aug. 30—(AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey told the New York State Legislature today to promote any treaty between the same kind of bloody nose you got in Korea.

"That's not cheap and it isn't pleasant and I don't for a moment think that the free world is going to get any help from the Red-baiting propaganda machine."

Dewey, who returned by night train from the Korean front, took issue with the liberal attitude of the State Department.

Dewey said that the United States should be conducting foreign policy on its own terms and not on the terms of the Communists.

He called for a total withdrawal from the Korean peninsula, which he said would lead to a Communist aggression.

The others, with Japan and with New Zealand and Australia, are to be signed in the next two weeks.

Fresh Communist Divisions Arrive At Front As Ominous Preparations Begin

By GEORGE A. McARTHUR
U. S. 8TH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Aug. 30—The ten thousand fresh Communist troops today dug into the rugged hills of eastern Korea behind their attacking comrades.

Reds buried three small savage assaults at United Nations troops north of Yangju. All were beaten back.

To the north, U. N. airplanes tore up rail and road beds in their determined effort to cut Communist supply lines. Pilots reported they destroyed or damaged 47 box cars and cut night trains in 67 places after night attacks knocked out 270 cars.

A fresh Communist thrust—about 2,000 men—was observed digging an eastward line of entrenchment, which is 57 miles from the eastern tip of the peninsula.

Another group of Reds, estimated at about 3,000 men, was seen moving south in the area southeast of Yangju. Five hundred more Reds were seen digging in the sector.

In their most persistent attack since the Reds fought Allied troops 13 hours before withdrawing, the attack began at 3 A. M., supported by mortar and artillery fire. By mid-afternoon it had flared to long-range shelling.

The two other assaults were by platoon-sized groups, and the Reds pulled back after three hours. One of these attacks was repulsed by mortar and artillery fire from the front, center and rear of the front line.

School Building Program In Duval Will Be Continued

JACKSONVILLE, Aug. 30—(AP)—The Duval county school board today approved a program to continue the $14,500,000 school construction program despite threatened material shortages and lack of priorities.

A contract for construction of a new 14 classroom school was awarded by the board yesterday at a cost of $274,793.

"I don't think the National Production Authority will put us in jail if we go ahead without permits," said board chairman Robert C. Lechner. "If they think it's a crime, I'm willing to be the first to go."

"I think we should award contracts as they come and I feel sure we'll get the necessary priorities without too much delay," he said.

Japanese Occupation Has Changed Face Of Emperor-Loving Nation

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of two articles summarizing the occupation of Japan. They were written by Russell Brines, former chief of AP's Tokyo Bureau, who has just returned to the United States after serving continuously in Japan since the end of the Pacific war.)

By RUSSELL BRINES
WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—(AP)—Six years ago Japan was a devastated, banding country, badly beaten in war. Its people were smothered by fear of starvation, its government and industry paralyzed by uncertainty.

Today, Japan is reaching for independence again as a confident nation.

The transformation is the most tangible result of a long and expensive occupation.

Pupils Throughout County Flock Back To School For Registration

School pupils throughout Seminole County reported this morning at 21 schools for registration in preparation for the official opening of schools on Tuesday morning, Sept. 4.

Supt. T. W. Lawton this morning predicted a 5 percent increase in enrollment over the Sept., 1950 figure of 5,398 and stated that the total may reach 5,690 this fall.

Enrollment and registration of the children continued until noon today when they were taken back home in the buses. The registrations started at 9:00 A. M.

The teachers continued their work through the afternoon, and will work tomorrow also in order to assign pupils registered to their proper grades and sections.

Lions Club Goes On Jungle Cruise To Blue Springs

Members of the Lions Club and their wives enjoyed a cruise and picnic on the Blue Springs river today.

Box suppers were auctioned off in order to raise funds to pay for the trip and bidding was spirited.

King Lion Cecil Carlton attempted to call a meeting of the Lions aboard the boat, but was thwarted when an immediate motion for adjournment was made by former King Lion Harry Robson, who was seconded by Carl Williams, and heartily endorsed by those present.

This ended what was undoubtedly the shortest Lions meeting ever held by the club. In fact, it was so short that the Tail Twister, Jack Stemper, was unable to levy any fines.

The next meeting of the Fifth District group will be held in November in Orlando, he stated.

FCC Is Asked To Reconsider Sale Of TV Stations

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—(AP)—The Federal Communications Commission today temporarily stayed its recently granted authority for Atlanta Newsweek, Inc. to sell television station WFTV-TV to Broadcasting, Inc., a new Atlanta Company.

The sale is designed to eliminate dual ownership in the Atlanta area, and WFTV-TV and WWSB-TV, following the merger of the Atlanta Journal and the Atlanta Constitution into a single company.

The stay of authority was issued after Georgia Tech, operating radio station WWSB-TV, and E. D. Rivers, Jr., owner of radio station WWSB-TV at Dalton, Ga., asked reconsideration of the proposed transfer. Both alleged "a community of interest" between themselves and Broadcasting, Inc., in violation of dual ownership regulations. The new company has told FCC that this allegation is "without basis."

Rivers has also asked FCC to limit further sale of WFTV-TV, asserting that "the station is worth at least four times that amount."

Both Georgia Tech and Rivers, each applying for TV outlets in Atlanta, opposed the proposed sale to Broadcasting, the original applicant for Atlanta TV operations. This opposition was overruled when FCC approved the sale Aug. 8.

The stay order said the Commission now desires more time to determine if Tech and Rivers have legal standing to ask reconsideration and to decide if any issue has been raised warranting further inquiry.

Mrs. J. L. Lee entertained on Monday afternoon honoring her daughter Allison on her seventh birthday. The young guests gathered at 5:00 o'clock for an outdoor supper.

The group gathered in the dining room where the table was covered with a blue lace cloth. Centering the table was a large cake topped with Gladiolus and her fairy godmother. The arrangement was flanked with story book dolls in pink and blue and the same shades were carried out in streamers extending from the chandelier to the corners of the table.

Believing a family unit with Margo Dunn Allison opened her gifts. Supper was served outside at small tables on the lawn where the guests visited the "cake bar" and the fish pond where they each won a prize. Games were conducted by Jane Williams and Mrs. Lee was assisted in serving by Mrs. C. H. Winn and Mrs. Irving Feinberg.

Leonard, Mrs. Henry Witte and Mrs. H. A. Appleby at the home of Mrs. M. R. Strickland, 410 West First Street. About 150 guests called at the W. J. David home between the hours of 4:30 and 6:00 o'clock.

Meeting the guests at the door and showing them to the receiving line was Mrs. M. R. Strickland. The receiving line was composed of the four hostesses, the honor guest and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Ray Herron.

Attractively decorating the living room were arrangements of scarlet hibiscus which were used effectively with greenery. In the dining room a pink theme was used. The table was overlaid with a blue cutwork cloth and centered with a miniature bride and groom surrounded with roses and placed on a reflector. Silver candelabra, silver turning pink, lamps and other appointments were in crystal and silver. Several other flower arrangements were also of pink roses.

Your Child Today

Do you want Junior to have good eating habits? All you have to do is offer him food, in a friendly matter-of-fact way, without urging. It's simple as that.

The National Association for Mental Health says that most healthy children, if not interfered with will just naturally have good eating habits.

One of the most important things to understand is that children like to eat.

We, as adults, need only to let the child enjoy his food. Then he will naturally always be a good eater.

One of the most important things to understand is that children like to eat.

This, and other sage pieces of advice, have been published in a small pamphlet entitled "Eating Problems of Children," which can be obtained free of charge by writing to most state departments of health. If your pamphlet it can be obtained from the association at 1790 Broadway, New York City, for the.

There is one mistake we make above all others. Parents try to force their children to eat. But you can't make a child eat anything, says the association. You can only let them enjoy it. The parent's job is not to make a child eat, but to let him eat. The pamphlet points out:

"Children, like adults, have their food preferences. They don't always want the exact amount served to them. There are certain foods which they dislike, but 'Mothers are sometimes afraid that not eating enough will cause illness. This rarely happens. Variations in appetite are to be expected."

"If a child pushes away some kind of food, offer it again some other time. Don't make an issue of his refusal. Say nothing about it. Just take it away casually."

The next time give him only a small portion, or serve it with food he likes. Give him his favorite foods often. Substitute other foods for those he especially dislikes."

Give him some freedom of choice, says the association. A child benefits more from food he accepts willingly and enjoys than from food which is forced on him. This is not pampering. It actually is the best way to cultivate a hearty appetite.

When a child eats less, it may be because some small thing has upset his appetite temporarily. Notice what these things are, and think what the cause may be. He may be excited or over-tired. Or he may be getting a cold, or teething. Watch him carefully for other symptoms, do not urge him to eat. Any kind of emotional disturbance, such as changes in the household, moving, or people going away, may make him fussy about his food.

Kaesong Bombing

Col. Chang, of the Korean delegation, replied: "This will become clear during the investigation."

"Kinney instructed his assistant to recon that no one knew how many planes or bombs."

"About 90 yards from the empty United Nations house was a shallow crater and nearby a cratered area in a crater splashed of napalm lay around."

"Kinney sneered: 'Is that a bomb? That could be anything. I have seen enough. I've dropped plenty of bombs myself. That's nothing.'"

"He called his interpreter and said: 'Tell them, Tell them. If this is the sort of thing they are going to show us I am getting impatient—very impatient.'"

"On a hillside about 200 yards from the delegation headquarters, Col. Chang pointed to a crater where both fine lay embedded."

"What is it? He asked. How did it get there?"

"Kinney: 'You should know better than I.'"

"He turned to the headmaster, most of whom had relatives killed by American bombs and said: 'Has anyone here ever seen the results of American bombing? No one replied, but the ungrilled rock, lay another crater.'"

Smiley Expenses

Today Smiley wrote Gay he "did not realize any complications might arise" from the information contained in the earlier letter, which was addressed to Smiley.

He said he wrote from information given him by an employee Ray Dohelower, who died of a heart attack a few days ago.

Smiley said he was "not in a position to give positive details and mileage" as the previous letter might have led the Comptroller to believe information from Dohelower and "I merely assumed it to be correct."

He added he had no documentary proof whatever to substantiate the mileage or the date on which his cars were used by Smiley.

Smiley said Smiley was a close personal friend of his, and was permitted to take several hand automobiles from the Liberty Motor Company lot for use when he was in Miami as a gesture of friendship.

He said Smiley usually would call him upon arrival at the Miami airport and ask if there was a car available for him.

Smiley would send the car to the airport and Smiley would use it. Smiley paid for the gas and oil, but not for anything else for use of the car, Smiley said.

He said he "paid very attention" to the date of the mileage books, and that the typewritten letter carried the following postscript in long hand: "If the original letter written by me is in your possession I would appreciate your returning it to me as I feel that the information which I am giving you here is more accurate and in more detail."

George Davy, chief auditor in the Comptroller's office said the figures will not be returned to Smiley.

Jap Occupation

A flood of directives from General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters demanded basic alterations in virtually every field of national life.

The emperor was transformed from a demi-god to a tax-paying citizen. A new constitution blunderbusted popular rule.

The centralized Tokyo government was weakened and 44 subprefectural prefectures became little states.

A complex economic empire which gave total power to a handful of men was attacked in anti-trust legislation. The schools technically were set free of the men who had made them teach militarism and obedience to the emperor's autocratic power.

State support for Shinto, the national religion, was abolished, to close another channel for the same teaching.

The legal structure for the emperor's autocratic power, State support for Shinto, the national religion, was abolished, to close another channel for the same teaching.

Women were proclaimed equal to men and given the vote. Women bought their own land under a reform abolishing absentee landlords.

Particularly assailed his statement that a Red liaison officer refused a request for a day-light investigation.

"On the one hand he slanders our side as refusing to conduct a reinvestigation," the radio said, "and on the other stubbornly refuses our request for a reinvestigation."

Two Are Killed

(Continued From Page One) escaped death because Donaldson's pistols misfired. Two others were not at home and the fifth did not answer her door when Donaldson appeared.

The laundry operator started his journey of death in a taxicab, stopping at several different places.

Donaldson told officers that in addition to Ortiz-Vargas and Mrs. Lay, he intended to kill his former mother-in-law, an aunt, a son of Mrs. Lay, his landlady and her brother.

Donaldson said Ortiz-Vargas owned an interest in his self-service laundry and they quarrelled over financial matters.

The professor was shot down in his eighth floor suite of the Twin Oaks apartments. Four bullets were pumped into his body.

Donaldson, a university graduate, was a former student of the professor.

Mrs. Lay was killed in her apartment above Donaldson's laundry as she reached into the refrigerator for a cool drink of water. She was shot twice in the back.

"She was little and old, and I figured two shots would be enough," Donaldson told police.

He said he was angry at the Lay family because they had him arrested recently on a peace disturbance charge. Mrs. Lay's son, Willie, also listed as an intended victim was not at home when his mother died.

He also went to the homes of Mrs. Ethel Combs, his former mother-in-law, and Mrs. Lenora Anderson, an aunt. Mrs. Combs did not answer her door and Mrs. Anderson was not at home.

Lost Diplomat

The Herald is the newspaper of the governing Labor Party and has close government connections.

The conservative Daily Graphic, in a dispatch from Paris, said the same story was current there and added that Mrs. MacLean had left her Riviera villa for a residence near the Vercennes, 50 miles away.

Neither story gave any hint where the men supposedly are and did not indicate any way or whether they have disappeared behind the Iron Curtain as an is suggested by high officials.

The two men have been the quarry of one of the greatest manhunt of modern times since they disappeared May 25.

MacLean, 48, was chief of the American section of the Foreign Office in Burgos, 400 miles from Madrid, and has been recalled from Washington after frequent brushes with the police over traffic violations.

Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison told the House of Commons there was no evidence they took any secret documents with them but the government appeared concerned over possible betrayal of western diplomatic secrets.

The government has made no progress reports on the search. The men were traced as far as St. Malo, France, and have been identified as passengers in a taxi which took them to Rennes. There the trail went cold.

Their families received telegrams from Paris and Rome, but the originals were not in the diplomat's handwriting.

MacLean suffered a nervous breakdown while in service in London and there were suggestions in parliament that heavy work in the American Department brought on another one. Morrison said there was no evidence of this.

Philippine Treaty

Mr. Truman said it gives "formal expression to something that already exists to the firm relationship of brotherhood that binds our countries together."

"World War II showed, he added, that aggressors can defeat free men only temporarily, and divide them never."

He noted that American and Philippine soldiers now are fighting side-by-side in Korea for the same purpose—defeat aggression and defend the rights of free peoples."

Secretary of State Acheson likewise described the treaty as "a natural outgrowth of the new cooperation between the two countries and the U. S. stand together in the Pacific."

Secretary of Defense George Marshall said the treaty is "a natural outgrowth of the new cooperation between the two countries and the U. S. stand together in the Pacific."

Prices To Rise

Wilson, urging changes, said that "new and serious problems" of shortage and inflation lie ahead.

"Any formula which results in prices higher than the 'fair and equitable' prices required by the original 'Defense Production Act' is necessarily inflationary," Wilson told the committee.

"In my opinion, we must do our best to hold the existing price and wage line."

"To do this we need the strongest and most effective law you can give us."

Inflationary pressure will continue to mount, Wilson predicted as more of the national production is channeled into defense.

The success of our production program is largely dependent upon effective stabilization, Wilson went on.

"Inflation would stimulate the production of non-essential goods. It would increase the cost of the defense program. The value of the dollar would be impaired and the incentive for hard work would be lost."
