What Washington now has to seide is would it do any good dump more millions of dollars other sid into such a morass which instantly swallows every-hing that touches it. That's a ough question to answer.

The Export-Import Bank in Washington has a loan of $500,-000,000 conditionally earmarked for China, but the time limit on that will expire June 30 unless the United States government implements the loan. Secretary of State Marshall expressed the

Gas Exports To Reds May Be Restricted

WASHINGTON, June 27, (A) Legislation to restrict gasoline and petroleum products exports was introduced today as the House Merchant Committee laun-ched an inquiry into oil shipments to Russia.

The bill, offered by Committee Chairman Weichel (R Ohio), would prohibit any petroleum exports unless the War and Navy Departnot interefere with nationad denot interefere with national de-fense, and the Commerce Depart-ment certified that they would not restrict domestic consumption. Weichel's committee is trying to find out why oil is being exported to the Soviet and other countries at a time when there is talk of gasoline rationing in the United States.

Capt. Ralph. E. Wilson, Navy representative of the Army-Navy petroleum board, testified at the first session that the shipments petroleum board, testified at the first session that the shipments to Russia represent "normal requirements" and there is "no indication" that the Soviets are trying to build up military stocks.

Wilson also told the committee in response to questions:

1. The oil going to Russia from the West Coast does not meet Navy specifications, but could be made so by refining processes.

2. There is no way to tell for what purpose the oil is being used but it is of a type equivalent to that used in the Merchant Marine.

3. This country's present known oil reserves amount to 23 billion barrels, which is being drawn upon at a rate of 1,800,000,000 barrels a year.

In connection with the latter point, Wilson told the committee that the United States fleet might be "largely immobilized" in a major war if unable to obtain oil imports.

One Universe

Our own, and the millions of other "island universes" that astronomers tell us are suspended in space, show evidence of surprising uniformity in chemical composition. Also-they all came into being as a result of a single supertremendous atomic explosion some 8,000,000,000 years ago.

tremendous atomic explosion some 8,000,000 years ago. This is the view of the Indian astro-physicist, Dr. S. Chandrasekhar of Yerkes Observatory.

The more that is learned about the various heavenly bodies, the more impressive is the recurring similarity in their ingredients, Dr. Chandrasekhar points out. He believes that the "star mother of the universe" was a vast mass that the "star mother of the universe" was a vast mass thousands of hillions of miles in day, we constantly turn on the for you redemption draweth night to hear of progress toward to heave the universe to but like in head of a better day, we constantly turn on the for you redemption draweth night to hear of progress toward up the universe to heave and slip back two. Apparently it was so dense that a cubic inch weighed tons. Its contraction produced a temperature of several billions of degrees and the resulting explosion created the universe as we know it. All heavenly bodies since that day of their creation have been disintégrating. The condition of substance in them now indicates their age. For example, a study of tion that all of us are rolling in uranium on the earth indicates that this sphere is between dollars." one and a half and two and a half billion years old.

Here is startling argument for the oneness of creation, scientific witness of the One Mind, or One God of theology. To many people it will be more impressive evidence of the To many people it will be more impressive evidence of the existence of a sinble Creator than any Scriptural quotation. If there is this underlying unity in the universe, certainly man is on the right track in trying to attain one-world harmony.

German Tax Problem

From Berlin where she has been helping to revise College professor and national tax expert, writes concerning the problems involved.

The tax plan, like all aspects of the evolving government, is based on the idea that Germany must some day govern herself. Yet administration through the four present zones is difficult. Taxes, which must be uniform, require four-way agreement. Since the four members of the tax committee come from four countries with different ideologies and complex national interests, this is not easy. But compromises are gradually being achieved.

Dr. Newcomer feels now that re-education of Germans is the most important occupational job confronting the Communist, has been rentenced allies. But her own "extra-official" work with been fixed for "distoyal" activities groups of Berlin women has been rewarding. Large numbers have attended the meetings which she arranged, and have sliown themselves eager to learn of other countries. She believes firmly that money spent in a long-range education-Congress begins considering leg- al program might prevent future war.

As an experienced educator who is herself an inspiring Russia . . . after Shindard Oil of teacher, her views are worth consideration.

Education or Training

Speaking at the University of Illinois, Robert M. Chan-cellor of the University of Chicago, advocated a tightening up of the qualifications for college entrance and at the same time, an expansion of programs for adult education,

He urged that university students, instead of being given practical training, be made to place their emphasis on after the Vice President, after to history, philosophy, and theology, thus acquiring a backjecting a motion proposing the ground to give them understanding of modern problems. president of the Senate. They And, for adults, Dr. Hutchins discussed in particular the "Great Books" program which has proven so successful in many communities, saying that more must be done along those lines to educate the people at large, if they are to survive in an atomic age.

. The Chancellor, always a stimulating thinker, has brought to the fore again the old question of whether educatues of this state, both scenic and tion should be for the purpose of learning how to live or on industrial. Southern's war-developed TIFA unit convers a highly potent liquid insecticide into a true fog which quickly surrounds and clings to all objects in its path and penetrates into the smallest crevices.

When this fog is introduced into your home through a downstairs door or window it fills every space with a dense, white insectidal cloud that reaches into the smallest openings dealing death to all insects hidden in closets, drawers, cabinets, walls, attics; basements and drains.

After aproximately four hours the fog has settled covering every square inch of building & furnishings with an invisible residue which will be effective in killing any insects which may enter for three months or more.

FOG is stainless and will not injure the most delicate fabrics or paintings. FOG is harmless to children and Southern Chemicals gives a three-month satisfaction guarantee with every job.

Charges are dependent upon size of home and range from $10 up.
