

CUBAN LEADER OUTLINES PLAN OF REVOLUTION

500 Armed Men Now In Florida Said Ready For Immediate Duty Against Machado

TAMPA, Feb. 12.—(A.P.)—More than 500 armed men in Tampa, Miami and Key West are ready at a moment's notice to go on a revolutionary expedition to Cuba, according to Dr. Lluís de La Pena, former president of the judicial committee of the Cuban House of representatives who is supervising anti-Machado activities here.

Dr. de La Pena, who led the expedition in Cuba two years ago, said yesterday a new attempt to overthrow the Machado government is certain and outlined plans for the attempt, except when the expedition will leave and the place where it will leave.

Since he was released from prison in Cuba in December where he had been since the failure of the first revolution, Dr. de La Pena has been directing revolutionary activities. He is head of the Liberty Legion, revolutionary organization here.

The new organization is taking over the work carried on by Committee Pro Cuba and the students' committee. The doctor explained that in the future the revolutionists will have one plan, one aim and one chief. In the past, he said, there has been "an excellent spirit but lack of co-operation."

Dr. de La Pena believes Carlos Mendota, sugar plantation owner and colonel in the war of independence, will become temporary president of Cuba if and when the revolutionists overthrow the present government. He called Mendota, "the man of the hour in Cuba."

The revolutionists, according to Dr. de La Pena, are convinced that loans made to Cuba are illegal, but, once in power, will try to pay them in protest of the integrity of Cuban credit.

"How many men are necessary to overthrow the Machado government?" remarked Dr. de La Pena. "I had only 50 on the last expedition and we were successful and his government fell," he said. "With just a little more organization we would have overthrown the government then."

"The revolution will not be so difficult as one might expect. In the first place about 90 per cent of the people are strong against Machado and most of the other half of our people do not like him but are afraid to admit it."

BETTER THAN '32 ISS LOGAN TO BE HEARD THIS YEAR

Comparisons Already Indicate Upturn In Many U.S. Activities

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—(A.P.)—Business morale may be bolstered in 1933 by a wide assortment of better-than-last-year comparisons. This would be decidedly refreshing after the long series of worse and worse comparisons in the statistics of the last three years, relating to prices, profits and volume of business.

And business analysts assert that it does not require much optimism to look for such a development, particularly in the last half of this year. Business has maintained a degree of stability since last summer not experienced since the downward swing started, and only a little improvement would bring encouraging comparisons in the last half of this year.

But already a few of those long-hoped-for better-than-last-year reports have made their appearance. The country's Class I railroads, the Bureau of Railway Retirement last reported, had aggregate net operating income in December of 19 percent over that month a year previously, and this was the first gain any month had shown over "a year ago" since July, 1929.

Furthermore, General Motors has reported sales for January in excess of the like month a year ago, the first time such an increase has been shown since July, 1931. Its total world sales for the month came to $2,117 cars, compared with 74,718 in January of 1932.

Business as a whole is still well under 1932. Bradstreet's latest weekly index of business activity stood at 43.9, as reduced from 50.3 in the like week of last year. But after January of last year, business declined precipitately until summer, and most business annual last-year reports have made their (Continued On Page Three)

12,000,000 MEN WERE JOBLESS PAST MONTH

Record Peak Reached During January, As Total Exceeded High Mark Of December

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—(A.P.)—Twelve million American workers are estimated by President Green, of the American Federation of Labor, to have been out of work during January.

Green said yesterday that the reports from affiliated organizations indicated that unemployment increased 300,000 over the December peak, reaching a new record during January. He added, however, that institution of the shortened work week in some industries had resulted in a lessening of the usual seasonal employment decline.

"Unemployment in January was at its all-time peak," he said, "with more than 12,000,000 wage earners out of work, according to estimates of the American federation of labor. Our estimates for December, 1932, showed 11,900,000 unemployed and trade union reports showed an increase in unemployment from December to January which, when applied to the country at large indicates at least 200,000 more laid off in industry alone by the first of the year. Trade union unemployment increased from 24.9 percent of the membership in December to 25.5 in January."

This new peak of unemployment is the worst tragedy of the depression. It makes the need of shortening work hours more than ever urgent. Hundreds of thousands of jobs have been eliminated completely during the depression; the only way we can ever put our working population back on a basis of self-support and thus out man power to creating wealth is by shortening the work week.

In 1929 there were already 2,400,000 out of work and the average actual work hours per employee in industry was 41.7 percent of normal. Today with 12,000,000 unemployed, the average actual work week is 41.8 hours. If the work week were universally shortened to 30 hours, we could put to work 8,600,000 of the unemployed."

15 Prominent Farmers Named On Committee

Fifteen prominent local celery growers, who are so widely acquainted that their services as intermediaries and advisors are deemed doubly valuable, have been appointed as members of the Grievance and Adjustment committee of the Semholz Agricultural Club which is lending wholehearted support in the plan of lowering unit price of the maturing celery crop.

The new members are: K. W. Pitt, L. A. Brunley, Hugh Torrance, Peter Thornton, Philip Bach, Frank Meisch, L. I. Frazier, John Zarneser, W. W. Potter, Otto Schmehl, Graham Hunter, J. C. Ellsworth, all of Sanford; C. R. Clontz and G. W. Morgan, of Oviedo, and James Wilson, of Chuloto.

The original committee was composed of Rex Packard as chairman, E. B. Chapman, Charles Dunn, Roy Eyma, and George Haines.

Decisions to increase the size of the committee followed Mr. Packard's statement that "with only five members, it is taking too much of our time in checking up on the average being cut and answering the any inquiries, suggestions and complaints that are being made."

Meeting at the Sanford-Oviedo Truck Growers, Inc. office on Saturday night, the augmented committee heard reports that indicated that only 90 percent cooperation is being given by growers in the county. Mr. Packard said today that "A few growers who did not at first realize the seriousness of the situation are now ready to co-operate to any extent."

DRYS INDICATE PLAN TO BLOCK REPEAL MOTION

Brookhart Jolts Hope Of Repeal Bill As He Predicts Fight

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—(A.P.)—The first open sign that friends of prohibition in the Senate intend to block a vote on repeal at this session came yesterday when the Blaine repeal resolution about to be taken up after weeks of waiting on the calendar.

A sharp warning from the determined prohibitionist, Brookhart, Republican, Iowa, jolted the hopes of sponsors of the repeal proposal that there would be no concerted effort to prevent it from coming to a vote.

The Blaine resolution is, next on the Senate's program, and in the absence of any apparent organized move among friends of prohibition to block a vote on it, leaders had predicted approval at this session.

With the "zero hour" approaching, however, Brookhart broke the calm yesterday by serving notice that a battle which would not be a "quickie" would be in prospect. The Iowa said he would talk "plenty" on the measure, and predicted it would not reach a vote.

Brookhart's warning took on added significance in the eyes of Senate leaders, as they recognized a growing impatience among some of their colleagues to get the repeal issue out of the way and take up unemployment relief.

Realizing that the session has only about three weeks to run, sponsors of two gigantic measures for relief of destitution are growing more persistent in their demands for action, and party leaders have made commitments which will ease the task of those seeking to block a vote on repeal.

Blaine's repeal proposal probably will be called up in the Senate within the next two or three days, after the pending war department supply bill is out of the way. It may be temporarily laid aside, however, to permit consideration of the state, justice, commerce and labor appropriation bill which will bring along with it another prohibition battle.

This bill carries $3,440,000 for prohibition enforcement, representing a reduction of more than $1,000,000 from the $9,500,000 fund recommended by the budget.

Friends of the dry laws propose an effort in the Senate to restore the amount recommended by the budget bureau. A long conflict over this item would still further jeopardize the chances of Blaine's resolution.

Several opponents of repeal have said that though they would oppose the Blaine proposal they would not attempt to prevent it from coming to a vote. Brookhart was the first to indicate that it would not be allowed to reach the balloting stage.

He said that other friends of prohibition had now taken his position.

Brookhart disclosed at the same time that he is agreed with opponents of prohibition in attacking the third section of the Blaine resolution, which would give the federal and state governments concurrent jurisdiction to control the sale of intoxicants.

SUNNY SKIES REPLACE ICY WIND STORMS

Eastward Retreat Of Nations Severest Storm Accompanied By Warmer Weather

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—(A.P.)—Sunny weather yesterday stole softly along the icy wake that marked the eastward retreat of the season's severest storm and the nation's thermometers rose in sympathy.

Last stronghold of the cold wave which struck the West and Midwest early last week, moving swiftly toward the East, was the Atlantic seaboard.

In other sectors citizens enjoyed temperatures returned to normal and slipped about in the slash of a vast blanket of snow fast melting.

Slow to release its clutch, the cold continued to plague New York. In New York City the mercury dropped to 12 degrees above zero, within two degrees of the year's minimum. Unemployed piled their shovels to excavate the city from the heaviest snowfall experienced there since 1925.

The sun shone on the huge snowfield that was New England and normal winter temperatures returned.

The South experienced its customary bright and sunny weather, with temperatures generally between the 40 and 60 marks.

Over the central states temperatures rose swiftly from near-zero marks and snow began to disappear. At Columbus, Ohio, the mercury ascended from one below zero at 4 o'clock in the morning to 25 above. Scattered clouds hung over Michigan, with temperatures fluctuating between 10 and 30 degrees above the zero mark during the day.

The Chicago area enjoyed comparatively comfortable clear and crisp weather, but according to (Continued On Page Two)

Police Are Seeking Denver Millionaire Who Was Kidnaped

DENVER, Feb. 12.—(A.P.)—Police today were seeking Charles Broekhart, Jr., young Denver millionaire and friend of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh who was kidnaped from a garage at his home at midnight by two men who left a note with Mr. Broekhart, demanding a $50,000 ransom.

Within half an hour a widespread hunt was organized but police said they are handicapped by the lack of description. Mrs. Broekhart, who is about to become a mother, is guarded at her home by police who refused to allow anyone to see her.

Broekhart, an aviation enthusiast and one of the wealthiest men in Colorado, was host to Lindbergh on his last visit to Denver. He is grandson of Charles Broekhart, who founded sugar and cement industries in Colorado, and who built the first stockyard in Denver.

U. S. ASSEMBLIES STUDY PLAN OF AIDING PEOPLE

Man's Right To Living Wage Seen As Chief Concern Of Nation

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—(A.P.)—A man's right to a livelihood is one of the chief concerns of the nation's state assemblies now in session.

Virtually all are considering or directing through lawmaking channels measures designed to guarantee American citizens the prerogative of working, or affording them sustenance until they can resume their wanted place in society.

The commonwealth assemblies, a survey showed yesterday, are driving toward their objective by creating public works, demanding that industry help sustain the men they cannot immediately employ, swelling poor relief funds through diversion of revenues from additional state taxes and bond issues, and increasing old-age pensions.

Constitutional demands along these lines are universal and so are the legislators' responses. Outstanding moves include:

New York: An unemployment insurance measure is before the legislature, the most to be paid by industry. Unemployment relief funds are partially spent as "work relief" on community building men to work on local projects are reimbursed by the state 40 percent.

Georgia: Bill in House committee which would pay $1600 annually to persons over 65 years of age who have no support.

Massachusetts: $750,000 set aside from highway fund to be used for the employment on highways of men on the welfare lists of various communities.

Ohio: Bills already passed Senate allowing county school authorities to buy shoes and clothes for indigent children and reorganizing the state relief commission.

Indiana: House passed old-age pension bill providing payments of $15 a month to persons over 70 years of age, the state and counties to share the cost.

Iowa: Bills passed both branches of assembly permitting counties to issue warrants for poor relief. The governor vetoed a bill to cut poor relief allowance from $2 to $1.10 a week.

Minnesota: House considering three bills for poor and unemployment relief relating to issuance of bonds for first class cities. Senate received unemployment insurance bill to assess employers four percent of wages paid to be turned over to a state fund for jobs.

Missouri: Bill in legislature assured of speedy passage appropriating $250,000 for emergency unemployment relief. Also pending is a bill which would compel property owners to pay benefits during depressions.

New Mexico: House passed $2,000,000 highway debentures bill revenue to be used for relief purposes.

A number of states are considering enactment of sales taxes to raise funds for indigent and unemployment relief.

ROOSEVELT REST PERIOD WILL END ON WEDNESDAY

To Entrain At Miami After 10-Day Tour Along Gulf Stream

MIAMI, Feb. 12.—(A.P.)—President-elect Roosevelt cruises into this port late next Wednesday from his 10-day fishing vacation to go to New York where he will conclude his arrangements for taking over the presidency on Mar. 4.

His decision to land here instead of at Jacksonville was announced by Marvin H. McIntyre, the Roosevelt secretary, and city leaders immediately began preparations for a reception. It was said the change in plans was merely one of convenience. The President-elect will leave Wednesday night by train for New York.

It is entirely possible he will stop over briefly in Washington for a last minute talk with some of the senators he is talking into his cabinet. However, no arrangements have been made for that visit.

In this same city Saturday night a notable gathering of Democratic leaders heard emphatic calls from two of the party's chieftains—James A. Farley, national chairman, and James M. Cox, the 1920 standard-bearer—for a united front in behalf of Roosevelt. They called a halt to any party quarrels.

Farley who as postmaster general will supervise the assignment of jobs in the new administration, said that party loyalty and ability will be the requirements of those to be chosen in the new Democratic government personnel. He banned the use of "pressure" by job hunters and opened the way for youth and women in the lineup.

The veteran Cox lauded Farley as a man well capable of his task and then bluntly told the Democratic assembly that it was up to the hosts of Democracy to get unitedly behind Roosevelt and Farley after Mar. 4, regardless of how the patronage may be dealt out.

He enthusiastically endorsed his pending proposal in Congress to give to the next President extraordinary powers for the reorganization of the government. He predicted Roosevelt would urge the state governors at the White House meeting on Mar. 6 to accept similar unusual authority to cut down government expenses and taxes.

"It would not be surprising," he said, "in the Roosevelt mind as out of the economic confusion in a year's time. Accept his leadership. It is no time for back seat driving."

The occasion was a dinner at the Biltmore Country Club here to Mr. Farley by the Roosevelt-For-President Club. At the dinner were John Curry, New York Tammany leader; Mayor Cermak of Chicago; Governor Rhoads of Florida; Robert Jackson, national secretary; Eddie Dowling of New York; Robert Geze of Chicago, the host of the Democratic leadership; James H. Hodges, Florida state chairman; William W. Howes, of South Dakota; Frank B. Hutt, publisher, Col. Arthur O'Brien of Washington; David Stern, Philadelphia, and a host of other party leaders.

Farley, still alert and smiling, left here early yesterday for New York where he will prepare a list of thousands of recommendations for Roosevelt's approval of men and women to take over the commanding positions in the new government.

Most of the other Democratic chieftains also pulled out of this temporary Democratic base at the Biltmore hotel yesterday.

Removal Of Minister At Tokyo Is Hinted; Jap Removal From League Is Expected

By The Associated Press
Soon after Japan informed the League of Nations today that it is adamant in its determination to preserve the Manchukuoan government in Manchuria, a spokesman for the Chinese National Government hinted that the Chinese minister to Tokyo would be withdrawn in the event the Japanese started a drive in the adjoining province of Jehol.

The Chinese spokesman said he did not "see the use of keeping a minister in Tokyo if there should be a drive on Jehol as obviously diplomatic measures will be of no avail."

He replied "This matter is of no consequence" when asked if China would likely declare war on Japan, but he added that any attack on Jehol would be like an attack on Nanking and will be met by the force of the entire nation.

The League of Nations, which drafted a recommendation that member nations refuse to recognize Manchukuo, had requested Japan view on a proposal to continue that government. Farley said Japan is on the verge of communication from the League, caused a heavy stamp in the Tokyo stock exchange.

The foreign office spokesman there said he believed Japan's withdrawal from the League was a foregone conclusion. A spokesman for the Manchukuoan government voted a threat to slam the door of Manchukuo in the world face if the powers attempt to outlaw Japan. "We will defend ourselves indefinitely without help," he said.

The spokesman was Chikichi Ohyanishi, a Japanese subject who holds the post of vice-minister of foreign affairs for Manchukuo.

"If the League and other powers shut the door of recognition against Manchukuo," he said, "boycott Japan and then Manchukuo, Japan may be forced at the same time to slam the door of recognition in Manchuria against them."

"Let the League and the powers go their way and we will go on without misgivings for the future," he added. "Regardless of the world's recognition, we have one of the richest and most self-supporting countries in the world as we can feed ourselves indefinitely without help."

Mr. Wells is also hopeful that his will be the first of several sailboats that may be seen on the lake during the next few months. He is said on sailboating, thrilling and exciting sport, and he is to be joined by other enthusiasts that race and sail boats on the lake.

Orlando Joins In Fight Against Cut In Tomato Tariff

ORLANDO, Feb. 11.—Joining in a determined fight against what they believe to be an effort by large shipping interests to lower the Mexican tomato tariff and ruin the $400,000 Florida industry, local olive clubs, business men and growers yesterday deluged congressional representatives with telegrams urging that they do everything possible to prevent the tariff cut.

Such a cut, growers and shippers in this section say, would mean flooding the markets with tomatoes and other vegetables from the fertile Mexican areas cultivated by peon labor at an average cost of 20 cents per day.

The hearing will be held before the tariff commission Monday, Feb. 13, and President Hoover, at the recommendation of the commission, would have the power to cut the present tariff, now three cents per pound, 20 percent.

This cut, leading shippers assert, would bring ruin to the Florida industry and would materially affect the Texas crop, although California's late summer shipments would not suffer from competition by Mexico.

It was reported that W. H. Fugate, the Southern Pacific, and other large shipping interests are behind the move to cut the tariff, which local men believe is already being paid in the depreciated currency of Mexico rather than in United States money.

MARY LOU GOES SHOPPING

SHE is only eight, but, even at this tender age Mary Lou is a daily customer at the neighborhood grocer. Perhaps it is a package of crackers, and a pound of coffee at the grocer's. Perhaps it is some tooth-paste or toilet soap at the drug store.

Of course Mary Lou doesn't decide on what she is going to buy. Her mother writes a list—this brand of crackers, this brand of coffee, this make of tooth-paste, this kind of soap. She knows the prices, and gives Mary Lou just enough money, with an extra penny or two, perhaps, to spend for herself.

Buying is just as simple and easy as that because of just one thing—Advertising.

Advertising has given all of us a lot to be thankful for.

Because of advertising, people in Texas know about and buy Michigan motor cars. People in New Hampshire buy oranges raised in Florida and California. Because of advertising, merchants and manufacturers are forced to improve their products. It has standardized quality. It has increased competition and thereby lowered costs. It promotes competition and thereby keeps dealers and merchants wide awake to secure for you the best for your money.

But best of all it writes "Flats" on the business career of any merchant or manufacturer who attempts to fool the public or give them less than value received.

Confidence Men

Passing counterfeit bills is not the only racket being worked in Florida this winter. Confidence games as old as the hills are still finding plenty of suckers who think they can get rich quick by putting their faith in total strangers and their cash into the hands of smooth talkers.

A recent newspaper dispatch records the fleeing of a man named Prell in one of our East Coast resorts. He had come to Florida with his wife to spend a quiet winter and in the normal course of events became acquainted with two gentlemanly appearing men who were very friendly. Soon they were telling him how much money they were making on racetrack bets. They had a system.

After their remarkable winnings had continued for a week or two, Prell decided he would like to risk a few dollars. The two strangers placed the bet for him and he won. Two more times he won, each time a larger amount. Finally they suggested that he put some real money into it and clean up. He couldn't possibly lose. Their system was all right.

So he wired back home, got hold of his life's savings, even borrowed some more money from some friends, and entrusted the entire amount, some $4,300, to his new found "friends." They told him that his money was just a small part of a big pool they were operating which amounted to $36,000. It all sounded like big business to him. He thought he was going to make a killing. In fact, one of them told him, "We'll all soon be millionaires."

Then something went wrong. One of the men came in and said he had bet the entire amount on one horse. The other fellow began to argue with him while Prell looked on in amazement. Then a fight began and suddenly one of the men dashed out declaring he was going to stop the bet. The other fellow followed closely on his heels.

That was the last that Prell ever saw of them. And it was also the last he ever saw of his money. His winnings had been out of everything he had been able to save in a life time, leaving him a dependent for the rest of his days.

The woods are full of confidence men these days. Look out for them! Investigate! Know what you are doing before you trust any of them with your money. If you do you won't trust them at all.

Too Much In The Future

Someone has said that he lives the most who lives in the present, confident of the future and satisfied with the past. Certain it is that a man has become old when he begins to dwell upon the past. And it is equally true that when one begins to worry about the future, he is well on the highway to old age. Recently Bruce Barton wrote on the policy of crossing bridges before we come to them, as follows:

"For years Calvin Coolidge had been a member of the Board of Trustees of Amhurst College, serving with such distinguished colleagues as Chief Justice Ruggs, of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, and the late Dwight Mor- row.

"At one meeting a considerable argument took place between Mr. Morrow and the Chief Justice and, since it had to do with some legal complication, the other members were content to sit back and let these two great lawyers have it out.

"At length, finding agreement impossible, they turned to Mr. Coolidge.

"Who raises this question?" he asked, when they had laid the case before him.

"Well," they explained, "no one raises it just at this time. We are discussing it because it may come up at some time in the future."

"Time enough to discuss it when it comes up," said Mr. Coolidge.

"The two learned lawyers looked alightly abashed. There was a moment's pause, and the meeting proceeded to other business.

"The simplest rules of successful living are the hardest to learn. We say to ourselves: 'The important thing is to do the day's work, to keep the eye on the ball, to meet the immediate problem as well as we can, leaving the future to take care of itself.'

"We repeat these wise words, but we do not let them guide us. Most of us insist on experiencing our problems, and worries at least three separate times.

"We endure them in prospect, torturing our imaginations with questions: 'What shall I do if this happens?' cherish them in our memories, living them over" and "How shall I act if the case is like that?" We endure them again when they come upon us. And then we cherish them in our memories, living them over and over in fruitless regret.

"Someone has said, and I have quoted it before, that regret can do the mind and body more harm than a prolonged drunk. As for crossing bridges before we come to them, and worrying lest they may collapse, that is the quick way to death.

"To live in the present is medicine for the spirit; it is the path to peace.

"Longfellow, almost overwhelmed with grief, wrote: 'I find no other way of keeping my nerves quiet than this—merely to do with all my might whatever I have to do, without thinking of the future, in which most people live.'"

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

At an early hour on Wednes- day morning the inhabitants of the West Side were awakened by pistol shots and the rattling of engine whistles and after some time by the fire alarm that eventually brought the fire department to the home of Thomas Kirby on Eleventh Street. By the time the fire department arrived and pressure could be had, the fire had gained too much headway and the house and part of its contents totally consumed. The loss of home and furniture is a serious one, but Mr. Kirby, with his customary energy, expects to rebuild at once.

YOUR INCOME TAX

BAD DEBTS—YEAR IN WHICH DEDUCTIBLE

To be allowed as a deduction from gross income, a bad debt must have been determined by the taxpayer to be worthless within the taxable year for which it is claimed and, where books are kept, it also must have been charged off within the same year. The necessity for this provision is obvious. If a debt could be deducted without the requirement that it be charged off the taxpayer's books, the certainty of its worth- lessness, would be open to question. Neither the taxpayer nor the government could be certain that a debt would not be claimed more than once.

If a bad debt were allowed as a deduction, without regard to the year when it became worthless, such charges could be accumulated to be deducted in a year when there was a large income. However, a taxpayer who has erroneously charged off a debt in a year after that in which it was determined to be worthless, may file an amended return for the year in which the debt became worthless and was not charged off.

The burden is upon the taxpayer to show that a debt claimed as a deduction was without value during the taxable year. A statement should be attached to the return showing the propriety of any deductions for bad debts. If in the exercise of sound business judgment a taxpayer concludes, after making every reasonable effort to determine whether there is likelihood of recovery, that the debt is of no value, deduction for such debt is allowable. Court action as proof that the debt is worthless is not essential.

It is optional with the taxpayer, in a year prior to that in which a debt becomes wholly worthless, to take a deduction for partial loss if partial worthlessness occurs. If it can be shown that upon maturity of a bond, mortgage, or note evidencing a debt it will not be paid in full, the partial loss is deductible.

Taxes on real estate and personal property paid during the taxable year 1932 are deductible. So-called taxes which are assessed against local benefits, such as street paving and drainage, however, are not deductible, since they are considered as an increase to the value of the property assessed. The federal income tax may not be deducted. Income tax, however, paid to the state by an individual on his income is an allowable deduction on his federal income-tax return.

Federal estate taxes and state inheritance taxes are allowable deductions from gross income in computing the net income of the estate.

Customs duties paid by a person on articles imported for his own use are articles imported for his own use are deductible. Admission taxes are deductible, but the tax- payer must show that account has been kept of the amount paid. Prior to June 21, 1932, the tax applied only to admissions which cost in excess of 43 cents. Taxes on club dues are deductible by the member paying them.

Among the new taxes which an individual may deduct is the tax he has paid on electric light and power bills, on the rent of a safe- ty deposit box, on the checks he has drawn, and on his telephone conversations, radio messages, telegrams, and cables.

License fees exacted by a state or city upon certain businesses are deductible as taxes. Automobile license fees are ordinarily taxes and deductible. Postage is not a tax and is not deductible. In general, taxes are deductible only by the person upon whom they are imposed.

A PLAN TO END THE DEPRESSION

STATE AID TO CITIES

MIAMI DAILY NEWS

Governor Sholtz, proposing a debt-refunding commission to aid municipalities, takes a thoroughly sound position on the most serious of Florida tax questions. Counties and school districts have received aid from the state; the cities, hardest hit, have been left on their fast-dwindling resources.

The state is no more immune to the financial paralysis of its cities, comprising approximately half Florida's population, than it is to the impoverishment of rural areas. It is an imperative that the state give to these, the most severely debt-ridden of its subdivisions, whatever aid it can without actually taxing one section for the benefit of another.

Through a state debt-refunding commission, composed of the chief executive and his cabinet, a central body is established to co- ordinate efforts for readjustment and increase mutual confidence of the negotiators, the vital factor in any settlement. Such a commission should be vested with sufficient regulatory power to prevent the rupture of any agreement without a review of the case by all parties and might as well be granted authority to in- tervene when any new bond issue or commitment of a city threat- ened to impair the rights of cred- itors.

All this can be done without cost to the state and without pledging its credit. If legal means can be found, it is to be hoped that the next legislature, with the aid of Governor Sholtz, will go further.

Some method must be found to deal with the minority bondholder who, against the wishes of the majority of the city's creditors, can wreck any refunding prin- cipal objectives of the amendment. Senator Fletcher is so commenda- bly urging to permit municipali- ties to be included under the terms of the bankruptcy act now before the Congress. State action to check the obstructive acts of minority bondholders would not encourage speculation, against which Governor Sholtz wisely counsels. It would, however, be invaluable in effecting a work- able refunding plan recognizing the city's obligation and the will of the majority of its creditors.

Governor Sholtz has urged the adoption of the Fletcher amend- ment to deal with a condition acute to Florida. His outline of plans for a debt-refunding com- mission evidences his sincere de- sires to extend state aid to mu- nicipalities, regardless of what may be done nationally.

"OUTRAGEOUS" TAG PRICES

CLERMONT PRESS

The present time, with license tags so much in discussion, brings an interesting incident which happened recently when a Cali- fornia driver of a Packard car stopped on his way into the state and purchased a tag.

As he plunked down the $37.50 for the little piece of tin, some one asked him if it were not a change from his native state, where the tag he was replacing had cost him but $3. Going deeper into his purse, he answered the question by exhibiting the ad- valorem tax receipt which he had paid the previous year upon his car. It amounted to $41, which coupled with the $3 California plate, made his total charge to operate a Packard automobile $44. By purchasing a Florida tag at the "outrageous" prices asked, he saved the difference between $44 and $37.50, and he smiled as he left the office.

Local drivers should remember that when they pay for a tag, they pay all of the tax assessed against their automobile. We are informed by a reliable source that when the ad valorem taxes of other states are added to their tag prices, Florida stands third from the head of the list as being the most lenient upon pleasure car owners.

The Florida manner of taxing automobiles is, in reality, one of the best in the nation, for the entire amount is collected at the tag sale, and there is no oppor- tunity for any persons to avoid paying the ad valorem tax, as is done in other states, and with the possibility that added burden be placed upon the more honest class.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"SOUL" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Feb. 12.

The Golden Text was from Psalms 66:8, 8, "O bless our God, ye people, and make the voice of his praise to be heard; which hold- eth our soul in life, and suffereth not our feet to be moved."

Among the citations which com- prised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "With my soul have I desired thee in the night; yea, with my spirit within me will I seek thee early; for when thy judgments are in the earth, the inhabitants of the world will learn righteousness. Lord, thou wilt ordain peace for us: for thou also has wrought all our works in us" (Isaiah 26:9, 12).

The Lesson-Sermon also in- cluded the following passages from the Christian Science text- book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "When humanity does understand this Science, it will be- come the law of life to man— even the higher law of Soul, which prevails over material sense through harmony and immortality" (p. 311).

Removal Of Minister At Tokyo Is Hinted; Jap Removal From League Is Expected

(Continued from Page One) Both Japanese and Manchukuo officials have professed to believe that the League's attitude concerning independence of Manchukuo and the campaign in Jehol province, the adjoining state, made Japan's withdrawal from the League inevitable. They declared they were not alarmed by this prospect and were confident the League would lose more thereby than Japan and Manchukuo.

The Japanese have said they consider Jehol a rightful part of Manchukuo. Recent dispatches have told of the reputed massing of troops by Japanese to invade the province on a large scale.

The officials indicated a rupture was likely especially if the League attempted sanctions against Japan which might nullify Manchukuo's recent agreement to liquidate American and other foreign claims against the old Mukden regime.

Meanwhile, undeterred by anx- ious questionings from Geneva, the army of General Nobuyoshi is rushing preparations for a con- quest of Jehol on behalf of Man- chukuo. General Muto is the su- preme military and diplomatic representative of Japan in Man- churia.

Revival Opens Before Big Throng Last Night

Because of the large attendance and the enthusiasm manifested at two services in the Full Gospel Tabernacle on the Sanford-Or- lando road yesterday where a one week revival got under way with Evangelist W. L. Brandon, of De- Land, as an assistant, Rev. Wm. F. McPherson of the Tabernacle today predicted a week of "real old fashioned revival meetings to be attended by many."

Evangelist Brandon, who is a Baptist minister, last night dis- cussed a timely subject that he will elaborate on tonight. Rev. McPherson also was heard in a short talk on the aims of the re- vival, while Howard Jarrett and Mrs. Jarrett, of Nashville, Tenn., furnished musical entertainment that will be duplicated nightly.

As a special feature of Thurs- day's night session, the Purcell Male quartet, of Orlando, will be heard in religious songs. Preach- ing is to be heard each night ex- cept Saturday starting at 7:00 o'clock. Rev. McPherson said as he invited the public to attend the revival.

Mrs. Fannie Munson Gives Talk On Bells

In addition to the regular program of piano music and the vocal solos rendered by Mrs. E. L. Glenn with Mrs. John D. Abrahams as accompanist, Mrs. Fannie S. Munson gave a talk on the subject, "Bells," at the regular meeting of the Cecilia Music Club held Saturday afternoon at Mrs. Munson's studio on Myrtle Avenue.

In her talk Mrs. Munson stated that fine bells are made of bronze, a composition of copper and tin, used in varying proportions. She added that too much copper softens the metal and destroys the brilliancy of tone, while too much tin makes the metal brittle and causes it to crack.

Excerpts from the talk are: "Tuning a bell is much more difficult than tuning a violin, but the bell remains as tuned, the violin must be tuned before every performance."

"Bells are of great antiquity and date from earliest Egypt. Bells were first used in churches between the fourth and fifth centuries."

"Chimes, swing, carillon are stationary. Chimes play, usually single notes, carillon play, in harmony. Chimes require much room for the swing so that in a given space there can be many more carillon than chime bells. Twelve bells is a good chime, carillon have from 20 to 70."

"All foreign countries have antique and famous bells. During the Napoleonic Wars many historic bells of France were torn down, melted into cannon and shot. England ranks above all countries in 'peal of bells.'"

"Among famous bells of America are the carillon of the University of California at Berkeley, the Strauss Tower in Chicago, the First Baptist Church in New York City, and the Holy Trinity Episcopal Church of New York City. Philadelphia has many beautiful bells and our most famous American bell, the Liberty Bell. In Indianapolis there is a beautiful church near the Sailors and Soldiers Monument whose bells have chimed a farewell to soldiers of the Civil War, of the Spanish-American War, and the World War. The Catholic Cathedral in St. Augustine has beautiful chimes, and the Bok Tower at Mountain Lake, dedicated by President Coolidge in January, 1929, was the largest carillon in the world at that time."

At the conclusion of Mrs. Munson's talk Mrs. Amelia Nobel told interesting stories of the Liberty Bell in Philadelphia, and Miss Nancy Bonsetter, expression pupil of Mrs. George A. Moffett, gave a reading, "The Bells," by Edgar Allen Poe.
