Delegates Approve Plan Of Strict Neutrality For U.S.

Cleveland, Sept. 24.—(AP)—The American Legion unanimously elected Harry W. Colmery of Topeka, Kan., national commander at the closing session of the 18th annual convention.

Delegates shouted wildly and paraded standards of every department when the vote was taken.

The Legion affirmed a belief in the Monroe Doctrine as a measure of peace and opposed the entry of the United States in the League of Nations.

Delegates likewise approved a resolution opposing any modification or cancellation of war debts and voted to refuse all future loans to nations in default on their war debts.

Still another resolution urged the United States to maintain a strict policy of neutrality and remain "free of any alliances which might draw the country into war."

The American Legion Auxiliary formally elected Mrs. Lorenz Hahn of Wayne, Nebraska, national president.

Ballots for the election of officers for the Seminole County Agriculture Club were being mailed today by C. R. Dawson, County farm agent and chairman of the Club's election committee.

Mr. Dawson requests that the approximately 100 members of the organization use the self-addressed envelope accompanying the ticket for returning the ballot.

Officers as nominated by the body for an election to be announced Oct. 1 are: Gus Schmah and Frank Meisch, Jr., president; Henry Nickel, George Halmes and H. J. Lehman, first vice-president; Rex Packard and Peter Thurston, second vice-president; C. F. Brannan, Henry Thurston, treasurer; and Alex. R. Johnson and Henry Shumacher, secretary.

Those nominated for membership on the Board of Directors, from which nine will be picked are: Gus Schmah, F. V. Dornier, Henry Schumacher, Peter Thurston, Charles Dunn, Ed Cameron, George Balmes, C. F. Brannan, Phillip Hach, Roy F. Symes, R. B. Chapman, Roy Flynn, R. G. Hickson, J. J. Holly, L. F. Greiner, Frank Meisch, Sr., George Wiltner and M. B. Nelson.

The new armory boasts a drill hall on the first floor, with a large auditorium and dance floor on the second. Showers for officers and a women's lounge are also features.

The American Legion Junior Drum and Bugle Corps of Daytona Beach, well-known to Sanfordites, was awarded honorable mention in the drum and bugle corps division of the American Legion Convention in Cleveland, according to an Associated Press dispatch today.

assisted in Lake Mary by Mrs. J. E. Cochran, leader of the Brownie Pack. Miss Hinton's assistants are: Miss Betty Bahaman, Miss Sarah Maxwell, and Mrs. John Schirard, Jr. In their program for the year's work the leaders plan training the girls in such crafts as the making of wood carvings, rugs, and bird houses. Plans for training in outdoor living are prominent in their program, with camps, hikes and nature study as high spots.

The Seminole County Council will meet on Monday evening, Sept. 29, at 8 o'clock, at the Sanford Girl Scout Little House. The Council is composed of the Reverend and Mrs. Z. J. Bram, Mrs. Julius Dingfelder, Frank Evans of Lake Mary, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. True, of Lake Mary, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Mason, Mrs. S. J. McInnes, of Lake Mary, Mrs. J. E. Root, Mrs. A. W. Knox, and Miss Irene Hinton. The Council, on Monday evening, will receive reports of troop progress and discuss plans for the year.

The outlook for the development of the Girl Scout movement in Seminole County is very encouraging and prospects are good for the widespread influence of this movement.

Three Funny Vets Occupy Spotlight in Ritz Billing

They're the broad and better of show business, and their work often means the difference between a pretty good show and a hit show—yet seldom do they get their names in lights.

"They" are the tried and true comedians and character actors; the boys who inject "society" into sentimental film tales, and whose interminable dialogue makes photography ship and galleys, where they might otherwise drag and limp. Frolics know their value, yet Paramount has led the way toward greater recognition in its picture playing tonight at the Ritz Theatre, "Three Married Men."

"Three Married Men" lists at the top of its cast three of the best of film's fun-producers, Roscoe Karns, William Frawley and Lynne Overman. It's the first film to feature the trio in the place, and it was made purely and simply because all three have proven they can make half a dozen laughs grow where one grew before.

All are experienced troupers; their stage and screen records are long and impressive. All three have scored strongly during the season past, and during seasons before that. Given supporting roles, they have performed there so well that millions of showgoers have learned to look for their names in the support, when planning an evening at the theater.

Remember Overman in "Poppy"? The able small-town lawyer who nearly outwitted W. C. Fields? Remember him in "Tours for the Asking" and "Paris in Spring," "Rumors," "Little Miss Marker," "She Loves Me Not" and a score of others? Remember Karns in "The Front Page" "Boo

New Inventions, Customs Change American Farms

Rubber-Tired Tractors Replace Old Plowing Methods

CHICAGO, Sept. 24—(AP)—Rubber tired tractors, molasses-packed hay, corn-alcohol fuel and 24-hour working shifts are steadily changing the aspect of the American farm.

Some are the days of the migratory farm hand, and instead of causing the "help" or the horses, the farmer is trying to learn more than ever about carburetors and gears.

A survey of Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Iowa, Nebraska, Montana and the Dakotas fits together a picture of a mechanized army attacking agricultural problems with gasoline and steel.

The primary effect of this evolution has been to revamp the labor picture.

In days gone by, a colorful array of men and women walked or rode from harvest to harvest, advancing north as the season progressed and earning money against the winter. Often they started in Texas and ended in Canada.

Present day observers were asked "Do the farm hands still follow the crops?"

They don't.

Farm machinery, the depression and droughts have combined to disband the migratory workers. Manufacturers of agricultural machinery predict new sales peaks in non-drought state sales. The prospects are particularly good in Indiana, for instance, where rubber tired tractor-trucks with five speeds are trying out newly developed corn alcohol-gasoline mixtures.

Corn husking machines, potato digging machines and pickup balers salvaging straw are being added to the small and large threshing outfits throughout the states, all to a common end—to cover more territory in less time with about one-twentieth the man force.

Small combine units have been developed for use where average harvest was considered insufficient to warrant such machine operation. Small threshing outfits have been purchased in many instances by groups of neighboring farmers, whose crews are fed by local aid societies instead of the individual farm wife.

Small and large tractor-drawn combines are handling grain harvests in some cases 24 hours steadily. North Dakota farmers, and those in some other states, too, are working through the nights with aid of powerful searchlights.

Corn binders have replaced crews of knife-men in cutting, husking and plating corn in shocks.

Purdus University, Indiana, is developing a hay drying machine adaptable to handling of wheat and corn in the fields, thus aiding combines which require that crops be quite dry.

A new method of pickling hay with molasses in silos bids fair to do away with hay lofts in barns. H. H. Muesel, head of the Michigan State College of Agriculture engineering department, predicts that the process of storing green or partially cured hay in silos by pickling it with molasses will supplant the old loft system because it prevents much loss of protein in the feed.

All has not been rosy for the machinery owning farmer, however. In drought states, particularly, heavy overhead and depreciation of expensive machinery have cut into bank accounts.

But despite difficulties, the fact remains that gasoline and steel are doing the work of muscle and bone on America's farms.

Roosevelt Leading Florida In Straw Vote By Digest

While Florida gives President Roosevelt 2,518 votes to Gov. Landon's 1,525 in the Literary Digest presidential straw poll, the Kansas is leading the New Yorker 291,972 to 182,493 throughout the nation today.

First returns are tallied from eight states and more returns are announced from the thirteen states included in the last week's Digest poll.

Early returns from California show Landon leading there by a count of 17,006 to 16,018. Colorado is roughly giving the Kansas governor three to two.

Gov. Landon's home state is giving him but a five to four lead over the President.

Early ballots from Nebraska show Landon a five to four favorite.

Alabama, Florida and Georgia give Roosevelt overwhelming pluralities.

Hubbell Twirls Giants Within One Game Of Pennant

Win Is Sixteenth In Row For Gotham Hurling Ace

Cards Remain Idle While New Yorkers Win To Stretch Lead To Five Full Games And Enter Series

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 24.—(AP)—The New York Giants, managed by Carl Hubbell, completed the best victory record in the major leagues in two years yesterday by hurling his sixteenth straight win, a 5 to 4 decision over the Phillies.

The triumph brought the Giants to within an eyelash of the National League pennant, securing them of at least a tie for the title, and leaving them in a position where one victory for themselves or one defeat for the second-place Cardinals means the flag.

Hubbell's victory streak was the first 16-game run in the big league since Schoolboy Rowe hurled the Tigers into the American League pennant in 1924. It was "King Carl's" twenty-sixth win of the season's against six defeats.

He was the master of the Philadelphia through seven innings, but in the eighth and ninth got into enough trouble to put his streak on the fire until Travis threw out Jose Gomez for the final out.

The Phils landed on him for three runs in the eighth and Ralph Camilli's homer in the ninth and had a man on base with only one out in the final frame, to give Hubbell the most trouble since his streak began in mid-July.

But the Giants had staked him to a five-run lead through the first seven innings.

Lick Bartell's double and Jim Rippe's single brought in one run in the first; Mel Ott's triple and Rippe's base hit added another in the third; Travis Jackson's two bagger, Joe Moore's single and Rippe's long fly produced two more in the fourth, leading Pete Sivens, the Phil's starting pitcher out of game. The last run came in the seventh off Arville Jorgens, Gus Mancuso doubling and Burgess Whitehead singling him home.

With the Cardinals idle yesterday the win boosted the Giants' league to five full games over the second-placers, and completely eliminated the Chicago Cubs from all mathematical possibility as a contender for the flag they won a year ago.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(AP)—The football season gets down to serious business this week, a bit earlier than usual, after hoisting the curtain with a double handful of games, Friday night and Saturday.

The greater part of the program, which will bring most of the major teams in every section of the country into action, consists of the customary early-season "warm-up" clashes, but there are a half dozen or so that would rate as major contests on any Saturday.

High spotting the program are the intersectional clashes between Colgate and Duke at Durham, N. C., Minnesota and Washington at Seattle and Louisiana State and Rice at Baton Rouge, La. The Southern colleges, which did most of last week's playing, begin their conference schedules in earnest, with Mississippi taking on Tulane in the Southeastern group and South Carolina meeting Virginia Military and Clemson facing Virginia Tech in the Southern. Four sectional clashes will be opening their campaigns in the grand manner while two, Duke and Rice, warmed up Saturday. Duke's Blue Devils overcame stubborn resistance by a new Southern Conference member to defeat Davidson, 13-0 while the Rice Owls whipped Texas A. and M., 33-0.

Saturday's other leading games saw Mississippi trounce Union University 45-0, Kentucky rout Maryland 54-3, South Carolina trim Erskine 35-0, V. M. I. and Clemson roll up 19-0 scores against Wolford and Presbyterian, respectively; V. P. I. beat Roanoke 16-7, North Carolina downed Elon 12-0, and West Virginia, the only big Eastern team in action, overcame Waynesburg, 7-0.

Baseball Geometry!
One of the soundest axioms of baseball is that a club can not win unless its median line is infallible—and it is this more than any single factor that explains the pennant surge of the New York Giants.

Draw an imaginary line from home plate through the mound and second base out to center field and you have the nerve center of a club. There lies its fitness, its brains and nerve. When this line weakens, the club goes to pot. It was the collapse of this vital center-line that permitted two pennants to elude the Giants—and, to make it more galling, they were pennants that appeared to be won. Casualty, safe coaches branded the team as cutters after it bogged down in 1934. They also said the pitchers were "dead"—which they were—but the real answer was that the flag was lost in center field.

Not wishing to let the same old mistake cost them a second pennant the Gothamites took out a lot of centerfield insurance in 1935 by the purchase of big Hank Lister from Nashville. But, again the middle line stepped into one of their second pennant and even pushed them down to third position.

This time it was the aging Hughie Critz on the keystone bat who measured the difference between pennant and third place, thus ruining a combination which should have been one of the best in the major circuits with Bartell on shortstop.

Now with Hubbell on the mound, Whitehead, an acquisition from the pennant riding Cardinals, on second, Mancuso behind the plate and Jim Rippe, rookie centerfielder from Montreal, in the center spot of the outer garden, the Giants are well fixed for middle line ammunition.

So there you have that line of nerve and strength without which no team can hope to go far. It is, perhaps, the tops in the league, and it is one reason why Bill Terry's smooth workers are where they are today.

Miniature Football!
Miniature golf... table tennis... and now miniature football. Through necessity, five small east Arkansas schools will present football this season played by a 6-man team on an under-sized gridiron.

It's an innovation the coaches believe will check with grid fans. Students and townspeople alike want football, but the combined grade and high schools had an average attendance of only 200 students. Squads reporting for practice in previous years numbered between 15 and 20 players. Reserves were few.

Under such conditions, it was highly problematical from one week-end to the next whether there would be a team on the field at all. So the football coaches at these small schools got together and evolved a scheme to play the game with only six men on a side—three in the line and three in the backfield.

Not only have the mid-west high schools awakened to the new idea, but in our own state, five or more of the northwest Florida high schools have adopted the plan and will put it into effect on the gridiron this year. The schools which plan to use it are Madison, Mulberry, Live Oak and several other small high schools in that section of the state.

However, we'll still take our eleven man game, for there is where you get the thrill of watching seven stalwart men buck against seven other stalwart men while in the six-man lineup it is only a matter of who can score the most touchdowns.

Seminole Show Fine Spirit In Scrimmage Drill

Celery Fed Gridders Look Unusually Good In Rough Practice

Displaying a sharp reversion of form, Coach Leonard L. McLane's 25-man squad of Celery Fed stepped through an encouraging and fast scrimmage session yesterday afternoon, which saw a forward wall averaging 170 pounds or better stand out.

The Seminole mentors were well pleased with the showing made by their proteges and expressed their belief that should the youngsters use the same punch in their opening tilt with Eastie, there could be no question of the winner.

Standing out in the drill was Big Bradley Odham, 190-pound tackle, who also worked out at center. Odham seemed to play in the opposing tackle-off on defense and was a bulwark on offense, opening up many large holes for Lawson, who took over most of the ball-carrying duties.

Among the ball jugglers it was fullback Robert Stohoff, who with his fierce and steady blocking, stood out among the remainder of the backs. Stohoff, a brother of the two former Seminole High School stars, displayed a brand of backfield interference never before equaled on the local gridiron.

So, Coach McLane left today in fine spirits over the outcome of yesterday's scrimmage. The genial Seminole mentor will witness the London-New Smyrna tilt in Jacksonville tonight, and will then motor to Lake City to watch the Tigers perform on their home field tomorrow afternoon, from whence he will journey to Eastie to meet his opening opponent as they meet the Mt. Dora return Friday night.

Upon his return, Coach McLane expects to see his youngsters continue their punch and spirit as shown yesterday afternoon, and he has planned a skull practice session every night of next week.

The government is said to pay approximately $175,000 a year for transportation of members of Congress.

With the promise of an early cinder squad and a lot of time for Florida's new track mentor, Percy Beard, to round a team into shape, nearly 40 athletes drew track uniforms yesterday afternoon. The list still is not nearly completed as managers stated that many more track candidates are expected today.

Other Friday games include Duquenois-Wayneburg, George Washington-Emory and Henry, Xavier (Cincinnati)-Kentucky, Auburn-Birmingham Southern and Denver-Colorado Mines.

Some of the Saturday contests which may turn out to be bright spots although they don't figure to give the big teams any great amount of trouble include Navy-William and Mary, Pittsburgh-Ohio Wesleyan, George-Weyer, North Carolina State-Davidson, Stanford-Stanta Clara, Southern California-Oregon State, Texas Christian-Texas Tech. On Sunday St. Mary's of California tops off the school's by meeting Gonzaga.

Alabama Prepares For Opening Grid Tilt With Howard

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Alabama's probable opening lineup for the Howard game Saturday was sent through a snappy drill yesterday afternoon as the Crimson grid coaches began to taper off for Saturday's game with Howard.

At least five sophomores will be in the starting lineup with three of them in the backfield. Bubber Nisbet, captain and fullback will in all probability be unable to play. Young Boozer, another veteran among the backs, is also still out.

Indications are that the largest opening day crowd in years will appear in Denny Stadium for the game to start at 2:30 o'clock.

The probable lineup as disclosed at yesterday's practice follows:

Landon Lashes Tariff Action

Knox Asserts Living Costs Void Any Recovery Progress

Father Charles E. Coughlin in Cincinnati said the country must beware because "Red flags have been uplifted in America."

The President said his first campaign swing into the West probably would terminate at Denver but he might go to the West coast. He said no definite schedule had been worked out beyond next week. His major addresses next week will be in Syracuse and Pittsburgh.

Production Credit Unit Shown Unusual Interest

Field Supervision Stressed Rather Than Operation Through Representation By Land Banks

An unusual amount of interest has been manifested in the Sanford Production Credit Association as well as other National Farm Loan organizations, since their coordination into one centralized office in this city, according to an announcement made today by S. E. Andrews, secretary and treasurer of the organizations.

In order to bring the facilities of the Federal Land Bank into closer relation with the farmers in servicing outstanding loans and in handling new applications, more supervision has been placed in the field rather than through representatives of the bank.

When the nine farm loan associations organized in the counties of Orange, Volusia, Lake, Osceola, Brevard and Seminole were co-ordinated into the one distinct office with the same primary purpose this spring, a "one stop" co-operative farm credit bank to meet long and short term credit requirements of farmers in the above six counties was set up.

Land bank loans, which are usually made over a period of 10 years for the purpose of improving farms, were numerous during the lean days of the depression but since that time applications have remained few and far between. However, the Sanford office has the responsibility of servicing these outstanding loans, which amount to over five and one-half million dollars in the territory which it serves.

The Sanford Production Credit Association makes short term loans for production purposes on livestock, citrus and all forms of farm crops. These loans are made not to exceed one year or for the length of time required to produce a given crop. The Sanford office has loans in all parts of this territory and the volume of business for the current year is unusually satisfactory. Collections, too, have been higher than usual during the past year.

Contrary to general opinion, neither of these organizations lend one cent of government money, but both the farm loan associations and the Production Credit Association are co-operative organizations, which meet the financial needs of the local farmer.

Bonds are issued by the Columbia Land Bank against all loans made by them and sold to the general public, while loans made by the Credit Association are made through its own finances. The notes and mortgages given by the borrower are sent to the Intermediate Credit Bank for discount, thus making the local association a "local farmer's co-operative."

Routine channels carry the request through a district office in Orlando then to the regional office in Montgomery, Ala. according to the local director.

Water Wall Fails To Halt Rebel March

Insurgents Approach Government Defense Line Despite Open Dam

Minister Flays European Action

Non-Intervention Is Aid To Fascists del Vayo Declares

The Fascist Army, marching against Toledo to rescue insurgents besieged in the Alcazar, approached the Government defense line today despite a ten-foot wall of water loosed behind it.

Reports came of insurgent advances almost within view of Toledo despite Government claims it had recaptured Terrijos on the Maquila-to-Toledo road.

In Geneva Julio Alvarez Del Vayo, Spanish foreign minister, told the League of Nations Assembly the "blood stained soil of Spain already is the battle word of the World War."

He assailed European non-intervention as a "direct and positive intervention in behalf of the Reds" and charged, in what other delegates construed as an attack on Italy, Germany and Portugal, that the war had been fomented as well as aided from the outside.

He warned that future wars would not be between nations but between two groups of men, "democracy and oppression."

On the battlefield the government claimed it halted Rebel advances on both Madrid and Toledo by letting loose 10,000,000 yards of water from the Albarra River Dam. It said the Rebels had heavily in both men and supplies.
