Some 1750 acres of land was mapped for soil type and land capability in Seminole County last week.

Millard S. Morgan, Soil Scientist with the Soil Conservation Service, completed maps for the following landowners who had filed applications for technical assistance in soil and water conservation with the Seminole Soil Conservation District: M. L. Cullum, F. T. Meriwether, Geo. C. Harden, R. F. Cooper, R. U. Hutchison, A. B. Tedford, J. B. Brown, Rudolph Lloyd, L. T. Bryan, William Melcher, St. Clair White, Gwynne McGrum and Mrs. Ruth Kelly.

Morgan points out that the soil maps are called conservation surveys and are used as a basis for preparing soil and water conservation plans.

The maps are prepared on aerial photographs and indicate the soil type, the slope of the land, the type of ground cover and degree of erosion as well as other pertinent information such as flowing wells, lakes, streams, etc. As Morgan says, "The photos tell a fairly complete story about the land. Individual enlargements of the photographs are prepared for the landowner together with a legend which places the soils in their proper land capability classes. Description of the soils' adaptation, condition, characteristics and required management are included in the legend.

Using the information on the conservation survey maps, planning technicians of the Soil Conservation Service assist landowners, without charge, in preparing complete plans for soil and water conservation. In solving particularly difficult problems specialists are available in the fields of drainage, irrigation, biology and wildlife management, forestry and agronomy.

R. F. Cooper, chairman of the Seminole Soil Conservation District Board of Supervisors, announces that the District has on hand 65 applications for technical assistance. Priority is given to applications, wherever practical, according to order received, Mr. Cooper stated.

Roundtree's Release Confirmed By FIC

TALLAHASSEE, June 16 (AP)—Dismissal of Walter E. Roundtree as State director of workmen's compensation was confirmed yesterday by the Florida Industrial Commission.

Two of the three members—Chairman Raymond E. Barnes and James H. Allen—signed the order upholding Barnes' action in discharging Roundtree for alleged falsification of travel expense statements.

The third commission, James A. Harper, was disqualified because he was a witness to one of the complaints against Roundtree.

The commission order followed a month system hearing Apr. 13 of the accusations, which Roundtree denied.

Boat Explodes, But Men Swim Out Safely

MOBILE, Ala., June 16 (AP)—Three men swam to safety when an open motorboat exploded and burned in Dog River near here late today, but one had to leave his artificial leg behind.

The occupants were Paul A. Peck, Hollinger's Island, Franklin Pearce, Mobile, and Frank Jarrett, Detroit, Mich. Pearce suffered burns about the legs, Peck said.

Peck, the boat owner, said they had been fishing near the Bay Bridge road. When they cranked the motor to move to another spot, "everything exploded."

A fire extinguisher was aboard, but the flames were between it and the occupants. They went overboard and swam ashore. Peck said Jarrett whose lower left leg had been removed, had to take his artificial limb and leave it in the boat to swim.

Don't Fence Yourself In

Every spring, Handy Peterson and Kary Roberts patch up the stone wall that separates their farms. They walk along talking—Easy on one side, Handy on the other—picking up the fallen stones and putting them back.

Afterwards, over a friendly glass of beer, Easy says, "You know, wall-mending is a nice neighborly custom, but we really don't need that wall. We keep it up just because it happens to be there."

"Yes," says Handy, "a lot of walls and fences and boundaries keep on separating people for no good reason. Maybe we'd all be better off if some of them were torn down, instead of kept standing."

From where I sit, Handy said a mouthful, the "walls of intolerance" that people build up against each other. I like a transparent glass of beer now and then, you may prefer better still, but that's no reason for me to criticize you, or you, or me. Let's live and let live together—making more friends and fewer "walls."

Senator Raps Pipeline Plan As "Needless"

National Emergency Strike Injunction Decision Argued On Senate Floor

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), pounding away on his charge that Chairman David E. Lilienthal mishandled the Atomic Energy Commission, criticized the AEC today for going ahead with construction of a $10,000,000 natural gas pipeline to serve its Oak Ridge, Tenn., plant.

Hickenlooper said the pipe line project is "needless and wasteful." Sinner Pike, a member of the commission, countered that the government will save about $1,250,000 a year by switching from coal to gas for its main boiler fuel at Oak Ridge.

The pipe line is being built by a privately owned company, but the commission has contracted to buy gas from it.

Earlier, Lilienthal had announced that the commission will ask the FBI to check an article on atomic security in the magazine "Nation's Business." He said it was accurate, reckless and irresponsible. Among other things, the article said that the U. S. "should have" about 400 new model atomic bombs now.

A bill to raise the pay of most members of the Armed Services ran into some trouble in the Senate Armed Services Committee. Senator Byrd (D-Va) complained.

Randall Chase Is Elected Head Of Shippers Group

Randall Chase, president of the Chase Investment Co., was elected head of the Sanford Shippers Association at the group's annual meeting in Orlando, and succeeds E. D. Keene, Orlando, who had headed the organization since the death of J. J. Parrish, Titusville, a year and a half ago.

Mr. Chase today declared that he will serve the association to the best of his ability and described it as a "service organization that is a bulwark against bureaucracy and regimentation in the citrus industry."

The main objective of the group, said Mr. Chase, "is the preservation of free enterprise." Mr. Keene was elected president of the board, a position formerly held by Mr. Chase.

J. J. Parrish, Jr., Titusville, was elected first vice-president; Jules Brajin, Clearwater, second vice-president and L. F. Roper, Winter Garden, secretary-treasurer. Muri E. Pace was re-elected general manager and C. Roger Walls was retained as general counsel and Miss Gladys McLeod as assistant secretary-treasurer.

The following directors were elected: F. F. Ehlers, Weirsdale; J. E. Evans, Dade City; Charles C. Fosgate, Orlando; C. V. Griffin, Hovewy, James Heller, Winter Garden; J. V. D'Albora, Cocoa; O. L. Pascoe, Fort Pierce; H. A. Ward, Oviedo, and John Campbell and A. Parks Williams, Leesburg.

Running Track Is Constructed In Park

A 180 by 280 foot running track to be used in connection with the City's youth recreation program, has been completed at the east end of Ft. Mellon Park under the direction of Mr. Richard, Park superintendent.

Low and high hurdles are ready for use on the track. Nearby is a track for the running broad jump, high jump and shot put. Track meets are planned for later in the summer, said Mrs. F. M. Glasgow, recreation director, and will be sponsored by civic organizations.

At the play center, located in the park, are new swings and sandboxes. Nearby is the hobby house where crafts can be taught. These include sewing, painting of felt figures, finger painting, decorating turtles and toy models.

Members of the Sanford Recreation Department are located in the Tourist Center. Here rest room facilities will be available to children.

Attempts Made To Crack Deadlock In Coal Dispute

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., June 17 (AP)—Southern operators tried again today to crack the deadlock in their three-week-old soft coal contract talks with the United Mine Workers.

Linked at the UMW's refusal to show its cards, the operators implied that John L. Lewis' bargaining team is purposely stalling the conference.

Blocking a new agreement is the main objective of the group, said Mr. Chase, "is the preservation of free enterprise." Mr. Keene was elected president of the board, a position formerly held by Mr. Chase.

Aerial Maps Of County Received

Aerial photographs of Seminole County which were made on Nov. 25 by the Production and Marketing Administration were today received by Oris Mathieux, county officer of the administration.

The photographs, which are about 24 inches square include a composite map of the county and 101 sections. In order to more easily locate these sections in order to find fields and acreages of different farms and groves, Mr. Mathieux is marking the index numbers on a large printed map on the wall in the office of County Agent C. R. Dawson.

Two of the photographs, placed together, reveal most of the immediate Sanford area. Although taken at considerable elevation they reveal clearly such buildings as the Sanford State Farmers Market, buildings at the airport, and baseball diamonds, the fields and plowed portions of which are clearly defined. Each photograph map covers approximately three square miles.

Catholic Head Held Prisoner By Czech Reds

Archbishop Reported Under Arrest As Church-State Battle Reaches Climax

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, June 17 (AP)—Archbishop Josef Beran, head of Czechoslovakia's 9,000,000 Roman Catholics, was a virtual prisoner in his own palace today, as the Communist government's war on the church appeared nearing a climax.

A reliable informant described the Prague Archbishop's status as "house arrest." Two priests from Archbishop Beran's consistory have been arrested and taken away by police after a raid on the consistory section of the Archbishop's palace in which police tried to seize the church records.

Neither priests nor laymen could get in to see the Archbishop without undergoing a police identification.

The customary armed guard stood outside Archbishop Beran's palace. More significantly, the reception and telephone switchboard inside the palace gate were manned by secret police.

Two Associated Press correspondents who tried to see the Archbishop were told by personnel at the reception desk that "the Archbishop says no." At the same time a Czech in clerical garb was attempting to gain admission. The reception personnel demanded from him full identification papers and other data before they would consent to telephone the Archbishop.

There was no way of knowing whether they were actually phoning this close surveillance of his office tended to confirm reports that in the past two days even high diplomatic officials have been unable to gain entrance to the Archbishop.

It was known, however, that two days ago all the bishops of the country were gathered in the full conference with the Archbishop.

Archbishop Beran for some months has fought against a government campaign to take over the schools and abolish church papers. In recent weeks he has sent out a number of clerical letters breathing defiance of government decrees. The House Committee testimony filed in the searching cross-examination of Chambers by Lloyd Paul Stryker, Hiss' attorney, indicated the same.

Negroes Will Be Allowed To Attend Kentucky School

LEXINGTON, Ky., June 17 (AP)—Negroes will be permitted to attend the University of Kentucky. The decision was announced by U. S. President Dr. H. L. Donovan last night. The step is being taken, he said, to comply fully with a federal court mandate.

Dr. Donovan said the school had decided the federal order prevailed over the day law, which provides that whites and negroes cannot go to the same school in Kentucky.

Any application of the day law would put the university in contempt of federal court, Dr. Donovan said.

In some specific instances, he said, there might be a case where a negro student could be admitted to a school.

Worker Rebellion Slows Firms' Drive For Increased Production

NEW YORK, June 17 (AP)—Many companies face the delicate task right now of getting more output per man hour without risking worker rebellion. Some companies report success, mostly by detouring around the main trouble spot.

Trouble often arises when management, trying to strengthen the company's position in the present highly competitive market, seeks to change work standards, by order from the front office, with a view to reducing fixed labor costs per unit. Labor insists it should control, or have a hand in, the setting of such standards.

There you run into the conflict—as in the recent Ford Motor case—with management saying it must have more productivity and labor crying speed-up. John L. Lewis has his own twist: the mine workers are "stabilizing" coal production by going fishing this week.

Two opposite tendencies in productivity have been reported of late by American firms workers, noting the drop in the company's output, have been accused by management of slowing down to secure employment while longer other workers, hearing of layoffs in nearby plants, have increased their own output a little to demonstrate their personal worth.

But here are two examples of how to get more out of the disabled war veterans.

Loyalty To U.S. Is Affirmed By Judith Coplon

Government Rests Case Against Hiss; Typist Admits Misinterpreting Notes

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—Judith Coplon swore today that "I have always been loyal to the United States."

Appearing as her own star witness in defense against espionage charges, she was asked if she signed a loyalty pledge while working as a political analyst in the Justice Department.

She said that she did and added the avowal of loyalty.

Defense Attorney Archibald Palmer asked her if there was any other country that she wanted to go to.

"No, except on a vacation," she replied.

"Here is where you want to live and the end have and raise your children?"

The testimony was an extension of Miss Coplon's denial yesterday that she was a Communist or ever gave government secrets to Valentine A. Guldsher, the Russian with whom she was arrested in New York May 4.

Federal agents said they found secret counter-espionage material from Justice Department files in her purse.

And in New York the government rested its case against Alger Hiss, former State Department official accused of perjury to conceal evidence of espionage. The prosecution completed its presentation in 14 trial days.

The only witness called this morning was Benjamin H. Fitch, a stenographer who testified that he misinterpreted testimony which Whitaker Chambers made before the House Un-American Activities Committee Aug. 25, 1948. Chambers, a sometime Communist courier, was the key prosecution witness in the trial.

Fitch said he was the "surprise" witness with whom the prosecution had announced it would wind up its case. He was the 33rd person to testify for the government.

The House Committee testimony filed in the searching cross-examination of Chambers by Lloyd Paul Stryker, Hiss' attorney, indicated the same.

Nominations may be placed with Mr. Dawson. Only one name, J. T. McLean of Geneva has been registered to date, said Mr. Dawson this morning. Voting will take place at the county agents office at Lyman School, Longwood, and at the City Hall, Oviedo.

DAY CONVENTION JACKSONVILLE, June 17 (AP)—Disabled American war veterans

will meet here today in convention and to seek an increase in their benefits. Charles E. Foster of Washington, assistant national legislation officer, said "one of our prime objectives this year will be to obtain a 25 per cent across the board increase in disabled compensation and death pensions. We are going to speak strongly against the apparent attitude of Congress to effect economy in government at the expense of the disabled war veterans."

Surging Rivers Cause Damage In North Carolina

ASHEVILLE, N. C., June 17 (AP)—Rising rivers, already flooding at many points, caused more families to desert their husband homes today.

The rivers swollen by heavy rains this week, have wrought heavy highway damage throughout North Carolina, eastern Tennessee and northeast Georgia.

Crops and dwellings in lowlands have been washed out, causing scores of families to seek safety on higher ground.

Asheville was practically cut off today from the west as the mountain streams surged over highways and swept away bridges. One highway official said that more than 15 bridges in his area alone had been washed out.

Earth slides, resulting from the steady downpour, blocked roadways in numerous places.

The rainfall, reaching more than nine inches in 18 hours in northeast Georgia, flooded the rivers near Clayton, Ga. Twenty families were left homeless. Rabun County Sheriff Lamon Queen reported that a tourist camp was partly swept away at Lakemont. The surging waters also carried away bridges and railway tracks in that area.

E. K. Arrowood, 33, who lived high up in the mountains, had been cut off from the world by the flood.

Repairs Ordered On Schools Of County

Repair work to schools throughout the county was ordered yesterday and will cost between $40,000 and $50,000, said Supt. T. W. Lawton.

The action was taken at an adjourned meeting of the School Board after Claude Howard, maintenance supervisor, made a detailed report on the repairs that are needed.

The Board asked that the work go forward as rapidly as possible in order to be completed before the opening of the school term.

On recommendation of trustees, Mrs. Evelyn Johnson was appointed as a primary teacher at the Lake Monroe School. Resignation of Janie Baskin as teacher at the Oviedo colored school was accepted.

Increase in insurance on school buildings outside of Sanford was discussed by the Board.

What Do We Want?

Americans are funny. A year or so ago we were all howling and griping because prices were so high and things so scarce and here we were headed for inflation and what was going to become of us.

What do we want, anyhow? Economists use long words, commentators disagree. Let's get down to simple terms. We all know what we want if we stop to think it out.

First, the money we seem to get so easily in a war boom is not real money, reward for constructive labor. It's something we get for destruction. We make ammunition to destroy buildings and to kill people.

Even in an untouched country things are scarce. Until we can start making enough good things again, everything costs too much. People get to thinking war money is normal money. They want to keep on getting too much for making too little. It just doesn't work.

If we want a good world we have to make it. We have to build good houses, not shoddy ones. We must make good dresses and goods by the yard, not the kind poorly made and with too few threads to the inch.

Women bought any old thing at any high price after the war because they had to—they were out of everything. But the minute they and their houses had any goods that would do, they stopped buying that way.

The bumps of recession are those of adjustment after war. We wanted adjustment; we are getting it. If we go on doing as little as we can and getting all we can out of people no more able to afford it than we are, employment will slide and unreasonable fear will take hold.

But we need not have such a depression. We can all start now to do one ounce more than we think we are paid for. We can work well on the job and come home and do another constructive ounce at home.

What do we want? We want a good life. Why don't we go after it?

THE WORLD TODAY

By DEWITT MACHERIE

All America is watching with intense interest the advent of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, into national politics and not a few are wondering just what it means to a young man to follow in the footsteps of a famous father.

Years ago in England I put that rather searching question to my good friend, the late Sir Austen Chamberlain. He then was British foreign secretary and had written his name indelibly into history as a prime mover in, and a signatory of, the Locarno Treaty of Peace in 1925.

Sir Austen was son of the noted statesman Joseph ("Joe") Chamberlain. He also was brother of Neville who, as prime minister, later tried the unhappy experiment of appeasing Hitler—an experiment which your columnist witnessed at close range, having followed the Prime Minister to the conference at Berchtesgaden, Munich.

At the outset, of course, the father's position is of great help to the son. It provides the young man an entrée which he might not otherwise have. It gives him useful friends at a most trying period of his career. These things he gets because he is his father's son.

However, all that soon changes. His political associates unconsciously begin to measure him against the stature of his father. They look for far more from the young man than he should be expected to deliver with his lack of experience.

Thus faults which might be overlooked in another applicant are logged down against the son of the famous man.

In any event, there are plenty of American examples of some following famous fathers, both in political life and in business.

So far as concerns the political world there are many who will agree with Sir Austen Chamberlain's conclusion that in the long run it is his own merits, not his father's, that count.

Now comes J. D. R. Jr., to try his luck on that basis.

JAYCEE MEET

President Gordon Bradley awarded the certificate to Mr. Williams on behalf of the civic body.

"We appreciate everything you have done for the City of Sanford and for its people. You have worked hard and long to make our City a better place in which to live. You have diligently worked for the swimming pool, which is now in the foreseeable future, and you did much to assist in constructing the baseball diamonds for the George Barr Napier School and securing needed facilities and equipment for the New York Giants farm club training base at the Municipal Airport," President Bradley declared.

Mr. Bradley pointed out that the project plan for the construction of a new building for the office of the Chamber of Commerce seemed to be sound, and that the committee to represent the organization at a hearing called for Tuesday night should be instructed to assist in any way possible to speed the construction of the State Rep. J. Bradley Odham building.

There is sufficient need for the stated that he is not convinced "We should strive to get some of our tax payers and some of them are very tax payers."

BEAR MARKET?

By SID HERLONG

Though the President has indicated that Congress may be in Washington all summer, I have my doubts. Here is why I think we may possibly adjourn in July.

All of the necessary appropriations bills have either passed, or will be through very shortly. A number of the things remaining on the calendar for consideration are the more controversial portions of the President's program.

Because of the fact that many of them will cost so much money, many Members of Congress who may be inclined to favor certain phases of the program would like to take a few months "breath-er" to observe how our economy is going to change.

They feel that by postponing action on some of the more important bills, they can get a better idea of what the economy is doing without a tax increase. Those who want to raise taxes are mistaken. If they think they can put it all on the higher incomes, we have learned that even though such taxes are so imposed, they are actually paid by the man with the lower income. It is passed on to him by the producer in the form of higher cost of goods to the consumer. Yes, it is hidden, but it is there, none the less.

Another reason the Democrats elected a number of Congressmen last fall in districts they didn't expect to carry. They want these men to come back for the 82nd Congress, and so want them to be in their districts as much as possible this summer.

A third reason: On July 1, the House and Senate will move out of our present quarters, and will be located temporarily in the Ways and Means Committee Room and in the Old Supreme Court Room, respectively. Both the House and Senate Chambers are to undergo necessary repairs. The Members are not going to want to meet for very long in inadequate quarters where there is not even enough room for everyone to sit. I am inclined to believe that a lot less time will be consumed in speeches if there are no galleries present to hear them. I may be wrong, but I look for an earlier adjournment than the President indicated.

Hollywood

He has just turned 17 and he has the good looks of his famed father. He talks softly, but when he warms up to a subject, you can hear the sonorous Barrymore tones.

His only acting lessons have been alone before a mirror, but he is an assured young man and his hand gestures are often actor-like. He smokes but does not drink. He is still playing the field.

He attends a private school in Hollywood. He likes all sports including football, swimming, tennis and gymnastics. Like his father, he has no talent for art.

One of his favorite pastimes is watching surgical operations, which he can describe in vivid detail.

He is a solid movie fan. He used to ditch school and spend the day in Hollywood Boulevard theaters, walking out of one and into the next. His favorite actor now is Richard Widmark, next Vincent Price. He has seen "The Three Musketeers" 19 times.

He decided he wanted to be an actor a couple of years ago. I asked him why.

"I guess it is because you always want the things that are denied you," he answered. "My mother (Dolores Costello) always wanted to be a doctor or a lawyer. I decided I wanted to be an actor, she told me it's a filthy business."

"I think it's like any other business there are both good and bad about the publicity because people are famous here."

"If John Doe marries Mary Smith, it's nothing. But if Rita Hayworth marries Alvin Karp, it's a big thing."

Barrymore, Jr. overcame his mother's objections and signed a contract with Alan Lomax and George Templeton. He'll get $1,000 for the first picture, "Thunder in the Dust," a Western in which he, Robert Preston and Robert Sterling will play brothers. If he's a success, he gets $20,000 for the second film.

The lad doesn't remember his father and has seen him on the screen only once. He happened to see a short containing the Richard III Bolloquy which the older Barrymore did in an early sound movie.

John was made up with stringy hair and a hunchback and looked 60 if he was a day," John related. "I poked my friend in the stomach and said, 'Hey, that's my old man.' 'Go on,' he said, 'that's Boris Karloff.'"

John has purposely avoided his father's films, so he won't be accused of being an imitation. But he knows about his father's great voice, his vast knowledge of medicine, law, art, etc. Someone who had worked with the actor told John:

"You may be a greater actor than your father, but you'll never work as hard. He used to read every book he could find on the characters and read he played. He made huge sketches of his costumes and studied the role from every angle."

That, John admitted, gave him something to shoot for.

Mrs. Dan Wright Entertains With A Tea For Miss Springer At Loch Arbor Home

Entertaining in honor of Miss Maryanna Springer, whose marriage to Stanley Rocky will be an event of June 24, Mrs. Dan Wright was hostess at a tea given yesterday afternoon at her attractive home in Loch Arbor.

Meeting the guests at the door was Mrs. A. B. Peterson who showed them to the receiving line formed in the living room against a large picture window overlooking a lake. Composing the receiving line were the honor guest, Mr. Rocky's mother, Mrs. E. B. Rocky, Mrs. Wright and Mrs. John Meisch, Jr.

Miss Springer wore a black flowered chintz frock featuring a fitted bodice, full skirt and bustle back with pink chintz trimmings. Mrs. Rocky was gowned in a black sheer gown and the hostess wore a soft blue gown of pique and starched organza. A dress of gray print silk was worn by Mrs. Meisch.

Using an effective color scheme of yellow and white, calla lilies and greenery were placed in the entrance hall, and in the living room were yellow day lilies, Florida orchids and gardenias.

An artistic yellow and white arrangement of white gladiolus, pom pom chrysanthemums and Peruvian lilies with yellow satin accents was placed on the punch table in the dining room. Other arrangements in the dining room were of gardenias.

Assisting in entertaining and serving during the afternoon were Mrs. Miriam Russell, Mrs. John Schirani, Jr., Miss Jane Chapman, Mrs. Joanne Williams, Mrs. Gladys Wells and Miss Carol Skinner. About 110 guests called at the Wright home between the hours of 4:00 and 6:00 o'clock.

Don't overlook the vegetables to be added when you are making a stew; brown the meat first and cook until tender, then add the carrots, potato slices, celery, or other vegetables at the last.

In making a white sauce melt the fat in a saucepan, then remove from the heat before adding the flour. Now add cold milk gradually with the saucepan still off the heat, stirring as you do so. After all the milk has been added continue to stir well until there are no more lumps. A whisk is excellent to use for the stirring but if you do not have one use a wooden spoon. A half teaspoon of salt is usually plenty for two cups of the sauce.

Certain products tend to make refrigerators deserts, such as ice cream, or mixtures of sherbet—smoothies since they help to prevent the formation of large ice crystals. These are gelatin, corn syrup, evaporated or condensed milk, eggs and marshmallows.

Giants To Meet Dodgers Here Tonight And Play Host To Saints On Sunday Afternoon

Sanford Drops 3-1 Contest To G-Men; Schultz Will Face Leeburg Tonight

The Sanford Giants dropped a 3-1 contest to the Gainesville G-Men at the Municipal Park last night as Lethander Jack Deal of the Giants and George Fultz of the G's tangled in a heated mound duel.

Tonight the Giants meet the Leeburg Dodgers here in a single affair, and the two teams return to Leeburg tomorrow evening to complete the two-game series. Sunday afternoon the Giants play hosts to the St. Augustine Saints in an all-important game.

It is likely that Manager Hal Gruber will name Joe Schultz to hurl the tilt tonight, and will send Charlie Rose to the hill in Leeburg tomorrow evening. Right-hander Buddy Lake will probably get the nod for mound duties with the Saints here Sunday afternoon.

The G's opened hostilities last night in the opening stanza as Collins walked, went to second on a wild pitch and tallied on a single to left by Dave Burke.

Sanford came back in the bottom of the first inning to score their only run of the contest. With two men away, Tom Cataldo singled, moved to third on a hit by Jim Jones and crossed the plate on an error by Fultz.

Don Allen tripled and Al Pirle doubled Allen home in the third to provide the winning margin for the invaders. Gainesville added a third run as a margin of safety in the fifth on consecutive singles by Burke and Pirle and an error by McManus.

Meanwhile, the Daytona Beach Islets blanked the St. Augustine Saints behind the four hit pitching performance of Wally Gaddis and remained in a tie with the Gainesville aggregation for the top spot in the Florida State League standings.

The Leeburg Dodgers crushed the Orlando Senators 3 to 2 in Leeburg in an 11 inning affair and the DeLand Red Hots were slaughtered by the Palatka Assassins in an 11 to 1 encounter.
