Manna Haven Seeks Extension

By Paul Schaefer Herald Staff Writer

A group offering free hot lunches for the needy wants to expand its services to hungry and homeless people in the area, but is expected to be told Wednesday afternoon by their landlord that for now, only the lunch program can be offered.

It will be recommended that Manna Haven be given a one-year lease extension to continue serving the meals.

The lease extension will be recommended by Seminole County Superintendent of School Robert Hughes to the school board, for a year's use of the district's "Little Red Schoolhouse", Sixth St. and Palmetto St., Sanford. The building has been used since April by the Manna Haven group, to provide a free hot lunch program for hungry people. But the year's lease extension falls far short of Manna Haven's goals for their program.

In a letter to the school board, which will be considered during Wednesday's 2 p.m. board meeting, 1211 Mellonville Ave., Sanford, Manna Haven President Mariane Smith, requests changes to the building, and an expansion of programs offered at the site.

Ms. Smith requests in the letter that a nondenominational church service, counseling services, and transportation for handicapped and elderly, be included in Manna Haven service offerings. She also requests that the hours of operation be expanded from 9 a.m. 3 p.m., to 24 hours a day.

In addition, the group wants to construct temporary offices, enlarge the freezer room, and install ceiling paddle fans.

"They've done a good job. and it's a worthwhile effort," said Hughes, who visited the site with county schools Administrative Assistant Dr. Hortense Evans Monday morning.

Hughes said the lease extension will allow the program to develop a track record before the board approves an expansion of services at the site.

Hughes also said that the City of Sanford.

the Planning and Zoning Board, and neighbors in the residential community would have to be consulted before any service expansion at the site could be considered.

Ms. Smith recently requested the school board consider allowing the group to purchase the 4.700 square foot building. which sits on less than a half-acre of land.

Hughes said Monday that the property may eventually be declared as surplus property by the school board, since the building "is not satisfactory as a school site." He said disposal of the property would come after it is appraised, through a bidding process

According to a Manna Haven report, 1,480 meals were served at the building between April 7 and June 8. Also distributed were 184 bags of groceries and 138 families received clothing.

Hughes' recommendation to the board will be to continue the lease to Manna

Sanford Nears 911 Approval

By Karen Talley Herald Staff Writer

Sanford has projected its police and fire departments will be on-line with the Seminole County E-911 emergency phone call system by mid-October.

At Monday's work session, commissioners were told that costs for conversion to the system are running on a par with the reimbursement Seminole County will provide Sanford through an inter-local agreement city commissioners are expected to sign on July 14. during their next regular session.

The mo;, Jy totals $24,921.92 and will enable Sanford police department headquarters to serve as the city's E-911 emergency communications center for police and fire calls. The fire department will receive its calls from police dispatchers, who will rel information to a screen located at fire department headquarters, Sanford Police Chief Steve Harriett said Monday.

Sanford commissioners and Harriett said a major advantage of the system is that it will flash the caller's street address across a screen. They said this will enable response to calls made by young children, who may not be aware of their address, and to residents who are unable to talk once the connection is made.

It was also pointed out that system will show the nearest cross-street to the call's point of origin and that the inter-local agreement also involves uniform numbering of street addresses throughout the county, which was cited as assisting expedient response to emergency calls.

Sanford commissioners have expressed reservations about some of the stipulations contained in the county proposal. and will ask city counsel to clarify the points before they sign the inter-local agreement on July 14.

Commissioners, however, also said on Monday the system's advantages outweigh its perceived legislative shortcomings.

By Jane Casselberry Herald Staff Writer

In a compromise, the Longwood City Commission voted unanimously Monday night to appoint Ann Colby, 33-year-old assistant city attorney for the city of Orlando, as Longwood's first full-time staff attorney with a salary of $45,000 a year and a review in 90 days (Oct. 1) to consider raising the salary to $48,000.

Mrs. Colby, who has worked for Orlando since 1979, said she will be in and out of her office in city hall this week because she is involved in a federal trial this week. Monday will be her first full day on her new job.

One of the first problems facing the new city attorney will be an issue raised at Monday night's meeting by former commissioner Steve Uskert. Uskert said the 1938 deed on the city park property where the new police station is being built contains a reverter clause causing the property to revert back to the former owner, Christ Episcopal Church, if the property is used for something other than a park. The city acquired the land in a swap with the church. Uskert told the commission the problem should be resolved before the building is built. Half of the jail

Salfi said he was going to continue in the legal profession and strive to make it more 'available and understandable to the average person." He said he wanted people involved in the legal system 'c get through it without sacruicing their esteem or their values.

Salfi said he wants to leave office on Sept. 30 or as soon after that time as possible without causing inconvenience to other circuit judges or defendants.

While Ms. Kirchman acknowledged there was no direct connection with her activities against Salfi and his resignation. she said it was the constant pressure of critics like her that edged Salfi towards resignation.

Wiring Threat To Area Neighborhoods

Sanford staffs' determination Under the inter-local agree- last week that the threat of fire exists in some city homes due to deterioration of aluminum electrical wiring systems has been followed-up by their identifying some of the residential areas where the potential threat exists.

At Monday's city commission workshop, staff said they will continue looking at city construction records to pinpoint additional areas where potential problems exist for possible contact of these structures' residents. Mayor Bettye Smith also called for staff to prepare a report regarding the potential dangers for inclusion in the city's fall newsletter.

Quake Rocks South California

LOS ANGELES (UPI) - An earthquake measuring 6.0 on the Richter scale shook Southern California early today, shaking buildings and downing power lines from San Diego to north of Los Angeles but with no major damage reported, seismologists said.

The epicenter of the quake was 12 miles northwest of Palm Springs, said Dennis Meredith, spokesman for the seismology lab at California Institute of Technology.

The initial temblor struck at 2:21 a.m. PDT and lasted about 30 seconds, he said.

A magnitude 6 carthquake can cause severe damage.

BIG MOUNTAIN, Ariz. (UPI) - About 300 Navajos and their supporters screaming "Hell no! We won't movel" cut down a barbed wire fence separating the Navajos from 900,000 acres of tribal land that Congress ceded to the rival Hopi tribe.

The chanting members of the American Indian Movement set out from the town of Hard Rock on Monday just two hours after the Hopi Tribal Council passed a resolution officially claiming the 900,000 acres its tribe received under a 1974 law that settled a century-old dispute with the Navajos.

Sunday had been the deadline for the Navajos to move. but about 1,000 people, comprising some 240 families. held their ground, claiming the land is sacred to them. The Hopi leadership called on the Navajos to develop a plan within 30 days to move the holdouts.

Supreme Court Takes Up Capital Punishment Discrimination Issue

By Andrea Neal

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Supreme Court said Monday it will tackle one of the major constitutional questions remaining about capital punishment and decide if the death penalty discriminates against blacks.

The justices, acting on the final day of the 1985-86 term. accepted an appeal by Warren McCleskey, a Georgia inmate who says he is on death row for two reasons - he is black and he killed a white.

McCleskey's case, on the court's agenda for the term beginning next fall, has drawn attention from anti-death penalty forces nationwide because of a Georgia study that documents disparities in the application of the death penalty defendant and his victim.

McCleskey was sent to death row for the murder of Atlanta police officer Frank Schlatt during the May 1978 robbery of a furniture store.

His attorneys, in appealing to the high court, said imposition of the death penalty in Georgia "is marked by persistent racial disparities" and thus should be declared unconstitutional in all instances.

Citing a 1978 study by Professor David Baldus of the University of Iowa, the attorneys said. "Among all persons indicted for the murder of whites. black defendants receive death sentences nearly three times as often as white defendants."

Baldus studied all Georgia murder convictions from depending on the race of a 1973-78 and found that 22 percent of blacks who killed whites got the death penalty. compared to 1 percent of blacks who killed blacks. 3 percent of whites who killed blacks and 8 percent of whites who killed whites.

Similar findings have been made in studies from Florida. Louisiana, South Carolina and Tennessee.

The state of Georgia, in opposing McCleskey's appeal, said the state death penalty statute in no way treats blacks differently than whites.

'There is no challenge that the statutory scheme itself creates any arbitrariness and capriciousness," the state said. There must be proof that the challenged action was a product of discriminatory intent."

The Supreme Court struck down the death penalty in 1972, but reinstated it 10 years ago last week for the crime of murder as long as it is not mandatory and assures the defendant that the mitigating circumstances of his crime will be reviewed. Since then, 61 people have been executed, 20 of them black. Six of the blacks had black victims, but none of the whites were executed for killing blacks.

Henry Schwarzschild, of the American Civil Liberties Union. said McCleskey's case offers "the last major constitutional challenge to the present method of imposing the death penalty."

If the court agrees with Mc-Cleskey, Schwarzschild said, it would reopen the debate over whether the death penalty is, by its very nature. arbitrary and capricious.

Graham, Hawkins Contributions Now Nearing Parity

TALLLAHASSEE (UPI) - Gov. Bob Graham nearly closed the campaign contribution gap in his race with Sen. Paula Hawkins, and boasts nearly twice as much cash-on-hand as the incumbent, both campaigns reported.

Graham took in just under $1.3 million during the last three months, campaign manager Jim Eaton said Monday. That nearly doubled Hawkins' estimated take of $700,000.

The Democratic candidate also took a comfortable lead in the key category of money-on-hand. Eaton reported the Graham campaign had cash reserves of just under $1.6 million, while Hawkins' campaign director Charles Black said the Republican senator's war chest stood at about $800,000.

Even with the big gain, Graham trails Hawkins by about $500,000 in total contributions since the campaign opened. Eaton said Graham had taken in a total exceeding $3.5 million, while Black said Hawkins had gathered about $4 million since launching her campaign.

Breisinger had been on the list for a transplant since April. The hospital received word that a donor liver was able late Monday morning, and the surgeon, Dr. the howard, left for the donor site at about 2:30 p.m. to determine whether the liver would be suitable and to harvest the organ. Hunt said. The operation began about U:16 p.m.

The hospital would not release any information about the donor.

automatic budget-cutting mechanism of the Gramm-Rudman law, saying the comptroller general is unqualified to make the spending cuts.

That ruling leaves in place the bulk of the language of Gramm-Rudman but says Congress itself is required to pass a law, that the president must sign, making the spending cuts necessary to whittle the federal deficit to zero by fiscal 1991.

Congress' first test will come soon. Under the Gramm-Rudman law, $11.7 billion in budget cuts were made in March for the current fiscal year. Those cuts also were outlawed by the court ruling, but the justices stayed their decision for 60 days.

House and Senate leaders say Congress is likely to vote to uphold the previous cuts. figuring it would be far too disruptive to undo budget guts that have already been in effect for months. House leaders planned to meet later this week or next to decide how to handle the previous cuts, which must be approved by Sept. 5 to remain in effect. Otherwise, the agencies will have to get their money back.

Last month, Congress approved a fiscal 1987 budget written to reflect the Gramm-Rudman target of no more than a $144 billion deficit. That budget had two things going for it - the threat of automatic budget cuts if the deficit target was not met and lawmakers' desire to leave town for a two-week Independence Day recess.

But now the automatic budget-cut threat is gone. Congress is coming back to work and economists are warning that slow economic growth is likely to mean legislation will be needed in the fall to cope with power of the purse, and it was failure to exercise that power that brought about Gramm-Rudman in the first place.

"The stick that makes Congress work is not the automatic trigger, not the comptroller general ... it is the ballot box on Nov. 5," Synar said.

But that ballot box could work in the opposite direction. making it harder - not easier - for lawmakers facing re-election to forego budget cuts in favor of protecting constituents' favored programs.

Under the part of the Gramm-Rudman law that remains in force, a "snapshot" of the economy will be taken by the two leading governmental economic agencies on Aug. 15. That picture - developed by the administration's Office of Management and Budget and the Congressional Budget Office - will show whether Congress is successful in meeting the Gramm-Rudman deficit target.

If the picture shows the deficit exceeding the $144 billion deficit target by more than $10 billion, the automatic budget cuts are supposed to kick in. But now, Congress will be required to make the necessary budget

Mexican Human Rights

As if Mexico didn't have enough problems, now comes a report from Amnesty International detailing serious human rights violations in rural parts of the country. Peasants and Indians have reportedly been the victims of torture, political killings, "disappearances" and imprisonment on false criminal charges. Most of the reports Amnesty has received have come from rural regions in the southern part of the country, primarily in the states of Oaxaca and Chiapas.

In some respects, it's a familiar story. The reported killings seem to be the result of conflicts over land and local political disputes that often have persisted for years. Many of the victims were active in groups pushing for reforms strongly opposed by local landowners and by local and state government authorites. Most of the killings were carr. d out by armed civilians allegedly acting in collusion with local landowners and municipal authorities.

Amnesty spokesman Sebastian Brett emphasizes that his organization is not accusing the government of Mexico of practicing torture as an instrument of policy. And in its report, Amnesty emphasizes that it has no evidence that state government authorities or official security forces participated in the killings.

Amnesty's concern has to do with consistent reports indicating the involvement of municipal authorities in some of these killings. Brett also noted the failure of law enforcement agencies to carry out prompt and effective investigations into killings of members of opposition organizations. As a result, in the majority of these cases, those responsible have never been brought to justice.

Brett is hopeful that the Amnesty report will focus attention not only on human rights abuses in rural parts of Mexico. He hopes it will help provide impetus for new human rights legislation being debated in the Mexican Senate, legislation prompted in part by evidence of torture that came to light in Mexico City last year. Rescue workers discovered a number of bodies while excavating the ruins of the headquarters of the Federal District Attorney General, which collapsed during the earthquake last year.

The Mexican Senate has before it a series of constitutional amendments with the stated aim of eliminating the possibility of torture. One amendment would establish specific sanctions against illegal detention. Another would provide that only the judge be empowered to receive a declaration from a detaince, which must be made in public and in the presence of a defense lawyer. Yet another would make statements made to the police during interrogation, or to the Public Ministry, inadmissable as evidence in court. Legislation, of course, won't miraculously ensure prompt and fair trials and respect for human rights in rural Mexico - or in Mexico City - but it's absolutely necessary if reform is ever to take place. In a developing country, it's a long, evolutionary process. The Mexican government deserves credit for addressing the issue and for responding, carefully and comprehensively, to Amnesty International's findings.

Lady Liberty: A Symbol For The World

Covered with glitz, television, fireworks and celebrities, it may be hard to discern why the Liberty Lady is so important these days.

Let's go back a bit. At about the time the Statue of Liberty was unveiled 100 vears ago, the patterns of American immigration were changing rather dramatically — just as they are changing dramatically now.

Prior to the 1880s, it would have been fair to characterize the American population in roughly this way: white people who originally came from the countries of northwestern Europe and black people who originally came from Africa as slaves. The white people, be it further noted, came from countries that typically had had at least some democratic experience.

Then, suddenly — at about the time the statue arrived — new kinds of immigrants began pouring into America: Italians. Jews from castern Europe. Poles. Slavs, Ukrainians. They were people from countries with little or no democratic tradition.

There was great consternation in the United States. Wise men worried whether these swarthy, unwashed primitives could ever learn to be Americans in the way WASPs were Well. of course. they and their children, and their grandchildren. managed all right: Lee lacocca. George Gershwin and Edmund Muskie come immediately to mind.

And so, a message was sent from these new-style, ethnic immigrants who arrived in America sailing beneath the shadow of the Statue of Liberty. The message was this: Democracy in America could work for people other than just northwestern Europeans with democratic backgrounds.

Today, something similar is happening on the immigration front. Most American immigrants these days are not coming from Europe — not northwest Furope or southern Europe or eastern Europe.

Most r.w immigrants today are from Latin America, and from Asia, and some from the Moslem lands. From everywhere. They no longer typically arrive in a harbor with a colossal statue. These days they come into airports, but they are immigrants just the same. And once again. it's working: How many times have you seen on television the story of the little Vietnamese girl who came here speaking no English and became the high school class valedictorian?

So now a new message is going out. Democracy in America can work not just for all kinds of Europeans — even those without democratic traditions — but for everyone.

Well – democracy can work for everyone who comes to America. That is an interesting, indeed heart-rending domestic story. But it has become transmuted into a foreign policy story as well, perhaps the most important one in the world today. For once you say democracy works for everyone in America – Europeans. Africans, Latins and Asians – there is a corollary question that begins to form. Might democracy work for everyone, everywhere – not just in America?

Remember, the Statue of Liberty faces outward to the world. Its message may be universal. If Filipinos can be democrats in America, why not in the Philippines? If Nicaraguans can be democrats in the United States, why not in Nicaragua? How about Cuba? Haiti? Poland? South Korea? Hungary? Russia?

ROBERT WALTERS

VANCOUVER, British Columbia (NEA) — One of the stars of Expo 86 is Roger Kuptana, a resident of a remote island community in the Northwest Territories called Sachs Harbor. It's almost 1,700 miles north of here in the Arctic Ocean.

Kuptana isn't actually at the world's fair, but a striking still photograph in the Northwest Territories exhibit shows him surrounded by desolate snow-covered tundra far north of the Arctic Circle. His contribution is a quotation beneath the photo that makes city dwellers pause in reflection: "You think we are lonely when we are out on the land. I tell you, it's the people in the cities who are lonely."

Expo is a world-class exposition in a cosmopolitan city. It boasts, for example, of participation by the United States, the Soviet Union and the People's Republic of China — an accomplishment unmatched by any of the 23 world's fairs previously held in North America.

But Expo 86 is western Canada's world's fair, presenting a special opportunity for the people of the sparsely populated western provinces and territories to tell their story to the world — especially to the smug big-city visitors from Montreal, Toronto and other urban areas in eastern Canada.

Reflections On War

It is past time to stop the crybaby number, about the Vietnam War. The famous controversial Vietnam War memorial in Washington is beautiful aesthetically and seems to be popular with tourists, but it probably is in fact too lugubrious as critics charged from the beginning. The Vietnam War was a war like another. We lost 50,000, hard for them but not much as wars go, and we failed to achieve our aims. We lose that many in automobile accidents in a single year. been a great crusade against Nazism and against the Japs — not the Japanese, but the Japs — and maybe it was. They were all pretty bad. But he young men who came back from it in 1945 did not want to talk much about it at the time. I remember them getting jobs and playing some tennis and changing the subject when it came to the war.

I have just read a great new book by Professor John Dower of the University of California at San Diego called

A Look Through The Bars

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Recently, a man I know was kidnapped from his home in the middle of the night.

It is a short commentary on the state of affairs in South Africa to note that after 24 hours of frightening silence, his family and friends were relieved to learn that he had only been arrested.

When the masked, armed men came to Zwelahke Sisulu's home at 1 a.m., they told him to "pack some clothes, but not for a holiday." They told his wife Zodwa that she would see her husband "next year." Then they drove off.

It is forbidden to report the names of people who have been "detained" under the latest South African emergency. Repeated questions about Sisulu persuaded authorities to break their own rules and announce that he was in their custody. There was no indication of what, if anything, he was charged with.

Sisulu's father, Walter, is serving a life term in prison with Nelson Mandela. His mother, Albertina, is an active opposition leader who has been jailed several times and his brother is fighting the regime from outside the country.

Sisulu also has been in jail before

The Amnesty report also shows what can be accomplished by a group whose credibility is untainted by political considerations or hidden agendas.

BERRY'S WORLD

Those provinces and territories have made an extraordinary effort to provide compelling presentations at their pavilions. Some outstanding examples:

— The Northwest Territories offers not only striking still photographs of Inuit and Indian natives but also a breathtaking film and displays that effectively use everything from photomurals to animal pelts.

- The host province of British Columbia outdoes itself with three separate pavilions that offer animated shipping crates, a spectacular three-screen movie and a filmed tour of the province hosted by a 12-year-old girl.

- Alberta, home of what is arguably the world's best rodeo, the Calgary Stampede, dazzles its visitors with a filmed chuck-wagon race displayed on a screen that totally encircles the audience.

— Saskatchewan offers an ebullient young woman on stage who interacts with a film on a screen directly behind her, as well as visits to a simulated potash mill and a mock-up of a grain elevator.

In contrast, the pavilions of the world's three superpowers are disappointing and many other nations offer uninspired fare.

Some clown charged with murder is actually pleading that he did it because he was deranged through service in Vietnam. That some such claim is not being greeted with utter derision is testimony to our foolishness about war. Druggies blame Vietnam too. Boo hoo.

All wars are lousy. Some have to be fought, not all but some.

World War I is now lost in the mists of romanticism. As a boy, I knew all about the Red Baron, about Eddie Rickenbacker and Sergeant York. But my mother, a Broadway actress during the 1920s, had helped to entertain our men in the veterans' hospitals, young men who had been through the Argonne and Belleau Wood. She was a young woman at the time and she would be forever horrified at what she saw: men with their faces shot away. men without legs or arms, men gasping out of lungs destroyed by mustard and chlorine gas. And our World War I casualties were trivial beside those sustained by the French at Verdun, by the British on the Somme, and other such glorious events.

World War I was so popular in the United States that it took a Depression to elect another Democrat after Woodrow Wilson.

World War II is supposed to have

'War Without Mercy." It's about the 1942-1945 war in the Pacific. and Professor Dower copiously documents the racial animosities on both the Japanese and American sides, animosities that led to unprecedented savagery in the fighting. The Japanese regarded non-Japanese as inferiors and routinely bayonetted both prisoners and civilians. Even our respectable media routinely referred to the Japs as sub-human, the most frequent comparison being to monkeys. Our forces did not take prisoners, and collected gold teeth and Jap ears. Admiral William "Bull" Halsey said that at the end of the war Japanese would be spoken only in hell. Col. Charles Lindbergh, sent to inspect the Pacific war on behalf of the Air

I am not by any long shot anti-military, or anti-war. As I saw, some wars have to be fought. My own military experience came during the Korean War, when I went through OCS at Newport, Rhode Island and gained a commission in the U.S. Navy. We officer candidates did not at the time understand much about the strategic significance of the Korean peninsula, or its relationship to the security of Japan. We knew, above all, that we were in the Navy.

for opposing apartheid and demanding for himself and other black South Africans what we understand in the United States to be the inalienable rights of citizenship.

Two years ago. Sisulu got permission to leave South Africa to spend a year as Harvard University as a Nieman Fellow, one of several foreign journalists chosen each year to take part in a mid-career study program with about a dozen American reporters and editors.

At the end of his year in Cambridge, although he probably could have found sanctuary elsewhere, Sisulu, his wife and two children returned to South Africa, where he became editor of a church-sponsored magazine.

When I met Sisulu at a backyard barbecue, he told me they could create a legal fiction to avoid offending dark-skinned foreigners visiting South Africa by giving them "international" status. He noted wryly that the country's rulers found a way for blacks and whites to play soccer together.

We also talked about prison, where he was questioned while having his head ducked into a bucket of water and shocked with a cattle prod. "At least I got my teeth fixed there." he said, adding with a smile, "and the government paid for it."

PR Firm Hired After TMI Accident

WASHINGTON — The Soviets have been criticized — rightly — for their reluctance to level with their own people and the rest of the world about the Chernobyl nuclear disaster.

Maybe they should have hired the public relations consultant that two U.S. federal agencies retained after the Three Mile Island nuclear accident of 1979.

The Energy Department and the Nuclear Regulatory Commission share regulatory responsibility for the plant outside Harrisburg. Pa., that came dangerously close to a meltdown. The agencies were evidently dissatisfied with the static they got from the media and from Congress immediately following the accident.

So in 1982, the two agencies laid out $10,000 for a "Witness and Media Skills Clinic" that would teach their people how to do a better job of answering questions from bothersome reporters and members of Congress.

The three-day session. attended by federal officials and personnel from a private Three Mile Island contractor, was held at the Marriott Hotel in Harrisburg. Our associate Corky Johnson has learned that the Dallas-based consulting firm that ran the seminar, Communications Counsel of America, has since conducted similar courses for several other contractors that hold federal nuclear energy contracts.

The aim of the seminar was clearly to make the federal regulatory agencies look good, even if that meant covering up the seriousness of the situation. According to various memos and course notes, the training sessions included:

- "Cold Turkey Mini-Hearings. With your teammates, you will respond to cross-examination by an attorney and members of another panel, defending your company against some of the charges expected to come from the opponents." — "Mike-in-the-Mouth Interviews. On-camera (we) will conduct a 3- to 5-minute 'benchmark' interview with you. Use your interview as a tool to improve a 'second take' tomorrow and to track your progress."

- "Avoiding Traps in Media Interviews. Adapting the crossexamination model to interview situations. 'Bridge' to public benefits and to your game plan."

The consultants coached regulatory officials in detail on "composure techniques" to withstand the rigors of congressional hearings. "Accept that you are uptight." the agency bureaucrats were advised. "Lean away from the battle/confrontation slightly. Straighten spine, shoulders, back. Breathe! Make a comforting move (then) move body into battlefield."

If despite proper posture and breathing, the questioning seemed to be going downhill, the seminar participants were taught to watch for certain "alarm responses," which include breaking out in a cold sweat, quivering voice and irregular breathing. To make sure these dreadful symptoms were easily recognizable, the seminar sessions were videotaped.

Some "Coaching Steps" for the semine rians included this succinct PR gem: "(Give) impression that things are going well. ... Avoid embarrassment. Avoid traps. Be careful you don't trap yourself. What position do you want public to hear?"

TAVARES - David Dunn's success in the Florida Little Major League Sub-District 2 Tournament continued Monday night as the big righthander tossed a two-hit shutout in leading the Sanford Nationals to an 11-0 rout of Orlando's Sports Association for Youth (SAY) before 101 fans at the Tavares complex.

Birle's 3-Hitter Stops Volusia

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS -Alex Birle tonned a three-hitter and Altamonte pushed across four runs in the first two innings to subdue Southwest Volusia, 4-1, in the District 14, Division 2 Senior League All-Star Tournament opener before 76 fans at the Eastmonte Complex Monday night.

Manager Woody Woodard's Seniors return to action at Deltona tonight at 7 against De-Itona. Either lefthander Aaron 'The Sheik'' latarols or righthander Shane Stufflet will pitch.

Birle, who will be a sophomore at Lake Mary High. struck out nine, walked three and hit one. He blanked the Orange City club until the sixth inning when losing pitcher Mike Gibson beat out an infield single, stole second and third and scored on Todd Phillips' sacrifice fly.

"I just threw the ball fast," Birle said. "About the fourth inning. I knew how everybody could hit." Catcher Danny Hendricks said before Wes Weger drilled a single to left to score Stufflet. When the left fielder misplayed the ball, latarola came around for a 2-O lead.

Gibson came back to strike out Jimmy Kremer but Birle drilled a two-bagger to deep left for a 3-0 lead. Gibson retired Trevor Moore and Hendricks on popups to end the inning.

In the second, Carlos Abreu singled and moved to second when Chad Cochran walked. Both moved up on a wild pitch. but Cochran was picked off second by Gibson. Stufflet followed with a single to chase home Abreu for a 4-0 edge.

"I guess everybody felt com-fortable when we got four runs," Birle said. "Their pitcher (Gibson) looked pretty slow the first inning, but he got faster later on. He wasn't too bad."

First baseman latarols and shortstop Weger, both Lake Mary products, combined for the defensive gem in the ARh Inning. Weger ranged toward the middle and made a lunging stab of Ken Hayward's one-hopper. His throw was a little off the mark and latarola, who started the game in right field, handily scooped the ball on one bounce to retire the side. "We have a good defense," Woodard said. Stufflet had two stolen bases along with a single and two walks. Weger, Birle, Abreu and Kremer had the other hits. Kremer boomed a triple to right field to lead off the fifth, but, Gibson fanned the next three batters to case from the Jam.

The July 4th not only made Americans proud to be in the home of the free, but it seemed to boost the morale of U.S. track athletes around the world to turn in their best performances of the year

Whether it was as close as Winter Park, or as far away as the Soviet Union, the U.S. was well represented in the international competitions - as was Seminole County.

Schowonda Williams, who just completed his sophomore year at Louisiana State, was one who stood the tall as she represented America in the Goodwill Games held at Moscow in the Soviet Union.

Williams, a 1984 Lyman High graduate. finished eighth in the 400 meter hurdles Monday night with a time of 56.83. She was the second U.S. runner to cross the line as Judy Broan-King placed sixth with a time of 56.06. The winner was the Soviet Union's Marina Stepanova who crossed with a time of 53.81.

Walter McCoy, a former track great at Daytona Beach Seabreeze and former Olympian, also participated in Moscow and he placed fourth in the 400 meter dash with a time of 45.56. The top four finishers were all from the U.S. and the winning time went to Antonio McKay with a 44.98.

A little closer to home was the Junior Pan American Games held at Showalter Field in Winter Park. Seminole High School graduate Clifton Campbell came away with a second place in the 400 meter dash with a time of 46.43.

Campbell, who just completed an outstanding freshman year at Auburn, said he feels he can come back and defeat the winner of the event, Roberto Hernandez of Cuba, who posted a time of 45.64. in the World Games to be held in Athens, Greece.

The Cuban 1,600 meter relay edged out the U.S. relay team Campbell was a part of by winning the event in 3:04.30 setting a meet record. The American team finished with a time of 3:05.44 with Jamaica placing a close third with a time of 3:05.46. Campbell ran the anchor leg.

The Lake Mary Summer Track meets, sanctioned by the TAC, will resume this Friday night with field events starting at 5:30 and running events beginning at 6:30 p.m. All ages are able to participate in the meet and may run in as five events as for $2.

All up coming freshmen who wish to compete in either track. or cross country in the upcoming year are strongly urged to participate in these meets. All returning runners are also urged to run for experience in the meets.

Upshaw Objects To Rozelle's Test

NEW YORK (UPI) - As NFL training camps open this month, the method of monitoring the players' off the field activities will be the subject of continued debate between the league and the players' union.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle Monday announced the league would immediately begin a random mandatory drug-testing program, making the NFL the first professional sports league to make unscheduled tests of their players.

The new program brought an immediate outcry from the NFL Players Association, which claimed Rozelle was violating the players' collective bargaining agreement with the league.

'The agreement reached in 1982 is final and binding on all parties and its terms cannot be changed in mid-term except upon mutual consent." union Executive Director Gene Upshaw said.

Upshaw, scheduled to meet with reporters at a news conference later today in San Francisco, said the union could not abide by the new program. His statement did not rule out the possibility of a strike.

Rozelle said in unveiling the program he was within his powers to establish it without consent of the union or club owners.

"I feel the bargaining agreement and the constitution and bylaws gives me the obligation and authority to protect the health and welfare of the players and preserve the integrity and public confidence in the NFL." Rozelle said.

The commissioner also rejected union claims that unannounced testing represented an invasion of rights of privacy.

"In the unique world of professional sports you give up some rights of privacy to participate," Rozelle said at a news conference. "Whether or not they know it, these players are role models."

The unveiling of the plan comes 10 days after the cocaine-induced death of Cleveland Browns safety Don Rogers, the AFC's 1984 defensive rookie of the year, who collapsed after a bachelor party thrown in his honor in Sacramento, Calif.

Rozelle said there was evidence drug use among players was increasing.

'It is a problem but I don't think anyone is in a position to give percentages or say how widespread the problem is," he said.

The NFL tests will check for use of cocaine, marijuana and heroin. Tests will screen for alcohol but only high levels will lead to treatment and possible discipline. Because of technological restraints, tests will not be done for steroids.

Under the proposed program, players testing positive for drugs three times will be banned from the league and can apply for reinstatement after a year.

Two unannounced tests during the season will be supplemented with the exam now given at training camp under the 1982 drug agreement. Another test for drugs will be conducted at the league's scouting combine for draft-eligible college seniors.

Players testing positive once will receive out-patient care or be removed from the club's roster for 30 days to be hospitalized. A player that suffers a relapse will sit out another 30 days. A third positive test will result in a minimum one-year ban from the league.

Any player testing positive for drugs can be tested again at any point.

Rozelle said earlier in the year the NFL needed a tougher drug program. He asked representatives of the players' union and 28 NFL teams to come up with a new plan.

"I had hoped that an augmented program. including unscheduled tests during the regular season, could have been worked out through a consensus among players, clubs and the league alike," Rozelle said.

Although Woodard was happy with Birle's effort, he said he expected more production from the Altamonte sticks. The Seniors could muster just five hits off Gibson, who struck out eight * but walked seven.

'They had me convinced we would win big after the first inning." Woodard said. "But we took too many called third strikes (four). We got overconfldent after we got the lead."

Davidson, Nationals Turn Away Deltona In Opener

By Mark Blythe Special to the Herald

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS -The Altamonte Nationals opened the Little League Baseball Florida District 14 Division II Major League II Tournament in fine fashion Monday night with a 4-1 victory over Deltona before 101 fans at the Eastmonte Recreation Complex.

Altamonte will return to action tonight at 7 against Eustis at Eustis

Starting pitcher Scott Davidson went five innings giving up just five hits while walking one and striking out six. Frank Harmer came on in the firal inning and put Deltona down in succession to complete the game.

Altamonte manager Frank Harmer was happy with the performance and "relieved to get the first game out of the way."

"The first one is always tough," Harmer said. "I'm happy to have a win to start out with."

Another key for the Altamonte win was defense as it played crrorless ball and took advantage of many Deltona mistakes.

In the top of the first, Shane Odom drew a walk, stole second, went to third on a wild pitch and scored on Davidson's grounder to short.

Altamonte picked up two more runs in the second. After T.J. Hamilton walked and went to second on a wild pitch, one of five thrown by Deltona pitcher Andy Lyon, Kevin Scott followed up with a run-scoring double. Chris Barfield pushed Scott to third with a dandy sacrifice bunt. Scott scored on a wild pitch to put Altamonte up, 3-0.

In the fifth Deltona started to get to Davidson. After one out, Chad Ochtuzzo singled and only a great defensive play by Odom prevented another hit from going through. Odom, a surehanded shortstop, dove and caught the ball in the hole to kill the rally. Davidson closed out his performance with a flourish with a strikeout.

Savages Switch, Finish Second

After two consecutive losses on Friday, the Seminole Savages may have been wondering if they belonged in the prestigious Plantation Tournament.

Saturday morning, though. brought a change of managers and newfound enthusiasm to the Savages who got back on track and proved they belonged in the big time by taking second place in the 24-team tournament this past weekend at Plantation.

The Savages, Seminole Softball Club's 15 and under all-star team, finished the tournament with a 7-3 record under new manager Carlos Martinez. Martinez, a veteran softball player and coach in Seminole County, and the Savages return to action this weekend in the Metro Tourna-

When you get angry at your boss, you often take it out on someone else.

Dave Winfield of the New York Yankees did exactly that Monday night and paced his team to a 14-3 rout of the Texas Rangers at Arlington. Texas.

Angered over being benched for the third time in five games. Winfield responded by driving in four runs with a triple and a double to help ease the frustration he felt at not being in the starting lineup.

"Was I angry? Maybe a little more today than I have been." said Winfield, who entered the game as a pinch hitter in the third inning. "It's not over. He (Yankee manager Lou Pinella) just has to put me in the lineup and leave n.e alone. Let me play.

"I suspect I'll be in there (tomorrow). If I'm not, there's something fishy in Denmark."

Winfield made it clear that he wasn't mad at Pinicila for the benching. Although he never mentioned club owner George Steinbrenner by name, the Yankee outfielder indicated he was certain Piniella had acted on orders from above.

"I know where this is coming from." Winfield said, "and I'm mad. We'll get it out in the open. Me and whoever is on the other end of this."

Pintella never once denied the decision to sit the star outfielder came from the front office.

"If it were up to me, to ME, I would put Dave's name in the lineup everyday and let him produce." Piniella said. "There's nothing I would like better than that. I told Dave, 'please be patient with me for a couple of days."

Winfield had been struggling at the plate with a .226 batting average entering the game but still had 13 home runs and 50 RBI. He collected his 2.000th career hit in the fifth inning when he tripled home a run. He added a three-run double in the ninth.

Scott Neilson, 27, got the victory in his major-league debut by giving up three runs and nine hits in seven innings.

"I was nervous. I made some mistakes, but fortunately we scored more runs than the Rangers," Neilson said. "My parents and wife were here. It was a special moment."

Overlooked Davis Belts Expos

United Press International

Playing deep in the heart of Houston has hurt Glenn Davis' chances of starting in the All-Star Game.

Davis blasted two home runs Monday night, lifting the Astros to a 12-1 thumping of the Montreal Expos. Davis now has a National League-high 19 homers, but was only seventh in the latest all-star tabulation for the starting first-base position. The All-Star Game is scheduled for July 15 at the Astrodome.

"We don't draw the fans in Houston so Glenn Davis docsn't get enough All-Star votes," Lanier said. "He is not known around the league, but the way he is playing with those homers and RBL 1 think it's about time the fans take notice."

Expos manager Buck Rodgers took notice Monday.

We were flat tonight and Davis put up a one-man show," Rodgers said. "The Astros kicked our tail just like we did to Atlanta this past weekend." Montreal took three of four games from the Braves. Davis ripped a two-run homer in the third inning off losing pitcher Dennis Martinez. 0-2. and added a three-run blast in the fifth to boost the margin to 6-1

Mike Scott, 9-5. pitched seven innings to gain the victory. He struck out seven to raise his major league-leading strikeout total to 158. Aurelio Lopez hurled the final two innings.

Winning tonight was big for us because we lost six of our last seven games." Lanier said.

Kevin Bass hit a grand slam in the ninth. It was his first career slam and 13th homer of the season.

Tim Raines, who was rested Sunday, returned to the lineup with two hits in three at-bats to raise his average to .337. Raines also stole his 37th base in 41 attempts.

Elsewhere in the National League, Philadelphia downed Atlanta 7-3. Los Angeles blanked St. Louis 1-0. Cincinnati edged New York 7-6 and Pittsburgh topped San Diego 3-1 in 10 innings.

Schramm: NFL Conquer Seminar Not Very Significant To Trial

NEW YORK (UPI) - A two-hour presentation by Professor Michael Porter of the Harvard Business School in February 1984 became the focal point Monday in the USFL's $1.69 billion antitrust suit against the NFL.

The USFL called the Porter material, entitled "How to Conquer the USFL", a "smoking gun."

Dallas Cowboys President and general manager Tex Schramm termed the report "not very significant" during cross-examination in Manhattan federal court.

Schramm testifed the Harvard Business School conducted three previous seminars for NFL middle management personnel on how best to negotiate player salaries. But he said 1984 was the first year of the Porter presentation in question. Schramm denied the NFL implemented the recommendations made in the seminar.

Q: "Did any of the gentlemen you sent in 1984 have authority with the Dallas Cowboys to set policy?"

A: "Absolutely not."

Q: "Did any of the gentleman you sent in 1984 to set policy with the National Football League?"

A: "Absolutely not." Schramm added any major NFL policy change must be approved by at least 21 of the 28 league owners.

Callahan Expects Pitching To Carry American's Stars

By Sam Cook

Herald Sports Editor Rudy Callahan hasn't had much time to size up his 14 Altamonte American League All-Stars. In a week's time, however, Callahan didn't have any trouble distinguishing his squad's strong suit. "Pitching," he said Monday. "In Kevin Morro, Chris Lubinskas and Billy Moore we have three quality pitchers. Throw them in the bag and shake them out and they'll all be about the same when they're on.'

Callahan, who will be assisted by George Pahakis and Bob Johnston along with Mike and Angelo Morro, said he wouldn't hesitate to go with either of the strong-armed trio, but he is leaning toward Morro tonight when the Americans open the Little League Baseball District 14 Division II Tournament against Casselberry at the Eastmonte Complex in Altamonte Springs. First pitch is 7 p.m.

"Morro has a good fastball and curve," Callahan said. "So does Moore. And Lubinskas has three pitches. In addition to his fastball and curve, he throws a good slider, too." Morro and Moore pitched the Altamonte Tigers to the District 14 Top Team Tournament title. They were figured to be the nucleus of the Altamonte Majors, but the league was directed by Little League Baseball headquarters in Williamsport, Pa. to form two teams because of the league size and population bases of Altamonte and Longwood.

When Morro isn't pitching he'll play shortstop. When he is pitching, Mike Monahan will take care of shortstop. "Both are good defensive players." Callahan said. "And they can hit with power."

Lefthanded first baseman Dana Dearth and an 11-year-old second baseman Pablo Abreu, a pair of defensive standouts, along with Andrew Thompson, a hard-hitting third baseman and catcher Moore, another lefthanded hitter, fill out the field.

Callahan said he also likes the speed on his club, especially in the outfield. "This is one of the fastest teams that I've seen," he said. "Left fielder Brian Dangel is quick as a rabbit. He can go and get it. Center fielder Marty Horwitz has a strong arm and is a power hitter. Right fielder Scott Johnston is another lefthander. He has good speed, good defense and is a contact hitter."

Outfield depth will be provided by John Durrant, Gil Vogler, Wes Iller and Cornelius Cotton. Callahan said he will make use of speed as the courtesy otton'

Special to the Herald NEW SMYRNA BEACH - On Friday night at New Smyrna Speedway, John Cochran drove the J.B.'s Fish Camp Firebird to victory in the Fourth of July Championship event for the Thunder Cardivision.

Also on the program will be a giant demoli-tion derby and the Great American Sack race.

followed by Jerry Fitch, Harry Brazee and Bill Kinley. Using fellow competitor Jimmy Trevarthen's spare motor, Jerry Symons won the 20-lap four cylinder champion-ship. Gene Van Alstine was second, followed by Guy Lingo who led for the first ten times around. Fourth and fifth were Bobby Sears and Billy Hoovan.

Casselberry's Bill Gross, 32, won the 100-lap Enduro. He was at the wheel of a 1976 Chevrolet Monte-Carlo. Starting on the pole was 16-year-old Steve Crowe who led until he was assisted into a "turnaround" on lap nine.

Jerry Rhone led for the next 55 laps, only to crash into a stalled car on the front stretch. Rhone then slammed it in re-" verse and set the car right on top of the inside guard rail,

At that point, Gross, who was at the right spot at the right time, charged into the lead and remained on the point until the end of the race.

Finishing second was Thomas Tackett, followed by David Johnson, previous month's winner Robert Bruce and Jimmy Matos.

Quinn Byrd followed with a grounder to second but the throw for the force at second base was wild and Dillon scored with Dunn taking third. After Byrd stole second. Tyrone Chibberton dropped a perfect bunt down the first base line for a single that drove in Dunn with the third run of the frame. Byrd then alertly raced home when the catcher couldn't find a ball that skipped away no more than three feet.

Lorne Jones then walked and a wild pitch moved Chibberton to third and Jones to second. Chibberton then scored on another passed ball and Jones later scored on a wild pitch as Sanford built an 8-0 lead.

Dunn took a no-hitter into the top of the fourth when, with one out, Drew Stafford ripped a single into left for SAY's first hit. The only other hit Dunn allowed was a leadoff single to Jason Bray in the top of the fifth.

Sanford put the loing on the cake with three runs in the bottom of the fifth. KoJack Huntled off with a walk and, with two outs. Beamon singled to right center. Hunt went all the way around to score when Beamon got hung up between first and second. Beamon was also safe on the play and Bennett then clouted a line drive over the center field fence for a two-run homer and an 11-0 San ord lead It was Beamon's second homer of the tournament.

Dunn, who helped his own cause with three hits in the game, came back to retire the side in the top of the sixth to sew up the shutout and advance. Sanford to the finals, Dunn's masterpiece is the only shutout In the tournament thus far.

"We're ready for the Americans." Mitchell said. "We've got plenty of pitching to work with and they know they have to play now."

Waldheim Inaugurated President Amid Protests Outside Austria

VIENNA, Austria (UPI) - Kurt Waldheim was inaugurated today as president of Austria despite an international uproar over charges that he participated in Nazi atrocities during World War II.

Waldheim, who has been ill with stomach pains for two weeks, took the oath of office in the gilded hall of Parliament.

"I will do my duty according to my conscience, so God help me," he said, voluntarily adding the words "so God help me.

He took over from Rudolf Kirchschlaeger, who was given a long standing ovation.

He made no direct reference to the charges in his speech. Previously Waldheim has denied charges of complicity in Nazi killings but admitted he knew of some of the atrocities.

Pro-Marcos Coup Fails

MANILA. Philippines (UPI) - A politician loyal to ousted ruler Ferdinand Marcos faces charges for leading a failed, 36-hour coup attempt against President Corazon Aquino, officials said today.

Charges will be filed against Arturo Tolentino, Marcos's runing mate in the fraud-tainted Feb. 7 election, unless Aquino decides to grant him "executive elemency." Justice Minister Neptali Gonzales said.

Tolentino declined comment as he was driven away by aldes after a meeting with Gonzales at navy headquartes. He was not taken into custody.

Gonzales' spokesman George Dee, said a sub-ministerial committee was gathering evidence on possible rebellion charges against Tolentino.

Pope Ends South American Trip

CASTRIES, St. Lucia (UPI) - Pope John Paul II urged guerrillas in Colombia to lay down their arms, then flew to a tiny Caribbean Island where he drew a smaller crowd than expected at the end of his seventh trip to Latin America.

The pontiff, ending his werklong trip to Colombia Monday, urged in a speech before 50,000 people in the Colombian town of Barranquilla for leftist guerrillas to lay down their arms to end a decade of violence.

Vatican officials said the appeal was not issued in response to anything the guerrillas might have done or claimed to have done.

Two power outages marked the final hours of the pope's Colombian visit, and the M-19 guerrilla group reportedly claimed responsibility for one of them.

We have fought and prayed. It is the people who have won," she said. The JQC has been investigating allegations into complaints against Salfi. Ms. Kirchman, irked by her divorce settlement before Salfi eight years ago, has maintained since then that Salfi was unfair to women and children in his courtroom and has organized efforts since for Salfi's removal. Copies of the resignation letter were also sent to Chief Justice Parker Lee McDonald and James C. Adkins Jr., of the Florida Supreme Court, and all of the circuit and county judges of the 18th Judicial Circuit which encompasses Brevard and Seminole counties.

His resignation letter is dated the same day the 5th District Court of Appeal issued its decision in his favor stating his divorce records. unlike most, will remain sealed to protect his children.

News media had sought to have the records opened because Salfi's wife made serious allegations about him during divorce proceedings which might have been of public interest in his capacity as a judge. No evidence was ever presented to support her allegations, according to the judge who sealed the records.

Justice Winnifred Sharp, who dissented in the ruling, arguing Salli's records should be made public, said she knew of no connection between the decision and Salfi's resignation. She said the appeal court never read the contested file but decided on the legal issues of open records. She said to her knowledge there was no agreement between the 5th DCA judges and Salfi that in exchange for a favorable ruling he would resign. She said at the time she did not know of his pending resignation.

Salfi said the timing of the 5th District Court of Appeal decision and the announcement of his resignation was a coincidence.

Salfi was a member of a private law firm in Orlando when he was appointed State Attorney in 1987 by then-Gov. Claude Kirk for the newlycreated 18th Judicial Circuit comprising Seminole and Brevard counties.

During his term of office he organized the first Orange-Seminole County task force against organized crime which ended in an exchange of confidential information, raids, and arrests of organized crime figures in Central Florida.

While state attorney, he started the practice of keeping a grand jury in session yearround and presided over grand jury investigations in both counties of the circuit. His efforts in the area of cracking down on drug-related crimes resulted in more than 100 grand jury indictments.

In 1970, Sall was appointed by Kirk to a judgeship in the 18th Judicial Circuit and at 33 was reported to be the youngest judge in the state. Salfi ran for re-election since and was unopposed in 1984.

And, though some of his judicial conduct was apart from the norm. that won him praise among many of his brother attorneys for being before his time, and criticism from those who thought he was too harsh and inflexible.

> His decision in one divorce case prompted protests on the courthouse steps and subsequently in conjunction with other litigants the passing of a billboard in Sanford calling for his impeachment. In that divorce issue, the district appeal court consistently ruled with Salfi and he was successful when a former litigant tried to sue him. He reportedly has at least one suit still filed against him stemming from a divorce eight years ago. The impeachment movement - Citizens For Justice - never materialized into a force with clout and ran aloul with state regulations as a political action committee. They were recently fined $10,000 for failing to file timely financial reports.

In the divorce records issue last week, the high court ruled Salfi's records could remain scaled. Earlier, a circuit judge scaled them and said maintaining their secrecy was in the best interest of the Salfi children, ages 14, 19, 21 and 23. Salfi's wife, the judge said, had made serious allegations that could harm the children but did not present any evidence to support the allegations.

A news organization argued that the public had a right to know what was in the sealed files so as to make an informed judgment about his fitness to be a judge. The high court, voting 2-1, disagreed and the records remain scaled.

Salfi called the ruling right and legal.

Salfi helped author a survey to be used in Florida to measure a judge's performance and when the survey was conducted by the Seminole Bar tims year Salii rated high in most arcas.

He was involved in the 1982 shared parenting law that allowed divorced parents equal access to their children, the 1978 revision of the Juvenile Justice Act, and a 1973 law reforming drug possession penalties.

In 1982 Salfi began to hear juvenile cases and his rulings prompted complaints. One juventle case he handled generated an emergency appeal to the higher court from the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services.

Despite tangling with lawyers, when an appreciation dinner was held in his honor in 1984, more than 200 attorneys -Deane Jordan showed up.

Staffs' recommendations and guidelines come as a follow-up to their having attributed recent fires at a home built during the cited time-frame to the structure's aluminum wiring system.

The possible danger of fire is attributed to deterioration of a certain size aluminum wiring. first used in electrical systems during the late sixtles and outlawed by Sanford in 1974.

City staff said they feel the recent fires may indicate that the cited aluminum wiring systems in other local homes may also be deteriorating to a point that would lead to fires.

The cited wiring is still allowed nationally, by the national electric code, when installed

Court: Bookstore Can Be Shut Down

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New York can shut down a bookstore where prostitution occurred. the Supreme Court said Monday, ruling the proprietor's First Amendment protections do not insulate him from laws that apply to everyone.

The justices, voting 6-3, reversed the Court of Appeals of New York, which said the First Amendment prevented state officials from enforcing a law requiring the closing of any business used for illicit sexual activity.

Chief Justice Warren Burger, writing for the majority, said the lower court wrongly concluded the right to free speech protects bookstores from penalities that might be imposed on other businesses that violate public nuisance laws.

"Neither the press nor booksellers may claim special protection from government regulations of a general applicability simply by virtue of their First Amendment protected activities," he said.

The district attorney's office filed a complaint against Village Books and News in Kenmore following an investigation in September 1982, when Eric County officials discovered that bookstore premises were used for "illicit conduct" and sexual activity by patrons. The store mostly sells books of a sexual nature.

The complaint sought to close the bookstore under a public health and nuisance law requiring the one-year closure of "a nuisance," where prostitution, lewdness and similar activities take place.

But the New York Court of Appeals ruled that a mandatory one-year closure of the store would be an "unconstitutional restraint" on the store's First Amendment rights.

Justices Harry Blackmun, William Brennan and Thurgood Marshall dissented, with Blackmun chiding the majority for ignoring "the obvious role that commercial bookstores play in facilitating free expression."

"Until today, this court has never suggested that a state may suppress speech as much as it likes, without justification, so long as it does so through generally applicable regulations that have 'nothing to do with any expressive conduct," Blackmun said.

High Court Avoids Asbestos Controversy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court avoided being drawn into the protracted asbestos controversy Monday, refusing to review two cases involving punitive awards against the Manville Corp. and other asbestos producers.

The court rejected appeals from the Johns-Manville Sales Corp. and Raybestos-Manhattan Inc. that asked the justices to consider rulings by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals and the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The cases touch on issues raised by the thousands of lawsuits charging exposure to usbestos products have caused cancer and lung disease. Total damage claims have reached into the billions.

The cases before the court involve, a question central to the dispute — whether the due process rights of the company are violated by "repeated, cumulative punitive damage awards against one defendant by thousands of plaintiffs, proceeding in separate suffs in different jurisdictions."

The companies face such punitive damages in

"Burial of Kings." If we explore a little history, Christ's body was laid to rest in a tomb and today the site thought to be that tomb is visited by thousands of pilgrims each year.

Other mausoleums visited by thousands are the pyramids of Egypt. Westminster Abbey, the Taj Mahal in India and the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington National Cemetery.

At one time mausoleum entombment could only be afforded by kings, queens and statesmen, but due to modern construction practices and programs designed with the wants and needs of the community in mind, mausoleum entombment at Oaklawn is now within the reach of almose everyone.

each of the thousands of cases and limiting or excluding awards in each case could save the companies millions.

Before the court were two cases tried in Tennessee involving James Cavett, who was awarded $800,000 compensatory damages and $1.5 million punitive damages, and Elmer Cathey, who was denied punitive damages by a lower court, and a third case from Mississippi involving James Jackson, who was awarded $391,000 in compensiory damages and $625,000 in punitive damages.

The asbestos manufacturers contested the punitive damages and lost.

Seeking high court review, Manville, in the Cavett and Cathey cases, said repeated punitive damage awards do not do what such awards are designed for — deter such conduct — but instead drive companies to bankruptcy and threaten others "with financial ruin."

Manville, which sought bankruptcy protection on Aug. 26, 1982, because of the thousands of asbestos-related lawsuits, warned that producers of products such as intrauterine bith control devices and toxic chemicals such as dioxin, used in Agent Orange, face similar problems and the court should address the issue.

DETROIT (UPI) — Mexico's six automakers have lost a total of $1.5 billion during the past five years. Automotive News magazine reported Monday. The weekly publica tion quoted former Ford of Mexico President Oscar Marx III as saying the "motor companies are beginning to question whether Mexico will be as profitable as it has been historically."

Marx, recalled by Ford Motor Co. to the United States after three years as head of the No. 2 carmaker's Mexican operations, said that if the Oaklawn Memorial Park has dedicated the Garden of Valor for use of military veterans and their families. One of the Oaklawn's programs for veterans, if certain conditions are met, entitles veterans from any of the U.S. Armed Forces to a free burial space in the Garden of Valor.

The mausoleum was built so that Oaklawn Memorial could satisfy the demands made by the community. A mausoleum is an alternate to in-ground burial and commonly referred to as the ground, clean, dry and scaled gives protection from the harsh elements of the earth. Due to the unique ventilation in a mausoleum, the Biblical prophesy of "dust to dust" is fulfilled. Oaklawn has allowed for future expansion of its mausoleums as the need of the community warrants it.

Oaklawn Memorial is Seminole County's only funeral home and cemetery combination, allowing them to offer complete service at one location.

As part of its community involvement, Oaklawn has hired for the summer local high school students who will be coming around to your homes, inquiring about Oaklawn's performance and listening to your suggestions and comments.

Japan's Victor Co. To Boost U.S. Video Tape Production

TOKYO (UPI) — Victor Company of Japan (JVC) said Monday it will boost production of video cassette tapes in the United States and West Germany toward the end of this year to meet growing demand and the yen's steep appreciation.

A spokesman for the company, an affiliate of Matsushita Electric Industrial Co., said tape producing facility at Tuscaloosa. Ala., will start operating this fall, a few months earlier than originally scheduled.

Monthly output at the Tuscaloosa facility will be two million units, he said.

Production at JVC Magnetape Europe Gmbh in Monchengladbach. West Germany, which has been in operation since January 1983, will be increased to 1.5 million units from the present one million units.

"The decision is in line with our company's policy of increasing production of our products locally where demand exists." the official said. It also is designed to cope with the recent rise in the value of the Japanese yen against the U.S. dollar, he said.

Supreme Court Rejects Two Bendectin Cases

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Supreme Court opened the way Monday for a new round in the legal battle over Bendectin, an anti-nausea drug blamed by hundreds of women for birth defects in their children.

The Justices, voting 5-4, affirmed a ruling by the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals that said lawsuits filed by two foreign women who took Bendectin had been improperly transferred to federal court.

The court's ruling, while involving a technical matter of jurisdiction, means Merrell Dow Pharmaceuticals could now face trial in Ohio state court on charges of fraud, negligence and breach of warranty in the manufacture and sale of Bendectin.

Bendectin, given to pregnant women to quell "morning sickness," was sold by the Cincinnati company from 1956 through 1983.

Writing for the majority, Justice John Paul Stevens said Congress did not give federal courts authority to consider the suits.

Dissenting from the ruling were Justices William Brennan, Byron White, Thurgood Marshall and Harry Blackmun.

The case now returns to state court, where it is likely the foreign cases will be dismissed because the women do not have legal standing in Ohio, lawyers said.

However, more than 200 Bendectin lawsuits filed by Ohio residents have been on hold in state court pending resolution of the jurisdiction matter and could be affected by Monday's action.

The ruling has no impact on lawsuits filed against Dow by U.S. residents living outside of Ohio. Under jurisdictional rules, those cases had to be tried in federal court.

On March 13, 1985, a jury ruled in lavor of Merrell Dow in a case in which more than 1,100 people from across the country charged that Bendectin caused birth defects in their children.

Even with Monday's action, any new trial involving Bendectin is months or years away. Dow attorneys said they expect to appeal the district court decision allowing Ohio residents to sue in state court.

Airlines Won't Comment On People Express Bid

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) with Texas Air - Airline spokesmen refused to comment Monday on a published report that Texas Air has offered $12 a share for financially troubled People Express Inc. in an attempt to outbid Western Airlines, which seeks to buy People's Frontier subsidiary.

The Wall Street Journal reported Monday that two Japanese companies have also expressed interest in acquiring all or part of People.

Spokesmen for People Express Inc. - the holding company for People Express Airlines, Frontier and two other subsidiaries and spokesmen for Western Airlines and for Texas Air said they would not comment on pending acquisitions or mergers. The Journal, quoting unnamed sources, said Texas Air offered $11 a share last week for People Express and raised its offer on Friday after Western Airlines matched it. Western reportedly responded by telling People Express on Saturday it was interested in acquiring Frontier and some of People's aircraft. "We said two weeks ago that under certain circumstances the entire company was for sale. 'People spokesman Russell Marchetta said Monday. "Nothing has changed since then." Donald Burr, People's chairman, who left Texas Air in 1981 to found People Express, met last week

Chairman Frank Lorenzo, the Journal said. The newspaper said sources believe Burr would prefer to sell the company, the first new airline to take advantage of deregulation, to Texas Air. Burr, however, has said he does not want to sell all of People.

In the past year, People has become a victim of the fare wars it started when it ploneered low-cost, nofrills service out of Newark International Airport. Its load factor - the percentage of scats filled - has dropped below the break-even point, falling to 50.4 percent in June.

People reported a record net loss in the first quarter this year of $58 million, compared with $18.6 million last year.

Spokesmen for Mitsubishi, the Japanese conglomerate, de-nied making an offer for People Express, the Journal said. But the Journal quoted sources who said Mitsubishi had indicated it might offer as much as $16 a share for the company.

All Nippon Airways Co., Japan's second-largest sirline, which recently began limited overseas service, also denied interest in People Express, the Journal said.

Western, headquartered in Los Ángeles, operates as a regional carrier using Salt Lake City as a hub. It competes with Frontier and Texas Air's Continental Airlines, both based in Denver.

Court Rejects New York Gerrymandering Plea

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Supreme Court left intact Monday New York Assembly maps drawn by Democrats In 1982, rejecting claims by Republicans that the voting districts unconstitutionally diluted their political strength.

The justices, citing lack of a substantial federal question, dismissed arguments that the maps are the result of gerrymandering techniques that in-cluded "stuffing. packing and gutting" old state legislature districts.

A week ago, the court ruled in a similar case from Indiana that gerrymandering can be unconstitutional if it consistently frustrates the will of the voters.

Justice John Paul Stevens wanted the Court of Appeals of New York to review the case in light of last week's decision, but the rest of the court voted to uphold the lower court finding that the maps were not discriminatory.

The case stemmed from the drawing of new Assembly maps in the spring of 1982. The Senate maps were not a part of the sult since Republicans are in the majority in that chamber.

Two years later, in the 1984 elections. Republicans got 46.3 percent of the vote for Assembly, but won only 37.3 percent of the scats. The election results prompted a lawsuit challenging the reasons."

maps as an un constitutional gerrymander.

Last October, the New York Court of Appeals agreed with a lower court that the maps were constitutional.

In their appeal to the high court, the Republicans cited the unnecessary fragmentation of counties. the drawing of oddly shaped districts and their under. representation in the legislature as evidence of gerrymandering. In New York City, for example, Republicans got 24 percent of the vote in 1982 but won only three of 60 Assembly seats, the appeal said.

The ability to gerrymander has been strengthened in recent years through the use of computers, the GOP lawyers added, saying. "It is now possible to create what has come to be called the equal population gerrymander, under which even the worse forms of political gerrymandering can be Justified on equal population grounds alone." Lawyers for the state of New York opposed the appeal, which they said was not backed by any proof of gerrymandering. In con-trast to the Indiana case, they said, "the uncontroverted facts overwhelmingly support a finding that the redistricting scheme was adopted for nondiscriminatory
