FLOOD WATER LAPS AT HOUSE TOPS IN WEST VIRGINIA TOWN

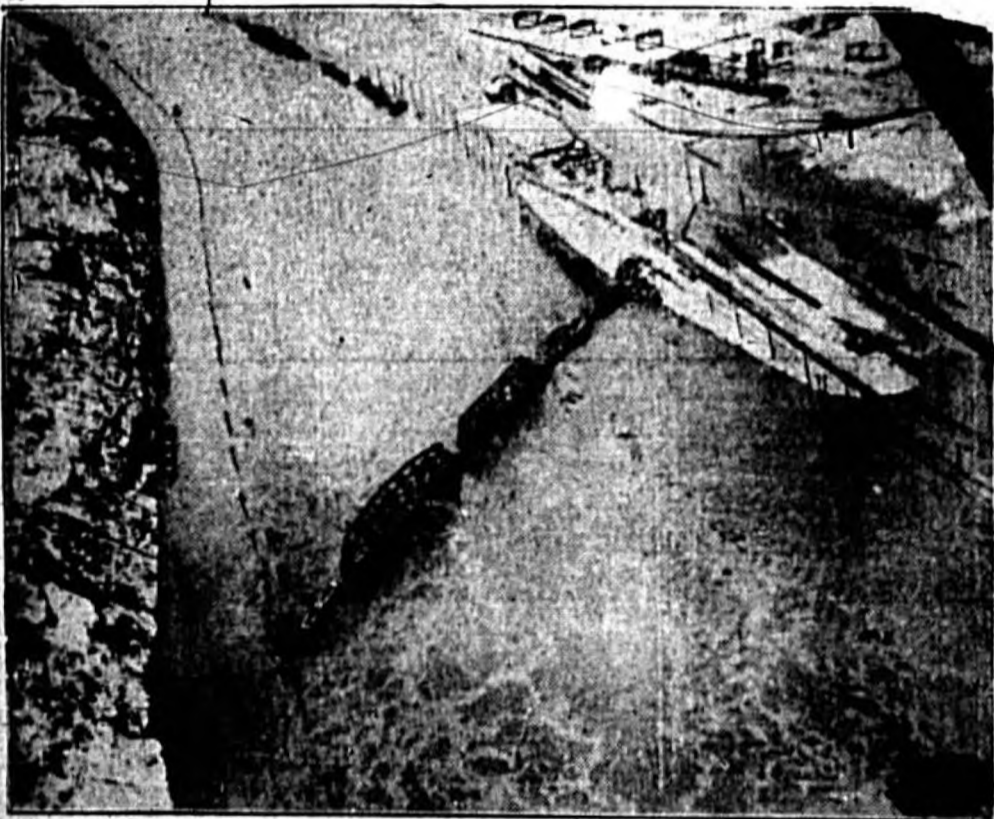

Only the house tops in Green Springs, W. Va., were in sight above flood waters when a photographer flew over and made this picture. The town was one of many swept by torrents that caused scores of deaths, drove thousands of people from their homes and wrought damages estimated at millions of dollars in eastern states. EVERY STREET A RIVER AS FLOOD ROARS THROUGH JOHNSTOWN

Already devastated by the worst flood since the great disaster of 1889 in which 2,235 people were drowned, the city of Johnstown, Pa., was thrown into a panic with reports that the Quemahoning dam was weakening and threatened to lose a mountain of water on the town momentarily. This air view shows water many feet deep in principal streets. (Associated Press Photo)

RUSHING WATERS WRECK RAILROAD BRIDGE

Raging waters of the flooded Conemaugh river tore away a section of the railroad bridge at Johnstown, Pa., where memory of the 1889 disaster sent fear to its highest peak. Damage was estimated at millions of dollars and several persons were drowned as high waters flooded the eastern states. (Associated Press Photo)

COLD INCREASES MISERY OF FLOOD VICTIMS

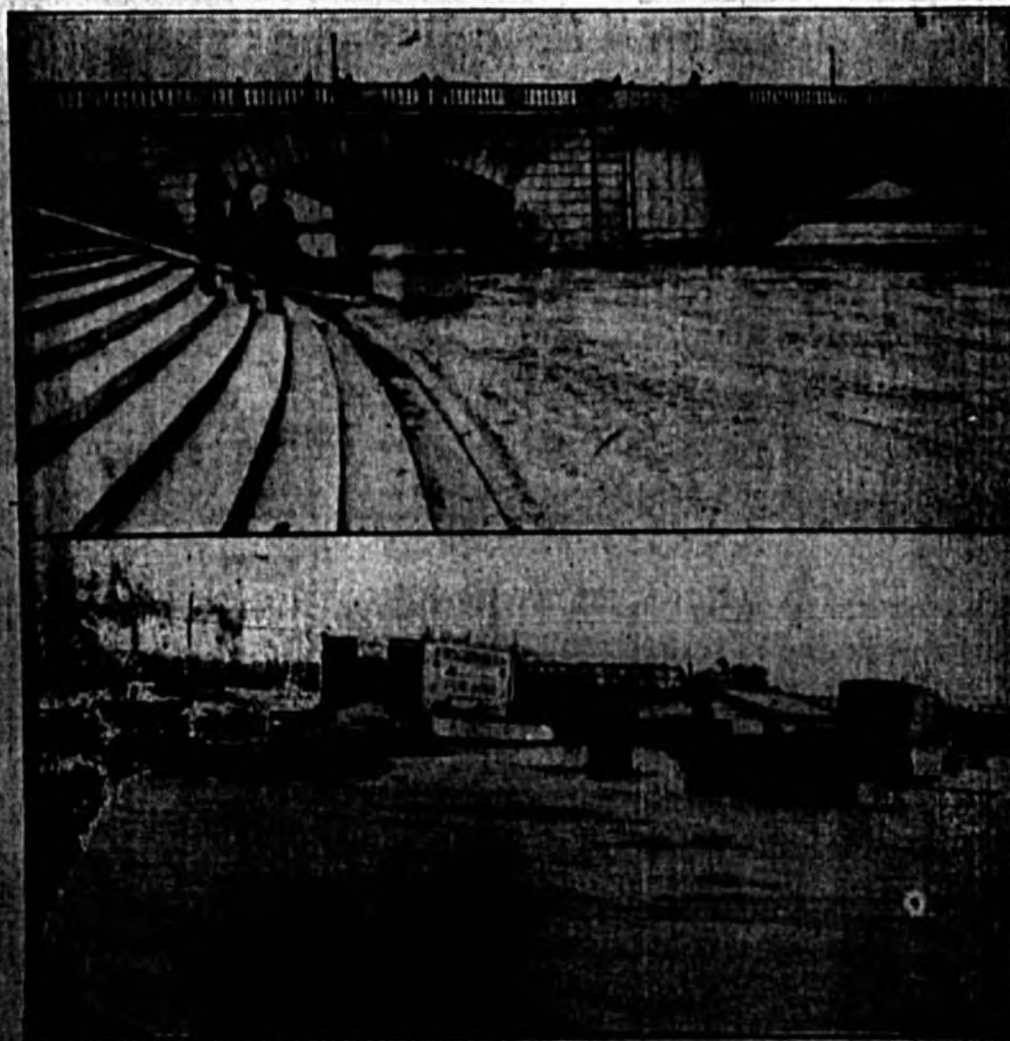

Dropping temperatures added to the misery of flood refugees in eastern states as swollen rivers claimed at least 10 lives and caused millions of dollars damage. Traffic was in a bad way at Johnstown when the Ramapo River flooded Oaklaniver swells over its banks.

The cameraman was right on the job when Nelson Campbell (left), 80, swept from a bridge by flood waters at Mechanicville, N. Y., was given a helping hand by Allen Van Dezer, a school bus driver. A moment after this picture was made, both men were swept out into the raging torrent but a rescue party saved them. (Associated Press Photo)

POTOMAC CLIMBS LINCOLN MEMORIAL STEPS

For out of banks, the swollen Potomac is shown (top) partially covering the steps of the Lincoln Memorial in Washington. The waterway and about a dozen of the steps were submerged when this picture was made. But the memorial itself was still 20 steps above the water. The flood peaked there in the week before the Washington disaster. Steps are shown (below) still completely submerged with the incoming surge along the riverfront. (Associated Press Photos)

One Killed, 6 Hurt In Three Auto Wrecks

Two In Hospital Not Expected To Live, Two Others Are In Serious Condition

Victims Wait In Crowded Hospital

All Rooms Occupied, Operating Room In Use At Time

One person was killed, two others received injuries which it is feared will prove fatal, and three more were seriously hurt in two automobile wrecks in and near Sanford Sunday evening.

The most serious wreck was that between cars driven by H. Palmer Eastwood of Sanford and Wallace S. Shaw of Orlando on the Sanford-Orlando highway near the County Home about 9 o'clock. The cars met in head-on collision and Wallace Shaw was killed.

Scotty Shaw, cousin of Wallace Shaw, and Anna Buchanan, also of Orlando, riding in the car, received such serious injuries that their deaths were momentarily expected throughout the night. No improvement in their condition was noted at noon today.

Mr. and Mrs. Eastwood were seriously injured, and it was feared by physicians that Mr. Eastwood had suffered a concussion. Mrs. Eastwood was painfully cut on the face and head, and blood was streaming from her wounds as she sat on a chair in the reception hall of the hospital last night, waiting for the room where she could receive the treatment required. At the same time Mr. Eastwood was stretched out on a couch in the hall, as there was no vacant room in the hospital to which he could be taken.

Though Scotty Shaw and Anna Buchanan were as critically injured that their recovery was considered an extremely doubtful, there was no place in the institution in which they could be given immediate attention. The operating room was in use at the time the accident victims were taken there, and they had to wait until the operations being performed were concluded.

Before the victims of the Shaw-Eastwood crash could be cared for, two other automobile collisions victims were taken to the hospital, one with a broken neck. She is Ruby Branch, negro. The other negro woman, whose name was not obtained, was not seriously injured.

Rollins College Presents Degree To The President

WINTER PARK, Mar. 23.—(AP)—The "good neighbor" policy was credited today by President Roosevelt as developing "national understanding" among people in contrast to individual and group domination, in an address accepting an honorary degree from Rollins College.

Mrs. Roosevelt Smiles On Big Station Crowd

President Roosevelt was "not quite ready" to greet the crowd at the A. C. First Lady Says Women Who Wed Can Have Career

Famous Smile Captivates Interviewer Of Mrs. Roosevelt

By NINA OLIVER DEAN

"Mrs. Roosevelt, what do you think in the White House do to a marriage?" I asked eagerly in the presence of cap and gown, notables just after the services in the Knowles Chapel at Rollins College for conferring the honorary degree of Doctor of Literature upon President Franklin D. Roosevelt and the bestowal of the Algernon Sydney Sullivan Medal on Mrs. Roosevelt.

"Why, nothing, nothing at all, my dear," Mrs. Roosevelt smiled, and I understood now why everybody speaks of her warm humanness for each little crinkle and quirk of the Eleanor Roosevelt smile is a friendly one.

She was wearing a smart black dress and hat and her arms were full of African daisies, rose and daisy pink. Her hair is soft brown, her eyes an odd sort of misty blue, and I noticed when she

President Fails To Put In Appearance During Brief Halt Of Special Train

The President's special train halted for about 10 minutes in Sanford this morning, but Mrs. Roosevelt came out on the observation platform of the rear Pullman car, smiled on the crowd, waved her hand in greeting, and apologized for the President not being able to greet his well-wishers.

A crowd estimated at 2,000 was at the station, a goodly portion being school children. The police kept the crowd back of a rope stretched along the center of the platform, but as the train pulled in on the third track the spectators were fully 30 feet away. Only peace officers, Mayor S. O. Shilbaker, photographers, newspapermen and Mrs. Julia Takach, who presented Mrs. Roosevelt with a huge bouquet of gladiolas and roses, were allowed inside the rope.

The flowers were given by Clayton Bennett on Celery Avenue. Mrs. Takach and Mr. Roosevelt are cousins.

After what seemed an interminable delay, Mrs. Roosevelt appeared on the rear platform of the special train and, leaning over the railing, waved her hand at the crowd.

"I wish very much that Mr. Roosevelt were ready to come out and extend his greeting to you, but he is not quite ready," said Mrs. Roosevelt. "I wish to extend very good wishes to you for him."

An official gave the "high ball" signal to the engineer, the secret service men clambered aboard, and the train pulled out, enroute to Winter Park and Rollins College. Mrs. Takach's flowers were not the only gifts presented to the President of the United States, for when the train reached Winter Park he was given 10 crates of Sanford celery and several articles made in WPA work centers.

The celery was given him by R. H. Lehman, John Melach, Ralph Chapman, F. F. Dornier and Charles Lee.

Other gifts included a beautiful bedspread made by the negro women's vocational class in Sanford, an ash tray of shells made by a Seminole County work center, several dozen place cards each with bouquets of flowers made of many tiny colored shells, and two reels of picture film depicting scenes in this locality. Some of the place cards were given by a Seminole County work center and some came from a St. Petersburg group. The presentation was made by E. L. Glenn.

Townsend Throws His Backing To William E. Borah Pension Plan Author Pledges Group To G. O. P. Candidate

LONG BEACH, Calif., Mar. 23.—(AP)—Sen. Townsend, author of the plan to pay every resident over 60 years of age a pension of $200 a month, repudiated the Roosevelt Administration last night and endorsed Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, for the presidency.

He pledged himself and his organization which he boasts has 4,000,000 members, to work with untiring zeal for the nomination and election of the shaggy-haired Republican candidate. He also announced he was changing his registration from Democrat to Republican.

Although Borah has not endorsed the Townsend Old Age Pension Plan, he is the only Republican candidate who "even approaches" the standard set up by his followers, Townsend said.

He dismissed the present Democratic Administration, with a few notable exceptions, as unacceptable and unfriendly to the plan he believes would bring permanent prosperity to America.

Townsend said his organization would make no effort to endorse a slate of congressional candidates at the forthcoming primaries and general election but he emphasized that if the issue lay clearly between a pro-Townsend candidate and one strongly opposed to his plan, the former would be supported.

Reconsideration Of Vote On Canal Lost By One Vote

Senators On Record 36 To 35 Against Fletcher Proposal

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23.—(AP)—By one vote the Senate refused today to reconsider its action of last Tuesday in rejecting the Fletcher proposal to provide $12,000,000 to continue work on the Florida Ship Canal.

It defeated 36 to 35 a motion by Senator Truman, Missouri Democrat, to provide another test on the army bill amendment of Senator Fletcher of Florida providing the fund. The amendment was lost 39 to 34 on the first vote last week.

Senator Vandenberg, Michigan Republican, had conducted a vigorous drive against the project as "economically unsound." Senator Fletcher replied that failure to supply additional funds meant a slap at President Roosevelt for "making a great mistake" in starting the project.

Committee Meets McIntyre The position taken by the Central Florida Water Conservation Committee in opposing construction of the Cross-State Canal was explained today by a delegation from that committee which held a conference with Martin McIntyre private secretary to President Roosevelt, in Winter Park. The delegation was composed of Frank K. Anderson, secretary of the committee, Geo. S. Wittmer and Gus Schmah.

The request they made of the President's secretary was that he ask Mr. Roosevelt to require a special geological survey on the canal route with a view of determining the effect the canal might have upon Florida agriculture, suggesting that the survey be made by the U. S. Geological Department and the Department of Agriculture.

Mr. McIntyre agreed to submit the committee's request to the President for his immediate attention. (Continued On Page Six)

Ohio At Flood Along Indiana

Scores Of Families Flee From Homes In The Lowlands

With storms increasing the death toll in the Midwest, Southern and Eastern, states at the fury of the flood-rampaging Ohio lessened today as the river swept over more lowlands downstream from Cincinnati. The death list after a week of wind and flood mounted to 177.

The Ohio River neared the crest at Cincinnati, but unlike the inundation at Pittsburgh and Wheeling, failed to reach the business district. This was true, also, in river towns nearby Cincinnati, upstream, the river either was leveling off or receding. Downstream, it was at flood stage along the Indiana boundary. Scores of families, given ample warning, left lowland homes.

Tornadoic winds sweeping up the Mississippi valley took five lives, four in Missouri and one in Memphis. Hall and wind wrought considerable property and crop damage. Graphically portraying the destructive force of not only wind but of wind to the nation's east, Chicago was deluged by down-pour of rain.

Telephone communications with Missouri, were down and reports from Conway, 50 miles north, said the hamlet of 25 persons was wiped out. Bader is northeast of Springfield.

First report of the tornado came from Niagara where five houses were blown away. Mrs. Rivera's body was picked up between her home and storm cellar. Her daughters, Olga and Lola, were among the injured.

A major dust storm, boiling for two days in the Western dust belt, swept eastward tonight in a choking, blinding fog.

The same kind of scourge which cut winter wheat farmers on-averaged millions in 1934 was under way over a 2000-mile path and still spreading.

Southwesterly gales were sucking up tons of the loose topsoil of the Texas and Oklahoma panhandles and sweeping it toward the Great Lakes. Visibility closed down in the path of the storm.

Vivian Speer Announces For Commissioner

Candidate Helped Reduce Assessments Of City From 1934 To Seven Millions

Declaring that he is making the race squarely on his record as a former city commissioner who had always fought for tax reduction and at the same time had done everything he could to keep Sanford in the forefront of progressive communities, Vivian Speer yesterday announced his candidacy for the vacancy on the Commission caused by the death of the late T. L. Dumas.

Fira elected to the Commission in 1929, Mr. Speer said that he had been among those who had actively worked for a reduction in tax assessments which resulted in cutting the assessments in Sanford from $21.2 million dollars to approximately 7 million dollars, bringing about a corresponding reduction in taxation.

At the same time that he was working for tax reduction, Mr. Speer said, he was devoting his energies to the upbuilding of the community, being particularly interested in the development of the aviation field, the sewer project, the securing of right-of-ways and easements for the Lake Front Boulevard, the clearing of the title on the Mayfair Hotel, and the acquisition by the City of the lakefront land between the Hotel and Sanford Avenue, and its dedication for recreational purposes.

Mr. Speer is given credit by his former associates on the Commission for having been largely responsible for the purchase by the City of the McCracken Concrete Pipe works which enabled the City later to make materials for the sewer project, under Mr. Speer's direction, at so small a cost to keep the project within the 75-cent per foot requirement of the City.

Mr. Speer said that it was through his efforts that the City first acquired title to the 100 acres which now constitutes the aviation field, and that he personally had charge of the first municipal project for its development.

League Council Quits Before Hitler Replies

No Further Action On Treaty Vow Is Taken By Group Before Adjourning

Hitler Offers No Counter Plan

LONDON, Mar. 24.—(AP)—The League of Nations Council, without waiting to hear directly from Reichsfuehrer Hitler, voted today to adjourn without taking further action on Germany's violation of the Locarno treaty. Council members decided they would reassemble at Geneva whenever called to meet. In the meantime, England, France, Belgium and Italy, co-signers and guarantors of the Locarno pact, are to continue negotiations with Germany. An authoritative source said France was disappointed at Great Britain's attitude toward Germany, and consequently sought an adjournment.

Hitler Offers No Counter Plan

Hitler sent his reply to the treaty powers' proposals today, officials saying he offered no counter-proposals to the powers' suggestions that international troops go into the Rhineland, but that he left the door wide open for further negotiations. The French said they were determined to oppose any counter proposals.

WPA Workers Can't Run For Public Office

One Quits Politics, Two Forsake WPA, And Engineer On Pavement Worries

WPA workers can't engage in politics. That's the orders from Washington. Engineer W. S. Earle has been advised, and neither he nor O. P. Swope, administrator in this section, can change it, he informed the City Commission last night.

As a result, the engineer in charge of paving operations in Sanford is in a quandary as under the anti-politics ruling of the WPA he has lost both his superintendents. He was in danger of losing one of his foremen, but that individual decided to stay by the WPA and forget the political bee that has been buzzing around him the last few weeks.

Charles Marshall, who had announced as a candidate for constable in the Sanford district, advised Engineer Earle yesterday that he would forsake his political aspirations and would continue on the WPA payroll.

Not so with the two superintendents, Fred A. Dyson, candidate for County commissioner in the Second district, and C. M. Hand, candidate for sheriff. They are going to stay in their respective races for public office, even at the cost of being stricken from the WPA payrolls. Mr. Dyson stayed on the job yesterday, however, though, not on the payroll, as Mr. Earle told the City Commission he "had to have at least one experienced man who knows how to lay paving bricks."

Mr. and Mrs. H. Palmer, who were riding in the car which was struck by the Shaw car, are still in the hospital, but while their injuries are serious, it was reported that they are not in a critical condition. Mr. Eastwood's neck has been placed in a plaster cast as a vertebra was broken.

Intensifying Or Amplifying Sound Is To Be Illegal

The City Commission placed on first reading last night an ordinance to regulate "intensification and amplification" of sound, providing for a license tax of $10 a day on sound trucks.

Under the ordinance, no sound truck could traverse any one street more than once a day, and sound must be turned off a block from any hospital and the same distance from a school or church while school was in progress or religious services were being held.

Townsend Says That Third Party May Be Organized

Depends On Coldness Of G. O. P., Hasn't Pledged To Borah

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 21.—(AP)—The threat of a Townsend-Pitts third party was revived last night by Dr. Francis E. Townsend, author of the plan which would give $200 a month to persons over 60 years of age.

He declared it "the same coldness (to the plan) is displayed by the Republicans as has been displayed by the Democrats, a third party, composed exclusively of Townsend Plan followers, will be formulated, with the avowed purpose of shoving both Democrat and Republican parties perpetually."

Dr. Townsend yesterday announced he was changing his registration from Democratic to Republican and spoke favorably of Senator Borah, Republican presidential candidate. He emphasized, however, he had not pledged his organization to support Senator Borah or the nomination.

Anything he does, he said, will be merely an expression of his personal attitude. "I am not trying to commit our organization to anyone," Dr. Townsend declared. "In politics, one can never know when a candidate's attitude may change and it is not my wish to be entangled by pledges."

"I have said Senator Borah was the only one to show sympathetic attitude toward our movement, and naturally I personally feel friendly toward him."

"Townsend organizations everywhere," he added, "will continue the policy of supporting the men for Congress who are unqualified by the Townsend Plan, regardless of whether as candidates they are labeled Republican or Democrat."
