Catcalls Pierce Silence

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP)—An occasional catcall pierced the desert silence throughout the night at the Nevada State Prison as some 223 convicts stubbornly carried on a sitdown strike in the flood-lit prison yard. The prisoners—less 136 trustees—started their rebellion at 3:40 p.m. yesterday when they began milling about the open yard instead of lining up for dinner as is customary. They demanded an interview with Gov. Charles Russell and declared they would not return to their cell blocks until they talked with him. Among the inmates' demands were "more variety in food... discharge of a prison doctor and captain of the guard... twice yearly personal appearances before the State Parole Board... more work for inmates... no reprisals because of the rebellion... lower prices at the prison commissary." "I'm not promising anything. Most of the grievances are unfounded," Warden Art Bernard said.

Commission Okays Tentative Budget

Herndon Commends County

Bid Is Accepted For Two Trucks
A tentative County budget for the next fiscal year beginning October 1, 1955 was accepted at this morning's session of the County Commission meeting. The budget consisting of a total of $930,022.51 will come up again before the commissioners for adoption at their meeting on August 2, 1955. The tentative budget included $148,701.25 in the fine and forfeiture fund; road and bridge fund, $421,326.25, of which $296,796.83 was for appropriations, $10,244.57 for reserve for contingencies, and $64,265.25 reserve for cash balance to be carried forward. The general fund is $559,993.01 with total appropriations being $257,649.21. Reserves for cash balance to be carried forward is $71,999.00. Seminole County Clerk, O. P. Herndon complimented the County Commissioners stating that the County was in a healthy financial condition. The commission accepted the bid of Strickland-Morrison to supply the County with two trucks for $4,010.82 with allowance on old equipment. Others submitting bids were Seminole County Motors and Sanford Motor Truck Co. John McLaughlin of Lake Mary appeared before the commissioners requesting that the county open a street into some property on which he wanted to build a house. The commissioners refused, stating that if they opened a street for one developer they would have to do the same for others. John Fox, county right-of-way agent, appeared before the commissioners with a deed from the Overstreet Land Co. that was accepted for future use. The property that was affected was 2 1/2 feet at the Big Tree Crossing facing Hensons Area one half mile from the Sanford Orlando Highway.

Suspicion Aids Lengthy Efforts To Find Teller

CLEVELAND (AP)—A woman's suspicion provided the tip which last night enabled the FBI to cut short a months-long effort to find a young bank teller accused of embezzling $98,780 from a Staten Island, N. Y., bank last Sept. 28. The woman had seen a picture of the teller's wife in a New York newspaper, and last Saturday she thought she saw her bring a pair of men's trousers into a dry cleaning shop in neighboring Lorain County. She was right. As a result, FBI agents last night arrested John C. Blomer, 24, and his wife Henrietta, 28, in South Amherst (pop. 1,000), 35 miles west of here. The Blomers were living there under the name of Mr. and Mrs. Charles MacFayick. With them were their three children, aged 4, 2, and 1. They had been there since November, and Blomer was working off and on selling real estate. H. O. Hawkins, Cleveland FBI chief, said $20,000 was found in a suitcase tucked away over some papers in the house. Previously at Blomer's home in New York, police had recovered $6,500.

Memo Submitted To Commissioners; Resignation Of Johnson Revealed

Segni Presses Vote For Confidence Of Italian Senate

ROME (AP)—Premier Antonio Segni pressed today for a vote of confidence from the Senate after getting a 293-266 approval from the Chamber of Deputies for his coalition government. The vote in the Chamber last night, 7 above the required majority of 280, was Segni's first parliamentary test. The new Premier, a left-of-center Christian Democrat and advocate of social reform, formed his coalition July 6. His support came from the Christian Democrats, the allied Social Democrats, Liberals and Republicans. Aiding approval of his government last week, Segni told the Chamber the political and economic unification of Europe "remains an absolute necessity." "Our entire foreign policy," he said, "remains based on our absolute support of Western European unity, and our continued loyalty to the Atlantic Pact as an instrument of defense."

Family Of Eight Has House Problem

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A Miami couple with six children and another on the way were looking for an apartment or house today—5 a.m. They said they had tried 126 times to rent a place since they moved here from St. Louis in January. "You know these ads in the paper that say children are welcome?" Robert Allen said. "That's okay until they see those six kids of ours, with another on the way. That kills it."

American Farmers Tour Soviet Lands

MOSCOW (AP)—Twelve American farmers headed for the Soviet hinterlands today to see how Russia's farmers do it. The visiting American farm delegation left last night on a 30-day tour of the Ukraine, Central Asia and previously virgin lands of Siberia now being cultivated. The Americans got their first Russian soil in their shoes yesterday in a visit to Looch, a collective farm 20 miles west of Moscow. They reported the livestock looked fine but the expenditure of labor would shock farmers at home. The number of women at work startled them too. "We saw as many as 30 people in a hay field," Charles J. Hearst, of Cedar Falls, Iowa, reported. "If back home in Iowa we had three people working the same hay field that would be a lot."

GMC Appointment Told For Company

The recent appointment of the Sanford Motor Truck Co., 1401 French Ave., as exclusive dealer for Sanford and Seminole County of the well known line of GMC Trucks, was announced by the GMC Truck and Coach Division of General Motors Corporation. Daniel Lopez, the owner and general manager of the local organization, has had a long and varied experience in trucks, cabs, and buses. Born in Woodbridge, N. J., Lopez was at one time general manager of the Middlesex Bus Co. of that city. He is married to the former Miss Peggy Small, of Passaic, N. J., at one time a TWA Airline hostess. With their two children, Marilyn and Daniel Jr., they reside at 1411 Park Ave.

Vaccine Provision For Many Children Is Voted By Senate

NEW YORK (AP)—The Senate has voted to provide free Salk polio vaccine for millions of children under 20 and expectant mothers. The next move is up to the House, whose Commerce Committee last week approved a somewhat different free vaccine bill. Senate action yesterday came on a voice vote. The only audible "no" vote was cast by Sen. Morse (D-Ore). He objected that the measure "only scratches the surface."

House To Be Asked To Speed Up Action On Controversy

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—The House will be asked today to speed action on the reapportionment question by cutting down recess time, ending vote pairing and withholding the expense allowances of members absent more than one day in a row. Both House and Senate return to work at 4 p. m. after an extended weekend recess. The House will have before it its trio of speed-up resolutions plus a pending amendment to a reapportionment bill which would have the effect of making the measure virtually the same as the one vetoed by Gov. Collins last week. The Senate has nothing before it unless it decides to take final action on a House reapportionment bill which has been dangling for some days now. The House measure, which was passed before all attention became focused on the bill which wound up with a veto, would give a senator each to Bay, Monroe, Manatee and Sarasota counties.

American Legion Post No. 53 Votes To Up Membership Dues

The American Legion Post No. 53 met last night for regular meeting in the Legion Hut with Commander George Maybury presiding. After the usual business the post had recommendation of the majority of the executive committee that the dues of the post be raised three to five dollars per year. This has been a controversial subject for several years and action is just now being taken, it was stated. Last night at the meeting when the vote of the post was taken it was unanimous. Dues for 1956 are payable now. Five dollars is the new rate. Also there were two major committee appointments made. The first; made up of J. D. Cordell, J. Q. (Slim) Galloway and R. Z. Johnson, will be a committee to have charge of the floor of the new fair building. As of now the floor is not suitable for dancing or extra activities and the committee will see about having the floor finished. The second committee, having R. Z. Johnson, W. C. Hires, Jim Singletary, Karlisa Housholder and Gordon Frederick on it, was formed to coordinate the social activities of the post so that it will be more interesting for the members and their families. Guy Stafford, an old member of the post who "held it together during World War I," was a visitor. He is now a member of Post 33 in Pensacola.

Senators Keeping Faint Hopes Alive For Bill's Survival

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Democratic-sponsored bill to broaden social security benefits for women and disabled workers appeared today to have run its course for this year when it passed the House yesterday. However, key senators were reluctant to pronounce dead for this session a measure with obvious political appeal. The House pushed the measure through yesterday 372-31 with only 8 Democrats and 23 Republicans voting "no". The bill would lower from 65 to 62 the age at which women may get social security benefits and permit payments to disabled workers after age 50 instead of at 65. The increased benefits for women and the disabled, estimated to amount to about 600 million dollars in the first year, would be financed by adding 1/2 per cent each to the payroll tax paid by the employer and employee.

Near-Tragedy Of Rudderless B36 Told By Air Force

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—The story of a near-tragedy involving a rudderless B36 with 29 men aboard was disclosed by the Air Force yesterday. The bomber lost a big section of its tail as it headed for Denver last week to fly over dedication ceremonies at the new Air Force Academy. The plane was about 30 miles from Denver at the time, and loss of the 32-foot-high rudder section left the craft without effective controls, the Air Force said. It made an emergency landing with the help of the aileron controls on its wings and a sister bomber that flew up alongside to accompany it to Ellsworth AFB, S. D., for a safe landing. The lost rudder was found on the ground near Limon, Colo. Both he and his colleague, Rep. Cleveland expressed displeasure with the method of submitting vouchers on the date of July 30 for payment just as the legislature was supposed to adjourn which precluded the actual checking of the vouchers. This will be remedied they stated with the new interim auditing committee functioning before the next legislature. The three members of the local delegation held the attention of their auditors past the usual adjournment time of the meeting.

T. D. Singletary Dies In Atlanta

Word has recently been received in Sanford of the death of T. D. Singletary, 66, on July 8 in Atlanta, Ga., where he made his home. His survivors include Mrs. Mae Packard, sister; Mrs. C. H. Moss, niece; Richard Packard, nephew, and Mrs. G. L. Parkhurst, niece, all of Sanford. A former resident of this city, he was buried in Montgomery, Ala., on July 10.

Civil Service Sets Thursday Election

The Sanford Civil Service Board has called an election to be held in City Hall Thursday from 3:30 to 4:30 p. m. to elect two members who will serve as representatives for the employees. All permanent Civil Service employees are requested to vote. There will also be a Civil Service meeting Friday at 8 p. m. in the City Hall.

Local Delegation Addresses Rotary

The first meeting of the Sanford Rotary Club under the administration of William Bush Jr. for the year 1955-56 was highlighted by the appearance of the Seminole County Legislative Delegation at the Yacht Club yesterday, although Bush was away on a vacation. Past-president George Touhy presided and after the introduction of one visiting Rotarian, Mort McDonald Jr., of DeLand, and the singing of a few songs led by Charlie Morrison with Francis E. Boumillat Jr., at the piano, the meeting was turned over to William C. Hutchison Jr., general program chairman for the year who introduced in this order, Hon. Douglas Stenstrom, Senator of the 87th district; Hon. Mack Cleveland Jr. and Hon. Volie A. Williams Jr., local state representatives. Hutchison mentioned the fact that Sen. Stenstrom was voted by his senatorial colleagues as the outstanding freshman Senator and that Volie Williams was again voted by the press one of the top outstanding representatives. In his remarks, Sen. Stenstrom spoke of some of the particularly important things that the legislature accomplished, viz.—the selection of a 37 man committee to revise the antiquated constitution and report back to the 1957 legislature. He quoted many conflicting and inconsistent items and stated there were over 200 grammatical errors in the present document. He pointed with pride to the fact that no new general taxes were imposed and regretted that the consolidation bill to eliminate duplicate taxing agencies failed to pass as did the milk bill revision. Rep. Cleveland spoke briefly and added to the Senator's remarks by stating that he thought two outstanding contributions were the abolishment of proxies and the organization of committee meetings with practically no conflict in the attendance of the members of various committees. Approximately 3000 bills were introduced and it will be some time before the delegation will have full knowledge of the actual work of the session, he stated. Rep. Williams told of the creation of the legislative interim auditing committee and that all three voted against the turpentine bill. He, too, regretted

Fallen Power Line Blamed For Deaths During Rainstorm

ALEXANDRIA, La. (AP)—A power line that fell during a rainstorm was blamed for the death of four persons and the injury of a fifth. Killed last night were Y. E. Tillman, 26, truck-line operator; William Brosette, 23, dairy truck driver; William L. Voorhies, 33, supervisor of a fleet of dairy trucks, and Voorhies' 6-year-old daughter Linda Carolyn. Voorhies' 5-year-old son William Jr. was treated for minor burns. Police said the Voorhies family had been visiting the Brosettes, and decided to go home about the time a rainstorm was letting up. The Voorhies boy ran to open the car door and was burned by the current from a power line that was lying in the flooded gutter parallel to the car. The father ran out to help the boy and was killed. Linda Carolyn and Brosette then met a like fate. A passing motorist, Tillman, stopped to help and also was electrocuted.

Sergeant Pleading To Lesser Charges

PT BRAGG, N. C. (AP)—Sgt. John L. Tyler, 25, pleads today to lesser charges of aiding the enemy while a prisoner of war in Korea. Maj. C. F. Noell, law officer, yesterday upheld a defense motion that certain charges were "not plain, not concise and indefinite." The charges dropped included one that said Tyler told Chinese Communists fellow prisoners were planning an escape. The remaining charge alleges the Moundsville, W. Va., soldier informed on fellow prisoners, wrote pro-Communist articles, asked fellow prisoners to sign peace petitions and attempted to convert them to communism.

WOMAN GETS COYOTE INSTEAD OF DOG

DALLAS (AP)—About six weeks ago Mrs. Marie Lyons found a shivering, scolding - wet puppy on the street. The look it gave her, the heat of its eyes and the sound of its whining, and she watched happily as her new pet tried to make friends with her tiny Chihuahua. This week Mrs. Lyons took her two dogs to a veterinarian for their rabies vaccinations. It was then she learned her new pet is a wild coyote, not a dog.

NORFOLK, Va. (PHTC) — The Navy's third summer midshipmen training cruise is scheduled to depart from the Norfolk Naval Base tomorrow morning. More than 1,300 midshipmen of the Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps from 52 colleges and universities will embark in 12 ships of the Atlantic Fleet today.

THE LATEST to arrive in Long Beach, Calif., to compete in the annual Miss Universe contest are Miss Italy, Elena Francera, 20, of Rome, and Miss Canada, Cathy Diggle, 20, of Toronto.

It's A Good Day For Thinking As Old Man Puts Easel Aside

WESTERHAM, England (P)—The old man put aside his easel and went to the window. He looked into the blue sky and then, still wearing slippers, walked outside along a wooded path.

The flowers were in full bloom. Along the way he stopped to feed some goldfish in a pool. He was in no great hurry, and a quiet summer day at Chartwell in the Kent countryside is a good day for reminiscing — a good day for dreaming too.

V. G. Peters, VC-9 Reenlists In Navy For 6 More Years

A member of Composite Squadron Nine signed up this week to add six years to the twelve he has already served in the U. S. Navy.

Re-enlistment ceremonies were held Thursday morning for V. G. Peters, Aviation Structural Mechanic, First Class, who has been with VC-9 less than a month. Peters, who is from Bradenton, Fla., is married to the former Miss Doris Soles of that city. They reside at 1008 French Ave. in Sanford with their three children.

10 Enlisted Men Of VC-9 At Base Are Advanced

Ten enlisted men serving with Composite Squadron Nine at the Naval Auxiliary Air Station here were advanced to new Petty Officer rates Saturday.

Entering the Navy in 1942, Peters served his first permanent duty with the Overhaul and Repair Activity at the U. S. Naval Air Station, Jacksonville, Fla., until 1946, after which he spent six months with Fleet Air Training Unit Two at Banana River, Fla. In 1947, he joined Patrol Squadron 24 and served with that squadron at Patuxent River, Md., and Atlantic City, N. J., until 1950.

Expensive Program Voted By Congress

WASHINGTON (P)—Congress has voted Army Engineers more than five million dollars for construction next year of a number of small flood control and navigation projects costing less than $150,000 each.

Funds are in the public works appropriations bill now awaiting signature by President Eisenhower. Congress did not specify what projects engineers were to select but the engineers told Congress generally how they would spend the money including:

Big Lagoon to Pensacola Bay, Fla. $27,000; New River $52,000; Rice Creek $83,000.

Each midshipman is integrated into a ship's battle organization and assigned instructional watches in each of the ship's main departments—operations, engineering and gunnery. The cruise will afford junior officer training for the midshipman first class, who will be commissioned officers after graduation from college next June.

Passenger Coaches Wreckage Combed

SAN BERNARDO, Chile (P)—Police combed the wreckage of two smashed passenger coaches Monday, seeking other victims of a train collision here in which at least 32 persons were reported killed.

Newsmen said Sunday they had counted 33 bodies in the San Bernardo morgue, but officials said only 32 had been found. Earlier reports had put the toll as high as 60 dead.

At least 100 other persons were reported injured.

The U. S. death rate in 1954 has been estimated at 8.2 per 1,000 people.

Costa Rica started coffee production in the 1820's and coffee still is the country's chief export.

Thunderstorm Fatal For Two Persons In St. Petersburg

ST. PETERSBURG (P)—A severe thunderstorm which hung over this city two hours yesterday afternoon killed two persons and caused extensive property damage.

Ernest Benjamin Blackburn Sr., a former mayor, and Jack Smith, a fisherman, were killed in widely separated parts of town by lightning. Blackburn was struck as he huddled under a golf course palm tree. The bolt that killed Smith also tore apart the shack in which he lived.

Heavy rains accompanied the electrical display but only light winds were reported.

Telephone service between here and suburban Gulfport, a town of 8,000 on Boca Ciega Bay, was interrupted. Two television stations, WFLA-TV and WTVT, were forced off the air.

Police Lt. Larry Knox estimated damage was in hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Blackburn, who was mayor from 1967 to 1968, was killed while playing golf when the storm boiled up. A husband, J.C. Cunningham, was not injured.

Smith's father, Paul, says the lightning struck the shack as though he sat there and found him lying under the wreckage.

J. SINCLAIR ARMSTRONG, chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, remains silent before the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee in Washington. He maintained that he could not discuss whether the White House had intervened in S.E.C. hearings on the Yarnco contract because of the Administration's order barring disclosure of discussions within the government. SUMMER CHRISTMAS SERVICE HELD IN MICHIGAN

VICKSBURG, Mich. (P)—The First Methodist Church held a Christmas service Sunday in this farming and papermaking community (Pop. 2,400).

The temperature was 28 degrees but some 200 people filled the white frame church and joined in singing carols. Flowers replaced holly.

In his sermon, the Rev. George F. Standish said, "Our winter Christmas service is lively, but it does not have the relaxed quality of our summer service. At Christmas, people seem to be preoccupied with gift buying distractions."

CHILDREN AND ARMS AT 'SUMMIT'

PICTURES OF THE BIG FOUR Chiefs of State are viewed by a group of children as Mrs. Miller (right) answers questions about the state- men in Genéve, Switzerland, where President Eisenhower is staying during the talks. Mrs. Miller's husband is the boatman attached to the villa where the Chief Executive has his headquarters. The photos show (l. to r.) British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden, Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin, French Premier Edgar Faure and the President. Many Hope Talks May Bring Peace

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst
Soviet propaganda has built up hopes inside Russia and abroad that the Geneva summit meeting opening today will lead to lasting peace. But it has laid the ground-work—carefully abroad and almost recklessly at home—for dashing those hopes and blaming failure on the West.

When Soviet leaders make friendly statements to foreign correspondents at various receptions in Moscow, the home folk do not hear about. They get the darker side.

Warmongers, spies, imperialists, saboteurs and all the rest of the catalogue of enemies still populate the pages of the Soviet press. "Defense might" through heavy industrial building remains the prod of fear.

The impression is gained that the Kremlin wants what might be termed a strictly limited relaxation of tensions. That is, the Soviet leaders seem to want just enough relaxation in their relations with the West to remove any immediate danger that a global clash would bring the Soviet structure down about their heads. But they seem in no way prepared to permit the Soviet people themselves to relax.

Here are some examples:

Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev, July 4, to foreign correspondents: "I think in any case what he (President Eisenhower) said (about the need to end the cold war) was a fresh stream of ozone."

That was not published for the Soviet people to read. Instead, they read in Pravda and heard on the Moscow radio home service:

Pravda, July 11: "In actual fact, President Eisenhower let it be understood that the United States intends to continue its interference in the internal affairs (of Communist countries) and strive to achieve a change in the regimes there. There is no need to say such statements by no means show any real desire to take the path of reducing international tension."

Khrushchev, July 4, to foreign correspondents: "If we meet as equals something will come of it . . . I know we do not want a war and I know that you do not. If there must be a war, let's be on the same side."

That statement was not read or heard by the Soviet public. It gets this sort of thing:

The youth magazine Smena, July 1955 edition: "The capitalist camp is intensively preparing a new war and is sending its spies, terrorists and saboteurs into the Soviet Union. The imperialists are resorting to all methods to try to undermine the economic and military might of the Soviet state."

Premier Bulganin says, "There is no reason to believe that the basis of a future peace cannot be assured." Pravda, however, has stated:

"The facts prove convincingly that some people in the West do not fancy the prospect of a solution of some international problems. Aggressive circles want to hamper its work."

The Soviet press and the Moscow radio's home service is threaded the idea that the United States has approached Geneva with the idea of preventing agreement and blaming the failure on the Soviet Union.

GASOLINE IS USED TO 'WASH' CLOTHES

DETROIT (AP)—Steve Nemece, 42, a truck driver, tried to wash work clothes Sunday in a washing machine loaded with 15 gallons of gasoline. The gasoline caught fire apparently from a spark from the electric motor. Nemece was treated at a hospital for minor burns. The fire ruined Nemece's utility room.

Worcester, Mass., boasts it has 700 manufacturing concerns, 283 of them started since World War II.

Disneyland Now Open To Public, Children Awed

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP)—Disneyland, a 17-million-dollar southern California playground dedicated to children, young and old, opens its gates to the public today.

Unfortunately, the opening is about one week too early as 30,000 invited guests learned Sunday at a special preview.

The fabulous amusement park is the brainchild of Walt Disney, the best friend a kid ever had. But, probably for the first time in his career, disappointing thousands of youngsters.

The park, which hopes to handle 60,000 persons a day in peak operations wasn't able to handle half that number.

As a result, many parents and children skipped long, seemingly endless lines in front of such Disney creations as Snow White's castle, a Mississippi River showboat and jungle steamer.

The park's three restaurants were unable to care for all who wanted to eat but there was an ample reason. Most of the guests had free meal tickets. And the many rides were free for those who got on.

"Lines will not be so long when dinner is not picking up the tab for everyone," a park official said. Traffic jams, described as the worst ever on certain segments of the Santa Ana Freeway, developed as automobiles moved bumper to bumper. The California highway patrol assigned 25 extra officers to duty along a five-mile section near the park and will keep them there for at least a month.

When the opening day jitters are quieted and the park slows down to a routine operation, it will be quite a show. The 160 acres—100 of them for parking—have everything to thrill a kid and his parents too.

A nostalgic main street, complete with horse-drawn trolleys, will help many a grownup relive his childhood.

There's a stockade, pirate ship and replicas of Mickey Mouse and fellow cartoon characters of Disney fame.

Much of the opening day confusion was due to a 90-minute telecast which complicated normal operation. Many of the rides and attractions were closed to visitors while cameramen moved cables and lights. Some people, wandering into sections such as Tomorrowland or Fantasyland, often found themselves trapped inside with ropes barring their exit until the telecast was over.

All was not disappointment for the children. Davy (Fess Parker) Crockett, the hero of the nation's young, made sure that the kids got a look at him. He climbed on a horse and rode through the park several times.

Park officials said that they hope to gross 10 million dollars a year with an average per head expenditure of $2 per visit.

Fashion Designers Having Hey-Day In Garment Center

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK—Among the 800 or more dress manufacturers that make up the world's largest garment center, there are many whose clothes are known and worn by women all over America, yet who are not members of the New York Dress Institute's Couture Group, currently previewing fall collections for some 120 visiting fashion editors.

Notable among these nonmember designers is Vera Maxwell, famous for individual tweeds and functional fashions of the kind women live in. Each season this young-looking, silver-haired designer goes globe-trotting to discover new fabrics, new colors, new inspiration for her strictly American clothes. This year she is intrigued by the Flemish colors of the Renaissance, and takes her fabric tones from the glowing palette of Titian, Botticelli and Bellini.

Typical of her wearable fashions is an outfit she calls "Standby, com-

Ingredients: 2 1/4 cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon baking soda, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon ginger, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon ground cloves, 1/2 cup shortening, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 cup old-fashioned molasses, 2 eggs, 1 cup hot water.

Method: Sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, ginger, cinnamon and cloves. Cream shortening and sugar; blend in molasses. Stir in 1/2 cup of the flour mixture; beat in eggs. Add hot water alternately with remaining flour mixture. Place paper-lined cups in fifteen 2 1/4-inch muffin pans. Fill each cup two-thirds full of batter. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 22 to 30 minutes. Cool on rack.

Miss Maxwell has been doing costumes of coats and matching dresses or suits for years, long before the current furor, and again her coordinated outfits in tweeds and the silks provide the ideal outfit for women who go places and do things.

“Don't you like working in Hollywood?” he was asked.

“Sure, I like working in Hollywood.”

“Then why have you been gone so long?”

“Cause I couldn't find any worthwhile properties to do. Oh, I could do a lot of junk, but what's the use of that?”

“What do you do to keep busy?”

“Well, I figure I read 3,000 film treatments, 425,000 novels, and several thousand TV dramas. That was enough to keep me busy,” he kidded.

“And I also have done a passel of hunting and fishing. Went up north for a while and killed me a bear. I indicated that his leisure was over for a spell. After ‘Court-Martial,’ he reports to William Wyler for ‘Friendly Persuasion,’ a comedy-drama about a Quaker.

Hollywood took a long time in getting around the Billy Mitchell story, but now it's being done in thorough style. The armed forces, which long were touchy about the Mitchell matter, are cooperating with the film. The company just returned from shooting background in Washington, D. C.

Billy Mitchell was a World War I general who was among the first to see the value of air power in modern war.

He was court-martialed in 1925 for statements to a newspaper strongly critical of the Navy and War departments.

The lengthy trial featured Mitchell's beliefs in the value of air power. He was suspended without pay and rating for five years. He resigned from the Army in 1927 and devoted the years until his death in 1938 to writing and preaching about the use of air craft in modern war.

BPW Will Honor Miss Carol Beck, Florida Botanist

The Business and Professional Women's Club of Florida will honor Miss Carol Beck, Botanist for the Florida Park Service on Sunday, July 24 at 1:15 p. m.

At that time State President, Mrs. Mimi Southwick, will present a citation to Mrs. Lillian L. Hannerman, head of the Sebring Club, who will then present it to Miss Beck. The presentation will take place in beautiful Highlands Hammock State Park near Sebring.

This honor is for the outstanding woman in government.

Miss Beck's headquarters is at beautiful Highlands Hammock State Park, but her duties carry her to all of the State Parks to aid the Superintendents in nature trail, day camp, and nature study activities. She also is very active in demonstrating and lecturing in botanical and zoological fields before clubs and other groups throughout the State of Florida.

State Park Director, Emmet L. Hill, said, “The Florida Park Service and the Florida Board of Parks and Historic Memorials are gratified to have Miss Beck so highly honored, and many of her fellow workers will attend the ceremony. In all probability, it will be possible for members of the Board of Parks and Historic Memorials to be there also.”

'Yep And Nope'
Man Comes Back
To Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD—After a three year absence, the “yep and nope” man, Gary Cooper, is back before the Hollywood cameras.

Coop is playing the air power pioneer in “The Court-Martial of Billy Mitchell,” and it's his first film here since he left the studio for “High Noon.” He has made “Return to Paradise” in the South Pacific and “Garden of Evil” and “Vera Cruz” in Mexico since then. He was reportedly one of the stars who went overseas for the 18-month tax deal, but he claims he didn't profit therefrom.

Hibiscus Fanciers Priming Plants For Coming Show

Florida Hibiscus fanciers are priming their plants in readiness for the American Hibiscus Society's International Hibiscus show to be held in Orlando, Sunday, July 31st.

The Mid-Florida Chapter will be host to the show which is designed to be the largest international display of its kind ever staged according to W. Bruce Parnell, Miami, president of the American Hibiscus Society, an international organization. All of the Society's nine chapters will cooperate in staging the show. Mr. Parnell explained that Orlando was chosen for the international show because of its central location. Chapters extend as far west as Louisiana.

Besides the many and varied ribbons offered in the competitive blooms and artistic arrangements sections, three silver trophies are being offered; two for the first time.

Tropical Homes and Gardens Magazine will present a silver bowl to the chapter whose display best follows its chosen theme while the second trophy will be presented by the Florida Nurserymen and Growers Association to the nurseryman exhibiting the best nursery-grown flower.

The third silver award, given for the first time at the local Orlando show last year, is presented by M. J. Duestwyler, Orlando, for the best flower shown by an amateur grower.

Carrots may be baked in a moderate oven along with a meat dish. Shred the carrots and dot with butter or margarine as you put them in a baking dish with a tight cover. You'll need about three cups of the shredded carrots for four servings and they'll require about half an hour of baking.

CARVING MEAT CUTS

Steering the Knife

A carving knife should always be checked before using. This helps to keep the edge of the blade in perfect condition and to true the blade. There is a technique in handling the steel, however, with practice it is easily mastered.

Start First Stroke—Hold the steel firmly in the left hand, thumb on top of the handle, with the point upward and slightly away from the body. Then place the heel of knife blade (where blade enters the handle) against the far side of the steel. Have the steel and knife blade meet at a slight angle.

Draw Knife Across Steel—With a quick swinging motion of the right wrist and forearm, bring the blade down across the steel toward the left hand. The entire blade edge should pass lightly over the steel.

Start Second Stroke—Bring the knife into position again but with the blade against the near side of the steel. Repeat the same motion, passing the blade over the steel. Alternate from side to side. A half dozen strokes on each side should be sufficient.

Pretty Mamie Wows Newsmen; Beauty Queens

LONG BEACH, Calif.—Preliminary judging starts today in the Miss Universe contest, but the international beauty queens all hope the competition won't be as tough as they get from actresses Mamie Van Doren.

Two busloads of the beauties were the guests yesterday of Universal-International Studios. They broke bread and posed for pictures with Lex Barker, George Nader, Rory Calhoun, Tony Curtis, Maureen O'Hara, Pat Crowley, Martha Hyer, Paul Kelly and other U-I stars. They also watched Curtis and Miss Crowley emote in the movie “The Square Jungle” currently in production.

But the cameras started popping hysterically when the curvy Mamie walked in the U-I commissary wearing a golden lame gown. It could be described as a going-away dress that had mostly departed from Mamie.

Photographers ignored the four-score beauty queens and the rest of the stars to cluster around Mamie. She, of course, posed as if she had invented chesecake.

Said Mamie: “I knew I was going to be in fast company, so I just dressed for the occasion.”

Mostly the beauty queens stood around amazed. Miss France, Claudie Petit, said, via an interpreter: “That dress she's wearing would even be banned in Paris. How dare she ever get into it!”

Tonight the preliminary judging begins in the Miss U.S.A. contest. The number of American entrants will be cut in half or less tonight for the Miss U.S.A. finals tomorrow night.

People Have 'Flipped' Over Show That Pays Off Folks In Thousands

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK—Several million Americans will tune in their television sets this evening to WCBS-TV when an Italian-born New York gentleman will try to answer some questions about opera. They will watch, mesmerized, to see whether he will work his way to a final question which, if he answers it correctly, will pay him $64,000.

“The public has flipped on this $64,000 Question program,” a fellow said. Indeed it has. There may not have been 33 million persons watching last Tuesday, as CBS estimates, but there certainly were many million. And that's a lot of people.

We, the captive audience, have watched in recent weeks as a New York policeman who's an expert on Shakespeare took his solid $16,000 winnings and departed rather than risk its loss by going for $32,000. We saw an Indiana schoolteacher grab off $8,000 and beat it. And we gaped last week when a Bible-reading grandmother from Camp Hill, Pa., settled for $32,000, foregoing the big $64,000 question.

Seizing a crystal ball and a saw and going away out on a limb, I forecast: Nobody ever will try for the $64,000 question. Furthermore, as time progresses and nobody tries for it, I see this big question in every department of the quiz getting easier and easier. It's a pipe question, a giveaway. But nobody will try it.

Why? Well, we have become a basically conservative people. Perhaps this is because of inflation. (Remember when the $64,000 question was worth only $64 on radio and everybody was equally excited?) We realize the fact of inflation, but we still can't grasp its implications.

Few of us can visualize what things $64,000 will buy that $32,000 will not buy. For example, you can buy a nice house for $32,000. But how many really know what sort of a house you can buy for double the amount? Thus, when you have the hard cash in your mitt for that $32,000 house, why chuck away the reality for the unknown dream?

Former Miss Hayes Honored With Party

A buffet supper and swimming party was given recently at the Mayfair Inn by Mrs. Jack Rattigan and her daughter Patricia for the former Miss Sylvia Hayes and her wedding party.

Swimming and games were enjoyed by the group and a delicious supper served. A hostess gift was presented to the honoree.

Those attending the party were the honoree, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Musselwhite and Billy, Mr. and Mrs. Donald O. Brown, Miss Gail Bitting, Miss Janice Reel, Miss Ada Adams, little Miss Pat Smith, Terry Cordell, Tommy Spencer, James B. Brown, Ronald Bolds and the hostesses, Mrs. Rattigan was assisted by Mrs. J. D. Cordell.

Groucho Tells Amazing Story
Of New Studio

HOLLYWOOD—Groucho Marx tells a fabulous tale about how NBC is building a film studio for him.

This will no doubt cause consternation all the way up to Pat Weaver, but the Groucho doesn't care.

The story is this: Groucho has filmed “You Bet Your Life” at the NBC studios since the show's inception. The unions don't ordinarily allow filming at a live TV studio, but an agreement was reached to allow an exception.

The agreement was running out and the network looked around for an alternate site. A couple of places around Hollywood were considered. The brass came to Groucho with the proposal of filming the show at those spots.

“No,” replied Groucho. “I want to work at NBC.”

“But that means we will have to build a whole new studio for filming,” they protested. “It will cost $150,000. We can't do that.”

“Okay with me. Luckily I have saved my money. You can get another boy.”

“I'll be a x x x if I'll end my professional career working in some converted grocery store!”

And so they built the brand-new studio for Groucho. His reasoning is: “If they can spend fabulous amounts of money on big shows with hundreds of dancing girls, they can build me a new studio. Those shows sometimes don't get much of a rating, but the old man on the stand has been among the top five of seven shows since he went on the air.”

History Is Changed By Big Blast

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. (AP) — It rocked the world and changed the course of history. But the world didn't learn about it until three weeks later.

It was the successful Trinity explosion, 10 years ago Saturday of the first atomic bomb—proof of man's ability to harness the power of the atom.

The name "Trinity" was taken from an unpopulated railroad switching point, the nearest spot to the steel tower where the first A-bomb was detonated.

The blast came at 5:30 the morning of July 16, 1945, on the southern New Mexico desert about 150 miles south of this top-secret, heavily guarded laboratory city. It climaxed the best kept secret of World War II.

On Aug. 6 the world heard about the blast when President Truman disclosed the dropping of the Hiroshima bomb. He told of the bomb's development by the University of California Los Alamos scientific laboratory under direction of the top-secret Manhattan engineer district. And he told of the first man-made nuclear explosion three weeks earlier on the New Mexico desert between Alamogordo and Socorro.

The New Mexican used two paragraphs on the story on its back page under a headline: "Magazine Lets Go at Alamogordo."

Dr. Gaelein L. Felt is one of the Los Alamos old-timers who witnessed Trinity. He came to Los Alamos in the early stages as an Army noncom assigned to a special engineer detachment in a physics group.

On Aug. 7, 1945, the day after Truman's revelations, Felt wrote his mother of what it was like at Trinity:

"I was seated on the side of a small mountain some 20 miles away . . . By 5, the east was clear, though there were still clouds stapling over us, stars shining through the gaps. It was growing light enough to see fairly well, though the big expanse where the shot sat on its tower was still fairly dark."

He told of the tense last few minutes before zero; then the shot and the blinding flash followed by the first awesome fireball of the atomic age; and finally the shock wave.

The watchers cheered and slapped each other's backs and chattered like monkeys.

"We knew," Felt said, "that we had seen that morning the mightiest explosion ever produced by man, as well as one of the most superb scientific demonstrations ever performed. It defied the imagination . . ."

A year ago President Eisenhower, in a citation, hailed the Los Alamos scientific laboratory of the University of California as "the nation's principal institution for the development of atomic weapons." He said its "momentous success in the field of fission weapons (atomic bombs) has been followed by equal accomplishments in the fusion (hydrogen bomb) field."

On Aug. 5, 1954, Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission said that since the 1945 Trinity test there have been more than 40 experimental detonations and an entire range of atomic weapons has been developed.

WASHINGTON INSIDE Bob WASHINGTON—Government labor experts, stated because major auto and steel strikes have been averted, are casting a worried look at the nationwide copper walkout.

The strike by the mine, mill and smelter workers union has halted mining in the west at a time when there already is a critical copper shortage.

Even a comparatively short strike in the mines could spell serious trouble for the economy for a long time to come because thousands of small businesses must rely on copper for their operations.

An allocation system which already carefully allocates supplies of copper to users may have to be sharply tightened and rigid price controls may have to be imposed to meet the situation.

Inflation—The cost of living, which has remained relatively stable over the past two years, seems likely to rise in the coming months. The question is how much of an upward movement in consumer prices can be expected.

Generally, economic experts feel that living costs may inch up in slight spurts during the remainder of this year because of rising costs for basic materials and new wage agreements.

The steel industry already has served notice it will boost prices to cover the wage boost granted its workers. This means higher consumer prices for almost all products using steel.

The wage agreements in the auto industry also mean higher prices for cars, and consumers can expect to pay more for other items made in industries where wage increases have been negotiated.

Stiff competition is expected to prevent any major price jumps for consumers but prices will go up some and dealers won't be so anxious to give their customers fat discounts in the future.

Hot's Preference—Former President Harry E. Truman has frequently made it clear he would have preferred remaining in the Senate rather than going to the White House but now it turns out that the government job he really had his heart set on was to be librarian of Congress.

This came to light recently in a speech delivered in Cleveland by Dr. Louis B. Wright, director of the Folger Shakespeare library in Washington.

Wright told his audience: "From a little private inquiry in Washington, I have discovered that Mr. Truman, during all these years, has actually been a frustrated librarian. The chairman of a committee who once conferred with him about the appointment of a librarian of Congress told me that Mr. Truman declared if he were not President, he would rather be librarian than hold any other office."

According to Wright, the president "would have made an excellent librarian because of his knowledge of books and genuine interest in literature."

Salk Shooter—Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Oveta Culp Hobby was generally shocked when she learned she had put her feet in her mouth recently in discussing the responsibilities of United States Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele.

The incident arose when Mrs. Hobby was interviewed on a radio program. In response to a question, the woman Cabinet member emphasized that Dr. Scheele and the Public Health service were primarily responsible from a legal standpoint for any negligence in the handling of the Salk polio vaccine program.

The question-and-answer program had been recorded by Mrs. Hobby and Mrs. Hobby left the station without realizing the full implications her remarks would have on a Salker.

However, when phone calls started flooding in from newsmen and even editors inquiring about her statement, she quickly had her public relations staff issue a statement explaining that it was clear she did not know that Dr. Scheele was at Salk in any manner.

Boston Globe Head Ends Active Career

MARION, Mass. (AP) — William O. Taylor, 84, editor and publisher of the Boston Globe for 34 years, died early Friday at his home here.

He was active in the operation of the Globe until only a few months ago.

He was named editor and publisher in 1921 on the death of his father Gen. Charles H. Taylor, builder of the Globe.

As a boy, he helped distribute the newspaper to newsboys at the Globe office. While a student at Harvard he was a reporter of yachting news during the summer months.

His active apprenticeship in the management of the newspaper began in 1908 as soon as he graduated from Harvard. The Globe was his principal concern from that time on.

Taylor found time, however, for two favorite sports: yachting and golf.

Apparent Suicide Ends Long Search

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A four-day search for 13-year-old John Cooley ended at a sun-scorched body, a .22 caliber rifle, and three small notebook pages scrawled with the boy's bitter farewell.

Sheriff W. E. Leybold said the boy apparently killed himself after he learned that Avery Cooley—whom he thought was his father—was really his stepfather.

The air and ground search by more than 200 men ended Thursday, besides a dirt road within sight of Las Vegas.

Part of the note found by the body concerned family strictness. It was signed "John Cooley or Beasley—which is it to be?"

Deputies were unable to explain the "Beasley" reference.

The average temperature of Canada is below 32 degrees Fahrenheit.

There were 1,484,000 marriages in the United States in 1954, 60,000 fewer than in 1953.

The chairman of a committee who once conferred with him about the appointment of a librarian of Congress told me that Mr. Truman declared if he were not President, he would rather be librarian than hold any other office."

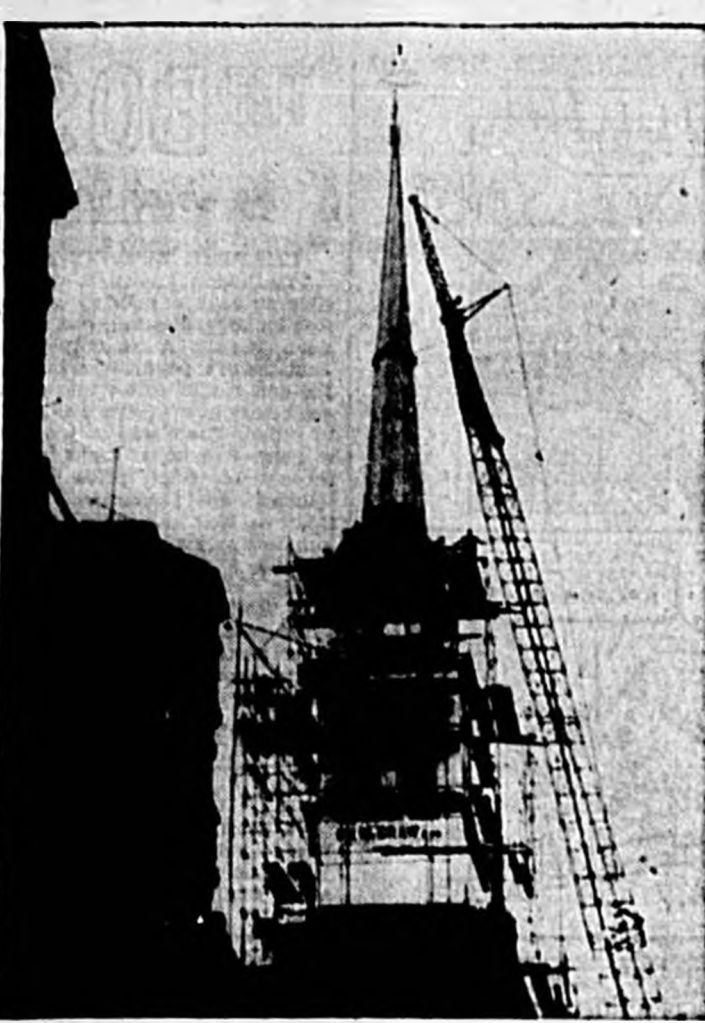

According to Wright, the president "would have made an excellent librarian because of his knowledge of books and genuine interest in literature."

Salk Shooter—Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Oveta Culp Hobby was generally shocked when she learned she had put her feet in her mouth recently in discussing the responsibilities of United States Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele.

The incident arose when Mrs. Hobby was interviewed on a radio program. In response to a question, the woman Cabinet member emphasized that Dr. Scheele and the Public Health service were primarily responsible from a legal standpoint for any negligence in the handling of the Salk polio vaccine program.

The question-and-answer program had been recorded by Mrs. Hobby and Mrs. Hobby left the station without realizing the full implications her remarks would have on a Salker.

However, when phone calls started flooding in from newsmen and even editors inquiring about her statement, she quickly had her public relations staff issue a statement explaining that it was clear she did not know that Dr. Scheele was at Salk in any manner.

A CRANE SWINGS a new four-ton, 87-foot, steeple into place atop historic Old North Church in Boston. This is the third steeple since the church was completed in 1723. A storm in 1804 blew down the first. On Aug. 31, 1954, Hurricane Carol destroyed the second. Into the rebuilt structure is being placed the original window, and other woodwork, where hung the lanterns on April 18, 1776, warning Paul Revere of the approach of the British. Hollywood Lovers Of Art Worried

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Hollywood art lovers, up to their eyebrows in French impressionists were given some trembling moments by a jury which convicted a prominent auctioneer of falsely advertising five paintings as the work of celebrated French artists.

Roy J. Goldenberg was found guilty yesterday of representing as authentic five paintings attributed to Edouard Manet, Edgar Degas, Raoul Dufy and Rosa Bonheur. The jury, weighing four days of expert testimony, concluded they were fakes.

The traffic in French art has been booming in and around the movie colony since World War II, with paintings bringing up to $100,000.

The jury of six men and six women found that Goldenberg made misleading statements in newspaper and catalogue advertising, but held that he did not make the statements with deliberate intent.

Goldenberg had testified that he believed the paintings to be authentic, but the jury heard six prosecution experts label them everything from "lousy" to "intentional forgery."

One expert, Dr. John G. Rewald, of New York City, estimated that the paintings, if authentic, might bring more than $100,000. Municipal Judge Henry H. Dreager allowed no testimony on what Goldenberg expected to get for them.

While Goldenberg said he had attempted to verify the works before offering them for auction, he added on the stand:

"I do not publish an authentic catalogue; it is a descriptive catalogue. I have never heard of an auction house which authenticates its paintings."

Dr. Rewald, art writer and consultant to leading U.S. galleries, called the Degas and Dufy paintings "intentional forgeries" and the two ascribed to Manet "unintentional forgeries." By "intentional," he said he meant obvious fakes by painters trying to copy certain artists. "Unintentional" indicates the painter didn't try to copy an artist's style, but that somebody forged a signature later.

He doubted the authenticity of the Bonheur, but did not use the word "forgery" in connection with it.

Of one of the Manets, art critic Arthur Millier of the Los Angeles Times observed: "It's the type of painting any painter of no talent could turn out—it's just a lousy painting."

Defense counsel Tom C. Williams produced a witness, Dutch-born Cornelius L. J. Damme, who drew what he said were the strokes of Manet and Degas. Damme and two other defense witnesses defended the paintings as genuine.

Williams moved for a new trial and a hearing on the motion was set for Aug. 10. Goldenberg is free on $250 bond until then.

The misdemeanor conviction carries a maximum penalty of six months in jail and $500 fine. Complaints in the case were filed by art dealer Frank Perls, who contended that an influx of bogus paintings has hurt the legitimate art market in Hollywood.

Air Power Shift Told By Officer

TOKYO (AP) — The Communists have shifted their air power in the past year to where it can be used to support an attack against Formosa, a U. S. Far East Air Force command officer reported Friday.

Col. James T. Stewart, FEAF assistant deputy for operations, said there had been a gradual movement of Red planes southward from Manchuria and North Korea.

"Such a shift," Stewart told visiting U. S. newsmen at a military briefing, "would support any program to 'liberate' Formosa."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Stage and screen actress Gladys George who died last Dec. 8, left an estate worth no more than $500, a court petition for letters of administration discloses.

Public Administrator E. A. Winstley told the court that Miss George, who was 30 when she died, left no will and had no known relatives. She was found unconscious in her apartment and died after being taken to a hospital.

Enjoy all these big-car, fine-car features for less than the deluxe models of the "low-price" 3*

1. BIG SIZE—BIG WEIGHT. Mercurys are bigger all over than cars in the low-price field. Bigger in length . . . bigger in width . . . bigger in wheel base. The Mercury Monterey shown weighs close to 3700 pounds . . . gives you big-car stability on the road.
2. SUPER-TORQUE POWER. Mercurys have more power than ever—188 hp in Customs and Monterey; 198 hp in Montclair. More important, is the new way this power is put to work in the everyday driving ranges—for smoother, effortless getaways . . . easier passing.
3. EXCLUSIVE STYLING. Mercury's beauty is fresh, distinctive—shared by no other car on the road. Lines are clean, smooth as silk. Use of chrome and color is simple, beautiful, in good taste. Mercury's standout styling is available in all 11 models in 3 series.
4. ULTRA-SMART AND LUXURIOUS INTERIORS. Top-line interior color combinations are available in every model. So are specially designed fabrics and patterns—instead of ordinary upholstery. So beautiful you'd want to leave the door open!
5. 4-BARREL VAPOR CARBURETOR is standard on every model at no extra cost. You enjoy 3-barrel economy for normal driving, 4-barrel pickup for getaways and passing. Unique anti-flooding high-compression spark plugs help provide top performance in all speed ranges.
6. AND YOU SAVE ON FUTURE REAR WHEEL. Mercury consistently leads its class in high resale value, according to independent reports. You protect your investment—can expect to get back more of the original purchase price when you trade again.

THE BOSS OF BROKEN SPUR

By Nick Summer

CHAPTER TWENTY-TWO

TIM hadn't known it was possible to hate a man as he hated Rob Mallory. Shooting was a quick, clean death. A merciful death. That wasn't payment enough for Joe and Molly. Rob would die, but not before he'd known what it was to suffer. There was only one way a man like that could suffer—through his pride, pride in power founded on possession. Broken Spur—that arrogant one-man kingdom sprawled across the country like a blight on the hopes of honest men—Broken Spur was Rob Mallory. Well, then, smash them both! He'd have to get the other masters together behind him—that shouldn't be too hard. They all hated Mallory. It seemed to Tim that there could be no more peace for him as long as he and Rob Mallory walked the same earth.

"I know, Kerry, I hate to be the one to bring up unpleasant subjects, but it's time we were thinking about finding ourselves a couple of jobs."

Kerry nodded. They were sitting at a table in a saloon in a town some hundred miles from Sundown, and the act of paying for their drinks had called their attention to the state of their pockets. They'd been drifting out of Dodge for a month now, and it had been fun; you couldn't ask for a better company to ride the trail with than Rusty.

"Too bad," Rusty sighed philosophically. "Seems like this world's plumb organized against folks like you an' me just enjoyin' themselves. Should we start makin' inquiries about whether any of the ranchers round here got a need for two first-rate cow-hands?"

Kerry counted the small stack of coins before him. "How much you got left?"

"Nine dollars an' some chicken-feed."

"I've got about twelve. That'll carry us a little while, if we're careful—and don't get in any poker games. Fact is, I'd just as soon not locate in this neighborhood."

"Not meanin' to pry into your business, Kerry, but you don't happen to be wanted around here, do you?"

"By the law, you mean?" Kerry laughed. "No, I'm not wanted—not wanted by anybody I reckon. It's been called a lot of things just—I used to live near here, and

—I'd rather not run into anybody I need to know. It's a long story—looking into his friend's lean, humorous face, Kerry suddenly felt it would be a relief to spill it all out. There wouldn't be any condemnation in Rusty, and maybe telling him would relieve some of the unrest and confusion of mind that had been building up in him as he drew closer to Broken Spur.

Before he could go on, a cowboy with a glass in his hand was standing by their table. "Excuse me, friend, ain't I seen you somewhere before?"

Kerry recognized him as a man who'd worked briefly for Slash a couple of years before. "Could be."

"Nice to see you 'gain." It had clearly not been his first drink. He was in the mellow, friendly stage. "Mind if I sit down? Thanks. I sure hate to drink alone."

He raised a hand toward the bartender, "Couple drinks for my friend," and promptly launched into a long, rambling and profane, cheerful account of a trip to Mexico. Kerry's attention had drifted away, when it was jerked back by the sound of the name "Slash."

"Used to work there," the stranger was saying, "an' I figured I'd ride by there an' see if I could get my old job back. But when I see the way things was buildin' up 'round here, I says, not for me. I can take my share o' trouble if it comes along, but I ain't bankern' it right down in the middle of a horse's nest, an' that country sure feels like a mighty good imitation o' one, ever since Rob Mallory shot that nester."

Kerry's movement sent his glass spinning off the table; he never noticed it. "What nester? What you talkin' about?"

"Well," the cowboy smiled apologetically, "seems folks says he shot him. Course, some says different. Ma, I'm not sayin'—I was just ridin' through, 'understand?"

Kerry's hands gripped the table-edge. "Will you tell me what this is all about?"

"Why, sure." It took time to extract the story from the man's ramblings, but finally it was clear enough.

"Rob never did it," Kerry said flatly.

"I ain't sayin' he did, friend—" "He's been called a lot of things just—I used to live near here, and him a coward. If he was going to shoot a man, it wouldn't be in the back!"

Rusty inquired, "Is a friend of yours, Kerry?"

"Sort of," Kerry agreed slowly. He pushed back from the table. "I'm going back to the hotel, Rusty."

Rusty made a half-move out of his chair, then dropped back, saying softly, "Sure Kerry, I'll be along later."

When Rusty entered the dingy hotel room, a couple of hours after, the air was blue and staid with the smoke of cigars, and Kerry was sitting on the edge of the bed, with the draw sock of a man who has been through a long, tough fight—and perhaps he had—but with a look of peace in his blue eyes that hadn't been there in a long time.

"Rusty," he began without preliminaries, "you've been a swell partner, but I guess this is where the trail splits."

"How come, Kerry?"

"I'm going back to Broken Spur."

"Well, sure, if your friend's in trouble. Don't you reckon he could use an extra hand?"

"You don't understand, Rusty. I know the set-up there. This Tim Larrabee's a crazy nothead, and he'll have all the other nesters on the prod—I've got to go back," Kerry added wearily. "Rob raised me from a pup. He took me in when I didn't have any place to go—there's some things you just can't ride away from. But it's not your fight. There's no reason why you should buy into our troubles."

Rusty shrugged. "You know me an' trouble, Kerry. All these years I been tryin' to stay away from it, it never got me nowhere. It mostly ain't my fight," he concluded resignedly. "But I generally wind up in the middle of it anyway. Might be kind of an interestin' change to start out in the middle."

Kerry turned away and buried himself with stuffing a few belongings into his warbag. He didn't trust himself to speak just then—and he didn't want Rusty to see his eyes. There was a witness in them that didn't belong in the eyes of a man who'd just that day come of age.

Four Black Ships Slip Into Jap Bay Over 100 Years Ago

TOKYO (AP)—Four black ships slipped silently into Tokyo Bay 103 years ago.

Started Japanese saw strange red, white and blue flags fluttering over decks lined with menacing snub-nosed cannons.

These visitors who had dared violate the Mikado's "forbidden waters" were the Mississippi, Susquehanna, Plymouth and Saratoga—the fleet of Commodore Matthew C. Perry of the U.S. Navy.

Now Perry's arrival is celebrated here as a link with America that opened Japan to western trade.

Today the great adventure will be marked in ceremonies at Kurihama—midway between Yokohama and Yokosuka—where Perry and 300 "splendidly arrayed" officers first stepped ashore.

U.S. Ambassador John M. Allison will participate. So will Rear Adm. Fitzhugh Lee, chief of the U.S. fleet air arm in Japan and great-grandson of one of Perry's ship commanders.

Stories of the "black ships of evil-mien" remain vivid in Japanese memory. The strangers refused to deal with local officials and would not deliver a message from President Millard Fillmore to anyone but the Japanese Emperor in person.

After threatening to land an armed party, Perry finally agreed to the Japanese stand that the Emperor was too exalted a personage to approach in person. He agreed to deliver the letter to high-ranking Prince Toda.

A special house had been erected at Kurihama for the meeting. There, July 14, 1853, the delegations met under the threatening guns of the American fleet, and Japan was lifted from a long period of self-imposed isolation.

Some say the trade agreement signed was the first step along the road that made Japan a modern nation.

FORMER ACTRESS BUYS DESERT INN

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Marion Davies is now a hotel owner.

The former actress announced Wednesday that she has bought the Desert Inn in Palm Springs for two million dollars. The sellers were Earl Coffman and George Roberson.

Miss Davies, who said she will be the sole owner, said, "It'll cost a lot more by the time we get through with it. I plan to develop it into a miniature Rockefeller Center."

Study Is Made Of Fly's Action While Landing

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—When a fly lands on a ceiling, does it do a half-roll or a half-loop?

Well, sir, Lydel Sims, columnist for the Commercial Appeal, assigned that complex question to SLURP—the Sims Laboratory of Unusual Research Problems.

Its findings?

Fast flies use the half-roll. Slow flies use a half-loop.

Sims gives all the credit to SLURP researcher Ben P. Douglas, a flying instructor at the Malden, Mo., air base.

During a recent illness Douglas fearlessly ordered the window screens removed and settled down flat on his back to observe.

His report:

"The method used depends entirely upon the fly's speed prior to the maneuver. His speed is determined primarily by whether or not he is being chased by another fly."

"The fly, unlike some pilots I know, has a healthy respect for the laws of physics and aerodynamics. If the fly is flying at a relatively high rate of speed, he will land out of a half-roll in order to prevent excessive G loads on his wings."

"A half-loop landing at high speed would result in excessive stresses on the fly's wings and possible structural failure if the ultimate load factor was exceeded."

"And of what use is this knowledge?" asks Sims.

"Why, clearly," Sims says, "if we can figure a way to persuade all flies to use the half-loop, and then get them to chasing one another, we can have freedom from flies in our time."

Father Released After Judge Rules Lure Not Correct

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Superior Court Judge Patrick P. Curran has ruled, in effect, that it's not correct for a woman to use children as a lure to get a man jailed for being delinquent in his support payments.

Judge Curran ordered the release Thursday of Marvin E. Mitchell of Galveston, Tex., who had been in jail 14 days in a $1,000 debt action based on failure to keep up court-ordered payments for support of his wife and children.

Mitchell said his wife, Mrs. Helen F. Mitchell of Galveston, R. I., asked him to come in and see the judge. When he returned, Mitchell said, a deputy sheriff was waiting with a writ of arrest.

Judge Curran ruled that Mitchell had no right to have arrested while he was in the debt action.

Mail Order System Adopted By Reds To Aid Villagers

MOSCOW (AP)—Samovars and bicycles from Tula, heroines stoves from Moscow, balalaikas from Yashkov—just mail your orders, folks.

The Ministry of Internal Trade is beginning to build up a mail order business for consumer goods through display advertisements in its official newspaper Soviet Trade.

More needy spheres—the heavy industry and agriculture. In both merchandising fields the Russians are just making a beginning.

The mail order system is designed especially to aid millions of farmers and villagers who often can't find what they need in rural stores and must travel to the nearest city to buy.

Leningrad announced the opening of its first self-help, American-style supermarket last year. Some smaller shops of this kind have been opened in Moscow.

LEADERS FOR FUNDS

DETROIT (AP)—Chas. West Jr. explained in Traffic Court Wednesday why he had a policeman on a hot race through apartment houses and back yards and over fences after his car hit number.

"I know a lot of friends in the buildings and was just trying to borrow money to pay the mortgage," he said.

West, 32, a 5-7 1/2 tall, medium build, was charged with driving through a red light and with driving on a suspended license.

Faithful 'Set Fire' To Church's Tower

NAPLES, Italy (AP)—The faithful "set fire" last week to the steeple of the Cathedral of Santa Maria del Carmine—the Dard Madonna.

The ceremony dates back three centuries. Fishmonger Tomaso Antonio del Napolitano crowded in a revolution against the Spanish in 1587. Naples was then in a state of rioting and the cathedral's steeple caught fire. But the flames suddenly were extinguished.

Revolutionaries called it a miracle and attributed it to a picture of the Dard Madonna brought to the church in 1587 by the fishmonger Antonio del Napolitano.

The steeple, reportedly painted by St. John, was in flames for 12 hours, but the cathedral was not damaged.

'Monkey Machine' Use Not Practical

DELAND (AP)—Dennis Theobald, commercial fisherman of Georgetown, was convicted Thursday of using a "monkey machine"—an electrical shocking device—to catch fish.

County Judge Thomas H. Terry sentenced him to pay a $500 fine or serve 30 days. He had earlier been fined $100 for the same offense.

Theobald, 42, a 5-8 tall, medium build, was charged with using the "monkey machine" to catch fish. The machine is a device that shocks fish when they are caught in a net.

Federal Grand Jury Indicts Auto Workers

DETROIT (AP) — A federal grand jury today indicted the CIO United Auto Workers Union on charges of violation of the federal corrupt practices act in politics.

The grand jury accused the big union of using general union funds to finance political activities in the 1954 congressional campaign.

This was the campaign in which Patrick V. McNamara, Democrat supported by the UAW and other labor groups, defeated U. S. Sen. Homer Ferguson, Republican.

A weekly union-sponsored radio program was involved in a grand jury investigation of charges brought about by the Republican Central Committee.

John Felkens, committee chairman, filed the charges with the justice department last March.

The indictment named only the union itself. None of its officers, who include CIO President Walter Reuther, was named. Reuther is also president of the UAW-CIO.

Organized labor took a large role in the 1954 campaign.

Investigators Ask For Script Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators today asked the Justice Department and the Internal Revenue Service to study a hearing transcript containing new bribe accusations against Harry Lev, wealthy Chicago maker of caps for the armed forces.

Forgetful Lev told the Senate investigations subcommittee yesterday he still cannot remember what he did with $20,000 in cash he acknowledged withdrawing from his Chicago bank in June and July 1953.

But he insisted that "not one cent" of it went to pay bribes to help him get government contracts.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) cautioned Lev that such an answer "certainly casts a very strong suspicion on you" when considered in light of other testimony.

Legendary Tycoon Dies In Portugal Of Kidney Ailment

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Calouste Gulbenkian, legendary oil magnate and one of the world's richest men, died today of a kidney ailment. He was 66.

Gulbenkian was one of the most mysterious men in the world. He shunned publicity of any kind and lived quietly in the Hotel Aviz where he died. He had been ill since January.

In the oil industry, source of most of his fortune, he was called "Mr. O" or "Mr. Five Per Cent."

In reference to his reported share of the profits of the fabulously wealthy Iraq Petroleum Co., he was said to have been a billionaire, yet his name was little known.

He devoted his talents to acquiring wealth, building one of the world's most valuable art collections and keeping himself obscure.

Limp 'Gator Bites Zoo Keeper On Arm

Mrs. Arnold Hood, Sanford zoo keeper, is none the worse but as much the wiser as the feeling fine after being bitten by a two and one-half foot alligator.

The animal was presented to the zoo by a Volusia County resident. When it arrived here a rope was tied around its neck to keep it from making a fast get away.

The rope was apparently too tight and when the alligator was put into the water, he seemed as though he had very little life left and went to the bottom.

Before Mrs. Hood had a chance to feel too sorry for the creature, the seemingly limp body suddenly came out of its stumped state to make a fast slip, biting the zookeeper's arm on the shoulder.

Fortunately, the alligator did not bite through the rope.

Burmese Minister Says Red Admission Would Ease Tension

TOKYO (AP) — Prime Minister U. Nu of Burma suggested today that simultaneous admission of Red China to the United Nations and release of Chinese-held American prisoners would "relieve a great deal of tension."

U. Nu, who flew here after a tour of the United States, also told a press conference that he backed the proposal of Prime Minister Nehru of India for a world conference on Asia problems.

"A world conference of all countries interested in Asia would be a very good thing," U. Nu said. Answering a question, he said, "It would be very difficult" if Red China did not attend such a conference.

U. Nu said Burma wanted American prisoners in Red China "released as soon as possible, just as we want the U. N. to admit China, perhaps simultaneously."

New York Police Capture Escapée From Ohio Prison

NEW YORK (AP) — The slayer of crusading publisher Don R. McKeith 29 years ago, who escaped from an Ohio penitentiary last November, was recaptured by New York City police last night.

Patrick Eugene McDermott, 56, of the Bronx, today admitted his identity as one of the FBI's "10 Most Wanted Men," police said.

McDermott was seized after Patrolman Harold Pogewelt thought his face looked familiar, and later confirmed it when he searched the files and found his picture on a "wanted" circular.

McDermott told police he had been in and out of jail for minor offenses since his escape but was never recognized.

He was seized at Jewish Memorial Hospital, where he had been working as an ambulance attendant for five months.

Love, Aching Feet Could Be Reason For Ending Plan

LONDON (AP) — Whether love or aching feet conquered wasn't clear but the jilted suitor stopped his pacing.

Ronnie Hill, 31-year-old clerk, began walking back and forth in front of his ex-fiancee's home Monday. He said he had been engaged to marry Sally Willingale, 21, on July 20, but last week she told him it was all off.

"I'll keep walking until she changes her mind," said Ronnie. "I've loved her since she was 14 and I'll go on walking until I drop."

But yesterday Ronnie disappeared from in front of Sally's walk without disclosing the outcome of his overnight march. Sally wasn't talking either.

Parked Truck Hit Early This Morning

Ray Howard Sheffield, 26, was arrested this morning on a charge of careless and negligent driving and leaving the scene of an accident when his 1953 Pontiac sedan was reported to have hit a parked Florida Power and Light Co. truck approximately 100 feet south of the Park Ave. — 13th St. intersection.

Damage to the truck, which was hit on the left rear fender, was estimated at $25 while Sheffield's car was said to suffer $200 damages. The accident occurred at 1:25 a. m.

In Patrolman Joe Hickson's report, he stated that Sheffield, whose address was given as 2204 Park Ave., was going south on Park and hit the truck.

No injuries were reported.

Traffic Accident 'Keeps On-Coming'

HOUSTON (AP) — "I thought it was the end," says Fred Reamer of a traffic accident which happened yesterday.

Reamer was sitting in his car waiting for a red light to change when another car plunged off the roof of a three-story parking garage and fell on Reamer's car.

The second car belonged to Elvia Stein, 24, who had it up on jacks while making some repairs. Stein spotted the engine was running and to gear and let the car drop off the jacks. "It just took off," says Reamer.

Reamer was not hurt, but his car was damaged.

House Republicans Try For Minimum

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republicans, aided by some Southern Democrats, sought to hold the line today on a minimum wage increase to 90 cents an hour, as asked by President Eisenhower.

As the House neared a showdown, Democratic leaders conceded they faced tough opposition in their efforts to boost the federal wage floor from 75 cents to $1 an hour immediately.

Leaders of both parties agreed there would be a hike. Disagreement centered on how much of an increase and when it would take effect.

Rep. Kelley (D-Pa.), floor manager of the Democratic-sponsored wage bill, predicted the House would vote for $1. But he said there was a strong support for a proposed "road and a d" increase spread over three years.

Air Force Stations Reduction Is Told

TOKYO (AP) — Plans are underway to reduce the number of U. S. Air Force bases in Japan from 40 to about 10, it was reported today by Shinzo Fukushima, director of the Japan Rearmament Board.

The board is the Japanese government's clearing house for U. S. military needs in Japan.

A spokesman for the Far East Command said FEC headquarters "has no comment on the report."

There was no immediate comment from air force officials in Tokyo.

NO VIOLATIONS SEEN

HINTON, Okla. (AP) — D. O. Pooler, 25, was driving along U. S. 56 during a thunderstorm when his car went into a skid.

Trooper Art Conroy quoted a witness as saying the car skidded 120 feet and dropped into a 20 foot canyon where it settled 45 feet and landed on its front end.

Pooler climbed out of the mangled car, complaining of a sore neck and a bruised arm.

Conroy said no traffic regulations were violated.

Sultan's Ouster Sought

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP) — Top French officials today were reported working to oust Sultan Moulay Ben Azafe as a step toward satisfying rebellious nationalists in strife-ridden French Morocco.

Sources close to Gilbert Grandval, new resident general, said he intends to push a political program of moderation toward Nationalist-minded Moroccans despite the recent bloody rioting and threats of new violence. Grandval has met bitter opposition from many of Morocco's French colonists.

Comparative quiet continued in Casablanca yesterday but violence continued in Fedala, 17 miles northeast, where fires set by nationalist terrorists left hundreds of Moroccans homeless. Some French farm houses also were burned. Unconfirmed reports said eight natives had been killed in Fedala. A Frenchman was killed last night in the native quarter of Rabat, 35 miles northeast of Casablanca.

Four persons were killed and 19 wounded yesterday in Casablanca.

Anti-Red Students Rioting In Saigon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Thousands of anti-Communist students sacked Saigon's No. 1 hotel today but Mrs. Parle Meata out-talked them when they took axes to her door.

The students were demonstrating against the Indian-Polish-Canadian armistice commission. As some of the rioters started breaking into her second-floor, air-conditioned suite in the Hotel Majestic the former U. S. minister in Luxembourg threw open the door and shouted:

"Not we are your friends: We are Americans."

One of the student leaders who understood English formed aordon in front of Mrs. Meata's apartment and kept back the mob, who laid waste to the five-story, government-owned building.

With Mrs. Meata at the time were her two American secretaries, an unidentified American woman visitor and the latter's baby.

Eisenhower Makes Appeal To Soviets To Accept Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several separate said today the free world cannot abandon the North Atlantic Treaty Organization for any foreseeable agreement with Russia on German unification.

President Eisenhower appealed to accept NATO as a solely defensive military apparatus. Russian Premier Bulganin conditionally rejected the appeal. The Russians have maintained NATO must go as part of the price for joining East and West Germany.

Sen. Barkley (D-Ky) said the West "can't even consider abandoning NATO until there has been an air-tight world security agreement." The former vice president said the atmosphere at Geneva seems "propitious for some progress toward composing the world's difficulties" but that he does not look for any iron-clad agreements to come from it.

High School Senior Dies While Reading

BIRDSBORO, Pa. (AP) — A high school senior looped a belt around the branch of a tree, then under his chin to support his head while he sat on top of a washing machine reading comic books.

State policeman James Woods said the lid of the washer revolved under the boy, 17-year-old John Mattison, causing the belt to tighten around his throat and strangle him yesterday.

His stepfather Charles Morris found his body.

Woods said there were scuff marks on the ground by the washer where Mattison apparently tried to free the belt from around his throat.

Dancer Awarded Damages

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Damages of $28,000 have been awarded dancer Zona Fe for auto accident injuries she claims she sustained while a passenger in composer Vic Schoen's car in Las Vegas, Nev.

She charged that when she refused to let him kiss her he refused to let her leave the car, which overturned as he drove away at high speed. She alleged that she suffered back and leg injuries that prevented her from dancing again. Schoen denied making any advances.

Duke In Hospital

LONDON (AP) — The Duke of Kent, 20-year-old playboy cousin of Queen Elizabeth II, is in the hospital with head injuries from an automobile accident. He was reported improving.

Specific Program Sidelined

GENEVA (AP) — The Big Four leaders took up the broad question of European security today, putting aside the specific issue of Germany alone.

The heads of government met for their fourth session at 4 p. m. (10 a. m. EST) for two hours earlier today their foreign ministers tried in vain to arrive at some sort of agreed recommendations on the German problem. One Western source said they just argued in circles. They got into the European security problem to such an extent that Western leaders became convinced it would be difficult to keep the issues separate.

The West finally agreed to recommend that the summit move on to the security problem—second on the agenda after Germany. It was expected the two questions would be discussed together.

Western leaders had recognized the close link between the German and security issues, but they had won top priority yesterday for German unification, which they considered the most vital problem in Europe today.

Although the outlook for any sort of agreement on Germany appeared dim, one American source said the shift to security certainly did not mean that the German discussion was finished.

Future Looks Dim For Sam Sheppard

CLEVELAND (AP) — Nearly a year after he was arrested, it appeared today Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard soon will start serving a life penitentiary term for the bludgeoning slaying of his pregnant wife.

An Appellate Court yesterday turned down his second and final motion for a new trial, and one of the attorneys says the young osteopath feels he would get more exercise and privileges in prison than he does in county jail.

The motion denied yesterday was based largely on a criminology professor's affidavit that he found evidence a left-handed sex fiend killed Marilyn Sheppard July 4, 1954. Sheppard is right-handed.

But the 41-page opinion of the three-judge court discounted the affidavit with such descriptions as "highly speculative" and "illusory," "guess work" and "sheer supposition."

Nevada Prisoners Finally Give Up; No Point Gained

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Tired, hot and hungry, Nevada State Prison convicts who Monday afternoon started a bloodless rebellion against the prison routine, gave up the ghost last night without gaining a single point.

More than 200 of the rebels who had spent a night and a day in the prison yard lined up and started filing back into their cell block a few minutes after they had been warned by Warden Art Bernard the time had come for a showdown.

Nevada state patrolmen called to replenish the guard around the 60-year-old brownstone prison were "tired and won't walk much longer," the warden told a three-man committee representing the convicts.

Minutes later the committee returned with the word that the men were "tired and sick; they don't want anything."

Bronx Shoemaker Hits $8,000 Mark

NEW YORK (AP) — A Bronx shoemaker won $8,000 last night by answering questions about opera on the CBS television show The $64,000 Question.

The winner, Gino Prato, 33, who is of Italian extraction, can keep the $8,000 or return next week and try for $16,000. If he should miss the $16,000 question, he would receive an automobile as a consolation prize.

The quizzing goes step by step to a final $64,000 question.

Milwee Announces Two School Meets

R. T. Milwee, superintendent of public instruction for Seminole County, announced this morning that the Board of Trustees will meet Friday at 4 p. m. in his office.

On Monday's agenda is a meeting of the County Board of Public Instruction at 10 a. m.
