State Criticizes Altamonte Aide

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Auditor General Ernest Ellison leveled criticism at Altamonte Springs' tax assessor today and said the city had $48,000 in loans conflicting with its charter and wasn't collecting a tax. Ellison recommended city voters give "serious consideration" to electing someone to come under jurisdiction of the county tax assessor for city assessing purposes.

He said the city assessor had not prepared official tax rolls for 1967 and 1968, and had not complied with charter requirements to recapitulate the rolls with totals for real and personal assessments.

Also, he said, the delinquent tax list due April 1 was not ready by the May 31 audit. Tax refunds totaling $482, were made without explanation. He added, Altamonte Springs was not levying the 10 per cent utility tax on water sales although required by ordinance, the audit reported.

Although the charter limits borrowing money to two years, the city has $48,500 in loans outstanding for a fire engine and sewer project property which will be older than that before the notes mature, he said.

Ellison also noted Mayor W. L. Swafford claimed $306 on May 7 for "services other than official duty" individuals. Ellison said they should have been claimed as reimbursement for expense.

I now that it isn't necessary to write and remind you of that important high school football game tonight between Seminole and Lyman High Schools at the Sanford Stadium. Game time is 8 and the parents of the SIS griders will be introduced with their program. (I wonder if that means the same as their kids, eh?)

What an eye-opener . . . that legislative meeting last night at the Seminole County court house. Maybe we should have said "eye-closer" cause it didn't get through until after the bewitching hour (midnight).

It was standing room only . . . I'd guess somewhere over 200 hundred taxpayers from Orange and Seminole County wanting to "have their say."

Our own Bill Scott has provided the hard news; however, there were some "lighter moments."

Confusion reigned supreme at one point . . . debating on a bill that wasn't actually a bill???? Sounds confusing? Senator Plante made the observation that "we can't vote on a bill until there actually is one." This prompted the exasperated chairman Senator John Ducker to reply, "Get we gotta vote on something."

And the time that the '60s "gooder" from the audience went up to the legislative table and picked-up a microphone . . . the woman stating her position couldn't be heard due to the lack of amplification in the meeting room.

Two School Board members and Ernest Cowley, administrative aide, appeared at the session to oppose five proposed bills under consideration for submission at Tallahassee.

All five were drawn up for submission" by Rep. William Gibson in responding to what he said were many requests.

At another point, a shaggy-haired dog made the scene . . . and who did the TV camera's focus-in-on? The pooch, naturally. (And our illustrious delegation was un-staged once again: "Boss" that . . .)

There's nothing but nothing that adds more flavor to a meal than having someone else pay for it.

Kirk Tells 600 Volusia GOP Members Solons Drag Feet On Roads

By FRED VAN PELT
 Gov. Claude Kirk held an informal 10-minute chat about the "good guys" (Republicans) and "the bad guys" (Democrats) before an estimated 600 fellow Republicans at DelBary Civic Center Thursday afternoon. As usual, the "good guys" won.

In two instances the Republican Governor "held out" on the West Volusia GOP members, who filled the Civic Center to standing-room-only. Kirk lambasted the Demo-

Solons Favor Utilities Bill

By BILL SCOTT
 Orange - Seminole legislative delegation last night, by an eight-to-two vote, approved a bill to place Seminole County's municipally - owned utilities (with minor the control of Florida Public Service Commission (PSC) before the Legislature for passage.

Voting against the bill proposed by Seminole County Taxpayers Association on behalf of Sunland Estates residents who are opposed to paying double the price of utilities brought from the City of Sanford, were Sen. W. D. Gunter and Rep. William Fulford, Democrats.

Mrs. Etha Norman, secretary of the taxpayers group, told 18 of the 11-member delegation (Rep. Lewis Earle was absent) that the city had increased water and sewer rates to customers outside the city and did not notify in advance of intention to do so.

Rep. Leonard Wood asked Mrs. Norman if the city was seeking retribution against her group because of past actions in stopping the extension of the city limits of Sanford.

The woman replied it could be arm twisting by the city to try to force residents to come into the city.

Referring to a statement by Harry Skop, Sanford mayor and candidate, contained in The Herald, Mrs. Norman admitted that city-owned utilities are tax-exempt and an additional sales tax would be charged if the PSC took control of city utilities.

Skop, speaking as a taxpayer and city resident, told the delegation the city is now making only 5.5 per cent profit on utilities and is allowed to make up to 10 per cent profit.

He continued, "every city in the state will be subject to the same rule if Sanford is placed under PSC control."

At this point, Sen. Kenneth Plante, inquired if it is known that the coming sewer system at Altamonte Springs with less than 400 connections would be under this bill if passed at state level.

Rep. Cecil Balthew then amended the measure to read "with over 400 connections" and the measure subsequently passed on a roll call vote.

In another action, the group set Dec. 16 as the cutoff date for accepting new legislation and set the next hearing for Dec. 16 at Orlando.

Mayor's Election Seen 'Up In Air'

By MARION BETHEA
 Legality of the municipal elections could be challenged due to irregularities brought to the attention of Altamonte Springs City Council.

Crux of the matter is that the charter calls for posting of a proclamation 45 days before the Dec. 2 election.

A proclamation was posted on Oct. 19 listing the offices for two city councilmen but omitting the vacancy for the mayor's office. A subsequent proclamation was issued on Nov. 1 listing the mayor's office.

Mayor W. Lawrence Swafford contended that the error was due to inexperienced office help and intimated that it was of no consequence. Councilman William Nuckols disagreed, stating that if the elections were held based upon these proclamations a shadow always would be cast upon the office of mayor.

Council then voted 3-1 to issue a proclamation calling for the election of the two councilmen on Dec. 2 but having the election for the mayorality 45 days after issuance of the proclamation on Nov. 1.

Swafford contended the council issued the proclamation "without authority." Swafford said he intends to "ignore the proclamation."

The question then arises as to the legality of the matter. When contacted by The Sanford Herald this morning City Attorney S. Joseph Davis stated that Section 7 of the Altamonte charter calls for an election proclamation naming the time, place, date, vacancies for the different offices and posting 45 days before the election to be held on Dec. 2.

According to Davis any election can be challenged if there are considered to be irregularities but this does not necessarily mean the challenge will be successful. Davis further stated that the charter specifies that the office of mayor shall be filled and voted upon on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in December. Therefore, any irregularities must be substantive to justify overturning the election results.

But the average work week, overtime work and average pay all declined, signaling a possible economic turnaround later, said Asst. Commissioner Harold Goldstein of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

TERESA LINDA, CALL (AP) — Taking advantage of a new federal law, a young man has notified the post office he considers obscene a letter ordering him to appear for a production physical.

With tongue in cheek, Robert Blanch, 26, filed a notice with Postal Supv. Frank Ely on Thursday, demanding his name be removed from his draft board's mailing list.

Ely said the form will be forwarded to (5) Post Office Department in Washington "on a routine basis."

John Ducker was chairman of the session that ran till 1 a.m. today. (Bill Scott Photo)

Local Education Bills Opposed

Sex education, trashy school books, children standing on school buses, double sessions and approval of sex education materials highlighted a portion of last night's Orange-Seminole legislative delegation hearing at Seminole County Courthouse.

Two School Board members and Ernest Cowley, administrative aide, appeared at the session to oppose five proposed bills under consideration for submission at Tallahassee.

All five were drawn up for submission" by Rep. William Gibson in responding to what he said were many requests.

Both Mrs. Bryant and Keeth opposed action to require parental consent for health and education courses being taught to their children; prohibit use of Sullivan Reading Series; provision of materials recommended by Sex Education and Information Council (SEICUS); prohibit children standing on school buses; and students attending double sessions in county schools.

They contended that if Seminole and Orange County schools are placed under such bills that a general law covering all state counties should be passed.

Mrs. Louise Breeze, Orange County school board chairman, also appeared to speak on the bills.

Mrs. Bryant said the offering of sex education will be required by the state by 1973 to be taught on a secondary level. She asked why a general law could not be enacted, not just local bills for two counties.

Sanford Port Leases Acreage

Seminole County Port Authority at yesterday's luncheon meeting approved leasing 3 1/2 acres of property at the Port of Sanford site now under construction on the St. Johns River near 14 to Continental Marine Engineering Company, Inc., at $2,013 a year for a ten-year period.

The Orlando firm wants to construct a 6,000-foot building of slabs and a roof to use in the manufacturing of concrete dry docks.

James Ryan, port administrator, told the authority members that lease price would amount to slightly over 1 1/2 cent a square foot for land purchased by the authority at $1,200 an acre. Ryan said with the new rental fees, this would mean an increase in property evaluation to $1,900 per acre.

The administrator said the dry dock firm was anxious to begin work and wanted to move in right away.

Jack W. Balthew, chairman of a president, previously leased for four months a portion of Sanford Airport structure in which to construct a model for the floating docks.

Ryan indicated the company might want to lease additional port property for expansion at a later date.

Another subject discussed by the authority concerned the need for a land use study of the port property and it was decided to instruct Ryan to obtain cost figures from land appraisers before deciding on the study.

Ellsworth Bassett, authority chairman, observed it would help to get the land use study since industrial bids for locating prospective customers might be available.

Pastor's Corner Christian Maturity

By REV. JULIUS C. EYERS
First United Methodist Church

It would be my fondest desire that all Christians would grow in Christian maturity at the same rate. However, this dream is not reality. The fact is that some Christians move faster than others. There are some who are like turtles, being unable to conquer their old ways and habits which once completely impressed them.

I am reminded of a man, a member of a church of which I was pastor, who was coarse, cheap and crude. One evening he came into a vital, transforming experience with Christ. The wonderful thing about this experience was that for him it was the beginning of a new life. He did not remain satisfied with the one initial experience with Christ. Within a month he was volunteering to teach a class and soon became a member of the official board. The sad part about this story is that there were other men and women in the same church who had been members for 20 or 30 years who remained inactive in church life, petty and gossip.

Superman Was Hero In Battle Of Truth

By BENNET BOLTON
NEW YORK (AP) — While religious writers have been reluctant today to people's careers, an American folklore figure figure fitting about some 1500 books making it big by his very irreverency.

Superman, ever waging his "never-ending battle for truth, justice and the American way," once had wartime chaplains convinced that the Man of Steel was becoming a substitute for religion.

"He was a code of ethics in four colors that you could roll up and stick in your pocket just before you hit the beachhead. He was right here with the troops as a morale booster."

So notes John M. Cadley, a current affairs writer in a recent issue of the Catholic weekly magazine Ave Maria. He says the red-caped Kryptonian helped restore people's faith in their own power to triumph over "the evil that was everywhere around them" after the first appeared 21 years ago in the pages of "Action Comics."

"Concern might almost be a better word, like a father's concern for the son who's just gone out of college and is convinced of the work of chaplains. We know he's got to change and yet we hope he doesn't."

Cadley finds that we Americans still like Superman and are still interested in what was happening to him, only the interest is a different kind now.

"Concern might almost be a better word, like a father's concern for the son who's just gone out of college and is convinced of the work of chaplains. We know he's got to change and yet we hope he doesn't."

Most types of evergreen and large shade trees should be moved during a ball of soil covered tightly with material such as burlap. Plants which have been grown in containers have the advantage of transplanting well anytime, provided their roots are well established in those containers. If trees and shrubs are properly planted, chances for survival and growth are improved. When transplanting into a poor soil, a hole should be dug larger than the root system or ball to be placed in it. Mix into the soil that is to be replaced, organic matter such as peat moss or compost at the rate of one part organic to two parts soil. Partly fill hole with your soil mixture, then position the plant so that it will be at the same depth as it was before transplanting. Finish filling the hole and firm the soil around the perimeter of the hole with the excess soil. The extra soil will form a reservoir for water applied to the soil surface.

Most types of evergreen and large shade trees should be moved during a ball of soil covered tightly with material such as burlap. Plants which have been grown in containers have the advantage of transplanting well anytime, provided their roots are well established in those containers. If trees and shrubs are properly planted, chances for survival and growth are improved. When transplanting into a poor soil, a hole should be dug larger than the root system or ball to be placed in it. Mix into the soil that is to be replaced, organic matter such as peat moss or compost at the rate of one part organic to two parts soil. Partly fill hole with your soil mixture, then position the plant so that it will be at the same depth as it was before transplanting. Finish filling the hole and firm the soil around the perimeter of the hole with the excess soil. The extra soil will form a reservoir for water applied to the soil surface.

National Education Week Time For Citizen Action

National Education Week—November 9-15 commences on Monday. So important, so basic to our American way of life is sound education or better yet, learning—we use that the citizens of Seminole County take active part in the week's affairs.

One of the best definitions of what the citizens' role should be is contained in these words: "Each citizen in each of his public and private capacities has a direct responsibility to understand, support and improve the schools."

Also, and this will be emphasized during the week in Seminole schools, is to know by personal experience what the teachers are doing and how they are doing it.

This, in turn, means that parents will visit the schools and talk with the teachers and, wherever possible, spend a few minutes with the school principals.

It will be no surprise to us if those who take part in such visits will go home with enlarged capacities for understanding and a realization that our entire school system is responding to the demands of these challenging times.

This response is not one hundred per cent. And, of course, it would be Pollyannaism of the worst sort, to discount the very real problems—apart from pedagogy—which beset the schools in Seminole.

But the mere fact that the school system is on the way to enlighten the concept of all its members and to encourage those who would step ahead to do so, to define the goals which must be defined to be sought intelligently is very much to be commended.

Such understanding brings with it the kind of support which does not allow a superficial fog of approval words, or head-line making acts confuse or distort the strength of this backing.

The 1970s is the period when "the status quo attitude is allowable without open and hidden charges. This is true in every theater of human endeavor."

While we certainly understand the slogan—"Better Education—Your Job"—as adopted by National Education Week, we would agree only if that "Your Job" aspect is not limited to the citizens and the parents, but applied with vision and vigor to the teachers and the principals who have chosen that as their life work!

Politicians have no regard for John Q. Public except during "The Friendly Season" . . . and which includes appointing tax money for such essentials as more than two elections a year, purging the voter registration lists, excessive salaries, etc.

Ohio, for example, holds two elections a year—a primary and a general election, that's all. Not Florida—elections are held at the whim of any politician.

Like a few years ago the schools had two election scheduled, one to choose members for the School Board and the second a bond issue. (Then) Supt. Ray Milwee guessed (and rightly so) a single election might kill the bond issue. Two elections were held, a week apart. The bond issue carried, what with a light voter turnout.

Sanford city officials became disgruntled a couple-three years ago. The city ticket was at the end of a long, long haul. . . . and the election day just voting when they got down that far. So, the city changed its election date.

Earlier this week the voters went to the polls to cast ballots on one single issue, a constitutional amendment on school bonds. Four weeks later Sanford voters will go back to the polls to elect a mayor-commissioner and a commissioner.

It's possible the politicians do not realize that elections cost money.

The law provides that Carl Bruce shall spend something like $25,000 on mail to purge the voting registration list. Ohio does it the simple way: Anyone who doesn't vote within a two-year period is automatically removed from the registration list.

The master politicians are running scared of "the little man." They're planning maneuvers against him.

County Commission candidates are lining up already for next year. Robert Hainaway, with Jay Oee backing, is considering running against Warren Buggins, of the Democratic nomination and the opportunity to try to unseat Republican Greg Drummond. O. L. Cooper, with Little League backing, is pondering whether to run against Robert Parker.

Memo to the County Commission: Think twice about selling those new courthouse construction bonds ($2.9 million) at a discount. Another law suit will be thrown at you, if you do sell at a discount.

Our Free Country

According to a study of 2,000 college seniors by a Tulane sociologist, the students are a "private generation" with a predominant mood of "withdrawing into self" which takes the form of "rejection of authority." All of which adds up, in the sociologist's view, to a "don't-tread-on-me righteousness."

And what dramatic savings by the students prompted these bleak conclusions? Why, 79 per cent of the young folks said that "universities should not try to control student life outside the classroom" and 82 per cent vowed that "my private life will not be sacrificed even if it means making less money."

It seems to us that the sociologist is the one who belongs to some "private generation" based on a "withdrawing into self." The students sound like generations of Americans before them who proclaimed loudly: "It's a free country, ain't it?" — Charlotte (N. C.) News.

Nixon Gets Lever To Attack

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—It has been reported with considerable vigor that the Supreme Court's decision in the Nixon v. General Services Administration case is a major step in the face of black schools and white teachers in Mississippi.

Actually, quite the contrary is true.

The ruling puts Nixon in an enviable position.

As a politician on Capitol Hill put it:

"Politically, he can say to the South that he tried. He drew the line (or so it seems) and he's not going to go back on it."

"He can say to the North that he's own appointee, Chief Justice Warren Burger, voted for the court's decision."

More significant, the court's statement is so worded that a number of questions in the integration believe the Nixon administration will be able to use it as a lever in attacking segregation.

Justice Department men say they have frequently asked these questions in the North. These customs, government experts say, can be called "Nixon systems" similar to the one Nixon set up with a segregated school.

Men who have worked on the Nixon case, however, believe the court's decision for immediate integration will apply to cases where it can be used as a lever in attacking segregation.

Kirk Wants $6.4 Billion For Roads Solons Called To Special Session

By RICH OPEL
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Gov. Claude Kirk says he will call legislators into a special session Dec. 1 to fund a $6.4 billion road program—and give Florida taxpayers higher taxes by Christmas.

Reaction of lawmakers was swift and mostly negative, and they will meet in a special session between the governor and the Legislature tomorrow on the DeLary campus.

Kirk said in Fort Lauderdale he will ask the Legislature to fund a 13-year roadbuilding program with an immediate one-cent hike in the seven-cent a gallon state gasoline tax.

Also, Kirk said he would request earmarking for roads in the next budget. He said he would also ask for a 10-cent increase in the 1971 tax on motor vehicles, and a 10-cent increase in the 1972 tax on motor vehicles.

He said $10 million in tag revenue should be set aside for the program in fiscal 1971 with the next four years, ending with a maximum of $30 million annually in tag money in 1975 and thereafter.

For the Republican governor, it represented an apparent second step in a departure from his no-new-tax pledge of the 1968 gubernatorial campaign. Last year he said he would favor such new taxes with approval of the voters. He did not meet with the Legislature in his new conference.

Kirk said he was fed up with the Democratic leadership of the Legislature and, "If something isn't done, 3,000 people will be killed on the highways of Florida in 1985."

Kirk appeared to be opening the door for a pre-election year reconciliation with the legislative members of the Legislature—almost to the man—have fought desperately to meet our road crisis, as have many Democrats.

The death of a bipartisan legislative spirit with the governor was evident earlier this year in legislators' quick overriding of his veto of the $13,000 legislative pay bill.

But Kirk trained his guns as usual on Senate President John Matthews and House Speaker Fred Schultz of Jacksonville, saying the "Democratic leadership had woefully neglected its responsibility" in meeting the needs of roads.

Kirk also said he wanted legislators to settle the dispute of 1970 election primary dates during the 18-day session.

Speaker Schultz said the Legislature was willing to meet road needs, but not before the House Transportation Committee completes its probe into "indications of gross inefficiency" in Kirk's transportation Department.

There's no way that Gov. Claude Kirk's call for a special session on road financing can deter a legislative investigation of the Transportation Department, a subcommittee chairman said Thursday.

Rep. William Conway, D-Orlando, who leads the House Transportation Committee subcommittee, said the group would redouble its efforts "to get to the bottom of it—consultants, contracts, all forms of favoritism of one sort or another."

"I don't think there's any question at this time maybe with making our committee work effective, but it's not going to happen," Conway said.

House Speaker Fred Schultz, D-Jacksonville, said the Legislature is ready to meet road needs—but he agreed the Transportation Committee concludes its probe into "indications of gross inefficiency in use of funds in the Transportation Department."

Dade County "to get these people into jail." He said "the word is out to the underworld not to worry about these incidents," that opponents "have tried to put up road blocks." He said that law and order will prevail.

Touching on his personal war against crime in Florida, Governor Kirk said that "the war against crime are out to defeat Kirk and all Republicans but the battle is about to be won" by the GOP. He pointed to 29 indictments in Duval County and of his trans-

Kirk touched on one of his favorite subjects: The need for vocational and technical schools in Florida, pointing out that only 13 per cent of available jobs require college training "and yet 65,000 of our children are not prepared vocationally."

The Governor stopped in his chat several times to joke and ask if his audience wanted him to continue. They did. But after 50 minutes he was cut off by the master of ceremonies, probably by pre-arrangement.

New Citrus Policy Acclaimed

By ERIC SHARP
Associated Press Writer

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—A new patent policy "has companies just beating on the door" to get exclusive development rights for new citrus products they previously wouldn't have touched with a ten-foot pole, a Florida Department of Citrus official said Thursday.

The new policy grants exclusive development and marketing rights to companies which are licensed to sell new citrus products, and also provides a small royalty to Citrus Department employees that invent new products and techniques, said Dr. John A. Ataway, the department's director of scientific research.

"The real purposes of this policy is to let these products that can be marketed by everybody and get them to companies that can market them while offering such a system, first proposed by Soviet party chief Leonid Brezhnev in June, is emerging as the key to Soviet policy of the National Assembly—who are

State Agencies' Merger Fought

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission Director Frye Fretz declined again Thursday to join the Department of Natural Resources, and the director of that agency passed up a chance to invite him in.

Natural Resources Director Randolph Hodges appeared before the Senate State Government subcommittee to discuss progress being made in reorganization.

Hodges was asked if he would propose merging the commission into his department, which legislators said was their intent in the reorganization.

"I'm a little reluctant to propose legislation that would have the effect of abolishing another agency," Hodges said. "I think that should come from the Legislature, not from an agency head."

Frye appeared as an observer, and committee members granted him an opportunity to state his case. He said he interpreted the law as a merger of his some functions but not the entire commission.

If Frye would propose to be in our control the bureau of game, fish, wildlife protection and wildlife education."

"By having these people in one location in Tallahassee," he said, "instead of having five conference rooms, we'll have one. And instead of having five receptionists, we'll have one."

But some of the board need more office, Stymann said.

"If you've ever heard of the black hole of California, that's what the Board of Funeral Directors and Embalmers has in Short Prayers Are The Best!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
PE. D. M. D.

CASE K-342: While President of Great Biblical Institute, Dr. Horace Smith invited me to address his seminary students.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "would like you to give us the psychological view of prayer."

So I accepted his gracious invitation and explained that prayer is not to be confused with a sermon, delivered while parishioners have their heads bowed and eyes closed.

Yet far too many clergymen use their pastoral prayer as a device to persuade or to impress the audience.

Instead, such a prayer is intended to be blessed to God Almighty!

As such, it should be short and direct.

Yet last December I attended a church where the pastor actually spent 15 minutes and 15 seconds in his opening prayer, not to mention an additional 35 seconds in which he asked the congregation to join him in reciting the Lord's Prayer.

This means he spent 50 minutes in prayer, yet his 6 minutes 15 seconds was NOT directed to God at all!

He harassed the congregation on the meaning of "Amen" or the Christmas event in the Christmas calendar.

If he wished to do that, he should have included it in his sermon and not imposed on God Almighty by this ceremony.

A few years ago I saw the silver anniversary address of Christ Methodist Church in St. Petersburg to honor Dr. Paul Herin.

Dr. Herin had previously arranged for the local radio station to broadcast my 20-minute speech.

Being a very tactful pastor, Dr. Herin invited the District Superintendent to open the 30-minute radio program with "a few words of prayer."

But, like many modern clergymen, he tried to deliver a sermon under the guise of a

"When we get to the supermarket, dear, you hold a paper for me in the check-out line while I pick up the items we need. I've seen the others wait."

"I've never been in a small airplane like this before. May I steer it for a while just to see what it's like?"

"Don't you think it would give a little more flavor if you stepped up another class or two of garlic and onion clove in?"

Bear Lake Curriculum Co-Ordinator Appointed

By MARYANN MILES
Mrs. Edna Dates, newly appointed curriculum co-ordinator at the Bear Lake School, has been given a big help for the teachers as well as the school principal, Arnold Otto. Her job is described as a "helping teacher," a person to develop curriculum objectives for the district staff and in evaluating the program and its effectiveness. She also assists the teachers in developing instructional materials and in the implementation of instructional practices that provide for the fullest development of pupil self-concepts, assist teachers in locating, evaluating and using proper, materials and equipment. She also assists the teachers individually or in groups in finding solutions to instructional problems.

At present only the Bear Lake School, and Longwood have the "helping teacher," but it is hoped in time all schools will have this help which relieves the school principal and gives him more time for administrative work. It may also prove that one principal may be able to serve two schools as principal, instead of one for each school.

Beginning Of Foes's Winter Campaign

Viet Cong Hit Saigon Outposts

By PETER ANNETT
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) - An estimated 100 Viet Cong guerrillas assaulted government outposts defending Saigon early today for the first time in 18 months, while other enemy forces made 28 rocket and mortar attacks across the country.

The shelling was the heaviest in more than two months. The South Vietnamese military commander for Saigon and 11 surrounding provinces said the sharply stepped up attacks marked the beginning of the enemy's winter campaign. His army counterpart said, "I don't think he's going to get very far with it."

Most of the attacks were in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon or in the central highlands. Casualties included two Americans killed, six wounded, three Vietnamese civilians killed and 20 civilians and 18 soldiers wounded. The bodies of three barefoot guerrillas dressed in black pajamas were found alongside one of the posts.

Major Richard J. Daley said he proposed more troops and one rocket launcher were found nearby. It appeared the Viet Cong posts are about a mile apart.

There apparently was no attempt to infiltrate into the city, as earlier reports had indicated. Instead the mission was to destroy the outposts, and it did not succeed, although the posts were lightly defended.

One South Vietnamese combat policeman was killed and seven were wounded. The bodies of three barefoot guerrillas dressed in black pajamas were found alongside one of the posts.

Capital Facing Riots Nov. 15

By WILLIAM BARTON

WASHINGTON (AP) - Government officials who refused to issue a permit for a mass march to protest the Vietnam war admit they have not read a report contending a similar rejection helped trigger violence during the 1968 Democratic convention.

Although the National Violence Council reported earlier in Washington, D.C., and "not Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst said again Thursday the government would not allow a march of thousands along Pennsylvania Avenue and around the White House Nov. 15 because of "a substantial likelihood of serious violence."

Major Richard J. Daley also raised the specter of potential violence to bar a march during the Democratic National Convention in Chicago last year.

Part of each dollar spent at either of the Colonial Drive McDonalds will go to the uniform fund.

Local Education Bills Opposed

ing himself to the same day, countered with "we cannot say what is good for the entire state, and this does not mean we are doing so."

Rep. Cecil Bostwell said he had read the Sullivan Reading series and "it is trash."

Cowley made several trips to the podium to speak against all five bills, saying he had been instructed by the School Board to oppose the measures.

Finally, it was decided not to take action on any of the five measures until next legislative hearing scheduled for Dec. 16 at Orlando.

Decision Interpreted

Douglas Stenstrom, Seminole County School Board attorney, told board meeting yesterday that he felt the recent U.S. Supreme Court decision affecting Mississippi schools had no immediate effect on county schools.

He confirmed that if the county was in federal court over integration situation, then the federal decision could be applicable on county schools.

The attorney said he had not yet received a copy of the court official says.

The board has not a special meeting today to deal with non-compliance proceedings scheduled to start Nov. 19 in Washington before a Council for the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW).

Complaints Of Police Are Aired

Complaints by citizens of harassment by Altamonte Springs police officers has been brought to the attention of the City Council by Mayor W. Lawrence Swofford.

Residents have complained that officers, with shirt tails hanging out, were in cars, and in unmarked cars, were stopping them in regard to traffic violations.

Swofford stated that these men are not members of the Altamonte Springs police, who are always in uniform and have police cars. When questioned as to who is issuing the traffic tickets, Swofford answered that one of the questions was issued by a constable. He did not name the constable.

Council authorized continuation of the pay of Police Chief Fred Folsom for a 90-day period, to be re-evaluated on Dec. 31. Folsom is currently in Florida Sanitarium and Hospital, following a heart attack, and his sick leave pay of 18 days has expired. Members of the Longwood, Casselberry, Maitland, and Altamonte Springs police departments, and the Seminole County sheriff's department have offered to work gratis in Folsom's place.

Soviet Economy Seen Cause Of Difficulty

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
Soviet Premier Nikolai S. Podgorny talked tough to the United States in his Bobaljik anniversary speech, but the limitation opening this month come at a time of urgent need for steps to end the momentum of the arms race.

"Huge resources spent on the arms drive could be transferred to peaceful means for increasing the welfare of the people of the world," he said.

Those expenditures also could place the Soviet Union in a better position for eventual competition with American around the world, rather than on a path of dangerous military competition. As of now, economies and the rising demands of Soviet consumers. If it is going to turn to internal problems effectively, the Kremlin must satisfy the military that there is no major threat to the security of the Soviet Union and the Communist bloc.

Podgorny gave no specifics for agriculture or consumer production, despite unfavorable weather. In those years in some cases production was so poor that Moscow had to turn to Canada and elsewhere for grain. Press comments on this year's outlook have been pessimistic.

Last month the Soviet press said nearly 30,000 industrial enterprises now operate on the "new system" begun in January 1966, and from these enterprises came 91 per cent of this year's "profits." The "new system" is a limited reform involving more local managerial discretion, incentive payments and cutting of costs, which means widespread firing of surplus labor. Despite good results, there is evidence of trouble in the obvious clashes with party doctrine.

Apt. House Minus Access

By MARION BETHA
Essex Street in Altamonte Springs was platted 40-20 years ago as a 20-foot street.

Nearing the completion stage is a ultra-modern apartment complex of 165 units, in the $1 million price range, known as Village Green Apartments, and scheduled for completion in another six weeks. Builder developer is Paul Glafenbein.

The 40-foot right-of-way was not considered sufficient to handle traffic at the apartments.

At a recent meeting Altamonte city council rejected approval of plans for the construction of Essex Street, which leads to the Glafenbein apartments off its own an orange grove and home on Essex Street.

Although the city refused to approve Essex Street because of insufficient right-of-way, Glafenbein has begun paving the street, which upon completion, will return to grade with Miami 436. Council stated that the subdivision ordinance required a 50-foot right-of-way and insisted upon compliance.

At a meeting of the council on Nov. 3, a telegram was read from Joseph Murasko, representing Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bradford, stating that work which began on the street by Glafenbein on Oct. 30, 1969, had resulted in a change of grade which had endangered his client's adjoining land, and deprived them of access to Essex Street from their land.

Council was requested to rectify the situation. The Bradford's have agreed with Glafenbein to own an orange grove and home on Essex Street.

Mayor Swofford said that Glafenbein purchased the site of the apartment complex from the Bradford's and that the city will realize approximately $18,000 per annum in taxes from the complex.

Nuckols asked Glafenbein's engineer, Al Land, U.K. drop-off of the present grade to the construction. Land stated it was approximately 12 inches, to which Nuckols countered "you mean more like 18 inches, not 12." Land agreed that it was possible in some places.

The matter was "resolved" by council by a vote of 4-1 (Nuckols cast a negative vote) accepting the street as a 40-foot right-of-way. A 20-foot right-of-way was accepted from Glafenbein. Land was advised by Swofford to submit a deed for the right-of-way to the city, and post a one-year maintenance bond after which city will maintain the street.

MAYOR W. LAWRENCE Swofford stands before the completed Glafenbein apartment complex, which has no access road because of a controversy with the original landowners, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bradford, according to the Altamonte Springs chief executive. Word now is that the matter has been resolved and a road will be constructed. (John A. Spolaki Photo)

Tonight's Intra-County Rivals

LONGWOOD LYMAN'S FIGHTING GREYHOUNDS

SANFORD SEMINOLES FIGHTING SEMINOLES

Seminoles Ready To Stifle Lyman Attack

By GIL LUCK

The Seminoles are ready for Lyman's 1969 edition of the Seminoles-Lyman football rivalry unfolds at Sanford Memorial Stadium tonight at 8 p.m. Both teams are 3-3, have high hopes for the other yet are confident of victory.

Both come into the contest in top physical condition. The difference could be the fighting Seminoles momentum.

This is the last home game of the regular season for Seminoles (including about thirty-two seniors); they need the win to keep their hopes alive for the District 5 title and as a shot at the state championship, and they are looking to extend their winning streak to five games and get revenge for last year's defeat at Lyman.

Of course, Lyman would like to demonstrate they can bounce back from their defeat two weeks ago at the hands of DeLand. They'd like to continue their domination of the Seminoles (Lyman has won the last three games in this series) and to even the overall series 4-4.

The Seminoles have had great success with Orange Belt Conference teams the past few years. During the past five seasons, Seminoles have played 16 games against Orange Belt competition and won 13 of them. All three defeats were dealt by Lyman. Yet, the Seminoles hope for a District title, relies on what they fare in their final four outings.

Only three other Seminoles teams in the past twenty years have gone into the seventh game of their schedule with a 3-1 record or better. Coach Tom Perrin's magic alchemy has blended perfectly with the building spirit at Seminoles.

Perrin feels the game tonight will be "a head-knocker." He says, "If our defense line charges and we cover their receivers as well as we did last week against Jesuit, we'll be tough and hard to beat. We're preparing for a total offensive game by Lyman. They do a lot of things with the ball. They're not a one-man or two-man ball club as some would suppose; they're solid from end to end. Lyman has a good running game and a good passing game off running backs. They have three guys that can run the ball well and a quarterback who handles the ball extremely well. And, they have a fierce defense. But, we're eager and willing, our spirit and morale is just fine and we just need one of the best practice weeks we've had this season."

DUFFING WITH DON

By Don Forrens

Jacks Back:

The Golden Bear is now shendrella but that bulge in the right rear is not flesh but cash. With a birds' binge in the last two tournaments he has picked up over 45 thousand dollars and has increased his standings to fourth on the money list, where his is just a little more to than the 14th place he was in until this last two weeks. Baby Beef as he was known has pulled a Bill Casper, sans the Buffalo meat, has dropped to a light heavyweight one eighty five. The most obvious thing to notice has been the magic of the white gang pouter. To win the Kaiser event this last weekend he had to sink an 18 footer on top of George Archers and Billy Casper already in the hole birds puts and then went on the next day to handle the birdie putt with Casper and Archer in the only playoff to be scheduled the next day because of darkness in PGA history. The three had a fourth tagging along for the first hole but Don January could only get the first extra sudden death hole and was left in the smoke of the others birds. Big Jack is going on to Hawaii for the big doings there this week, and who knows he could make it three in a row.

Hey did you notice that Wilf Henneke blazed home with a record 65 to finish in the real big money in one of the California events. He was in the top ten of the recent WGA event at the Mayfair, and the little Canadian told us he was headed for California just as soon as he finished here in Sanford. Looks like the WGA stake is going to pay some big dividends.

We don't know as yet just where but Dave Ragan is going to rejoin the big tour again, and we can only wish him the best of luck. Like so many of the past great Dave is still top from tee to green, but the old putter just doesn't have that steady stroke it seemed to possess when he won several PGA events and finished high enough in the standing to play on the Ryder Cup. A few of the folks have liked the problem, and if faith will do it Dave is sure on the way.

Whelchel Invitational:

Don't forget to sign up for the Hugh Whelchel Memorial Invitational to be held at the Mayfair CC on November 21, 22, and 23. The Friday play will be a pro-am with the weekend seeing a 36 hole medal play invitational with full handicap by flights.

You should call the Mayfair Pro Shop for reservations at 322-2031.

Land O Lakes:

New Pro Jimmy Jones has really got things hopping at the LOL as he has got the Seniors, Juniors, Ladies and the Men's associations all running in the area by finishing in the week's seniors event W. E. McLain came home with the best score and top money for the day, in the Runner-up spot with a fine round was F. G. Mayview.

In the weekly rat rollers Jimmy Johnson had the best score of the day to stop all concern. Helen Kaehler took second place with Ann Leach to the third spot.

Coming up on the 15 and 16th of this month will be an invitational benefit to help the Boy Scouts of Maitland. Up for grabs will be 300 dollars in prizes with all entry fees going to the Scouts. This event will be judged on the Callaway system and is open to all golfers both men and women from 15 to 90.

Top spots of the week in Seminoles County both were recorded at LOL. Bill Soliron stroked a perfect second shot seven-iron on the 370 yard third hole for an eagle two. A wedge shot dance was cause for joy for Jerry Brown as he holod out his second shot on the 330 yard fourth hole for another big bird. Great golfin' fellas.

Mid-Florida:

Al Kelley is off and running as the new pro at Mid-Florida and DWL wishes to salute him in his new status and wish him the best of everything including all those Big PGA events he has qualified for by being the best of the Florida PGA pro. Ironically he is not exempt for the Citrus Open as it is an invitational similar to the Masters.

In the weekly dogfight the boys had to compete with Mother Nature as well as the golf course and had to settle for some pretty high scores. Jim Yasait took the event with a plus one and Allen Riddie was runner-up with a minus one.

Valley Forge:

In last week's Pro-Am at Rio Pinar Valley Forge Dew pro Joe Novello made it known he is in the area by finishing second to Dave Ragan with a fine 70 over the wind swept course.

In the week's regular senior event Art Land took first place with the second spot being garnered by Bill Crane and Ed Wilkerson was the third place winner.

Rolling Hills:

This club was well represented and well rewarded at the Mount Dora event this past week as 14 of Rolling Hills members took part and 7 of them cashed including runner-up in the overall event, Jack Schubert.

This Sunday will see all the members competing for the Col. James W. Bidwell trophies. This medal play event is for both sexes with the best net scores with full handicaps winning the handsome and coveted prizes.

In the regular ladies event for the week June Dressel was the top point maker in the championship flight. Joan Hutchinson won The A flight ladies, with B flight going to Georgene Wright and C flight fell to Fionnie Lann. The feature of the day was taken by Toots Mitchell.

Mayfair:

In last week's fourth George Billups teamed with Mary Anderson, Bob Axt and Miriam White for a 295 and best score of the day.

The low net prize was awarded to Stella and Harold Brooks and their partners Carla and Pete Page. In second place was the foursome of Dossie and Jim deGanah and Catherine and Charlie Parks.

In the kicker section of the event Vivian Pierce and Andy Caraway tied for first place and Bob O'Neil and Catherine Park deadlocked for the runner up prizes.

Liz Robertson is off on her winning ways again as she shot a net 89 to take first place in A flight in this week's women's golf association tournament. The B bracket prize went to Vivian Pierce with a net 78 and the same score was C division money for Stella Brooks.

You men don't forget to send in your Men's Association dues to Harold Brooks at the Florida State Bank or give them to John Pierce at the pro shop. Our first event for the year will be a boys for 104 journey in cooperation with the Sanford Elks Club, during the first part of December. George Billups is chairman. . . . You men who plan to join our association for the first time or are going to renew your membership please try to get at least 5 recorded scores before December One, so a first time handicap card can be figured.

Greyhounds Set To Scalp Seminoles

By CHUCK GRILE

Herald Sports Staff

Tonight, under the lights of the Sanford Memorial Stadium, the county clash of the year will commence, the opponents: the pride of Longwood, the Lyman High Fighting Greyhounds and the host for the evening, the surprising Seminoles High Fighting Seminoles. For all practical purposes, the victor tonight will be the Seminoles County champion for 1969-70, but the title is yet to be earned. Kickoff for tonight's big battle is set for 8 p.m.

The fighting Greyhounds have been away from action for two weeks and are well rested and ready for action. They have been buying up for this big tilt for the past two weeks, and hopefully, their efforts and diligent attention will pay off on the gridiron tonight.

The pride and power of Lyman High has won this county either the last three times. In 1966, in '67 and last year by a mark of 20-13 Lyman bested the Seminoles. Seminoles boasts a 5-1 season mark, and likewise the Greyhounds have comprised this same tally total so far in the 1969-70 campaign, what a toss up! The die has been cast, and in a few short hours, the cheering stands of the county clash of the year will be heard; Lyman vs. Seminoles.

Middies Trek To Central

By RICHARD ANDERSON
Herald Sports Staff

SOBHEMTO — The powerful Sanford Neutral Academy Blue-jackets return to action after an off week to face the once-beaten Florida Central Red Devils for the unofficial Lake and Hills Conference Championship.

The Middies had a week's rest after the Hastings game in which they won 6-0, on a rain-plastered field in Hastings.

Florida Central last only lost one out of five contests this year and coach Bill Klein of SNA feels they have their finest team ever.

Randy Leader, the Middies senior passing sensation, has now hit on 66 of 120 passes for 436 yards and along with running for 436 yards. This gives Leader a booming total of 1,400 yards in just six games. Leader is just 32 yards short of breaking his 1462 total yards last season. Leader has also thrown for two touchdowns, which is only two short of his season record set last year.

Leader's leading receiver is Chip Grant, who has caught 47 passes for 645 yards and scored 36 Blue-jacket points.

Top men on the defensive unit this year have been 195 pounder, Bill Driscoll, along with Dale Hancock, Larry Johnson, James Starkey, David Left and hard hitting Joe Rye.

The Blue-jackets and Red Devils are the only schools in the Lake and Hills Conference with football teams, so every year their meeting decides the conference championship. The Blue and Gold have won the last two encounters, but this game could be a good bit tougher than last year's 46-0 romp.

Game time is 3:30 p.m. today in Sorrento at Florida Central Field.

Harvard Favored

NEW YORK (AP) — Harvard was favored to win its third straight heptagonal cross-country title at Vn Cortland Park Friday.

GETTING NOWHERE, this would-be Seminoles runner meets the defense of the Baby Bulldogs of DeLand in last night's action, DeLand won the battle 32-12.

Passing Ambushes Seminoles

By ROBERT SMITH
Herald Sports Staff

The Seminoles High junior varsity closed out their season on a sad note last night, as they dropped the finale to the DeLand Baby Bulldogs 32-12. This now gives the Baby Seminoles a season record of 3-5-1.

The Baby Seminoles scored first on a seldom seen play, the strong Seminoles rush forced a high and very short DeLand punt that came crashing down, hitting an unaware Bulldog player on the helmet. The ball was scooped up by Ricky NeSmith, and carried in for the touchdown. Later Seminoles moved 32 yards, highlighted by a 46 yard kick Harts to Aaron Johnson aerial, account on a six yard pass to Nick Brady.

DeLand's three scores in the second period did the trick. Lamar Howell's quarterback sneak, with no time remaining in the half, proved to be the decider. This gave the Baby Bulldogs an 18-12 lead. On a cold, 86 degree, night the Seminoles defense started strong, but froze up toward the end of the game.

Coach Darwin Booth described the game in one word, "terrible." Seminoles fans will try to forget last night as they prepare for tonight's game as the fighting Seminoles varsity takes on Lyman.

Minnesota's Gary Holtman intercepted a Nebraska pass this fall and ran it back 99 yards for a touchdown. Holtman is a sophomore defensive back from Trenton, N.J.

FEARLESS FOOTBALL FORECAST

By Bill Scott

Last week's 30 win 34 loss and one tie column made the "Old Forecaster" feel mighty proud as we correctly picked LSU to lose to Mississippi and Auburn to defeat Florida.

Our overall percentage was .681, not too bad, but on the other hand, not as well as desired, so let's seek to improve it with this week's forecast.

LSU over Alabama by ten points; Auburn over Mississippi State by 15 points; Georgia Tech over Georgia by 12 points; Vanderbilt over Kentucky by one point; Memphis State over Tennessee by seven points; North Carolina over Tennessee over South Carolina by 13 points; Citadel over Maine by three points; Clemson over Duke by six points; Richmond over Furman by seven points; Wake Forest over Virginia by seven points; West Virginia over William and Mary by ten points.

East

Army over Oregon by three points; Boston College over Buffalo by 13 points; Boston U. over Rhode Island by six points; Cornell over Brown by 12 points; Colgate over Bucknell by one point; Dartmouth over Colby by 13 points; Rutgers over Connecticut by three points; Delaware over Lehigh by seven points; Princeton over Harvard by six points; Lafayette over Vermont by 21 points; Penn. over Yale by two points; Notre Dame over Elmhurst by 20 points; Syracuse over Arizona by six points.

Host Tough Ironmen Panthers Ready To Defend Division Lead

The Orlando Panthers have an 8-2 record which is great. The Panthers have only two games remaining on their schedule and are leading the Atlantic Division of the Colonial Football League. The Panthers have only two games away from their fourth straight division title. Everything seems rosy, doesn't it?

The Panthers two remaining games are against the only two teams to beat them this year. The Ohio Valley Ironmen and the Norfolk Neptunes. The Ironmen, who host the Panthers 14:30 in the first game of the season, and are currently tied with the Indianapolis Colts for the division lead. The Panthers will play the Ironmen at 8 p.m. on Saturday night at the Tangerine Bowl. The following week they shogun quarter back Ed Chlebek who completed 16 or 20 passes against the Ironmen in their first encounter. They're gonna be mad. After the big ones (Orlando and Norfolk) right and left, last Saturday they did around in the mud and let a 6-2 team, the Tri-City Michigan Apollo, beat them or else they would be all alone atop the Central Division.

The same weekend, the Panthers had to tuff and puff to keep the Newark Jersey Jays from doing the same thing to them. When the last whistle sounded, the Panthers were leading the nine yard line on the shot, and on a 24-26 score. The Panther defense held for three downs to preserve the team's divisional lead. The Ironmen are expected to go with their shogun quarter back Ed Chlebek who completed 16 or 20 passes against the Ironmen in their first encounter. They're gonna be mad. After the big ones (Orlando and Norfolk) right and left, last Saturday they did around in the mud and let a 6-2 team, the Tri-City Michigan Apollo, beat them or else they would be all alone atop the Central Division.

Alvarez Looks Forward To Bulldog Defense

By F. T. MACFEELEY Associated Press Writer

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) Carlos Alvarez hopes the Georgia Bulldogs play their usual pass defense style against him and the other Florida past defense held for three downs to preserve the team's divisional lead. The Ironmen are expected to go with their shogun quarter back Ed Chlebek who completed 16 or 20 passes against the Ironmen in their first encounter. They're gonna be mad. FSU Travels To Meet VPI

TALLAHASSEE — Virginia Tech and the Florida State Seminoles will be looking for only their second victory in Lane Stadium.

FSU is 1-30 (EST) and a crowd in the neighborhood of 25,000 is expected if the weather is good.

Florida State goes into the contest with a 2-1 record, the Seminoles' latest victory coming last week 34-8 at the expense of South Carolina, a game which earlier this season downed the Gobblers 17-16 in Blacksburg on a last minute field goal.

Virginia Tech, leader in the series 7-6, is 2-5 for the season. However, the five losses have been by a combined total of 19 points. The Gobblers dropped their first five before winning their last two from Buffalo (21) and William and Mary (24).

"Injuries hurt them early in the season," said Florida State Coach Bill Peterson. "However, they're well now. Virginia Tech has a power football team which lines up and comes at you. They don't play soft."

STUDENT DRIVER

It isn't Math, History or English. But it's just as basic.

To earn a living, he needs the old fundamentals. To keep on living, he must learn the right way to drive. Yet only one out of three high school students takes a driver education course. Too bad. Automobile accidents are the number one killer of American teenagers.

How important is driver education? Well, it's important enough that trained drivers have 50% fewer accidents and traffic violations. Important enough that many insurance companies offer lower rates for teenagers who have completed driver training.

And important enough that new car dealers across the nation loan 34,000 automobiles every year to our public schools for driver training.

It's your responsibility to help make sure your teenager takes the proper subjects in school. So make sure driver education is one of them. Where it's not available, we suggest that you consider a good private driver education school.

When it comes to preparation for living, learning how to drive safely really is basic.

Solons $12,000 Salary Hike Okayed By Court

By RICH OPPEL
 TALLAHASSEE (AP) — The Florida Supreme Court ruled 5-0 today that the $12,000 legislative salary bill is valid and Gov. Claude Kirk's challenge is "without merit."
 "The validity of the statute must be determined without reference to whether the court considers the legislation good or bad," said the unanimous decision written by Justice Joe Boyd.
 "With clinical objectivity we have tested the law by the existing laws of this state, including the constitution of 1968. We find the act valid."
 Gov. Kirk contended in his suit that the legislators broke a contract with the people who elected them at a salary of $1,200 a year, the level in effect at the time the new bill was passed.
 "The court considered and finds without merit, appellants' contention that the law was invalid because it impairs the obligation of the contract," said the court.
 The court ruled a request by a group of legislators that Kirk be commanded to sign the paychecks gathered out on Comptroller Fred Dickson's desk since the law became effective Aug. 3 was "unnecessary" because of the dismissal of Kirk's appeal.
 The legislators, led by Sen. Malbury E. Horne, D-Tallahassee, and Rep. Lee Stranley, D-Jacksonville, co-chairmen of the Joint Legislative Management Committee, sought a writ of mandamus from the court at the time Kirk's suit was dismissed by Leon County Circuit Judge Hugh Taylor.

Holland Seen To Run Again With Plenty Of Opposition

U. S. Senator Spessard Holland will have two major political fights on his hands next year, should he decide to seek reelection for his fourth six-year term in the upper chamber of the Congress.

State Senator Robert Havertfield, of Miami, this morning officially announced his candidacy to seek the Democratic nomination for Holland's seat in the 1970 party primary. Havertfield is 51; Holland is 77.

Associated Press reported that Havertfield said he had "received widespread encouragement for his candidacy in a tour of the state" and I have found an uncomform unanimity of agreement on not only the importance of the issue but the need for immediate attention to them."

One of Havertfield's colleagues, State Sen. Lawton Chiles, Lakeland, has said he is on the verge of officially announcing for the Democratic nomination for Holland's seat.

Two Republicans already are officially in the Senate race: Lt. Gov. Ray Osborne and U. S. Rep. William Cramer.

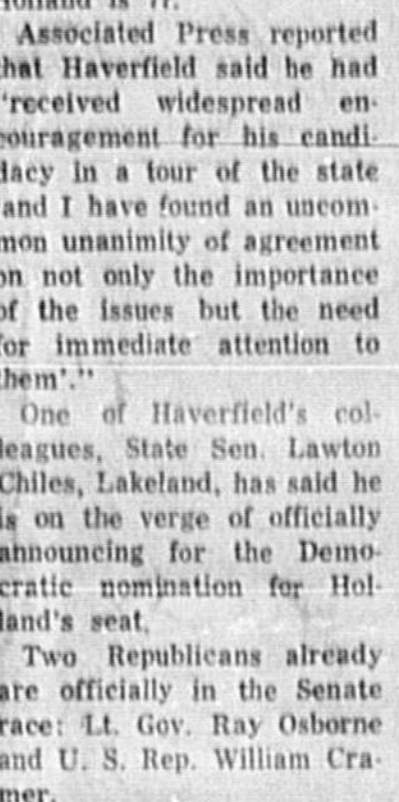

The Sanford Herald's political reporter, Fred Van Pelt, in his "The Friendly Season" column, repeatedly has predicted that Senator Holland will run again. The only Florida to serve as Governor of Florida and in the United States Senate, Holland has said he will announce his intentions later this month or in December, after he has received the results of extensive physical examinations. Already he has reported that early medical reports indicate he is "in good physical shape."

Months ago Associated Press reported that Senator Holland had written a letter to an old friend, the father of Mayor Greco at Tampa, to "reserve my seat on my lucky mail bag." He has made it a point to sit on that mail leg in his every political campaign, and he has emerged victorious every time.

It was on the basis of this

Hearing Slated Nov. 19 At Capital Schools May Lose $800,000

By BILL SCOTT
 There is a strong possibility that Seminole County may lose $800,000 in federal funds in the non-compliance school hearings scheduled for Nov. 19 at Washington before a U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) officer.

Douglas Stenstrom, county school board attorney, said as much during a special School Board session Friday to discuss 100 HEW accusations made against the board.

Stenstrom said if the board, as a result of the hearing, is found to be out of compliance with the HEW guidelines governing racial discrimination, it is possible that funds thought at first to be deferred would be terminated or cut off.

HEW has told the county board that funds already committed would be safe for this year and teachers and curriculum have been established with this assurance.

Stenstrom said the main battle would be to save $422,000 in compensatory education funds and $224,000 earmarked for federal impact money.

If the hearing finds the county in non-compliance, then a review of the decision will be made by the HEW within 30 additional days.

After that, should the county, because of freedom of choice plan, be found in non-compliance, (Continued on Page 2A, Col. 2)

Principals Ponder Unrest

Seminole County secondary school principals were scheduled to meet this afternoon to discuss establishing a school policy to deal with students possible unrest in the county's high schools.

Carlton Henley, Lyman High principal, confirmed today that an FBI agent had been invited to speak with the principals. John Angel, superintendent, and at least one School Board member on problems of student unrest.

The meeting comes with reports that several county high school students are in "sympathy" with certain SDS goals involving education.

Henley opined that up till now there has been no confrontation with any groups concerning the high school but it was important to have the School Board set a county school policy in the event there should be problems with the far-left organization that, for the most part, has confined its actions to college activities.

A Federal Bureau of Investigation agent was invited to give a background on how the SDS operates on campus and make suggestions on the ways to handle an outbreak of unrest should it happen, the principal said.

UNITED STATE Bank of Seminole is expanding its facilities in the amount of $30,000, with a new brick front, floor space increased by 50 per cent with installment loan and proof departments, employee lounge, board room, conference room and president's office. Pretty drive-in teller Linda Sellers was given the pleasure of turning the first spade of dirt in the groundbreaking.
