JOE FRISCO tells about the clean-up man on a prison baseball team who hit a rival pitcher's fast ball a country mile. He tore around first, zipped past second, rounded third and headed for home—but they finally nailed him between third base and—the Mexican border.

Gene Sherman thinks the most tactful man in Los Angeles is the one who had to fire a mail carrier for destroying the morale of the office crew. "My boy," was the way the tactful boss did it. "I don't know how we're ever going to get along without you here, but beginning Monday morning, we're going to try."

The youthful son of a Park Avenue family came home to report that a tough classmate in school had dared to call him a sissy. "What did you do?" demanded his judgment father. The son answered, "I hit him with my purse."

Theatrical Season

NEW YORK—It develops that the first half of the 1956-57 theatrical season—June through November—has been the victim of a bum rap.

Almost since the new production line began to roll off the assembly line in any quantity in October, people in and close to show business—they probably are, personally, the shortest-remembered persons extant—have been complaining that things have been mighty drab.

Yet a smash hit musical, always a big boost to any season, arrived as far back as September—"West Side Story" at the Winter Garden. Five days later came the first dramatic success in a "Look Back in Anger," a genuine "sleep" another type that always gives a theatrical season a lift.

Figures Are Impressive
The total figures are even more impressive. The first half of the current season brought in 23 Broadway productions (excluding one—man exhibitions, arbitrarily limited runs and repertory, none of which is assayable by the commercial standards applied to Broadway productions in general). This compares with 23 in the first half of the 1955-56 season and 21 in the comparable part of the 1954-55 season. So, in numbers alone, 1957-58 is head.

Of the 23 shows, 9, possibly 10, are potential money-makers in greater or lesser degree—thus indicated successful productions. Even if a couple of these should weaken and fall to make the grade the total would be high. Only nine were quick flops by Nov. 30.

The first half of the 1956-57 season held only five genuine commercial successes. There were 12 brief runs.

The score for 1955-56 was six money-makers at most, and 10 of the left quickly and quietly. So any talk that a flurry of early-season flops has eliminated the proverbial theater shortage is without foundations. Twenty-six of the available 31 houses were occupied as of Nov. 30. Four of the empty five were booked for early December occupancy.

Miss Showers Are Mine
The current nine shows that give every indication of being paying propositions representative of the first half of 1957-58 are "West Side Story," "Look Back in Anger," "Romanoff and Juliet," "Compulsion," "Jamaica," "Fair Game," "Time Remembered," "Nude With Violin" and "Look Homeward, Angel" (a dramatic blockbuster, without doubt), "The Cave Dwellers" and/or "The Rope Dancers" also may make the black ink ledger.

For Thee, Lord, art good, and ready to forgive; and plenteous in mercy unto all them that call upon Thee.—(Psalm 86, 5.)

Our Heavenly Father is all-good, all-love, all-merciful, all-wisdom. He hears every sincere prayer for forgiveness and help. The gift of His loving-kindness is not measured, but is abundant beyond human conception.

Allies Line Up Behind U. S. Plan To Checkmate Aggression Threat

PARIS (UP)—The Western NATO allies began lining up today behind the Eisenhower-directed offer of 1,500-mile range ballistic missiles to checkmate the threat of Soviet aggression. Russia opened a new and massive propaganda campaign to defeat the American plan, but authoritative sources said the NATO summit conference almost certainly would accept the offer of missiles with nuclear warheads. But the Soviets appeared to be winning one of their propaganda demands—early East-West talks. Sentiment snowballed through the 15-nation alliance on the desirability of such talks to end what President Eisenhower called "this appalling arms race." A few nations apparently were willing to go slow on the missile program while seeing what could be won in direct talks with the Russians. Some Resistance Expected The American proposal for European missile bases was one of the key defense items facing the Atlantic alliance. Some resistance was expected, and it came from Norway and Denmark. But authoritative sources said despite this reluctance the summit conference as a whole will formally "welcome" the offer. The sources said this generally worded acceptance would be contained in a policy decision by the NATO Council for release with the final conference communique expected on Thursday. The 15 NATO foreign ministers met today to discuss an eight-point agenda which included the problem of disarmament but did not specifically include the controversial missile question. They were to report to the chiefs of government later in the afternoon. The defense ministers met Wednesday morning.

President Eisenhower met Italian Premier Adone Zoli at the U. S. Embassy and it was understood he planned to discuss the missile issue then. Meets Adenauer Eisenhower met West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer a half hour later and it was believed they discussed Adenauer's reported reluctance to set up missile bases on German soil. Adenauer, known to favor a later decision on missiles because of his own political problems at home, said in a speech Monday that NATO "must be armed in general with modern weapons as good as those of the enemy." While the meetings were in progress in Paris, Moscow released a new propaganda campaign aimed at undermining the conference itself and especially the U. S. missile program. It accused Eisenhower of proclaiming "the old Dulles bankrupt-war scheme" in his keynote address Monday and said he was ignoring Premier Nikolai Bulganin's appeal.

SAC's Protective Shield Important To Nation

WASHINGTON (UP)—Top members of the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee said today it is apparent the Strategic Air Command's SAC nuclear bomber force must be maintained at maximum strength until U. S. ballistic missiles are on the firing line. Importance of SAC's "protective shield" in the critical interim period was emphasized before testimony by high Air Force officers in the subcommittee's broad investigation of the nation's missile and satellite programs. Scheduled Air Force witnesses included Secretary James H. Douglas; Gen. Thomas D. White, chief of staff; Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, vice chief of staff and former commander of SAC, and Maj. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, commander of the ballistic missile division.

Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, commander of the ballistic missile division. Leg To Continue Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, subcommittee chairman, told newsmen it was "very clear that it is going to take some time for us to catch up" with the Russians on missiles. During this time, he said, national security depends "to a tremendous extent" upon SAC.

The H-bomb-equipped SAC "must be the instrument which acts as a protective shield behind which we develop weapons of the future," he said. Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.), ranking GOP member of the subcommittee, said he expects the administration to ask for money to purchase more B32 long range SAC bombers than had been planned before the Russian Sputniks and the Soviet claim to possess an intercontinental ballistic missile. Fox then stated that "I feel my reputation has been damaged to a certain degree. And I feel that the Zoning Commission has railroaded, ram-rodded this thing through without giving due consideration. 'It is a slap in the face,' Fox said, "and in my opinion they had no legal right to do it." Attorney Fred Wilson, speaking to the Board of Commissioners, remarked "It seems that the meeting may or may not have been a legal meeting and should bear investigation."

Accident Victim Dies Last Night From Injuries Lewis C. Henderson, 65, of Geneva, injured in the crash of a pickup truck and a Langston Construction Company dump truck last Wednesday, died last night at the Orange Memorial Hospital. Sheriff J. L. Hobby's office reported that Henderson was taken to Orange Memorial Hospital last Saturday for treatment of injuries received in the smashup which occurred at the intersection of Geneva and Beardsall Ave. shortly after 1 o'clock. Driver of the pickup truck which crashed into the rear of the dump truck as it attempted a left turn into a filling station was Palmer L. Morris, 44, of Geneva. Morris posted bond at the Seminole County Sheriff's Office on a charge of driving while intoxicated. The accident was investigated by Florida Highway Patrolman James L. Sikes and assisted by Deputy Sheriff A. E. Evans. Little damage was reported to the dump truck but the pickup truck was reported a total loss. No charges have been made as yet as a result of Henderson's death from injuries received in the crash.

Singers Entertain Rotarians Monday At Luncheon Meet

A group of 40 "hand picked" young singers from the glee clubs of Edgewater High School received the plaudits of the members of the Sanford Rotary Club at its weekly meeting yesterday afternoon at the Holy Cross Episcopal Church Parish House. The occasion was the bi-annual appearance of the group under the direction of Mrs. Estelle M. Thomas, glee club mentor, and marked the fourth time the Chorales appeared before the Rotarians. The program, arranged by T. W. (Tommy) Mero general program chairman for the current year, was introduced by Charlie Morrison. Donald Moore, introduced by Mrs. Thomas as "All-state clinic accompanist", was at the piano. Mrs. Thomas was in her typical enthusiastic "Eva Tanguay" form in her introductions of the various numbers, according to club president Myron A. (Mike) Reck, in charge of the meeting.

County Sales Tax Collections Rising

Sales tax collections continue to zoom upward in Sanford and Seminole County according to a release from the office of Ray E. Green, State Comptroller. November sales tax collections, based on October sales, totalled $2,208,653, an increase of $187,713 over collections during the same period last year. However, the jump in sales tax collections over the previous month amounted to only $2,633.54.

Heart Disease County's Leading Cause of Death

The Florida State Board of Health's report for the nine-month period from January through September revealed that heart disease is the leading cause of death in Seminole County. Heart disease, which has claimed 100 deaths in the reporting period, is three times greater than the next leading cause, Cancer. There were only 27 deaths in Seminole County from cancer during the nine-month period beginning with January 1957. Cerebral vascular disease claimed 32 deaths in Seminole County, accidents 16, motor vehicle accidents 11, influenza and pneumonia 16, diabetes 9, chronic nephritis 6, CVR disease 5, tuberculosis 2, diphtheria, acute poliomyelitis and anemia, 1 each. In another comparative picture from the Florida State Board of Health, there were 297 deaths in Seminole County during the nine month period of 1957 as compared with 83, births.

6 Shopping Days 'Til Christmas

The annual Christmas Lighting contest will again be sponsored this year by the Sanford-Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce, according to an announcement made today by David Thrasher, chairman of the Jaycee Christmas Lighting Committee. "We know that we are late starting this year," Thrasher said, "but we also believe that homeowners in and around Sanford are expecting us to again head this important Christmas project." Thrasher urged all homeowners and businessmen to enter the contest as quickly as possible in order to give the judges an opportunity to carefully see all entries. Names of the judges, Thrasher said today, have not yet been announced. The contest will again be divided into two categories: residential and commercial Christmas Lighting. Florida Power and Light Company will again have their "Traveling Trophy" for the business or firm taking first place in the commercial competition. The residential Christmas Lighting Contest will be divided into four divisions with each division first place winner receiving a $25 Savings Bond. Second place winners in each division will also receive recognition. Complete details of the contest will be announced immediately, Thrasher said. Following so closely on the heels of the Christmas Parade, sponsored by the Sanford-Seminole County Jaycees, it has been impossible to get all the details worked out. Homeowners may choose any one of three categories in which to enter. All entries are being received at the Jaycee Information Booth each day. "Again, we urge everyone to get their entries in as quickly as possible," Chairman Thrasher said today.

Fox Protests Release As County Zoning Director

John Fox, an employe of Seminole County protested his release as director of the County Zoning Commission and was backed up by citizens who appeared at this morning's session of the Board of County Commissioners. Mrs. Volie Williams Sr. told the board of county commissioners "We do not feel that he has been shown the proper courtesy." Mrs. Williams was at the meeting accompanied by three other Seminole County citizens. "I feel that he should have been shown more courtesy," Mrs. Williams said. "I am a taxpayer and I understand I have an interest in the business of the county she told the commissioners. "Since there is a principle involved I want to let you know we do not approve of the action you have taken," Mrs. Williams stated. E. E. Brady, long known for his outspoken manner also spoke to the board of commissioners in behalf of John Fox. He said "I got him his job with the State Road Department." Brady also mentioned that Fox had received the best recommendation "I have ever seen." "I would appreciate your rescinding your action," said Brady. Fox stated his own case before the board of commissioners when he brought out that a meeting of the Zoning Commission was held at a member's home on the night of Nov. 27, 1957. "I was not notified of it," he said. He also stated that there were no minutes produced and that the "meeting was held in the manner in which they had been held." The former zoning director, who has been replaced by Robert S. Brown by appointment of the

Morrison To Head Novelty Program At Bureau Meet

Members of the Seminole County Farm Bureau, at their annual Christmas meeting to be held starting at 7 o'clock tonight in the hut of the Future Farmers on the grounds of Seminole High School, will be entertained by a novelty program arranged by Charlie Morrison, well-known local public relations director. "Musical Memories" presented by Glen Nelson, organist, and Roger Gregory, narrator, both of the Cooper's-Gregory Music Co., will start the program which will include the singing of Christmas Carols and the offering, by Morrison, of one of his "notorious" silver dollar quizzes. Several new categories, "brain testers," "super-doopers," "for a genius" and "for those who know Sanford" have been evolved by the quiz-master, all of which, it is hoped, will add to the festive occasion highlighted by a turkey dinner.

County Employes Get 1st Social Security Cards

The first Social Security cards for State and County employes delivered since the state referendum was held on Nov. 23 were handed yesterday to Clerk of the Circuit Court O. P. Herndon and Deputy Clerk E. L. Burdick by Dorothy Colomora, Field Representative, Social Security Administration. The referendum held last month was passed by a majority vote favoring Social Security. Herndon said yesterday, as he received his blue and white card bearing his permanent social security number, that employes now have the privilege of obtaining social security coverage if they so desire. If, however, they have not elected to participate by Jan. 1, 1958 they could not be covered. "All employes entering the department after Jan. 1, 1958 will automatically be covered by social security," he said. Miss Colomora said yesterday that the Social Security Act Amendments of 1956 provided that the retirement system of Florida could be divided into two parts, those favoring Social Security and those opposing. Upon a favorable vote in the referendum, Governor LeRoy Collins was empowered to enter into an agreement with the Social Security Administration. It has been anticipated that the agreement between the State of Florida and the Social Security Administration would be signed before the end of 1957 in the legislation passed by the State Legislature. One phase of the agreement is that if the documents are signed before Jan. 1, 1958, social security coverage will be effective as of Jan. 1, 1956. However, Miss Colomora pointed out, if the agreement is not entered into this year it cannot be retroactive any further back than Jan. 1, 1937.

He died at the Orlando hospital. The argument between the two men occurred on Slipes Ave. almost at the intersection of Geneva Ave.

June Lockhart's Voice Gets Night Off In TV Play

By FRANK DANZIG
NEW YORK (AP)—While June Lockhart works in a television play tomorrow, her voice gets the night off.

She'll appear as a mute mail order bride on U. S. Steel's ungrammatically-titled drama tele show, "Little Charles." Don't want a Saddle? over CBS-TV.

Since the part involves only pantomime, Miss Lockhart did not have to stay home nights to learn her lines. And she made the most of this rare freedom by seeing the new Broadway shows. In four days, she took in five plays, including a quick trip to Philadelphia to catch a musical that will have its New York opening after she returns to California.

Where June is concerned, that's living.

Seven U. S. Steel Shows—And where U. S. Steel is concerned, it seems they've grown accustomed to her face. Miss Lockhart will have been seen on no fewer than seven of the hour-long Wednesday night plays before many more months pass.

"I guess they think I sell their product," she said as she gently stirred a hot beverage on a cold afternoon.

"Maybe, in gratitude, I ought to run out and buy a ton of steel," she said.

Let's you get the idea she works only for the steelmakers, we remind you that Miss Lockhart will be seen on CBS-TV's Jan. 12 production of "Beauty and the Beast," and another Western "Gunsmoke," on March 1.

A success in all acting media, Miss Lockhart prefers live television to motion pictures or the theater. "Live TV has a beginning, a middle and an end," she said. "It's very satisfying and not at all frightening."

Rehearsals are rough. The only drawback, Miss Lockhart said, comes during rehearsals. Things get rough.

"If there's one week for rehearsal, I'm quite interested in the part for the first couple of days. By the fourth or fifth day, though, I couldn't care less. I have to fight it, to discipline myself to keep interested. At that stage, it looks as if nothing is happening. Plot deficiencies stick out and you think, 'Oh, this is a bomb!' Then, around the sixth day, things fall into place. It becomes a cohesive property. It's all stuck together and you've hypnotized yourself into thinking this won't be too bad, after all."

June's approach to a part is to read it through, learn the lines and then "build the part around me like a house."

It may take a while to build the house, but it comes apart in a hurry. "I'm usually on my way to an airport as soon as we're off the air," she said. "I can't be encumbered with any mood from a part I've finished."

Goldsboro School To Be Scene Of Art Workshop Jan. 6-8

Forty teachers from Sanford and surrounding towns have signed up for the Art Workshop to be held Jan. 6, 7 and 8, 1958, at the Goldsboro Elementary School, according to an announcement made by R. T. Milwee, superintendent of schools. A free educational service provided by Binney & Smith Inc., manufacturers of "Crayola" crayons and other school art supplies, the Workshop will be conducted by Miss Elizabeth Belt, who has had many years of teaching experience and holds a master's degree from Columbia University.
The teachers will devote 15 hours of their own time to learning more about modern creative art education and some of its materials and tools. They will learn by doing, rolling up their sleeves and trying out the art techniques which Miss Belt presents. These techniques will include some of the uses of water colors, poster paints, finger paints, colored chalks, and modeling clay in addition to crayons. Simple creative craft techniques will also be presented, giving teachers an opportunity to work with paper and paste and various other materials for three-dimensional effects. All of the Art Workshop activities will be experiences which the teachers can relate to their own classroom teaching.
School officials responsible for the workshop arrangements, in addition to Superintendent Milwee, include Mrs. Mildred Babcock, art supervisor.

Two 'Mormon' Missionaries Are Laboring In City

Residents throughout Sanford have been questioning their neighbors as to the identity of two young men often seen walking about town dressed in dark suits and wearing hats. They are missionaries of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, often referred to as "Mormons." They are called to leave their homes and families for a period of two years which time is devoted to telling others about their religion. They receive no pay, or salary, but are supported by their family or friends at home. The two "Mormon" missionaries now laboring in Sanford are Elder Don P. Ashcroft from Cedar City, Utah and Elder Stanton L. Hovey from Salt Lake City, Utah.

According to a booklet distributed by the missionaries, "The Church was organized in 1830 with Joseph Smith Jr.—often referred to as the founder of the church—as prophet, and head of the church. Due to severe persecution the main body of the church moved from the state of New York, to Ohio, then to Missouri, and then to Illinois where they began their exodus to Utah being led by Brigham Young, second President of the church and colonizer of the Rocky Mountains. 80,000 more followed before the coming of the railroad many of them pushing handcarts with some 8,000 perishing before reaching their promised land."

"From the Church Headquarters in Salt Lake City, the church expanded and grew rapidly, sending out missionaries to every country in the world. Today the church has 45 missions, over 5,000 missionaries and a world wide membership of nearly one and one half million people."
The "Mormon" Church is known for its layministry, its strict code of morals and laws of health, famed Tabernacle choir and organ, and its Welfare Plan. The church owns a 300,000 acre ranch located at Deer Park, south east of Orlando between Holepaw and Melbourne which is part of the church welfare program, the booklet said.

The "Mormons" believe in divine authority, latter day revelation, the atonement of Jesus Christ, faith and works, vicarious work for the dead, and additional scripture such as the Book of Mormon, said the Missionaries.

Jehovah Witnesses Hold 3-Day Meet

As reported by returning delegates a very successful three day assembly was had by Jehovah's Witnesses at Dabney Elementary School of Leesburg. While songs and experiences were very much enjoyed the assembly theme, "Qualified to Teach," was so well portrayed in talks and demonstrations that every one became much more mindful of a Christian's responsibility to improve his quality of teaching and to practice it readily in the field.
The brisk cool weather did not prevent immersion with seven being dipped in Lake Harris early Saturday afternoon.
In his lecture on Sunday J. A. Thompson Jr. enlightened many on the subject, "What are the prospects for Lasting Peace?" He showed that, while lasting peace is a desirable goal of many of the common people, some in high places such as the militarists and munitions makers feel it would affect employment and business in an adverse way. A dictator's power too would be thwarted by a lasting peace. Man has failed for centuries in his efforts for lasting peace but God will bring it through his Kingdom which will destroy all warmongers. Bible chronology along with fulfilled Bible prophecy proves it will come in our day, says Thompson.
Thompson oversees an assembly twice monthly.

What Kind Of Christmas Present Will You Be Expecting?

A staggering amount of money will, as usual in prosperous Sanford and all over America, be spent this year on Christmas gifts. Statistics boggie at describing the number of packages that will be exchanged—enough, perhaps, to fill the Grand Canyon; enough to make a pile that would intercept the sputniks; enough to go around the world thirteen times and still pave a four lane highway from Miami to New York. The point is made: Plenty of gifts will be exchanged during Yuletide.

Now to an additional point: The best gifts won't come in packages. And we do not have in mind the sort—a yacht, a house, thirty-three acres of orange trees—that won't fit into packages. What we have in mind are the intangibles that evade packaging, however glossy the paper and gay the ribbons. A father pledges deeper love and understanding of his family—and keeps the pledge. A teen-age daughter makes clear a new awareness that parental discipline springs from love, not hostility—and acts accordingly. A man or woman determines to live through the year in the spirit of the One whose birth Christmas celebrates—and follows through on that new-found determination. These are the sort of things we have in mind, the gifts that don't come in packages.

There are more; anyone can name those that fit his own circumstances. Gifts of this kind do not cost a penny. They cannot be bought with money. Yet they are more precious than all the costly gifts beneath the tree on Christmas morning.

There's An End To Confusion!

We are approaching the time when Congress will end the confusion over what should be done when a president of the United States is no longer able to perform his duties. The Constitution does not state who shall determine whether the chief executive is incapable of functioning, and it is unclear as some related points. The pressure for clarification is building up.

That is good. President Eisenhower himself has urged that action be taken. The administration has proposed a constitutional amendment that would give the cabinet power to determine whether the president is able to discharge the duties of office. Now it is reliably reported that Mr. Eisenhower would not insist on this plan but would approve of any reasonable solution of the problem.

There is no getting around the fact that President Eisenhower's illness has given this matter a particular sense of urgency. A friend of ours used to stay in trim by scattering a handful of pennies in his bedroom every morning and stooping for them. Now he's getting fat—says there's no incentive in it anymore. He's going to try dimes next week.

There will be no lack of key issues at the next session of Congress. In fact, it's won't be a case of needing a key to the situation as much as one of knowing how to work the combination.

BRIEF HANDSHAKE

Washington gossip is wondering whether the close friendship between President Eisenhower and Sherman Adams, his assistant, may have cooled. When Eisenhower shook hands with well-wishers before he flew to Paris Friday, Adams got the quickest handshake of all. In contrast, Eisenhower had a few words to say to his old friend Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther and quite a few more for Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

APPOINTMENT

Tokyo reports that it will be no surprise if Adm. Arthur W. Radford, former chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, is given a high diplomatic post soon. The word in Tokyo is that it's possible he may be named ambassador to the Philippines if the present envoy Charles E. Bohlen, decides to re-

Alternatively, Radford might be appointed to some other Southeast Asian ally. Tokyo says some of them (members of the South-East Asia Treaty Organization) are feeling neglected. Naming of an ambassador of Radford's standing would be a morale-booster.

ROOFLA

There's likely to be a lot of political hoopla but little action on farm legislation next year. Washington says that about all Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson will get from Congress—besides arguments—is extension of the law which permits the sale of surplus foods abroad. Benson stands little chance of winning approval of a proposal to retire whole farms from production, as Washington sees it, and no chance at all on his suggestion for dropping price supports to 60 per cent of parity.

ANOTHER FIRST?

Western European scientists are about convinced that Russia has another first—the most powerful telescope in the world. Britain's Jodrell Bank Telescope has been the biggest. It was finished just in time to track the Soviet Sputniks. The scientists believe the new Russian telescope will be used to map temperatures across the surface of the sun. The Russians want to find out the connection between sun spots and communications difficulties and weather changes on earth. This information would be of great military value as regards radio control of space missiles and long-range weather prediction.

TROUBLE

Intelligence reports say that the North Korean Communists are experiencing increasing difficulties in keeping farmers under control. Signs of unrest are mounting and the farmers are showing more resistance to Communist controls. A big crackdown is in prospect.

PUMPING

The federal government may have to pump a lot more money into the peacetime atomic energy program next year despite the emphasis on expenditure for nuclear missiles. Private enterprise isn't assuming the burden for atomic development as rapidly as some

7-Day Embargo Ordered On Citrus

LAKELAND (UP)—The Florida Citrus Commission today ordered a seven-day embargo on all shipments of citrus to prevent freeze-damaged fruit from going to market.

The commission, in an emergency meeting, also unanimously voted to prohibit the damaged fruit from being used in concentrate.

The embargo goes into effect at 7 a.m. Tuesday and ends at 7 a.m. Dec. 24.

The order also affects all gift fruit shipments and private transportation of fruit out of the state.

The result should be a sharp climb in prices for citrus already enroute to market and a shortage of the traditional oranges and tangerines for many Christmas stockings across the country. Florida produces more than 60 per cent of the citrus normally marketed before Christmas.

The emergency action was taken to keep fruit damaged by last week's 50 million dollar freeze off the market. Cold-damaged fruit could ruin prices and the reputation of Florida citrus on northern markets.

The order did not specifically prohibit the use of fruit this week in single strength and chilled juice processing. But commission officials pointed out that existing laws ban the use of damaged fruit in any phase of canning.

The regulation allows a five per cent tolerance in damaged fruit for use in orange concentrate.

The commission defined freeze-damaged fruit as citrus which shows a marked drying extending into the segments of the fruit for more than one quarter of an inch from the stem end or more than the equivalent amount of this volume when occurring in other portions of the fruit, fruit which shows, before the drying process starts, other injuries such as a water-soaked appearance, a break down in juice cells, and open spaces in the pulp.

Heavy opposition came at the dawn meeting from gift fruit shippers who protested that the embargo would ruin their heavy pre-Christmas shipments.

John M. Fox of Orlando, president of the huge Minute Maid Corp., argued that oranges would be safe for use in concentrate for at least a week after the freeze. He pointed out that the only scientific test so far on the freeze damaged fruit in concentrate showed that it was safe at least six days after freezing.

"If we take all frozen oranges out of concentrate it can ruin the industry by short supply, and we would have to re-establish the concentrate market," he warned. "For God's sake, before we throw millions of dollars worth of oranges away let's not act too hastily for the sake of a regulation."

The commission answered Fox's plea by calling a meeting of its Concentrate Advisory Committee Dec. 23 to study the effect of frozen oranges in concentrate.

Key Scales, Jr., of Weirsdale, chairman of the commission, said his group is "conscientiously" trying to work out the problem of frozen oranges in concentrate. He pointed out that the concentrate industry never before has been faced by such a problem that was caused by last week's severe freeze.

It was the worst freeze damage since 1934 and weathermen recorded the lowest temperatures generally since the big freeze of 1909.

Dr. L. G. MacDowal, research director of the commission, said he has already started experiments on the concentrate problem of frozen oranges and put them federal officials had hoped. In recent months a number of companies have cut back planned investment in nuclear power. Big reason: The cost of atomic development has increased sharply in the last two years and the payoff in the form of hoped-for corporate profits, has receded into the future.

SPORTS OUTLOOK

Look for Ron Delaney to sweep all his races when the new indoor track season begins during the next couple of weeks. Delaney, the Irish lad who runs for Villanova University, has won 17 straight indoor races and there doesn't appear to be anybody around who can snap his string. Delaney has run a mile in 3:58.8 outdoors and is the best bet to run the first indoor mile under four minutes. However, he would need a fast rival to push him to that goal, because he runs only as fast as he has to in his races.

Conning The News

By VIRGINIA CONN, Society Editor

Tragedy is striking Sanford through numerous fires which have recently caused loss of life and property to local citizens. None of the fires could be attributed to Christmas trees or decorations, which cause most of the conflagrations at this time of year. It is a pitiful and heartbreaking sight to see a daughter who has lost her mother or a mother who has lost her baby—is anything of a family without a home, or a business without a place to operate.

We are fast approaching the most dangerous time of the year—the highways will be clogged with travellers, cold weather will bring out heaters and stoves—please, please, think of your friends who have recently known tragedy. Don't let it happen to you. The highway statistics are always grim—but we do hear about them constantly. The fires in the home can be prevented as a rule by caution. It can happen to anyone. And a fire could happen to you.

Of course, all of this is an upshot of another fire, this time

Grammar School Presents Program Before Full House

The annual Christmas musical program was presented Thursday night by the glee club of the Sanford Grammar School before a capacity audience of parents and friends. The occasion was the monthly P. T. A. meeting.

Under the direction of Mrs. Robert Richards, accompanied by Mrs. George Touhy, the glee club thrilled the listeners with their rendition of traditional Christmas songs.

Soloists were Anna Alken singing "Holy Night" and Donald Woodruff presenting "The Good Shepherd". The stage was beautifully decorated with poinsettias gathered before the freeze. Changing lights reflected the mood of each song.

Prior to the concert a business meeting was held. Mrs. M. T. Haynes gave a reading entitled "There is a Present". Announcements were made concerning the Peanut Bowl game which was held Friday night. Lt. Cdr. Louis Hoop praised the parents for their cooperation and in return received an ovation for the outstanding job he has done as chairman of the game.

Herold Heckenbach, principal, apologized for the cold building and assured the parents that the faulty boiler would be mended by morning. President Cliff Ables complimented Mrs. Richards for her direction of the glee club.

Coach Using Low Pressure Approach On Tennessee Volts

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of 10 dispatches on the football bowl teams. The dispatches will cover the teams in the Gator, Orange, Rose, Sugar, and Cotton bowls.

By STEVE GERSTEL
United Press Sports Writer
KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)— Coach Bowden Wyatt is using the low pressure approach to prepare his Tennessee Vols for their Gator Bowl game against Texas A&M.

The program includes a pre-Christmas vacation for the players, no formal practice sessions until five days before the game at Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 28, and a generally relaxed attitude all around.

The twin factors of recruiting and final exams are responsible for this easy-going system.

Coaches have been busy telling high school football stars that Tennessee is the finest place possible to matriculate and the players were equally busy earning their letters in the classrooms, although they found time for small-group drills.

A Third Big Reason
A third reason for the no-pressure post season preparation may overshadow the other two.

After Tennessee beat Vanderbilt to end the season with a 7-3 record, Wyatt said, "the big mistake I made was pushing the boys too hard, too early."

This early push produced consecutive wins over Maryland, North Carolina and Georgia Tech but by the time the Vols reached the Mississippi and Kentucky games the players were too finely drawn.

Wyatt does not want this to happen again. He feels five days of intensive practice at Sunny Pointe Verda, Fla., will be sufficient to get Tennessee in top shape.

"We'll be in good running condition," Wyatt said, "and at full strength for the game."

In good form, Tennessee will show Bear Bryant's Aggies a small but highly mobile line which has prohibited major liberties by 10 opponents and a sound, if unspectacular, single wing offense.

Gordon Key Man
Tailback Bobby Gordon is the key man in the Tennessee attack.

He is not an exceptionally fast runner but is powerful and gets fine downfield blocking, long a Tennessee trade mark.

Gordon is an average passer and uses the forward aerial sparingly, but he is one of the best punters in the country. The long booming kick is a vital segment of the Vol offense.

In the backfield with Gordon are fullback Tommy Bronson, a kangaroo when Tennessee needs the precious yard or two; blocking back Stockton Adkins, and wingback Bill Anderson, extremely dangerous on the little-used reverse.

White Sox Pitching Staff Is Strong

By AL LOPEZ
Written For The United Press
TAMPA, Fla. (UP)— They say pitching wins pennants, and the way the Chicago White Sox pitching staff shapes up now, there's no question that it is the strongest one in the American League.

Early Wynn, whom we got from Cleveland, gives us another good, solid starter to go with fellows like Billy Pierce, Dick Donovan, Jim Wilson, Bill Fischer and Bob Keegan.

And Ray Moore, whom we obtained from Baltimore, represents the kind of man we were looking for to give our bullpen a big lift.

Moore will handle the relief work along with Gerry Staley, Dixie Howell and Paul LaPalme.

I'm not discounting young Jim Derrington, either. He's the bonus boy we're carrying and he could turn out to be a pleasant pitching surprise for us next season.

There was some talk that we hurt ourselves on offense when we gave up Minnie Minoos and Larry Doby to get Wynn and Moore. Perhaps we did sacrifice a few RBIs but I think the added pitching help we obtained will more than make up for it.

Other Good Hitters
Besides, I feel we got some pretty fair hitters in fellows such as Al Smith, Billy Goodman and Tito Francona.

Smith is no slouch at the plate and the .247 average he had at Cleveland last season is certainly not a true indication of his ability. We think that a change of scenery will make a big difference in his case.

We're counting on Smith as our left fielder. Jim Landis can play center field as well as anyone in the league, and we'll have both Jim Rivera and Francona available in right field.

The addition of Goodman from Baltimore frees Bubba Phillips for duty in the outfield. In the event we need him there, Phillips is a very handy man to have around because he can play both third base and the outfield.

We're thinking of Goodman in terms of third base. Frankly, I'm not the least bit concerned about our situation around second base. We have the best second baseman in the league in Nellie Fox and Luis Aparicio at shortstop gives our club as good a double play combination as you'll find.

Aparicio's value doesn't end on defense alone. He's a whiz on the base paths (he led the league with 25 stolen bases) and he proved to a lot of people that he's a pretty fair country hitter, too. I think we're in mighty good shape at first base also. Earl Torgeson did a great job for us last season hitting .286 and driving in 51 runs.

All of us in the White Sox family are very high on Ron Jackson. He has much more experience now than he had when he first broke in and he could really establish himself next year. He could even supply some of the power the critics say we'll be missing. And we still have big Walt Dropo for duty at first base, too. He hit 13 homers and drove in 40 runs for us last season.

Sammy Esposito gives us the infield insurance we need in case of any injuries.

Our catching staff is a good one with Sherm Lollar, Earl Battey and Les Moss. Like Jackson, Battey could come very fast next year. He has all the tools.

Meadow larks are not larks, but members of the blackbird family.

U. S. Missile Launching Puts New Backbone In NATO Alliance

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent
PALESTINE (UP)—The thunderous roar of the first successful U.S. intercontinental ballistic missile put new backbone into the ailing NATO alliance today and strengthened the West for any future talks with the Kremlin.

The successful firing of an Atlas ICBM in Florida also gave added authority to the U. S. proposal to establish European bases for intermediate range ballistic missiles to defend against possible Russian aggression—the chief purpose of NATO.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Defense Secretary Neil McElroy met Allied enthusiasm bordering on exuberance when they sat down today with other defense chiefs and foreign ministers to discuss the U.S. missile proposal.

The main problem facing them was to work out a delicately worded formula for the American supply of 1,500-mile range IRBMs to the Allies. The United States would control the nuclear warheads, and the decision to launch them would be shared with the country where they are based.

Their findings around the huge round table in the Palais de Chaillot were to be transmitted later today to a meeting of the heads of government. It was expected to be the next to last summit conference.

The NATO delegations also were heartened by the continued good health of President Eisenhower who was reported meeting the conclusion of the meeting with sustained energy and interest.

On top of Tuesday's full schedule which included attendance at a state dinner given at night by President Rene Coty of France, the President was seeing a number of NATO leaders today, lunching with Coty and attending the afternoon "summit" meeting.

An "indirect" reply was expected to be written to Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin's rush of letters to NATO members just before the summit conference started. The West will stand by its last offer of disarmament proposals and insist on a free, re-united Germany.

'Mail Early' Says Local Postmaster

The mounting volume of Christmas mail makes it more important than ever for everyone to "Mail Early for Christmas," Postmaster Field said today. He said further, "Last year we handled a total of 247,977 pieces of mail between December 1 and the 16. So far this year, the Post Office has already received and sent 241,017 Christmas cards, letters and packages, and the real heavy rush is just getting underway."

The Postmaster says that every effort is being made to deliver all mail on time and in good condition before Christmas Eve, as has been done during the past three years. Every facility of the Post Office is being pressed into maximum service, extra trucks and personnel have been added, and with the help of the mailing public, postal employees can look forward to spending Christmas Eve and Christmas Day with their families.
