Police search for bandit

The Seminole County Sheriff's Office is investigating a series of convenience store and fast-food restaurant robberies that appear to be related.

The robberies have occurred on weeknights, between the hours of 6:45 and 9:30 p.m. The suspect is described as a Hispanic male, approximately 5 feet 9 inches tall, with a medium build. He wears a dark colored, long-sleeve, hooded sweatshirt and dark colored pants, along with a dark colored winter cap with his face exposed. He is armed with a handgun and speaks English with an accent.

This suspect is wanted in relation to several robberies, including: an Arby's in Fern Park on July 10, a Pantry convenience store off Hunt Club Blvd in Longwood on July 14, a convenience store off Wymore Road on July 14, and a Mobil Mart at Red Bug Lake Road and Winter Park Drive on July 22.

In each case, the victims have been escorted to the restroom and told to remain inside. Although the suspect has not been observed fleeing in a vehicle, a witness described seeing a blue, four-door Oldsmobile or Buick in the area after one of the robberies.

Surveillance video and photographs that have been obtained are of poor quality. If you have information on this case, contact Investigator Rob Hemmert at 407-665-6958 or Investigator Teresa Malinova at 407-665-6734. Those people who wish to remain anonymous can call the Crime Line at 1-800-423-TIPS. A cash reward for vital information related to this case may be available.

City rejects HPB recommendation

By Jamie J. Anderson-Potter
Staff Writer

Sanford Commissioners decided Monday to allow Stephanie Powers to remain on the Historic Preservation Board (HPB) despite a recommendation for removal from the board.

According to the city's attorney, Lonnie Groot, the HPB has the authority to recommend a board member for removal, however, it is ultimately the decision of the City Commission whether to accept that recommendation.

In the case of Powers, the HPB voted 7-1, with Alec Then voting against, during its June meeting to recommend that City Commission remove Powers from the volunteer

Commissioners rule that 'personality conflict' not enough to remove board member board. A specific reason for the recommendation was not given.

"It is a known fact that there are personality conflicts or differences in opinion [on the HPB]," said Commissioner Randy Jones. "Whatever the case is — get over it. Show a little bit of respect. Don't say, 'We don't like him or her' and then get together with friends and say 'We want you gone.'"

According to Groot, because the Schedule S, the document that governs the decisions made by the HPB, is vague in regard to removing a member, the commissioners needed to find "just cause" for removal. The only item mentioned in the Schedule S as grounds for dismissal is failure to attend the group's monthly meetings — Powers has not missed a meeting since she was appointed to the board six months ago.

Commission looked for precedent on the issue in the Florida statutes. The items mentioned in the statutes include a misdemeanor arrest or other serious crimes, which do not pertain to Powers.

"There does need to be a formal cause," said Commissioner Kevin Hipes. "It seems to be a personal conflict instead of a just cause."

However, HPB board member Denny H. Gibbs, disagreeing, writing in a May letter to commission, "Ms. Powers was recently mis-appointed to the HPB. Normally when one appoints someone to a board, it is done with the intention that that person will serve their community, support the code of authority (in this case the S code) and function under some modicum of ethics and integrity. If Ms. Powers had stated that she

Seminole deputy wins top award

Special to the Herald

Attorney General Charlie Crist has presented a Seminole County sheriff's deputy with an award honoring Florida's first-ever School Resource Officer of the Year.

Selected for the honor by the Bureau of Criminal Justice Programs in the Attorney General's Office was Deputy Howard J. Day, who serves as School Resource Officer (SRO) at Tusawilla Middle School in Oviedo.

Crist made the announcement Thursday night at the annual conference of the Florida Association of School Resource Officers in Sandestin.

"Deputy Day represents the ideal School Resource Officer — tireless energy, unlimited imagination and an unfailing commitment to his students and his community," Crist said. "Florida is fortunate to have the finest resource officers anywhere, and Deputy Day is the perfect choice as the first School Resource Officer of the Year."

Day was recognized for his career-long dedication to law enforcement and education, including his development of the emergency management plan for Seminole County Public Schools and the "Active

Parents reminded to teach children rules of the road

Special to the Herald

On Monday, the Seminole County schools will open their doors to students and public safety officials are asking residents to use caution.

Because of changes in roadways and the increased development in Seminole County, the Seminole County Fire Department strongly suggests parents and guardians help their child gain safe passage to their area school.

Vehicle accidents are the leading cause of death for children between 0 - 14 years of age. The reduction of unnecessary traffic hazards can save lives.

Alan Harris, public information officer for Seminole County, said that teaching children to assume responsibility for crossing roads and scanning for traffic hazards are vital keys to ensuring a child's safety. Harris said parents should also teach their children to allow time for safe travel across a major road, use marked cross-walks and how to react to strangers and stopping for traffic.

Parents should walk with their children to school to stress the importance of safety with them. It's not only good exercise; it can prevent injuries.

Below are a few safety tips for parents and guardians of this year's students:

- Teach children to go directly to and from school.
- Always use crosswalks or corners, and cooperate with crossing guards.
- Stop, look, and listen before crossing any road.
- Obey all cross-walk/traffic signals.
- When waiting for a bus, stay approximately 5 feet from the roadway and continually scan for traffic hazards.
- Since it is dark in morning, wear something reflective and be extra cautious.
- Face traffic if walking on roads without sidewalks.

Iraqi diary: Invited to tea with the enemy

Editor's note: Staff Sergeant Charlie C. Carlson III, son of Sanford Historian Charlie C. Carlson II, is currently deployed in Baghdad, Iraq as part of the 549th Military Police Company. Carlson has provided a continuing journal of his experiences in Iraq, which the Herald will publish over the next several weeks.

May 17, 2003. The Nightstalker platoon is living up to its name as we do a lot of night patrols. Last night we drove around with the 2nd Cav guys.

We were told about some Fedayeen moving people and weapons by using ambulances. We saw an ambulance in one of the alleyways acting suspicious. Our convoy pulled a stop on it and when I felt sufficient security was in place,

I told the lieutenant that I was going to go and search the ambulance and passengers.

I got out and really felt alone as I was the only one that went up to the ambulance. I had the shotgun and moved along the passenger side and ordered the driver to get out and open up the back. He did, and keeping my eye on the passengers, I forced my shotgun into the back and searched it. It turned out to be a normal ambulance. The rest of the night was uneventful.

Carlson

Today, we had a joint patrol with the Iraqi police. I drove an Iraqi police general in my Humvee to a police station that 1st Platoon is to get up and running.

After that we headed over to another part of Baghdad where one of our squads was with the Iraqi police at the scene of a carjacking. While responding to this scene, I was informed about a guy who wanted to talk with a high ranking officer in the U.S. Army and wanted to let us know that he was a Baath Party member.

I took my squad to his house and after verifying his identification, apprehended the guy, who turned out to be General Jamal Mohammed Rasool, a Baath party member and a top expert on air defense artillery in the Hussein regime.

We took him to the JOC where he was interrogated then released back to us to take home but enroute back to his house I was directed to take him to BIAP [Baghdad International Airport] for detaining and further interrogation.

I guess you can say that I "captured" an Iraqi general, but it would be more accurate to say he was apprehended or turned himself in.

When we got to his house he invited me in for tea. Leaving my gunners outside, I went inside with him and then told him that we were to take him to BIAP and turn him over to M.I. [Military Intelligence] and that he would be detained there.

I had him ride in my vehicle between the front and rear gunners,

SEMINOLE SUMMARY

A GLANCE AROUND OUR COUNTY

Detours: Tried driving down Park Avenue lately? If so, you've noticed the detour at 9th Street.

City crews have been working on the intersection for about five weeks and are expected to be there for another two to three more weeks. Public Works Director Tom George said the work is a safety awareness project.

"We've had problems with people not stopping at that intersection," George said.

No doubt about that. The first month I was in town, I almost ran that stop sign at Park and 9th every time I drove in that area. Part of the problem, and George agrees, is that Park Avenue is so wide and straight, it's easy to overlook the stop sign at the intersection.

Around the Clock

by Dan Ping

City crews have tried several options: bigger stop signs, a brighter flashing light and increased traffic enforcement. The current work is designed to compliment those improvements and give drivers a better visual marker that they need to pay attention.

Concrete crosswalks are being at all four corners. The bricks beneath the asphalt will be repositioned around the concrete strips to add further add a visual element to the intersection.

While George stresses that the first priority of the project is to improve safety, there are two side benefits. First, each corner is being reworked to provide hand-cap-ramps allowing a smooth transition from sidewalk to street instead of the sharp 6-inch curbs.

Second, George hopes to remove all of the asphalt from the middle of the intersection so the original street bricks are visible. He's not sure if they'll be successful, mainly because the equipment normally used to remove asphalt is too expensive to use for such a small area.

Whatever city crews are able to accomplish will be an improvement for that area, both for safety and visually.

The new boss: Sanford's new city manager, Al Grieshaber, starts work on Monday.

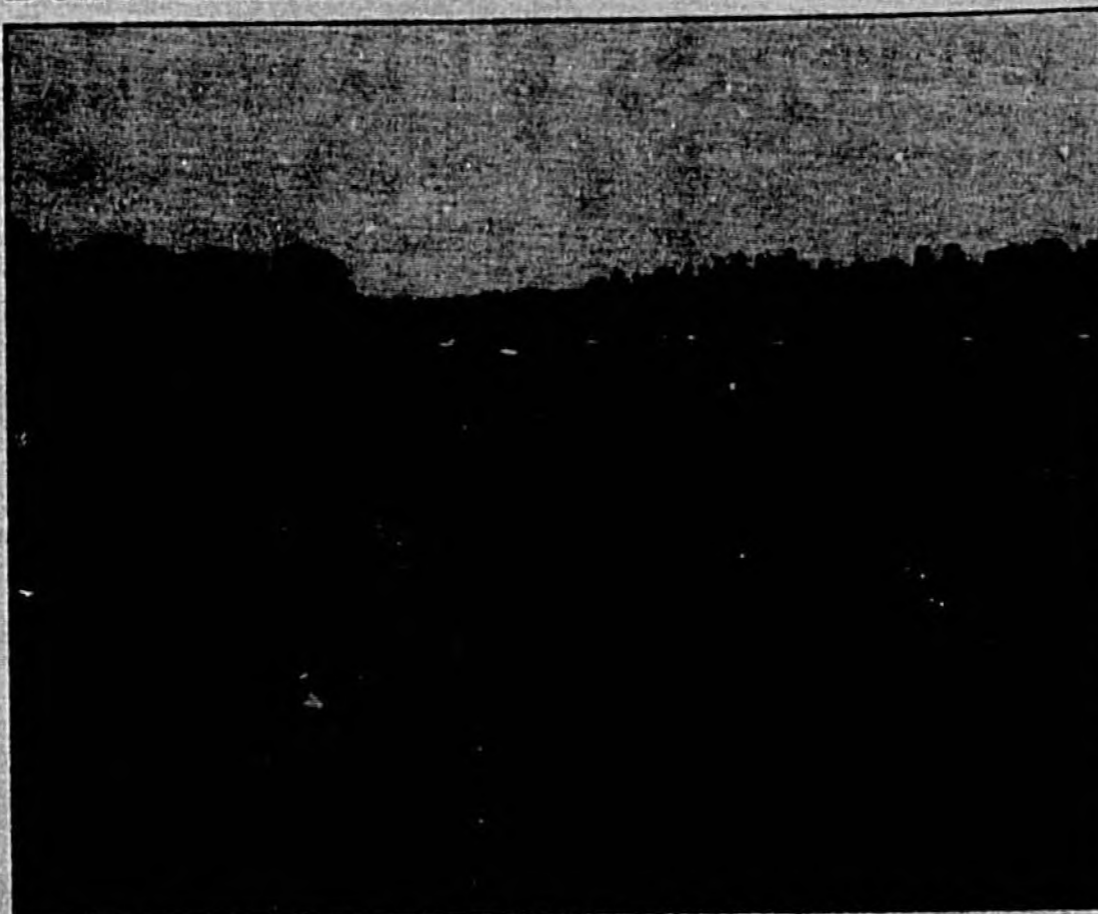

Word Around The Clock is that many in City Hall are chomping at the bit for Grieshaber to come on board.

"I think he's the guy who can push this city forward," said one mid-level manager. "I can't wait."

Everybody in town is going to be giving him advice over the next few weeks, so I'll refrain for now, except to say that Grieshaber would be wise to listen to Ariene Davidson. Ariene has worked for four other city managers, and in my opinion she's as smart as any of them. She's also the hardest working woman in City Hall.

For those who haven't met Grieshaber, he'll be speaking at the Sanford Chamber of Commerce luncheon on Tuesday, Aug. 19. For more information about that meeting, call the chamber at 407-322-2212.

OPINION

What street is next?

Do you know?

I commend the city of Sanford for those new street signs (name signs) depicting the logo of the city. They are indeed beautiful and I feel certain they draw a great deal of comment from passers-by.

Soon, I hope, that type of sign will be located throughout the city, although to do that will require a considerable draw from the city budget. Nonetheless, I hope it is something in the city's future.

Nick Pfeiffauf

But for a moment, let's change these comments from the new sign, to the plain old everyday signs in our cities, the county, and in most places in the state.

What is the most common reason for fender-benders? Law enforcement agencies will tell you without a moment's hesitation, that it is the lane changing. OK, next question. Why do people change lanes suddenly?

Answer - because they aren't in the lane they want to be to make that turn onto a cross street or into a driveway.

Some cities have incorporated an improved street sign program. They not only tell you the name of the cross street, but the name of the next one coming up.

Savannah is a prime example. Say you are heading north on Abercorn, looking for Liberty. (assuming you have no idea where you are). Right after you pass East Harris, the sign along side the street reads, "Next Light Liberty." If you intend to turn left, you know immediately to get into the left lane. If you want to turn right onto Liberty, you know to get in the right lane. This saves you the problem of waiting until the last minute, just feet before Liberty, to change that lane.

I would imagine that if we had such "coming up next" street signs in addition to those identifying the cross street, we could allow for much earlier lane changes, and possibly reduce the number of fender benders by more than half.

Wouldn't it be great, if our visitors, heading west on First Street from downtown Sanford, not only saw a sign at Park that identified it as the cross street, but another one telling visitors that the next light was French Avenue/U.S. Highway 17.92. Think of how much easier it would be to make proper turns.

Then, too, there are a number of places in Sanford where you don't know that you are in a right turn only lane until you get to within 50 feet of an intersection. Couldn't that information be made available earlier in the oncoming route?

We can thank the city for those nice new street signs - but let's not stop there. We can save accidents by adding a few extra touches. It's up to our city. Will anyone listen?

Letters help citizen become an activist

To Nick Pfeiffauf:

Your recent column on letters to the newspapers has triggered me to once again take to my typewriter to agree with you, and to thank you for your well-written, interesting columns.

In any newspaper that I read, I will always look for that columnist, such as yourself, first. I now subscribe to five newspapers, so I know what I speak. Back in my hometown paper, a man called "The Editor" has a column with so much of interest that you read it first to keep up on what is going on.

I wrote you previously about Mother's Day and have gotten some interest in other local areas about Mother's Day and Father's Day, both of which are West Virginia Methodist-inspired holidays. My local minister was kind enough this year to use some of what I furnished him as he had learned some things he had not known.

And I can take some credit for the mail drop box at the Lake Mary post office being lowered to a decent height after they installed those horrible yellow posts all over the area. I still can't use the drop box on Rinehart Road because of these posts and have to get out of my car to mail a letter. So, they need a letter also.

This time you have touched on a spot in your column that has been of concern to me for literally months. When you turn from French Avenue onto 25th Street going west, there is a pot hole as you make the turn that rattles your guts and almost wrecks the car. Surely someone goes by here who could get this fixed - perhaps the same person you are going to hang by their toes for the other side of 25th Street!

And, Nick, I have learned to never write a letter of criticism to a newspaper for any of its short comings. Newspapers just plain won't print it and cannot be criticized for anything. But, I have also learned to never underestimate the importance and weight of a single letter when something needs to be done. So, perhaps between us we can get 25th Street taken care of!

Keep up the good work - we desperately need you and your good writing, plus an improvement in my typing.

Sincerely,
E. Murray Taylor

Iraqi diary a refreshing change to war coverage

To the editor:

I wanted to say how much I enjoy the Iraq diary about the Iraq war. It is refreshing to hear a serviceman's observation rather than news that is in my opinion filtered, slanted, and screened.

I'm also pleased that at last somebody is mentioning that women are involved in the risks of this war. I think this is a fact that the government would rather not talk about.

I now look forward to each issue so I can read these accounts from someone on the front lines. It is like being with the army without having to share the risks. My prayers are with him and his friends who have been placed in harms way and I hope for their safe return.

Now when I hear news about casualties I think of our soldier writing this diary and his companions. My only worry is that while following this diary that something bad will happen. I certainly hope not, but it does keep me on edge and it should keep all of us on edge as long as these young men and women are in the Middle East. Thanks to the Seminole Herald newspaper, we have this rare opportunity to experience this close up view of the war through the eyes of Sgt. Carlson.

Sincerely,
Paula Romano

Airport name causes confusion

To the editor:

Reading your article about Orlando Sanford International Airport becoming a voting member of MetroPlan Orlando, as a Sanford resident since 1958, I really get upset when I read and see that our airport is called Orlando Sanford International Airport. Why not call it Sanford International Airport? It is in Sanford, not even near Orlando.

After I found out it was going to be named OSIA, I asked around and was told people didn't know where Sanford was. Some people from all over the world know where Sanford is. The Sanford Naval Air Station was here for years. Our men (my husband included) were stationed here and went to all parts of the world and now live in all parts of the country, so people know where Sanford is. Oh yes, don't you recall that Sanford was the first city to start the Golden Age Games.

I recently saw Larry Dale at the dedication of the NAS Sanford Memorial Park ceremony, and I asked him why it is called OSIA. I told him I heard he had it named that, and he said, no, it wasn't him. He did say, "The people in England know where Sanford is." I feel people in our country know where Sanford is also.

In your article about non-stop flights going to Las Vegas, you mention at the beginning of your article that flights would go from Sanford to McCarran International Airport in Las Vegas. Then you say flights arrive in Orlando, I presume you're speaking of Orlando Sanford International. See if it was named correctly, we wouldn't have all these blunders.

I hope others agree with me that Orlando doesn't need to be listed on our airport signs.

FBI loses perspective in investigating terrorist tips

In June, Marc Schultz (cq), an Atlanta bookstore clerk, received a call at work from his mother. "The FBI is here," she said. "They say you're not in trouble; they just want to talk. They want to come to the store."

Schultz said he was puzzled but could only guess the FBI was performing a routine background check on a friend who had applied for a government job. He was wrong. The FBI was after him.

According to Schultz, two agents came to the bookstore and quizzed him about his brief stop at a coffee shop a few days earlier, asking whether he had been reading something while there. Nervous, as he remembered it, it took him a while to recall that he had been reading an article called "Weapons of Mass Stupidity: Fox News hits a new lowest common denominator," a scathing attack on Fox News written by columnist Hal Crowther.

Crowther is a left-leaning writer who frequently lambasts the establishment, but he can hardly be considered a terrorist. Apparently, however, Schultz's mere reading of Crowther's column prompted some bystander to report him to the FBI, who, astonishingly, queried him about it.

Frightening, isn't it?

Cynthia Tucker

If you thought that alarmists were exaggerating the erosion of civil liberties since the terrorist attacks of two years ago, think again. One of many disturbing features of the Patriot Act, pushed hastily through Congress in the panic immediately following 9/11, is that it gives the federal government the authority to inspect or seize the reading lists of any library user or bookstore customer. The feds can get the go-ahead from a secret court without showing probable cause. And a gag order prevents librarians and book retailers from revealing to customers that the government is sifting through their reading lists.

Could George Orwell have been right, after all?

Special Agent Joe Parris, spokesman for the FBI's Atlanta office, says the Schultz episode "is being misconstrued." While reiterating the FBI's standing order to investigate all terrorist leads, Parris insisted,

"We are not thought police. We don't consider something a terrorist lead that someone is standing in a check-out line reading an article that might be misconstrued as critical of American foreign policy. That simply does not and will not happen."

Yet that is exactly what happened. According to Parris, the FBI "received a call from someone who said he was standing in line in a coffee shop behind a young man reading literature concerning WMDs. He attempted to cover up the reading material, and he seemed nervous. ... In the caller's mind, the totality of circumstances alarmed the caller."

That's nonsense. These days, newspaper headlines are full of the phrase "weapons of mass destruction." As it happens, however, Schultz was reading an article titled "Weapons of Mass Stupidity." The last I heard, that's not illegal.

Yet Parris insists that the FBI was compelled to investigate. "God help us if we don't, and it turns out to be the next Mohamed Atta. I think the public expects us in this day and time to be vigilant."

A 25-year-old college graduate who lives with his parents, Schultz says that he's liberal but not criminal. "I had a reckless driving ticket once," he offered.

He's bearded, but his only accent is Southern. He was born and reared in suburban Marietta, Ga. Since writing about the episode in an Atlanta alternative newsweekly, Creative Loafing, Schultz says he's spoken with many friends and acquaintances who are "pretty astonished," as he is. Parris, on the other hand, is clearly exasperated by the continuing media inquiries. When I told him Schultz was the subject of my call, he responded, "Oh, God."

The FBI needs to get a grip. Blindsided by Osama bin Laden and criticized for ignoring critical leads that may have prevented the attack, the agency has responded by abandoning discretion and discernment and investigating everything, including crank tips and irrational suspicions. That wastes time while generating fear and ill will. Those tactics won't get Osama.

Navy Hospitalman Apprentice Jennifer L. Mitchell, daughter of Kern J. and Jim D. Mitchell of Lake Mary, recently graduated from the Basic Hospital Corps School at Naval Hospital Corps School, Great Lakes, Ill.

During the 14-week course, Mitchell learned a wide range of medical procedures used to provide first aid and assist Navy doctors and nurses. Mitchell also received an introductory instruction for service in a variety of medical environments, from fleet hospitals and shipboard medical departments to fleet Marine forces and medical administration offices.

Graduates newly acquired skills and knowledge will enable them to help provide quality health care to Navy and Marine Corps personnel and their families. Mitchell's first assignment after school will involve direct patient care, but with her training, Mitchell can work in several areas, including first aid and assisting with minor surgery, pharmacy and laboratory analysis, patient transportation and food service inspections.

Mitchell is a 2001 graduate of Lake Mary High School in Lake Mary. She joined the Navy in October 2002.

where it is safest. While talking with General Rasool, he told me where different members of Hussein's VIPs lived as we passed by their houses on the way to the airport. He thought it was funny to see U.S. soldiers "picnicking," as he called it, at Saddam's palace compounds.

He told me that Saddam told him that his mission, if the U.S. invaded, was to take U.S. bombers out of the sky. He said that he was working on plans to develop an early warning system for high altitude aircraft but stopped work on it as others in the Regime wanted to steal his ideas. I got my photo taken with General Rasool too.

We arrived at the airport and I had my trucks parked along the road in front of Viper Main HQ while I went inside to fill out my report. When I came out it was dark outside. As soon as my squad saw me they all started the vehicles and I got in my vehicle and my motorcade went back through the city to our base. I feel like some kind of warlord in charge of an armed motorcade rolling through Baghdad.

We stopped at a little makeshift PX and I bought myself a pillow and some snacks. Then we went home.

May 18, 2003 Tomorrow we, [the 1st Platoon,

Nightstalkers,] are getting an Iraqi police station up and running where I will be a desk sergeant for awhile. Then we are to rebuild another station in the bad area over in Saddam City, a section of Baghdad.

At each of these I will be a desk sergeant for awhile. It is like shift work from 0700 to 1900. If a complaint comes in, we will roll out with two teams along with the ITF [Iraqi police force]. One station that was recently reopened in Baghdad was hit with an RPG [rocket propelled grenade] that caused a lot of casualties.

Next issue: Desk sergeant deals with thugs and stray cats.

intended to be the voice for some part of the community not represented by or on the board, I may not like her or agree with her ideas, but I would support the right for the voice to be heard. She has not done that. What Ms. Powers has, in fact done, is state many times in public that her mission is to neuter the S codes and dissolve the district. She has actively gone into the community to create ill will and disharmony about preservation.

She went on to write, "A good board member does not have to agree with the views of other board members. Many of our more challenging applications show the diversity of our thoughts and opinions - we do not necessarily vote in concert with one another nor interpret the, somewhat difficult, current S code in the same way. To be a good board member one must also respect the process and basic tenets of the code and intend to uphold these. Ms. Powers does neither. Her appointment should be revoked...her appointment will only damage Sanford."

Powers disagrees, saying her views have always been on the table and that she was honest with commissioners during her interview for the appointment.

"She has said she can go against the Schedule S," said Commissioner Art Woodruff. "She told us that in her interview and the Commission voted her in.

"I don't see that we have cause to remove her because she's doing what she said she would do," he added.

According to Powers, since the June vote, the atmosphere surrounding the board has been a tense one. In fact, Powers says the chairman of the HPB, Scott R. Singeisen, has not attended a meeting since the board recommended her removal. Singeisen did not respond to repeated attempts to reach him requesting comment on this issue.

"I wasn't going to resign like everybody else," said Powers, who believes five members in the last two years have resigned when discussions of removal recommendations began. "I think it [having commission deny the HPB's request for removal] will make things worse. These [the HPB] ignored me and my ideas before. Now they're really going to remove me. I don't think they will accept anything that comes out of my mouth."

Powers believed it was a letter written by her fellow HPB members in April that prompted the board to recommend her removal. In the letter, she wrote: "I am not impressed with the Historic Preservation Board members. They run on emotion, ego and they do not conduct themselves professionally. They do not consider any one's feelings, investment or time. When the people [applicant] leave, they get away frustrated."

According to Anthony

Cerli, Sanford staff liaison to the HPB, the commissioners' decision to keep Powers on the HPB will not have a negative impact on the board. She said the group will continue to be asked to help the historic district and to comply with the new Schedule S, which was approved Monday as well.

Cerli declined to comment on the reason the HPB voted to remove Powers.

School Shooter" Program, which will be used in 60 schools for teacher in-service training. This program outlines steps to take should a school shooting take place.

In addition to serving as a School Resource Officer, he teaches at the Florida Crime Prevention Training Institute, which is operated through the Attorney General's Office, and has conducted the Basic Training Courts for School Resource Officers.

This summer Day designed and conducted a workshop for School Resource Officers.

Day is highly involved in his community through numerous activities including the Police Athletic League and the police cadets program.

Also honored were 10 law enforcement officers who received the designation as School Resource Officer Practitioner.

Since 1988, the Florida Crime Prevention Training Institute (FCPTI) has offered the designation of School Resource Officer Practitioner. This designation is conferred to document an individual's successful completion of a series of SRO training courses offered by FCPTI.

The officer must complete the basic training course (40 hours), plus an additional 90 hours of law enforcement courses applicable to the role of SRO obtained through courses offered by the Institute.

To date, more than 250 School Resource Officers have been certified as practitioners.

The Way We Were: Looking back to the early 1960s

I am presently cleaning out cabinets, drawers, closets, etc. and have unearthed all sorts of "stuff" including several Sanford *Herald*s kept for various reasons. They have some interesting articles in them so will be bringing you information from them occasionally. Since I am beginning my tenth year in writing this column, I'm always looking for new material to use!

The Sanford Herald I have selected to give you information from today is the Thursday, January 12, 1961 edition.

Degrees Conferred by Eastern Star

The degree of the Order of Eastern Star was impressively conferred on Mr. and Mrs. George W. Carver and Aaron F. Wooten at a recent meeting of Seminole Chapter No. 2 O.E.S. held at the Masonic Temple. They were presented with gifts of small Bibles by the Worthy Matron, Mrs. Majorie Shepard.

Newly affiliated member, Mrs. Mervay Monroe Roberts, was cordially welcomed and was escorted to the secretary's desk to sign the chapter by laws.

Annual reports were given by the financial and auditing committees. Mother Advisor of the Rainbow Girls, Mrs. Kathleen Reynolds, asked for strong support and attendance at meetings. She reported that Shirlene Shepard, daughter of the Worthy Matron, had attained the high honor of being elected to the station of Hope in the Grand Assembly.

Mrs. Helen Leinhart, Associate Matron, read the following recommendations for the Rainbow Advisory Board; Virginia Anderacht, John Carver, Irma Jean Corley, Harvey Durn, Ethel Feurifoy, Kathleen Reynolds, Billie Schnable, Majorie Shepard, Leslie Shepard, Elizabeth Thompson, and Lucile Wooten. The recommendations were accepted.

Mrs. Essie Cole and her committee served delis refreshments after the meeting.

P.V. Lord's Plan Celebration

Rev and Mrs. P.V. Lord planned to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary with an open house on Sunday afternoon at their home 2507 Yale Avenue.

They had 11 children, 40 grandchildren, 56 great grandchildren and four great great grandchildren. Most of these planned to attend the celebration.

All friends and relatives of the couple were invited to attend from 3-5 p.m.

Sanford Does Plan Ceremony

Members of the Sanford Drive 160 BPO Does were planning an installation service of new officers on Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

The ceremony would be held at the civic center and was open to the public. Members of the Orlando Drive would serve as installing officers.

Those to be installed were Mrs. Pete Bowerson, president; Mrs. Richard Mapes, 1st Counselor; Mrs. Brad Floey, senior counselor; and Mrs. Ralph Jones, junior counselor.

A buffet meal at the Elks Club would be served following the ceremony.

New Arrival

Mr. and Mrs. Jessie L. Galloway announced the birth of a son, Colin Forbes, on December 30 at Seminole Memorial Hospital.

The father is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T.F. Galloway, 419 Pecan Avenue, and the mother is a native of Chicago.

The couple makes their home in Venezuela. Jesse Galloway will arrive on January 28 to spend a month's leave before taking his family back to South America.

New Shopping Center to be Constructed

Work was to begin the next week on a shopping center on Celery Avenue at Mellonville. Owner was Joe Gazil, also owner of the Trip Top Market on Sanford Avenue.

The new shopping center would include a Handy Food Store, laundromat with an air-conditioned lounge and a beauty and barber shop. It would be 5200 square feet with work being done by the A.B. Williams, Jr. Construction Company.

Helping other through Renewing Minds

Do you have a problem as a drug abuser? Are you homeless, slightly handicapped or intellectually impaired? Is your home environment detrimental to your return home? Women of Renewing Minds of Faith Bible Ministries, Inc., 813 Pecan Avenue, Sanford, under the CEO and President Stephanie McClain Little, 407-687-3739, and the Executive Director Eleanore D. Graham, 407-687-3826, can help.

Merva Hawkins

These women and their staff offer help and provide a Transitional Housing/Supportive Service Project. Renewing Minds is for adult females who are disabled by substance abuse.

The population served includes displaced veterans, migrant workers, African Americans, Haitians and whites. Those with present serious health problems led by alcohol, drug abuse, mental illness, disabilities, improper diets and HIV/AIDS infections are also served. This population is further characterized by weak social support systems, poor employment histories, language barriers, literary problems and feelings of negative self-worth.

G.E.O. Littles says the primary focuses of the program are homelessness, literacy, work place, employability, skill training, health, mental health, substances service. Also, they will teach self-sufficiency, life social skills, basic writing and mathematics skills in the vocational context of business, industry and entrepreneurship with focus on critical thinking and problem solving skills that are essential to the workplace.

Director Graham spoke of the need for participants to be assessed, provided with an initial customized implementation and training plan, and to provide assistance in skill improvement. The anticipated length of stay for each female resident is six months.

Women of Renewing Minds of Faith Bible Ministries, Inc., a Sanford not-for-profit corporation, was established to assist and remind citizens they play a role in their own community's safety by helping them discover that a personally and socially free society requires taking some responsibility for the financial and supportive services needed for the development of community-based, especially faith-based, prevention, intervention and diversionary program.

A Transitional Housing is designed to reduce crime, illicit drug use and abuse violence and related problems in Seminole County.

This nonprofit organization will accept donations to help with the success of this faith-based project with a mission, vision, inspired to help females.

On the beat in more ways than one

Welcome to Stetson's Corner, where weekly we hope to share a bit of what is good about the town of Geneva. This column is dedicated to a man who did the same - Deputy Sheriff Gene "Stetson" Gregory, who was killed in the line of duty July 8, 1998 in the place he was sworn to protect, but which could not protect him. Geneva will never be the same because of Deputy Gregory... it will be better.

Having spent the better part of the last two weeks ... in my other favorite small town - Murphy, NC - I thought I'd share a bit of parallel news from there with you to start out. You see they have a "Stetson" of their own, so to speak. His name is Jeffery Postell and he is the Murphy Police Officer credited with the capture of one of the FBI's most wanted fugitives, Eric Rudolph. Rudolph, charged with the 1998 bombing outside of a Birmingham, Alabama abortion clinic that killed one (an off-duty police officer) and seriously injured another, is also a suspect in the Olympic Park Bombing in Atlanta. He has also haunted my children for the last five years. It was always suspected that Rudolph was hiding in the woods surrounding Murphy—the very place we vacation several times each year. And what do we do there? We head for the woods. We hike, swim, fish and explore to our heart's content. That is, we did until the children caught wind of the Rudolph story and became frozen with fear at the thought of running into him on a hike, or that he might have his eyes on our little cabin there as a place to hide out for a while. So this trip was much more relaxed. We even saw Officer Postell on a number of occasions and went wild with cheers and laughter in our car as we drove past. (I think there are maybe five officers there, so it was easy to run into him!)

Daria Scoles

Knowing that Rudolph was now behind bars made all the difference. Jeffery Postell is our hero too. And the local paper there—The Cherokee Scout—agrees. They had this to say about Postell. "He might be modest about it, but the Murphy Police Officer ... is getting a taste of stardom."

"Jeffery Postell has been the center of attention from one extreme to the next. The subject of countless news articles, he was named one of People magazine's 25 hottest bachelors in its June edition. Last Wednesday, the 22-year-old was honored by North Carolina Senators as an outstanding model of law enforcement's best."

"He is a man of high integrity, he is fair, honest, and he possesses a Will Rogers' attitude," said Senator Bob Carpenter, who represents Cherokee County.

Continues the Scout: "Postell grew up in Cherokee County and said it was his lifelong dream to be a police officer. He has been on the force in Murphy a year."

"So you can imagine what I'm going through right here," Postell said, speaking on the Senate floor. "I don't believe I deserve this."

Well, the Scoles family does. And like the sentiments that were often used to describe Geneva's Deputy Gene "Stetson" Gregory, they agree with the words used by Murphy Mayor Bill Hughes concerning Postell. Said Hughes, "Postell is a fine young gentleman, a top notch professional and exemplifies everything that anyone going into law enforcement might possess."

There is one thing, however that Geneva has that Murphy cannot match ... The Greater Geneva Grande Award Marching Band! I don't want to let the month of July slip away without some mention of this new town favorite. From my 'pole position' (banner carrier) in front of the band, I thoroughly enjoyed the looks on the faces of spectators as they heard the band approach.

ing. They were delighted and were not shy in showing that delight and support of the fact that this year's 4th of July parade had such a wonderful new addition. They clapped, they waved, they sang, they yelled, they tapped their toes. They loved the band.

As organizer Richard Simonton passed on to band members in a recent newsletter ... "There is no denying that The Greater Geneva Grande Award Marching band was a resounding and unqualified success! So thanks to all of you who made it so. And thanks also to those who recruited others as players or music holders or flag bearers.

"Every section of the band deserves recognition: The Yankee Doodle flute section, the God Bless America clarinets, and the one-man saxophone section. And the brass: The mighty trumpet section, including brave Emily, the trombones, euphoniums (euphonia?), and basses (sousaphones).

"Of course, we couldn't have kept it all together without our percussion, including our master drummer, bells, and tambourines. Thanks, too, to our color guard, flag wavers, banner team, truck driver and hood ornament.

"Special thanks are due to Ruth for much of the preparation and enthusiasm which made it all possible, as well as for bringing the flags. And to Chaz, whose family and friends joined in. And to Porter for pulling the water wagon and saving many lives with cool, refreshing water. And of course to our fearless leader, Tony (AKA Stinky), who quite miraculously turned us into a band in half an hour's time."

Public comment regarding the band ... was favorable also. "I think everyone absolutely loved the band. They were surprised and thrilled. I am just sorry I had to miss the performance at the community center. People said it was really good. Everyone is hoping for a repeat next year! Thanks for improving the Geneva Parade so much!" (Cindy S.) ...

"I just want you to know I really enjoyed the band in the parade. Everybody that I spoke with said it made the parade complete. Not only that but they were 'good', and then completed it by playing at the hall. Wow! It was the best. Please let the members know that we truly enjoyed them and really hope we have a repeat of this next year." (Marge E.)

"Thanks are due for a job well done. Please let your band members know how much they were appreciated!" (M. & M.J.) ...

"Great!" (Dana)
"Ditto!" (Darla)

Sunshine Network to air three UCF classics

Special to the Herald

Sunshine Network continues its Gridiron Classics series today (Saturday) with UCF as the main attraction.

The summer-long series will feature "Golden Knight Saturday" and will highlight UCF's rise into the ranks of Division I-A. Programming will feature three past UCF contests, including two with former UCF All-American and current Minnesota Vikings starting quarterback Daunte Culpepper.

The first game, which will air at

"Golden Knight Saturday" to feature Daunte Culpepper

noon, took place on Sept. 22, 2001 when the Golden Knights traveled to the Big Easy to take on Tulane in the Louisiana Superdome. UCF emerged victorious following a record-setting day from running back Alek Haynes. The freshman set a Golden Knights record with four rushing touchdowns and finished the day with 148 yards on the ground. Quarterback Ryan Schneider got the job done through the air, finishing with 338 yards in UCF's 36-29 win over the Green Wave.

Game two, which will be shown at 7:30 p.m., highlights UCF's 38-31, road win at Bowling Green back on Sept. 26, 1998. Led by Culpepper, who ran for a score and struck for three through the air, the Golden Knights posted an impressive come-from-behind victory. After finishing the game with 320 yards, Culpepper became the Golden Knights all-time career passing yardage leader. UCF went on to finish with a school-best 9-2 season record.

The final contest will be aired starting at 10:30 p.m. and will showcase the Golden Knights 64-30 win against Louisiana Tech back on Sept. 5, 1998. The game marked

Post 53 ousted in Area finals

By Dean Smith
Sports Editor

For the second time, the Sanford Campbell-Lossing American Legion Post 53 will not win three straight championships. And for the second time, they did not even make it to the State Tournament to have a shot at defending their title.

Back in 1997, Post 53 won its first-ever State Championship and went on to claim the World Series title behind Tim Raines Jr., Chaz Lytle and Chris Louwsma, all of whom have gone on to pursue Major League dreams.

The team came back to repeat as state champs in 1998 but were ousted in the Area Tournament in 1998.

After an off year in 2000, the team re-emerged as the top team in the state, and possibly in the country, rolling to the State

Reds of Summer

Special to the Herald

David Schofield of Winter Springs landed the redfish of a lifetime on July 29, 2003.

Steve, David's dad, chartered my boat on Tuesday to learn some techniques for catching redfish. We departed from the dock at 5:30 a.m. for a little early morning action. As we traveled to our first spot the phosphorus was streaming bright green.

Upon arrival to the first hole we quietly poled around as the sounds of dolphin crushing mullet could be heard in the distance. We quietly moved around in hopes of seeing tailing reds. We were not disappointed. The sun was breaking the horizon on this perfect morning and there were tails of redfish waving high.

As we eased the Hell's Bay toward the fish we met up with Captain John Lulay of Chuluota. The fish spooked and moved away, so Captain Lulay and I anchored up in an area we knew the fish would stay. The next thing I hear is Steve's reel singing. After a 15 minute tussle the hook somehow pulled loose. Within five minutes 15-year-old David's reel began to scream and after another struggle the fish zoomed under the boat and the line hit a trim tab and broke.

We were all a little heart broken because both fish were pretty big. After rigging David's pole, his next cast led to another hook up. This fish hit and ran about 100 yards of line on his first run. As we pulled up the anchor we began to get some line back and then the fish took off again, this run was about 40 yards. After about 20-25 minutes the fish was alongside the boat and we could not believe the size of the fish.

I flipped the fish with my Boga Grip and they bottomed out the 30 pound scale. I grabbed the Shimano 50 pound spring scale and I thought they were going to bottom out. This red of a lifetime went a whopping 43 pounds and was 51 inches long. After some quick pictures we revived the fish and released him to swim again.

We decide to leave that area and ended up catching two more nice reds which went nine- and 15-pounds, respectively. The smile and excitement on all of our faces was priceless.

This summer has been awesome for big redfish. My clients and friends have boated 30 fish over the 25 pound mark this year. All of the fish have been caught using light tackle. I rig with Ande 10-pound test, Shimano Stradic 4000 or Fin-Nor 4000 Reels, Stiffy fishing rods, Daiichi hooks and 20 pound fluorocarbon leaders.

Some of the fish have been caught on Rip Tide soft plastics, a variety of topwater plugs and a variety of live baits. The secret to catching these slobberknockers is a quiet approach. It is important to keep the fish off to the side of the boat, cast in front of the fish, let the fish come to the bait and be patient and courteous. Work with other guys if you find a nice school. I have seen schools of 300-to-500 fish this year. My good friend, Captain John Lulay, and I have worked together many times and it makes a huge difference.

Follow these tips and you too can catch the Reds Of Summer.

Tight lines and good fishing, Captain David Rogers, 407-405-0819, aahawgwild-charters.com.

David Schofield of Winter Springs holds the 43-pound 'slobber-knocker' redfish, he caught this past Tuesday. The 51-inch monster nearly dwarfs the 15-year-old, 5-foot-10 Schofield, who will be a sophomore at Winter Springs High School this fall.

Free admission for SpeedWorld Saturday Spectacular II

From Staff Reports

Race fans looking for some quality competition this weekend can see some great racing action at Orlando SpeedWorld tonight (Saturday) without ever opening up their wallets.

Track General Manager Dick Westfall, in an attempt to get more fans to visit the 3/8 mile facility which will celebrate 30 years of racing next year, will open the front grandstand area free of charge for the Saturday Spectacular II which will again feature seven classes of "spec" series racers.

The first Saturday Spectacular held in May was an overwhelming success, so much so that it "overwhelmed" an under-staffed crew that was not expecting such incredible support from the various classes of cars in attendance.

"In no way did I expect the number of cars and the quality of racing that we had in May," says Westfall. "Needless to say, we weren't prepared but did the best we could under the circumstances. Don't get me wrong, we loved the response, but we should have been more ready to deal with the big field. This time we'll be ready with more people, more wrecks if we need them and the show should run much smoother."

All of the classes who took part at the first event in May will be back Saturday night including the Classic Auto Racing Series, Legends, Mod Lites, Pro Challenge, Mini Cups, TQ Late Models and kids' Banderos. The Banderos also run every Friday at SpeedWorld and are coming off a very successful national event held last Saturday here.

"The competition these classes provide is awesome," says Westfall. "Fans will be surprised at just how much side by side racing they'll see."

One hundred and eighteen cars ran in the May event and that many or more are expected Saturday.

DeLand's Ben Booth, who leads the Classic Auto Racing Series points chase, will head up a great field of the "Modifieds of yesteryear" and this will be the only class that will run V-8 engines.

Booth finished runner-up to defending CAPS Champion Jim Rahman in the May event here and both should be heavy Mike Kruczek's first victory as head coach of the Golden Knights. Culpepper again paced UCF as he threw for four scores and ran for a pair. He finished the day with 370 yards through the air. Receivers Kenny Clark and Mark Nonsant each went over the century mark in receiving as the duo collected 120 and 102 yards, respectively.

2003 "KNIGHTS ROUNDTABLE" SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED

The UCF ISP Sports Network has announced the schedule for the 2003 "Knights Roundtable", the call-in show for head football coach Mike Kruczek.

The show, hosted by the voice of the Golden Knights Marc Daniels, will be held again this year at Applebee's on University Blvd.

The show will be carried live on 740 The Team, the flagship station of UCF Athletics. In addition, fans from across the nation can listen live to the event via the Internet at www.ucfathletics.com, the official athletics website of UCF.

The "Knights Roundtable" will air live from 6 p.m.-7 p.m. throughout the season.

The show will air on the following Thursdays, Aug. 28, Sept. 11, 18 and 25, Oct. 2, 9, 16, 23 and 30, and Nov. 6.

The final three shows will air on Monday, Nov. 17, Wednesday, Nov. 26 and Tuesday, Dec. 2, if UCF advances to the MAC Championship Game.

FREDRICK WAGNER NAMED ASSISTANT VOLLEYBALL COACH

UCF volleyball head coach Meg Colado announced the hiring of Fredrick Wagner as an assistant coach for the Golden Knights. Wagner, a veteran of the volleyball coaching ranks for 20 years, will serve as the team video coordinator in addition to on-court coaching and recruiting responsibilities.

"I am excited to join an established program with such success and vision for the future," commented Wagner.

Wagner, who has previous Division I coaching experience as an assistant coach and recruiting coordinator, has had a variety of coaching stops in his career. Wagner has an impressive 472-113 (.800) career record as a coach including a 135-54 mark as a high school head coach and a remarkable 275-47 career club mark.

Some of Wagner's significant achievements include being named the Colorado High School Coach of the Year twice in addition to winning three state championships.

A talented recruiter, Wagner has tutored 13 all-state selections, 26 all-league players and 52 academic all-state student-athletes in his career. He has also mentored the Colorado Volleyball Player of the Year four times.

CRAIN HIRED AS HEAD COACH OF WOMEN'S ROWING

Lecanne Crain has been hired as head coach of the UCF women's rowing program effective on Aug. 1. Golden Knights' Athletics Director Steve Orsini announced on Friday, July 18.

Crain, only the second coach in the history of the UCF program, comes to Orlando after a decade as the head coach at the University of San Diego. During her time at USD, she was named West Coast Conference (WCC) Coach of the Year in both 1997 and 2003. Her athletes also enjoyed numerous individual successes as they won 15 WCC All-Conference honors and 13 College Rowing Coaches Association (CRCA) National Scholar-Athlete awards. Two Tereros earned CRCA Division I All-Region recognition, while one was named to the CRCA Division I All-America Team.

During Crain's tenure at USD, the Tereros earned medals at the California State Championships, Western Intercollegiate Rowing Association (WIRA) Championships, West Coast Conference Championships and Pacific Coast Rowing Championships. The team placed second at the West Coast Conference Championships the last two seasons.

In 2003, the Tereros placed fifth of 41 schools in the Varsity 8+ Grand Final at Philadelphia's prestigious Dad Vail Regatta.

Crain is currently a member of the NCAA Women's Rowing Committee and also she served as chairperson of the West Regional Advisory Committee and secretary of the WIRA Board of Stewards.

Crain rowed for UCLA from 1985-1988 and was selected to the Pac-10 All-Conference team as a senior - the same season she served as captain. She was also a member of the U.S. National Team in 1988 and 1990 before beginning her coaching career as an assistant at her alma mater in 1990.

"We are looking forward to having Lecanne join UCF Athletics," said Associate Athletics Director and Senior Woman Administrator Mary Kaufman. "With goals of winning a national championship, the UCF rowing program will benefit from Lecanne's leadership qualities, technical expertise, and winning records - both as a college coach and as a member of UCLA's rowing team."

Crain will guide a UCF women's rowing program that has won seven consecutive Florida Intercollegiate Rowing Association Championships.

Championship, at home, in 2001, losing only one game the entire season before falling in the Southeast Regional finals to a team it had beaten, soundly, earlier in the tournament.

Post 53 actually was not favored to repeat in 2002, but the team pulled together and rolled to its fourth State Championship in six years and again advanced to the Regionals.

A rule change this year regarding the date on which a player's age was determined seemed to play right into the hands of the Sanford team as the change allowed 14 members of the 2001 champions to return for another season, including several players who had a year of junior college experience under their belts.

The team was impressive, but it seemed to be missing the fire and unwillingness to lose that past Sanford teams had displayed.

The team would play well in several high profile tournaments that it played in, but just could not seem to win the big game this season.

Things looked to be changing as the squad won the District Championship over the likes of strong clubs from Oviedo and Altamonte Springs and headed to the Eastern Area Tournament in Vero Beach with high hopes of earning a third straight trip to the State Tournament, this year to be held in Lantana.

The tournament started well for Post 53 with a win over Ft. Pierce Post 358, but on Saturday, Ron Matheny belted two homers, including a tie-breaking solo shot in the seventh inning, then added a three-run blast in the ninth as the Indian River Express rallied for a 5-1 victory at Vero Beach High School.

Ross Pardee (5-1) earned the victory by striking out six and allowing only three hits in four innings of shutout relief. Express starter David Tunstall allowed one run and three hits in five innings before a ball hit him above the right kneecap, forcing him to leave the game.

Sanford led 1-0 until C.J. Rich's two-out single brought home Jobe with two outs in the sixth inning.

Post 53 bounced back to defeat Fort Pierce, again, later Saturday night, earning another shot at the Express, which it would have to defeat twice on Sunday to win the title.

But the Express, a squad comprising Vero Beach and Sebastian River High School players, never really gave the two-time state champions a chance as it rolled to a 4-1 win in the first game to advance to the State Class A Tournament, which began Friday at Lantana.

One part of the Express team reached the Class 6A state baseball semifinals, and the other upset one of the nation's top teams in a spring tournament.

Randy Hamrick, who played on a Vero Beach High squad that reached the state semifinals, navigated through a couple of tough stretches in the early innings to throw a complete-game three-hitter. Hamrick struck out three, while walking one, but he did hit three batters with pitches.

Hamrick got help from catcher Randall Shepherd, who hit a two-run home run with two outs in the second inning to open the scoring of Sanford pitcher Dominic Petracca.

It was pitching and some stellar outfield defense that helped the Sebastian High Sharks defeat Riverside High School of Greenville, S.C., which was ranked in the top five in some national polls, in the Southeastern Baseball Classic in Hartsville, S.C.

Express coach George Young said the homer shifted momentum Indian River's way, especially because it came off pitcher Dominic Petracca, who was 9-2 with Daytona Beach Community College this season.

The Hamrick-Shepherd duo also teamed up in the first inning to keep Sanford off the scoreboard. Sanford had runners on first and third with one out when Hamrick uncorked a wild pitch. Shepherd chased the ball down and fired it to Hamrick to tag Matt Fraysier out at home.

The Express (31-6) added a run in the third inning when Diogo Dykes scored on Donny Jobe's single for a 3-0 lead. Hamrick faced his biggest challenge in the fourth inning, as Sanford scored a run to cut the Express lead to 3-1 and loaded the bases with two outs. Hamrick got the next batter to pop up. That started a string of 10 straight Sanford batters retired by Hamrick, ending Post 53's hopes.
