HINDU FUNERAL PYRE RIGHT AT OUR BACK DOOR

Here's one of those once-in-a-lifetime pictures—a Hindu boy setting fire to the funeral pyre of his mother. And what's more, the picture was made near Victoria, British Columbia, not a great distance from the United States Canadian border. While friends watched solemnly, the boy, Bhag Singh, 17, applies the torch to the pile of cordwood and his mother's body goes up in smoke. (Associated Press Photo)

ICE-CLOGGED OHIO RIVER FLOODS LOWLANDS

COLORADO SNOW VICTIMS RESCUED

Traveling on snowshoes and sleds, rescuers trudged to Camp Bird gold mine near Ouray, Col., where a snowslide killed three persons and injured four others. An injured miner is shown on the sled as rescuers pulled him to the hospital after digging him from a snowdrift. The Importance Of Travel

The invention of the automobile and the development of highways have contributed enormously to the increase in travel. People who for generations had lived in one county, seldom venturing forth even to neighboring towns and communities, began to drive around, just to see what their neighbors' neighbors looked like. In recent years millions of Americans have made it an annual custom to pile their families into their automobiles and spend their vacations seeing America.

The recently announced decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission ordering a reduction in railroad passenger fares will further stimulate the amount of travel in this country. Basic passenger coach fare will be cut from 3.6 cents a mile to two cents, and the average Pullman rate from 4 cents to 3 cents. This represents an appreciable decline in the cost of travel especially for long distances and one may reasonably expect to see many persons, who have hitherto felt too poor to go on extended trips, now taking advantage of their new opportunities for travel.

There is a lot of country lying between Maine and California, between Oregon and Florida, and in this vast area there are many interesting things to be seen. No one can say that he truly knows his country until he has seen the giant Redwoods of California, the Grand Canyon of Colorado, the cotton fields of Mississippi, and the great towers of New York City's office buildings. The more one sees of the United States, the more one appreciates its tremendous resources, its varied climate, and the many intricate problems which concern it.

It is a good thing, too, for the people living in the South to know that the people living in New England are very much like other people, and for the people of Maine to know that Florida crackers have many of the same vices, and many of the same virtues, as the average Yankee. There are many superficial differences, to be sure; they have a different accent; there is a marked contrast in their favorite menus; but essentially they are much the same.

We knew a Connecticut boy once who thought he was well traveled, though he had never been west of the Hudson. He thought that all Southerners were lazy, that all Texans were six-shooters strapped on their hips, that most Californians were either Japs, Chinese, or Mexicans. He had an idea that Middle Western wheat farms were about the same size as New England farms, and when he spoke of Florida, he referred to it as "out there."

Travel helps one to understand the people of no one section of the country have a monopoly on all the virtues while those of another section have all the vices. It helps one to realize that you find good people in the North and good people in the South, that you find bad people among the rich and bad people among the poor, that some college men are truly educated and that others are educated fools. When these truths are better understood by everyone, as they will be when traveling becomes universal, it will be much easier for the people of one group or section to understand the problems of another.

Jap Newspaper "Bans"

"In every newspaper office of Japan there is a 'ban book,' or many of them," says Marlin Paw, editor of Editor and Publisher, recently returned from a tour of the Orient. "Pasted in order are slips of paper on which are written orders issued by the police, the Foreign Office, or other government offices, to govern what the local press shall not say on any imaginable subject. These orders are tabulated and there is an editor, or several of them, assigned to the duty of reading all copy with a view to conserving the bans. Sometimes mistakes happen, and immediately the editor is on the carpet before a room full of censors, with angry eyes. Not infrequently a violation is met with an order to burn the entire edition. If papers have gone on the street, they must be recaptured. No editor in his right mind would think of deliberately resisting an order, or attempting in any way to evade it.

"Naturally, I was curious to see what type of news was being censored, and to my surprise found that the list included not only military matters, but financial, social and even business news."

"Here is a literal translation of bans as I found them recorded in one newspaper office:

"Editors: Any report in connection with the incident of concealing secret documents by a Miss Kuwa Dagscht, a typist in the employ of the Police Affairs Board of Manchukui, is to be suppressed."

"Editors: Do not publish any news in regard to the removal of the remains of Chang-Tee-Lin."

"Editors: You are hereby advised not to publish any news other than that selected by the Navy office in regard to the Grand Naval maneuvers to be held in 1935, or items which can be surmised in 1935, or items which can be surmised as referring to the following: Time and place of maneuvers; formation of the participating units; matters concerning research, practice and equipment used. Newspapers publishing the aforementioned shall be suppressed."

"Editors: The newspaper is liable to suppression for publication of matter concerning the condition of various banks in Yamagata Prefecture which are disturbing the public and are detrimental to the credit of money circulation organs."

"Editors: Do not publish news concerning the arrest of Korean malcontents."

"Editors: Do not mention plans to build a railway between Harbin and Yoyogi."

"Editors: The case of Doctor Shumei Okawa for violating the explosive control law is not to be published."

Bold Robbers Get Safety Vault In Exclusive Hotel

MIAMI BEACH, Mar. 2.—(AP)—A farcical, fast before daylight robbery of the Colony hotel here—executed with such precision—promptly agreed the perpetrators knew the ground thoroughly—secured three armed banks $30,000 or more in cash, jewels and other valuables Saturday.

Entering the Colony lobby of the small resort hotel about 1:30 A. M. the three men, unmasked, held the night clerk help- less at pistol point, bound the only bellman on duty, blindfolded the aneye safe deposit vault with their ears, dumped it into the rear of an automobile waiting outside and fled.

In one of the 30 safe deposit boxes the robbers looted $4,000, were cash and jewelry Mrs. G. H. Grinstead of Beverly Hills, Calif., guest in the hotel, valued at $5,000; in another Mrs. John Wainwright and Mrs. Martin Whelan, of Wash- ington, had jewelry they took worth $5,000; in still another Mrs. Ben Goldstein of Philadelphia, had placed jewelry she valued at $2,500.

The crime, considered the boldest of the entire winter season, marked the first time in the robbery and theft that have had place at Miami since the only person through the Colony Miami area on edge for days.

F.S.C. Week Is Being Observed At State College

Daily Programs Will Begin With Radio Broadcast Tonight

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 2.—(AP)—Florida State College students as well as alumnae and faculty members, will observe the annual "F. S. C. Week" in a series of programs on the college campus this week.

A radio program over station WTAL in Tallahassee today begins the students' observance which will close Mar. 7 with a night, a student-faculty dinner, exhibits and college song contests are among other events planned for the week.

Miss Katherine Blood, of Winter Haven, president of the College Government Association, is chairman of the students' "F. S. C. Germany Recovers Sovereignty Over Saar Territory

BERLIN, Mar. 2.—(AP)—Germany recovered full sovereignty over the one-time Saar territory Sunday when the last strings tied to it by the League of Nations cut.

The supreme plebiscite tribunal, which was to judge the Saar for one year after the government was formally turned over to the Reich, was dissolved after mid-night yesterday. The League handed the territory over to Germany, following a plebiscite Jan. 13, 1935.

The court was left as a protective hand for Jews, political refugees and all those who could not vote in the plebiscite and who feared that reprisals might be taken against them; it was to supervise over local courts in such matters. The tribunal sat in Saarbrücken but its existence has been a calm one, only minor cases were brought before it for settlement.

Germany also ended the validity of assurances given by the German government to the League that "no discrimination on account of language, race or religion" will be made during the period of one year.

The Nazi governor of the coal basin already has said in public speeches that soon after this assurance lapses "the Saar will become the most Jewish part of Germany." He did not say just what he intended to do to get rid of the few remaining Jews.

Need $31,015,591 To Bridge School Buildings To Par

Florida Average Per Pupil Is $189, In U. S. It Is $250

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 2.—(AP)—The Florida State Board of Education today reported that $31,015,591 would be needed to bring Florida's school buildings up to the United States average for the number of children enrolled.

The present investment in school property in Florida is $10,000,000, the United States average is $250. Figures on the school situation were compiled in a statewide survey made in a planning board survey project. The report was placed in the hands of Chairman C. B. Stovall and Secretary J. H. Montgomery.

Montgomery said the statistics would be turned over to the school code authority recently appointed by Governor Smith to prepare recommendations on school improvements to be submitted to the 1937 Legislature.

Maintenance expenditures by county school boards for 1931-35 were placed at $100,000,000, or 82 of one percent which the report said "is totally inadequate."

proper maintenance would have cost $1,880,217. Although the average capital outlay for the past 10 years was $1,978,816, the 1931-35 capital expenditure was only one-tenth of that amount, or $235,080.

The survey showed 201 schools in Florida have no toilet facilities, while 334 had surface toilets and 532 needed new toilets built, in addition to enlargements and remodeling needed at several hundred schools. These improvements would cost $160,561.

"Drinking water," the report continued, "was furnished 533 schools from insanitary pithier pumps, 432 rural schools had no source of water on school property, 15 were furnished water from springs, 1080 schools needed satisfactory sources of pure water, in addition to many improvements in other cases." Expenditure of $902,168 would be necessary to supply the water improvement.

Heating systems were found to be unsatisfactory the report said, at 1,135 schools. Common stoves were used to heat 1,161 schools, 172 had no source of heat and 22 were heated by fire-places.

In instruction, the survey showed enrollment of 29.8 while students for each teacher, and 25.4 negro students for each teacher.

The report said the public school system needed 1,618 classrooms, exclusive of auditoriums, laboratories, science departments and similar rooms to provide adequate housing for the present enrollment; without allowing for any future growth.

Brevard county, with $381.11, topped the state's counties in the ratio of school property for each enrolled child, while Flagler county was lowest with $18.40.

King Is Same Man Subjects Knew As Prince Of Wales

Two in Jacksonville Suffocated By Gas

LONDON, Mar. 2.—(AP)—King Edward in his first radio message Sunday to the empire since he ascended the throne, told his people who knew him as Prince of Wales, that he is "still that same man."

"I am better known to most of you as the Prince of Wales, as a man who during the war, and since had the opportunity of getting to know the people of nearly every country under all conditions and circumstances," the bachelor ruler asserted.

"And although I now speak to you as king, I am still that same man who has had that experience and who will continue to promote the well-being of his fellowmen."

"May the future bring peace and understanding throughout the world, prosperity and happiness to the British people and may we be worthy of the heritage which is ours."

The king's speech was briefer than had been expected. He appeared at the start to be nervous, his voice was higher than usual, but it became calmer and well modulated as he proceeded.

Elaborate plans had been made for the broadcast to the empire, and the speech also was relayed to 10 other countries, including the United States.

Edward paid tribute to his father, the late King George, and Investigating officers said the bodies apparently had been in the room for at least five days as newspapers dating from last Tuesday were found undisturbed at the door of the apartment.

All indications point to accidental deaths as no suicide notes were found. Three lights were on in the apartment, the radio was turned on and the bath tub was full of water, it was stated. The gas from a "quarter" meter had been consumed and then had

Fascinating Monster Seen in Vic McLaglen

By this time tomorrow there won't be a single flapper in town left who won't have dropped the original Mae West line, "Whyncha c'mup's see me somethin'?" in favor of La West's newest one, "Gee, feller, you ain't no erl paintin', bug you sure are a fascinatin' monster!" That's the way she describes Victor McLaglen, in "Klondike

Mrs. Oliver Harriman Likes Florida

By NINA OLIVER DEAN

"It's gardenia, isn't it?" How just right, I thought, as I sniffed the scent of the perfume that drifted across the uncheon table, looked at Mrs. Oliver Harriman, and wondered like the old woman who lost her petticoat, if this "could really be it!"

"And when it isn't gardenia, it's jasmine. You see I love Florida and all the southern flowers," Mrs. Harriman smiled at a young girl passing our table whispered to a friend, "Isn't she lovely?"

No wonder they call her "Lady Grace," and I suddenly recalled all the romantic stories I had heard of this southern beauty from Louisville, who had taken New York and young Oliver Harriman by storm in the late 1920's.

Throughout the years, Mrs. Harriman has had the fort that she captured, not only in the Mayfair world where she and her husband and his sister and brother-in-law, the William K. Vanderbilts, used to make a dashing foursome in coaching days, but in the world of philanthropy, the arts and in business. Her charities are endless, and she has helped everybody from under-nourished babies to unemployed actors. She has been chairman of the Exposition of Women's Arts and Industries, president of the Campfire Girls, a contributor to various magazines, and an important factor in the lives of the business women of New York. Speaking of business, she told me that the nicest thing anybody ever said to her was when her husband's uncle, E. H. Harriman of railroad fame, told her, "If you weren't a woman, Grace, I'd take you into business with me!" Incidentally, Mrs. Harriman believes in women in business and says that the more a woman does, the more her possibilities increase.

She was wearing a wine red dress and hat and a single strand of perfect pearls. Her hair like spun silver made a soft brightness around her face.

"Your eyes?" I questioned, "Oh, they're green," she smiled and her teeth were white and sparkling.

We went upstairs in the International Building at Rockefeller Center and I plored Mrs. Harriman around the Florida Exhibit. She stopped in front of the drama of Suwannee River with its cotton bales, darkies, and big white pol-

Annie," which opened before an enthusiastic audience last night at the Milne Theater, and we repeat, we'd be willing to bet that from this time on every one of the millions of West fans all over will be using it as a standard form.

"Klondike Annie" gives Mae West the finest chance of her career to show her versatility. She sings, she walks, she swings, and she murmurs, and even you loyal fans who thought that you'd seen all possible variations of every movement will learn some new ones!

Victor McLaglen and Philip Reed head the large and able supporting cast in this entertaining tale of a Barbary Coast gambling-house hostess who, through a series of hair-raising adventures, winds up impersonating a missionary in the frozen North Being Mae West, it is obvious that there is more than one man after her, and the manner in which she finally makes the right choice furnishes the finest surprise ending that any West picture has had to date!

We won't tell it to you—see it for yourself, and enjoy the full flavor of the story.

Missionary Society Holds All Day Meet

The Full Gospel Missionary Society held an all day meeting Thursday at the home of Mrs. C. H. Baker, 216 Holly Avenue.

Sewing on comforters was participated in during the morning and luncheon was served at the noon hour.

The meeting opened with a devotion by Mrs. Baker after which work was begun on two comforters, one of which will be sent to the Latin American Bible Institute along with other useful household articles. The other will be presented to a needy Sanford family.

In the afternoon Mrs. A. Weibold conducted the mission study lesson, "The Jew." A short business session was held when the group decided to send a Bible Institute in Texas.

It was decided to purchase "Tracts" to be placed in the local mail station. Two new members were added to the Society.

Those present were the Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Baker, Mrs. J. E. Spelling, Mrs. A. Weibold, Mrs. K. H. McInyre, Mrs. Ralph Cowan, Mrs. W. F. McTeer, Mrs. Marie Hester, Mrs. M. Nelson, Mrs. E. A. Monforton, Mrs. I. T. Stenger, Mrs. J. H. Matthews, Mrs. W. G. W. Wells, Mrs. W. C. Williamson, Gladys Wells, Jean McInyre, Tommie Stenger, Forrest, Joan, and Paul Truman McTeer.

Talks will be made by Mrs. James Moughton and Mrs. I. P. Ridge at the meeting of Seminole High School P. T. A. to be held Tuesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock at the school auditorium.

Mrs. Moughton will speak on "Reflection and Motion Pictures" while Mrs. Ridge has chosen as her subject, "What Our Country is Doing to Develop High Ideals in Citizenship for the Negro, Alien, and Underprivileged."

The meeting will open at 1:00 o'clock in order that members may

Bok Tower Chimes To Ring Tuesday Noon

LAKE WALES, Mar. 2.—(AP) Union Brass, carillon, has arranged an interesting program of American and Russian melodies for the program at the Singing Tower on Tuesday, Mar. 3, at noon.

The Golden Text was from Isaiah 9:6, "Unto us a child is born, government shall be upon his shoulders."

Among the citations which were pressed the lesson-sermon were: "Unto us a son is given, and his name shall be called Wonderful, the high priest arose, and said unto him, Answerest thou nothing? what is it which these witnesses against thee? But Jesus held his peace. And the high priest said, I adjure thee by the living God, that thou tell us whether thou be the Christ, the Son of God?" (Matt. 26:62, 63).

The lesson-sermon also included following from the Bible, "And Christian Science textbooks, "Once and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy. "Neither the origin, the character, nor the work of Jesus was generally understood. Not a single component part of his nature did the material world measure with."

Players In North Want To Try Out On Sanford Club

One Application Has Come From As Far Away As Michigan

Applications for a chance to try out on the Sanford Club of the Florida State League are already being received, Manager Bert Chapman said today, and one has come from as far away as Michigan. Other letters of inquiry about the new league have also been received from young baseball players in the North, he said.

Blank contracts are expected any day, Mr. Chapman reported, and as soon as they are received the signing up of players for the local club will begin.

While the committee raised enough money for the guarantee demanded by the national headquarters of Class D teams, additional funds will be required before the season opens and gate receipts begin coming in, Mr. Chapman stated, but the committee is greatly encouraged over the interest shown in baseball, and the obtaining of sufficient financial support is confidentially expected.

The work of the Bureau of Census, and is for business use, not for governmental purposes. Its scope is the result of requests from business organizations, and it has the full support of all branches of the business.

He reiterated previous assurances that all enumerators and other persons connected with the census are under oath not to disclose or discuss any information submitted for census purposes, and that under the census law no access to individual reports is permitted, not even to other government, state or local agencies, and no information will be disclosed which would in any way reveal the facts or figures given in the returns.

"The Census Bureau expects," he said, "to publish the results for this state by July unless there is delay in obtaining the relatively few reports still out. Since the first few states released receive national-wide publicity, and comparisons with the previous census will show such a healthy increase in Sanford, we want nothing to delay the canvass here."

Yearwood States His Opposition To Townsend Plan

WINTER HAVEN, Mar. 2.—Opposition to the Townsend Plan, as it now stands, but approval of an old age pension system that would give aged Floridians a sufficient sum on which to live comfortably, was expressed by J. R. Yearwood, Winter Haven business man and citrus grower, in a radio address last evening. This was Yearwood's fifth broadcast in his campaign which he inaugurated two weeks ago.

Mr. Yearwood declared he had never "straddled an issue in my life" and therefore proceeded to "speak plainly regarding his view of the Townsend Plan. He declared that close investigation of this plan and interviews with many leading economic authorities and noted statisticians have led him to the conclusion that it is "physically impossible and economically unsound" and added that the plan was a "mirage" and a bitter delusion that would bring hardships upon the aged.

However, Mr. Yearwood emphatically stated that he was very much in favor of some plan that would insure an adequate standard of living for the old people of Florida and said "as Governor of Florida, I will recommend to the Legislature and use my influence to the utmost to establish a mandatory sum to match what the federal government may appropriate and should do this I will pledge to use every resource at my command to make it mandatory that the State of Florida enact a pension that will keep these people in the best possible manner in accordance with the conditions we must face in this state."

Vote On Ritter May Be Taken In House Late Today

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2.—(P)—The House opened debate today preparatory to a vote on whether it will impeach Federal Judge Halsted L. Ritter of the Southern Florida District "for misbehavior and for high crimes and misdemeanors." On request of Chairman Sumners of the Judiciary committee the House limited debate to four and one-half hours.

Representative Bankhead, Democratic leader, told the House the reading was of the "greatest importance" and asked close attention.

The House vote, to be taken late today, will determine whether Judge Ritter must be tried by the Senate.

Change's against the judge have to do with his handling of receiverships, and claim he "yearnily and unlawfully accepted and received for his own use from said A. L. Rankin (his former law partner) sums of money amounting to $4,500."

The Huey P. Long memorial bridge, which spans the Mississippi at New Orleans, was dedicated two months after the senator's death.

Milane Equipped With The Latest In Sound System

Recent Improvement Pleases Audience At Sunday's Show

Last night marked the debut of the new RCA Photophone High Fidelity sound system of the Milane Theater, and the setting of a new high mark in the quality of theater sound in Sanford.

The new equipment, which is similar to the type recently installed in the Radio City super-theaters, in Rockefeller Center, New York, provided a quality of reproduction that was revolutionary. According to Sam L. Macchetto, manager of the Milane, the new system is actually capable of reproducing a wider range of sound than many of the motion pictures now made—cash provide.

In any case, however, RCA Photophone High Fidelity reproduction gets the utmost out of the recorded film and literally recreates the sound in all its original brilliance.

In the first public demonstration of the system and during the showing of the feature picture last night, decided improvement was noticeable in the natural quality of the actors' speaking voices, particularly of women's voices, heretofore the most difficult to record and reproduce because of the high frequencies involved. With the new High Fidelity apparatus, audible sounds in a range of from 40 to 10,000 cycles are faithfully reproduced with all the delicate shadings of the human voice which are so distinguished in actual speech. This "dynamic" shading of tone is just as apparent in the enormous volume of a full symphony orchestra.

Last night's audience at the Milane was extremely receptive and appreciative of the vast improvement which the new sound represents over the old, and responded with generous applause when the announcement of the introduction of the new sound was made through the theater's equipment.

Golf History May Be Made On Augustine Links During Week

ST. AUGUSTINE, Mar. 2.—The pages of golf history are being written by the numerous "famous feuds" between top-ranking contemporary players since the turn of the century. The setting for the latest of these conflicts will be picturesque St. Augustine Links, over which the Florida East Coast Championship for women will be contested this week beginning tomorrow.

The combatants in the most recent golf "feud" will be the Minneapolis Meteor, 18-year-old Miss Pauly Berg, and the seasoned campaigner, Mrs. Maureen Orcutt Crews, of Miami. Both will compete in the tournament here from the new Mrs. Wm. R. Knapp, Jr., trophy, the third to be placed in competition since 1925, when the then Miss Githna Collett won the local classic for the first time.

January, 1936, was the coldest January for Greensboro, N. C., since 1913, records show.

Man's Friends Glad He Told Them About BLACK-DRAUGHT

Writing from Texarkana, Texas, Mr. W. T. Bentley, of that city, says: "I have been using Black-Draught for fully forty years. I keep a supply on hand. I first knew of Black-Draught when I was a boy, clerking in a store. I saw people buying it and thought it must be good. I took it for constipation and biliousness. I would have a bad taste in my mouth and headache. I knew I needed a laxative—something to cleanse the system. I would hunt up the Black-Draught and take a dose. I would be relieved in a few hours. In Black-Draught, I have found a simple remedy—one that does not have any after-effects. I do not know of anything better to take for a dull, tired, listless feeling. I have recommended Black-Draught to many friends and neighbors. I know they have been glad that I did, for they have said so."—adv.

Every Elector In Seminole County Must Re-Register

County Caught In Net Of Local Law Legislature Passed For St. Johns County

Old Registers Null And Void Voters Not Getting Names On New List Can't Cast Ballots

Every voter in Seminole County must re-register this Spring.

It does not make any difference how many times an elector has registered or how many times he has voted, each and every one of them must register again if he would cast a ballot in the primaries next June or in the general election next November.

This situation, declared by County Registrar W. J. Thigpen, as being "aggravating in the extreme," has only just been discovered, though the law which compels the re-registering of all voters in Seminole County was passed by the 1935 State Legislature.

It was brought to the attention of the County Commissioners today by Mr. Thigpen and E. F. Housholder, attorney for the board, and upon the latter's explanation that "there is only one thing that can be done," the board instructed the registrar to proceed in accordance with the new law and prepare new registration books.

The re-registration is to begin on Monday, March 9, at 10 o'clock a. m. Within an hour after the board's action Mr. Thigpen made arrangements for opening in the Union Pharmacy at 206 East First Street and in each of the 18 precincts in the county of registration offices. Each office will be open between the hours of 9 a. m. and noon and 2 and 5 p. m.

U.S. Judge Ritter Is To Face Trial For 'High Crimes'

Wilcox Votes 'No' But House Votes For Impeachment Move

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3.—(AP)—The House has tonight approved a resolution to impeach Federal Judge Halsted L. Ritter of the Southern District of Florida, on charges of "misbehavior, high crimes and misdemeanors in office."

The vote was announced as 181 to 146 for impeachment. Representative J. Mark Wilcox was the only member of the Florida delegation in Congress to vote against the impeachment resolution. Representatives Caldwell, Green, Patterson and Sears voted for it. A total of 173 Democrats, seven Republicans and one Progressive voted for the impeachment as compared to 63 Democrats, 86 Republicans and four Progressives voting against.

The vote came after five hours of debate on the case, brought up by the House Judiciary committee, during which Ritter was characterized as a "tyrant" and a "dictator."

President For Radical Change In Taxing Law

Undistributed Corporation Profits Would Be Assessed By Proposed Law

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3.—(AP)—Sweeping tax law changes including the imposition of a tax on undistributed corporation profits was recommended to Congress today by President Roosevelt. He estimated the tax on undistributed corporation profits would yield $1,614,000,000.

In a momentous message recommending thorough revision of national tax system, the President also proposed: Processing taxes to spread broader and thinner than the old levies outlined by the Supreme Court. Windfall tax to recover a considerable part of the old processing taxes on which they refused payment.

Repeat of the existing capital stock tax which was estimated to yield $163,000,000 in fiscal year 1937. The graduated corporation income tax which the President proposed to repeal was estimated to yield $226,000,000 in 1937. Treasury experts were understood to estimate that the proposed new levy on undistributed corporation profits would not only replace $994,600,000 in taxes which would be repealed, but would provide an additional revenue of $620,000,000 on 1936 corporation incomes.

The President told Congress that invalidation of processing taxes left a deficit in the budget of $1,017,000,000 and that the cash bonus bill would add annual charge of $120,000,000.

"We are called upon here," he said, "to raise by some form of permanent taxation an annual amount of $620,000,000. It may be said truthfully and correctly that $500,000,000 of this amount represents substitute taxes in place of old processing taxes and that only $120,000,000 represents new taxes not hitherto levied."

Over One Million More Unemployed Than In December

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3.—(AP)—Revival of a drive for a 30-hour week bill was forecast in some congressional quarters today as a result of the American Federation of Labor report that 12,626,000 people were jobless in January. The Federation figure showed an increase of nearly one million and a quarter since December. Liberals of both parties demanded a distribution of purchasing power, either through shortened hours of labor or some other means.
