

Indians, Reds Keep Winning Streaks

United Press International
 Those Cleveland Indians and Cincinnati Reds are creating such a stir these days that they're liable to revive the concept that baseball should be played by eight regulars and a pitcher.

In an era when platooning is the height of fashion, managers Jimmy Dykes and Fred Hutchinson cling to the old idea that regulars can be obtained by playing a "set lineup."

The "modern managers" may have the last laugh, of course, but Dykes and Hutchinson are enjoying themselves today as pilots of the hottest teams in the majors.

The Indians ran their winning streak to seven games and moved to within one game of the American League lead by beating the Washington Senators, 7-5, Monday night, while the Reds made it nine victories in 12 games and took over the National League lead by a half-game when they scored a 5-3 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

Both Dykes and Hutchinson were denied the luxury of employing the services of only one pitcher but each came up with the solid sort of relief pitching that makes teams season-long pennant contenders.

Barry Latman did the job for the Indians with four innings of shutout relief plus a triple that drove in the tie-breaking run in the seventh. For the Reds, Jim Brosnan held the fort in relief of Joey Jay and then Bill Henry came on to retire the final Milwaukee batter.

Latman's triple and a triple and three singles by Jimmy Piersall led the Indians' 15-hit attack while homers by Frank Robinson and Jerry Lynch enabled the Reds to overcome a 3-2 deficit in the eighth. The Braves' losing pitcher was Lew Burdette, who started this season with a 22-11 life-time mark against the Reds but has lost twice to them without a win.

The New York Yankees extended the Minnesota Twins' losing streak to 11 games with a 6-3 and 6-1 victories; the Chicago White Sox downed the first-place Detroit Tigers, 8-0; the Los Angeles Angels defeated the Baltimore Orioles, 3-0, and the Kansas City Athletics scored a 10-6 win after losing to the Boston Red Sox, 6-9, in other American League games.

The Pittsburgh Pirates knocked the Los Angeles Dodgers' out of first place by beating them, 5-2; the Philadelphia Phillies edged the San Francisco Giants, 3-2, and the St. Louis Cardinals outslugged the Chicago Cubs, 10-8, in other National League action.

Johnny Blanchard, Mickey Mantle and Tony Kubek homered to give the Yankees a record total of 23 homers in their last 14 games and lead the sweep of the Twins. Jim Coates gained credit for his sixth win in the opener and rookie Rolie Sheldon pitched a six-hitter in the nightcap. Mantle's homer was his 15th of the season.

Frank Baumann turned in a seven-hitter for the White Sox to become the first left-hander to go the route in a winning effort against the Tigers this season. Baumann drove in three runs with a double and two singles and Jim Landis had four hits for the White Sox.

Rookie Ron Mueller struck out nine and pitched a six-hitter to gain his first victory for the Angels. Ted Kluszewski supplied the power with a two-run first-inning homer that was his 10th of the season and his sixth off Baltimore pitching.

Mike Fornieles, making his first start in three years, scattered 10 hits behind an attack that featured three hits each by Jackie Jensen and Frank Malzone to win the opener for the Red Sox. Norm Siebern, who had five hits during the doubleheader, hit his sixth homer for the Athletics in the second game.

Vern Law, aided by Elroy Face in the eighth and ninth, gained credit for his first win since April 28. Bill Maserowski and Smokey Burgess paced the Pirates' attack with homers. Ron Perranoski suffered the defeat.

Pancho Herrera's three-run homer in the third inning was all that was needed by Robin Roberts, who went the distance to win his first game for the Phillies after seven losses. Chuck Hiller's two-run first-inning homer was all the scoring for the Giants, who dropped their seventh decision in nine games.

Bill Witek's grand slam homer and a two-run homer by Carl Sawatski produced a six-run seventh-inning rally for the Cardinals. Ed Boucbee and Ernie Banks homered for the Cubs during a slugfest in which nine pitchers saw action.

TROUBLE, NOT TEMPER — When Joe Grace Jr., wrapped his No. 7 iron around a tree trunk on the first hole of the Tam O'Shanter course in Detroit, he wasn't indulging in a temper tantrum. The amateur tried to hit from behind the small fir. He took a bogey 5, but a 74 qualified him for the sectional trials for the United States Open to be held at the nearby Oakland Hills Country Club June 15-17.

293 Golfers Start Shooting Today In U. S. Open Qualifying Tests

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sam Snead, Bob Rosburg and Australia's Peter Thomson join an army of 293 golfers shooting today in six qualifying centers across the nation for the last 65 berths in the U. S. Open golf championship.

A group of 36 pros and eight amateurs qualified with only a few major casualties in seven sectionals Monday. Those 44, today's 85 and 21 others exempt from all qualifying will tee off in pursuit of defending champion Arnold Palmer in the Open at Birmingham, Mich., June 15-17.

Snead, fresh from his individual and team triumphs in the Canada Cup matches in Puerto Rico last weekend, will attempt to qualify at Detroit along with veteran Walter Burkemo, Japan's Chen Chin Po and 45 others. The Open, Snead's jinx, is the only major championship open to pros that Sam never has won.

Rosburg tries at Bakersfield, Calif., and Thomson tees off in the Washington sectional.

The largest sectional today is in the New York area where 82 will be shooting for 20 places. Among the entries are Claude Harmon, Doug Ford, Wes Ellis and Paul Harney.

Another hot group entered at Oklahoma City, where 56 shoot for 23 places. Ken Venturi, Gene Littler, Bill Collins, Lionel Hebert, Bob Goalby and Fed Hawkins, all regulars on the pro tour, try there.

Don January of Dallas and Bill Bladford of Denver, with nine under par 135's on courses in their home towns, paced the nation Monday by firing seven under par 65's along with a 79.

Conversion Of U. S. To Jai Alai Is Goal Of Spanish Promoter

By BILL MCCORMACK
 NEW YORK — (NEA) — If Jose Cruz Salasamendi of Barcelona has his way, before long every other male kid in New York will be picking life and limb in a grueling, high velocity version of handball known as jai alai.

"American boys should make the best players," said Senor Salasamendi, in New York to announce details of a fronton opening in the Bronx next July to house the game often called the fastest in the world. "They are better physical specimens than children in many countries where jai alai is played."

Jai Alai is popular with amateurs in Spain, France, Belgium, Egypt, China, The Philippines, Italy and Egypt.

"We're going to hold weekly training sessions for junior and senior high school students," said the 37-year-old, matinee idol type baseballer who comes from a long line of professionals and who will serve as secretary of the New York Jai Alai Corporation. "We hope to be able to develop a team to represent the United States in the Tokyo Olympics of 1964, where it will be recognized for the first time."

According to legend, jai alai originated with the Aztecs and was brought to Spain by the conquistadors. The Basques, who live mostly around the Pyrenees, adopted it and provide most of the professional players. Jai Alai is committed on a court (fronton) of three walls with a concrete floor more than half as long (180 feet) as a football field and 51 feet wide. The idea is to keep banging the ball, or pelota, within fair territory until somebody misses.

The pelota, midway in size between a golf and baseball, has a hard core of hand-wound rubber covered with goat skin. It's lively as a golf ball and hard as a rock, rebounding with such speed—it's been clocked at 126 miles an hour—that it cannot be handled with the bare hand, but is scooped up and returned with a gadget called the cesta.

The cesta is a curved basket with a glove-like affair on one end with which it is attached to the player's hand. The pelota would go through ordinary wicker like a minute ball through a peach basket, so the cesta is woven over a thin frame of chestnut with a specially grown reed.

Speziators are protected from the slugging by a wire netting. In Florida all betting is done through mutual machines, which close on a game has started. In some other countries, bookies take bets throughout the play, with odds changing every bounce of the ball. The bookies run up and down the aisles calling out the odds like tobacco auctioneers, taking oral bets from old customers, but tossing a salt tennis ball to have the money inserted from others.

"There's just one other point," concluded Sr. Jose Cruz Salasamendi. "A heritage of a long Polish or Russian name wouldn't be a handicap to the American boy. One of the greatest players in the world is named Fernando Maria Orbes Alchabacchuluaga." Sr. Fernando Maria, etc., etc., is popularly known as Orbes.

Moore Near Limit For Title Contest

MONTICELLO, N. Y. (UPI) — Archie Moore officially weighs only 175 1/2 pounds and says he's sure to register the required 175 or less for the defense of his heavyweight laurels against Italian Giulio Rinaldi at Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

Moreover, he's officially in such excellent condition — despite his 46 or 47 years that Dr. Alexander Schilt of the New York State Athletic Commission called him a "physical marvel."

Chairman Melvin L. Krulewitch of the commission and all members of its entourage who visited the co-bomber of the light-heavyweight crown here at his training quarters were admittedly relieved by Archie's weight and condition.

Moore hasn't pared down to 175 pounds in 22 months for a title defense. Accordingly, many boxing men doubted that he could scale down from his original 210 to the class limit. And they feared that if he tried it he would weaken himself noticeably.

Carry Back Not Seriously Hurt

OCEANPORT, N. J. (UPI) — The injury Carry Back suffered in the Belmont Stakes "is not a serious one" and "it could clear up within a week," trainer Jack Price announced today.

Price's optimism apparently is shared by Dr. William O. Reed, noted New York veterinarian who examined Carry Back Monday. Following the examination, Dr. Reed revealed that the colt has a local infection in the right foreleg.

"This sort of thing normally responds to treatment in about three days," said Dr. Reed, who administered an antibiotic to combat the infection.

Carry Back suffered a small cut on the ankle of his right foreleg during the running of the Belmont Stakes last Saturday when he staggered home seventh behind the victorious Sherlock. He was lame when he arrived at Monmouth Park by van Sunday afternoon.

Easy On Water, Mayor Urges

The Sanford water supply is being taxed to the limit and Mayor Joe Baker urged today that residents ease off on non-essential use of water, especially in the late afternoons.

The long dry spell has increased lawn and plant watering and other uses of water to the point where a new record was set Monday for city consumption. Baker issued this plea to residents:

"Monday, water use in the City of Sanford hit a new high with the 24-hour consumption of 3,250,517 gallons. The high usage was evident in several areas of the city because of a severe water pressure drop. This factor became noticeable between 4 p. m. in the afternoon and 8 p. m.

"This is the usual period of highest household consumption, and added to this is the additional demand for lawn and garden watering.

"An additional well has been drilled at the city well field, however, it will be approximately 30 days before it can be tied into the production system. The water plant personnel are maintaining maximum safe pressure on the system.

"The people are asked to co-operate by spreading their use of water throughout the day, and to refrain from all but necessary household uses during this critical period of from 4 p. m. to 8 p. m."

LAKELAND (UPI) — Key Scales Jr. of Weirsdale was elected chairman of the Florida Citrus Commission today at a reorganization meeting here.

Scales, who also served as chairman during the freeze of 1957-58, was first appointed to the commission in 1951 by former Gov. Fuller Warren.

Sam A. Banks of Lakeland, one of the new appointees, was named vice chairman. Banks heads the Lakeland Packing Co. and also is president of the Florida Fresh Citrus Shippers Association.

Nazis Sterilized Them, Jews Testify

JERUSALEM (UPI) — The court trying Adolf Eichmann went into secret session today to hear two Jewish witnesses testify and show how they were sterilized in the death camps which the Israeli prosecution charges were under Eichmann's direct control.

The doors were locked when the court met for its afternoon session and spectators and newsmen were barred.

The names of the two witnesses — both men — were not disclosed and Judge Moshe Landau ruled that no photographs or closed circuit television shots of them might be taken.

This was the first closed session since the trial opened eight weeks ago. Eichmann and his German defense lawyer, Robert Servatius, were present.

Interstate Link Route Okayed

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The State Road Department announced Tuesday a route north of Orlando had been selected to complete alignment of the interstate highway across Florida.

The 47-mile route, extending west of Lake Kissimmee and paralleling Quymore Road north to the Orange-Seminole County line, will cost an estimated $3.2 million.

Board member Max Brewer of Titusville said two other routes were considered, but studies showed the route decided upon could be constructed nearly $3 million cheaper than one of those discarded and $2 million cheaper than the other.

Tornado Threat Keeps Spreading

By United Press International

More than 30 tornado funnels measured 100 to 200 feet in the Texas Panhandle and drove thousands of persons into storm cellars today.

The twister count over Texas ranged as high as 40, but they did little damage. The tornadoes either hit open country or skipped over populated areas.

At least a dozen communities fell under the tornado threat. At Silsnett, Tex., 200 persons crowded into the courthouse basement. An Amarillo newsmen said, "every child has a hook in it. It's the worst we've ever seen."

Volusia School Case On Docket

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — A school board motion to dismiss a Volusia County school integration suit was due for a hearing today before U. S. District Court Judge Bryan Simpson.

Several other motions on proposed amendments to the suit were also to be argued at the hearing this afternoon.

The suit, filed last summer by NAACP attorneys on behalf of Negro and white parents and children in the Daytona Beach area, seeks complete integration of pupils, teachers and other school personnel in the county public schools.

No date has been set for a final hearing in the case.

Mediators To Get Special Training

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal mediators assigned to prevent strikes and slowdowns at missile-space bases have been summoned for training sessions here next week before assuming their new jobs.

The mediators are considered a key part of President Kennedy's plan to guarantee full-speed construction and operation of missile testing and ICBM launching sites.

Museum Director Civan Speaker

Frederick W. Sleight, director of the Central Florida Museum in Orlando, will speak at the Civitan Club at their regular meeting Thursday at the Sea Shell Restaurant at 7 p. m.

Yehuda Bakon, a young Israeli artist who survived the horrors of Auschwitz and Mauthausen camps, which the prosecution charges were under Eichmann's direct control, testified that he saw ravenous prisoners eating the flesh of victims of an Allied air raid.

"You mean like cannibals?" Hauser asked.

"Yes," Bakon replied.

The session was suspended for 15 minutes when the first witness, best-selling Israeli author Yechiel Diner, stepped suddenly from the stand and flung himself to the ground. Diner, himself an Auschwitz survivor, has written three books about the death factory.

Diner was taken unconscious to a hospital.

Eichmann sat unmoved in his glass box while the court was thrown into an uproar and then was cleared. He also appeared quite impassive in the testimony of other Auschwitz survivors.

Seminole Blvd. End Closing Granted

A petition before the county commissioners brought by G. Fred Spier to close a portion of Seminole Blvd., in order that Spier might fill and improve the land which adjoins his property, was approved by the board Tuesday over the objections of protesting property owners.

Three persons appeared before the commission to protest the closing of the property. Their main objections were that they felt that the commission was setting a precedent in closing a public road to the benefit of an individual. Seven letters were read from other protesting citizens.

A. G. Delaney further objected that Spier's proposed new home would cut off his view of the lake.

Spier countered the objections by saying that the property was now useless to the county and that when improved it would go on the tax rolls and pay taxes to the county.

Chairman J. C. Hutchinson assured the objecting property owners that this approval would not constitute blanket approval for any further petitions.

Spier also countered that the petition of property that was petitioned to be closed would not cut off access to any property as the section is the dead end of the road. He also assured the commission that the section was four blocks away from the proposed extension of BR 44.

Commissioner Ted Williams moved that, since the zoning board and county engineer had recommended the closing of the road and approved the petition, the commission grant the request.

Chairman Hutchinson asked that it be noted in the record that he was not in favor of closing any access road for private purposes.

Fire Auxiliary To Meet Thursday

The Women's Auxiliary of the Lake Mary Volunteer Fire Dept. will meet at 4 p. m. Thursday in the Fire House for the monthly business session.

New members and guests from all areas covered by the firemen are invited to join the group.

Courthouse Repairs Called Urgent

County Zoning Director Robert Brown, in his final report to the board of county commissioners Tuesday on the condition of the Courthouse, recommended that the services of an architect be obtained to work out the details of necessary repairs.

Brown suggested that anything planned for the present be carefully considered with an eye to the future and that plans for repairs be taken into consideration the need to expand the fee offices, especially the judges' offices.

Brown said that work is urgently needed and said that a crack in the main beam of the south wall is allowing the water to leak into the vault and cause serious damage.

He said also that the roof is in very poor condition and recommended that some measures be taken to provide security conditions to prevent a recurrence of the recent break-in and theft of fishing and driver's licenses from the county judge's office.

Brown told the commission that to effect minimum repairs which will make the whole building usable for two or three years, a minimum cost of approximately $13,000 is estimated. This is based on what can be seen and could run substantially higher if decay or permits have done much hidden damage.

To effect repairs which will enable the courthouse building to be usable for from five to six years, the zoning director felt that a minimum amount of from $25,000 to $27,000 would be needed.

More or less permanent repairs would probably require an investment of from $75,000 to $80,000. This should make the courthouse usable for another eight to 10 years, according to Brown's report.

However, this does not include any remodeling or relocation of any office. It again does not take into consideration what conditions might be found as the work progresses.

Brown suggested that an architect be retained in any of these cases and details of the repairs could then be worked out and the commissioners would be in a better position to determine to what extent repairs would be feasible.

Brown's report stated that the total cost of the courthouse, over the last 43 years, appears to be $150,000 for the original building, major repairs and additions. There have been many minor repairs and maintenance items which are impossible to estimate costs on.

Arms Race Continues, Kennedy Tells Nation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American people today had a somber warning from President Kennedy that the expensive arms race with Russia can be expected to continue barring an unexpected change in the basic policies of Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

This was the core of Kennedy's report to the nation on his week-end conversations with Khrushchev in Vienna, as well as with President Charles de Gaulle in Paris and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan in London. Khrushchev is flying back from Europe, the chief executive went on radio and television Tuesday night to review his mission with candor rarely employed in the world of diplomacy.

He said his meeting with Khrushchev was useful in opening channels of communications, but "no advantage or concession was either gained or given," and "no spectacular progress was either achieved or pretended."

While the president saw a ray of light in Khrushchev's attitude toward Laos, he found the Russian leader "rock-solid" in his demand for Soviet veto power over enforcement of any nuclear test ban.

Kennedy said that across the conference table in Vienna last Saturday and Sunday, Khrushchev struck "a serious blow" to "our position as well as to our tests, for an end to the spread of nuclear weapons, and for some slowing down of the arms race."

Khrushchev, according to Kennedy, also was unrelenting in his position on Berlin and Germany. In fact, Kennedy regarded the discussion of Berlin as the "most somber" phase of his conversations with the Soviet premier.

As the president spoke, U. S. experts studied a massive memorandum slipped down on the Vienna conference table by Khrushchev and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. The document, known to diplomats as an aide memoire, stated the Soviet position on Berlin in detail. It was drafted in such a way as to require an American answer which will be forthcoming only after careful, extensive study.

The president said simply that Khrushchev's presentation on Germany and Berlin was made in detail and would be "the subject of further communications."

One current and unofficial version was that Khrushchev said in the memorandum the present Berlin situation would have to be resolved to Soviet satisfaction by the end of this year.

Kennedy noted in his speech that he and Khrushchev at Vienna did not plan any future summit meetings.

Remote Control Sit-In Protest Ends In Arrests

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fifteen white integrationists, arrested in a demonstration to protest the segregation policy of one southern movie house 1,500 miles away, were to be arraigned today on charges of disorderly conduct.

The group, including four women, were picked up late Tuesday night when a four-person sit-in at the offices of American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres, Inc., became a mass sit-down in front of the building.

The protest began at 10:15 a. m. Monday when the four, including one Negro student and one white hood, entered the outside waiting room to the office of ABC president Leonard Goldenson and announced they would remain until he ordered desegregation of the chain theater in Austin, Tex.

They stayed in the waiting room Monday night and were without food for 24 hours until 8 p. m. Tuesday when the company president on an earlier occasion and allowed friends to bring them sandwiches.

He said such a delegation might

Teenagers Add To Police Woes

By United Press International

Surely while teenagers, tested the patience of North Carolina highway patrolmen early today in the tense community of Trinity, N. C., where police are on an emergency alert to prevent a recurrence of racial violence.

Roadblocks were set up around the little crossroads town when youths clad in Bermuda shorts arrived in hot - rod automobiles. Many received traffic tickets for faulty lights and noisy mufflers.

Officers said most of the youths were from other parts of the state and apparently went to Trinity after reading accounts of Monday night's near race riot in newspapers. Patrolmen stood by as about 150 teen-agers jeered passing motorists at a railroad crossing.

The crowd apparently had come looking for trouble, but Negroes did not show up. Police finally arrested three unidentified boys near the scene of Monday night's fist fight between white and Negro youths, which fast police work prevented from becoming a full-scale race riot.

Meanwhile, authorities in Jackson, Miss., adopted a "get tough" policy concerning "Freedom Riders."

Five whites and two Negroes arrived in the Mississippi capital by bus from New Orleans Tuesday and were arrested within five minutes for trying to use segregated facilities at the Trillways bus terminal.

Dominican Doctor Kills Self In New Trujillo Mystery

CIUDAD TRUJILLO (UPI) — The suicide of a socially-prominent Dominican doctor, an unwilling accomplice of the men who killed Rafael L. Trujillo, introduced an unexpected and unexplained American angle into the case today.

Dr. Roberto R. Cabral, who had been forced at gunpoint to harbor retired Gen. Juan T. Diaz and three other assassination plotters, died Tuesday night of self-inflicted razor wounds on his throat and chest.

Although government officials said they were satisfied that Cabral had played no part in the assassination plot, he apparently feared that he might be implicated unjustly.

Unconfirmed reports circulating here today said Cabral had tried for undisclosed reasons to get in touch with unidentified Americans through Wimpy, a U. S.-owned supermarket here.

Wimpy is owned by Lorenzo Berry, a former airline pilot from Melbourne, Fla., who came here 18 years ago to organize the Dominican air force. He married a Dominican woman and settled down here.

Berry was picked up Thursday by police and asked whether he had sold arms to the assassins. He told them he knew Antonio de la Maza Vasquez, a plottor along with Diaz by security police Sunday, but that he had sold arms to no one and knew nothing of the plot.

The supermarket owner, who was released after interrogation, said Tuesday night he has no idea who Cabral might have tried to reach through Wimpy's store why his name should have been mentioned at all.

Another report is that the assassins expected an unidentified general to take charge of the situation once Trujillo was killed, but that he was either arrested or lost his nerve when the assassination failed to cause widespread disorders.

County Approves Moving Regulation

The County Commissioners Tuesday approved a regulation to make stiffer requirements for individuals or firms moving houses or heavy machinery over county roads.

It was stipulated that the superintendent of roads should approve all moving to see that the county's interests are not violated in regards to damage to roads, bridges, trees, buildings, or private property.

All buildings to be moved within the county must have a permit, the applications for which should be made not later than three working days prior to the day of moving, listing route, size of building, conveyance, weight, estimated time, and other pertinent details.

A $25 fee is to be charged for the permit, in addition to any other fees levied by the county and a surety bond of $1,000 per mile, or not less than $1,000 for a portion of a mile, be posted.

The bond would not be refunded until the move is certified completed by the road superintendent and all damages to roads, property or rights of way paid in full.

The board stipulated that the starting date of the regulation be one week from the date of the acceptance in order to permit the drawing up of bonding forms.

Navy Reports It Is Capable Of Beating Red Subs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy told Congress in testimony published Tuesday that it now has the men and weapons to defeat the submarine threat posed by the Soviet bloc.

But the Army said that the Sino-Soviet bloc is ahead of the United States and its allies in chemical and biological warfare, including nerve gases, and this country has no adequate defense against them.

The testimony was made public by the House Appropriations Committee in heavily censored form. Large segments of testimony on chemical and biological warfare were deleted for security reasons. Rear Adm. Lloyd Mustin, chief of the anti-submarine warfare section in the office of naval operations, said U. S. strategy was designed primarily "to detect submarines by seeking them at rates of speed they cannot accept."

"Present U. S. forces against present Communist bloc submarines and anti-shiping attacks can achieve overall rates considerably in excess of this," he continued. W. C. Black, a witness for the Army Chemical Corps intelligence agency, testified the Russians have stockpiles of a number of different kinds of gases—odorless, tasteless, and colorless nerve gases. He said "we feel that they are capable of initiating and sustaining chemical operations tomorrow."

Sea Scout Group Obtains Craft

L. C. Riley, skipper of the Sea Scout Squadron in Sanford has announced that the group has obtained a boat.

The craft formerly belonged to a Sea Scout unit in Daytona Beach and was obtained through the efforts of District Commissioner of Scouts, Dave Proffitt and local Scout head, Jim Hays.

It cost the new Scout group $45 which was raised by the boys in three days, mainly through withdrawals from savings and allowances. The money went to pay the wharfage fee which the storage of the boat had incurred.

The sea boys in the unit now must get the boat from the Sea Horse Marina in Daytona Beach, to Brumley's boat works in Sanford.

The craft is in great need of overhaul and repairs, including drydocking, sanding and painting. Fleet Reserve Area 167, which sponsored the formation of the new Scout group announced that interested citizens are encouraged to give the Scouts some assistance with their long range project of making the boat seaworthy.

Question Arises On Federal Control Of Schools

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U. S. Supreme Court and Washington's professional football team (The Redskins) would be an unlikely combination under any circumstances.

Add the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and you have three that are not of a kind.

These three tend to come together in logical pattern, however, when you consider the dispute blazing around the Kennedy administration's aid-to-education bill. The bill passed the Senate, is pending in the House.

The dispute is not primarily about the sum of money involved, which is very large. Nor is it basically a dispute about the need to spend more or less money on education in the United States.

The dispute is about this: Would the Kennedy administration subsidy bill enable and encourage the federal government to seize control of education from local and state authorities and regulate it? And this: Is the bureaucracy in the Office of Education ready, willing and likely to seek to regulate education if the Kennedy bill is enacted?

Undisputed is the fact that enactment of the legislation would pour a lot of federal money into education at local levels. What then? In 1942, the U. S. Supreme Court decided a case known as Wickard vs. Filburn (317 U. S. 111-113). The court held that:

"It is hardly lack of due process (of law) for the government to regulate that which it subsidizes."

The court's negative declaration, when stated affirmatively, means the government may control that which it subsidizes.

Now, consider the Washington Redskins and their boss, the Hon. George Preston Marshall. Marshall has signed a contract with the authorities to exhibit his ball club next season in the new Washington stadium, now building. The stadium project is subject to the Department of Interior because there is federal money in it.

By chance or intent, Marshall's ball club employs no Negro football players. He has even suggested that Marshall does not play Negroes because the Redskins possess a valuable asset in the popularity of their TV appearances in Southern states. The Redskins are Dixie's football sweethearts.

Congress appropriated $2.65 million toward the Washington stadium, actually for roads and parking facilities. This, of course, was a subsidy. Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall is the top federal official in the matter. Mrs. Udall agrees with the court that government can regulate that which it subsidizes.

So, Udall recently cracked down on Marshall to hire one or more Negro players. Integrate, or else! Government usually is quick to exercise any and all powers available to it.

Now comes the U. S. Chamber of Commerce to charge that the U. S. Office of Education seeks to seize control of public education. The chamber cites a report of the USOE committee on the mission and organization of USOE. The report is long. A reasonable interpretation of it would be that the USOE sees boom times a-coming. It is ready, willing, and even likely, to move on the local education front if the chance comes. The USOE will deny that.

Interested citizens should obtain a copy of the report and read it for themselves. It is dated April 13, 1961. Boom times are not merely coming for USOE, however. Boom times are here. Appropriations soared from $22 million in 1950 to $664 million last year.

Class Of 1936 Member Reviews Years For '61 Seminole Grads

The annual Class Day of Seminole High School was held Monday in Fleming Gym for this year's graduates.

President of the senior class, Cary Cowan, gave the welcoming remarks to the audience, which included the student body, the faculty, parents and members of the Class of 1936.

President of the 1936 class, Roy Wright, spoke to the seniors, telling them of the events in the past 25 years, the advances and improvements and the great changes made.

Wright told the students that the world today is a young man's world, as proved by the young president of the U. S. He told them that the future is wide open and there is much of exciting changes and tremendous expansion for the future.

The Class Prophecy, which predicts in humorous form, what will happen to the members of this year's class in the next 10 years, was read to the assembly by Barbara Bradley, Charles Fox, Alex McKibbin and Johnny Welch.

Cowan presented the gift of the class to the school, the palm trees, junipers and gravel with which the senior class began the landscaping of the parking lot at a cost of $300.

The Class Will was read, in lines of both serious and comical presentations from the members of the class, by Betty Williams, Judy Ludwig, Emmett McCall and Billy Johnson.

Vice president of the class, Sandra Wood, gave the class farewell to the school, which was followed by the entire senior class singing the Alma Mater.

Russians, Indonesians Stage Rip Snorter

MOSCOW (UPI) — Tass news agency said "an unrestrained, cordial atmosphere prevailed." In Western terms, it was a rip-snorter.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, fresh from his summit meeting with President Kennedy sang, played the bongo drums with a swagger stick and danced a hot Russian "hora."

President Leonid Brezhnev tied a kerchief over his head and took the female part in a "leskinka" dance with Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan.

Indonesian girls kissed Khrushchev and Russian women kissed Indonesian President Sukarno.

The occasion was a garden reception at the Indonesian embassy a few hours after Sukarno arrived Monday on a state visit.

Gaily colored Chinese lanterns lighted the lawn. Khrushchev was the life of the party for three hours—and had nothing to drink but fruit juice.

It was Sukarno's 60th birthday but neither he nor Khrushchev, who is 66, showed their ages. Khrushchev looked more relaxed and exuberant than this correspondent has seen him in years.

The fun started when Sukarno started an Indonesian national folk dance with some of the women dressed in colorful national costumes. Khrushchev grabbed Sukarno's swagger stick and began beating the bongos. Then he grabbed Sukarno himself and joined the dancers.

Several times beautiful Indonesian girls in saris dashed to the Soviet premier and kissed him on both cheeks.

Khrushchev, delighted, called for Russian girls to return the favor to Sukarno. Mrs. Khrushchev and another Russian woman complied and the Soviet premier thanked them for "upholding Russian honor."

One point in the party found Mikoyan and Khrushchev dancing the strenuous "hora." Mikoyan dropped to his haunches during the dance but the portlier Khrushchev could not make it.

Mikoyan was dancing alone when Brezhnev suddenly leaped to his feet to join him, donning a kerchief like a peasant woman.

Khrushchev playfully took Sukarno's gold-tipped swagger stick a second time and stuck it in his pocket.

"Take it and you can pay me for it with credits," Sukarno smiled.

U. S. Feels Too Secure, Group Told

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Some Americans feel too secure because of American military power and this feeling is endangering the nation's fight against communism, Navy Secretary John B. Connors said Tuesday.

Addressing the national convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs on the 17th anniversary of the Allied landing in Normandy in World War II, Connors said the present Communist threat was "equally dangerous, but more subtle, insidious and difficult to understand."

"Older people will pass us by," he said, "if American citizens fail to win the hard contests ahead."

It Can Happen

The Republicans' choice for mayor of New York, State Atty. Gen. Louis Lefkowitz, may or may not make big political history this fall in a thrust against that city's Democratic fortress. But already he has carved himself a unique minor niche.

Three years ago, in a moment of heart-warming innocence few can hope to match, he expressed all the natural awe of fabled wealth felt by the poor boy risen from the slums. Touring New York's East Side with the man who now governs his state, he suddenly blurted out: "Imagine me, Louis Lefkowitz, showing a Rockefeller around my old neighborhood!"

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

CASE 3-400: Lois D., aged 18, is president of her church Young People's society.

"But, Dr. Crane," she protested, "Daddy doesn't want me to go to our church summer camp for a week."

"Oh, you are too young, besides, he says Mother needs me to help around the house."

"But 7 of our group are going and I ought to be there, too, for I am president, and they expect me to set a good example."

"Besides, I'd learn a lot and be a better leader in the church, wouldn't I?"

Yes, it is very desirable that ALL children get to spend a week each summer at a summer church camp.

All 5 of our Crane youngsters went each summer to a church camp, beginning when they were in 7th grade and continuing for 6 years thru senior high school. That helps prepare children for college.

For thousands of students flunk out of college in their first semester just because they haven't been taught how to live alone.

If you parents wish to prepare your kids for self-reliant adulthood, you MUST start early.

Start in their toddler days, for youngsters should learn to stay with a beloved baby sister.

Next, they should visit friends for a meal and later spend an entire night away from home.

By mid grammar school, they should be used to visiting grandparents or favorite cousins for possibly a week-end or an entire week.

In the teens, it is splendid preparation for college, to spend a full week at a church camp, away from parents.

These church camps are also the main training centers for active church leaders in future years.

For they have specially talented youth leaders who know how to enthrall teen-agers for a full week.

The home pastor each Sunday has a mixed audience of all ages, so he can't claim his remarks just to the teen-agers.

But these camp churchmen have a unified audience, of about the same age and interests. They can thus inspire the young folks to noble choices of careers.

And the teen-agers then go back home as far more active "spark plugs" in their local churches.

The best birthday or Christmas gift you adults can offer a youngster is thus to help him spend a week at a summer church camp.

It would be a boon to America.

if EVERY child had this great privilege.

Those who attend church summer camps become more mature and more dependable youth.

They gain poise and a wider circle of friends, so they have a more cosmopolitan outlook.

And they gain a running head start for college, too, so urge your own youngsters to attend such a camp.

And if possible, offer to pay 25 or even half of the week's expenses of every teen-ager who wishes to go to summer church camp. That's the most productive "home missionary" investment you can ever make.

Judge Mize Reports

Juvenile Court Explained

This is the second and concluding of two articles concerning a Juvenile Court activity report by Judge C. Vernon Mize on activity in his court from January 1 through March 31.

The great majority of dependent cases are referred to the Juvenile Court by the State Department of Public Welfare. However a few of these cases are also referred by individuals.

As to the traffic cases in Juvenile Court, only two cases were referred during this period. It is felt that there must certainly be other traffic cases wherein warnings were given to juvenile violators by law enforcement officers and no referral was made to the court.

The Juvenile Court is the only court in the state of Florida which has the authority to suspend a driver's license for any violation in the courts having jurisdiction over adults, driving while intoxicated is the only offense wherein the presiding judge has the legal authority to suspend a driver's license.

It is important to bear in mind that the fundamental idea of the Juvenile Court Law is that the state must step in and exercise guardianship of a child found under such adverse conditions as develop crime.

It proposes a plan whereby the child may be treated, not as a criminal, or legally charged with a crime, but as a ward of the state to receive practically the care, custody and discipline that are accorded the neglected dependent child, and which shall approximate as nearly as possible that which should be given by his parents.

Judge Mize plans to submit a report similar to this after each three month period and will also submit a yearly report shortly after the end of the year. It is his desire that through this report, the citizens of the county will be better informed as to the activities and problems which are dealt with from day to day in the Juvenile Court.

As more and more people are realizing the magnitude of juvenile delinquency throughout the nation, a report such as this can readily show that we have our share of this problem and this should be of great concern to all of us.

Cases by age group and race for the first three months of the year found under delinquencies, one Negro and one white, under 12 years of age; two Negro and seven white from 12 to 14 years of age; three Negro and 16 whites in the 15 to 16 age category.

Children who came under the dependency category were 12 Negro and six white, under 16 years of age; two white and two Negro in the 11 to 12 age bracket; one Negro in the 13 to 14 age and two whites in the 15 to 16 age group.

There were four Negro male delinquents in Sanford, one Negro male in west Seminole County; eight white males in Sanford, six in West Seminole County (Oviedo, Geneva and Chuluota) nine white males in south Seminole and one white female.

There were 12 Negro dependent children and 13 white dependent children in Sanford.

There were two traffic cases in Sanford, one boy and one girl, both white.

In cases where no action was taken; there were among Negro children, 10 cases of delinquency, two of dependency and 58 of truancy, 15 cases of child neglect or runaways.

Among white children, there were 24 delinquents, 3 dependents, 50 cases of truancy and 33 cases of neglect or runaways.

The leading category of violations was petit larceny, with seven such cases, six cases of vandalism, five cases of breaking and entering; three cases of bike or scooter theft; three cases of incorrigibility, two cases of traffic violation, two in grand larceny; two in automobile theft and one in truancy.

In dependency cases, 11 children were removed from their parents for conditions injurious to morals, five were abandoned and eight for other causes.

One child was sent to the State Training School during the three months period and five white and two Negro children were placed in detention.

Highlights TV Key Previews

Wednesday's top television shows as previewed and selected by TV Key's staff of experts who attend rehearsals, watch screenings, and analyze scripts in New York and Hollywood:

Hong Kong — "Lesson in Fear." (A repeat) Good adventure. This is one of those confusing smuggling tales loaded with doublecrosses, but well done and extremely absorbing. Susanna Pleshette, David Hedison and Rod Taylor give fine performances in the leading roles, and we can even forgive the "ironic" finale. 7:30 p. m. ABC.

Danger Man — "The Lovers." You're likely to guess the mystery in this cloak-and-dagger tale about an assassination plot, but it won't spoil your interest in its development. There's one particularly well-written scene between security agent Drake and a bomb-making expert, beautifully played by Martin Miller, that makes it all worth while. 8:30 p. m. CBS.

Perry Come — Perry is closing up shop for the season, and everybody in the crew gets into the act before the packing gets started. Puffy Paul Lynde is practically a regular by now. Ray Charles adds his choir, Mitch Ayres and his band try a percussion hit in a salute to ailing drummer Terry Snyder. Peter Gennaro re-rehears his duet, and Perry sings until he's only a voice off stage. (Color) 9 p. m. NBC.

Circle Theater — "Porch Groceries." The role of the parole officer and the challenge he faces in dealing with the parolee in this knotty subject of tonight's dramatized documentary. Though the case history of the prisoner on parole and his ordeal ends up too smoothly for belief, the tact, authority and intelligence of the parole officer in helping him re-adjust to society is both believable and noteworthy. 10 p. m. CBS.

Jack Paar Show — Selma Diamond, the gal with the deadpan face and the wonderful dry wit, is on again, and so are Hans Conrid, Dody Goodman and Larry Storch. Betty Johnson will do the singing honors and Storch will do an act. (Color) 11:15 p. m. NBC.

Youth Not Fit — WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy's special adviser on physical fitness has told Congress that American youth is getting soft. Charles (Bud) Wilkinson, athletic director and head football coach at the University of Oklahoma, said recent studies at Yale, West Point and the University of Illinois show "a gradual deterioration" in the physical fitness of young Americans.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 19. For the past three years I have been having a love affair with a man 52. He had a business close to my home so it was easy for me to see him every day. Someone told his wife about us, and he sold out and left town. He didn't even say goodbye.

I know he loves me because we were so happy when we were together. His wife is just hanging onto him for his money. Young men laugh at me because I am large—195 pounds. Can you help me?

STILL WAITING

DEAR WAITING: Don't waste your time waiting for a man who belongs to somebody else. Your 52-year-old Romeo took advantage of your youth and loneliness. Trim your figure down to fighting weight, and fight your way back to a decent life. An ounce of self-respect is worth 195 pounds of excuses.

DEAR ABBY: I am having trouble convincing my boy friend that he cannot run for any office in our trade union (especially president) because he got a dishonorable discharge from the service. Isn't it true that he cannot vote or run for any office, public or union?

THE GIRL FRIEND

DEAR GIRL FRIEND: Your boy friend can learn the qualifications required to run for a union office from the Union Constitution. And the Secretary of State in the state where you reside can tell him whether or not he qualifies to run for public office.

DEAR ABBY: I am a refined woman over 50, have a good income and own my own home and car. I have been seeing a gentleman for the past two years. He's sort of retired. He plays cards and loafs, and is a good dresser, wonderful company, but is a good dresser, wonderful company, and is well-liked. I have discovered that I am getting only half of him. And I do not care for the half I am getting. He devotes Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and half of Thursday to me. But the rest of the week he is busy with a "companion" he has had for 20 years.

Knowing his income was limited, I have been paying both his way and mine when we go anywhere. He didn't buy me a valentine, saying it was just a man-made holiday for the benefit of the merchants. But he gave her one. I am very hurt over this and wonder if I shouldn't drop him for good.

HURT

DEAR HURT: With your qualifications you should be able to attract other friends, but, if you enjoy his company, don't "drop him" for good. Remember, half a loafer is better than none.

Problems? You are not alone. Let Abby help you find the solution. Write to her, Box 3865, Beverly Hills, Calif. Don't forget to enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Who pays for what, and how do you go about planning a lovely, inexpensive wedding? Send 50 cents for Abby's wedding pamphlet, in care of this paper.

We The Women:

By Ruth Millet

So you don't understand women—your wife included. Well, maybe that's because you assume a woman means exactly what she says. But a woman seldom does. For instance:

"I'll be ready in just a minute" means "Relax, putting on my face is going to take a while—but it will be worth it."

"She's attractive—if you like the type" implies, "Does anybody?"

"She's so young looking for her age" isn't really a compliment. It's a tip-off that she's not as young as she wants everyone to think she is.

"I had the most wonderful luck today" nearly always leads up to the disclosure that a wife has been a bit extravagant and is building up her hubby as the bargain of the year.

"I'd love to have it, but (sigh) it's too expensive." That doesn't mean she has given up the idea. It is just a come-on that is supposed to make her husband automatically respond with, "K it's what you want, get it."

"I'm devoted to Marcia but..." Pay no attention to the "I'm devoted" routine—just listen for what follows the pause after that "but" and you'll find out how she really feels about Marcia.

"Do you really like my hat?" That isn't a question—it's a command for you to be reassuring.

"Of course, I'm not mad. It's just that..." It is just that she is burned up at you, that's all.

"Now don't say a word until I've finished." You'd better sit down before you hear the rest of this. It's going to be bad news, for sure.

More light for husbands on wives' ways: "Happier Wives (hints for husband)." Just send 25 cents to Ruth Millet Reader Service, c/o The Sanford Herald, P. O. Box 480, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N. Y.

Jacoby On Bridge

By Oswald Jacoby

In rubber bridge a good declarer concentrates on his contract and only goes after overtricks when the contract is sure. In duplicate it sometimes pays to gamble a little.

Playing at two spades South received the fortunate opening lead of the four of hearts. Dummy's queen held the trick and East won trick two with the ace of diamonds. A second heart lost to South's ace and West won a second diamond.

Now West tried to cash his king of hearts. South ruffed that ruff with a diamond in dummy; and played dummy's ace of spades.

At this point his contract was

The game was duplicate and North pointed out that South would have made an overtrick if he had played a second trump. South replied that he felt that two spades suit had made would be a very satisfactory score and that a second trump lead would have jeopardized his line contract.

When the scores were in, South's reason was justified. Plus 110 tied for top.

safe as long as he simply cashed high cards and left trumps alone. He played the jack of hearts. East ruffed and later on West made his two remaining trumps.

The game was duplicate and North pointed out that South would have made an overtrick if he had played a second trump. South replied that he felt that two spades suit had made would be a very satisfactory score and that a second trump lead would have jeopardized his line contract.

Afternoon Tea Honors Two Graduates

The lovely home of Mrs. R. E. True, overlooking Crystal Lake in Lake Mary, was the scene of an afternoon tea, recently.

Mrs. True and co-hostesses, Mrs. Horace Cochran, Mrs. Gertrude Gilbert and Mrs. Raymond Ball, honored Miss Delores Kirsch and Miss Myrna Williams, members of this year's high school graduating class.

A May theme was carried out in decorations throughout the party rooms, in flower arrangements of pastel colors.

The refreshment table was overlaid with a yellow organdy cloth. Delicate shades of mums in a silver bowl, flanked by silver candelabra with burning yellow tapers, formed the centerpiece.

On the dining room credenza a tiered chandelier, also lighted with yellow tapers, was entwined with fern, mums and blue hydrangeas.

Refreshments of dainty sandwiches, shaped like daisies, roses and graduate caps, mints, nuts, petit fours, resembling May baskets, and mint tulle punch were served.

A wreath of flowers in pastel colors was frozen in the ice used in the punch bowl, to further carry out the color scheme of pink, green, yellow and blue.

Mrs. True and Mrs. Ball greeted the guests at the door and presented them to the guests of honor and their mothers.

Mrs. Ralph Williams, Mrs. Rowland Goble, Mrs. Cochran and Mrs. Gilbert presided at the refreshment table.

Ruth Carlton and Sherry Lee served as floating hostesses.

Corsages and gifts of silver were presented to the honorees, as mementoes of the occasion.

About 60 guests called during the appointed hours of 4:30 to 6 p.m.

Romano Hits In 21st Game; Indians Take First In AL

United Press International
Geronimo and the Apaches called it quits in 1961, but there seems to be no stopping Johnny Romano or those amazing first place Cleveland Indians.

The Indians took over the American League lead from the Detroit Tigers Tuesday night by reeling off their eighth straight victory and their 20th in the last 24 games.

Romano belted two homers, drove in four runs and extended his consecutive hitting streak to 21 games as he led a tribal party that massacred the Washington Senators, 14-3.

The Indians staged a tremendous hitting show for ex-President Eisenhower and other military dignitaries who were the guests of Washington club owner Pete Quasada at Griffith Stadium. Romano paced Cleveland's 16-hit offensive with his ninth and 10th homers plus a pair of singles, while Johnny Temple went three-for-three and Jim Piersall raised his league leading batting average to .370 with a triple and a single.

Gary Bell (4-4) was the winner with help in the seventh from Bob Allen, while rookie Joe McClain (5-4) was the loser.

The Tigers dropped into second place for the first time since April 29 when they suffered a 7-1 defeat at the hands of the Chicago White Sox.

Al Smith drove in three runs with four hits, including a homer, as Turk Lown held Detroit to three hits over the last 5 1/2 innings to gain his third triumph. Jim Bunning (4-5) was the loser.

The New York Yankees handed the Minnesota Twins their 12th straight loss, 7-3, the Boston Red Sox downed the Kansas City Athletics, 5-3, and the Baltimore Orioles won the nightcap of a twin-bill from the Los Angeles Angels, 3-0, after losing the opener, 7-3.

Cincinnati clung to the National League lead with a 7-3 win over Milwaukee, the Los Angeles Dodgers edged the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-7, the Philadelphia Phillies beat the San Francisco Giants, 13-9, and the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Chicago Cubs, 6-2, in the opener of a twin-bill.

The second game was called with the score 3-3.
Whitney Ford of the Yankees won his eighth game by holding the spiraling Twins to three hits in the 7 1/2 innings he worked. Luis Arroyo pitched a hitless ball the rest of the way, Roger Maris hit his 18th homer and drove in four runs. Sam Mels, serving as acting manager of the Twins, was ejected from the game in the second inning and fellow coach Ed Lopat took over. Manager Cookie Lavagetto, who was advised to take "a vacation" for awhile by owner Cal Griffith, saw part of the game from the press box.

Vic Weria's two-run homer off Jim Archer highlighted a four-run rally in the seventh that brought the Red Sox from behind in their victory over the Athletics. Bill Monbouquette pitched the first seven innings and was credited with his fifth victory.

Chuck Estrada held the Angels to two hits in the nightcap and struck out 12 in winning his third game for the Orioles. It was the first time this season Estrada went the route. El Grba won his fifth game for the Angels in the opener as Ken Hunt and Roy Thomas each homered.

Bob Purkey and relief ace Jim Brosnan combined to give the Reds their victory over the Braves. Purkey went the first eight innings and gained his sixth win although tagged for 13 hits. The Reds wrapped up the game in the eighth when they capitalized on the wildness of rookie righthander Federico Olivo to score three runs. Gene Freese homered.

Johnny Roseboro's pinch double off loser Roy Face capped a three-run Dodger rally that sunk the Pirates in the seventh inning. During that same frame, the Pittsburgh battery of Clem Labine and Smoky Burgess was thumbed out of the game for arguing a decision by Umpire Mel Steiner. Johnny Podres, second of three Dodger pitchers, was the winner.

George Altman hit a three-run homer in the seventh off Ray Saadek to account for all of the Cubs' runs in the nightcap. Jack Curtis and Joe Schafferoth had given up 12 hits between them while the Cubs could collect only three off Saadek. The game will be re-played in its entirety at a later date.

and now owns a 6-1 record. Bill Virdon and Norm Sherry hit homers.

Clay Dalrymple and Don Demeter each drove in five runs for the Phillies, who handed the Giants their eighth setback in the last 10 games. Dalrymple had a three-run homer plus a double and a single while Demeter had a three-run double and a two-run homer. Dallas Green was the winner and Billy O'Dell the loser. Ernie Broglio held the Cubs to six hits in the Cardinals' opening game victory. The win was Broglio's sixth against five losses. Bill White hit a two-run homer off loser Glen Hobbie, who was charged with his sixth loss compared with four victories.

George Altman hit a three-run homer in the seventh off Ray Saadek to account for all of the Cubs' runs in the nightcap. Jack Curtis and Joe Schafferoth had given up 12 hits between them while the Cubs could collect only three off Saadek. The game will be re-played in its entirety at a later date.

Still Short

There still is a shortage of managers for the Little Minor League being formed by the Recreation Dept. and any adults interested in helping out are urged to call the recreation office at the Civic Center.

A full roster of managers is needed for the teams of boys from seven through nine years of age before the youngsters can attend a clinic planned before opening of the league June 19.

Tickets Due Soon For Two Major League All Star Contests

NEW YORK (UPI) — Baseball fans desiring tickets for this year's two major league All-Star games will be able to make reservations within a few days.

The San Francisco Giants, hosts for the first All-Star game at Candlestick Park on July 11, and the Boston Red Sox, hosts for the second game at Fenway Park on July 21, are expected to announce various ticket plans some time this week.

Box seats for both games will cost $8, while reserved grandstand seats will cost $6. Reserved bleacher seats and standing-room tickets at Boston will cost $4, while all unreserved bleacher seats, at both parks, will cost $2. No reserved bleacher seats, or standing-room tickets will be sold for the game at Candlestick Park.

As in the past two years, the players, managers and coaches will pick the two starting teams. They will begin balloting on June 23 and should complete their selections by June 29, according to baseball Commissioner Ford Frick. They will not be permitted to vote for any members of their teams.

After the players, managers and coaches have completed voting for the eight starting positions for the first All-Star game, the remaining 17 positions, plus the coaches, batting practice pitchers and catchers will be selected by the two managers, Paul Richards of Baltimore for the American League and Danny Murthaugh of Pittsburgh for the National.

Patterson To Fight Young Prospect

BOSTON (UPI) — Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson will meet Tom McNeely of Arlington, Mass., in a title fight at Boston Garden Sept. 23, the Boston Daily Record said today.

The newspaper said the fight will be promoted by Championship Sports Inc. and will be nationally televised.

The 23-year-old McNeely is undefeated in 23 fights but he has beaten no one of any note. His last bout was against unknown Kiltone Lave of the Friendly Islands. It ended in a knockout.

All-Star Pilots Have Chance To Stage Pitching Spectacular

By JACK CUDDY
NEW YORK (UPI) — Some critics say there's no sentiment in baseball but the rival managers of the National and American League All-Star teams could go a long way toward disproving it this year.

And, in the process, NL pilot Danny Murtaugh and AL leader Paul Richards could set the stage for a truly memorable match — perhaps one of the midsummer classic's greatest shows.

All they have to do is name Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves and Early Wynn of the Chicago White Sox as their starting pitchers in either of the two classics scheduled — at San Francisco, July 11, or at Boston, July 17.

Such a match would combine many of the dramatic elements that were foreseen when the All-Star game was conceived in 1933 — elements that have kept it alive as a great spectacle since then.

Here is an opportunity for Murtaugh and Richards to match the only two pitchers of the last 30 years good enough and durable enough to approach the 300-mark in victories. And as a fitting backdrop for the historic match, there would be the glittering All-Star arrays of both leagues.

Unquestionably the two mound-men will make the teams. Spahn ticked off victory No. 294 last Sunday, and by the time the first All-Star game rolls around he should be within a notch or two of the magic 300. Wynn has a bit further to go, with his 288 wins; but apparently it's only a matter of time before he makes it.

And what could be more fitting than for the majors to invite Robert Moses (Lefty) Grove—the only living member of baseball's 300-club—to throw out the first ball? A special Spahn-Wynn match would be in keeping with the sentiment that sealed the invitation to the retired John J. McGraw, back in 1933, and asked him to lead the Nationals against his old rival, Connie Mack, of the Americans at Comiskey Park in the very first All-Star game ever played.

That sentimental pilots' match strengthened the classic's billing as "the game of the century."

Both Spahn and Wynn have shown signs of slipping, but neither could be questioned as an All-Star starter—either on his overall career or his performance this season. They're both still first-class pitchers and probably the ones their own managers would pick if they had but one game to win or lose for the pennant.

In connection with their drive toward the magic 300, it should be remembered they are pitchers in the modern era of the lively ball, night baseball and territorial expansion. That combination of speeding pellets, mixed night-and-day schedules and longer jumps, extracts a tremendous toll from modern hurlers and makes the 300-victory mark more and more difficult to reach.

But here are two grand pitchers—Warren and Early—pushing toward that goal in the same year and standing ready to make sentimental journeys to the All-Stars mounds of their respective leagues. What an opportunity for Murtaugh and Richards!

Palmer, Snead Lead 150 Field Into Open Play

NEW YORK (UPI)—A strong field of 128 pros and 22 amateurs led by defending champion Arnold Palmer and in-the-groove Sam Snead was set today for the U. S. Open golf championship at Birmingham, Mich., June 15-17.

Among Palmer's 149 challengers will be nine former Open champions including four-time winner Ben Hogan, plus PGA champion Jay Hebert, Masters champion Gary Player of South Africa and British Open king Kel Nagle of Australia.

Snead, 49, but in rare form the last month, took his last competitive licks before grappling with his U. S. Open jinx by whipping around Detroit's Gross Ile layout Tuesday in 68-70-138 to lead his sectional qualifying group.

Old Sam, who never has won the Open in 20 previous tries, romped off with three major championships in the last month and apparently is building up for a big effort in the Open.

Bob Goalby of Crystal River, Fla., had the day's hottest total as the last 74 pros and 11 amateurs qualified in six centers Tuesday. Goalby fired an eight under par 66-68-134 at Oklahoma City, where many of the touring pros elected to try to qualify.

Most of the name players slipped in but Ken Venturi of San Francisco, scoring 72-72-144, found himself on the outside.

Laos Conference Session Canceled As Truce Violated

GENEVA (UPI) — The Laos peace conference canceled its scheduled session today following major Communist-backed cease-fire violations in the Southeast Asia kingdom.

Speakers for Britain and the Soviet Union, co-chairmen of the 14-nation conference, announced the session was canceled officially because "no speakers were available" for the meeting.

However, Western delegation sources said a full-scale revival of Communist-supported rebel attacks triggered the action.

A Vietnamese report said Pathet Lao infantrymen, backed by a heavy artillery barrage, drove royal Laotian troops and Meo tribesmen from their stronghold inside the Padong perimeter today.

The first direct radio contact in more than 15 hours from a six-man American advisory team attached to the Padong garrison in the heart of rebel territory said the encircled defenders withdrew their headquarters to "an alternate position."

School Expansion Survey Looks Into A Basic Point

SAN MATEO, Calif. (UPI) — San Mateo County, concerned about the population explosion in its schools, has begun a fertility study among its women.

Frank Williams of the county planning commission said the purpose is to pinpoint "hot spots" so that expansion problems can be met in advance.

The study is based on the number of children under five years per 1,000 women 15 to 49 years of age.

The "hottest spot" found so far, he said, is in a Daly City subdivision of moderately priced homes just south of San Francisco. It had 707 small children per 1,000 women as compared with the county average of 465 and 520 for San Francisco.

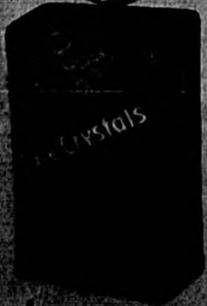

Though small, the moon appears to be the same size as the sun because the latter, with a diameter of 800 times that of the moon, is 800 times as far away.

MOSCOW (UPI)—Laotian nationalist leader Prince Souvanna Phouma left for the Geneva conference on Laos today armed with Soviet pledges of support. Phouma and his half-brother, Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the Pathet Lao, were seen off by Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan after two days of consultations with Soviet leaders, including Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Bolivia Sets State Of Siege
LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI)—Bolivia was reported quiet early today under modified martial law imposed by President Victor Paz Estenssoro's government to crush a plot aimed at "armed Communist intervention."

Reports that workers in the nationalized tin mines planned "hunger marches" at Catavi, Lliacaca and Siglo Veinte created the prospect of possible trouble later in the day. The Paz regime proclaimed a state of siege Wednesday and suspended civil rights. The governing MNR party called for a state of emergency and education authorities closed down the schools. Informed sources said at least 25 alleged plotters had been arrested, including union leaders Rene Pimental and Federico Escobar. The Communist party, in a statement protesting the arrests of Pimental and Escobar, said Red leaders Jorge Baral and Luis Jimenez had been arrested in Huancuni. It was not immediately certain whether the reported Red plot would affect U. S. goodwill ambassador Adlai Stevenson's plan to visit Bolivia June 15-16. Stevenson, who is on a three-week tour of South America's 10 countries, is in Argentina today.

Bear Lake School Plans OK'd; 22 New Teachers Set

The County School Board today approved final plans for the new Bear Lake Elementary School and at the same time boosted teaching personnel in the county by hiring 22 new teachers for the 1961-62 school term. Board members and architect John Burton went over the Bear Lake School plans and the board authorized Burton to advertise for bids on the 20 classroom school within the next two weeks. Cost of constructing the new facility will come from the sale of State Department of Education bonds scheduled next Tuesday in Tallahassee. The board also started relieving the critical teaching situation with the hiring of 22 additional teachers bringing the number of teachers in the county to 521. New teachers and their schools are: Mary Linda Parrot, Southside; James Hugh Hardin Jr., Seminole High School; Mrs. Josephine Betta Bradley, South Seminole; James Thomas Clark, South Seminole; Mrs. James M. Miller, South Seminole. Mrs. Nelda Kay Buckner, Grammar School; Mrs. Virginia S. Toth, Westside; Mrs. Anne N. Colling, Altamonte Elementary; Mrs. Polly Ann Morse, Altamonte Elementary. Marlene Y. Sherrod, Altamonte Elementary; Mrs. Mary F. Gregory, Altamonte Elementary; Edward Lorenzo Buckner, Sanford Junior High; Sarah E. Wright, Sanford Junior High; Clarence

F. Grantham, Sanford Junior High. Mrs. Elizabeth Steele, Sanford Junior High; Ella Gretchen Kirchoff, Pinecrest; Margaret A. Barnes, Pinecrest; Elizabeth Jackson, Pinecrest; Fletcher Walters Cockrell, Lyman; Mrs. Louise Stackpole, Lyman; Mrs. Eked Keyser, Lyman and Mrs. George Lillian Houston, Pinecrest. The board also accepted the resignation of Sylvia Beasley, Sanford Junior High and Sara Parker and Mrs. Alice Hook, both of Pinecrest.

Drought Ravages Citrus

The long dry spell in Seminole County has created a "critical" situation as far as the county's $4 million citrus industry is concerned, County Agent Cecil Tucker said today. Tucker estimated that from 10 to 25 percent of the citrus in the county has been damaged—with the heaviest hit in the Ovelto, Chulota and Goldenrod areas. Tucker, who said he made a tour of the "critical" areas Wednesday, said that "if we don't get some rain soon 'we'll be in real bad shape.'" The weather bureau predicted today that some rain is forecast for tonight in the county. In discussing the citrus problem, Tucker explained that "we stand to lose not only the possibility of crop but also trees because of the lack of rain." Tucker pointed out that this is particularly true in the lower area of planting in flat wood type soils in "which we had some root damage by high water last year." Around the nation storms renewed flood threats today in Kansas and Nebraska, drenched central Mississippi Valley states and rained east across the Appalachian range.

Tornadoes alternated with sweltering temperatures in the South-west. At Kingdom City, Mo., a farm couple and their seven children escaped death in a twister-flattened milking barn. The Weather Bureau said sunnier weather east of the Rockies today would be confined generally to the northern Great Plains and western upper Great Lakes. Widespread showers and thunderstorms covered most of the nation's eastern two-thirds. Fair weather prevailed west of the Rockies except in rain patches along the northern Pacific and interior valleys. New rains in Kansas and Nebraska swelled the Saline toward an expected flood stage at 23 feet at Tecott, Kan. The Big Blue River caused minor flooding at Crete, Neb., and overflows were forecast on the Little Blue at DeWeese and Fairbury, Neb. The Republican River was due to hit flood stage Friday at Hardy, Neb. Funnel clouds were sighted Wednesday night near Daltart, Hartley and Plains, Tex., and winds up to 50 miles per hour caused minor damage at Amarillo where a truck driver was killed in a twister that blew his truck. He was not hurt.

Orlando Man Killed In Auto Mishap On 49

An Orlando man was killed on S.W. 419 Wednesday afternoon when his car went out of control and crashed into a gully near North Orlando, the Highway Patrol reported. Trooper J. L. Sikes said that Ernest A. Brixius, 66, died at Seminoles Memorial Hospital shortly after the mishap. Brixius suffered a crushed chest and severe head injuries. A passenger in the car, Josephine Sibold, 36, also of Orlando was seriously hurt and was listed in "fair" condition at the hospital today. Sikes said the car was apparently going at a high rate of speed and went out of control. The car, which was a compact, was completely demolished.

Water Saving Response 'Helpful'

Mayor Joe Baker said today that response to a plea Wednesday had helped to lessen the pressure on the city's overtaxed water supply and asked that residents continue to use only water necessary for household uses. "Folks seemed to ease off on lawn watering late yesterday and that allowed us to maintain good pressure and add a little to the reserve supply," Baker said. "The city appreciates the cooperation of the public and we hope the people will continue to use the minimum amount of water necessary for a little longer," Baker said. The water supply has been badly taxed during the 4 p. m. to 8 p. m. period of the day when lawn and shrub watering has been added to the normal heavy household use at that time of day.

Seminole To Get More Race Money

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Florida counties will receive more race track money this fiscal year than last. Comptroller Ray E. Green Wednesday said he was sending each county $12,000, which brings to $183,000 the total amount of race track money received to date this year. Some $183,000 was doled out for the same period last year. Green said one more small distribution would be made before June 30.

Trouble Brewing

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Foreign Minister Adolfo Mugica indicated publicly to Ambassador Adlai Stevenson Wednesday night that Argentina might not support U. S. action against Cuba's Premier Fidel Castro. When he arrived the women had left. A service station attendant said they were headed south. The next day, a county patrolman found Mrs. Ottavio's car mired in sand on a rural road southwest of the city. Grass had been packed under the fenders, apparently in an attempt to free it. There was no trace of the women. City and county police in Florida and Georgia began a search that was capped Wednesday when detectives, working by helicopter, spotted the women's partially decomposed bodies in the general vicinity where the car had been discovered. Chief Duval County Criminal Investigator J. C. Patrick said Wednesday night it appeared after a preliminary autopsy that Mrs. Ottavio and Mrs. Hewitt had been strangled with their own garments. The bodies were lying alongside a crude path cut by logging trucks through a palmetto thicket. One was face up, the other face down. Bits of clothing were scattered around the bodies, which were clad in torn dresses. Officers said there were signs of a struggle near the spot where the bodies were found. Purse and jewelry were missing.

2 Women Dog Track Buffs Found Slain

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—Mrs. Althea Ottavio, 43, was known in her home town of Valdosta, Ga., as a wealthy widow who liked to make "hunch" bets at dog tracks. Although she worked as manager of a laundry and cleaning establishment, Mrs. Ottavio was said to have had considerable property in Valdosta, a tobacco-market city about 120 miles northwest of here. She owned the modest frame home in which William Hewitt, his 26-year-old wife, Patricia, and their four children lived. Mrs. Hewitt had become friendly with her landlady. Neighbors said Mrs. Ottavio, whose husband was killed on a bombing raid over Germany during World War II, had a passion for greyhound racing. "Althea loved to attend the dog races and she would drive many hours just for a night at the track," one acquaintance said. "She was no two-dollar bettor, either. I've seen her plunk down as much as $50 or $60 on a single race if she felt she had a good hunch about the dog." There were rumors Mrs. Ottavio had "cleaned up" at a Florida track recently by playing a 70-1 shot that won. Hewitt said Mrs. Ottavio told his wife of dreaming the 2-5 combination had won the daily double at the Orange Park Kennel Club near here on May 29. He said she asked his wife to come with her while she bet on the "dream hunch," Mrs. Hewitt agreed. The 2-5 combination won the daily double that night and paid $17 for a $2 ticket. It is not known whether the two women bet Mrs. Ottavio's hunch or if they collected. Shortly after midnight on May 30, Mrs. Hewitt telephoned her brother-in-law, Robert Hewitt, from a service station and asked for directions to his home here. He told her to remain at the station and he would come and pick them up.

W. First St. Bids To Be Awarded June 27

The State Road Department will open bids on W. First St. June 27, it was announced in Tallahassee late Wednesday. The project will include 2.788 miles of converting two lane roadway on SR 48 between Interstate 4 and French Ave. County Engineer Carlton Bliss said today that all the rights of way on the road have been cleared and work should start within 30 days after the bids are awarded. Bliss said that the widening project will "contribute greatly to the expansion of Sanford."

Volusia Board Loses Mix Battle

JACKSONVILLE (UPI)—The Volusia County School Board lost a federal court battle Wednesday to quash a lawsuit calling for complete desegregation of pupils, teachers and school personnel in the county school system. U.S. District Judge Bryan Simpson denied the motion. He also denied a motion to strike out portions of an amended complaint submitted by the NAACP on behalf of 34 children and parents in the Daytona Beach area, including four white children. Lawyers for the school board argued the suit was improperly filed as a class action since both Negroes and whites were listed as plaintiffs. Simpson gave the school board 25 days to submit an answer to the amended bill of complaint, but set no date for final hearing.

West To Boycott Laos Peace Meet

GENEVA (UPI)—The United States, Britain and France told Russia today they will boycott all sessions of the Laos peace conference "for the time being." A British statement said the Western Big Three took the action to give them time to consult their home governments about Communist cease-fire violations in Laos. The British delegate Malcolm MacDonald, co-chairman of the conference, personally informed Soviet first co-chairman Georgi Puzhkin of the Western decision at an hour-long meeting. The British statement said MacDonald told Puzhkin that "some delegations had informed him that in view of the news of the fighting at Padong in Laos, overrun Wednesday by the Reds, they cannot attend a further session of the conference until they have completed consultations with their governments on the situation that was created by this apparent violation of the cease-fire." An authoritative conference said that by "some delegations" MacDonald meant the representatives of the United States, Britain and France. The Allies "hope" the International Control Commission in Laos will soon report to the conference on the cease-fire breach at Padong. "In view of this, MacDonald expressed the view to Puzhkin that the next session should be postponed for the time being," the statement said. The statement said the date of the next conference session would be announced "in due course." A British spokesman gave no indication how soon that might be.

Washington (UPI)—President Kennedy called today for a realistic cease-fire in Laos and said if this could not be achieved with the Communists it would be "impossible" to reach agreement on any other important international questions. In the light of his recent meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev who joined Kennedy in supporting a cease-fire and a neutral Laos, the President was plainly disappointed by the continuing fighting. ## Bryant Hunts Items For Velo

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Gov. Farris Bryant disclosed today that he is "trying hard" to find items in the $700 million state budget bill that he can veto in order to free some money for second priority building projects. At the same time, Bryant told his news conference chances are "fair" for a veto of the congressional redistricting bill adopted on the final day of the Legislature. The governor has until noon June 23 to act on all bills passed by the Legislature in its final week. Appropriations and redistricting are the major measures before him. Bryant said he does not know if he will be able to find enough items in the first priority appropriations bill that could be vetoed in order to free any substantial amount of funds for the nearly $28 million second-priority building program. He declined to say what items he has under consideration for the gubernatorial veto.

Turnpike Action Nears, Bryant Says

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Gov. Farris Bryant said today his administration is "very close" to action on extending the Florida Turnpike northward from Fort Pierce. Bryant told his news conference he will be able to announce a definite route and start legal proceedings to validate bonds for financing it "within a month." He said data collected supports extension from Fort Pierce to Orlando. He said he is to say whether a final report would give a go-ahead to extension beyond Orlando to a point near Ocala in Marion County, which is Bryant's desire. The governor said his Turnpike Authority has begun engineering studies of a proposed Tampa to Fort Myers turnpike, but has not yet made any recommendation. The Legislature authorized the study and construction, if feasible, of a turnpike from Tampa to Miami or any section thereof.
