UN Troops Win Artillery Duel Near Hongchon

Reds Stand And Fight Defending Key Base Near 38th Parallel In Vicious Battle

TOKYO, Mar. 16 (AP)—American troops overwhelmed desperate Reds in a roaring artillery duel on the Korean war front today and then crashed ahead for new gains.

The Reds threw their heaviest artillery fire of the war.

American answered with a barrage that out-thundered the Reds, 50 shells to one.

The drive carried an American division onto high ground north of Hongchon, an important road hub 20 miles south of the 38th parallel.

Earlier Friday the Reds abruptly halted their eight-day retreat on the central front. They turned on the Allies with their heaviest artillery barrage yet.

Then came the roaring American echo.

United Nations warplanes joined in the blasting with rockets, firebombs and machine guns.

The Allied answer to the Communist stand loomed throughout most of Friday.

Front dispatches did not identify the U. S. troops in the action. Nor did they give the distance of the American advance.

But they said that Chinese Communists had thrown reserves into the fight north of Hongchon. Elements of the 10th and 40th Chinese Communist armies (Corps) were identified in action there. The units last were reported farther east in February.

The defense line the Reds were trying to set up was roughly 20 miles south of the parallel that used to separate Communist North and Republic South Korea.

It stretched across Korea for 20 miles. Its key zone is the Chunchon.

State Attorney Is Asked For Inquiry Into Maddy Leases

An investigation of leases and "life memberships" to tenants at the Fellowship Foundation, of which I. A. Maddy is manager, was requested of Assistant State Attorney Hubert Griggs this morning at the County House by a group of about 25 tenants who are faced with the necessity of moving due to pending Navy re-activation of the Naval Air Station.

One elderly man declared that many persons, tenants of buildings at the Foundation, had bought life annuities, with some of them putting in as much as $10,000 to $15,000 for what they supposed to be 99 year leases.

Attorney Griggs told the group that he would check into any possible legal violations in the leases or leases, and suggested that they employ a competent attorney in behalf of their civil rights.

"I assure you that if I find any legal violations, I will act in the matter," he declared.

Hiss To Be Forced To Begin Sentence

NEW YORK, Mar. 16 (AP)—A man expected to be held in U. S. District Court today will have the way for Alger Hiss to begin serving his five year prison sentence for perjury next Thursday.

The U. S. Supreme Court refused last Monday to review the case of the former high-ranking State Department official. He was convicted of lying when he told a grand jury in 1950 that he had never given secrets to Whittaker Chambers, an admitted Communist courier.

U. S. attorney Irving H. Saypol said yesterday he would ask that Hiss be sent to prison Thursday. He added that Hiss could move within 90 days for modification of the sentence, but that such action would not delay imprisonment.

Danger Of Germ Warfare Minimized By Civil Defense Administration

By ELTON C. FAY
ASSOCIATED PRESS MILITARY AFFAIRS REPORTER
WASHINGTON, Mar. 15 (AP)—The Civil Defense Administration wants to head off public panic over fear of germ warfare attack, real or rumored.

It started circulating today a pamphlet on "what you should know about biological warfare." The booklet is a companion piece to the previously published official pamphlet "Survival Under Atomic Attack."

Like the A-Bomb guide, it is intended to bring the weapon into proper focus. To show it is not a universal killer although, like the atomic bomb, intended for mass destruction.

The biological warfare booklet says:

"Start a rumor and you may start a panic. A panic may cost your own life. So disregard wild talk about biological warfare and don't pass it on to your friends. Don't listen to propaganda or rumors about how germs can wipe out a city."

(Military strategists long have recognized the value of creating confusion or exploiting it into panic to reduce the war effort of an opposing nation. Psychological warfare experts recognize that this can be done via without actually using a weapon, by merely planting the rumor that a secret weapon has or will be used.)

The CDA urges the public to "kill the myths," asserting that "Germ warfare, or biological warfare, as it is correctly called, (Continued on Page Five)

German Question Snags Discussion Of Big 4 Deputies

PARIS, Mar. 16 (AP)—Word from the Kremlin was awaited today on whether the Big Four can discuss arms for Germany as part of the whole European problem, or whether Moscow will insist the question be taken up separately.

It is believed the Russians will insist on this decision was fore-continued to insist on separate shadowed by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko at yesterday's session of the Big Four deputies trying to draw up an agenda for a Foreign Minister's parity.

France, Britain and the United States contend the tense European situation has led them to think about German defense and they cannot properly discuss the result without the cause.

Britain's Ernest Davies emphasized that again yesterday. The Western delegates have made it their main contention.

Gromyko, however, has been harping on the importance of the 1945 agreement at Potsdam to disarm Germany.

To meet his objections, U. S. Ambassador At Large Philip Jessup offered a new statement of the first point the western powers want the ministers to discuss. The statement said:

"An examination of the causes of the present international tension in Europe and of the means to secure a real and lasting improvement in relations between the U. S. S. R. and the U. K., the U. S. and France such as: The existing level of armaments and its effect on the question of demilitarization of Germany and the means for control and reduction of armaments; measures to eliminate fear of aggression and fulfillment of present treaty obligations."

It was the first time, after 10 days of proposals and counter-proposals that the western powers, had agreed to the words "demilitarization of Germany," Gromyko (Continued on Page Five)

ZONING HEARING

The Sanford Zoning Board will hold a hearing tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the City Hall to consider the request by W. H. Conrad of DeBarry to erect a duplex dwelling on First Street immediately west of Station WTRR.

The property is zoned R-1-AA, high residential classification, said City Manager Clifford McKibbin.

CONFIRMED BACHELOR

LONDON, Mar. 16 (AP)—"No, no, no," cried Isaac Langtry, just turned 191. "I don't want to get married again."

And he wrote to three women who told him they were eligible and looking for a husband that he is not in the market for a wife.

The suggestion made at his birthday party last Saturday that he was seeking a mate was not correct, he said.

C. Of C. Asks For Abolition Of RFC Agency

Tarnished Integrity Of Loan Agency Has Ended Usefulness, Organization Says

WASHINGTON, Mar. 16 (AP)—Directors of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce today called for abolition of the RFC.

The 45-member board of the business organization adopted a resolution saying:

"Facts disclosed by the Fulbright subcommittee have created uncertainty and distrust concerning RFC procedure. Engaged as we are in a national mobilization of the integrity and moral level of effort, we can not afford to have of the government or any of its agencies subject to question."

Senator Fulbright (D-Ark.) leads a Senate Banking Subcommittee, which has been investigating RFC lending. The group has charged that some directors of the RFC have yielded to influence in making loans.

As a result, the committee's disclosures, considerable sentiment has built up in congress for killing the RFC.

Fulbright himself has taken the stand that the agency should be continued but reorganized and "cleaned" up.

Some Congress members also argue the RFC is a big help to small business and ought to be continued for that reason.

There is a dispute in the Senate also as to whether the Fulbright committee should continue its RFC investigation. Fulbright has said he wants to bring the inquiry to an early end, but Republicans in particular are calling for its continuation. Chairman Maybank (D-Mo.) of the full banking committee said he thought it should go on.

The U. S. Chamber of Commerce is a business-civic organization on a national scale similar to the Chambers of Commerce in most cities. Many local chambers are affiliated with it. The national organization says it represents all phases and sizes of business.

In urging an end to the RFC, the chamber directors said:

1. Abolition of RFC "would save approximately $10,000,000 in administrative expense and would reduce federal personnel—now at high level—by 3,000 employees."
2. A "tendency toward increased interest rates" will make private lenders more willing to make business loans.

RFC was created in 1932 to provide emergency financing in (Continued on Page Five)

Jap Pact Contains No Unjust Items, Acheson Declares

WASHINGTON, Mar. 16 (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson said today he hopes Russia will renege on a Japanese peace treaty and join in concluding one before the end of the year.

Acheson told a news conference he sees no reason why the tentative treaty text which Ambassador John Foster Dulles is now drafting should be found objectionable by the Soviet or any other government.

Acheson said he had made a full study of the Paris talks, had been in direct touch with Jessup this week, and was impressed with the skill with which Jessup was representing the United States.

Egg Prices Rise In Spite Of Halt In Support Program

By OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON, Mar. 16 (AP)—Government farm officials wondered today if their efforts to get farmers to produce fewer eggs haven't been too successful.

This speculation was prompted by the fact that consumer egg prices are averaging more than a third higher than a year ago. Normally they slip rather sharply during this season of the year, giving the housewife a bargain buy.

A year ago Secretary of Agriculture Brannan started a campaign to reduce the volume of egg production. He lowered the level at which his agency supported producer egg prices from a national average of 45 cents a dozen to 35 cents.

In doing this, Brannan said he was moved by a desire to cut down on government buying of surplus eggs.

But despite this lowering of the price support level, the production of eggs last year continued at a relatively high level.

In November Brannan announced the government would junk the egg price support program in 1951.

This action was followed by heavier than normal selling of young laying hens. Many poultrymen figured that withdrawal of price support would be followed by a sharp decline in egg prices. They saw little opportunity of making any money.

As a consequence, the nation's laying flock started the year with at least three per cent fewer layers.

British Indignant At Nationalization Of Iran Concession

By EDWARD CURTIS
LONDON, Mar. 16 (AP)—Britain has told Iran that any dispute over the rich Anglo-Iranian Oil Company concession must go before the International Court of Justice.

In a note delivered to Iranian Premier Hussein Ali Wednesday, Britain also asserted that Iran holdings of the Middle East's largest oil concern.

The note was delivered to the Iranian prime minister the day before the Majlis parliament of Iran voted to nationalize the country's oil resources.

The Anglo-Iranian company, controlled by the British government, which owns 52.5 per cent of its common stock, holds a 100,000-square mile oil concession from the Iranian fields and a far greater percentage of fuel oil for its Navy.

The note, made public by the foreign office today, declares that (Continued on Page Five)

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

NEW YORK, Mar. 16 (AP)—Fifth Avenue's pavement was dressed in green tonight for St. Patrick's Day.

The center dividing line—usually white—was a real shamrock green.

"We don't dress the lines three or four times a year," a police department spokesman said. "They needed repainting. Tomorrow's St. Patrick's Day and there'll be a big parade up the avenue. So, we painted the line green."

The green line extends from 28th to 110th Streets. The parade extends from 42nd to 98th Streets.

Officer Describes Open Violation Of Laws On Gambling

NEW YORK, Mar. 16 (AP)—Bishop gambler Frank Costello, who yesterday stormed out of a senate crime committee hearing, said today he will return for questioning at the committee's orders. Costello, who had been told he would be arrested and brought before the committee forcibly if he did not appear, gave in a few minutes before a deadline set by the committee.

Disabled Vets Pledge $100 For Hospital

Members of Post No. 20, Disabled American Veterans, at a meeting at the Legion Hotel last night, pledged $100 toward the building of a new hospital in Seminole County.

Lynn Twyman, commander of the Post, and a 100 per cent disabled war veteran, led the movement for the action, with the active support of John Koller, Tim Crawford and George Swann.

Commenting on this public spirited action, the first by any local group in regard to a new hospital, Judge Douglas Stenstrom declared, "These are boys who fought and were wounded and who know the value of a hospital to the city and county."

"By this action," he added, "they have stolen the march on all other Seminole County organizations."

The Post, which has a membership of 26, enjoyed a turkey supper at which 40 persons were present.

It was reported at the meeting that 47 babies have already been entered for the baby contest which the Post will stage on March 30 at Seminole High School.

Nicky Hilton Hopes For Reconciliation

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Mar. 16 (AP)—There is hope of a reconciliation between Elizabeth Taylor and Nicky Hilton—but it seems to be all Hilton's.

"I am a free man right now, in a sense," young Hilton told a newsmen here last night, "but I've got 10 months which I think things over thoroughly before our divorce is final." He admitted that "no immediate reconciliation is in the offing."

The actress and her ex-husband were observed enjoying each other's company here last week end, but in Hollywood her studio (MGM) threw the following damper for Miss Taylor:

"There is no possible chance that Mr. Hilton and I will reconcile now or in 10 months from now. We are good friends and I hope we always can be good friends."

Beefed Up Navy Concentrates On Stopping Red Submarine Menace

(Editor's Note: Here is another story in the series on American industrial and military mobilization. This article deals with the Navy's fast build-up since the start of the Korean war and its plans for the future).

By DON WHITEHEAD
WASHINGTON, Mar. 16 (AP)—The American Navy today is beefing up its sea and air power with startling speed to meet the threat of Red Russia's big submarine fleet.

The reavy emphasis is on anti-submarine warships and increased air strength aboard fast-moving catzars.

The Navy is confident that within another year it will have the Russian submarine menace pretty well licked—even if there is a shooting war.

Vice Admiral Donald B. Duncan, Deputy Chief of Naval Operations, said in an interview:

"We think we can get convoys across the ocean without too much trouble right now in case of war. I know we can do it next year without strain."

But the Navy's progress in submarine-killer tactics is only part of the story.

The state of his Korean war last June found the Navy-Subs a frail shell compared to the powerful fleet which ruled the seas at the end of World War two. But by June 30 this year the Navy will have:

- 1. Mobilized the core of a hard-hitting submarine-killed force.
- 2. Almost doubled its manpower.

Defense Housing Program Cut In Half By Senate Committee As Economy Move

Actual Production Targets, While Still Low, Are Being Met and in Some Cases Exceeded, It Was Stated.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 16 (AP)—A mobilization spokesman reported today the government is placing munition contracts at the "satisfactory rate" of about $60-100,000,000 a year.

Actual production targets, while still low, are being met and in some cases exceeded, it was stated.

Howard Chase, leaving his post as information chief for Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson, told reporters that contracts totaling $5,700,000 were let in January and $4,700,000,000 in February.

"It is perfectly obvious that the production charts are surving upward even now," Chase said, "at a rate which no one would have foreseen on Sept. 8 when the Defense Production Act was passed."

Chase said Wilson was satisfied with the production showing early this year. But, in response to questions, he indicated the mobilization loss is disturbed over the prospect for blocking inflation.

Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston has sent to Wilson's office proposals for revising the Defense Production Act, Chase said. He did not say whether these might include finer curbs on food prices, and added:

"Food prices are an area which the stabilization people feel must be dealt with."

Congress will have to decide whether the special provisions which protect farm prices should be changed, Chase said, but "most serious thought" is being devoted to the question within the government.

Of the $97,000,000,000 program of military spending and contracting for this fiscal year and next (through June 30, 1952), about $50,000,000,000 remains to be allocated by the military, Chase said. The total must still be voted by Congress.

More public information on production soon will be available, Chase said. The first of a series of monthly progress reports will be ready shortly, he said.

Meanwhile it can be stated, Chase added, that the production goal of 10,000 jet aircraft engines monthly will be achieved in 1952. And, as an illustration of progress in the basic metals, he said new aluminum plant facilities will be operating this year to provide a 20 to 25 per cent increase in domestic aluminum output.

Judge Smith Enters Order Giving City 20 Days For Reply

Judge M. B. Smith entered an order in Circuit Court this morning allowing intervention in the determination of the validity of $350,000 worth of City of Sanford Post Terminal and Parking Meter revenue bonds.

This action followed the presentation of a petition against their validation by a group of Sanford taxpayers who were represented by Fred R. Wilson.

Judge Smith allowed the City, which was represented by A. Edwin Shindler, 20 days in which to determine an answer to the petition, and adjourned the hearing which had been scheduled to take place this morning on the bond validation until a later date.

The petition was headed, "An answer by Randall Chase, and other taxpayers, property owners and citizens."

In addition to Mr. Chase, the petitioners included V. A. Speer, W. C. Hill, Frank L. Woodruff, Jr., W. A. Leffler, R. A. Newman, Lee Samuel, Ira Southward, F. B. Ashdown, D. I. Harper, R. T. Humphrey, G. M. Shipp, J. H. Estridge, R. L. Hagan, Malcolm MacNabb, Sidney O. Chase, W. W. C. Hill, Jr., and E. O. S. Cobb.

Copies of the petition were furnished to Mr. Shindler and to E. W. Spencer, an attorney for the City, and to Murray Street, state attorney.

The petition maintains that "the attempt to issue bonds sought to be validated in this proceeding is wholly unconstitutional, null, void and of no legal force or effect whatsoever." About 30 pages of argument in support of this statement followed.

The intervening petitioners contended that the legislative authority purporting to authorize the issuance of the bonds is invalid and that the resolution of the City Commission in regard to it was not sufficient.

It was also stated that the contract with L. H. Thornley and Co., and with Fisher Haves and Co., which the Legion Hotel is involved in, pledged $100 toward the building of a new hospital in Seminole County.

Housholder Will Address Pioneer Night Gathering

Karley Housholder, commander of the local American Legion Post, will address the 25th annual Pioneer Night gathering in Lake Mary at 7:30 P. M. tomorrow on "The Advantages of Progress in the Young Men of Today."

Five orange wood cases will be presented to the five oldest men present at the meeting and gifts will also be made to those who have attended the most meetings.

J. L. Lee, 84-year-old ex-captain from Kentucky, will read a list of names of those who will include Gustave Nelson, "Guitar Wizard of Stockholm"; Mrs. William Ertel, poetess; Henry Klepper, entertainer; Mr. Hobbs, hymnologist and the Speer sisters.

Among the famous people who have attended the Pioneer meetings have been J. Putnam Stevens, Fast Imperial Potentate of the Ancient Arabic Order of the Mystic Shrine; Jane Hillard, who was 106 years old; and Mrs. Anna Farina, former Italian opera singer, who attended in 1932 at the age of 85.

More than 300 people over 80 years of age have attended these meetings in the past 25 years. All over 60 are especially invited to attend.

Recommended reading for all publicity chairmen of all Garden Club circles, church circles and all other clubs and organizations seeking publicity are the remarks of Reggie Moffett of Orlando who told the Jayces yesterday the importance of looking at publicity from the viewpoint of the newspapers in order to provide them with the type of material they will publish. If you are not getting the publicity you want, it is probably your own fault.

Around Mar. 15 each year we hear a good deal about the income tax because it is paid in one lump sum, or at least the lump sum hits you squarely in the face. Not many of us realize, however, that the income tax is probably the smallest tax we pay. For instance, the average man with three children and an income of about $3,200 a year pays an $80 a year federal income tax. But the same man, if he owns an automobile probably pays taxes on it averaging about $112 a year. What is more, he pays about 400 other kinds of taxes.

How much money will it take to build a suitable hospital for Seminole County? Not so many years ago it was estimated $300,000 would be needed for an adequate hospital. Today that figure seems woefully small. DeLand is now building a hospital expected to cost $750,000 or $800,000. It would probably take about that much today to build a hospital that would have cost no more than $300,000 two years ago. But now...

Men like front-page national news while women like to browse through the newspaper, looking for items that catch their eye, a survey has shown.

A 64-page report on its inquiry into the reading habits of America's newspaper readers was published by the Advertising Research Foundation, sponsored jointly by the American Association of Advertising Agencies and the Association of National Advertisers, Inc.

In their study of reading habits, foundation workers interviewed 62,487 men and women 18 years of age and older.

Studies were made of newspaper readers in 39 states, the District of Columbia and two Canadian provinces. The study included the examination of 123 newspapers in 108 cities. The study indicated that many newspaper readers will read an outstanding ad as quickly as they will read a top-notch news story.

Other conclusions of the survey:

1. From the end of World War II until fighting broke out in Korea, men were beginning to pay more attention to local news than they had in either the prewar or wartime periods.

2. Men were reading 13 per cent more editorials during World War II than they did prior to the war. After the war, editorial reading dropped 17 per cent below the wartime high.

3. Two per cent more women than men read the comics. 4. Advertising has more influence with skilled and unskilled workers than it does with business and professional men and women.

5. Ninety per cent of women readers in cities under 50,000 population read the society page, while only 57 per cent of their city sisters, living in cities of 50,000 or more, bother to keep up with doings of socialites. On the other hand, only 49 per cent of the male readers in small towns scan the society page, while the page is ignored by 84 per cent of the male readers in the city.

Here's the way most men read a newspaper, the survey revealed:

Ninety-eight per cent of them read the front page first. Then most men look over the picture page before turning to the sports page. Next, they're likely to turn to any general-news page with advertising.

Women readers follow the same pattern—up to a point. But when the menfolk are engrossed in the sports page, most women will be turning over to the society page.

While the men are still catching up on their news, most women will turn to the women's and food pages.

Footnote On Harrison

An unsuspected episode in political history is recorded by former Vice-president Charles G. Dawes in his newly published autobiography, "The McKinley Years." He says that when the newly elected President McKinley was making up his cabinet, a strong favorite for the secretaryship of state was former President Benjamin Harrison. Whether the idea ever got as far as an offer to Harrison is not stated.

He would probably have been a far better choice than the man finally appointed. That was Senator John Sherman of Ohio, one of the Republican party's elder statesmen but then with faculties impaired by old age. He was appointed for no very creditable reason. His unfitness for the post was set aside because McKinley's campaign manager, Mark Hanna, wanted to be a senator and could attain his wish only by displacing Sherman. Sherman was therefore named to the cabinet, but within a year had to give way because his inadequacy was becoming a public scandal. It was a tragic close to a career of great public usefulness.

Another reason for rejecting the idea to appoint Harrison may well have been the ill will this would have stirred up within the party. The influential bosses, Senators Platt of New York and Quay of Pennsylvania, hated Harrison, and had tried to defeat his renomination in 1892. Harrison had beaten the popular James G. Blaine for the nomination and Blaine's friends would probably have taken his selection amiss.

Had McKinley disregarded the possible clamor, he would have strengthened his cabinet, and added a name to the small number of presidents who have held other public office after leaving the White House. Those who have done so have added luster to their names and made sound contributions in their new fields of activity. A former president has a valuable store of experience.

The Mafia Again

The name of the Mafia has cropped up repeatedly in the senatorial investigation. This criminal Sicilian secret society was thought not long ago to have been rooted out.

The Mafia is not a very old organization. It originated in the middle of the nineteenth century when large landed proprietors in Sicily hired ruffians to suppress unrest among their oppressed tenants. These ruffians became banded together, and gradually shifted from a sort of private Gestapo to an out-and-out criminal band. They robbed and blackmailed, and did not hesitate to murder.

The law enforcement officials made little headway in putting them down, partly because the Mafia had infiltrated into their own ranks, partly because the peasantry retained the old Sicilian habit of mistrusting the law and all who had anything to do with it. Mussolini made some vigorous efforts to end their activity, but like many of his other achievements this petered out.

The Mafia did not remain confined to Sicily. It followed Sicilian immigrants to the United States and became involved in criminal outbreaks, notably in New Orleans and New York City. Under the name of the "Black Hand" it became a familiar American byword.

The present criminal group may merely have borrowed the name of the Mafia, and not have actually continued it. That even the name has cropped up is disturbing.

One thing the legislature can do in the interest of the taxpayer is to provide for a closer check on departments and public officials through an enlarged and strengthened State Auditing Department.

This is one department of government where increased appropriations are more than justified and where the addition of more employees will pay big dividends. While the situation is better today than it was a few years ago, lack of trained personnel and sufficient funds to do the job that should be done still handicaps the department.

State Auditor Bryan Willis is efficient and capable and if given the money can do a top-notch auditing job, but he can't do it on a miserably appropriations. The books of every board, bureau, commission or department should be audited at least once each year, and the books of county officials should be carefully checked with equal frequency.

Because of limited funds and the lack of trained personnel, State Auditor Willis now finds it difficult to check the books in state and county offices oftener than about once every two or three years. During the past 12 months his department has uncovered shortages and irregularities in books of a number of offices and doubtless more would be revealed if audits could have been made.

The average or ordinary accountant is not always qualified for such work in view of the fact that to work on state or county books, an accountant must be familiar with methods of government financing, have a working knowledge of state and local laws as well as be a competent auditor.

Speaking before the Florida Association of County Tax Collectors in Jacksonville last week, Willis stated that he finds the general public taking more interest in government financing and greater interest in audits than was the case a few years ago. He can say that again, for taxes have increased to a point where it really hurts along with the devaluation of the dollar, and folks who are not personally riding the gravy train and drawing taxpayer's money in one form or another are beginning to wonder if all the expenditures for governmental services are really necessary, and if the hard earned dollars they pay the tax collectors are buying the amount of service they are supposed to buy.

There has been a sharp tendency on the part of public officials, especially those charged with the responsibility of spending your money and mine, to keep us as much in the dark as possible as to their operations. Law after law that originally called for adequate public notice in newspapers of general circulation that would advise when and how tax money was being spent, has been amended or changed to eliminate such notices.

Every department of state, county or municipal government should be required to publish financial statements for the benefit of taxpayers so that those who feel the staggering bill may be kept informed as to where the money goes.

The "green curtain" of secrecy that keeps the names of those who receive relief from being made public is a good example. This is a federal regulation that denies the taxpayer any knowledge of how or where his money is being spent and makes possible unlimited waste, fraud and reckless spending.

Minutes of all boards of county commissioners and school boards should be published in local papers regularly so that local residents will have a check on these offices and a knowledge of their activities.

How Did This Happen?

Times-Union

Alger Hiss, a product of the best there is in the American tradition, has been convicted of perjury under circumstances that indicated that he was willing to betray his country, and people today may rightly be asking themselves where they are to seek for men of good faith.

What puzzles so many people about the 46-year-old former State Department employee, who was denied an appeal on the perjury conviction this week by the U. S. Supreme Court, is how a young man could have become involved in the mess that led to his downfall.

It was his reputation as an outstanding student at Harvard Law School, from which he graduated, that brought Hiss for a while the coveted job as secretary to Associate Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes. Subsequently he served in the U. S. Supreme Court, and later in the State Department in the mid-'30's.

It was while employed in the later place, according to Whitaker Chambers, an avowed former Communist courier, that Hiss passed on to him classified Government documents.

Hiss as prominently identified with work on the United Nations in its formative stages, and served as secretary at the now historic San Francisco meeting. He is credited with having had an important part in writing drafts of the charter which formed the basis for the world peace agency. Later, he also served in an official capacity as secretary to the United Nations in London.

Another young intellectual who recently met a fate similar to that of Hiss is William W. Remington, the former $10,000-a-year Government economist. The American people have been seeing much in the past several years of persons serving in responsible Government positions, who like Hiss and Remington, have shown a marked degree of perfidy.

As a consequence, they are beginning to ask themselves whether the situation is not taking on some of the aspects of a grave national problem.

THE WORLD TODAY

By DEWITT MCKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

One of the most devastating analyses of the talk-fest regularly sponsored by the United Nations is presented with humorous undertone in the March issue of United Nations Weekly Magazine by Correspondent Peter Kihss.

A deluge of more than 600,000 words swept through the 50 plenary meetings of the U. N. Assembly alone in 1950. Of this stupescent flood 40.7 per cent came from the five-nation Soviet bloc—the championship record.

By contrast, the United States talked 4.49 per cent of the words. Having established these telling figures, author Kihss pulls this rabbit out of the hat: The Soviet bloc percentage of U. N. dues for 1951 is 10.18 as against the United States percentage of 34.92.

That seems to say that the Red bloc talks approximately eight times as much as America, and is assessed roughly a quarter as much in dues. The reader can draw his own conclusions as to the significance of this financial computation.

And who is the champion talker? You are given one guess, and there will be no reward when you come up with the correct answer: Andrei Vishinsky, of course.

Russia's 67-year-old Foreign Minister Long has ranked as "one of Communism's most striking orators. He first came into world prominence as a ruthless prosecutor in the blood-purge trials of 1936, 1937 and 1938. He would hammer defendants for hours and then demand death—a shout in the "back of the head"—for the "accused ruffians." These trials resulted in the execution of at last 117 prominent Communists, and the imprisonment of numerous others. With that background of fearsome skill in the use of words, Vishinsky finally replaced Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, who had been widely regarded as possible heir to Stalin's throne. This was two years ago, and the outside world still is debating the exact significance.

Anyway, Vishinsky packed his bag with words and came to the United Nations. In the 1950 parade of orators Vishinsky got in the longest single speech. This was in connection with a discussion of the situation in a plenary session of the assembly. Vishinsky announced at the start:

"The significance of the question is much too great to allow it to be passed over in silence."

It wasn't, as Kihss appropriately remarks, as Kihss forthwith launched into an exposition of 14,000 words. That was more than 51 countries produced in all the plenary sessions since 1946.

The Soviet Foreign Minister also scored with the second, third and fourth longest speeches. Runner up was another vocal member of the Soviet Union group—G. N. Zorin.

The shortest speech of all in the plenary was delivered by Greek Delegate Alexis Kyrou. In welcoming Indonesia as the sixth member of the peace organization, Kyrou said:

"Congratulations to Indonesia; Congratulations to the U. N." Two countries didn't speak at all in the plenary—Luxembourg and Paraguay.

Author Kihss reports that Ambassador Garcia of Honduras made an intriguing suggestion at a jovial party one night. His excellency proposed that nations pay U. N. dues in proportion to their speakingham. Levy on loquacity. "Then," said Carias, "there would be literally golden voices."

Miss Daphne Connelly Is Guest Of Honor

Miss Daphne Connelly, popular bride-elect, was honored Wednesday evening with a coffee given by Mrs. W. J. Steed at her home on Lucerne Terrace in Orlando.

Mrs. Steed's home was attractively decorated throughout with red camellias and red and white azaleas.

Miss Connelly was presented with a lovely gift by the hostess. Refreshments were served to the guests with Mrs. J. B. Shearouse Sr. presiding over the coffee table.

Among those present were Mrs. Gerald Leasing, Mrs. Volie Williams, Jr., Mrs. Marion Rsburn, Mrs. George Speer, Mrs. Joe Baker, Mrs. Ralph Wright (H), Mrs. Walter Turner, Mrs. Dale Scott, Miss Margaret Dingfelder, Miss Tol Livingston, Miss Elizabeth Dyson, Miss Dilon Baker, Miss Sophie McFaul, Miss Ann Lowell and Miss Shirley Smith.

Also present from Orlando Mrs. A. Connelly, Jr., Mrs. Bob Heasley, Mrs. Paul Fague, Mrs. Shearouse, Mrs. Elsie Mae McCoy, Miss Betty Shearouse, Miss Claribel Huppel, Miss Ann Galtner, Miss Annette Scott, Miss Patricia Jones, and Miss Elizabeth Allen.

Ceremony Is Held By Woman's League

An impressive ceremony of the Woman's Gift, an Easter sacrifice offering, was held at the meeting of the Junior Woman's League of the Congregational Church which met at the home of Miss Helen Witte.

The White home was beautifully decorated throughout with arrangements of gladioluses and camellias.

Mrs. William Keeling read a chapter from the book, "Behold Your King", after which a short luncheon was conducted by Mrs. R. K. Evans.

Later in the evening games and contests were enjoyed by the group after which delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses to the following: Mrs. Ralph Leasing, Mrs. Edward Simpson, Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Lucille Robinson, Mrs. Keeling and Miss Mary Robinson.

Miss Mona Ruth Mills Honored At Party

Miss Mona Ruth Mills, whose marriage to Richard Walker will be an event of Mar. 24, was honored with a miscellaneous shower given by Miss Betty Doris Williams and Miss Bobbie Morton at the latter home on Mellonville Avenue.

A miniature scene of "Bunnyland" fashioned featuring the bride and groom, their home and yard was used with arrangements of mixed spring flowers and Easter eggs to carry out an Easter theme.

Various games were enjoyed throughout the evening with prizes being won by Mrs. R. A. Williams, Mrs. Benny Austin and Miss Mills. Little Miss Wanda Lee Harris dressed as a bunny presented Miss Mills with a large decorated Easter basket which held many lovely gifts. Each guest was given a miniature basket filled with flowers.

Those enjoying the occasion with Miss Mills were Mrs. R. F. Mills, Mrs. A. K. Rossetter, Mrs. Lottie Mix, Mrs. W. P. Brooks, Jr., Mrs. E. McCoy, Mrs. Frank Woodruff, Jr., Mrs. John Miller, Mrs. A. J. The Business and Professional Women's Club Easter Fashion Show sponsored by the Yowell Co. and Ivey's Shoe Store was held at the Woman's Club Thursday evening. Among the models are Mrs. H. B. Smith, seated; and standing, left to right, Mrs. Max Fumlon, Miss Cherry Singletary, Miss Gloria Studstill and Miss Dilon Baker.

Fashion Show Is Presented At Woman's Club By Business And Professional Women's Club

An Easter theme was brilliantly carried out in the lovely fashions modeled by some of Sanford's young ladies in the Fashion Show presented at the Woman's Club last night by members of the Business and Professional Women's Club for the benefit of its dental clinic. Gowns were furnished by the Yowell Co. and the shoes were from Ivey's Shoe Store.

The clubhouse was beautifully decorated for the occasion which was attended by approximately 150 persons. The stage was banked with large palms and other greenery and intermingled with potted azaleas to form a spring garden atmosphere. Preceding the fashion show a delicious dinner was served from individual tables which were decorated with spring flowers.

Mrs. Maude Satcher furnished music during the entire program. Miss Ellen Vihlen presented two piano selections and several dances were performed by pupils of the Duxbury School of Dancing.

The fashion commentary was pronounced by Mrs. H. B. Smith of Melbourne and Mrs. Yvonne Smith also modeled a gown which featured an off-the-shoulder beaded neckline. She later appeared in a black evening gown of satin tulle and fitted velvet bodice. Strategically placed on the skirt and bodice were bouquets of pink roses.

Mrs. Max Fumlon modeled a pale pink violet dress embroidered on the bodice with eyelet enchantment. She wore a matching pink hat with pink rosettes and veil and carried a white topper over her arm.

Mrs. William Stumper wore a suit with a fitted navy blue jacket with West Point tailoring and a white ascotian pleated skirt. She carried a navy calf bag and wore navy shoes.

Mrs. Miriam Russell appeared in a print of pink and blue combination with a shiny jet buckle at the hip-line. The jacket was trimmed in black faille. Her off the face black milon had a soft fluttering under the chin veil.

Miss Cherry Singletary appeared in a pink and blue print dress with rhinestone buttons and wore a pink picture hat and carried pink nylon gloves.

Miss Dilon Baker modeled a dress of pale blue cotton taffeta, sleeves and with a low scoop neckline. A black ribbon belt with yellow flowers completed the outfit.

Little Donna Gale Routh appeared in a green cotton pinafore and white shoes. Kay Ivey modeled a melon latex form-fitting bathing suit with a blue terry cloth beach robe and beach sandals.

Diane Gingles wore a blue dotted Swiss dress and carried a white pocketbook. Chip and Ducky Cawford wore blazers of striped linen, one blue and one tan with white duck trousers.

Mrs. Douglas Stenstrom modeled a candy pink crepe with madras pleats in the yoke and a stomached belt and collar.

Miss Gloria Studstill appeared in a navy blue cotton sunback dress with a navy and white tunic. Miss Bobbie Morton wore an aqua crepe dress with a skirt of knite pique. A matching jacket of a mossy knit. Mrs. Marion Conway modeled an orchid sunback cotton with a quilted jacket and a bouquet of violets.

Other fashions were a line casual of straw color and covered button worn by Mrs. Fumlon. Miss Studstill appeared in a large ocean shantung with a pleated skirt and a burly jacket. Miss Singletary wore a pink cotton of hard's eye print with a jacket trimmed in black velvet. Mrs. Stumper appeared in a three-piece outfit with a halter, skirt and jacket.

A long linen dress was also modeled by Mrs. Russell and a white suit with a jersey skirt and navy jacket was worn by Miss Baker. Mrs. Stenstrom modeled a pink and blue print with a full skirt of suppressed pleats, and Ellen Vihlen wore a cotton plaid dress with a little straw hat with red flowers. Completing the show Miss Morton chose a dress with a skirt of permanent pleats and a plaid taffeta belt, and a jacket of natural linen.

When you're making bacon muffins be sure to chop the bacon and parsley it, then drain it, before adding to the muffin batter. These are good with scrambled eggs for Sunday morning breakfast. Use two slices of bacon in a muffin recipe calling for two cups of flour.

Justice Department Will Attempt To Deport Fixer Salvators Sollazo

NEW YORK, Mar. 16 (AP)—The Justice Department has moved to deport Salvatore Sollazo, the ex-convict accused as the master briber in the college basketball scandal here.

But the Manhattan district attorney hopes to convict him of bribery and make him serve a sentence before any deportation.

A warrant of arrest was served on Sollazo in his jail cell yesterday in proceedings for deportation to his native Italy.

Grounds for a deportation order, the Justice Department said, include past convictions for crimes involving moral turpitude, entrance into this country illegally, and misrepresenting himself as an American citizen to immigration authorities.

After the warrant was served on the 47-year-old Sollazo, a spokesman for district attorney Frank S. Hogan expressed hope that the deportation proceedings would be held in a state court and possible sentence.

Sollazo, a jewel merchant and gambler, is held without bail on a bribery indictment. He is charged with bribing 11 players or former players of three New York colleges to fix basketball games in Madison Square Garden so he could clean up on bets.

Sollazo also has been indicted on income tax evasion charges, served with a large tax lien and investigated about gold transactions.

The Justice Department said Sollazo first came to this country legally as an infant in 1906, but went to Cuba three years ago and returned without a visa, on the representation that he had American citizenship.

He was convicted in 1933 on a charge of attempted robbery and sentenced to seven and one-half to 16 years, the Department reported. While out on bail awaiting sentence, he was additionally charged with grand larceny, for which he received a second sentence of one to three years, the Department added.

Training Camp Notes

MIAMI, Mar. 16 (AP)—The New York Giants have lost temporarily the services of two veteran performers—second baseman Eddie Stanky and utility outfielder Roy (Stromy) Weatherly.

Both were injured yesterday. Weatherly suffered a fracture of the jaw and the loss of three teeth when struck by a line drive in batting practice. Stanky was hit on the side of the left wrist attempting to catch a line drive. Weatherly will be out for six weeks and Stanky for at least four days.

MIAMI, Mar. 16 (AP)—Frank Edwards, former Cleveland and Chicago Cubs outfielder, is making a hit with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Edwards, property of the Dodgers' Montreal farm, has batted out four hits in the last two days. The Dodgers plan to keep Edwards on as a pinch-hitter and utility outfielder.

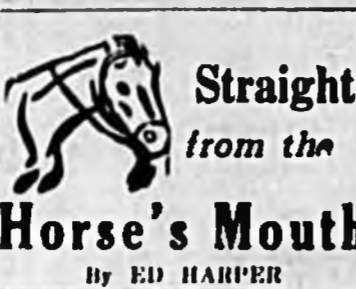

TAMPA, Mar. 16 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds are looking for two major items—some hitting and a relief pitcher.

The hitting situation really became serious after a fourth straight Grapefruit League defeat at Miami last night. The Reds got five safe blows as they dropped a 10-3 decision to Brooklyn. And those were against two of the Dodgers' second line hurlers.

PARADENA, Calif., Mar. 16 (AP)—Harry Simpson was the Cleveland Indian's fair-haired rookie today.

Simpson, making a strong bid for a regular outfield berth, blasted four hits for his most runs yesterday as the Tribe lost a close one to the Chicago White Sox, 10-9.

And included in those hits were two of Cleveland's three home runs. Larry Doby got the other one.

Straight from the Horse's Mouth

By ED HAMPER

Three-eyed after a 24-hour trip from New York, Sanford Giant Manager Richard Klaus yesterday said he was eager to take a look at the 27-man roster and begin building a team.

Small for a ball player, Klaus has nonetheless established himself as one of the top fielding shortstops in the Piedmont League. Described by Richmond sports-writers, where he played in 1918, 1919 and 1920, as a manager on the field, the calm infielder looks like the ideal man to handle the rambunctious rookies generally found on Class D league squads.

The new Sanford manager broke into organized baseball with Fort Smith, Ark. in 1942 before going into the Navy at the end of that season. He served for four years on the Destroyers Fletcher and Hawkins.

After his discharge, 27-year-old Klaus landed with the now defunct Jersey City Giants in spring training going to Jacksonville after the season got underway.

Repeating his 1946 travels the following year, Klaus was given a tryout with the Minneapolis Millers before moving back to Jacksonville where he finished the season.

In 1918 he joined Richmond and has played there during the past three seasons, building a brilliant record as a shortstop and winning the fielding title in 1920 with an average of .951. He did even better after in 1919 turning in a blazing .960 for 144 games.

The Sanford manager, who is married and has one child, plans to play regularly for the Giants this year. He carries a big stick as an infielder, going hitting .290 for Fort Smith for his best year in organized ball.

Klaus hasn't been able to form an opinion of the local roster yet and probably won't feel up to making any predictions or quite a while, but this reporter, who never lets ignorance interfere with predictions, has a feeling Sanford is in for a good year.

For the next six months college athletes will be back on the campus and about half the population of the country will be following baseball with more or less interest.

Professionalism is often sneered at by amateur sportsmen, but in view of the recent basketball fiasco and the general state of confusion in the pro ball players look like "simon pures" in a literal sense.

Since the famous 1919 baseball fix there have not been any cases of a major league throwing a game—at least no cases when one was caught—and not above a dozen cases of gamblers getting to minor leaguers.

I've heard it said that the spirit and tradition which impregnate baseball have precluded any such bribery, but it seems more likely that the ball player is paid enough money to live on for his daily stint and is unwilling to risk a good set-up for a little extra change.

Hugh Casey summed it up last year when someone asked him why he stayed in baseball with Atlanta after no major league seemed interested any longer. His answer: "It beats working for a living."

NCAA had no right to tell state colleges whether they will televise or not.

Dr. Willett said the NCAA was advised by legal counsel that it did have that right.

Local Giants Hold First Workout Of Spring Training

Jacksonville Club In Hard Hit By Loss Of 4 Key Players

The Ottawa Giants will play the Minneapolis Millers two exhibition games Saturday and Sunday, both games will begin at 2 P. M.

The Sanford Giants held their first workout of spring training this morning with a roster swollen with recruits from other teams not scheduled to begin drills until later in the month.

New Manager Richard Klaus put the squad through batting, pitching and fielding practice and expressed himself as well satisfied with the first day's drills.

Manager Ben Geraghty of the Jacksonville Tars has been hard hit by the loss of four players—one each to the Army, Navy, Marines and the University of Arizona.

Former Sanford star Jim Jones who burned up the Florida State League at third base in 1949 is in the Army. Jones hit .313 for the End, Okla. Class C Western Association club last year.

Outfielder Jim Flanagan, who blasted the long ball and hit .200 for Bristol in the Class D Appalachian League last year, plans to join the Navy after finishing the school year at Kings College in Bristol, N. J., in the second semester.

Pitcher Chuck Menke, who had an 8-2 record with the pennant winning Knoxville Smokies last year, is already in a Marine boot camp. His right handed hurling will be sorely missed.

Catcher Her Bostio, who lashed out a respectable .291 average for Trenton in the Class B Interstate League last year, is a student at the University of Arizona and plans to stick to his books.

The sad story doesn't end there as catchers Dale Mathews, draft pick of the New York Yankees last year, is already in a Marine boot camp. His right handed hurling will be sorely missed.

Other members of the squad are: Al Hale, River Forest, Ill.; Stan Hyde, Wheaton, Ill.; Adams, Chicago, Ill.; Earl Adams, Key West, Fla.; M. Sebastian, Pomona, Calif.; Dick Beder, St. Petersburg; Sherman Miller, St. Petersburg; Lurrie Verplank, Spring Lake, Mich.; Bill Holson, Jacksonville; and Vernon Jacobs, Medina, N. Y.

Attendance Falls Off In Northern Basketball Arenas

By JOHN CHANDLER
NEW YORK, Mar. 16 (AP)—Blame it on television, the international situation, or repercussions from the "fixed" games scandals, but attendance at college basketball games showed a decline today for the season just ended as compared with a year ago.

The shock in the basketball pocketbook was felt especially in the big city arenas, where the crowds just didn't rush the gates as in years gone past.

Attendance at the Boston Garden doubleheaders fell off 36 per cent this season, for instance. The Cleveland arena figures was down 41.1 per cent, and New York's Madison Square Garden off 24.8 per cent over the 1949-50 season.

All this was disclosed in a cross-section survey of attendance figures submitted by various schools and the eight big-city sports arenas where the popular doubleheader programs are held. All figures are based on home games only.

The largest overall drop in attendance by sections came in the far west—13 per cent. This was for representative schools in the Rocky Mountain and the Pacific Coast area.

In the east, the decline was 10.5 per cent; in the southwest, it was down 4.5 per cent.

The South and the midwest showed a gain, but only because of big new fieldhouses at Kentucky and Kansas State. Schools in the midwest showed a gain of 0.2 per cent over last year, and the increase in the south was 1.6 per cent.

However, the University of Kentucky showed a hike of 231.6 per cent in attendance at its new field house. Only 28,000 persons saw Kentucky games a year ago, compared with 120,722 this year, to boost the southern attendance total.

Figures for the South included:

State	1949-50	G. 1950-51
Alabama	8,240,000	10,270,000
Georgia	10,34,000	11,36,200
G. Tech	10,000	9,18,000
Kentucky	10,28,000	13,120,722
Tulane	15,45,479	11,34,404
Miss. State	25,400	31,870
Tennessee	10,18,278	15,250
L. S. U.	12,43,848	28,026
Total	194,633,269	192,720,562

Mulbry Is Groomed As Temporary Commissioner If Chandler Quits

SARASOTA, Mar. 16 (AP)—Walter Mulbry is in line to take over the duties of baseball commissioner temporarily if and when Happy Chandler resigns.

The four-man executive council quietly set up that move Monday night at Miami Beach when it refused to accept the resignation of Mulbry, a 43,000-a-year-job.

"The executive committee is backing Mulbry to the limit to carry on until the commissioner resigns," said Will Harridge, American League president yesterday. "Then we will set up the machinery for him to act in the commissioner's capacity until a new one is elected. He probably would have complete charge of all player disputes."

Harridge spoke as a member of the council which met secretly about four hours after Chandler was refused a new term by the club owners. Other members are Ford Frick, National League president; Warren Giles, president of the Cincinnati Reds; and Tom Yawkey, president of the Boston Red Sox.

Chandler sought to fire Mulbry before he left office. Under the major league agreement, however, he doesn't have the power.

An attempt was made to oust Mulbry at Monday's joint meeting of the major leagues where Chandler was finally repudiated.

On a resolution urging the council to fire Mulbry, the 16 owners were divided. Then they voted 16-0 to leave his fate to the Executive Council.

The Executive Council decided to retain Mulbry to protect the interests and welfare of the commissioner's office," said Harridge. "It would be a terrible thing if Mulbry resigned and we had nobody to run the commissioner's office."

"We have to have the attention of an experienced man to take care of the players' pension fund, the funds in the commissioner's office and to protect and take care of the players' disputes. We believe Mulbry has done a good job as far as baseball is concerned."

Demand For WACs Causes Step-Up In Recruiting Plans

WASHINGTON, Mar. 16.—(AP)—The Army is looking for 30,000 women recruits to take over jobs that are keeping male soldiers from the ballfield and the training field.

The growing demand for women in uniform was disclosed today by Col. Mary Hallaren, director of WAC (Women's Army Corps).

"We don't have nearly enough WACs to meet the need," she said.

The Colonel told a reporter: "The situation has resulted in a reversal of military procedure. Col. Hallaren's account indicated the generals in the Pentagon are beating a path to her door."

First it was Lieut. General Edward H. Brooke, Army Deputy Chief of Staff in charge of personnel. The General was concerned over the number of soldiers driving staff cars in Washington.

He thought they should be doing a man's job in Korea, Col. Hallaren recalled. She lined up 130 WAC drivers.

Next came Maj. General Eugene M. Foster, Army Chief of Finance. The Army's Finance Center and Finance School are being transferred from St. Louis to Fort Benjamin Harris in Indiana.

Col. Hallaren agreed to send 200 WACs trained as clerks, stenographers and accountants to take over clerical jobs.

Other requests for women soldiers are coming from overseas. A unit is due to sail for Okinawa next month. Thirty WACs have been transferred from Germany to General Dwight D. Eisenhower's European Defense Army headquarters in Paris. And 10 WACs World War II, are sailing from the U. S.

Secretary of Defense Marshall has asked Congress to change the law that limits the WACs to two percent of the total army strength.

In the meantime, to meet existing needs, the Army has decided to intensify recruiting of aviators and welcome reserves back to active duty.

Korean War

On the western end of the line, U. S. troops crossed the Han River in force east of Seoul and captured high ground.

South Korean soldiers moved through the war-wrecked old Republic capital, set up positions north of the city.

Only Communist planted mines, freely laid in roads and pitches, slowed the Allied advance at both ends of the front.

On the central front, the Reds gave up Hengchon to the Allies Thursday without a fight.

American tanks and infantrymen rolled into almost-deserted Hengchon Thursday against light, scattered small arms fire.

Only five civilians were on hand to greet the Americans. Last week the city, normally of 15,000 population, held 40,000 Red troops.

Its capture gave the Allies another link in their chain of strong points stretching from liberated Seoul across the Korean peninsula.

The U. S. 24th and 25th Infantry Divisions and First Cavalry Division tore at the new Red defense line from Hengchon west.

The U. S. First Marine division hit the line east of Hengchon.

To the right of the Marines, lay-out-widened U. S. Second Division troops carved a dent in the Red defenses north of Yudong on the east-central front.

The Americans holed their lay-out, then drove the Reds off their positions. The cold-steel charge came after 12 hours of inconclusive fighting for the ridges.

East of the Second Division, the U. S. Seventh Division battled all day Thursday for a mountain pass it broke off the action at night-fall.

The U. S. Third Division shoved forward, east of battle-wrecked Seoul. North of the newly won Republic capital, South Korean patrols clashed with Reds and withdrew.

U. S. Eighth Army headquarters estimated 1,200 Reds were killed or wounded Thursday. That boosted enemy casualties since the start of the Allied offensive Jan. 25 to about 175,000.

Terminal Bonds

Among those present in the Court Room outside of the Judge's chamber where the petition was presented were City Manager Clifford McKibbin, Commissioner Andrew Caraway, and the heads of two Tennessee bond firms, Fisher Hayes and L. H. Gormley, who have agreed to purchase the bond issue if it is validated.

Mr. Gormley stated that his firm decided on this action only after a 60-day engineering survey by F. C. Hilyer and Associates of Jacksonville had convinced him that the project would gain sufficient revenue to pay off the bond issue and to operate the terminal plant.

The first proceeds of the revenue from the terminal will be devoted to its operational expense, he pointed out. The payment for the bonds is to be made by the pledge of parking meter funds.

The pledge of parking meter funds is not a direct, but a secondary pledge, he stated. Under the RFC, he said, a direct pledge of funds would have been required. Parking meter funds are to be used only in case of a deficiency of revenue from the project, he pointed out.

Adding Mr. Hilyer in the survey, said Mr. Gormley, was Mr. Kennell, who for 20 years was manager of the Jacksonville port, and Mr. Stanfield, who was also with the port.

Acheson Press Talk

During months of working on a Japanese treaty with representatives of other countries, Dulles gave full information on his activities in Malik and conducted an exchange of notes with Moscow.

After his return from Japan, Dulles sent word he would like to see Malik. He said later that Malik was willing. The next thing that occurred was a public declaration by Malik that Dulles was wrong; that Malik does not conduct any discussions with him on a Japanese peace treaty.

Dulles this week described this incident as "fantastic." He said it was evidence that "military despots" like to talk about peace when it is distant but "when peace presses close, then the despots would murder peace."

Acheson endorsed the Dulles statement today. He said he was disappointed and disturbed at the Soviet government's declaration as voiced by Malik and he hoped this refusal to take part in even a treaty would continue to be the Russian attitude.

He said that he earnestly hoped that the international talks would go forward meanwhile and that the whole effort would result in a treaty before the end of the year.

Dulles, who recently returned from a trip to Japan, offered to talk with Soviet representative Jacob Malik about the treaty. His offer drew a harsh rebuff.

Acheson also:

1. Said the U. S. high commissioner in Germany, John J. McCloy, has informed him that difficulties over Germany's accepting a proposal for a Franco-German coal-steel merger have been resolved. Acheson expresses hope for speedy action.

2. Expressed hope the British and Iranian governments can reach an agreement as to Iran's oil resources which will benefit both sides and keep Iranian oil flowing to those markets it has served in the past. This appeared to be a way of saying that he did not want Iran's oil to flow toward Russia.

3. Declared that to his knowledge there has been no response from the Chinese Communists to efforts of the UN good offices committee to open negotiations on a peace settlement in Korea. A reporter had asked whether the Red Chinese have shown any indication of willingness to discuss peace.

4. Declined to discuss a question as to whether UN forces under General Douglas MacArthur have full UN authority to cross the 38th Parallel. He said it would not be helpful to the military operation in Korea for him to talk about the situation.

5. Praised Ambassador Philip C. Jessup's conduct of negotiations with the British, French and Russians at Paris over proposals for a Big Four foreign minister's meeting later this spring.

Meanwhile the Senate banking committee today cut in half President Truman's $3,000,000,000 defense housing program and tentatively approved the stripped-down plan.

Chairman Maybank (D-S.C.) said the committee slashed the proposed fund for government mortgage insurance to $1,500,000,000 because "we believe in economy."

Maybank said there was no record vote on tentative approval of the housing bill. He said the committee will meet next Tuesday for a final ballot, after certain technical changes have been made.

A similar administration bill calling for the full $3,000,000,000 in mortgage insurance by the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) ran into a roadblock in the House earlier this week. A coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats kept the measure from being brought up for House action.

In addition to halving the FHA mortgage insurance item, the Senate committee stipulated that the program could apply only to certified defense housing areas where there is a real shortage of dwelling places.

Elsewhere in the capital the Civil Defense Administration said it has sent $1,000,000 air raid alert cards to state defense directors for distribution in critical target areas.

The alert cards describe the signals to be used to warn of raids and give brief instructions for self-protection in the event of an enemy attack. They are designed so they can be cut for use on walls and as pocket cards.

Eventually, the CDA said it hopes to provide cards for 50,000,000 families.

The agency did not name the critical target areas where the first shipment was sent.

Trial Of McRae Is Set For April 1

JACKSONVILLE, Mar. 16.—(AP)—Trial for two brothers for slaying one of their wives and Jacksonville Safety Commissioner Richard D. Sutton Nov. 15 was set today for Apr. 2.

Circuit Court Judge George William Jackson set the date after raising bond for J. F. McRae, husband of the dead woman, to $20,000 and that of A. G. McRae to $10,000. Both pleaded innocent.

The two were indicted by a grand jury the first of the week: J. P. on first degree murder charges and A. G. as an accessory.

At first Judge Jackson denied the two bail but Attorney J. V. Walton said the Supreme Court had ruled that an adultery case in Florida under the circumstances is manslaughter and hence was bondable.

With the two defendants was another brother, Walter, head of the Ford Motor Agency in Jacksonville. Original bond for the two—$10,000 for J. P. and $5,000 for A. G.—was put up by him.

A. G. McRae, 37, is a former car dealer here and Dave Gautier, Crescent City citrus grower.

Assistant state attorney Julian C. Calhoun said he would put both brothers on trial at the same time for the death of Mrs. McRae first.

Hoover Turned Down Senate Appointment

NEW YORK, Mar. 16.—(AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York offered to appoint Herbert Hoover to the U. S. Senate in 1949, the ex-president says. And he turned down the offer.

In the last installment of his memoirs appearing in Collier's magazine, Mr. Hoover writes that in 1949 he had moved his voting residence from California to New York.

Mr. Hoover says Governor Dewey "did me the courtesy" of offering to appoint him to fill out the unexpired term of Senator Robert F. Wagner, Democrat, who retired because of illness.

"I felt it necessary to refuse," he writes, because "it was in my view desirable to confer the honor on a younger man." The appointment went to John Foster Dulles.

The magazine article relates that Mr. Hoover, in his travels around the country soon after he left the White House, met many small business men who complained about the Roosevelt Administration's National Recovery Act.

Mr. Hoover says he advised them to defy the act—on the ground that the injustices about which they complained violated the bill of rights.

Gambling Probe

Costello, the reputed crime-ringing kingpin who stormed out of a hearing yesterday, was ordered to return this afternoon. If he didn't, the Committee said, he would be brought in under arrest.

Firing the morning session was testimony by state police inspector Charles L. Forge that in a 1947 investigation he found the horse race center of Saratoga, N. Y., a beehive of gaming dives.

La Forge said he believed the gambling places are "open now" in Saratoga, where the busy tourist season is just starting.

Later, Francis McGarvey, head of the State Bureau of Criminal Identification, testified "it would have been a pushover" to suppress illegal gambling, but persistent shouting by Senator Charles L. Tobey (R-N.H.) interrupted.

Tobey (R-N.H.) broke in: "Well, step out of those deal policies and get live ones." McGarvey said La Forge's 1947 investigation report was turned over to the State Police Superintendent, but no action was forthcoming "in this instance."

La Forge said the gambling casinos operated "all through the '40s," but were closed down temporarily in 1950 by state police.

He said state police do not act in local matters "unless ordered to do so by the mayor, or the district attorney, or the upper echelon, or the Governor of the state of New York."

Senator Charles Tobey (R-N.H.), noting that the report apparently

RFC Probe

(Continued From Page One) the depression. Noting the change in economic conditions, the Chamber directors said, "its continued existence in an inflationary era cannot be justified. Today private financial facilities are sufficient to meet normal needs."

The chamber also said the defense production act passed last year contains "elaborate provisions" for government defense agency guarantees of credit to "any business engaged in the defense effort" and for "direct loans in connection with defense procurement."

The RFC has acted as a financial agent for defense agencies making these loans or guarantees.

went up through channels to the Governor's office, asked why La Forge didn't see Governor Thomas E. Dewey when nothing was done. "We just don't do those things," the inspector said.

La Forge said that Saratoga police were "politically controlled," and that the sheriff's office apparently was too. The police chief, he said, would cooperate "in other phases of the law," but wouldn't discuss gambling.

"A sickening and disgusting picture," remarked Tobey. Replied La Forge: "I will agree with you, Senator."

The inspector said that in October, 1949, he got the "green light, more or less, to make arrests."

"That," protested Tobey, "was three years too late."

"I would say so," said La Forge. The inspector said he was ordered to make the investigation, and used an eight-man detail in the found rouletta, dice, Chemin-surveysing the "spa" area in which De-Fer tables and other gaming in full swing.

He said curfew, banning the sale of liquor after 3 A. M., were ignored, as were state liquor control laws prohibiting liquor sales in places where there was gambling.

Most of the places were expensively furnished clubs, he said, but he found one "known as the Sawdust Joint" that apparently was for "the common people, more or less."

"There were no carpets and we found about 200 people in there gambling—apparently the class of people who can't afford to go to the plush places," he said.

Gambler Meyer Lansky, and underworld figure Joe Adonis, said to be a lieutenant of Costello, reportedly own interests in some of the places, La Forge said.

Senator Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), committee chairman, said there also is evidence that Costello himself "had part of some of the interest" in the Arrowhead, named as one of the gambling houses.

Kefauver said earlier a U. S. Marshal was being sent to inform Costello of the committee's ultimatum to return, or face arrest.

Efforts to reach Costello to learn if he would reappear were unavailing. At his apartment at 15 Central Park West, doors turned away newsmen. A woman who answered the telephone there said "no comment" and hung up.

Congressman With Six Kids Runs Into Huge Headaches In Capital

By ARTHUR EDSON
(For HAL BOYLE)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 16 — (AP) — From February until November of last year, Walter Rogers of Pampa, Tex., busily ran for the job of representing his district in Congress.

Now that he has won it, he thinks maybe he would have been smatter if he had run in the other direction — away from instead of toward Washington.

"Man, man, the troubles I've had," sighed Rep. Rogers (D-Tex.).

For some time I've been wondering about the every day problems a Congressman runs into. Problems like merely getting settled in Washington. Problems far removed from the ones he faces politically.

As the father of four, I have kept my eyes on Rogers, a father of six, as the Congressman who might be my man.

He was.

For the mother and father of John Edward, 12; Walter Edward, 11; Susan Daly, 9; Thomas Kelly, car in Memphis. They came on by train. The car is still there.

"Then our maid started out with the other three by train. She ran into the switchman's strike. I'll say this for her; she fought everybody until they put her and the kids on a train east out of Chicago.

"Then they disappeared. We finally found them in Philadelphia.

Even so, the Rogers family beat the Rogers furniture into Washington.

"Instead of the direct route, they took the stuff through Shreveport," Rogers said. "So we spent two weeks at the Shoreham Hotel.

"I have nothing against the Shoreham, but did you ever try to keep six kids in a hotel for two weeks? Especially after they learn they can go into the coffee shop and sign checks for whatever they want?"

Well, the Rogers finally got into their house. Troubles right off. The washing machine broke down and flooded the basement.

"Then the new dishwasher was hooked up wrong, and when Jean turned it on, water spouted everywhere. She called up here, frantic. One of the stenographers couldn't think of anything but the Fire Department. So she called the Fire Department, and they turned the thing off."

Everything else had gone smoothly, though.

"Well, no, not exactly. The older boys disappeared on their bikes. Down in Pampa they rode everywhere, and they couldn't understand why they couldn't do the same thing here.

"We found them four miles from home, in Rock Creek Park. They had found a wounded duck and were busy taking care of it.

"What could we do? Their boy Scout oaths, you know."

Rogers paused barely long enough for another sigh.

"Yesterday a week ago one of the girls came in and said, 'It's raining out in the hall.' I said, 'No it isn't. It's clear.'

"She said, 'It may be clear outside but it sure is raining in the hall.' Well, I went into the hall, and damned if it wasn't. If we ever have that much rain in the Panhandle, we'll have a bumper crop.

"One of the kids had put the cork in the basin, turned on the water and had forgotten about it. It ruined the plaster, and I guess we mopped and scrubbed for two hours."

The phone rang, and Rogers started. He seemed relieved to find it was only a business call from a constituent.

Sharp Tongued And Sharp Witted Texas Senator Enlivens Hearings

WASHINGTON, Mar. 16 — (AP) — The Senator sits there, peering over the glasses resting on the tip of his nose. His black string tie is slightly askew, his hand fondles a gavel.

Senator Tom Connally (D-Tex.), the one with the sharpest tongue on Capitol Hill, is holding court.

As chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Connally has the big job of getting the Senate to go along with the Administration's foreign policies.

He presided over the joint hearing held by his committee and the Senate Armed Services Committee to listen to testimony on what course this country should follow in sending troops abroad.

This was the great hearing which followed and accompanied the great debate.

From it the Senate got plenty of big league advice, from both the pro and con leagues.

It heard the nation's only living ex-president, Herbert Hoover. It heard from the man who twice tried to win the presidency, Thomas E. Dewey.

It heard military big shots, like General Dwight Eisenhower and Omar Bradley.

And it heard Senator Taft (R-Ohio), college president Harold Stassen and assorted political leaders.

If the 73-year-old Connally was impressed at this array of talent, he certainly didn't show it.

The news stories on these hearings dealt mostly with the testimony of the eminent witnesses, but the tall Texan with the querulous voice managed to leave his mark every time.

One thing about Tom Connally. His barbed tongue is impartial.

For instance, he was hard on photographers, a group difficult to be hard with.

When Dewey was testifying, Connally snapped: "Get through with your photography. I don't want you sticking your machines in the face of the Governor. Get your pictures and get out."

Sometimes it was difficult to tell at whom he was hitting.

When Hoover finished his testimony, spectators applauded.

After the cheering died, Connally asked, "Anybody else want to cheer?"

More applause.

So Connally said: "Since this is a meeting devoted to noise, I thought it was just as well to let you blow off if you wanted to."

But mostly Connally is hard on fellow senators.

He commented to General J. Lawton Collins, "I suppose you have nuts in the Army just as we do in the Senate."

"Would you care to specify?" Senator Lodge (R-Mass.) asked.

Connally didn't. But he said he'd withdraw the naughty word if anyone was offended. Pat that way, only a self-admitted nut could come forward. None did.

Connally once called General

Local Construction Increases Greatly, Coleman Declares

This area showed a healthy increase in building activity during 1950, compared to 1949. H. H. Coleman, division manager for Florida Power & Light Company, stated yesterday in disclosing figures for the past years.

"The number of new electric services connected is a reliable index to the number of new buildings completed," Mr. Coleman said. "During 1949, in our Sanford district, we connected 327 new electric customers while during 1950 we connected 363, an increase of 11 per cent."

"Although 1949 was considered a year of unusually great construction activity, these figures indicate that 1950 was an even better year."

"We are very proud of the record achieved by our community. The number of buildings completed, including many new and attractive residences, indicates that the condition of our area is prosperous."

Mr. Coleman said the power company, in its current expansion and improvement program, has greatly increased its facilities to make the benefits of electric service available to Florida's growing population and to improve service in the matter of lines alone.

Soil Conservation News
By BEN WIGGINS
Planning Technician
U. S. Soil Conservation Service

Seminole County farmers are really aware of the fact that it is profitable to understand their soils. Over 100 complete conservation farm plans have been worked out with cooperators in this District.

The more recent cooperators to take advantage of the technical assistance furnished by the Soil Conservation Service are: A. B. Peterson, Carl Lind, and B. E. Kopeck.

The soils of these cooperators were first surveyed and mapped on aerial photographs by a soil scientist. These soil surveys were used as the basis for writing complete soil and water conservation farm plans.

A. B. Peterson's ranch, approximately 750 acres, consisted of several types of soils, some of which are well drained and capable of producing good citrus, improved pasture, or rotated crops. Other soils which are underlain with hardpan are capable of producing good improved pasture and row crops, but not suitable for citrus. There are still other soils which are suitable only for wildlife and native forests.

Carl Lind and B. E. Kopeck have farms with similar problems in that they have a variety of soils which need special treatment. In addition to the recommended cover crops, approximately six acres of Mr. Kopeck's land will be planted to citrus on the contour as a further means of conserving moisture and protecting the soil from erosion.

The best agriculture land of our country now amounts to a little more than an acre per person. If this land is not properly cared for, it will produce less food and fiber. Improving and conserving the soil is an answer to this problem. Therefore, in working out conservation farm plans, the soils are treated according to their capabilities and the treatment of each acre of land in accordance with its needs for protection and improvement.

This has recently been stressed by Secretary Brannan of the U. S. Department of Agriculture in his plans for coordination of the Department's Agricultural Resource Conservation Services.

75 Years of Service to the Nation

"Mr. Watson, come here. I want you."

"Mr. Bell, I heard every word you said—distinctly!"

...and the Telephone was born!

On March 10, 1876, in a boarding house in Boston, the telephone carried its first intelligible sentence. Alexander Graham Bell was about to try to send his voice over a new transmitter he had devised. His assistant, Thomas Watson, was in another room, holding a receiver to his ear. Suddenly, Mr. Bell upset the acid of a battery over his clothes. He called out, "Mr. Watson, come here; I want you!" An instant later Watson burst into the room, shouting, "Mr. Bell, I heard every word you said—distinctly!"

Today America has 62% of the world's telephones and enjoys the most and the best telephone service in the world... another great achievement of American ingenuity under a system of free enterprise and individual incentive and reward.

Each year the telephone becomes more useful, and more essential to the prosperity and security of the nation. Today it unites the country, playing a vital role in mobilization and production for defense.

Here in the South, more than 52,000 skilled employees and nearly 3 1/2 million Southern Bell telephones are on the job—more than twice as many as we had when World War II began. And there are four times as many Long Distance circuits. In all, we have built more than $670 million worth of new facilities in a little over five years, and we're still busy at the job.

All this growth—and maintaining the financial strength to keep on expanding—will be increasingly important to the South and the Nation in the days ahead.—Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company.

MORE AND BETTER GAS SERVICE

A new GAS PLANT for Sanford is now under construction. The aim of your GAS COMPANY is to provide more and better GAS SERVICE for you and for Sanford. The greatly increased use of CITY GAS, particularly for home heating and for automatic water heating, has made it desirable to add new production facilities to our Sanford plant.

The new GAS PLANT is scheduled for completion in October, 1951. This new plant will produce a clean, dry GAS of superior quality. That's why we say, "More and better GAS SERVICE for Sanford."

Where CITY GAS is available, 85% of America's homes cook with GAS. There is no finer fuel for cooking, for water heating, for refrigeration and for home heating. This finer service is available for your home. Say-A-Gas service beyond the gas mains. Get full information at our office, 210 East 1st Street.

Sunrise Service Is Planned For Easter

Plans are nearing completion for the Easter Sunrise Service which is being sponsored by the Sanford Ministerial Association. The service will be held at the Band Shell at 6:15 Easter morning. In event of rain the service will be held in the Seminole High School.

Rev. A. G. McInnis, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, and president of the Ministerial Association, will bring the Easter message. The High School Glee Club, under the direction of Mrs. Ollie Reese Whittle, and the High School Band, directed by B. E. Black, will provide special music for the occasion. The Ministerial Association expressed its appreciation to Clifford McKibbin, City manager, and to those who are working with him to make the Band Shell comfortable in every way for the service. It is hoped that this will be Sanford's largest Sunrise Service to date.

That true substance is God created, therefore spiritual and completely unlike what the world calls substance, is the theme of the Lesson-Sermon entitled "SUBSTANCE" to be read in all Christian Science churches next Sunday.
A verse from Psalms (104:31) supplies the Golden Text: "The glory of the Lord shall endure for ever: the Lord shall rejoice in his works."
Readings from the Bible include the following statement made by Paul to Timothy: "Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not high-minded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy" (1 Tim. 6: 17).
Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include this correlative passage: "Matter, sin, and mortality lose all supposed consciousness or claim to life or existence, as mortals lay off a false sense of life, substance, and intelligence. But the spiritual, eternal man is not touched by the phases of mortality" (p. 311).

MORE THAN A KING
In Lloyd Douglas' book "The Robe," the slave, Demetrius, pushed his way through the crowd on Palm Sunday, trying to see who was the center of attraction. He got close enough to look upon the face of Jesus. Later another slave asked: "See him—close up?" Demetrius nodded, "Is he crazy?" Demetrius shook his head emphatically. "Is he a king?" "No," muttered Demetrius, "not a king." "What is he, then?" "I don't know," mumbled Demetrius, "but he is something more than a king."

3-Hour Good Friday Service Is Planned

A special three-hour Good Friday Service is being arranged by the Sanford Ministerial Association to be held in the First Presbyterian Church on Friday, Mar. 23, 12:00-3:00 P. M. The three-hour service will be divided into seven periods during which seven local ministers will bring messages on the last words of Christ on the Cross. There will be a scripture reading, prayer, hymn, and some appropriate special music for each of the seven periods. Musicians from Sanford's various churches will participate. A great deal of time has been devoted to this service on the part of the cooperating churches, and it is hoped that all the people of Sanford will join in its attendance. Those who are working on that day are informed that they may attend any part of the service; entering the church and leaving when they desire. They are especially invited to attend at least part of the service.

More Than 400 Attend Annual Pioneer Night

Housholder Declares Opportunities Were Greater When Sanford Was Frontier

Advantages of the pioneer young men who founded this section over the young men of today who are seeking a career or business, were pointed out by Kayle Housholder, young Sanford attorney, to the more than 400 persons who attended the 26th Pioneer Night celebration in Lake Mary Saturday night.

Mr. Housholder, who was introduced by his father, Ernest F. Housholder, pointed out that in the old days, a youth could start a business or farm on $200 and go on expanding the enterprise unhampered by heavy taxation.

Frank Evans, of Lake Mary, who initiated the program 26 years ago, again served as a "merry" master of ceremonies, topping the introductions with an exchange of old time recollections with Joe Fortier who was born in Lake Mary in 1878.

Andrew Toney, 90, of Lake Mary and formerly of Eden, Ohio, was the oldest man present and received a four leaf clover from Sheriff P. A. Mero, who in turn presented Mrs. Nellie Wheelers, Longwood, a dozen carnations as a prize for being the oldest woman present.

Mr. Housholder, pointed out that the young man of today cannot so easily start a business as did the pioneer youth of yesterday as it takes too much capital. "When the modern youth reaches 18, he finds he is not ready for a job and marriage. Competition is keen, so he goes to college," he declared.

As a result, he stated, the process of raising a family has been retarded anywhere from five to ten years for the youth of today.

Mr. Housholder pointed out that it is not the same as his father who in 1910 did not have to worry about government regulations. Today the government withholds part of his profits, and even if his money is in a bank, he still has to pay his taxes.

He contrasted this situation to that of the "self sufficient" pioneers who regarded the federal and state government as "something far off and were concerned only with local government. Hearty applause greeted his statement that this government regimentation and loss of freedom (Continued On Page Six)

House Group Clears Bill Lowering Draft Age To 18½, Approving UMT

WASHINGTON, Mar. 19—(AP)—The bill lowering the draft age to 18½ and laying the groundwork for a Universal Military Training program was cleared for House debate by the House Rules Committee today.

Members said there was no opposition to the clearance, voted in a closed session.

The House will take up the measure on April 3 after an Easter recess for four days of debate. It will be open to any and all amendments.

The legislation also extends the period of service from 21 to 23 months.

Major fights may develop over expected moves to knock out the Universal Military Training program, to bar sending United States troops to Europe without congressional approval and to put a ceiling on military strength.

The Senate has passed a companion bill permitting the induction of 18-year-olds, extending the period of service from 21 to 24 months, and containing a UMT provision.

Meanwhile a bill to extend federal rent controls for many communities, negated a final congressional hurdle today.

Administrative leaders called up the Senate-approved extension bill in the House and pressed for a decision, but the vote may be delayed until tomorrow.

Many Republicans and Southern Democrats gave advance indications they will oppose the bill. The real fight, however, was expected later in the session in a complete new rent control law which the Administration plans to succeed the law expiring on June 30.

The bill brought up today would extend controls for 90 days only in those communities in which controls are due to expire on Mar. 31. These are cities and towns which did not act to keep controls past that date.

Tight Woods, the government's Housing expediter, said about 1,100 communities have voted to keep controls after Mar. 31. But about 1,300 others failed to act. Controls in those communities will expire at the end of this month unless congress votes the extension.

Only the automatic decontrol feature of existing law would be (Continued On Page Two)

ROK Troops Swim River To Hit Reds

Chinese Abandon Key Base Of Chunchon As Allied Forces Near 38th Parallel

TOKYO, Mar. 19—(AP)—South Korean troops swam the chilly Hongchon river in Central Korea today in pursuit of Communist forces pulling back toward the 38th Parallel.

The Republic of Korea (ROK) soldiers were spearheading the central front drive of the U. S. Eighth Army which has set up strong forces in a holding line only 17 miles of the politically sensitive Parallel.

"There was no stopping those ROK troops," said a military spokesman. They swam the cold river rather than wait for boats to ferry them across in the northward drive.

"They were just a lot of eager beavers."

The same ROK troops trapped and annihilated a Chinese Communist battalion Sunday.

The ROKs fended back when they strong patrols out in a flanking move until they were north of the Chunchon. Then they smashed the Reds simultaneously from the front and rear.

American liaison officers with the South Koreans counted 231 dead Chinese after the battle.

The ROKs captured a battery of 75-MM. howitzers, several mortars and rifles, and large quantities of ammunition.

It was the first action of an size along the Korean front in 23 hours.

U. S. jet pilots Monday killed or wounded 300 of 1,500 Reds concentrated in the village of Kaengyong, 32 miles northeast of Seoul.

They also reported damaging a tank in the town west of Chunchon, near the central Chinese command headquarters south of the 38th Parallel and now apparently abandoned.

A U. S. armored patrol rolling north from Seoul threw back an enemy platoon that attacked it 20 miles south of the Parallel on the western front.

On the eastern front, Allied patrols probing within a few miles of the 38th Parallel moved northward against Red small arms and mortar fire.

The Army, breaking a three-day silence, announced "holding elements are 17 miles from the 38th Parallel at five points." It did not locate the points and said it would not. Holding elements presumably are capable of holding their ground against heavy attack.

The brief announcement said patrols were operating "miles north" of the five points and in all other sectors. It did not say how many miles.

Parallels 38, which cuts across Korea about in the center, has been the arbitrary dividing line between Communist north and Republican South Korea since the end of World War II.

North Koreans stabbed across the line June 25 and touched off the current fighting. United Nations forces pushed them back across the Parallel.

Then the Allies were forced south of the line by overwhelming masses of Chinese Reds, led in the aid of the North Koreans.

Now, the U. N. was rolling northward once more, in search of withdrawing Chinese and Red (Continued On Page Six)

O'Dwyer Tells Senate Crime Committee Of Deadly Justice In Use By Underworld Gangs

Dramatic Exits Are Made From Crime Hearings

TWO WITNESSES, Virginia Hill (left) and Frank Costello (right), leave the Senate Crime Investigating Committee hearing in New York under emotional circumstances. Miss Hill, frequently linked with underworld big-shot, punched a woman reporter and tried to kick a photographer after she had testified. Costello, who had undergone several days of stiff questioning, walked out on the investigators, despite a warning by the committee's chairman that the Senate will be asked to issue a warrant for his arrest. NEW YORK, Mar. 19—(AP)—Former Mayor William O'Dwyer testified today at the Senate Crime Committee hearing into a reputed "big six" national crime directorate. O'Dwyer, now ambassador to Mexico, listed Charles (Lucky) Luciano, Joe Adonis, Willie Moretti, Meyer Lansky and the late Benjamin (Hugsy) Siegel as "big" in the underworld ranks.

Ex New York Mayor Says Criminal Army Liquidated All Opposition With Lead

NEW YORK, Mar. 19—(AP)—The chairman of the Senate Crime Investigating Committee today extended a "cordial invitation" to Governor Thomas E. Dewey to make any statement he desired before the committee.

Senator Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) issued the invitation just before William O'Dwyer, ambassador to Mexico and former mayor, was sworn in as a witness.

NEW YORK, Mar. 19—(AP)—Former Mayor William O'Dwyer told the Senate Crime Committee today the underworld had its own court system that meted out death sentences to violators of the gangland code.

O'Dwyer, now ambassador to Mexico, described it as "a judicial setup—a kangaroo court where they held trials, usually at night."

"We also found," he said, "that (Continued On Page Two)

British Estimate Russian Strength At 4 Million Men

By JOHN ROBERTSON
LONDON, Mar. 19—(AP)—British War Office last night estimated Russian and Communist Chinese armed forces together at 8,000,000 men. War Minister John Strachey set the Soviet ground army at 2,000,000 soldiers— "very large" peacetime mobilization but "not the incredibly vast force which some people seem to fear."

Strachey, speaking at Dundee, and a war office release of hitherto secret intelligence reports in effect refuted a formal Russian note to Britain Feb. 24 in which the Kremlin claimed it had little more than 2,500,000 men under arms.

Instead, the British estimated, the two major Communist powers each had about 1,000,000 weapons— including Army, Navy, Air Force, and internal security troops. The statement, however, gave no reference to the Russian note.

The War Office opened its files, Strachey explained, to dispel "the dangers of ignorance," he said "that the Russian forces are invulnerable and invincible."

The U. S. Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees reported last month that the Atlantic Pact powers have 1,470,000 men under arms and 2,500,000 in the ground forces.

"So far," Strachey said, "the (Continued On Page Six)

6 Who Plead Guilty Are Sentenced By Judge Stenstrom

Six persons pleaded guilty to charges this morning before County Judge Douglas Stenstrom who pronounced sentences.

For aggravated assault with a knife whereby several chest wounds of a minor nature were inflicted, Mabel Bush, Negro, of Orlando, received a fine of $500 and 180 days in jail after pleading guilty. It was her second offense.

William Granville, Negro, of Oviedo, pleaded guilty to a second offense of driving while intoxicated and drew a straight 30 day sentence with drivers license revoked for one year.

Morris Talks To Club On Value Of Audio-Visual Aids

Rotarians Are Shown New Procedures In Local High School

The value of audio-visual aids in modern education was demonstrated to the Rotary Club today by Prof. Herman Morris of Seminole High School following a luncheon served from the school cafeteria on the stage of the high school auditorium.

Prof. Morris, who was introduced by Walter Hayes, pointed out that during the war the Army and Navy discovered that considerable gains could be made in the instruction of recruits through the use of motion pictures and victory records. Since then, he added, Seminole High School has added a good deal of equipment to its plant by way of motion picture projection and recording devices.

About 800 films a year are used, he said. The school is a member of the Florida University film library and also of the University of Georgia film library from which films are received on an exchange basis. Free films can also be obtained from the Army and Navy, from industrial organizations and various associations.

Part of a film called "Choosing Your Vocation" was shown to the Rotarians to demonstrate the type of film used in this program. A record of a lesson in Spanish was also played. Mr. Morris commended the work of the high school club, the band, the dramatic club and the debaters and invited the Rotarians to visit the class (Continued On Page Two)

Mrs. Margaret Clark Injured In Accident

Mrs. Margaret Clark, 57, received fractures of three ribs and bruises in an automobile accident Saturday night on the Orlando highway about a mile south of Sanford.

She was reported resting this morning at Fernale-Laughlin Memorial Hospital where she was taken after the accident.

Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Gable with whom she was riding, and Edward B. O'Donnell, also of Sanford, and a passenger, had leg and knee bruises. They were returning from the Pioneer Night program at Lake Mary.

The automobile collided with a stalled automobile driven by John D. Wells, 19, of Orlando, who according to State Highway Patrolman R. D. Harrison, had run out of gasoline. The car had no lights displayed, he said. Bond for Wells was set at $150 by Judge Douglas Stenstrom, pending further investigation.

Big Four Showdown

PARIS, Mar. 19—(AP)—The western deputy foreign ministers prepared today for a showdown with Russia's Andrei Gromyko on agenda proposals for a Big-Four conference.

If Gromyko shows no real change of heart toward suspending the agenda the West has modified and re-drafted several times, a Western official indicated, a move will be made to bring the talks to a close.

Tax Investigations

WASHINGTON, Mar. 19—(AP)—An elite company of federal tax investigators is being formed to track down tax frauds of big time gamblers and racketeers.

This was announced Saturday after Treasury officials told reporters a three-year inquiry into shortly in a shower of tax claims and criminal charges.

These sources said such charges filed last week against Ralph Capone, brother of the late Chicago hoodlum, Al Capone, merely spotlighted him as the first of many nationally known names to be investigated on tax cases.

Restless Marine

ATLANTA, Mar. 19—(AP)—May be there's no rest for the weary after all, or at least one of 'em.

Marine corporal Don Reid, 23, is the first Leatherneck from Atlanta to return from the Korean war on rotation.

Today the Purple Heart veteran said he had a 30-day furlough but might not take it all because "I'm not the kind of a guy who can sit around doing nothing."

Iranian Education Minister Shot By Divinity Student

TEHRAN, Iran, Mar. 19—(AP)—Dr. Abdul Hamid Zanganeh, former education minister and close friend of the late Premier Ali Razmara, was shot and wounded by a student he had caught cheating on an examination. A Communist tie-up with the attack also was sought.

Police arrested the gunman, a young Moslem divinity student at the University of Tehran, and began an investigation to determine whether he was a member of the Communist Tudeh Party—the bitter enemy of Zanganeh.

The 46-year-old educator, president of the university law faculty, had been the target of frequent leftist student demonstrations in the past two years.

The shooting occurred on the university steps.

Police also sought to determine the student's motive. Abdul Hamid Zanganeh was linked with Fadayun Islam, the fanatic Moslem group whose ranks cause the gunman who assassinated Premier Razmara Mar. 7.

Zanganeh, however, had not been involved in the nationalization disputes which were responsible for the premier's death.

A witness to the shooting today said Zanganeh pointed the gun at Zanganeh's head but it failed to fire. He then chased him around an automobile in front of the building and shot him once in the small of his back.

At the hospital a doctor said the Zanganeh's condition was fair.

Zanganeh during his last tenure as education minister, in 1949 and 1950, introduced a drastic new law which the parliament passed after an attempt to assassinate then Mohammed Reza Pahlavi.

The law, since repealed, provided for the killing and imprisonment of persons who by any action before the Zanganeh appointed himself to the education post from Feb. 15, 1949, after the death of the late premier, and was reported to have been in the cabinet after the premier's assassination.
