Taxpayers Storm Tuesday Equalization Board Meet

Public Hears Bond Issue Explained

Questions were answered and the School Bond Election explained in a 90-minute public meeting and radio broadcast last night at the Sanford Civic Center.

Sponsored by the Sanford-Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce and the School Bond Election committee headed by Jaycee M. L. Raborn Jr., the public meeting was held for the purpose of better informing the public on the issue to be voted on in the Sept. 9 Primary.

Speakers during the public meeting were R. T. Milwee, Seminole County Superintendent of Public Instruction, and Walter Teague, Administrative Assistant.

On the platform to answer questions and direct the meeting were Tam McDonald, president of the Sanford-Seminole County Jaycees and M. L. Raborn Jr., chairman of the committee sponsoring the event.

Also on hand to answer questions along with Milwee and Teague were Senator Douglas Stenstrom and Architect John Burton IV.

Questions varied from "where will the schools be built?" to "professional fees."

Leading off the public meeting, Milwee explained, in detail, the need and purpose of the School Bond Election.

Milwee emphasized the commendation of the Sanford Junior High School building and read the conclusion to an engineer's report which led to the decision to abandon the school building.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction told the audience "I am asking you in the interest of a progressive county and a progressive school system, to talk to others and tell them of the necessity, if there was any other way to get money for our school construction we would be happy to do so."

Pointing out the need for school buildings today, Milwee said "We had 1043 more school children this year than the year before and we expect to have 12,500 children in school by 1960 or 1961."

On one question from the audience asking that each person on the rostrum state his opinion on reassessment, it was pointed out that the two issues should not be confused. However, the unanimous answer from those speaking to the audience was in favor of a reassessment program.

Hostages Unhurt As Two Texas Gunmen Try Gunfire Escape

FORT MYERS (UPI)—Two Texas jail escapees were behind bars today after grabbing two hostages and trying to shoot their way out of a police trap.

Officers winged one of the heavily-armed fugitives and they both threw their pistols down and gave up. The hostages, a young Fort Myers man and his pregnant wife, were unhurt in the fusillade of bullets.

The convicts were identified as George Washington Whitel, 31, Dallas, and Alton Franks, 20, Houston. They escaped last Wednesday from the Texas State Prison at Huntsville where they were serving long terms.

Police traced the fugitives to the home of Mr. and Mrs. David McCormick Tuesday and surrounded the building. But when they tried to get Whitel and Franks to surrender, the two men emerged from the house holding the McCormicks as a shield.

Mrs. McCormick, 24, shouted hysterically to the officers. "Please God, don't shoot. They'll kill us if you do."

Police offered to let the convicts go through the cordon if they would not harm the hostages. But after they stepped into the McCormick's car, one of the fugitives opened fire on the police.

The officers immediately returned the fire, riddling the car with accurate shotgun and pistol blasts. One of the bullets hit Whitel in the arm and the two convicts meekly gave up.

Authorities said they would charge the two men with kidnapping.

Whitel was serving life in the Texas penitentiary as an habitual criminal. Franks was serving 15 years for burglary.

Five Boys Attend Annual Wildlife Camp This Week

Five Seminole County boys are spending this week at the 23rd Annual Wildlife Camp at 4-H Camp McQuarrie.

Purpose of the camp is to train conservation minded boys who will be able to serve as leaders in conservation projects in their own communities.

The boys were accompanied on the camp by Cecil T. Tucker, Seminole County Agricultural Agent.

U.S. Forces Tighten Lebanon Security Ring

By Larry Collins
United Press International
BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—U. S. forces in Lebanon tightened security measures today on the eve of scheduled parliamentary elections to be held.

The cabinet of Premier Sami Solh threatened Tuesday to boycott the elections until the Lebanese army cleans the rebels out of Beirut. Opposition forces demanded that President Camille Chamoun and U. S. forces pull out before any election.

Shortly before 9 a. m. two Marine helicopters made several sweeps over the port area occupied by Marine forces, obviously taking a close look at the rooftops stretching from the port to the rebel-held Basta area a few blocks away.

A bodyguard of armed airborne troops and Lebanese gendarmes were assigned to escort Maj. Gen. Paul Adams, American ground forces commander, on his rounds. A jeep with a 50-caliber machine-gun rides "shotgun" on the general's car.

Solh summoned his cabinet into session to decide whether to go through with the threatened boycott of the presidential elections.

The boycott could torpedo the presidential elections scheduled in parliament Thursday. It also would rule out hopes for an early end to the crisis and withdrawal of U. S. forces.

The cabinet, angered by a rebel assassination attempt on Solh Tuesday, decided by unanimous vote to boycott—and thus, in effect, to prevent—the elections until the rebel-held areas of Beirut were cleared out.

Holland-Pepper Battle Their Way Around The State In Hot Campaign

By United Press International
San. Spessard L. Holland returned to Miami today while his Democratic primary opponent Claude D. Pepper stumped cities along the mid-east coast as one of Florida's hottest political fights in years took on new fuel.

Holland charged Tuesday that if Pepper were returned to Congress, he would guide the country down a "one-way street, turning over our money to the UN for Russia to administer while the Soviet continues to strengthen its satellites independently of the United States."

Pepper, meantime, said Holland has "no record of performance in the past and he has no program for Florida in the future."

"My opponent," Pepper added, "is coming to the day of reckoning with the people of Florida and he is like a drowning man reaching for a straw, clutching for any smear or big lie that will distract attention from his do-nothing policy of Republicanism."

Holland flew to Miami Tuesday night after his second day of politicking in the Jacksonville area.

The Barrow session was scheduled to officially open his Trade Bureau headquarters this afternoon and be in hand with Mrs. Holland for the inaugural luncheon of the women's division of the Dade Holland Campaign Committee at noon.

Pepper began his handshaking visits today in Sanford, planning stops at Melbourne, Vero Beach and Stuart. He was slated to deliver an address tonight in Fort Pierce.

Holland hammered away at Pepper's foreign aid plans Tuesday. His own view, Holland said, was that the proper course was to make nations the U. S. is trying to help independent, instead of dependent on this country.

"American taxpayers cannot be expected to bear this heavy burden on a permanent basis," he said.

Pepper criticized Holland for allegedly supporting Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson's non-price support program for farmers.

Pepper commented: "Some one said some time ago that my opponent's halo has slipped. It has now fallen into the gutter as his desperate campaign tactics have been revealed."

Florida Slated To Gain Up To Three Seats In 1960

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Census Bureau forecast today that as a result of the 1960 census 16 states will lose and nine states will gain seats in the House of Representatives.

The size of the House remains constant under the constitution—435 members—but shifts in the population as recorded in the census every ten years, require the reapportionment of the seats.

The prospective 1960 reapportionment will be greater than in 1950 when nine states lost seats and six gained.

The 1960 population, according to current estimates, will be about 180 million people, compared with the 1950 figure of 151,132,000.

Under the projected reshuffle for 1960, the largest gain in House seats will go to rapidly growing California. The state will pick up seven new House seats, the same gain recorded for the state after 1950. The heaviest losers in 1960 were expected to be New York and Pennsylvania with each dropping three seats. Arkansas and Massachusetts were expected to lose two seats each.

Ten states would lose a single seat according to the prediction. They are Maine, Illinois, Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas, West Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi.

Other states gaining in representation in 1960, according to the census bureau, would be Florida, three seats; Michigan, and Texas, two seats each.

Arizona, Indiana, Maryland, Ohio and Oregon would gain a single representative in addition to one seat for Alaska as the new 49th state.

Medicine Chests A Bitter Pill To The Red Chinese

HONG KONG—(UPI)—Medicine chests—99,000 of them and all empty—have given Hkankhai pharmacists quite a headache.

The wooden cabinets were ordered by the Chinese Communist government early in 1956 as its contribution to the health of the peasants.

Each cabinet was to contain an assortment of medicines and first-aid supplies for every conceivable emergency.

The cabinets, according to an official report, were to sell for seven dollars apiece.

But in Red China, peasants cannot afford to spend that much money, even to guard against sunstroke and bee stings. So nobody bought.

The pharmacists quickly cut the price by two-thirds and offered the cabinets without any medical supplies in them. Vegetable vendors found them useful as coin boxes; actors purchased them for storing cosmetics; factory workers for tools; housewives for sewing implements.

But fewer than 20,000 of the chests were thus disposed of. And the pharmacists were stuck with the rest—at a potential loss of $88,000.

However, they can be thankful of one thing. Peiping originally wanted to sell one million of the medicine chests. The order was cancelled before 100 thousand were built.

Mother Of Dead Marine Holds No Resentment

FAIRFIELD, Conn.—(UPI)—Mrs. Charles T. Sanborn, mother of a Connecticut Marine who was killed when he failed to answer sentry's challenge in Lebanon, said Wednesday she holds no resentment toward the Leatherneck who shot him.

Mrs. Sanborn, a Christian Scientist, said the Marine who shot her son, Scott, 18, "must feel very bad. We are praying for him. Our love goes out to him."

She said her son's life was not given in vain and she still believes President Eisenhower did the right thing by sending Marines into revolt-torn Lebanon.

"Through my son's death," Mrs. Sanborn told United Press International, "I feel he was able to bring a better understanding of peace in the world. This is all we want."

"Only good come from God. I still feel this even though tragedy has struck me."

Sanborn was shot when he reentered his own lines after laying a trip flare wire around his company perimeter. A sentry challenged him three times but he did not answer.

Citizens Have Pointed Out Many Inequalities In County Taxes

The first real indication of an aroused Seminoles County over the present inequalities in the tax rolls came yesterday when more than 100 people turned out to attend the meeting of the Seminole County Equalization Board.

Citizens of Seminole County, from every section of the community, turned out to let county commissioners and the Tax Assessor know just how they felt about the condition of the tax structure today.

In many turned out, in fact, that the meeting had to be continued on late another day in order to hear the complaints from some owners and businessmen of the county.

We have been writing for years about the situation—we have been pointing out that inequalities exist and that one neighbor is paying more tax than another on comparable property—and in many instances the neighbor hasn't been paying and isn't paying any tax at all.

New the picture has become vivid and real. Neighbors have stood up in open meeting and stated that "there are inequalities and we want them put to stop."

Certainly, it was expressed, and it is the wish of every good citizen that he or she pay a just and fair share of the cost of county government. So real was this brought out in statements by one citizen after another: "I am delighted to pay tax—will pay double this amount—and want to pay more for roads, and schools, and services—but I don't want to pay more than my share."

Moreover, there's going to be another opportunity for citizens and businessmen to express their disgust and their wishes regarding the inequalities that are existing in the Seminole County tax structure today.

Next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the Equalization Board will continue the meeting started yesterday so that more and more citizens can show, by pointing to neighbors' and friends' property, the inequalities that exist. Not only that, the citizen will have an opportunity to protest that inequality so that something can be done about the situation.

What avenue will be taken to alleviate the situation is still a secret. No one knows just exactly what can be done until the people express themselves thoroughly and completely.

The Equalization Board can do nothing but either raise or lower an individual's tax. But the opportunity exists now for as many people as possible to express an opinion.

First place, we believe that every citizen should be given an opportunity to know what his or her assessment might be. So, citizens between now and next Monday afternoon should go to the Seminole County Tax Assessor's Office and ask to be shown what the assessment on property might be. Every citizen has inalienable rights that cannot be denied and surely this is one of them, and one they should take advantage of.

We have seen, from this first session of the Equalization Board, that not only homes are unfairly assessed in many instances but business property too is in that same category. Several businessmen made it known that some equalization should be forthcoming and made protests accordingly.

If the people of Seminole County would just turn out en masse to complain about the inequalities that are existing today, the county government could in due time have all of the funds it needs for operation.

If property is equally and fairly assessed with all homeowners paying their fair and just part for the operation of schools, the building of roads, for our good law enforcement, agency, for the maintenance of roads and highways, for a health center and other services, the county would have plenty in its till for all of the duties of government.

Surely it is a sad day when the duly elected heads of our government sit together to smooth out a budget for another forthcoming year to find that there's not enough money to take care of the needs of the county. And that's exactly what happened yesterday. The commissioners actually had to stop—called a halt to their studies and planning—for there wasn't enough to go around and some wanted more than others.

There's a brilliant future ahead for Seminole County—all of us see that. There will be commercial establishments, there will be professional people, there will be industry—all based, of course, on the one premise that there will be an equalization of taxes and property values will be fairly and justly assessed.

No one should expect favors from our county—not in the way of taxes anyway. Those days are gone and should be gone forever. If landowners are fortunate enough to own property that is valuable, then they should pay their way just like the average Mr. Citizen has to do.

We can't say too much about the Mr. Bigs and the Mr. Goldfines, or any one of the other giant grabbers until we get our own backyard cleaned up. We start right here at home and work our way up. That's the real democratic way to do things for if there are no colwebby corners existing in our own closets in county affairs we can afford to speak up and demand a cleaner, better government just one step higher.

It is a good thing to see the expression of people the way that it was spoken yesterday at the meeting of the Equalization Board. Some people may not have been heard at that specific meeting—but they will be heard next Monday afternoon when citizens are expected to turn out to protest.

Now we're moving ahead. Now we're cleaning up our own backyard!

Senatorial Race Bill Estimated at $100,000

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Sen. Spessard L. Holland and Claude Pepper keep spending at their present rate in the heated senatorial race, they will wind up with a bill of more than $100,000 before the Sept. 9 Democratic primaries.

In the first three weeks of campaigning, the two veteran politicians spent $38,000. They still have seven weeks to go.

And they are likely to put up even bigger outlays as the campaign nears the finish wire.

Pepper is well in front in total spending and contributions. Up to Monday when he made his weekly financial report to the secretary of state, he had received $28,512 and spent $20,611.

Holland, who was late to start campaigning, spent $12,446 in the first three weeks, $347 more than he received from supporters. The outlay is expected to take a big jump this week when he makes a major television-radio campaign.

The candidates have spent more than half of their money so far.

on advertising, including billboards, bumper stickers, buttons, and newspaper, radio and television appeals.

The Idea Is: Don't Pick Up Hitchhikers

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mrs. Lena Ernst, 68, does not ordinarily believe in picking up hitchhikers.

Recently, while driving along a Brooklyn parkway, she saw what she felt would have to be an exception to her hard-fast rule—a man in a wheelchair thumbing a ride.

She stopped the car and asked the cripple his destination. He said he was on route "to see a man about a job." At Mrs. Ernst's request, a man nearby helped the cripple into the back of the car.

Moments later, Mrs. Ernst felt a gun in her back. The paraplegic demanded her money.

But Mrs. Ernst, stopped for a red light, saw a police cruiser and cried for help. Two officers, guns drawn, rushed over. The cripple meekly surrendered. His gun was a key.

Science Today

Science Today By Dolores Smith UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Seeking nature secrets which could give people longer lives, four scientists worked directly with a key part, and so others. They were working with 64 main heart arteries which had been removed from as many bodies.

The first question to be answered was which arteries among the 64 were the most extensively "hardened," since "hardened arteries" are one of the chief reasons why people don't live longer than they do. To get that answer was largely a matter of sorting arteries.

But comparing the most hardened with the least hardened arteries gave no clues to why one set should be more "hardened" than the other set. This second question was the payoff one and the scientists, of course, would have liked for the arteries themselves to provide the answer.

Diet Differ Not getting it there, they did the next best thing. They checked comparatively on where the arteries had come from. The most "hardened" had come from the bodies of persons who had lived in New Orleans. The least hardened ones belonged to Guatemalan Indians.

Now, there's a riddle for you, or is it? The scientists didn't think so. The New Orleans arteries, in common with most American arteries, had a relatively high fat diet with an approximate 40 per cent fat content. Guatemalan Indians have comparatively little fat in their diet.

The scientists felt this added another item in the circumstantial case that relatively high fat diets keep the cholesterol and other fat levels of the blood high, which "hardens" arteries, and in the end shortens lives. This case is accepted as proved by some scientists but still is regarded with suspicion by others.

Clue Case The detached arteries investigation was a unique one in the effort of science to find the real reasons for "hardened arteries," whatever they are, and so get new knowledge with which to prolong life. They were detached from the bodies of persons who had died in general hospitals in New Orleans, Guatemala City, and San Jose, Costa Rica, at all ages from one to over 80.

Obviously there are more differences between New Orleans whites and Guatemalan Indians than just the states of arteries and the kinds of diet. Among them are distinct racial differences, and racial ancestry has something to do with the staying elasticity of arteries.

But the Costa Rican arteries seemed to clinch the case against a high fat diet. They came from whites with much the same European racial ancestry as the New Orleans whites, and similar diets. These Costa Rican arteries were less "hardened" than the New Orleans arteries, but much more "hardened" than the Indian arteries.

In All Groups Interestingly, arteries from children under 10 showed some degree of "hardening" in all three groups. Arteries from persons under 30 when they died had "hardened" at the same rate in all three. But after 30 the New Orleans arteries had "hardened" at a staggering rate compared to those of the other two groups.

The investigation was that of Drs. Carlos Tejada, Ira Grogg, Jack P. Strong, and Henry C. McGill Jr., of the Institute of Nutrition of Central America and Panama, Harvard School of Public Health and Louisiana State University Medical School. They reported their finds to the American Heart Association.

Foreign News Commentary By CHARLES H. BOGANN UPI Foreign News Analyst

The future of the Middle East's Arab League is likely to be decided in London this week. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is in London to confer with the four active members of the league—Turkey, Iran, Pakistan and Great Britain.

Iraq, the fifth member, is not expected to attend. The revolution in that country, the only Arab member, apparently makes it certain that it will withdraw from the pact.

The loss of Iraq is a severe blow to the members of the alliance, and to the United States which sponsored it.

But Turkey, Iran and Pakistan have announced they intend not only to maintain the alliance but to strengthen it.

To this end, Turkey and Pakistan urgently want the United States to become a full member.

Washington (UPI)—The American Red Cross said today that because of a communications emergency only the most pressing messages from families can be cabled to U.S. troops in Lebanon.

Because of fulltime military need of available circuits the Red Cross said that for the time being it will be able to transmit by cable or radio "only notifications of deaths in servicemen's immediate families, very serious illnesses, or other critical emergencies at home."

Other communications, such as inquiries about the health and welfare of servicemen, will be handled by other means.

The Red Cross urged families to write to servicemen in the Middle East of their addresses: Army and Air Forces Through the latest Army Post Office address provided by the serviceman. Marine Corps: Through Marine Corps stations at Camp Lejeune, Cherry Point, N.C., or Fleet Marine Force, West Post Office, New York, whichever is the latest address supplied by the Marines.

Navy: Through Fleet Post Office, New York, giving name, rating, service number, and ship to which assigned.

Letters To The Editor Editor Sanford Herald Sanford, Fla.

Dear Sir, The Seminole County Ministerial Association wishes to express to you and to the merchants concerned our congratulations on the recent series of advertisements which encouraged the religious life and Bible reading.

We feel that businessmen of this type are to be commended publicly, and we take this means to do this. We also appreciate the cooperation you as editor have shown in this matter. It is our hope that more of this type of advertising will be used.

As religious leaders in the community we know full well the power of daily influence which stems from the pages of a newspaper, and we are heartened when businessmen and editors join in this type of constructive effort.

Sincerely yours, The Seminole County Ministerial Association The Rev. John W. Thomas, Secretary

headquarters have been taken in that capital. It can hardly be called Baghdad Pact any longer, ever, and its headquarters probably will be shifted to Ankara, Turkey.

But the secret documents of the pact—on military strategy and tactics and on Communist subversion—will not be shifted. The Iraq rebels seized them. The best that can be hoped is that they will not go eventually to Russia.

The Iraq revolt was a great victory not only for Nasser but for Russia.

Reid Levine (UPI) The revolt itself effectively removed one member from the pact.

The Soviet government at once started to work on weakening it further. Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi of Iran was invited to visit Russia, in obvious hope that Iran's part in the alliance might be weakened.

The Kremlin knew it could not seduce Turkey. So it put a big army adjacent to the Turkish frontier and started alleging that Turkey intended to attack Iraq.

No specific plans have been disclosed for offsetting Iraq's loss to the pact. It seems possible Dulles may make some dramatic proposal. In any event, Allied NATO policy must be radically altered.

Friends Surprise Nancy Thomas With Party Monday

Miss Nancy Thomas returned home Monday evening at 7:30 to be greeted with a surprise going away party. It seems that Miss Gail Raulerson and Miss Agnes Stanfield put their heads together, planned the party, and decided it would be twice as much fun if it were a complete surprise to the honoree, who is leaving soon with her family to spend the month of August in Naples, Fla.

The guests arrived shortly after 7 p.m. and after the appropriate cries of "Surprise, surprise!" the party settled down and everyone played several games among which was Bingo.

After a supper of grilled hot dogs, potato chips, and cold drinks the guests enjoyed an evening of dancing and parlor games.

Those present to surprise Nancy included: Miss Abigail Boyd, Miss Margaret Jones, Miss Gail Raulerson, Miss Agnes Stanfield, Tommy Bower, Beau Jeffrey, John Miller, John Ott, and Glenn Utt.

New Fashions Aim To Please Males

By Gay Pauley UPI Women's Editor

PARIS (UPI)—Men will have something to look forward to and at the same time and winter, with girls looking more like girls.

Here is how Paris says we will shape up—so far, that is. We will have the rest of the week and Dior to go.

Waists—They're back, but higher than nature puts them. No sign of the unfluffed gunny-sack of last year.

Hips—Thank heavens, not much emphasis; no bow-decorated or hobbled derrieres, which some of the chemise variations of last year produced.

Legs—Well, all I can say is, top designers chop away the material, better his to the heart after watching some of France's make-over salon if your legs aren't comparable to Betty Grable. Gams are extra fair game for the girl-watcher, with skirts as high as 20 inches from the floor.

Silhouettes—Still narrow, but easy fitting. Fabric seems to glide loosely over the body in daytime clothes, rather than hugging it. For evening, full skirts dominate, although some designers like the sleek, long formal dinner dress. Coats are bulky, and many have collars more the style of a cape.

Hair—The "ma, you caught me necking" look; mussy and fluffy at the front and sides. Some of the models looked as if they had used an egg-beater instead of a comb. But the hair is smooth at the back, usually tucked up neatly, french-twist fashion.

Boat, Ski Club Plans Shrimp Boil

The Sanford Boat and Ski Club enjoys an unscheduled cruise to Silver Glen Springs Sunday, July 27. Although this was not a regular cruise, six boats took part in it.

Events of the day included swimming in the icy spring water, fishing, skiing, and picnicking. Joe Nickolas, cruise master, reports that those taking part in the trip had a most enjoyable time.

The club's next scheduled event is a "shrimp boil" at New Smyrna Beach on July 30. It was announced that the regular moonlight cruise which the club usually takes is being substituted by this "boil."

All members interested in attending are asked to call FA 2-9707 for additional information.

MISS TO NEW POST — Miss Bertha Adkins is shown in Washington after she was nominated by President Eisenhower to be Under Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. Miss Adkins, who lives in Salisbury, Md., is now assistant chairman of the Republican National Committee. She succeeds John A. Parkins, who resigned March 1.

These are some of the styles facing us on the basis of the first day of fall and winter fashion previews, by members of the Chamber Syndicale de la Couture Parisienne—a high-falutin' term for a tightly-organized group of Paris fashion designers.

Personals

Mrs. Meriel Osborne's mother, Mrs. Annie Oggen, and her sister-in-law Mrs. C. W. Oggen, both from Corpus Christi, Texas, left today after a two weeks visit in Sanford.

Mrs. Sidney Ives will resume her hours for the family counseling service on August 5. Call FA 2-2001 for appointments. Mrs. Ives has just recently returned from a month-long workshop on family counseling at High Point, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Cushing are enjoying a vacation at the Singer Beach Villas in Riviera Beach. The plan to return to Sanford Sunday.

Cassube-Krider Final Plans For August 2 Wedding Told

Salt To Beat The Summer Heat

Frosty rings and spots which appear on clothing worn during hot, humid weather are a safety reminder to homemakers with active families.

The white residue is body salt drawn out of the system by prolonged and excessive perspiration. Most homemakers know that this lost salt needs to be replaced as a safeguard against summer weariness, loss of energy and the more serious consequences of heat cramps and prostration.

For many years, industries which employ workers in heavy physical exertion in hot environments have provided salt tablets at water fountains, and some even add small amounts of salt to the drinking water as a certain means of warding off heat prostration.

For the average person, however, a little more salt at meal time is usually sufficient to offset drains on the salt reserve caused by continued perspiration.

The homemaker can fortify all the members of her family against salt depletion by using a little more salt in the preparation of food, and by plentiful servings of garden vegetables such as radishes, fresh tomatoes, celery and corn which require salt to bring out their full flavor. Salty nibbles served along with cool summer drinks also help an active person maintain his salt reserve at an adequate level.

The Longwood Little League Officially Closes Its Season

LONGWOOD — Longwood Little League officially closed the book on the 1958 season Saturday afternoon.

The Little League, first string team and farm team, with families and friends, enjoyed a baked ham dinner in the Longwood Park at this final get-together. Trophies were awarded, gifts presented, etc.

Three trophies engraved with date, name of recipient and the achievement were presented at this closing dinner.

Freddy Grant, pitcher and utility player, was awarded the trophy for most valuable player on the team.

David Grantham, batting average of .427, won the trophy for the highest batting average.

Johnny Hopkins won the coveted Sportsmanship trophy. Officials of the Little League and members of the teams determine the trophy winners.

Four 12 year old boys who are now past Little League age, received baseballs. These boys are: Bobby Elgin, Bobby Grantham, Jack Blanton and Donnie Carter. Jim Hopkins, manager of the Little League, saw his team win the Championship Trophy when they won the Seminole-Orange County Little League championship. Playing 24 games in the loop, Longwood won 19, lost 6, one of these by forfeit.

Hixon B. Eldridge served as President of the Longwood Little League. Loren Hopkins was Secretary and J. R. Grant, Treasurer.

All 12 year olds receive honor certificates, which graduate them from Little League. Some will continue baseball playing in the Babe Ruth Leagues. Some will play at school or on vacant lots in the neighborhood. Whatever the future holds for these boys, one thing they all agree on: Playing on the Little League Team was real fun.

FSL President Says Spirited Baseball Now Being Played

Jacksonville, July 30. Baseball as spirited and spine-tingling as that seen in many major league parks is now being presented nightly in the Class D Florida State League.

That was the unqualified determination of league president Julian Jackson as he returned to his office after a week-long visit to his circuit's parks.

Pointing out that less than a dozen of the nearly 125 players on the rosters of the league's seven clubs are owned by local club sponsors and that all the rest are owned by major league clubs, Jackson insisted that only the uniform and the playing fields made up the difference.

"In game after game," he said, "I saw plays that would earn tremendous applause in Yankee Stadium. I saw pitching as gutsy and headle-threatening as in many world series games. I saw 'clutch' hitting that lifted me right out of the seat. And what I saw was satisfying to the fans who were watching with me for they were watching baseball at its best, right down at the grass roots where the youngsters are hustling for higher assignments."

His umpires also came in for a measure of praise when Jackson said: "I could quickly see the truth of what Hal Weafer, umpire supervisor for the southeastern states, told me Tuesday—the caliber of our umpiring is equal to that of most Class A Leagues, and better than any one or two of those."

Jackson was high in his complimentary remarks about the fans who have supported their home clubs to date, declaring them as the "best proof that this great game will continue to attract real sports-loving people everywhere."

"I am satisfied," he concluded, "that the Florida State League which has produced such great stars as Stan Musial, Early Wynn, Al Lopez, Sid Hudson, Gus Bell, Russ Nixon, Rocky Colavito, and many others, has a fine crop of major leaguers this year. I urge fans everywhere to visit our parks in larger numbers. Our season ends Aug. 25 which means only a few more games in each city."

Jackson was in agreement with Daytona Beach Manager Ray Wilson that the ranking rookie prospects definitely slated for the ma-

American Men Won Soviet Track Match

MOSCOW (UPI) — East is east and west is west, especially when it comes to figuring out who won the dual track and field meet between the U. S. and Russia.

In the aftermath of the historic two-day athletic competition everybody was officially very happy.

The Americans were happy because they won the men's meet against a strong Soviet squad by 136 points to 109.

The American women were happy because they won four out of ten events against the "invincible" Russian ladies and only lost by 44 points to 88 although they feared they might be swamped.

Reds Are Happy

The Russians were very happy indeed because by adding up men's and women's scores they found they had beaten the U. S. 172 points to 170.

Not even this quaint claim by the Russians, who previously had promised the American team in writing that it would regard the competition as two separate meets, could erase the smiles all around.

"Let them claim it if they want to," said U. S. Coach George Eastman.

"What's the difference? We're not going to make an issue of it," said Dan Ferris, honorary secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union.

A few America eyebrows shot up when the electric scoreboard in the efficiently-run 100,000-seat stadium began to lump men's and women's scores.

But the Russians have gone out of their way to be helpful, friendly and hospitable and officials of the American team decided to let them "have their fun."

Knows Who Won

"We know who won," smiled Eastman.

Gavril Korobkov, the Russian coach, evaded a direct reply to a question of the scoring dispute.

"It would be better for American development for the next Olympics," he retorted, "to adopt joint scoring as we do to encourage their women."

The two countries clash in a return match in Philadelphia in July, 1959.

The incomparable Rafer Johnson set a new decathlon mark of 8,302 points—breaking the old record of 8,014 in the ninth event.

If the Russians have any regrets at all it is that Rafer is a California and not a Russian.

Whatever Happened To KAYO LAM

United Press International

Kayo Lam, a mighty mile at 155 pounds, was a great halfback at the University of Colorado from 1933 to 1935. He was a true triple-threat and partly through his exploits Colorado began to rise toward its current membership in the Big Seven Conference. In 1935, Kayo set a new national rushing record of 1,043 yards in 145 carries.

Whatever happened to Kayo Lam? He still is at the University of Colorado which he has served since his graduation as assistant football coach, head wrestling coach, assistant dean of men and now athletic business manager.

Over 200,000 Drug Prescriptions Are Filled in 7 Years

Faust's Drug Store has filled its 200,000th prescription. Earl Faust, owner and operator of the local drug store at 221 East First St., said that since 1931 they have filled 200,000 prescriptions. "We are certainly happy to be in Sanford," Faust said on the occasion of filling the prescription for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boardman. Our drug store has been located here since 1931 and the day by day growth of customers has been phenomenal, Faust said. "People here are just more friendly than those you find anywhere else—it's just one of the traits of Sanford and Seminola County—and that is what makes it so pleasant to be here and to do business with neighbors and friends," Faust said. Seven years, in one way, is a long period of time, Earl Faust said, "but for those of us at Faust's Drug Store, our associations have been so pleasant and the friendships so long-lasting that the time during which we have filled more than 200,000 prescriptions has been notably short." He said "We are proud of the confidence so many have had in us and we sincerely hope that our careful compounding will merit the continued confidence of all of our Sanford and Seminola County friends."

Taxpayers

(Continued From Page 1) thing is done about equalization. I think that the tax structure in Seminola County is horrible." It was then that the line of protests began. There was Robert H. Stine, Bert Hollingsworth, Lecl. Richard Andrus, Art Harris, Sidney Chase, Ed Hunt, Duval Hunter and W. G. Carpenter when the meeting was recessed until Monday at 2 o'clock to hear additional protests. Art Harris, who had earlier protested his tax, asked Mrs. Walker the number of employees who check assessments. Mrs. Walker said that she has two. "I don't think you can do it with two people, or four. It's going to take a team. I'm tired of paying for others," he said. When reminded that there had been a hearing on equalization and the public had been notified as to what was being done, Harris said "That hearing has been over two years ago and there hasn't been a cock-eyed thing done in that time." Following a series of sharp questions and answers Mrs. Walker stated "That all I have to say." Earlier in the meeting, six landowners of the Oviedo area protested tax on mucklands each of their own. In the group of tax protestors was the husband of the Tax Assessor.

Poisoned Spitballs Face Peru's Teachers

By Denny Davis
United Press International
LIMA, Peru (UPI) — From neat, new housing projects in Lima to thatched huts in the steaming Amazon jungle, some 100,000 adult Peruvians are now busy learning how to read and write.

More than half of the country's 10 million inhabitants can do neither, and war has been declared against illiteracy.

The 100,000 new students comprise only about three per cent of the nation's illiterates. But their schooling represents a spectacular victory over awesome obstacles: language difficulties, rugged terrain, variable climate, and even hostile savages.

President Manuel Prado opened the campaign against illiteracy a year and a half ago. He began a program to be carried out over a period of several years.

It was fairly easy to set up schools along the Pacific coast. The "students" there at least speak Spanish and are accustomed to civilized life.

But in the Andes mountains the task is a challenge. The Indians there still speak Quechua, the language of the old Inca Empire. Many chew the coca leaf, a narcotic. Poverty is commonplace.

The jungles of eastern Peru, however, provide the supreme test for teachers brave and dedicated enough to meet it. "Pupils" there are stone-aged Indians who speak a wide variety of tribal tongues.

Murder is not unusual among some tribes and witch doctors are held in reverence. Instead of spitballs a jungle teacher may have to dodge poison darts.

Teams of educators first penetrated the jungle, experimented with teaching processes in local languages and studied the results.

From these a standard, simple easy teaching system is being devised.

Dr. Luis A. Lopez, head of the program, said more than 8,700 teachers are working in 6,416 sections of the country.

YOUNG CHURCH INTO A BARN—The Primary Department of the First Presbyterian Church, Montgomery, Ala., makes a luxurious home for these cows. They sought shelter there from heavy downtown traffic after escaping from a cattle truck. Minor damage to the room was reported after 18 men took two hours to oust the cows. Pastor Mered Peterson said that he might have to change the church's "open door" policy.

$5,000,000 Up In Smoke

This is the staggering amount of money spent last year on forest fires. In addition to dollars, carefully equated forest fires consumed enough board feet of lumber to build 50,000 five-room homes. They destroyed wildlife, valuable watersheds and recreation areas. 9 out of 10 of these fires were started by well-meaning but careless people. So please—any time you're out-of-doors be careful with every fire. REMEMBER, ONLY YOU CAN PREVENT FOREST FIRES. Published as a public service in cooperation with The Advertising Council.

Army Will Draft 11,000 Men In Sept.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army will draft 11,000 men in September, 1,000 more than in each of the previous three months, the Defense Department announced today.

A Pentagon spokesman said the slight increase was within normal limits and had nothing to do with the Middle East crisis.

He pointed out there has been no increase in authorized manpower ceilings for the armed forces. The September call, like those for previous months, is the number considered necessary to meet Army needs "after allowances have been made for enlistments and recruitments," he said.

The September call will bring to 2,352,430 the total number of men drafted since the Korean War started eight years ago.

The draft call was 13,000 a month from last February through last May. The Pentagon spokesman said that call of 10,000 to 13,000 a month are required to maintain the armed forces at present size— 2,601,000 in the Army, Navy, Marine and Air Force.

Only the Army uses draftees.
