Schools Defend 'Choice' Policy

School Board Attorney Douglas Stenstrom has confirmed that acting under the instruction of the board he has written a reply to the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare's (HEW) list of 30 allegations which maintain the county's freedom of choice school plan adopted for 1969-70 term by the board does not do away with a dual school system.

Stenstrom said the reply to the allegations was necessary and added the board would also request a hearing of the charges before the HEW's civil rights officer.

Stenstrom said that since an Orlando attorney had indicated to the press and to others his intentions of filing legal action against the board, it would not be long before the school system would be back in federal court.

A conspiracy charge against Jean Bryant and Ray Sloman, board members, was dismissed by Judge George C. Young in U.S. District Court two weeks ago. William Rowland, Orlando attorney, filed the action on behalf of 611 plaintiffs opposed to the freedom of choice plan.

It is expected that Rowland will file an injunction, possibly this week, against the board's choice plan and seek to have the federal court throw it out in favor of a central school plan advanced by him (Rowland).

Principal Fowler for the event will be Earl (Duke) Crittenden, of Orlando, chairman of the Florida State Republican executive committee.

According to the Governor's weekly itinerary, he's in Washington, D. C. this Wednesday and then the following day is scheduled to address the Ladies Home Journal Symposium in Miami.

Among the regulations is to be the setting of a fee for a permit to operate a borrow pit. Without the regulations no one can obtain a permit.

Surplus Food Need Cited For Hungry

By DONNA ESTES

Plan for immediate implementation by the county of the surplus food commodity program pending unraveling of the red tape surrounding the food stamp plan was submitted to the Board of County Commissioners today.

Fred Mobley, chairman of the food committee of the Midway and Cuban Community Team, in a stirring appeal to the board, indicated he will contact Dr. James Bax in Tallahassee to determine if the county can be given food commodities on an emergency basis in the interim.

Drummond reported meeting has been set for Sept. 30 with Lee McCubbin from Tallahassee to discuss implementation of the food stamp plan and painted a gloomy picture of its beginning time in Seminole.

The district three commission or predicted earliest implementation for food stamps will be Jan. 1 and "I'm not saying it can be done by Jan. 1."

Urban Renewal Voters' Choice

By BILL SCOTT

Sanford residents will get a chance to vote on Urban Renewal.

City Commission at last night's meeting voted three-two to put the federally-funded program on the December city elections ballot.

The labor force here in Midway is vital and necessary to producing and harvesting the citrus and agricultural crops of this area. The availability of the surplus commodity foods would fill a great need in sustaining our workers during the lean months and assure our growers of a sufficient labor force.

Mobley agreed with the Commission that the method of providing food for the hungry through the food stamp plan has "more dignity" but asked that the commodity approach be taken in the meantime.

Principal Fowler for the event will be Earl (Duke) Crittenden, of Orlando, chairman of the Florida State Republican executive committee.

Airport Deed To 'Drift' In Wednesday

All aviation enthusiasts have been invited by Sanford Industrial Commission Director Don Rathel to fly their craft to Sanford Airport Wednesday for participation in the festivities surrounding the delivery of the deed to the former Sanford Naval Air Station property to the City of Sanford.

Rathel confirmed today that because of the mushrooming popularity of the event and the attraction to Seminole County of numerous governmental and aviation oriented persons, it would be proper to encourage all air buffs to fly here for the occasion which gets underway at 3 p.m. in front of the airport terminal building.

Heading up a host of VIPs expected to attend the conveying of title to city from the U. S. General Service Administration (GSA) are Richard Skully, Miami, Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) area manager; J. M. Frazier, assistant manager; J. K. Howes, airport branch chief; Gene Faulkner, compliance officer; and Marion Drum-bach, Atlanta FAA office.

City Manager W. E. Knowles disclosed that Charles McKinny, Atlanta GSA official, will bring along the long sought title for presentation to city.

Rumor has it that an airplane will sweep low during the ceremony and a small parachute containing an envelope with deed will drift slowly to the concrete runway.

At least three Page Aviation officials have indicated plans to be here. These include John L. Wilmut, secretary-treasurer; James E. Honretta, vice president and general manager; and Claude G. Wright, vice president of contracts and packaging division of the fixed base operation.

The afternoon's activities will be capped with a dinner at House of Steak with the visiting dignitaries being joined by city commissioners, industrial commissioners and other invited guests.

Drainage Exception Okayed

By MARION BETHEA

The ball game was almost over last night for the spectacular plans for a multi-million dollar development in North Orlando by Gulf American Corporation. In a lengthy session of the North Orlando Village Council, opposition was vociferously expressed by City Attorney Thomas Freeman and Mayor Clifford Jordan to the continuing an envelope with deed will drift slowly to the concrete runway.

'Negotiating Door' Is Held Open

By GEORGE ESPEL
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — American forces probably will continue to curtail their offensive operations in the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese, maintain their present low level of activity after the truce for the funeral of North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh ends Thursday, U.S. sources said today.

"We want to keep the negotiating door open," said one ranking officer. "We're not looking for fights. We're just trying to provide an atmosphere for pacification and security, and if the other side decides to keep things secure, we couldn't be happier."

Only light action was reported across South Vietnam today in the second day of the truce. But U.S. officials considered it unlikely that the enemy would continue the cease-fire long after the announced expiration time.

Naval Fight Told

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Tel Aviv said Israeli torpedo boats Monday in the first Arab-Israeli naval battle in nearly two years. Cairo admitted one Egyptian boat was sunk but not sunk and claimed it sank an Israeli vessel.

A spokesman in Tel Aviv said Israeli commandos attacked the Egyptian boats in the Gulf of Suez near Ras Sadiq, an Egyptian torpedo base 12 miles south of the Suez Canal. Three of the Israeli vessels were killed in a "technical mishap" against their vessel as they returned to their base, the spokesman said.

Cairo said only that an Egyptian patrol sank an Israeli boat during a naval encounter 12 miles east of the city of Suez. It reported one crewman of an Egyptian boat was injured.

'Law And Order' Test Seen In Detroit Vote

By GENE SCHROEDER
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — Voters today in a municipal primary expected to test the city's racial and "law-and-order" climate for the first time at the polls since the devastating 1967 riots.

Three other candidates were major contenders for the office now held by Mayor Jerome C. Cavanagh, who decided not to seek reelection after two four-year terms.

The three are Wayne County Sheriff Roman Grillo, 43, a conservative, and Walter Bonham, 44, a businessman-promoter who was trounced by Cavanagh in the 1960 runoff election.

Jet Airport Battle Far From Concluded

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The fight over a proposed jet airport near the Florida Everglades appears far from over, despite reports to the contrary.

Reports published last week quoted sources in Kirk's office as saying President Nixon had decided against the proposed jet airport site nine miles north of the Everglades.

Dirksen Proposals Fade

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The death of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen may mark the fading of some of the late Senator's proposals, but he was still pushing the amendments which would Permit one house of each state legislature to be appointed on the basis of factors other than population.

Make it clear that non-constitutional amendments are permissible in schools and other public buildings.

Championed Pet Projects

Dirksen was the champion of constitutional amendments which would change the way that states elect their representatives to Congress.

He also was hoping, despite two defeats in the Senate, for passage of the amendment to wipe out the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote rulings.

City To OK Pay Hikes Utilities

Sanford City Commission last night voted to pass city ordinances needed to implement the higher water and sewer rates and raise city employees salaries.

Commissioners also adopted ordinance fixing the rate of taxation at 16 mills, including 1 1/2 mills for general government expenses and 4 1/2 mills for debt service, same as last year.

Some difficulty was noted during the approval of the higher utility costs which would up city residents water and sewer by 20 per cent more and increase by 200 per cent the rates to those persons living beyond the city limits.

Tribute Paid To Dirksen

By LAWRENCE L. KUSSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — While a lonely memorial marks his vacant Senate seat, Everett M. Dirksen will be in state today beneath the Capitol's soaring dome to receive the nation's tribute.

Dirksen, the Senate's Republican leader until his death Sept. 15, is the 21st American since Abraham Lincoln to be so honored.

Drainage Exception Approved

city engineer, opined to the commission that the system was undesirable in that the right-of-way was not wide enough to maintain the ditches and that they were detrimental aesthetically and hygienically.

Freeman stated that in his opinion the drainage system was inferior and that the "mud to gritty" was what the North Orlando wanted to be a first class town making first class decisions.

Everett McKinley Dirksen-A Multifaceted Loss

Loss of Everett McKinley Dirksen from the political scene is a matter which has elicited tributes from national leaders of both major parties.

His 16 years in the House of Representatives and his 18 years in the Senate showed a very steady swing from the unyielding conservatism of 1952, when he backed the late Senator Taft for the presidential nomination and General Eisenhower was named and elected.

There is, however, a fatal lack of understanding which would try to do a fix on the Dirksen career in terms of hard statistics, colorless facts, or dates.

Senior senator with high position in the councils of the senate. It marks what will probably be considered the ending of an era.

Finding A Way

In 1948 governors of the South got together and set up the Southern Regional Education Board. The hope was that each state could have better colleges and universities with sharing efforts of neighboring states.

The 1969 report shows much more interest in getting ahead of the national rate of growth in educational achievement than in looking backward. But it has some figures that show fast change for the better.

It was 16 per cent of the South's college age youth. Now it is 36 per cent.

It was 19 per cent of the nation's doctorates compared with 16 per cent in 1965.

Statistics are only part of the picture, but these show substantial results for a kind of effort only 20 years old.

Bumping-Bouncing!

Wishes for every success — and no back-firing — are extended to the State Highway Commission in its efforts to slow motorway down at accident-prone road locations.

In hopes of achieving that goal, the commission has installed hard plastic hump strips at two intersections in the Raleigh area.

"Bump" strips are stretched across the pavement in parallel rows and the idea behind them, says a traffic engineer, is to give the driver a physical jolt so he'll be "more alert and more aware of the dangerous conditions he's approaching."

It is a novel idea, and such ideas are badly needed in the highway safety field. One hopes, however, that all motorists feeling these unexpected jolts for the first time respond in the proper manner rather than losing control of the wheel while wondering what in the world they just ran over.

Crane's Worried Clinic:

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph. D., M. D. CASE 1-502: Mavis G., aged 24, is soon to have a baby.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "my husband and I have been arguing over its name."

"It is something that is musical and unique, but he thinks we should use good, solid names, especially if it is a boy."

"For he says boys often get a complex about easy names."

"Yes, it is certainly true that many little boys dislike the fancy names their doting mothers have given them."

"That is one reason why such youngsters delight in tolerant nicknames, such as 'Bubbs' or 'Bunch' or even 'Patsy.'"

Girls are not as likely to resent masculinizing names, such as Pat (Patricia) or Bobby (Robert) or Jo (Josephine).

THE BIG BAD WOLF

THE BIG BAD WOLF. In the cartoon, a wolf labeled 'CUTBACKS' is attacking a house labeled 'NIXON'. The wolf is shown with its mouth open, ready to devour the house. The house is labeled 'NIXON' and has a sign that says 'GOVERNMENT CONSTRUCTION'.

Heed Psychology Of Names

And when George was in early grade school, he is informed by his mother and me that he was always going to be called 'George'.

"George Washington never told me that," he said.

"This minor incident shows that children often respond in a positive manner to judgments linked with the famous person for whom they have been named."

Our other 3 boys were given good, solid Bible names, such as Philip, Daniel and David.

And we christened our daughter, as you know, Judith.

Then, to help the children remember their genealogy, we inserted the maiden names of their mother and grandmothers.

Philip was thus named Philip Miller Crane, since my wife was a Miller.

My mother's maiden name was Bever. So Daniel was called Daniel Bever Crane.

If you have several children, it is thus efficient to use the surnames of the mother and grandmothers as middle names, at least for your sons.

Good, historical masculine names include Andrew, William, Thomas, Franklin, Stephen, Robert, John, James, Peter, etc.

Similar feminine names are Rachel, Anne, Miriam, Ruth, Esther, Deborah, Martha, Mary, Cora, Elizabeth, Sarah, etc.

But sometimes a name loses some of its rhythmic appeal when it is shortened in the usual nickname, as Pete, for Peter, is for Rachel.

Being a superb parent involves many facts, over and beyond the naming of your children.

Domestic Comment:

More Hurricane Research?

By RAY CROMLEY, NEA Washington Correspondent. WASHINGTON (NEA) — The tragedy of Hurricane Comble is that maybe — just maybe — the loss of life and property did not have to be as bad as it was.

There are three areas in which this failure to spend a little more may have cost us heavily in lives and dollars in the United States.

The first is the area of natural disasters to come. In this program, now going on in the U.S. government, satellites are available at costs significantly lower than are most comparable satellites in the United States.

The Soviet Union, for example, is doing some excellent work in this field. In some areas the Russians are ahead of us. They are quite advanced, for example, in some of their theoretical models which, if further developed, might result in some tremendous practical breakthroughs in weather.

Interpretive Report:

Tax-Free Havens For Wealth

By RICHARD WILSON, WASHINGTON, D.C. — In 1968, $2,000 new private foundations came into being as tax-free havens for surplus wealth dedicated to charitable and educational purposes.

The total of private foundations then to 22,000. At the present rate of growth, 40,000 or 50,000 private foundations will be created within a decade for better or for worse.

Obviously, the non-proliferation of private foundations is in order not only because they deny the Treasury major hundreds of millions in revenue but because their function has been somewhat seriously in question.

There isn't much in the new tax legislation being considered by the Senate which will go to the heart of the problem.

My wife's mother was a Goodrich, so David was thus christened David Goodrich Crane.

If you have several children, it is thus efficient to use the surnames of the mother and grandmothers as middle names, at least for your sons.

Good, historical masculine names include Andrew, William, Thomas, Franklin, Stephen, Robert, John, James, Peter, etc.

Letters to the Editor

Oh, Pity Poor 'Liz

Editor, The Herald: Your newspaper is fast becoming one of the best dailies of any small town in Florida.

But damn the city council for raising water and garbage collection rates in order to raise their salaries.

We've read a lot lately of the housewives' boycott of beef prices. Maybe we housewives should boycott Sanford and do our shopping elsewhere.

The city commissioners may be able to tell us what we have to pay for our water but they can't tell us what we have to shop.

But what about us who live inside the city limits who complain of the 20 per cent increase in our water rates?

Almost everyone likes dirty books and pictures. Liz Taylor Burton has worked more homes than most beautiful, talented women who are overlanded with sex and love making very rich by paying less than to see her do her stuff.

You people did a good thing when you hired Mr. Vanhook to be one of your editors. He is excellent in the field of journalism.

Love to each of you. Rosalie B. Beck (Ed Note — We're proud of Fred, too. Appreciate your compliments.)

A Towering Saturn 5 To Begin A Checkout

By JIM STROTSMAN, AP Aerospace Writer. CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A towering Saturn 5 rocket tipped with the Apollo 13 spacecraft journeyed to the launch pad today to begin checkouts.

Standing upright atop a tank-like transporter as big as a house, the 300-ton rocket was being rolled out of its cavernous hangar at 5:57 a.m. EDT to start a seven-hour trip to the launch site 3 1/2 miles away.

A light associated with a remote television camera atop the Apollo 13 launch tower could not clear the hangar doorway, however, forcing officials to halt the rollout.

Apollo 13 astronauts Charles Conrad, Richard F. Gordon and Michael Smith are scheduled to witness the rollout and to continue training for the flight, plan to blast off aboard the moon-bound Saturn 5 rocket on the moon's landing craft on the moon's second orbit around Earth at 11:22 a.m. Nov. 18.

While Gordon remains in lunar orbit taking care of the Apollo 13 command ship, Conrad and Gordon are to walk on the lunar surface outside their lander craft two separate times for a total of about five hours. That would be nearly twice as long as the Apollo 11 moon walk.

Aluses do exist. Many of the big foundations have recognized the need for new tax proposals. The new tax proposals do not do much to help. They will be as difficult to administer as the ineffective changes made in 1955.

Beyond this, there are those who say that the foundations represent dangerous concentrations of uncontrolled economic and social power, and this must be held in check by imposing a time limit on the life of private foundations and creating a Federal regulatory agency.

Government draws heavily on the foundations for studies and experiments the government has not or cannot make. Some personnel shifts back and forth between government and the foundations but how that hurts the people is rather hard to fashion unless one is of a mind to think that John Foster Dulles, Dean Rust, McGeorge Bundy and many others are incompetent mountebanks of radical soundings.

Conserving Big Econ Is Project

The Orange Audubon Society is sponsoring a conference to be held in Orlando on Sept. 26, with a field trip scheduled for Sept. 27, to explore means of conserving the Big Econ.

Anyone wishing to attend can make arrangements through the Maitland-South Seminole Chapter of Commerce office.

The Audubon Society states that the Big Econ is still in a relatively unspoiled condition and should be protected from the anticipated pressures of population soon expected in Central Florida.

Public hearing on the applications of Florida Public Utilities Company, Sanford and Deland divisions, for approval of rate increases to cover charges for gas service, will be held at 2 p.m. Sept. 25 by the Florida Public Service Commission at its district office in Miami.

KNEE DEEP in OUTDOORS
by BILL VINCENT JR.

Local sport fishing has taken a better stand and the little speckle bass is still hitting pretty good, but will get better as time sets in.

The speck season is just starting so don't be too hasty if you don't catch a good mess of speck the first time out, just keep trying.

Bass fishing is up and down with reports of bass catches as far up as Pyramidon Hammock in Puzos Lake and a lot of good bass reports coming out of the high bank area, and some schooling reports early in the morning at the northeast side of Lake Morroe.

BIG LINKERS

Charlie Mullins and Roy Swain caught two beautiful bass this week with rings while fishing in local lakes. The two fishermen would tell where they caught the linkers but I know where they fish at.

Legal game during the archery season will be deer or other sex, bear, turkey, quail, marsh hen, and wild hog in areas where both have been declared as game animals. Archery may also take rabbits and unprotected wildfowl.

Sportsmen who hunt with bow and arrow are reminded that fawn deer, cub bear, panther, alligators, eagles, hawks, owls, vultures, and non-game birds are protected and may not be taken or molested at any time.

It was also pointed out by the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission that regulations prohibit the taking of any non-game game bird or animal, and some areas of the state contain sensitive animals, such as elk, buffalo, and imported deer that roam free.

In some of archery hunting regulations, listing how hunting tags, seasons, seasons, and managed lands are available from the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission at Tallahassee.

WHAT TO DO WITH T. RAINS

One of the most unpleasant things that can happen to you is fishing trip for the sky to pour rain.

More fishing trips have been ruined because of wet weather than anything else. So, before you go, make sure you have some advance planning can prevent getting everything wet and possibly save the trip.

The trick with the fishing experts is to have a hand your boat the day before you go, coating it with a good dry when an unexpected rain comes along.

The most important piece of gear is a large tarp. One that's eight feet by ten feet is a better size, however, a larger tarp is better. If you're camping and fishing, you'll probably have a mattress under the boat. These will come in handy. If not, then a second tarp or plastic ground cloth is needed. The only other gear necessary is two pieces of 10-foot lumber, 1 1/2 inches long.

If you're fishing from a large boat you'll probably be able to set up the covers right on the boat. First stretch the tarp so that it covers everything. The boat's wind shield will probably leave enough room and breathing space under the tarp so that you'll be comfortable. Next hook up the air mattress and use these as seats or prop yourself against the boat seat using the mattress for comfort. With the boat tied to the bank or at anchor, you can ride out just about any rain in comfort and dry off.

If you're fishing from a small boat where a stern hits, pull the boat out on the bank and tarp it over. Spread out the ground cloth, hook up the air mattress (if available) and pull the tarp over you. Use the 10-foot pieces of lumber to prop the tarp up near your face. If by yourself, turn the boat over, spread the tarp over the boat and crawl underneath. As long as you've a ground cloth beneath you, you'll stay reasonably dry.

Football Players Cut

George Mira got what he wanted but a host of other veterans didn't. Bobby Mitchell chose to avoid the whole issue.

Mira, five-year quarterback with the San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League, was traded to the Philadelphia Eagles and wide receiver Bobby Mitchell announced his retirement from the Washington Redskins on a busy Monday at football's market place and choppy black.

Houston Going Fast . . . Two Florida Games Already Sold Out

No tickets remain for 1969 University of Florida football games against FSU and Georgia and those left for the Sept. 20 opener against nationally ranked Houston are going fast. That's the word today from Gator Ticket Manager Ray Dorman, who announced the Oct. 4 FSU game in Gainesville and the Nov. Georgia game in Jacksonville are officially "sold out."

"We have had a spurt in sales for the Houston game," Dorman said. "I would advise those who want seats to this game to get their orders in as soon as possible."

The Gators, ranked number one in the nation in preseason poll, bring the nation's highest scoring offense to town and Dorman estimates current sales over the 42,000 seats already.

Remainder of the home ticket situation looks this way:

North Carolina (Homecoming), Oct. 18 - North Carolina just returned some tickets on sidelines. Approximately 42,000 seats reserved for students.

Yankees, Oct. 25 - Some sideline tickets remain, approximately 4,000 sold in response for students.

Kentucky, Nov. 11 - Approximately 40,000 tickets sold for reserved for students. Some seating remains.

In addition, ticket sales for the Oct. 11 battle at Tampa Stadium against Tulane are on sale at the University of Florida Athletic Ticket Office, 2100 Smith's Ferry West in Bradenton, Rank of Palmto in Palmto, or by mail from the Florida West Coast Bowl Association, Box 3542, Tampa.

Ticket sales for this year's clash have already reached 30,000 with over a month left, and 16,000 tickets remaining. Prospects are excellent that the game will be a sellout.

Last line the Gators played in Tampa Stadium when Florida and Tulane were set for the record for this site with 52,528 in the 1965 season-opener against Air Force.

Mira's Wish Granted - He's Finally Traded

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — George Mira, who has spent years in Jimmy Broderick's shadow with the San Francisco 49ers, finally has got his wish to be traded.

The National Football League club sent Mira to the Philadelphia Eagles for lineman Frank Harrison and one of the Eagles' cornerbacks in exchange for two college draftees.

Mira, an All-American at Miami of Florida in 1966, had been there before the 1966 season and there he saw some action as a backup man and even started some games, but he could never permanently dislodge Freddie

Over the last few years Mira has been more active than he is now. He is now a third-year fifth-year player, and he had to prove he could be the backup man for Harrison and one of the Eagles' cornerbacks in exchange for two college draftees.

Mira has played both offensive and defensive tackle and he was named Monday as the Eagles' first draft pick.

He has the speed to play either guard or tackle, said No. 1 Steve Spurrier, the 49ers' three-year quarterback from Florida, who has seen more action than Mira in the three exhibition games already in camp. He is a 6-foot-5, 235-pounder who was the Eagles' first draft pick in 1966.

The Eagles may not be the end of Mira's troubles breaking into the starting lineup. He will have to outlast veteran Al Norm Sneed for the top spot.

Favored NC State May Fall As They Meet Wake Forest

Epod, friend, the seasons do roll by. It seems it was only yesterday I announced the State football are due this week, but four other Orie points are ready to do battle. Miami and Kent State of the Mid-American Conference take on two strong independent clubs.

The Hoopie System sees Wake overpowered in 10 regular season games. Wake is a 20-0 win for the first season. Kent State, who the women, 10-0, summer the more 10-0, figures to outpace Dayton by a 10-0 count - unknunk.

Two other contest worth of special note are Cincinnati, West Virginia and Drake Louisville meetings.

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Australian Bill Laver, seven-year world champion, today announced he was ready to quit professional tennis.

Laver is under contract to the National Tennis League, directed by George MacCall of Los Angeles, and is committed to play in so many tournaments that he may not be able to quit.

"I have three years to go on a five-year contract," the little fellow Avenue Tony Roche 7-6, 6-1, 6-2 Monday for the U.S. Open crown and his second grand slam.

"I intend to play those three years at least—cutting down perhaps on my tournament schedule. After that, well, we just have to see."

"I love tennis—but I also love my life," Laver said. "I would like to see the tennis court for 15 years, since I was 10. I think it's time to start having a home life."

Laver's wife, Mary, whom he married in June, 1956, in San Francisco, is in Corona Del Mar, Calif., awaiting the couple's first child.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My mother said that I was a "good" girl for college and she wants to go back to school. I don't promise, suggest, or agree to pay back any money when I started college. My parents are not in any financial trouble. The bill says my school cost only $450 per semester and I finished in seven semesters. My father refuses to explain why the bill is so large, and he is threatening to sue me. Do you think I need a lawyer?

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a man whose name you would recognize, as he is quite prominent. He is not particularly handsome, but he does have an appealing voice. Melvin is one of our favorite people; in fact, he and my Joe are childhood playmates and there "ain't" too many of that category left in Geneva.

Beauty after Forty

by Edyth Thornton McLeod

A well-known doctor gave me some interesting answers when I talked to him about constant fatigue, about which so many women write me. He said that constant fatigue can be aging and when anyone feels tired all the time this means that they need aid, a physical checkup by their doctor can give the answer. Is it FATIGUE or BOREDOM? When one tires easily there is usually a reason, we can keep going if we are interested and like our work. But constant fatigue is rather frightening. After many years of a job, home-making or whatever you do can become a bore and that is frightening also. So, look into how you feel; I have a friend who became bored with her job as a designer. She gave up her job and rested for a few weeks, then went looking for another job in a new section. She said sometimes, "I have no family, nothing to do to interest me." Get an interest. Quick. This is important! Try to do it. "Dear Edyth Thornton McLeod."

make new friends, even moving to a new neighborhood. The doctor said that stress from constant fatigue may create changes in the body that can eventually lead to premature aging. When one constantly talks about being exhausted they bore their friends. And, friends begin to stop calling or inviting you to places. So, like, trying, don't talk about how tired you feel, do something about it. It is quite natural, many women do become bored, they begin to think about how long they have worked or what they do to become of them when they retire. This is a natural happening and when you begin to have those thoughts, get busy and make some plans. If you have retired then get a hobby, work at it. Invite your friends to visit you. I have made a study of women who say sometimes, "I have no family, nothing to do to interest me." Get an interest. Quick. This is important! Try to do it. "Dear Edyth Thornton McLeod."

Spanish Printing Booming

MIAMI (AP) - Spanish-language magazines are a booming Miami export with 13 publications boasting over six million circulation from Mexico to Argentina. Publishers claim it's only the beginning. "Our company recognized the tremendous potential of Miami," said Guillermo Bermello, general manager of Saral Publications. "It's the location in Latin America and the area offers a vast pool of Cuban exile personnel. "We have writers, typesetters, make-up men, photographers, artists, secretaries... all bilingual, all talented." Saral prints nine periodicals with combined circulation of 4.6 million. It is the U.S. subsidiary of Editorial America, a Panama-based publisher. Other outlets - Omega Publishing Corp. and Editorial Omega - are companies born from a private corporation in Havana. Omega Publishing is controlled by the Hearst newspaper chain and publishes over 400,000 monthly copies of Bohemia, the Latin American to Good Housekeeping magazine. Editorial Omega prints some 350,000 copies of Mecanica Popular, the Spanish counterpart of Popular Mechanics with an array of self-bound books. A. D. Weiss Lithographs, in Hollywood, Fla., does the printing for Saral and the Omegas plus printing a Spanish edition of the Reader's Digest known as Selecciones. Saral Publications has increased its sales in nine years to $3 million annually and employs 70 persons, mostly Cuban exiles. Its most popular product is Vandades monthly, with 480,000 monthly circulation, but the Latin grab up 220,000 issues every month of Romance, a title that needs no translation.

It Was Tried Back In 1962

Federal guidelines knocked out a surplus food commodity program for Seminole County back about 1962, it was revealed today by former County Commission Chairman James P. Avery Jr. The Herald queried Avery after receiving reports that a contract had been signed between the federal and county governments to supply surplus foods for the needy in the county.

"Agreement was reached to inaugurate the program," Avery said, "and the County Commission leased the old railroad building platform for a warehouse." (He was referring to the old railroad building on the north side of First Street at Myrtle Avenue.)

Avery continued: "The county spent $1,300 to put up partitions and otherwise get the building in shape to handle the food program. Then some smart A-lc bureaucrat came in from Washington and laid down guidelines how 'they' would handle the program. They were going to open it up so that everyone in Seminole County would have been eligible to draw free food.

"The county tried to reason... and finally called it quits. We sublet the railroad building to Chase and Company and recovered all the money the county had spent to put it in shape."

More Than 20,000 Pupils Expected Schools Have Growing Pains

By BILL SCOTT
Seminole County schools are facing growing pains. This was the gist of Supt. John Angel's comments during this morning's weekly news conference.

Angel brought out latest attendance figures and projections for the immediate future to a total of 21 additional teachers are needed to handle the additional 500 additional students at Lyman and at reading teachers, Angel said.

Total county school attendance including kindergarten was up to 19,883 students Friday and is expected to increase to over 20,000 before reaching a peak.

Most of the growth has been in the south county area Angel said and noted that developers had planned 500 additional homes in the Howell Park area and this would mean an average of at least two additional students per home to already crowded facilities.

The superintendent disclosed that Lyman High needed seven more teachers now to take care of the 1,000 enrollment.

"We had projected a peak 1,500 students at Lyman and already we are way over this with the peak still to come," Angel explained.

"With the expected growth to continue at an ever faster clip after Disney World is opened, it is possible that within the next two or three years school enrollment could increase as much as 60 per cent in the south county area," Stewart Gatchell, assistant superintendent for instruction, commented.

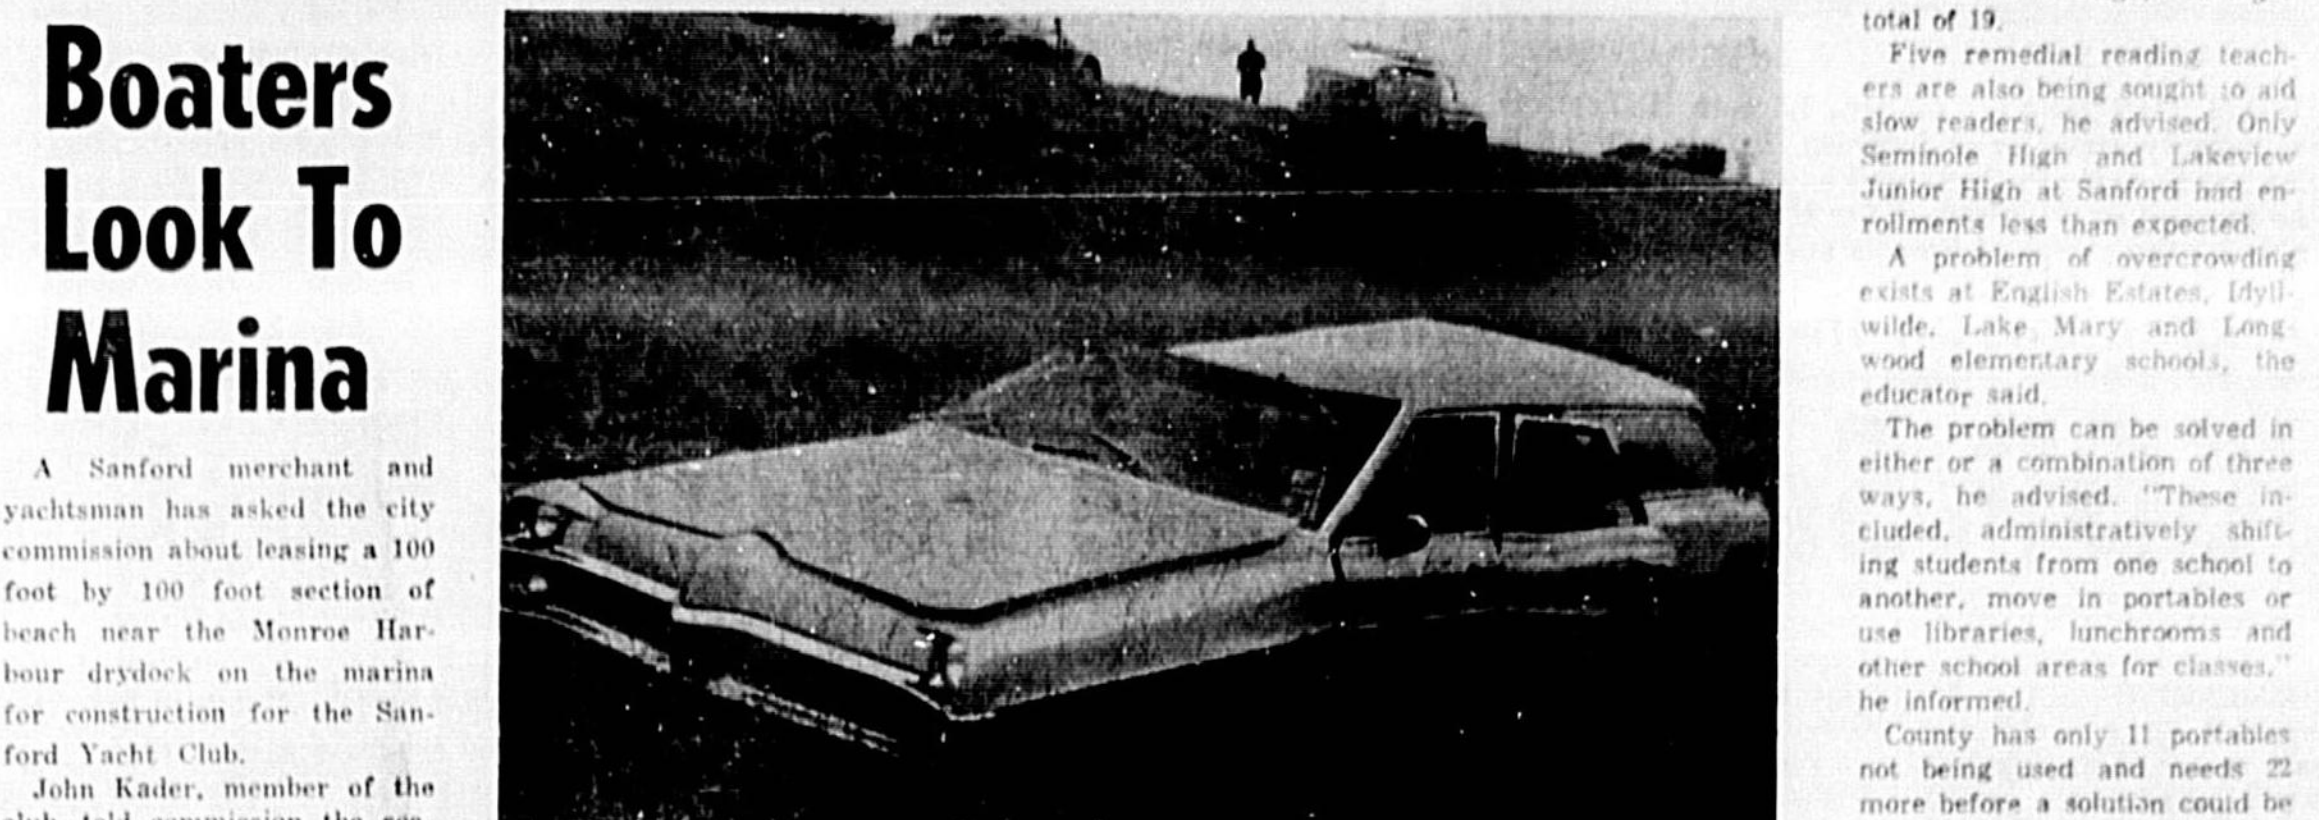

Angel disclosed six additional teachers are needed at South Seminole Junior High; four at Crows High and remainder at Sanford Junior High, making a total of 19.

Five remedial reading teachers are also being sought to aid slow readers, he advised. Only Seminole High and Lakeside Junior High at Sanford had enrollments less than expected.

A problem of overcrowding exists at English Estates, Hillside, Lake Mary and Longwood elementary schools, the educator said.

"The problem can be solved in either a combination of three ways, he advised. These included, administratively shifting students from one school to another, move in portables or use libraries, lunchrooms and other school areas for classes," he informed.

County has only 11 portables not being used and needs 22 more before a solution could be found taking this route, Angel said.

Boaters Look To Marina

A Sanford merchant and yachtsman has asked the city commission about leasing a 100 foot by 100 foot section of beach near the Monroe Harbor drydock on the marina for construction for the Sanford Yacht Club.

John Kader, member of the club, told commission the seawaterers intended to obtain a beverage license to serve members only and would ultimately hold dances at the club headquarters.

W. C. Matchison, city attorney, advised Kader to consult with the operators of House of Steak, lessees of other city-owned marina property, concerning the restrictions on anyone else holding a license or liquor privileges before deciding to construct the facility.

Hutchison said all rights to beverage sales might be contained in the marina group's contract with the city.

Kader indicated he would check with the Holiday Inn operators to determine extent of restrictions involving alcoholic beverages before proceeding with request for a 20-year property lease with city holding right to approve the type structure to be erected.

In another action the commission approved a revised Sanford Airport yearly operations budget for $187,818; with $70,000 of the amount to fund salaries at the facility.

Airport employees received pay increases in line with same percentage of increase given city workers.

'Razz-mah-tazz' Doled To Casseberry Officer

By DONNA ESTES
County Commissioners. All we get is razz-mah-tazz.

"Show me one avenue where the County Commission has cooperated with any city in this county. If asked for help by any municipality they find an excuse to say 'no'."

"We don't want one penny from them as we are entitled to. If they do not want to protect these children, the city will take it upon itself to do so," Wirtz concluded.

The councilman, in a stinging statement to the board yesterday, asked for joint participation with the county on forming some type of protection for children at bus stops on the main arteries of Casselberry, Winter Park Drive, Seminole Boulevard and Ivy Lane. "We don't want to have another Camella Jo Hand," Wirtz said.

Commission Chairman John Alexander announced Wirtz's remarks with the statement, "All of us take the position that we wouldn't want to see the death of any child."

The chairman also pointed out there are some 1,000 bus stops in the county and to provide guards at all the stops would cost an estimated $50,000 annually. "You are talking of a program with no basis in reality. I do not know anywhere in Florida where such service is provided."

Alexander noted that the county has nothing to do with school busing and the matter might more properly be brought to the attention of the School Board.

At the same time, Commissioner Greg Drummond pointed out the responsibility for seeing children safely onto school buses resides with parents and made mention of the large number of mothers throughout the county who are handling the chore.

SPOILED FOR SWIMMING

"NOT ELODEA," says County Agricultural Agent Frank Jasa, but whatever this aquatic pest is it is choking the water of Lake Concord in Casselberry and adjoining drainage canal as swimming by the slimy matted weed.

Voters Speak Out

County voters in favor of an expanded road building program, sex education in the schools and liberalized abortion laws.

These results are shown in a poll just completed by State Sen. Kenneth Plante in Seminole and Orange Counties. Questionnaires were sent to Republicans in one group and to Democrats and Republicans in a second group. Answers were similar for both groups.

Electorates returning the questionnaire said that present roads are inadequate for the traffic using them (the vote was 81 to 19 percent), while, at the same time, the survey showed 77 per cent of those polled favor spending $6 billion for a 16-year road program proposed by the State Department of Transportation.

The voters favored toll roads (64 per cent) as opposed to an increased gasoline tax (36 per cent). They turned thumbs down on an alternate mode of travel, such as monorail system.

In the matter of sex education, the voters favored 70-30 per cent - the subject as proper for public schools, if presented properly by trained teachers.

And the electors favored, by 82 per cent, the change in Florida's abortion law to permit medical people to decide if an abortion should be performed.

In other matters, the persons polled rapped the excessive legislative pay law; favored banking the use of DDT in Florida; approved a resort tax to finance recreation - tourist facilities; frowned on increased taxation in any form and were divided on the Governor's performance.
