Abernathy Ratliff

At a quiet home wedding in the presence of the immediate family Miss Douglass Abernathy and Mr. Z. B. Ratliff were made one yesterday at ten o'clock. Rev. Steiner, pastor of the Methodist church, of which both young people are members performed the ceremony, after which the bride and groom and relatives left for the northbound train. Mr. and Mrs. Abernathy will spend the honeymoon at Jacksonville, St. Augustine and other points in the state and expect to be absent for several weeks.

The bride is the daughter of Hon. and Mrs. W. W. Abernathy of this city and has spent the past five years here, having a large circle of friends in the younger society set. She is a winsome young lady and by her friendly spirit and unfailing good humor has endeared herself to every one.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Ratliff of Lakeland and came to Sanford several years ago, literally growing up with the Sanford Herald. A faithful and efficient employee he has attained the confidence and esteem of the Herald Printing Co., and now has charge of the mechanical department and is also a stockholder in the company. He is a young man of sterling worth and character and the young people start upon life's pathway under most auspicious circumstances.

The bride was most bewitchingly attired in a blue broadcloth going away gown with blue hat trimmed in ostrich plumes. They were the recipients of many tokens of the esteem of their friends and a table was filled with handsome cut glass and silver, the presents of friends and relatives. Among them was a beautiful silver service the gift of the Herald fore that was greatly admired by the guests.

After their bridal trip they will be at home at the Abernathy residence on Magnolia avenue, but in the near future expect to erect a bungalow for their residence. Their many friends unite in wishing them all the joy and happiness possible in this life in which The Herald joins.

Business of importance was transacted and Mrs. Deane Turner elected chairman of the department, vice Mrs. M. M. Martin resigned.

Methodist Musical

The musical given on Friday night at the home of Mrs. L. R. Phillips, by the young ladies of the Methodist church was a successful affair and one of the most enjoyable that has been given in church circles this season. The program of music and readings was well rendered and gave much pleasure to the large crowd that filled the house. The silver offering aggregated a nice sum and a charming sociability and informality prevailed that made every one present feel at home and glad to be there.

Antioch Once Prosperous.

Among the sacred cities of the East, Antioch holds a high place, for it was here that the first Christian church was founded; it was, moreover, the center from which St. Paul conducted his missionary campaigns to convert the Gentiles. In those days Antioch was a prosperous and thriving city, boasting of a population of half a million souls, while splendid Roman palaces and villas dotted the banks of the river Orontes, which flows through the town. Today, remarks the Wide World, it is a sleepy, old-world place, occupying scarcely one-tenth of its ancient area, and certainly possessing none of its former glory. Nevertheless, it is in many ways a delightfully quaint and picturesque eastern city, with narrow, tortuous streets, every other house in which appears to possess an architectural style of its own. One can well spend about three or four days wandering about this interesting old town, visiting its primitive market place and inspecting its ruins, walls, gates, and ancient monasteries.

Pervasive Luxuries.

"So you went in search of a sylvan spot close to nature?" "Yes." "Did you find one?" "No. I went into the country—but I never heard so many pianos and phonographs and automobiles in my life."

His Surmises.

"I suppose you're your mama's darling," said a sentimental caller to young Richard. "I suppose she thinks you're a dear little saint." "No, I guess she thinks I'm a moving picture. She's always telling me I should be seen and not heard."

Timber Bridges Last.

Bridges built of timber, and particularly those of the Howe truss type, have shown a remarkable longevity, especially where they are covered in from the weather.

The Uncomfortable Kind.

The Philadelphia minister who says plenty of $10,000 jobs are vacant doesn't alarm us. There are too many $1 and $2 a day jobs vacant to make the candidates comfortable.—Houston Post.

THE school bag is a great convenience to school children and a conservator of books, papers, pencils and handkerchiefs as well. It is better to carry the burden of books in a bag than in the arms. A bag leaves the arms free and does not interfere with the stride nor the proper carriage of the body in walking.

Bags are usually made of canvas, or of canvas covered with cloth. Hard twisted waterproof woads, cravenettes or rubberized clothes will protect the canvas stiffening which holds the bag in shape. Remnants of suitings or of cloths used for coats, in plain colors or dark plaids are selected to make the most substantial kinds. Fancier bags of plush, like that shown in the picture, and bags of leather are intended for older pupils.

School bags are usually oblong in shape and measure about twelve inches in length and ten in width. They are cut in the form of an envelope, so that extra width must be allowed on one side to fold over and form the flap. The sides are joined by a straight strip of cloth from two and a half to three inches wide, which is stitched between them. The same are turned to the outside and finished with bindings of heavy woolen braid or strip of thin leather. All the edges of the bag should be bound. A long, flat, oblong piece of cloth stitched to one side of the front of the bag makes a pocket for pencils, etc. At the other side a small pocket is placed, which will carry a drinking cup. A flap should be provided for this pocket. The flap on the bag and those on the pockets are fastened down with snap fasteners.

The bag of plush, shown in the picture, is made of a single piece lined with Skinner's satin. A small pocket is inserted at the front for the purse and handkerchief. The edges are decorated with a narrow plaiting of satin or satin ribbon. Three snap fasteners across the top hold the front and back together. Silk cord and tassels provide the handle. This bag may be used for a shopping bag, but made to match a small neckpiece and muff, will delight the older school girls or the young woman in college, and add much to her comfort.

Before undertaking to make a school bag it is a good idea to examine those shown in the shops. Only fairly substantial ones are to be had from a dollar and a half up. The home-made varieties are cheaper and will stand more wear than the cheap ready-made bags.

SANFORD BEAUTIFUL SUCCESSFUL SLOGAN

AND A BEAUTIFUL CITY WILL RESULT FROM THE LADIES' EFFORTS

The City Beautiful Committee of the Woman's Club has been hard at work on its campaign plans and is meeting with much encouragement. A few of the public spirited men of Sanford have been heard of in connection with cash prizes, and with only one or two exceptions they have responded most liberally. It is not the intention of the ladies who are undertaking this work to put any burden on the citizens of Sanford. They want the support that comes to their efforts to be cordial and willing hearted, and nothing like a general solicitation of funds is contemplated. The work speaks for itself. A Sanford made beautiful with gardens, its business houses showing the spirit of civic liveliness, its churches and other public buildings, surrounded with lawns and shrubbery, will all bespeak a people in love with their own town, and believing in its climate and its soil. This will not only have its helpful influence on those who make such a development possible, but will make a strong, silent appeal to the strangers who pass through the city. The present administration of Sanford is receiving praise on every side for the improved appearance of streets and parks the good work is started, let's all push it along! It is for this, then that the City Beautiful Committee asks that every public spirited citizen reading these words send some contribution, however small to swell the list of prizes to be given in November, 1915. The cash subscriptions will be collected the first of April and it is desired to make the prizes of sufficient value to warrant earnest competition for them. Among those already subscribed are fifty dollars from the city council, twenty-five dollars from the Sanford Ice & Water Works, and various sums from business men. The latter will be made public a little later. Among miscellaneous prizes may be mentioned a fine lawn mower from the Hill Hardware Company, fine collections of plants from Professor Nehring of Gotha, Reapser Bros. of Okeech, and from Burper the Philadelphia seedsman. A full list of all these will be published.

The committee plans to hold semi-annual competitions and flower shows in April or May the first of these will be held, and there will be few if any cash prizes given in this one, as the plant premiums will be reasonable, and will add to the success of the later competition, which will be held in November.

The following are the classes for the spring show:

- Best display of spring bloom in garden. Two prizes.
Finest lawn
Finest rose garden
Best veranda box.
Best window box.
Best garden planted and cared for by children. Three prizes.

- For Cut Flowers
Best collection of cut roses.
Best collection of Easter Lilies.
Best collection of sweet peas.
Best display of miscellaneous cut flowers from one garden.
Best display of miscellaneous cut flowers from Junior Civic League garden.

- Potted Plants
Finest potted fern.
Finest potted palm.
Finest potted begonia.

It is requested that entries for these classes be made as early as possible, and in order that perfect accuracy may be had, it is preferred that the entries be made out in writing. A postal card with the name of the party and the class will be sufficient, and this should be sent Mrs. G. D. Bishop, who is the secretary of the committee. This competition is open to every resident within the city limits of Sanford. The committee retains the right to withhold prizes in any class where entries do not warrant prizes.

M. W. LOVELL, Clerk

Marabel Brown Returns

Jacksonville, Oct. 22. After an absence of four weeks, which he has spent on the Pacific Coast in connection with the government's case against John G. Wilson, alleged "white slaver," United States Marshal J. Clifford Brown returned Sunday morning, leaving I. R. Osteen, his deputy, in San Francisco to complete the work of prosecution. Wilson was picked up as a witness from the western metropolis, the marshal making the arrest at a house in the 100 block of Forest street. He is alleged to have run away with a married woman, who left a husband and five children, it is claimed. She had one more child, a three-year old baby, which she brought along, and which is still here in the care of friends. The man was indicted on a grand jury hearing, it is said, Marshal Brown remaining to testify. The trial hearing is scheduled for next week.

Business is booming in the city to all appearances, and Mr. Brown today. Everything is a hurry and bustle in San Francisco. Even the loafers do their loafing practically on the run. They do not stand on the corners as you see them other places. They may be down and out, but they are always going somewhere.

Congregational Church

A new feature for the boys of our Sunday school is now offered, namely a class in scroll sawing, starting from the simplest up to the most complicated work, which will result in toys, brackets, card cases, picture frames, glove boxes, match boxes, etc., etc. The class will meet at the church Monday and Thursday afternoons, immediately after school.

A regular monthly feature of our Sunday evening services will be a musical prelude of twenty minutes, consisting of special work on the pipe organ, violin and by voices, under the direction of Mr. Woodruff, with Miss Frances Aspinwall at the organ. The first one will be given November 8th, the second Sunday of that month.

Special music for next Sunday as follows:

- Morning: Organ Prelude, from Wagner, by Frances Aspinwall; Anthem, "The Heart's Prayer," Stearns, with soprano solo. Offertory, violin solo, Mr. Hess. Evening: Organ Prelude, "There is a Green Hill Far Away," Gounod. Anthem, "Seek Ye the Lord," Roberts, tenor solo and obligato. Offertory, "Day of Peace," by Miss Lucille Aspinwall.

The evening subject, a short talk by the pastor will be "The Man Who Was Looking for a Kingdom." All not attending elsewhere are cordially invited. Our Sunday school is growing, both in interest and numbers. Let every boy or girl, every adult person know by this, that if they do not go elsewhere, a cordial welcome awaits them in this Sunday school.

WILL ENFORCE THE GAME LAWS

NEW WARDEN IS ON JOB AND HUNTERS WILL BE MORE CAREFUL

A new game warden has been appointed for Seminole county and as there has been considerable complaint lately of some hunters shooting birds out of season it would be well for them to "look a leetle out" as the new warden has had his eye on them for some time. There has also been considerable trapping of quail and the new warden is next to these folks and from this time on the laws will be looked after most strenuously. The warden is not giving out the name of the new officer and several of the men who have been violating the laws will know nothing about the new warden until he has them in his clutches. A word to the wise will be sufficient at this time and it would be well for those who have been trapping birds and shooting them to cease this business from this time forward. The game laws are very strict now and are being enforced to the letter in every county of the state. Also all those who intend to participate in this season's hunting should take out license to hunt for the new warden will hold up the hunters wherever he finds them and demand their license.

Home Destroyed

The home of H. Wilson on Sanford Heights was totally destroyed by fire early Wednesday morning. Mr. Wilson had arisen to go to his work on the railroad early and in some way the lamp caught fire to the table and before the flames could be extinguished the home and entire contents were destroyed. The family, despite its financial ignorance were taken from the building and one trunk could be rescued. The loss falls mightily hard on the Wilson family, and they have the sympathy of the community, which promises to be demonstrated in a more substantial manner. There was some insurance on the household goods and on the building, which was owned by Mr. Gertz.

New Seed Company

Attention is called to the advertisement in the Herald of this city of a new company started in this city on west North street near the Union depot. The company is composed of home people who have experience in the vegetable business and they guarantee good stock true to name. The Coulbourne Co. will also handle vegetable seeds on consignment and will be general headquarters for the growers. Stop in and see them when on your way to the depot or express office and get acquainted.

SEMINOLE CITIZENS BROKE GAME LAWS

ACCORDING TO REPORT WILL FACE TRIAL IN ORLANDO

Several citizens of Sanford have been arrested for breaking game laws. According to reports from Orlando, several prominent citizens of Sanford were arrested the other day for shooting turkeys and that the arrest occurred in Orange county. We have awaited news from Orlando about the matter but so far the rumors have been unconfirmed. If there is anything in the rumors the men who were arrested should have their trial in Orlando and take their medicine and if there is nothing in the report it should be dropped. The following is from the Orlando Sentinel:

"According to persistent rumor here yesterday, several of Seminole county's most prominent citizens are alleged to have been arrested at Fort Christmas charged with violation of the game laws. The correctness of the report could not be verified last night from official sources because the deputy game warden at Fort Christmas has not reported to County Game Warden Ed McDaniel, and there is no telegraph or telephone line to that place. For that reason the names are withheld."

It is alleged that the party was composed of eight gentlemen and that they were caught with the game in their possession, consisting of six turkeys and several quail, and that they each put up one hundred dollar bonds for their appearance for trial in Orlando.

County Game Warden Ed McDaniel states last night that he had no official report of the alleged arrests, but that he is determined to prosecute all violation of the game laws to the limit, irrespective of whom they might be.

If the Fort Christmas game warden took the money and has failed to report he has been lax in his duty and if he did not catch these so-called Seminole citizens then he should deny the report. It makes no difference about the prominence of the guilty parties. If they violated the game law they should be punished accordingly.

Via Stork's Express

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Potter of the West Side are rejoicing in the arrival of a fine new daughter. Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Harbison have a son at their home on Park street and Mr. Harbison's next man in J. D. Roberts' store.

FINE MUSICAL TREAT COMING

FORREST DABNEY CARR TO BE HEARD IN SANFORD FRIDAY, EVE., NOV. 13

Musical loving people of Sanford will be more than pleased to learn that Forrest Dayney Carr, probably the greatest vocalist in all Florida and several other states, is coming here the evening of Friday, November 13, for a rich and rare Recital Entertainment. Mrs. Carr, formerly well known as the popular soprano, Mrs. Palmer, will come also and will contribute to the program. There will also be other features which will be announced later. Too much cannot be said in praise of Mr. Carr's wonderful power of entertainment. Chicago, and other western as well as eastern papers, speak in highest terms of his ability and entrancing sweetness, style, expression and power in song. One quotation runs as follows:

The title role, sung by Mr. Forrest Dabney Carr, basso cantante, was a fine exhibition of picturesque and intensely dramatic dimensions—a grand opera vocalist delivering grand opera music of the most modern and intense kind.

NO FLORIDA EXHIBIT AT SAN FRANCISCO

COMMISSION ABANDONS PLAN AFTER FAILURE OF ALL THE PLANS

The following report has been sent to Governor Trammell by the Florida Commission to Panama Pacific Exposition:

Hon. Park Trammell, Governor of Florida, Tallahassee, Fla.: In accordance with the decision of a meeting of the Florida State Commission to the Panama Pacific International Exposition, which meeting was held in the Seminole Hotel in this city on Friday last, we must inform you that the Commission finds itself unable to carry out the purposes for which it was appointed by your Excellency, and to communicate to you the desire and recommendation of its members that the Commission be formally dissolved and the individual members excused from further service in the capacity of Commissioners.

You may be assured that the Commission has reached this conclusion only after most earnest effort to provide suitable and appropriate representation for the state at the great Exposition which is to be held in California next year. Participation by Florida certainly seemed most desirable and to promise great public benefit, and your Commission formulated such plans as appeared to be feasible corresponding in the main with the plans which were being successfully operated in other states, and endeavored by every possible means to awaken public interest in the project and to secure general cooperation in the work. In this it has not been successful. From the first the response was not encouraging. There was, in fact, most vigorous opposition. Notwithstanding these discouraging conditions the Commission has continued for several months its efforts to create a better and wider understanding of its plans and purposes, and to arouse some enthusiasm for the undertaking, but without appreciable result.

Recent events in Europe are responsible for a sort of depression, more mental than financial, but which has strongly influenced the attitude of our people towards the idea of having Florida participate in the exposition. After a careful estimate of the situation we are constrained to believe that it will not be practicable to provide such representation at the exposition as would do credit to the state, and, consistent with the policy of the Commission as announced at the outset, the abandonment of the project is therefore recommended.

A special committee has been appointed to close up the affairs of the Commission and prepare a financial report, a copy of which report will be furnished you at an early date.

Very truly yours, FLA STATE COMM.

To the Panama International Commission

Chas. G. Elliott, formerly head of the drainage investigation of the department of the interior of the United States, has been elected chief engineer of the Peach Craig drainage district in DeSoto and Manatee counties. This is one of the largest drainage products in Florida, and the territory involved embraces about 46,000 acres.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR

Northern France and the coast of Belgium still are the fields where the most important fighting in the western arena of the war continues with the utmost stubbornness, but as yet without decisive result. The French war office announces that the allied lines are holding in spite of the furious onslaughts of the enemy, while new dispatches from London assert that developments generally are against the invaders.

Berlin, however, has not been heard from on this subject since yesterday. Lacking a German report as to the progress of the prolonged engagements in this territory, the situation is being reported only from the side of the allies. The German announcement of yesterday said that in the fighting west of Lille, German troops taking the offensive, had repulsed the enemy at several points.

British warships have played an important part in these operations and there are indications that their activities are not yet at an end. The fighting is going on night and day and the allies are said to be approaching close to the German positions before Lille.

No confirmation of the reported evacuation of Ostend has been received. The German garrison at Antwerp is said to have been reduced and a German column of reinforcements with two of the famous sixteen inch guns is reported as having passed through Antwerp on its way to Bruges.

Outside of Belgium the fields of the battle are very numerous, Picardy, Champagne, the Argonne, the Woeyve, Lorraine, the Vosges and Alsace being referred to as localities where fighting is taking place. In several of these districts the French claim officially to have repulsed the German attacks, which they describe as not so severe as in the Belgian field. The French say also that they have made progress in the Argonne and the Woeyve territory.

A house sheltering the headquarters of the German staff at Slype on the Belgian coast has been destroyed by shell fire from British warships, according to a news dispatch received in London from Dunkirk.

The latest German casualty list gives the names of about 11,500 men killed, wounded and missing.

In the eastern arena of the war both sides claim progress, but not in the same localities. Paris says of reports that the Russians in the vicinity of Warsaw have driven the enemy back eight miles, and the Petrograd war office declares that Russian troops have saved Warsaw from a German bombardment. There has been hand to hand fighting in the vicinity of Blonie and Prouschkoff in Russian Poland. The fighting south of Przemysl, according to the same authority, has been going on for six days with heavy losses on the part of the Austrians.

Several of the people from here attended the Bible lectures at Curryville on Sunday and Sunday night.

Mrs. W. S. Bargarde of Winter Garden is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Bargarde this week.

Mrs. Prudence Long is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Dan Hart at Geneva this week.

Mrs. L. B. Collins and daughter, who have been visiting in Atlanta.

Mrs. L. B. Collins and daughter, who have been visiting in Atlanta for several weeks returned home Friday.

Mrs. W. T. Graves and children moved to Kissimmee last Thursday. Mr. Graves has a good position there and has already been there several weeks. Mrs. Dollie Self, mother of Mrs. Graves accompanied her there.

Mrs. A. A. Bond and children and her father, W. A. Newton left yesterday for Eustis, where she will place the little boys in school for the term.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Tilden Jacobs celebrated their sixth wedding anniversary Friday evening. The rooms were beautifully decorated with huge bowls of Angel Trumpets, variegated lilies and roses, whose rich perfume pervaded the whole house. Despite the rainy weather quite a number of friends gathered to help them enjoy the return of their wedding day. Many interesting games were played and there was plenty of good music. Mrs. Jacobs assisted by her sister, Miss Sadie Blackburn served an elegant lunch, consisting of sandwiches, cake and lemonade, etc. All took their leave wishing Mr. and Mrs. Jacobs many more anniversaries and many repetitions of the pleasant evening.

Mrs. A. J. Bailey entertained the young folks at a very pleasant evening Monday. There were quite a number present to enjoy the games and general merriment. Mr. M. L. Long was present and furnished many comic songs and banjo music which was heartily enjoyed by all present. Mrs. Bailey, assisted by her daughters served delicious cake and lemonade. All enjoyed the occasion very much and voted Mrs. Bailey, and her family food entertainers.

The Death Angel hovered over us last Tuesday evening and took from us the little baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Wingate. The little one was only a few months old but had lived long enough to weave a strong hold on the hearts of its friends and to endear itself beyond expression to its parents. The baby had been sick a few days, and that day Mrs. Wingate brought her up to the doctor, not thinking its time would be so short. After arriving home the little one became worse and the little soul returned to the God who gave it at 4 p. m. The burial took place in the pretty cemetery of Chuluota. A short service was conducted by J. Tilden Jacobs, who offered a fervent prayer for comfort to the bereft ones, and admonished them that God doeth all things well, and now to feel that at least they had one treasure in heaven and there let their hearts be also. The service was concluded by the children's song prayer, "Jesus, Tender Shepherd," closing with these words, "Take us when we die to Heaven, Happy there with Thee to dwell." The little mound was completely covered with beautiful flowers brought by loving friends.

PAOLA POINTS

Miss Bessie Smith goes to Sanford to school.

The Misses Mary and Julia Zachary are attending the Cathedral school at Orlando.

Mr. C. Cleveland has returned and is already busy at "Echo Lodge." Mrs. Cleveland is expected next week.

The Garwood boys took a trip to Ocoee on Sunday, via motor car.

Our little bunch of Paola youngsters assembled at the school house Monday morning, expecting a teacher, who failed to materialize. After romping about until noon they dispersed to await "further developments."

Mr. McGuinn estimates the orange crop in the Bishop groves at eighteen thousand boxes. Mr. Buchanan and Mr. Brown also have fine crops but the other groves, as far as heard from are rather light in fruit.

We are surely having the finest kind of weather. Just the right temperature for comfort, down to about 60 degrees in the morning and up to 80 degrees at noon, with a bright sun shining and the breeze blowing, while the woods are gorgeous with the wealth of autumn wild flowers, and you hear the blithe song of red birds and mockers in all the groves and the whir of partridge wings startles you in the bushes.

PATERNALISM RAMPANT

WHAT MAY WE DO WITHOUT LEGISLATIVE CONSENT?

(BY JOHN C. TRICE)

Since progress has become the fickle Star of Hope for practically all humanity—since the desire to incarnate the heroisms and statesmanship of the Pilgrim Fathers in the present has been swallowed up in an insatiable desire to map out the habits and customs for unborn generations—since Solomon's wisdom has paled in the face of the modern Hercules of religio-commercial intrigue—since Moses has passed out of date as a law-giver and Jesus has been assigned by His servitors to a place among the mossbacks in religion, we are prone to forget the often demonstrated effect of paternal government. Washington was good enough to direct the revolution and found a government whose success and stability has made him immortal, but Crook and his colleagues will tell you he children. Jefferson was good enough to write a constitution which has undermined every throne in christendom and made popular government possible, but you may learn from the same excellent authority that document is no longer fit to be respected.

It is such a sentiment as this that makes possible the colossal folly sent out from Washington a few days ago. While most of the people were trying to get the necessary faith to go along with their prayers to the Almighty for peace and the restoration of good times, a few governors met at the national capitol to pool their superlative wisdom for the salvation of the south. The movies snapped them and their pleasant physique in being thrown on the canvas throughout the country. But here is the wonderful scheme they concocted: "Call the legislatures in extraordinary session to pass laws to reduce the acreage of cotton next year." It is not the purpose here to discuss further the folly of such a proposition. It is the tendency of the times which manufactures a puerile sentiment in favor of governmental control of everything that concerns me most, because I know farmers will hold to their inalienable right to plant what they please on their own land.

The position of master and servant threatens to be completely reversed. Our ancestors decreed and proclaimed the supremacy of the people and the subservience of office holders. We are in danger of changing this and making the latter our masters. At the last session of the Florida legislature a strong effort was made to pass a forestry law which prevented a man from cutting a tree on his own land or burning a pasture without official sanction, and now comes the suggestion to go to some official to find out how much cotton we shall plant. How would you like that, Mr. Farmer?

One of the greatest writers on the science of government has declared the best governed people are those who are governed the least. Certainly the happiest people on earth are those who most seldom come in contact with the restraining influence of hypocritical autocratic law.

Our present danger lies in concentration of government. Its foster child is tyranny. Parent and offspring became so unpopular ages ago that monarchal gave place to constitutional government or government by the people. Now we are clamoring for a return to universal power, concentrated in the government head. The most vivid pictures of Imperial Rome, in her palmiest days of autocratic power will be tame compared to daily happenings in our own country if there is not a cessation of prohibitive and paternal ideas of government. The two have been wedded, and are already felicitating themselves upon the alleged prospect of the fall of popular government and the substitution of government by the classes.

A Longer Season For Florida Citrus Fruits

Heretofore Florida fruits have had too short a season. The fine prices usually secured for late oranges and grapefruit could be had on a much larger volume of fruit than the State now markets and for a longer period.

Buckeye Nurseries have urged the planting of late varieties for many years. Many of the most prosperous growers of the State owe their success to this advice. The best late oranges and grapefruit were introduced by Buckeye Nurseries.

Buckeye Nurseries Catalog Tells What to Plant

Also it gives suggestions for selecting location of grove and on every other phase of citrus fruit culture. It is a complete guide to success and all its advice has been tried out in the experience of successful growers. Varieties are described in detail; many of them are illustrated in natural colors. Some of the best groves of the State are pictured to show proper methods of planting, cultivation, fertilization, spraying, marketing, etc. Too expensive to permit of indiscriminate distribution, the book is free to all intending planters. You will be welcome to a copy if you write for it while we have a supply on hand—edition is limited.

POTASH SUPPLIED BY SOUTH CAN BE MADE FROM THE ASHES OF HARD-WOOD AND COTTONSEED HULLS

If the European war should cause our large annual imports of potash to dwindle, many farmers will look to wood ashes, among other substances, to replenish the potash supplies. While the amount of wood ashes that a farmer could accumulate on his own farm would hardly be sufficient to supply his need for potash, nevertheless, if they are carefully stored and not permitted to leach, they may be of considerable value to him. Wood ashes are now a factor in Canada, being considered a regular commercial commodity, and the large lumber mills and other plants using wood or sawdust for fuel in this country which burn their furnaces or waste piles may find it profitable to store and mill them if the demand warrants it.

Wood ashes may be profitably applied as a top dressing to grass land and to pastures, where they will encourage the growth of clover and better kinds of grasses, which will then crowd out inferior kinds and weeds. Wood ashes may be also used for corn and roots. Because of their lime content they are not so good for potatoes, although sometimes used for this crop.

In New England, where farmers have had to look more carefully to the renewing of old soils than in some of the newer sections of the country, wood ashes have long been appreciated. Ashes directly increase the available nitrogen of the organic matter in the soil, and have been known to do excellent service in Europe on drained moorland.

Besides the potash, ashes contain other ingredients which are of value to plants, namely, about 1 or 2 per cent of phosphoric acid, a little magnesia and a great deal of lime. The importance of these last named elements is made plain by the esteem in which leached ashes are held by some of our farmers, although from leached ashes all but a very small portion of the potash has been washed out. The farmers who wish to restore potash to the soil by the use of ashes should take great care that they are kept dry and are not allowed to leach at all. Many housewives save their house ashes and leach out the potash for use in making soap. They may now have an additional reason for conserving them, namely, their increased value as a garden fertilizer. But as has just been said, ashes to be used for the improvement of the soil should not be permitted to leach.

Ashes from hardwoods (deciduous trees) are richer in both phosphorus and potash than those from pines and other softwoods (conifers). Ashes from oak, elm, maple and hickory have more potash than those from pine. The ashes of trees (faggots for example) are more for agricultural purposes than the ashes of heartwood taken from the middle of an old tree. In general, the smaller and younger the wood burned, the better ashes. The ashes of coal do not contain enough potash to make them valuable in this connection.

Ordinary house ashes contain on the average about 8 or 9 per cent of potash and 2 per cent of phosphoric acid. Investigators have considered that there is enough potash and phosphoric acid in a bushel of ashes to make it worth 20 or 25 cents. Besides that, some 10 or 15 cents additional might be allowed for the "alkali power" of the ashes. This power is that which enables ashes to rot woods and to ferment peat. Of course, prices vary with local conditions.

If wood ashes are purchased, the farmer should assure himself that they have neither been contaminated with coal ashes nor adulterated with leached ashes. With these facts determined, the place of burning has no effect on the value of the ashes as fertilizer. They are equally as satisfactory whether taken from a stove, a fireplace or a bonfire.

The hulls of cotton seed, according to specialists, yield ashes which contain from 18 to 30 per cent of potash and from 5 to 10 per cent of phosphoric acid. Cotton hull ashes, therefore, as a fertilizer are much more concentrated than ordinary wood ashes. As a matter of fact, in the opinion of some investigators, the ashes from cottonseed hulls contain such a large proportion of potash that they might be considered a fertilizer to crops if they were used in large quantities.

These ashes have been used with

Beautiful Home Wedding

A home wedding of unusual beauty was that of Miss Genie Wicker and Mr. Norman Cary Toole, which took place Wednesday evening at the home of the bride. The attractive rooms were delightfully adapted to such an occasion, with their high ceilings, the wide hall, opening on the broad veranda, enclosed with white and quantities of goldenrod and softly lighted by yellow shaded lanterns.

The colors of the wedding were green and yellow, artistically carried out, with quantities of yellow flowers. In the hallway entwined in the graceful vines of the white star jessamine were the cosmos flowers, forming a green and archway, through the center; tall vases of daisies and large ferns completed the charming effect. The drawing room, in which the ceremony took place was all in white, with the bell-shaped datura flora bundi, banked on the mantel. Palms and bamboo gave a relieving touch of green. In the bay window was an exquisitely beautiful altar of white, festooned with the graceful asparagus plumosa. Upon the altar a profusion of white carnations added a touch of beauty and charm. Silver candlesticks held the white candles whose soft radiance lighted the room. The kneeling cushion was of white satin, exquisitely embroidered, the gift of the maid of honor. The decoration of the dining room was quite in keeping with the beauty of the other rooms; for here, from the corners and sides of the rooms, were ropes of the spengeria fern, meeting in the center and drooping gracefully above the table upon which was a handsome cover of Battenburg over yellow silk, centered by a basket of almanders. Masses of the yellow almanders filled the mantel and corners of the room. Suspended from the chandelier was a golden heart, pierced by an arrow.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Florence Frank at the piano and Miss Margery Boor on the violin rendered very beautifully the "Berceuse" from Jocelyn. As the bridal party entered the hall the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin was played, and during the ceremony "Traumerel" At the close the melody of Mendelssohn's Wedding March filled the rooms. The bridesmaids and groomsmen, Miss Rebecca Wicker with Mr. M. M. Gregg, Miss Mary Chappell with Mr. Pope Wicker, entered first, passing through the hall to the drawing room. They were followed by the groom and his best man, Mr. O. K. Lewis. The maid of honor, Miss Julia Wicker walked alone and immediately preceding the bride who entered with her father, was the little flower girl, Rose LaVerne Hurt, scattering yellow rose petals in the path of the bride.

The bride was met at the altar by the groom and the marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. F. E. Steumeyer.

The bride was very lovely in her graceful wedding gown of white charmeuse and point lace. The bodice was of lace with the charmeuse soft on with French knots and pearl passementerie. The charmeuse fell in a tunic that was cut away at the front over a pointed flounce of lace. A sash of charmeuse with a smart bow and wide ends crossed the fullness at the waist. Over the long train fell the veil of tulle edged with lace, which was becomingly worn in cap effect and edged in place by lines of the valley. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses.

Miss Julia Wicker's trousseau was of soft white crepe de chine and rich silk. Her low lace with low cut bodice and sleeves of fine sheer silk and tulle garnished with pearl beads. She carried an arm bouquet of yellow roses.

The bridesmaids were daintily gowned alike in yellow crepe de chine with over skirt of Oriental lace falling over a ruffle of accordion lace. They carried bouquets of white roses.

The little flower girl was very sweet and winsome in a long white empire gown and yellow ribbons. She carried a basket of yellow rose petals.

The bride's mother was gowned in white.

Miss Charlotte, the bride's sister, was gowned in white.

Miss Anne Higgins was gowned in white, the brides' trousseau was gowned in white.

Miss H. H. Chappell's gown was of white crepe de chine.

Miss A. R. Chappell wore pink crepe de chine.

Ellen and Martha Chappell who served cake and sherbet wore white and pink ribbons.

Miss Florence Frank was gowned in low charmeuse and Oriental lace.

Miss Margery Boor wore blue silk.

The bride's gifts to her attendants including Mr. Frank and Miss Toole. (Continued On Page 8) advantage for maturing tobacco. They have in times past brought as much as $15 to $10 a ton in New England. One objection to the use of these ashes is their liability to vary widely in composition. This lack of uniformity is due to the fact that they are burned as fuel at the oil factories in conjunction with wood. Those lightest in color have been considered the richest in potash by certain investigators.

Grapefruit Shipments Double

A comparative statement of grapefruit shipments from Florida for 1913 and 1914 shows that this season's crop is moving much more rapidly than last year. Up to October 19, 1914, 382 cars of grapefruit had passed through Jacksonville en route to market, while on the same date this year 788 cars had passed that point.

It is believed to be satisfactory that it is asserted by those in position to know that had the same quantity gone forward last year so early they would hardly have paid transportation charges. This year the fruit is very fine—in fact, about the best the state has produced in several years—and there is every reason to believe that good prices will be realized as the season advances. The fruit generally is exceptionally well developed.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Patron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side. The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good. I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair. At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing all my work." If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

If every man in Sanford will assist the Commercial Club in getting tourists to Sanford we will never know that the war is going on in Europe. The Herald is in receipt each day of several columns of automobile stuff addressed to the automobile editor. As no cash accompanies these letters they never see the light of day and those auto factories ought to know better than to waste postage in such a shameful manner. When we had an auto we never noticed any of the auto factories or the garages doing stunts on the car for nothing and any time they see any free notices in The Herald they will be going some. If any bunch of people in the world that should advertise and pay the price it is the automobile dealers and yet they attempt to ride the newspapers every day for free notices.

The Evening Journal, Bradenton's new daily paper has made its appearance and is a fifty six column, eight page paper that is a credit to Bradenton and to that veteran newspaper man, Hon. Joseph Humphries. If the people of the land of the Manatee will give Joe Humphries the proper support he will certainly give them the proper kind of a daily. Being in the Tampa territory gives him a good swing at Tampa advertisers and between that and the excellent string of towns adjacent he should make good. Here's hoping that the Evening Journal will live long and prosper and that Joe Humphries will continue to make good in the editorial chair and as postmaster of Bradenton. He is the right man in both positions.

There is a little band of boosters working for the best interests of Sanford all the time. They are not getting much encouragement from the men of Sanford who should be the most consistent members of the club but they go right along boosting morning, noon and night and they are accomplishing wonders. The little band is known as the Commercial Club and they should receive the support of every business man of Sanford. The season's work is now being laid out and their efforts will mean hundreds of new people coming here. Other people who are not members will rake in the profits of the Club's labor just as they have done in the past but the devoted members are not lagging in their work on this score. Sometimes it does seem that those who have never taken any part in the proceedings of the club would feel ashamed of standing back when there is work to do and world come across and join the club. Now is the accepted time to climb into the wagon while the climbing is good.

ALACHUA COUNTY FAIR
The editor of The Herald is in receipt of an invitation in the shape of a pass to the Alachua County Fair to be held at Gainesville on in Gainesville many years ago and the part we had in it and nothing would give the Herald editor more pleasure than to attend the real big fair at Gainesville on the above dates and maybe such a pleasure will be given. Alachua county certainly could have a most attractive fair and a good county fair would give old Alachua the greatest kind of a boost. In that fine farming country a fair would adequately display the numerous fruits and vegetables and staple crops to the best advantage and Gainesville also has the benefit of the Experimental Station of the State University. We sincerely hope that the Alachua county fair will be the big success that it deserves to be and certainly will be under the progressive methods of a most progressive citizenry.

SANFORD BEAUTIFUL
This is the slogan adopted by the public spirited ladies of Sanford and they are taking up the work this fall with renewed efforts and have the hearty endorsement and assistance of all the business men of the city. The present city council have also worked wonders in making Sanford more beautiful and are assisting the ladies in the work. Sanford can be made the most beautiful city in the state if everybody here will work toward that end. With the magnificent bulkhead started on the lakefront, with our beautiful parkways on every street with the fine old oaks now growing and many more recently planted, with the many stately palms growing everywhere in the parks and yards, with our abundant supply of water and the rich soil in which all plants seem to thrive we should bend all our efforts toward assisting the ladies in their great work and Sanford will be a modern paradise.

There is no city in the state in which nature has assisted so much as Sanford and it only remains for man to supplement nature's efforts and the city will blossom like a rose. Let the slogan take root in your mind and never rest until our city is made the most beautiful spot on earth. Read the article in this issue about what they are doing and then join hands with them and push the good work along.

SEE AMERICA
The Hearst papers have started a campaign to "SEE AMERICA" and in a leading editorial and in the issue of Oct. 16th published the following in The New York Evening Journal: "SEE AMERICA AND DON'T FORGET THE GLACIER NATIONAL PARK AND FLORIDA." "In every great disaster there is comfort of some kind. The war in Europe will educate Americans. It will make them rely upon themselves, help them to get rid of that word 'imported' which they have long worshipped as a fetish. The war will compel Americans to know AMERICA."

The editorial then goes into great detail to show why the Panama fair in California will be a great success owing to this greatly increased travel, describes the Glacier National Park and the beauties of California and refers to Florida as follows: "Not California alone, the middle-west or the great mountains of the north will be visible, but also that southern wonderland, Florida. While you are planning for your trip to the Panama Fair go down N.W. to Florida and see that wonderful country. Spend there a little of the money that you would have spent on that trip to Paris or London. See the great land of fruit and flowers, wonderful color, warm weather, alligators, romance and delight.

"Realize what energetic man the Americans are by seeing what they have done here, bringing civilization, comfort, every convenience, architectural beauty, railroad efficiency, to the warmth craved by the north. If you own a garden you want to know it all, from the place where the cabbages grow to that other spot against the warm wall, where you grow the fruit.

"You own and belong to a nation, and you should want to see ALL OF IT: The north where the snows are, the south of Florida, the beauty of southern California, the marvelous national parks of the great west.

TRAVEL in your own country, SEE your own country, take pride in it. Learn to respect the words, 'Made in America.' Ask yourself whether the money that has come from this country should not go back to this country? Begin to see America NOW, and keep it up until you die. Don't go to heaven to be humiliated by having Christopher Columbus ask you what you think about the country he discovered, and being compelled to tell him THAT YOU HAVEN'T SEEN IT."

SEMINOLE'S GOOD SHOWING

The people of Seminole county and the newspapers are very proud of the public schools of that county. The Sanford Herald very properly expresses the view that there is no greater inducement that can be offered to attract settlers than the fact that the county possesses an efficient and well conducted public school system. Here are some figures taken from a specially prepared report by the county superintendent: During the past year Seminole county supported ten white schools, with an enrollment of 1,026 and an average attendance of 830. During the same year there were conducted eight negro schools with a total enrollment of 725 and an average attendance of 626. The comparatively close approximation of the number of negro schools and attendance to those of the whites will be rather surprising to those who have been accustomed to regard Seminole as one of the white counties. For the term just nearly commenced all of these schools show increased enrollment, improved equipment, more efficient teachers and more of them. The revenue that can be devoted to the operation of the schools has also been increased.—Tampa Times.

NEUTRALITY

A German subscriber to the Pensacola Journal wrote a caustic letter to that paper because it spoke of the Kaiser as responsible for the war and thinks the Journal's expression of opinion inconsistent with the neutrality of this country. On this point the Journal gets back at him with a knockout blow in this fashion: "As to the neutrality about which our correspondent writes we have only to say that if this neutrality in expression means anything at all it is as binding on our German friends who are now enjoying liberty, peace and happiness under the stars and the stripes as upon the millions of Americans whose sympathies are not bound by direct blood ties with any of the contending countries. Neutrality does not mean that all persons and papers of German blood or sympathy in America have the right to flaunt their opinions broadcast while the rest of us are compelled to keep quiet."

We extend our sympathy to Hon. F. R. McCormick of the Lave Oak Democrat who lost his bright young son, Frank, last week. The young man was a great help to his father and had learned to take an interest in the publishing business. Our heart goes out to Mar in his sad affliction.

Bob Holly says there were such crowds after the Sanford Herald Saturday, Newspaper Day, that they smashed down the front door of the office. Some town is Hollyville. St. Augustine Record.

The Tramp of Thousands in Florida

They are coming! They are coming! Don't you hear their measured tread? They are coming by the thousand. In their search for daily bread: From the far off Rocky Mountains, From Pacific's shining strand, Come the echoes of their marching. To the happy promised land: As they travel through the darkness, With the Tropic Moon for lamp— Over fields of corn and cotton! Can't you hear their heavy tramp?

They are coming! They are coming! And their hopes are fixed and sure: They are coming 'neath the frost line Where the summer suns endure: From the storm swept western prairie: From the northern snowy plain: To the land of milk and honey— To the land of youth and gain. Hark to yonder springing footsteps! Hear the laughter and the glee! As they come from winter free.

They are coming! They are coming! But we cannot change their course, They have heard about our glade lands— And every other sure resource. O'er the classic Suwanee river: They are coming by the score: So we'd better get busy And encourage them galore: For the time has come to hustle And make ready for the fray— As the long night vigil's ended And it's now Florida's Day.

They are coming! They are coming! Don't you hear their measured tread? They are coming by the thousand In their search for daily bread: From the far off Rocky Mountains, From Pacific's shining strand, Come the echo of their marching To the happy promised land: As they travel out of darkness And the Temperate climate damp, Over fields of corn and cotton—

The Demand of the War on Sanford

Is accurately portrayed in the following letter received from one of the great banks of the country by the PEOPLES BANK OF SANFORD:

"While the war continues this country will not in our opinion receive any comparative benefits to speak of. If the war is a matter of years the South must next year plant other crops than cotton. Southern bankers, we understand, are emphasizing diversified farming. After the war, the benefits we secure will depend on our ability to expand our export industries without the financial help which Europe has always furnished. If our people realized the part that money will play in the years following the war, everyone would save every dollar he could to invest later on in the development and increase of business which is sure to come. Our country should follow the example of Germany in the past twenty years in the cooperative encouragement of all forms of industry, large and small, under constructive Government help and regulation; and we should follow the example of European countries in the careful saving and investment of small sums by the great majority of the individuals of the nation. In Europe the number out of every thousand of population who have bank accounts is in the various countries as follows: Switzerland 554, France 346, Germany 317, England 302, Italy 220. In contrast to these figures—the United States 99."

From these last figures we read the cause of a vast amount of the unhappiness of our people, which summed up in one word is IMPROVIDENCE.

Extending to you the advantages of this institution, we bespeak your thoughtful consideration of the above letter.

The first camphor gum ever refined in Florida was sold in Orlando yesterday. The gum came from the United States agricultural experiment station at the fair grounds and was refined by Dr. Samuel Hood, the agricultural expert in charge. There was ten pounds of the refined product and the McElroy drug store was the purchaser. Dr. McElroy declares it is apparently much better than the ordinary commercial camphor gum, being much clearer and heavier. Dr. Hood will preserve the piece retained in payment for the gum and has it framed as a reminder of the first lot of a valuable drug ever refined in the state. Orlando Sentinel.

From Bartow most encouraging reports come of renewed activity in the phosphate industry. A number of concerns have resumed work with somewhat shortened forces, yet giving employment to a large number of men, and other mines and plants are preparing to resume operations. It now appears that some reports may go out and there has never been any feeling that the closing down was temporary. Arcadia News.

The little fellow was a strong Boston rooter, and wired his offer to Gowdy because of his appreciation of the famous pitcher's good work.

The season for growing of small crops is on, and every one who possibly can should be engaged in this most important of industries. If we are ever to get good prices for the vegetables grown in this section, we must produce enough stuff to induce buyers to come to this section, and for this reason every one who engages in the trucking-business is not only helping himself, but is also assisting his neighbor, who has a market made possible for him. The bankrupt's firm assets are given in the petition as $4,873.06, and the liabilities as $5,700.00. Jones & Jones of Orlando are the attorneys. The chief creditors are northern dry goods concerns. Bonds Validated

The Orlando Sentinel tells that the supreme court has validated the recently authorized bond issue for good roads in Orange county. The people voted to issue bonds for $600,000 for paving roads last fall and the matter has just gotten to the stage of being declared legal and proper by the courts. The greater part of the money, in fact all but $100,000 of the amount, is to be expended on brick highways, and the one-sixth mentioned will be used for clay and marl roads where the need of brick is not so urgent. The bonds have already been sold and it is expected that very soon the work may begin to improve the highways of Orange county.

Pulled Poker Game

Officer Howard pulled a bunch of poker players Wednesday night and they paid a nice fine each in Mayor's court yesterday morning. They were all prominent young men of the city and one of them was an official of an adjoining county. The others should pull the poker games whenever they find them and there are other games beside the one pulled the other night. If this gambling is not stopped the lines should be drawn tight. If over the city and a game of pulling is going on either in a private residence the players should be arrested and fined. There is no reason for any gambling being allowed, no matter the form and small wagers, rattles and other kinds of chance come under this head. Let all the gambling in Sanford be stopped from the negro crap game on Sanford avenue to the high toned white man who plays now in fancied security.

A Magnificent Opportunity

If anyone were to make the population of Florida an annual gift of about $210,000,000 with almost a certainty of increasing the amount from year to year there would be general eagerness to accept the gift, even if there were some conditions of labor of not too strenuous nature attached to the offer.

Yet the communication we publish today, written by State Chemist Rose, shows that something similar to such an offer is the opportunity presented by the war in which the European nations are now engaged. The amount of sugar annually imported into this country is about equal in value to the sum named. That Florida has almost unequalled facilities unequalled as far as the United States goes - for raising all the sugar this country uses in addition to that supplied by the sugar plantations of Louisiana and the bette sugar fields of the west is there insisted upon in convincing language.

In an editorial in the issue of September 8 the Times-Union gave the reasons for the increasing of sugar and showed how it was a world condition and was not likely to be much, if any, mitigated for years to come. We insisted there that it was Florida's opportunity and urged that our farmers turn immediate attention to the subject. We are glad to have so high an authority as Capt. Rose present the subject again with an array of facts that showed more strongly than did that editorial what a great chance is presented to make this state the greatest source of supply of the sugar the nation uses that can possibly be found. The same authority has in many addresses and communications to the press, besides the pamphlets he has issued, shown that Florida's climate renders her the superior of even Louisiana, which has always been regarded as preeminent, the sugar producing state of the Union, in the regard that the greater length of growing season in this state allows the sugar cane, which is a tropical plant, to mature more fully than in more northerly latitudes. Florida can produce more sucrose, less glucose in it than Louisiana can.

If Florida could produce 1,500,000 tons of sugar this year she could sell it all in the United States, without interfering on the markets for Louisiana sugar or the best sugar of the western states. Even if the European war should come to an end within a week she would still have the control of the American market for several years to come and that would mean practically indefinitely. It is not only a wonderful opportunity for Florida farmers, but also for Florida merchants and capitalists to rear, where Times-Union.

JOLLY GIRLS IN QUIET FAMILIES.

I seem in the midst of the crowd,
The lightest of all;
My laughter rings cheery and loud
In banquet and ball.
My lip hath its smiles and its sheers
For all men to see;
But my soul, and my truth, and my tears
Are for those—are for thee.

As a general rule, very jolly girls are attracted to their partners in this position.

The girl bubbling over with merry laughter, full of life—a veritable human sunbeam—finds an irresistible charm in the companionship of the very sedate young man who looks affection out of his eyes, but whose lips are mute. His quiet, masterful manner, appeals to her.

She marries him with little or no courtship. When he takes her home to live with his folks the jolly little bride is like a flower transplanted into a different garden. The young husband comes honestly by his quiet nature. He takes after his cold, austere, undemonstrative mother, whose heart is in the right place, but she has no way of showing it.

To the jolly girl who was used to balls and parties, after theater suppers and tango dancing into the wee sma' hours, ere she met her quiet beau the rule of closing the house at nine-thirty sharp was almost intolerable. In vain she appeals to her young husband. "Mother's been doing the very same thing every day as long as I can remember," he says. "It wouldn't be possible for her to change her way of living now."

"But I don't want to live midst old conditions while I'm young," persists the bride. "There's no such thing as having a cup of chocolate brought to one's room. This is a house of rule," she goes on desperately. "One has to be up at six-thirty, breakfast at seven by the minute, keep at household duties till twelve, thirty minutes for luncheon of cheese, crackers and weak tea."

A guest dropping in of an afternoon is looked upon with holy horror.

One has to converse with jolly friends in whispers lest the sound of laughter should get beyond the crack of the parlor door. Dinner is served at six sharp.

There's no bit of news discussed over the teacups; no delicious bit of scandal rolled mischievously over the tongue. Disposing quietly of the viands set before one is attended to in quiet, almost silence. The parlor is dark. One may sit up in her room and read or retire as one pleases. But the fires are banked up for the night precisely at nine. Roving Tom, the cat, who detests rules, must be in. The dogs are locked and securely bolted thereafter. The house is given over to darkness and silence. The jolly sunbeam of a wife soon droops. The uptight husband soon realizes that it is far wiser for him to take her to a home of her own, beside a few plain rooms, than to keep her in an environment which chills the warmest heart. In after years, jolly girls may become sedate wives. Up to that time they want their fling of pleasure, while youth and the relish for enjoyment are theirs. Taking a bride home to live with his parents rounds delightful, but doesn't always work out well. Jolly hearts change soon enough. The married couple will be living together long after the parents are gone.

WANTED: A HEAD FOR THE FAMILY.

Like love and friendship, these a comely pair,
What's done by one the other has a share
Just like co-partners in joint stock of trade,
What one contracts by the other paid.

It is a sly, standing joke that most widows are not averse to slipping into the matrimonial harness a second time. It puzzles young girls to see their widowed aunts, fat, fair and forty, with grown up children, looking around again. Middle-aged spinsters can't understand it.

The woman who has once been a happy wife always feels the need of a strong shoulder to lean upon to the end of life's journey. She has been used to wise counsel, to looking up to one more experienced than herself. If she is the mother of a large family, she feels more than ever the need of a head to the household. It is a very exceptional family where the members do not clash now and then. The young fellows "josh" their sisters about all skirts, their corsetless figures, peek-a-booo waists and pork-pie hats. The girls get back at them with whispered taunts about seeing them trying to mount the main stairway when they came in at two a. m. or hearing that they had been flirting with girls that they wouldn't think of introducing to them. The mother is almost powerless to quell the argument that ensues.

Why wouldn't she, wish from the depth of her troubled heart that she had a husband to keep the young folks within bounds? That's not the least of her worries. It's no easy matter to provide not only fashionable attire, but the necessities of life, for would-be social climbers. She knows by experience where there's a head of a family he cannot shirk paying the bills if he would hold his head up in the community. If he marries a widow with six children, he knows there's eight to provide for instead of two had he taken a single woman.

It is safe to believe that the man who assumes the position of being at the head of the house, when he marries a widow with six children, has every reason to hope for seven times as much love in that home as if they were but husband and wife dwelling therein.

A widow knows how to appreciate a man. The loneliness she is forced to endure makes her sympathetic and eliminates the harshness, if any, which might have been in her disposition.

Having a large family on her hands causes her to think twice ere being too independent with her second husband. Experience teaches her that she must be a help or a hindrance to him. As a bachelor, it was the bane of his life not to be able to shoo off friends whom he did not want, who invariably dropped in of an evening. Her past acquaintance gave her the knowledge of just who would be the right kind of friends for him to entertain and those who were not. "Children won't always remain in the home nest. His true reward comes when there's just two left in the home—the head of the family and his helpmate."

THE SHADOW OF BETTER DAYS.

Dear, if your future life should need
A strength my love can only gain,
Through sufferings or my heart be freed
Only by sorrow from some stain,
Then you shall give and I will take
The crown of life for love's dear sake.

A woman who has had a taste of luxury and is obliged to get down to the bare necessities of life to make ends meet forgets to look for sun shine, seeing only the shadows.

Her greatest charm had been her ambition—her confidence in herself, and her winning smile, which opened all hearts to her. A little cog had slipped in the wheel of fate, and her fortune had gone down with it. The woman who has been mistress of a home of her own, in a congenial atmosphere, and is obliged to part with it moving into humble quarters amidst un congenial surroundings and people, is apt to lose heart.

A man meets vicissitudes grimly, plunging into business to forget and retrieve his fallen fortunes. The woman who has no ear to help herself sees her craft drift idly about, pushed out by one wave only to be driven back by another until hope is gone. Her apathy and despair those about her imagine to be dignity. They hold aloof from her. It is the worst thing a woman can do, to give herself up to brooding. It does no good. Her lamentations make her husband's burdens the worst to bear. She who makes the best of everything is a God-given sunbeam to the man who is almost down and out. No matter how heavy her heart may be, she should force herself to smile, if but to encourage him. She should say to him: "See! The sun shines just as warmly and golden in this pleasant hall bedroom as it used to in our pretty dining room in other days. It seems to bear a song and a cheer to us. Its song is 'No light of heart while the world is bright. I gild hope and banish black despair.'"

The woman who sits down and cries over the better days she has seen is a laggard on life's journey. There's many things she might turn her hands to which would not only help her out of the slough of want, but be of inestimable benefit to those whom she loves. Pride will never bring bread and butter to the woman who is starving. Honest employment will, if she knows the earning of money, it will never slip through her fingers a second time. It is useless to grieve over that that can't be helped. The woman who has seen better days should strive to make use of her knowledge. She should awaken the energies within her that are dormant. She who weeps has dismal thoughts; soon grows world-weary and baggard. She who rises above her environments renews her youth and charms as her hopes brighten with promise.

DESERVES HIS TITLE

JACK RING HAS EARNED RIGHT TO BE CALLED RIVER HERO.

Has Saved Three Hundred People From Drowning and Recovered Numerous Dead Bodies—He Knows the Missouri!

He is a small catfish-eating man, past sixty, who has won and gracefully wears the title of River Hero. Some 300 persons saved from the sucking throat of the flood, about one hundred and fifty bodies taken from the watery, shifting graves—behold Ring's record! Of the rescued, 40 were boys, 25 were women, including a famous "laughing girl," and the rest were men, one of them a 250-pounder.

Jack Ring's beat is one mile of the river front, and he has patrolled it almost daily since 1873, with the exception of six months, when he was fighting in the Philippine Islands.

He knows the Missouri river; its subtle moods, when the floods will come and when recede; the changing channel, treacherous currents, suck-holes, eddies, bollings up; where the sandbars are; the habits and haunts of the snagging things, big and little, that inhabit the stream.

He has developed a scientific and effective method of rescuing persons from drowning.

He has discovered that there are mysterious laws which govern the movement of corpses in the water.

So intimate is Ring's knowledge of the river that if he be informed where an unfortunate sank to death he will calculate the suckhole, eddy or sandbar down-stream, 100 yards to five miles, where the body is likely to be found. Tests have often proved the accuracy of his conclusions.

Not by guesswork or intuition does Ring locate the dead bodies, as many have fancied. He consults his mental map of the river and then makes a mathematical calculation.

"And the map of the river is different every year," the hero explained. "This stream is a restless thing 'twists an' turns in his bed."

Ring's skill as a life-saver is predicated, of course, on his expert swimming. The supreme test of river swimming, so the expert said, is for one to be able to take care of himself in the swift and mighty current, battle through the suck-holes and hold his own in the perilous places where the water "kicks up" and bucks like a broncho. "I've been in a lot of ticklish places, but never lost my head," the old man mused, "an' that's why I'm here."—American Magazine.

Small Armies.
If ever the disarmament of the world shall occur, there will be several countries that will not have much to do in that line, such as, for instance, Monaco, the army of which comprises 75 guards, 75 carabinieri, and 20 firemen.

Another diminutive army is that of the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg, which numbers 135 gendarmes, 170 volunteers and 30 musketeers. The Republic of San Marino can put in the field a total of nine companies consisting of 950 men and 28 officers, commanded by a marshal. The army on a peace footing consists of one company of 60 men.

The fighting force of the "Black Republic," Liberia, is composed of 700 men and almost as many officers. Liberia, however, evidently considers its army a formidable one, since, upon the occasion of hostilities between any of the powers, it always issues a proclamation of neutrality.

Don't Be a Grouch.

The old Connecticut farmer had the right idea. A group of his cronies were talking at the usual corner store about the best way to die. A great many theories were advanced. Finally the others turned to Zak and demanded his opinion. "Well," said he, "I ain't reddey ter die jist yit, but if I had to pass in the cheeks I'd just like ta havv somethin' tickle me ta death an' die a-laughin'." It doesn't cost any more to be pleased than to be grouchy. But it means a lot more pleasure to all concerned.

When a Lie Is Not a Lie.

When the hired girl says her mistress is not at home, while said mistress is upstairs with a novel, when your lady friend says she is not a bit hungry and forthwith consumes it worth of food and drink, when you say to a panhandling friend, "Sorry, old top, but I haven't a cent about me," and there is a large, yellow $20 bill in your vest pocket. These are not lies; they are efforts to spare people's feelings; they are triumphs of altruism over the brutality of conscience.—Exchange.

Gown Will Do Double Service

WE do not look to Paris to produce the best examples of tailored gowns. As in the making of shoes all the world concedes the American product to be the best, so in the production of the tailored costume Americans have set the standard for Europe, or for those Europeans who can grasp our conception of clothes made for utility and hard service but not devoid of beauty.

A design by Paquin is pictured here developed in smooth-faced cloth. Parallel rows of machine stitching, showing a perfection of workmanship, in the most approved tailor-made style, appear wherever there is a logical position for them. Around the bottom of the tunic, down the front edges of the coat and about the bottom, at the edges of the belt and where the sleeves are set into the body, these rows of exquisitely regular sewing challenge the eye to find a fault. Small points, made of folds of the cloth, as exactly uniform as the belt. These decorations are tests of good tailoring.

HID LIQUOR BENEATH PULPIT

Kafr Boy Found Ingenious Hiding Place for Intoxicating Beverages. He Was Fond of.
Residents of Bellevue East are enjoying a joke at the expense of a congregation whose church is situated not a thousand miles from that district, says a Johannesburg, South Africa, dispatch.
Temperance above all things has been preached in the church with unflagging insistence from the pulpit. Lately some people living in the neighborhood were interested in the fact that there was always a large number of Kafrs about the church in little knots and clusters, and at last someone—a trifle more curious than the rest—asked if there was not a native mission or chapel attached to the church. This not being the case, it became difficult to account for the presence of the natives, to whom one would, hardly expect to see Europeans to be an object of particular interest or attraction.
No doubt the church officials were puzzled, and so they set to work to solve the mystery. The solution is alike tragic, humorous and simple. While the evils of drink and the virtues of temperance were being thundered from the pulpit the divine was, to all intents and purposes, standing over a native bar, for under the pulpit were found concealed dozens of dozens of bottles of liquor, apparently stored there by the ingenious Kafr boy in charge of the church.
One has heard of many neat hiding places for illicit liquor, but the base of a pulpit does seem the limit. If that Kafr boy listened to the sermons, how delightfully they must have developed his sense of humor.

Nothing has been done in the matter, so shocked were the congregation that it was thought best to keep the matter quiet.

Fishing in Salt Lake.
The waters of the Great Salt Lake, Utah are the most heavily impregnated with salt of any large body of water in the world, save perhaps the Dead sea, in Palestine. No life exists in the lake except a diminutive form of shrimp, never exceeding one-third of an inch in length. Residents of Utah are thoroughly familiar with the fact and frequently play pranks on visitors to the city who have not learned the mysteries of the Great Salt Lake. Some time ago the Annual gamated Association of Street and Electrical Car Workers of America held their convention in Salt Lake City and local members of the organization induced a number of distinguished visitors to go fishing in the Great Salt Lake. After casting their lines most discouragingly for nearly an hour and cursing their ill luck in not getting a rise, the victims were told of the joke. It is said that other sufferers, who fished for nearly three hours, are still hunting for the lakers who "landed" them—Wide World Magazine.

Costly Clothes.
Members of the Chicago Dressmakers Club say that a few women in Chicago spend $75.00 each on clothes. The popular leaders spend $100.00 each, and the average woman along on $40.00. The dressmakers manage to work along on $10.00 apiece, but the modest suffragists and church workers who though few of us have probably noticed it must dress about alike, spend the same amount, namely $50.00. Having various causes much at heart, they have other uses for their money than displaying it on their backs. The social workers are very properly, more modest still, spending only $10.00. The stenographers, shopgirls and factory girls spend respectively, $25.00, $25.00 and $20.00. As the wages of these girls cannot average above $15.00, $10.00 and $8.00 respectively, it will be seen that they spend too much on their clothes, and yet they could hardly present a decent appearance on less. They lose something by not making their own clothes, but they must be very strong to sew much after finishing their day's work—Leslie's Weekly.

Answered His Question.
A well-known and highly competent lecturer on the land question was recently addressing a vast open-air meeting, when he was repeatedly interrupted by an individual in the crowd, who kept saying, "What has this government done for me?"
It will easily be recognized that an interruption, especially of a persistent character, can be particularly annoying to a speaker who has to face the difficulties which attend open-air oratory. However, after a short period of persecution, the lecturer turned suddenly round towards the man.
"I will tell you, my friend, what the government has done for you. Some time ago they passed a mental deficiency bill, and I believe you will be one of the first to derive benefit from the measure."
There was a deep peace as far as the interrupter was concerned.—London Tit-Bits.

Emerson's Style.
Any question about Emerson's style cannot be better answered than in the words of Emerson's dear friend, Thomas Carlyle. Wrote the "Gleaner of Chelsea" of his friend's way of writing: "It is pure, genuine Saxon; strong and simple; of a clearness, of a beauty; but does not sometimes rightly stick together. The paragraphs are not beaten inlugs, but beautiful square bags of buckshot held together by canvas."

ABOUT PEOPLE AND EVENTS

Boor were dainty, hand made handkerchiefs.

The wedding presents were shown at the end of the hall, where the silver, cut glass and china was attractively arranged.

Mr. and Mrs. Toole left on the morning train for Jacksonville and South Carolina, from where they will go to Philadelphia to make their future home.

The bride's going away gown was a smart tailored suit of dark blue wool poplin. With this was worn a blouse of blue crepe-meteor, hand embroidered, and a stylish black velvet hat with white wings and silver ornament.

Mr. Toole is a young man of sterling qualities, connected in business as insurance inspector with the Transportation Mutual Insurance Co. of Philadelphia. His bride is a charming and popular girl, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence D. Wicker.

Pre-Nuptial Dinner

Tuesday evening, preceding the wedding rehearsal, Miss Genie Wicker entertained with a very delightful dinner for the wedding party at her home on Oak avenue. Covers were laid for ten. The colors of yellow and green were tastefully carried out in the decorations of the table and dining room. The table with its appointment of cut glass and silver and dainty china, centered by a basket of ferns and almanders was very attractive. The pretty little place cards of cupids and hearts were attached to yellow ribbons attached to the charming favors concealed beneath the basket. These were cards containing kodak pictures of the bride and groom to be, with the date Oct. 21st, 1914. A tempting six course dinner was served consisting of:

- Grapefruit Cocktail
- Turkey Bread Dressing
- Celery Cranberry Sauce
- Saratoga Chips
- Bread and Butter Sandwiches
- Chicken Salad Wafers
- Olives
- Ice Cream
- Fruit Cake
- Pound Cake
- Coffee

Miss Wicker's guests were Rev. F. E. Steinmeyer, Misses Julia and Rebecca Wicker, Mr. and Mrs. Florence Frank, Messrs. Norman Toole, M. M. Gregg, O. K. Lewis and Pope Wicker.

After the rehearsal cake and wine were served.

Every Week Bridge

One of the delightful affairs of the week was the meeting of the Every Week Bridge Club, with Mrs. Forrest Lake hostess on Thursday. In honor of Mrs. Randolph Peyton of Washington, D. C., and two of the season's brides, Mrs. W. E. Watson and Mrs. Geo. D. Bishop, there was a guest table. Mrs. T. A. Neal made top score winning the club prize, a dainty tea set. Mrs. Bishop won the guest prize, a case of coasters. A refreshment course of creamed chicken, broiled pineapple, pimento cheese sandwiches, tea and coffee was served. Mrs. Lake's guests were Mesdames G. F. Smith, C. M. Vorce, Margaret Barnes, W. D. Holden, T. A. Neal, S. E. Puleston, R. A. Newman, D. L. Thrasher, C. O. McLaughlin, B. W. Herndon, A. W. Fitts, Sr., members of the club. Other guests were Mesdames Randolph Peyton, Geo. D. Bishop and W. E. Watson.

Fancy Work Circle

Mrs. H. H. Hill was the gracious hostess to the members of the Fancy Work Circle Thursday afternoon and a very delightful time was enjoyed by those present. The social gatherings of the circle are always enjoyable affairs and anticipated with pleasure. A tempting refreshment course was daintily served, consisting of tomato aspic, rolled sandwiches, olives, radishes and coffee. Assisting in serving were Misses Erminia Houser and Gladys Wilson. Members of the club present were Mesdames Tom Davis, N. H. Garner, Esterby, Roberts, Milner, W. J. Hill, W. T. Johns, W. W. Long and Miss Jessie Wheeler. Other guests of Mrs. Hill were Mesdames Ed. Higgins and Henry McLaulin and Miss Bessie Long.

Woodmen Circle

The ladies of the Woodmen Circle were delightfully entertained at the Gate City House Wednesday afternoon, with Mrs. J. D. Parker and Mrs. R. E. Shinholser hostesses. The afternoon was pleasantly spent with amusing guessing games and music. In the "Flower" contest Mrs. J. N. Robson answered the greatest number of questions correctly and for the penalty of success will have to entertain the circle at its next meeting. A light refreshment course was served.

Launch Ride

A gay party of young people enjoying a boat ride on the lake Thursday morning were Misses Julia Wicker, Rebecca Wicker, Mary Chappell, Lucie Chappell, Margaret Davis; Messrs. O. K. Lewis, M. M. Gregg, Pope Wicker, Leslie Sample and S. Yountz.

Eastern Star

At the regular meeting of the Eastern Star Tuesday evening, Mrs. W. M. Haynes and Mr. Frank R. Adams were initiated. When it was announced that the new apparatus for the initiation ceremony would be used for the first time Mr. Adams was visibly affected and it would seem that Mrs. Haynes would not have the "courage" to wait for the German air ship to arrive but the candidates knew it would be a fine thing to be floating around with the other abiding stars, so taking their courage in both hands they stepped aboard the ship, flew over to France, dropped sixteen bombs overboard while hovering above the allied armies, didn't stop long enough to ascertain the damage, for Messrs. Ray Butts and D. H. C. Rabun were going to serve refreshments and returned to Sanford on schedule time, alighting on the roof of the Imperial just as the first call for refreshments sounded, amid the applause of the cheering stars, a frightened but happy pair of Eastern Stars, who did full justice to the tempting dainties served by the gracious hosts. Applications for membership are being received at each meeting and the order is growing rapidly in Sanford. Prominent guests from DeLand were Mrs. J. D. Conrad and Mrs. Belle Smith. Mrs. McGaghgin of Ocala was also present.

Woman's Club

The reception of the Social Department to the general club will be held at the club rooms Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 27. Every member of the entire club is cordially invited to be present.

THE SANFORD COMMERCIAL CLUB HELD BIG MEETING

THE CLUB IS GROWING IN MEMBERS AND GOOD WORK

One of the best and most enthusiastic meetings of the season of the Commercial Club was held last Friday night with about twenty-five boosters of Sanford and the surrounding country present.

The reports demonstrated the vast amount of good the Commercial Club is doing for the city and the county of Seminole.

Previous to the opening of the meeting and while waiting for the report of the secretary Mr. Henry Marks of Chicago, who was present was called upon to make a talk to those assembled upon his proposition for giving Sanford the attractions of a street fair.

The report of the committee on investigating the early closing of the express office was heard and a letter from the agent read, in which he stated that the downtown office would be open all day and would only be closed from 12 to 1 at the noon hour.

Regarding the request from the county commissioners that a hall be appropriated by their body for an exhibit at the Orlando fair it was the sense of those present that a report follows be sent the board.

That any fund appropriated for loss or advertisement be placed in the hands of a committee of the Commercial Club to be expended on a home celebration during the month of February, details of which will be furnished later.

A committee was appointed, consisting of the following: A. P. Connelly, R. Walker and C. O. McLaughlin to appear before the city council at their next meeting to confer with them about the appropriation for a county exhibit.

Messrs. Singletary and Blackwelder were present and called the attention of the club to the meeting of the State Federation of Labor that will meet here in January and the president informed them that a committee would be appointed later to take care of the visitors and to cooperate with the local organizations relative to showing the visitors a good time during the three days of the meeting.

C. O. McLaughlin called the attention of the members to the Lake county side of the road leading from Sanford to Sorrento, Mt. Dora and Hustis and this matter will be taken up through the secretary with the Lake county board of commissioners.

The inland Waterways via the St. Johns river which was taken up at previous meetings was again called up and the importance of this matter brought to the attention of the members. A committee composed of C. R. Walker, E. T. Woodruff and A. P. Connelly was appointed to investigate the matter and write the Senators and Congressmen about the St. Johns river route.

G. W. Spencer. The committee will report at the next meeting and the banquet and smoker will be held in the rotunda of the court house and promises to be one glad time.

Before adjournment the resignation of Secretary Bates was accepted. Mr. Bates has made the club an excellent secretary but the duties of his office as county assessor are such in connection with his other duties that he was forced to resign from the club.

The names of Ernest Householder and W. M. Haynes were proposed and Mr. Haynes was selected for this responsible position unanimously and made a graceful speech of acceptance. Mr. Haynes is the business manager of The Herald and is a busy man but he can be depended upon to give the club his best efforts and can be found at all times at his office in the Herald building.

The Commercial Club is growing and the report of the finance committee was most encouraging, demonstrating that while a great many of our citizens are too busy at times to attend the meetings they are willing to enroll as members and pay their dues and the Club is beginning the year's business under most auspicious circumstances. No man in Sanford can afford to stand aloof and refuse to join the organization that has accomplished so much for the city and is continuing to accomplish so much. In fact nothing can ever be accomplished in Sanford without the united efforts of the citizens and they will never be united under any other banner but a trade body proposition. The way to build a city is for every citizen to join a commercial body and help push, forget all differences and boost, eliminate politics and pull and the united efforts will accomplish wonders.

The next meeting will be held in the city hall on Friday night, Nov. 6th.

Carman Jury Disagrees

Mincola, N. Y., Oct. 26. The jury in the case of Mrs. Florence Conklin Carman, charged with the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey, failed to reach a verdict after thirteen hours and ten minutes of deliberation. At 10 o'clock the jury was reported as unable to agree, and was discharged.

Two jurors are said to have voted for acquittal and two for conviction of murder in the first degree, on the final ballot.

District Attorney Louis F. Smith said tonight it was unlikely that Mrs. Carman would ever be brought to trial again.

Attorneys for Mrs. Carman tomorrow will ask that she be admitted to bail, and the District Attorney is not expected to oppose such a step.

The defendant collapsed in the court after the jury was discharged.

When the jury appeared to report disagreement Dr. Edwin Carman, the defendant's husband, who had been sitting in the court room conversing with friends, joined his wife at the counsel table. Mrs. Carman appeared tired and fearful. Her hair was disheveled and her formerly immaculate costume wrinkled.

Robert Ludlum, foreman, announced.

"We have been arguing for eight or nine hours and we have been conversing for the balance of the time. We cannot agree."

At the suggestion of John J. Graham, Mrs. Carman's chief counsel, the jury was asked whether it was the evidence they could not agree on.

"It is not a question of evidence. Your Honor," said John H. Goelin, juror number nine. "We have gone over the evidence carefully and we cannot reach a verdict."

The Justice thanked the jury for its attention to the evidence and then discharged it.

Prominent Educator Here

Prof. Shelton Phillips of Williston and inspector of rural schools of Florida was here several days of last week looking after school interests. He had not finished his tour of Seminole county last Saturday and as yet we have not learned what he thinks of our rural schools but from what he did see he gave a most excellent account and the school board and teachers and the county superintendent of Seminole county can well be proud of the schools that have been intrusted to them.

RELATION OF GROWER TO THE BUYERS

VEGETABLES PACKED PROPERLY COMMAND BETTER PRICES

The following letter from W. C. Doyo & Bro. is very timely and to the point and can be read with profit by all those who are interested in Florida fruits and vegetables.

New York, October 21, 1914.

The Sanford Herald, Sanford, Fla.: Gentlemen—We believe it is recognized by those who know that there are as many cars of vegetables shipped from your territory as any other point in your great state. Our experience in handling these goods here as distributors is varied, and sometimes unsatisfactory, not only to ourselves, but no doubt to those who ship us. We thought perhaps it might go to more shippers, and they might benefit by our experience to better advantage if you would publish this letter in their behalf as well as ours. It is our opinion, after a great deal of experience, that if shippers and growers would use more care, and greater effort in packing and shipping their goods, better results would be obtained, and no fault found with their commission men who at all times is doing the very best he possibly can with their shipments, if he is conscientious, honest and untiring in his efforts to get the best possible results. If not, he is not worthy of their shipments.

We believe it a good idea for shippers to use for themselves a brand, and in establishing a brand, build up a reputation that will benefit them, not only for the future years, but for their entire experience.

For instance, if a brand of goods is branded Sanford star, every package that is shipped from that farm should be so branded, not carelessly, but neatly and plainly, and nothing under this brand should be shipped excepting No. 1 goods, and every effort should be put forth to pack these goods in such a manner as would sustain the reputation of the brand as well as the manager who is entrusted with the shipment of these goods, so that they will sell at the market for a good price.

15 Address, subject, The Ethical Campaign for the Benefit of the Individual Society, by the State President, Mr. D. B. Curry. 15 Installation of Officers. 30 Consolation Service, Mr. S. Harrison, Winter Park. Benediction.

market price. In this way goods would invariably be sold before they arrived, and when such is the case, it is an easy matter to get an extra price. This can only be done on a brand that has a reputation, and is well known among the trade.

Of course, there are exceptions. When receipts are light, and goods are in demand, then sometimes the ordinary stock brings as much as the good, but this is the exception, not the rule.

If this matter alone could be impressed upon the minds of every shipper and grower in your territory, we believe it would be of great benefit to them, and would be the means of their obtaining better results on the average for everything they shipped. It is done in some sections; and wherever applied it brings results, and that after all is what the grower and shipper has in mind, and is constantly working for. A shipper spends his time, his money and labor in growing goods, bringing them to perfection, and then when he has them ready to ship, puts them up carelessly and gets poor results, simply because when they reach the market they invariably reach there in poor order, packages slack and command no attention, causing a constant source of annoyance and worry to the party who sells them.

If you think favorably of this matter and think this letter is worth publishing in your paper we shall appreciate it, and we will be glad to follow it up with others, if in your judgment you think it necessary.

We are interested in Sanford. We handled a good many cars from there last season and we hope to handle a good many this year, and it is our aim, intention and purpose to get the best possible results for all who entrust their goods to our care. Cooperation in all lines of business means success, and if a shipper will closely follow the advice of a commission man, with whom he does business and in whom he feels confidence, he will get better average results.

In this large metropolitan district of ours the population is increasing rapidly, and the demand for southern grown produce is always going to be great during the winter season.

We hope for Sanford a successful season. Thanking you in advance we remain yours very truly,

W. C. DYOY & BROS.

THE SEMINOLE COUNTY FAIR PROPOSITION

COULD BE HELD THIS YEAR IN FORM OF STREET FAIR

Sanford will be the scene of a big gala week in January or February when the first session of the Seminole County Fair is held. This will be surprising news to the people of the city and county but will be good news, for the idea of Seminole county having a fair has been agitated many times in the past year. If we are not to have an exhibit of our resources the next best thing is to have an exhibit in Orlando, or if the Seminole fair is held at some time near the date of the Orlando fair the Seminole county exhibit could be moved to Orlando with but little expense if the people of Seminole county so desired.

At any rate the idea remains fixed in the minds of the people of Sanford that this county should have a fair of some kind and as there are no fair grounds available the best manner of holding the first fair would be on the streets of Sanford. The booths could be arranged all along First street and the poultry show and fruits and vegetables and fancy work and products of the kitchen could be housed in the Imperial Theater or the city hall or any suitable buildings in the main part of the city in order that they would be under cover in case of rain.

The fair proper could be all on the main street and this feature especially appeals to the merchants of the city as the crowds would remain in the city during the four days of the fair. This being the case the merchants would arrange special sales and give away prizes and otherwise assist in making the four days a grand success and general trade days.

In connection with the fair proper, Henry Marks, one of the best boosters and advertisers in the fair and exhibitions business in the city and is anxious to put on aeroplane flights and some fine fireworks displays. His fireworks displays are of the best and he has the stage of Aftawep and several other good pieces that would be excellent drawing cards for the night displays. Mr. Marks has the highest class exhibitions of this kind and will also erect on the street the replica of Heidelberg Castle, in which the ladies of the city would serve lunches during the fair and make some money for the club affairs and civic improvements of Sanford. In fact, Mr. Marks would get up some most excellent attractions for the fair and some that have never before been staged in Florida.

The Commercial Club has taken up the matter and a special committee of business men were appointed by President Laku at the last meeting for the purpose of conferring with Mr. Marks and making arrangements for the exhibits. As Sanford has never had an aeroplane flight this alone should prove a great drawing card and the men employed by Mr. Marks are among the best in the business and the weather permitting will guarantee a successful flight over the business portions of Sanford every day of the fair week.

This matter of a fair, while rather late to inaugurate should prove a decided success in every way and out of the first efforts a good annual fair can be evolved and another year Sanford can have a fair grounds rare track and many other features that will appeal to the people of Seminole county.

It is to be hoped that the people of the whole county will take an interest in the fair and if possible the fair should be held in February of next year as it will be the means of attracting one of the largest crowds to Sanford that the city has ever known.

We have all the fruits, vegetables, live stock, etc., that any other section of the state can boast and a fair in February will demonstrate to the world that we have the goods and are not ashamed to show them.
