

Grandma Murphy Does All Right Without Slugger

Old Pitching Tandem Now Separated After All These Years

By DILLON GRAHAM
AP Features Sports Editor
NEW YORK The renowned pitching tandem of Gomez and Murphy has been separated after all these years but the Irish half of it is doing all right.

Grandma Johnny Murphy has already won three games.

The twirling firm of Gomez and Murphy was advisedly named in the order for Murphy always ran the ball to the left.

The old Gomez, whenever he was booked to fling, would always feel Murphy's arm and inquire solicitously as to the condition of the right hand's health.

"How're you feeling, kid?" Gomez would ask, in his sweetest Castilian tongue.

Manny would grunt quietly and resignedly, and stroll off to the bulletin to prepare for the fire he confidently expected to have to doze somewhere near the shank of the afternoon.

For Gomez, in his later years with the Bronx club, was really a part-time hurler. He might be the "Lefty" of old for an inning or two, and then transform into just another neophyte named Vernon who could just little bewilderment into life pitch.

Toupe arrived about that time and that was Johnny's cue to head toward the mound and mount whatever assets the Yankee had at the moment of trial to salvage something out of Letty's disaster.

The Gomez-Murphy duo was at its peak of efficiency two years ago. That was the year Gomez won 15 games while losing only five. A conservative estimate would be that at least half of those wins were racked up through Murphy's protection in the late frames. Johnny got credit for eight wins himself that season with only three setbacks.

Johnny is a generous, impartial partner. He will team up with anyone. It's too early in the campaign now to say whether his old boy's talents as a finisher will be assigned either exclusively to one flinger, as in the Gomez days. Murphy rates with the best of baseball's relief pitchers. And it is good to see him off to a successful start because it appears that season that Grandma was indeed the one who signed him for 10 for his worst season since he came up to the Yankees in 1934.

Lefty's first question when he encountered his new boss, Casey Stengel at the Braves' spring training camp was: "Have you got a Murphy around for me?"

For Gomez, in his later years

Bobby has not recorded Stengel's reply but Casey, being a practical man, probably began looking for a Murphy.

The Yankees comfortably fixed with pitchers are hitting Lefty's humor more than his flinging. He enlivens the Yankee dugout with his quips. It is the tradition of the handball and baseball, Gomez was a lineal descendant of the game's long roster of screwball southpaws.

Gomez once held a contest with Paul Andrews to see who could keep his head under water longer in a bath tub. He stopped when he was tacked up through Murphy's protection in the late frames. Johnny got credit for eight wins himself that season with only three setbacks.

Lefty's first question when he encountered his new boss, Casey Stengel at the Braves' spring training camp was: "Have you got a Murphy around for me?"

For Gomez, in his later years

he didn't ask questions. Chances are if you asked Lefty what was his biggest thrill in baseball he wouldn't mention his big season or his many triumphs. He would recall a May day last season—that was the day he got four for four against Washington. Four hits in four times at bat, perfect day; was quite a batter," he probably would say very solemnly, and it's pretty certain he wouldn't tell you that he got only one additional hit throughout the season.

Well, as we said, Murphy's getting along okay and we hope the same can soon be said for Mister Gomez. The Braves didn't save him in the early contests.

"Savvy me for the crucial summer games," Lefty would quip.

Lefty has always fancied himself as a batter. His secret sorrow was that he couldn't hang the ball like as many of the twirlers such as Red Ruffing. He will probably tell you that he must be a good batter, at that, for he got hits off both Feller and Grove.

He can't explain how he did but when he found himself safe at first base he didn't ask questions. Chances are if you asked Lefty what was his biggest thrill in baseball he wouldn't mention his big season or his many triumphs. 7th War Medal For 'Flying Cop' Of City's Force

Captain Jerry Crosson Wins Hero Award In Pacific War Zone

NEW YORK, May 14.—(AP)—Captain Gerald J. Crosson, "The Flying Cop," received the soldier medal for heroism in Asia today. This week he was promoted to captain, but all his family in Lake Wales and even here about the captain's assurance that everything is okay down there.

Captain Crosson, who turned to flying cop after two years of commanding the city's traffic, with observations from his perch above, has had many a close call in war battles in the Japanese. The first award he received in award was for his daring to him his plane.

Reports came in the exact situation in which Captain Crosson found himself when he was forced to make a crash landing last August during a raid on an enemy port, said Captain Crosson was wounded during his landing and Captain Crosson found.

Nevertheless, he stayed despite his wounds, made back to his burning plane, and could have escaped, but instead had to drag his comrade out of the plane to safety so he reached safety in the main fire rescued.

Captain Crosson volunteered to take about him off white uniform because of the heat of military service, but received his pants and two shirts from Chaplain George L. Crosson, his father, and a retired patrolman.

At home with Ambrose Road, Hackett Park, I. M. Crosson talked about his son by polished poker shield No. 3000. It was call and beg the farmers harvest the celery crop for the next two weeks.

Similar arrangements have been made with the Oviedo white and colored schools, Mr. Lawton said, and all students who participate in this emergency work will be given school credits and will not be required at absent.

This is in accordance with the policies adopted by both school boards and the County School Board last fall, when a number of growers predicted a shortage of labor at some period during the season.

On recommendation of trustees of Special District No. 2, or county, the school board and board representative, the following teachers were appointed to schools in that district: Lynham School, Longwood, C. W. Ishell, principal; and as teachers, Mrs. Rosalie North, Mrs. Anna Marie, Mrs. Martha Arnett, Mrs. Mary Marcelline, Mrs. Willis, Mrs. Mary Tappan, Miss Lucy Rummel, Mrs. Nellie Collier and Miss Evelyn Robbins.

At the Lake Mary School, Mrs. Olga Cochran was named principal and Mrs. Gertrude McFadley and Miss Esther Rodgers as teachers.

At the Rosenwald Negro school of the county, Mrs. W. E. Wilkerson was named as principal and teacher.

The school board also named the school to serve and named over to his son when the latter joined the Police Department in 1938. The shield will be ready for Jerry after the war.

His face wreathed in smiles, Mr. Crosson said the women of the family were always in the front line with him, and the three sons of old officers is all his mother, Mrs. Mary Crosson, ever talks about, Mr. Crosson added.

The sisters, he Misses Virginia and Frances Crosson, set the same way, he said.

Szunyogh Fought In Spain, Says Spanish On Allied Side

CAMP BLANDING, Fla., May 14.—The people of Spain and Romania are on the side of the Allies, according to John Louis Szunyogh, private in the 33rd Chemical Decontamination Company at this post, who once was imprisoned in a Nazi concentration camp, and who fought in Spain during the outbreak of the Spanish Revolution in 1936.

Will Rogers Said:

"I'm not enough for a wife to find a better in her husband, except that he intended to be a better man together if she would not be satisfied with me. If I could make her happy, I would take her, but I have no influence in politics, and I follow the policy of freedom. My mother told me, 'If you have friends treat you kindly; if they were received there where we share, try to do good, and you will shine.'

and the gradual growth of secret control of Rumania as well as secret war with the United States should not be surprising now the rise of the Nazi fronts. He saw children killed by Nazi Black Shirts, his son their own parents for hiding in the secret orders of Spanish rebels, as well as Franco's muscle men slaying the people while Germany and Italy were sympathizing the Spanish dictator with sympathy and aid.

However, Szunyogh said, after

Romanians are fighting and winning the war against Spain. They are supported by the American people, and early in 1941 they became the United States' ally. They were once in some trouble under Nazi pressure.

It was in Africa that Szunyogh was to fight again. He was captured by Nazis.

He spent one year in prison,

Recently crossing the Atlantic Szunyogh was captured again this time by German forces after three hours of fighting.

British Scientists Test Block Busters

ATLANTA, Ga., May 14.—A group of British scientists has completed an important experiment in Britain to test over the past year. What is the most effective way to stop bombs from exploding?

The scientists have found that bombs can be stopped from exploding if they are placed in a certain type of container and then exposed to the air.

The effect of the bomb depends on the type of container used, and what they tell us is that it is not possible to stop all bombs from exploding.

They also found that the best way to stop bombs from exploding is to use a special type of container.

Gymnastic Exhibitions Pack More Thrills Than A Three-Ring Circus

By CHIP ROYAL
AP Features Sports Writer
NEW YORK. If you want to see a show that is "even more spectacular than the circus," and ha "all the thrills of the big top, except spangles and girls," then you'll hurry to the next Lympathics exhibition.

That's the advice of Mrs. Rosetta Bonniwell of Philadelphia, and she should know, for she has been one of the champ gymnasts for more than 25 years and is a recognized authority on the subject.

Ducking flying forms and tripping over mats we collected the Lympathics at the National AAU Gym, 10th Ave., New York, N.Y.

It's "rarely seen in the West Side Y.M.C.A."

"It takes a lot of hard practice and a coordination of mind and muscle to fly through the air with the greatest of ease," said Mrs. Bonniwell, "and I don't know where you could find more dramatic than in a gymnastic exhibition."

As the ex-gym queen spoke, pretty girls and husky men were doing turnovers and tumbles from flying rings and a leather horse.

"We have about 500 fans here tonight many of them from Philadelphia and New Jersey, and you'll find the same faces, for they follow the gymnasts wherever they go."

As Mrs. Bonniwell spoke, one of the contestants told her it was time to judge the balance beam exercise for girls, so off she went leaving Mrs. Pearl Perkins Nightingale, the nation's all-around gymnastic champ to take over.

Mrs. Nightingale, a graceful blonde about 5 feet 6, admitted to the age of 28, and said she had been swinging on the bars, horses and rings since she was 8.

"I usually work three hours a night in gym three or four times a week," she explained. "I take 1½ hours daily. It's long, but I would be lost without it."

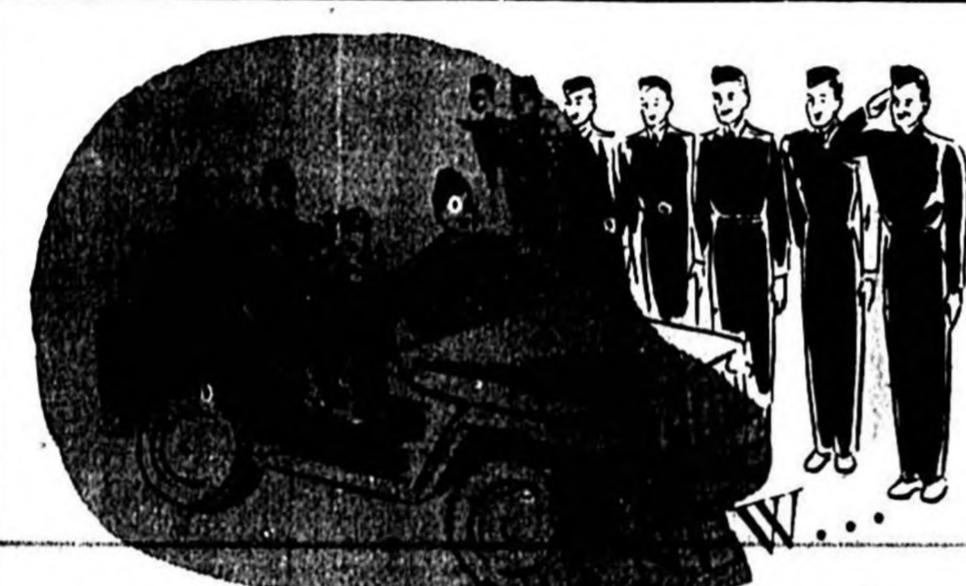

Mrs. Nightingale agreed that it took a lot of practice to be a gym queen but "it is a lot of fun. The hardest part of these meets is training for them," she said. "When you get here, it is all

O. P. A. Worker Seized In Theft Of Gas Coupons

Accused Of Taking Stamps Worth 500 Thousand Gallons

WASHINGTON, May 14. (AP)—The War Manpower Commission, operating an experimental "Domestic" within its emergency, is trying to solve its job control problems by a slavish set up within an executive agency. Under WMC guidance, members of the management-labor policy committees are forming "agreements" which the commission considers as binding upon workers and employers as laws passed by the legislature.

WMC officials say the commissioners represent all management and labor and when a majority agrees to a program orders issued to carry it out have been "accepted" by all.

This test system gives the WMC almost all the authority Congress could grant by the passage of a National Service Act.

The five defendants were locked up at Police Headquarters, where they will appear in the line-up today. They are all specifically accused of violating Section 5C of the second war emergency act for the unlawful possession of T, C and B gasoline ration coupons. They will be arraigned in

Arm Of Coincidence In The Women's Army

FORT OGLETHORPE, Ga. (AP)—Coincidence has maintained a close relationship between two WAACs stationed at the Third Training Center here.

Marie Cambridge of Woodside, L.I., and Winifred Anderson of Haledon, N.J., worked together in a New York insurance brokerage office. They enlisted in the WAAC together, received their orders to report to the center here the same day.

They were assigned to the same company and the same barracks. After completing basic training, Aux. Anderson was made an assistant to the chaplains and Aux. Cambridge went to work in the classification office.

A week later, the chief of chaplains asked for another assistant. Now Auxiliaries Anderson and Cambridge are working together again, this time in the chaplain's office.

"She's right," explained a male voice that turned out to be Chaplain Norma Loken, the former Minnesota athlete, who wearing the colors of the Iowa City Naval Pre-Flight school won the long-horse championship and was runner-up for the all-around title.

"All gymnastic training has helped me in the Navy," declared Loken, "and I hope to be able to keep it up and perform in these championships long after the war is over."
