INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ANNUITIES

A letter this week asked for more information about a fully insured I.R.A. or Individual Retirement Annuity. I feel that more does need to be said about the advantages of an insured I.R.A. along with consumer advice on how to pick the insurance company. Why insure an I.R.A.?

First, look at the purpose of an I.R.A. An annuity is a periodic CASE NO. 77-10-CA-09-L ncome over a period of years. A retirement annuity is an annuity that is designed to last as long as you are retired. There are tax CHINSON, his wife, SOL SACHS and penalties on withdrawal at any time in lump sum. Yes, because I.R.A. money is tax deductible when deposited, it is taxable when withdrawn. The most favorable taxation is a withdrawal as an ARTHUR L. SELIGMAN, aka annuity. The consumer's first question should be how much ARTHUR SELIGMAN, Trustee and retirement income will be guaranteed by his regular deposits from now until retirement age. In other words, shopping should be WOLKIND, HAROLD H. GORDON, done by comparing the guaranteed minimum as well as the and ARNOLD LIBERMAN; and projected non-guaranteed retirement income.

Unfortunately, most people are shopping the wrong features. THE GOLDEN TEE, INC., a Eighteenth Judicial Circuit in and PENTERS PENSION TRUST Such aspects as current interest rates and projected lump-sum dissolved Florida Corporation, accumulation at age 65 are stressed in advertising, and divert attention from what is really the intent of the IRA. The ultimate point of comparison is how much retirement income is being purchased by a given deposit. The tax deduction each year will be the same whatever investment vehicle is used. The difference is in how much retirement income will be waiting for you. Only an nsurance company can guarantee a life income.

Other reasons for the insured IRA include the ability to move inywhere in the world and take your account with you, the ability o withdraw without forfeiting interest, and the ability to get the maximum interest on even monthly deposits as low as $10.00.

Compare Insurance Companies

Some insured IRA's are better for you than others. You can save thousands by comparing insurance companies. It is astonishing to me what some insurance companies get away with by emphasizing only one feature. Such features as current credited interest rate, mimimum guaranteed rate, front-in sales charge (or load), withdrawal charge, and minimum and current annuity rates all have a play in the end result - Retirement

One company is not expected to be better on every point of comparison, but one company will give you more retirement income than another for the same annual deposit. By carefully shopping and comparing you should find that the best retirement income from an IRA comes from a carefully selected insurance company

Real Estate Investments BY LARRY SAXON

Dear Mr. Saxon,

1Your articles often mention "exchanging" as a method of selling FRANK L. GLUSMAN, Trustees of Declaration thereof as recorded in or acquiring property. Most of the people I know call it "trading." Is there any difference, and, if so, what is it?

Dear P.T., Trading is just the exchanging of one item for another much like the old fashioned "horse trade." Exchanging is a highly sophisticated technique in which the object is for everyone involved to benefit from the "exchange."

Real estate practitioners have been trading one plece of property for another for some time now, but a successful trade is a rather rare incidence. It requires one owner to want exactly what another owner has, and the other owner must want exactly in the Complaint. what the first owner has.

It is really a very ineffective method of doing business. On the other hand, an exchange usually involves several owners and when completed, each owner winds up with that property most beneficial to him. There are over one hundred formulas which can facilitate an exchange, and which can give each owner benefits while also Flagship Bank of Sanford benefiting other owners. The "tax-deferred" exchange often permits an owner to transfer his profit in the property exchanged to the property acquired without having to lose a large portion of the profit by or $34.5119 paying income tax at that time.

"Exchangors" usually work quite closely with tax consultants to protect their client's interests. Send your question to:

Sanford Grant For City Hall Wins Final OK

A $1,795,525 federal grant for construction of the new Sanford City Hall has been formally approved. City Manager W. E. Knowles said this morning that he was notified of the approval of the Economic Development Agency grant by 5th District Congressman Richard Kelly (R-Holliday.) The grant will provide funds for construction, landscaping, parking, furniture and office equipment. A condition of the grant is that construction begin within 90 days of formal notification. K al architectural plans should be ready for bid by Feb. 15, Knowles said.

Williams: OK Jail Permit; Snafu Ends

County Commission Chairman Dick Williams said today he will recommend the county bypass one of its own ordinances and issue a building permit that is holding up construction of the new 54inmate addition at the county jail in Sanford.

According to county ordinance, permission was needed from safe transfer of critical care the city of Sanford before construction could get underway. But patients to speciality care city officials in Sanford - fearing further involvement in jail- facilities. related litigation - refused to issue the needed permit. Sanford City Manager W.E. Knowles praised the county's tact emergency service capabilities as being the best for both entities - the county and city govern- in each county.

"We've been urging this for months," Knowles said. "Their lawyer said they had to have a resolution from the city of Sanford." But Knowles pointed out city officials were reluctant to grant the resolution until some $7-million in lawsuits stemming from a 1975 jail fire are resolved. Sanford is named in the lawsuit. In the fire, 11 persons lost their lives. A spate of lawsuits was _filed, seeking some $7-million. In addition to Sanford, the county commission and the sheriff are named in the suits. "The jail facility can't wait," Williams declared. "My recommendation is to go ahead and move." Williams and Knowles both agreed the problem is "jurisdictional" or "procedural." "That's what it has been all the time,"

Knowles said. Williams said such an issue would have to be resolved, ultimately, by the courts

At Tuesday's meeting, however, the chairman said he will recommend the county bypass its own ordinance and issue the permit. Officials say construction has been held up since December.

The 55-inmate addition was authorized last year by the county medical guidelines for disaster commission to relieve overcrowding at the jail. Sheriff John Polk control appealed to the board for action after the inmate population on All in all Kaiser views the weekends rose at times to 100. The jail was designed to house only 82 inmates

Public Safety Director Gary Kaiser is recommending Seminole County participate in a 17-member panel whose job it is to beef up the level of emergency medical services in a five-county area.

The Regional Emergency Medical Services Management Organization (REMSMO) would consist of representatives from Brevard, Orange, Osceola, Seminole and Volusia counties

Two county commissioners today approved the program's concept, but both had some reservations about joining. "I would be in favor," Commission Chairman Dick Williams said. "But we have to be real careful not to turn EMS over to somebody and lose control.' "It sounds like a very good plan," Commissioner Bob French observed. "I need some more details - especially concerning the cost factor." A major benefit to Seminole would be in the application for federal and state grants. A fivecounty application would carry more weight, Kaiser said. REMSMO's primary functions include: - To review and advise each county of the level of emergency medical services and facilities available in each entity.

- To review and coordinate all applications for funding state or federal.

- To meet periodically at a time and place chosen by a majority of its members. To coordinate and

Reporter Tries Out A Heli-Home Just Lounging Around Up High

By JEAN PATTESON Herald Staff Writer

Now I know what Dick Van Dyke felt like in the movie "Chitty-Chitty Bang-Bang." Except that we weren't in a car that had sprouted wings, but Delighted to be in the cockpit again, Hue said hat flying the Heli-Home is no different from flying any other helicopter. A standard helicopter pilot's license is required. While the pilots prepared for take-off, the Heli-

Home's five passengers examined the living quarters in the belly of the vehicle. Sanfordites Frank Voltoline, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Britt with their guest, Thuan Nguyen, checked the spacious living area fitted with upholstered seats, tables, sink, stove and refrigerator. Also, an AM-FM stereo and tape system and color television on the refreshment bar.

The intercom telephone rang. It was Hue in the cockpit above us with instructions to fasten safety belts for take-off. We settled back comfortably in our lounge-like setting as the motor roared and the rotors whirred. And then, almost imperceptibly, we lifted into the air, hovered a moment, and then spun off across Sanford's eastern suburbs.

Buzzing leisurely across rooftops and treetops, every detail on the ground was amazingly clear a miniature world in perfect detail.

Once out across the Osteen bridge section of Lake Monroe, the maze of St. Johns River inlets and islets came into view. We could almost recognize the kind of bait fishermen in tiny boats below us were using, and identified a half-dozen different species of birds skimming the lake surface

Teams Battle Mountain To Return Mrs. Sinatra

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) - As a mourning Frank Sinatra remained in seclusion at his estate here, his family arranged the funeral of his 82-year-old mother, killed in the crash of a private jet plane on Southern California's highest mountain. Recovery teams were to resume at daybreak their climb up the steep slopes of snowcovered Mt. San Gorgonio to retrieve the remains of Natalie "Dolly" Sinatra and three other victims.

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) - After mapping strategy with her lawyers on what would have been her lover's 32nd birthday, Claudine Longet returns to court today to hear contrasting versions of how he came to bleed to death from a bullet in the abdomen. A jury chosen from her neighbors in this Rocky Mountain ski resort town was to be sworn in today, after which prosecution and defense would present opening arguments in the manslaughter trial. The 35-year-old ex-showgirl and former wife of singer Andy Williams could be sentenced to 10 years in prison if convicted of recklessly firing a gun at professional skier Vladimir "Spider" Sabich.

Carter Cabinet On 'Grill'

WASHINGTON (AP) - Congress will question most of President-elect Carter's Cabinet choices and also will hear President Ford's final State of the Union address this week. Two of Carter's Cabinet choices, Juanita Kreps, named commerce secretary, and Patricia Roberts Harris, named to head the Department of Housing and Urban Development, had dates today before Senate committees.

Plastic Bottles Are 'In'

NEW YORK (AP) - No-deposit, no-return soda bottles are under attack by environmentalists, so manufacturers are producing plastic containers which they say are safer and easier to handle. Voters in Maine and Michigan joined Oregon and Vermont last November by approving measures to eliminate nonreturnable beverage containers, including cans and bottles. Massachusetts and Colorado voters rejected similar proposals. But nonreturnable soda bottles made of plastic have been introduced on the market in several states. The Coca Cola Co. has led the way, with plastic Coke bottles holding 32 ounces available in parts of five states -Rhode Island, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Indiana.

Anthony Eden Goes Home

To Await Death Soon

ALVEDISTON, England (AP) - Anthony Eden, Britain's World War II foreign secretary and the prime minister who ordered the disastrous Suez invasion, has been brought home in accord with his wish to die at his country place in southern England. The 79year-old statesman, who became the Earl of Avon in 1961, was flown by special Royal Air Force plane Saturday night from Florida. He and his wife were spending the winter at the Hobe Sound home of American diplomat Averill Harriman, an old friend.

Israel Probe Continues

JERUSALEM (AP) - Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin and his cabinet have decided that Housing Minister Avraham Ofer must be presumed innocent of the corruption charges that drove him to suicide. But the cabinet agreed an investigation should continue into similar charges against other members of the ruling Labor party. The cabinet at its weekly meeting Sunday decided Ofer must be considered legally innocent of the allegations against him because he can no longer be proven guilty in court. It ordered an end to the investigation of his case.

Terrorist Leader Seized

PARIS (AP) - An alleged planner of the Palestinian attack on the Israeli team at the Munich Olympics has been arrested in Paris on a West German warrant. French counterintelligence agents seized Mohammed Daoud Audeh, better known as Abu Daoud, after an arrest warrant arrived Friday from authorities in Munich, West Germany, official sources said.

In The New Senate: The 'Pickle Prince' And Ex-Eagle Scout

... he feil asleep

WASHINGTON - The mathematical ratio of Democrats to Republicans in the Senate did not change in the November election: it is still 61-38, plus one independent. But as the upper house of Congress convenes it is nonetheless a changed institution, with more new faces than at any other time in the past two decades. The 18 new arrivals will make the Senate considerably younger, a bit more flamboyant and possibly more conservative. Inevitably, much of the early attention will focus on a pair of professors, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, (D-N.Y.), and S. I. Hayakawa, (R-Calif.), who are being counted upon to make the political dialogue livelier and more uplifting intellectually

Moynihan, having served in every administration since that of President Kennedy, is already a familiar figure in Washington. but his debut in the legislative branch of government will give him a new forum for his wit and his outspoken views on foreign policy and the need for welfare reform.

Hayakawa, however, is more of an enigma. A noted semanticist and an opponent of student protesters in the 1960s, he made his first run for public office at the age of 70 and won. Thus far, he has declined to specify any captivate traditionally Republican voters in policy positions that he intends to take - the farm states.

except to simplify the language of the laws and has instead mocked himself and the Senate

During early orientation sessions, Hayakawa distinguished himself principally by falling asleep.

Other new senators who may be worth watching include Mr. J. John Heinz, (R-Pa.). Known as the "pickle prince" because he is the scion of the "57 varieties" family from Pittsburgh, he spent $2.2 million from his own fortune to win election. Heinz is young (38), athletic (winner of the Capitol Hill olympics), and highly visible. But more important, he is one of the few new faces among liberal Republicans on the national scene.

Edward Zorinsky, (D-Neb.), formerly the mayor of Omaha, became a Democrat only last year and then went on to be the first member of that party to be elected to the Senate from his bedrock Republican prairie state since 1934. Zorinsky is the latest member of two significant blocks of Senate Democrats: those who may be willing to forsake party orthordoxy and vote against social programs in the name of fiscal responsibility and those who have managed to

Robbery Heads Crime Weekend

By BOB LLOYD Herald Staff Writer

Sanford police today were probing a weekend motel room burglary in which items valued at $3,000 were reported taken. Jim J. Toomey and his wife, Ruth, of West Palm Beach, told officers they returned to their room at the Holiday Inn on the Sanford lakefront early Sunday to find that an overnight case containing cosmetics plus several pieces of gold jewelry were missing. Officers reported the missing jewelry included a gold charm bracelet with six gold charms, valued at $2,000, a pair of gold earrings and an alligator tooth on a gold CALVES DISAPPEAR Sheriff's deputies are probing the disappearance of 40 to 50 calves at the Cameron Ranch on Moores Station Road, east of Sanford.

Mrs. June Cameron reported the calves, valued at $3,000, had disappeared since last December from prairie pastureland where they had been feeding on hay. A Winter Springs man reported to deputies that items valued at $1,012 were missing after his auto was burglarized in the parking lot at the Circus AGo-Go, U.S. 17-92, Fern Park. Deputy Robert O'Connor reported a CB radio, tapes and a stereo tape player, pocket calculator, golf clubs and bag and a $500 gold wrist watch were reported missing from the car of Paul K. Long Jr., of 2011 Sheoah Blvd., after burglars smashed a window. VIOLENCE IN CRIMES

Two 18-year-old Orlando men reported they were robbed by a club-wielding pickup truck driver on Bunnell Road in southwest Seminole.

Michael L. Twete and Brian D. Antill said the man who had given them a ride threatened them with a club and took $100, according to a report filed by deputy G.A. Deputies reported an unidentified man slugged a 48-year-old Longwood woman in the stomach and snatched her purse containing $22, in an incident Saturday afternoon in the parking lot at Jo-Ev Beauty Salon, at SR-434 and Pressview Ave., west of Longwood. Deputy Jim Alford said the strongarm robber fled in a blue and white auto. In weekend arrests, sheriff's deputies jailed three suspects on circuit court warrants charging robbery and aggravated assault. Being held in county jail without bond on the charges are David Wayne Patterson, 21, of Orlando, Kenneth Dale Bryant, 20, of Apopka, and Gary Edwin Barton, 20, of Winter Park.

Past Behind, Carswell Has A New Life

TALLAHASSEE (AP) - G. Harrold Carswell underwent extensive psychiatric treatment for several months following his arrest on a morals charge. Now the one-time U.S. Supreme Court nominee has resumed an active social life in Tallahassee, with the strong support of family and friends. Carswell's only comment is that he's "just doing fine, thank you." But friends say his recovery has been remarkable. The former federal judge was arrested June 24 on charges of battery and attempting a lewd and lascivious act. He was accused of making homosexual advances to a vice squad officer in a shopping mall men's room. Carswell pleaded no contest to the battery charge and was fined $100 on Oct. 31. The other charge was dropped. Last month, he and his wife, Virginia, attended the Colonels Club Christmas Ball and the New Year's Eve Cotillion. Casual friends who talked to the Carswells say they were happy and in high spirits.

Dorothy Clifford, editor of the Tallahassee Democrat's society pages, said strong community support helped Carswell overcome his problems. "When this happened to Harrold, old Tallahassee kind of closed ranks," she said. "It doesn't matter what others think. They think the whole family's been abused, and they're behind them 100 per cent." But the arrest has set back the legal career of the man who was nominated to the Supreme Court by then-President Richard Nixon in 1970.

The U.S. Senate rejected Carswell's nomination after it was reported that he had endorsed racial segregation years earlier as a young legislative candidate in Georgia.

Carswell, 57 this month, no longer practices law, according to W. Guy McKenzie Jr., his former law partner. McKenzie said he took over the cases Carswell was involved in at the time of his

A friend said Carswell draws a disability pension based on four years of World War II Navy service, five years as U.S. attorney in Tallahassee and 12 years as a judge in the U.S. District Court and the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. He was a federal bankruptcy referee after the Senate rejected his Supreme Court nomination

Carswell devotes much of his time these days to restoring an old house he had moved from the Bainbridge, Ga., area to rural Jefferson County, Fla., about 30 miles east of Tallahassee.

Heavy snows, cold tempera tures and a resulting shortage of natural gas gave millions a bitter taste of winter in the Midwest, Northeast and Southeast, and there was promise of more to come.

Roads were impassable i many areas, and several districts announced schools would be closed today.

Many of the 438 residents o Polo, Mo., left their homes Sunday night in the midst of subzero temperatures and gathered at the local high school so that remaining supplies of natural gas could go to the homes of the elderly and sick, said a spokeswoman for Polo Gas Service. The school was heated by propane.

ERA Shares Committee Limelight With Taxes

TALLAHASSEE (AP) - Taxes and the Equal Rights Amendment took top billing as legislators gathered today for a week of committee meetings to prepare for the 1977

Supporters of the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) plan to show their strength when the measure comes up Wednesday in the House Health and Rehabilitative Services Committee, chaired by Rep. Elaine Gordon, a strong supporter. In the House, the ERA has been sent only to Gordon's committee, so approval there will allow it to be scheduled for floor debate.

Rep. Margolis predicts at least 70 votes in the House, which has passed the measure twice before. Opponents, however, still hope to block ERA in the Senate.

Panels in both chambers planned to review the state's financial situation. Tax hikes already have been predicted by Gov. Reubin Askew and various legislative leaders.

Utilities Fight Ecology Rules

TALLAHASSEE (AP) - Electric utilities are among the private firms lining up against four environmental rules that are more stringent than federal standards, officials say.

Rip Caleen, general counsel of the Department of Environmental Regulation, said the four are the last of 11 pollution control rules to be reviewed by the Cabinet as part of the Environmental Reorganization Act of 1975

All 11 rules are stricter than their federal counterparts. Seven already have Cabinet approval, and the other four are scheduled to go to the Cabinet in February.

SARASOTA (AP) - Old-time circus wagons, scale models of the first circus attractions and a tribute to KooKoo the Bird Girl are among the displays at a new Ringling Museum of the Circus.

Nuclear Energy A Real Necessity

Twenty-five years ago (Dec. 29) the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission announced that electric power had been generated for the first time by a nuclear reactor.

The experimental reactor near Arco, Idaho, produced enough power to supply about 50 homes. A quarter-century of technological progress now makes it possible for a single reactor to provide power for a city the size of San Diego.

That's an impressive record for development of a wholly new energy source, but it's not impressive enough. The United States is still drawing only 8 per cent of its electricity from nuclear reactors. There's a question whether new nuclear plants can be completed soon enough to fill the gaps that can be seen in the amount of power we can rely upon in coming years from other fuel sources. mainly oil and coal.

Getting nuclear power clearly onto a more defined track is one of the challenges facing James Schlesinger, who will become the coordinator of energy programs for the Carter administration. We are heartened both by the fact that Presidentelect Carter wants to give Cabinet status to his energy coordinator, and that he chose Mr. Schlesinger for the job.

The Schlesinger appointment already is under fire from consumer advocate Ralph Nader, who speaks for those groups which have been erecting roadblocks against further nuclear development at every turn. Mr. Schlesinger, a former chairman of the AEC, supports greater use of nuclear energy, as anyone taking a realistic view of our energy needs would have to do.

Mr. Nader can grumble, but he cannot claim to speak for the American people. They have already spoken with a certain finality at the polls, California's rejection of an anti-nuclear initiative last June has been followed by a similar vote in six other states in November. Altogether, 13.6 million voters in seven states have passed judgment on issues raised by Mr. Nader, and rejected them by 67 per cent. This sentiment has been borne out by a nationwide Harris poll.

Mr. Carter's pre-election statements about nuclear energy were more cautionary than Mr. Schlesinger's recorded views. The two appear to have closed any differences with their recent comments on energy policy, which emphasized the importance of conservation programs to reduce oil and gas consumption and an effort for greater use of coal in generating electric power. Nuclear energy would "make up the difference."

Hart's Passing

Philip Hart, who died Dec. 26, thought he had done a poor lob in his 12 years as a member of the U.S. Senate. It was an opinion virtually no one shared. They called him the conscience of the Senate.

He was a man entirely free of the kind of cant and bombast which has marked too many members of the Congress. He did not fear to vote his conscience even when he knew it would cost him dearly in support from powerful blocs of his constituents. Sen. Mike Mansfield, the Democratic leader, called him "the best senator of us all."

Hart didn't know he had cancer when he decided 18 months ago that this would be his last term. "No one is irreplaceable," he said. "No one institution is all-important, and the guard should be changed with some regularity."

He was a liberal with 100 per cent ratings from labor and zero ratings from conservative groups. But he was gentle and open. He was always ready to recognize the good faith of his adversaries. He was totally honest with himself and with others. His character was his greatest political asset. The nation needs more legislators like him.

RAY CROMLEY Limited Wars End In Failure

WASHINGTON - Like President Ford's policymakers, the men Mr. Carter has chosen for foreign affairs and defense, almost without exception, were schooled in a concept dominant since World War II: Wars are not winnable. This belief led to our experiment with limited wars in Korea and in South Vietnam - to collapse in Saigon and to continued dangerous uncertain bubbling on the Korean penninsula. Even more seriously, this policy has dominated our strategic defense buildup. That is, it has led to the concept that our arms have one aim and one aim only - the prevention of war. Our thinking is based on the belief that nuclear war, once it starts, is not only unwinnable, but unthinkable.

Anyone in his right mind must agree that prevention of war must be our paramount aim. But once we add the belief that a nuclear conflict is unwinnable, and so tailor our forces, we invite

So, hats off to this area station for recognizing the true needs of its listening and viewing public. It is a public service for which they too seldom receive the proper accolades.

The offerings of another area television station also should not go unnoticed. WDBO, Channel 6, has taken up that exercise in morbidity and ghoulishness noted here recently and practiced by stations around the nation: presenting on programs individuals who have only recently met untimely or unseemly deaths.

The latest example appeared last week on the "Crosswits" show where actor Jack Cassidy was one of the celebrity guests. Only several days before his week-long stint, he had died in a Hollywood fire. Again, how much is a buck worth? In a continuing series, there conceivably could be a problem in eliminating particular featured characters. But in a syndicated show like "Crosswits," there should be no reason for projecting such morbidity and ghoulishness into our living rooms.

Sanford Kiwanis expects a full house for Wednesday's program featuring heart specialist Dr. Arthur Nesmith Jr. No reservations can be handled.

DON OAKLEY OPEC Tiff Is Merely A Respite The crack in the united price front maintained for the last four years by the Organization of Oil Exporting Countries (OPEC) has given the oil-dependent world a respite from the inevitable, but only a respite.

It remains to be seen whether Saudi Arabia. the world's largest producer of crude oil, can boost its production enough to make its 5 per cent increase stick or whether the other OPEC members, who wanted increases of up to 15 per cent, will tough it out. One thing the latter have working for them is the fact that there are practical limitations on how much more Saudi oil the world's supply lines can handle.

It's also a question how long the Saudis will be willing to try to keep the lid on oil prices. As they have made plain, they expect something in return from the West - namely, increased U.S. pressure on Israel to withdraw back to its 1967 porders and to resolve the Palestinian problem.

What it amounts to for the American energy consumer in the short run is an increase of less than a cent per gallon for gasoline and home heating oil under the Saudi dispensation, versus close to two cents at the majority OPEC level. Economists estimate that the actual increase will be on the order of 1.5 cents a gallon, or an overall increase of about 8.5 per cent, when Saudi oil is mixed with non-Saudi oil and production from U.S. wells is a very complicated price and supply structure.

But to people who have seen energy prices double since 1973, even 8.5 per cent sounds almost like good news.

In the long run, of course - meaning the next quarter of a century - one energy situation can "After you have received this letter I expect a the basic treaty, which undertook to "seek a reserves are finite and we will sooner or later visit from the state security service. 'I don't know what I'd do without sports. I really love my sports and keep my grades up, too.' - Sandy Scherr

Sporting Life For Scholarship Winner

By JEAN PATTESON Women's Editor

It's hardly surprising that Sandy Scherr loves sports. Her parents are athletic, her older sister is a physical education major, her older brother is a football player and her younger brother a terrific swimmer. Sandy, whose home is in Orlando, starred in volleyball, softball and basketball in her junior and senior years at Colonial High School, winning the Outstanding Basketball award and Most Athletic award in her last

But sport is more than just fun to Sandy. It won her physical education scholarship to Community College (the only one available to women last year), and she plans to make it her career. Not a trace of make-up hides the glow of health on the face of the dark-eyed, darkhaired young athlete as she enthuses about her love for sports, the outdoors and her plans to attend either Florida Tech or Florida State Jniversity after her two years at SCC are up provided she can win another scholarship. This course of study should lead to a career s either a physical education teacher, a coach or an athletic trainer. "So long as I'm day," says Sandy. The teenager feels encouraged about the future of women's sports, both at the high school level and beyond. "Look at FSU's volleyball team - they went all the way to finals last year," she boasts. Sandy is an inveterate team-follower. "I learn so much by watching a good team play," she explains. Next year, she believes scholarships for a variety of women's sports will be available at SCC. "It's a growing thing," she said. Apart from her physical education classes and team practice sessions, Sandy works out regularly with weights and jogs at least two miles each evening. "I really love my sports and I try to keep ny grades up, too," she said. Sandy, who sports a strong, but trim figure, doesn't much care to be called "super-jock"

- though it does happen sometimes. "I'm not super," she explains, "though I am good. And I'm not a jock. Men like to be called jocks, but I'm still a woman, even if I do play sports!" If it weren't for sports, Sandy doesn't know what she'd do. Her spare time she divides between coaching basketball at Stonewall Jackson Junior High and life guarding at the McCoy pool.

Her dream, she says, is to go to the outside. I couldn't stand to be in an office all Olympics - preferably as a competitor.

He advised more tender tropical plants should be protected again tonight by bringing them inside or covering them up. He suggested that the sheet covering them go all the way to the ground to hold in the heat. Sanford Port Authority reported a low temperature of only 31 degrees last night, but the thermometer on the Atlantic Bank building in downtown Sanford made it 29. A "good looking" barometer reading of 30.24 and steady at 8 a.m. prompted a forecast from the Port weather bureau of possibly 10 degrees higher tonight with a warming trend Wednesday.

There was one reservation: a north wind "blowing right down our teeth at 12 mph." A low of 23 was reported in Pensacola and Crestview just before dawn, and the mercury dropped to 24 in Valparaiso and Milton.

In South Florida, Miami's temperature dropped to 46 degrees, Fort Lauderdale reported 44 and Fort Myers had a 40-degree reading.

Weathermen said cold weather could be expected again tonight and Wednesday morning with a chance of frost in north and central zones.

Warns Of Case Cancellations

By ED PRICKETT Herald Staff Writer

Circuit Judge Kenneth M. Leffler has fired off a letter to the county commission complaining of a lack of available courtroom facilities to conduct the week's schedule of trials in circuit and county court. "The real problem is that adequate courtroom facilities do not exist at present," Leffler said. The judge said the lack of space "will necessitate cancellation of trial of my cases or moving them to whatever makeshift facility can be found." Asked for a reply to Leffler's letter, which was mailed Monday, County Commissioner John Kimbrough said he didn't see the need for immediate action. Kimbrough, however, did say commissioners have offered judges the county commission's meeting chamber to hold trial in this afternoon and for the remainder of this week. Kimbrough also blamed the lack of courtroom space on poor scheduling on the part of the judiciary. "They

"I don't think there's that much to it," Kimbrough judges.

FOR A HERO

Chairman Dick Williams (left) presents county safety award to public works employe Andrew Miller for 'possibly'' saving four lives by avoiding a head-on collision on Jan. 4 on SR 46. Miller was at the wheel of the dump truck hit by Tom Washniewski, who was charged with driving on the wrong side of the road. Officials say Miller "kept cool," pulled over and perhaps saved lives of passengers James Roosevelt and Anthony Redden.

Leffler Raps County -- 'No Court Space'

In his letter, Leffler agreed that "part of the problem this week rests with inability of the judiciary to evenly schedule trials throughout the year." But Leffler said the "real problem" is that of inadequate facilities. At least one other courtroom is needed immediately, the judge said.

Kimbrough explained that he is meeting with an intermediary for the judiciary in an effort to solve the space problems. Early today, Kimbrough met with Sanford attorney Mack Cleveland, who is acting as an arbitrator for the Seminole County Bar Association on behalf of the

Jail Permit Flap: County Options

Interim County Attorney Gary Siegel today gave county commissioners three options on the matter of a construction permit for the 55-unit addition at the county jail in Sanford. Siegel said commissioners could: - BYPASS the county ordinance and issue the construction

- SEEK an opinion from Florida Atty. General Robert Shevin. - GET a court order and force city of Sanford officials to . review the matter.

The issue centers on jurisdiction. Sanford City Manager W.E. Knowles said the city would not issue the permit because city officials fear such action might involve them in future lawsuits that evolve from jail facilities.

Under county ordinance, the commission is required to seek permission from the city before construction gets under way. On Monday, commission Chairman Dick Williams said he would recommend the county bypass the ordinance and issue the per-

Knowles agreed that was the best procedure for the county to follow. However, after hearing Siegel's recommendation this morning, the commission decided to seek an opinion from lawyers who are representing the county in litigation involving $7 million worth of lawsuits that resulted from last year's jail fire.

The City of Sanford, the county Polk are named in that lawsuit. "I don't think we should do anything until we check with the attorneys," Commissioner Harry Kwiatkowski said.

After officials have checked with the attorney for the county's insurance firm, Appalachian Insurance Company, Kwiatkowski said, the board will consider one of the three options presented by Siegel today.
