USDA Reports Rain Improves European Crops

Recent Showers Make Outlook Brighter For Food Yields

WASHINGTON, June 30—(AP)—The Agriculture Department reported today that crop prospects have improved in Europe as a result of recent rains. But it said total output is expected to fall a little below last year's.

The department said a survey indicates that a crop output as high or higher than last year may be harvested in northern and central Europe. The outlook in western, southern and southeastern Europe, on the other hand, was said to be weak.

In much of southern and southeastern Europe, the rains came too late to repair the damage caused by the prolonged dry spell of last winter and spring.

Present indications are that European breadgrain output, excluding Russia, will be about 6 per cent below last year and more than 10 per cent below the prewar (1935-39) average.

Olives and fruit production promises to be much larger than in 1948. The first hay crop was poor in many areas. However, the recent rains benefited pastures and should increase later hay cuttings.

Coarse grain production is not expected to show little change.

Designed to interest Floridians in seeing their own state during vacations this summer, a large illustrated map is being prepared by Florida Power & Light Company.

Five-Alarm Blaze Razes Pier

A BLACK PILL OF SMOKE from a five-alarm fire blots out the blazing coal-loading pier on Staten Island, N. Y., which burned to the water's level. Coal dust explosions sent the flames racing in all directions. Seven firemen were hurt. Damage was set at $500,000. (International)

State's Steady Progress Built Solidly On Growing Population

GAINESVILLE, June 30—(Special)—Florida's steady progress since depression days has proven it "solidly built upon a rapidly growing population which utilizes the state's resources with increasing efficiency," says research economist Wyle Kilpatrick.

The state's income from 1929 to 1947 grew from $695 million to $2,671 million, representing a growth of 270 percent, while the state's population grew by 130 percent, he says.

As guest author of the latest issue of "Economic Leaflets," a monthly publication of the University of Florida's College of Business Administration, the University research economist writes of "Florida's Income Pattern."

For 45 long, bitter months in a Japanese prison camp, Col. Donald M. Spicer burned with the knowledge that he was the first Marine ever to lower a flag to a foreigner.

It was Dec. 7, 1941, that Col. Spicer, executive officer of the small Marine garrison on Guam—eight officers and 145 men—surrendered to a Japanese task force.

He did, and the flag he flew was a memorial to others who kept the faith.

The flag was handed by an American trapped on the Malay peninsula to retreating British Tommies.

Then came Singapore and the Tommies, too, were prisoners. The flag bearing the British prisoners to Japan was torpedoned en route and the trustee of the flag was killed.

But a second Tommy, floated near death, plucked the stars and stripes from the water.

Once in Japan this resolute Englishman smuggled the flag to an American naval officer then held in solitary confinement.

In short order that flag became the number one treasure and secret of all Americans.

The years were long for Col. Spicer. He dropped from 175 to 100 pounds on a "diet of dirty rice" and "a few scraps of meat."

He was beaten though the Japanese who shaved him "didn't hurt much" he was too short to reach my face. His life was threatened if his men offended the honor of Japan—and the Japanese suffered daily.

Finally came the day when the war was over. Who was to raise that flag? Unanimously, the other prisoners gave Col. Spicer the privilege of holding that emblem of freedom over the nation which had humbled his marines.

The Colonel entered the service in 1917 and saw service during World War I aboard the U.S.S. New Mexico. Thereafter he served in Haiti and Nicaragua, and out his battle boots against Bandits.

Fertile Crescent Plan Is Causing Middle East Row

Iraq, Transjordan Attempt To Revive 30 Year Old Issue

Cairo, June 30—(AP)—The "Fertile Crescent" plan again is causing explosive tensions in the troubled Middle East. In recent weeks intensive intra Arab politics has been centered on attempts by Iraq and Transjordan to revive the 30-year-old issue. It is predicted a climax may come soon.

The "Fertile Crescent" plan came into life in 1918-19 as the "great Syria" project. After the collapse of the Turkish empire the Emir Hussein, head of the princely Hashemite family, strove to become the sovereign of an Arab kingdom comprising Syria, Iraq, Transjordan, Palestine and eventually Lebanon.

These countries from the west coast of Asia Minor. They extend from Turkey and the Medy terranean to the Persian Gulf and the Arabian Sea.

Hussein died, his dream still unfulfilled. But his project remained close to the hearts of his two sons—Faisal now dead, who became king of Iraq, and Abdullah, now monarch of Transjordan.

Faisal was succeeded by his elder son, Ghazi, who died in a motor car accident in 1939. The present king, Faisal II, is a 14-year-old student at Harrow, England.

The greater Syria plan lay dormant for years. Formulated in 1946 by the Arab League, composed of seven Arab states—Egypt, Syria, Lebanon, Iraq, Transjordan, Saudi Arabia and Yemen—appeared to have foundered the project.

King Abdullah told his Arab Legion last April he still was pursuing his father's dream.

More recently the Iraq Premier, Nouri Saïd El Saïd, turned his attention to neighboring Syria. The March coup d'etat, which brought Colonel Husayn El Zaïm to power in Syria, appeared to offer an opportunity for pushing the project.

Baruch Said To Be Misinformed On U. S. Security

WASHINGTON, June 30—(AP)—The White House said today that Bernard M. Baruch was "badly informed" in his claim that the Administration is taking a "goodly" gamble with an atomic security pact.

This aide, who would not permit use of his name, took particular exception to Baruch's assertion in a speech to the Industrial and Commerce Committee Tuesday that the National Security Resources Board had been prevented from acting on a complete wartime mobilization plan.

Prior to delivery of the speech, Baruch had reported he was referring to a plan drafted by the Resources Board some months ago but later turned down by the president despite its approval by seven cabinet officers.

The White House aide said no such plan was presented to the President or approved by the Resources Board. He said the President could not have rejected any such plan since it was not presented.

Nevertheless, the aide said mobilization plans are being kept up to date constantly. He added that the fact the complete plan had been brought out or shown to Baruch does not mean there has been no planning.

In his speech, Baruch, a long-time adviser of presidents, said additional delay in bringing out an overall mobilization plan "is a needless invitation to disaster."

He said Congress and the American people "are entitled to a full report on the status of these mobilization plans" and the "responsibility for this neglect should be made clear before it is too late."

Baruch has not been seen around the White House for months. His last task as an adviser to Mr. Truman was on the United Nations atomic energy question.

Fractors Top Farm Use In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 30—(AP)—The tractor has pulled a head of the horse in Pennsylvania, the state agriculture department reported today.

For the first time "old hobnob" has failed to second place as a motive power unit. Reporting on a survey that showed 135,000 tractors and 13,000 horses, the department said 14,000 mules still give animal power a numerical lead over machines.

RED CROSS TOPS GOAL ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 30—(AP)—Royal C. Agns, national director of the Red Cross fund-raising committee, said today the Red Cross 1949 goal of $50,000,000 has been oversubscribed by $7,500,000.

AGNS held the annual convention of the National Red Cross Americans will be asked to contribute from $50,000,000 to $80,000,000 annually for the next five years. Agns said post-war relief costs continue to be high.

Frank T. Cleverley, administrator for foreign operations of the Red Cross, said during the past year $1,700,000 in supplies and equipment were made available to Red Cross societies of other countries.

LETTERS TO BE SOLD LONDON—(AP)—Letters from William Makepeace Thackeray will be sold in London by descendants of one of the novelist's intimate friends.

3 Youths Become Experts On Klan

GAFFNEY, S. C., June 30—(AP)—Three teen-aged youths who helped the Ku Klux Klan in hunting a big cross were becoming authorities today on the robed and hooded order.

The youths pleaded guilty to charges of disorderly conduct. The charge grew out of the burning of a six-foot cross in a Clinesville residential area Sunday night.

The youths, John Cash, 14, without Jennings, 17, and Billy Martin, 17, told the magistrate they burned the cross in an after-church lark because "things were so dull on our town."

Magistrate Harley L. Wooten fined each $100 but suspended 3/4 of it on condition that they write 20 page essays on the Klan.

The essays must be finished within 30 days.

CAR EXPLODES CLEVELAND, June 30—(AP)—A bomb explosion blew an automobile apart here early today, hurling pieces into the air as high as a nine-story building.

The car, a 1948 sedan, was parked across the street from the Sovereign Hotel. It was unoccupied at the time.

Although there were no reports of injuries, parts of the car were found scattered over a 500-yard block.

Police were at a loss to account for the blast. They said the car had been used by Herbert Talna, 21, and Jerome Friedman, both of Newark, who were here on business for a Newark linen supply company.

Talna and Friedman were in the Sovereign Hotel at the time of the explosion.

Rock-like fragments in or in rock-like outcroppings is also made in the process of refining petroleum.

WEYENBERG KILLED HARTLAND, Wis., June 30—(AP)—Sylvester A. Weyenberg, 21, prominent Milwaukee shoe manufacturer, was killed last night when his automobile struck a culvert near here.

Weyenberg was a director of the Weyenberg Shoe Company and vice-president of the Simplex Shoe Manufacturing Company, both of Milwaukee.

ICE PLANT BURNS SALT LAKE CITY, June 30—(AP)—More than 20 firemen were reported injured or overcome by a 10-hour fire which destroyed the Utah Ice and Storage Plant early today.

Flames still crackled in the five-story building more than ten hours after the fire was discovered.

Taft Looms As Top Strategist In U. S. Senate

Northern GOP's And South's Demos Line Up Behind Senator

By JACK BELL WASHINGTON, June 30—(AP)—Robert A. Taft, Ohio Republican, looked like the Senate's best strategist today.

At least, he had the vote in the clutch Tuesday when the Senate approved, 50 to 40, his proposal to let the government use injunctions and plant seizure to stop strikes which create a national emergency.

Taft pulled along with him 38 of the Senate's 41 other Republicans. He lost only five, since three were absent and one was paired. And 17 Democrats, most of them from the South, lined up behind his banner.

Senator Linas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, didn't have as much luck with members of his party. Only 35 of 54 Democrats were on hand to cast "no" votes. Two were absent, but paired. Only five Republicans went along with the Administration.

Each of some Senators who may not be too sure about the political effect of standing by the Taft-Hartley Act's provisions had a chance to vote against the use of injunctions to curb national emergency strikes.

Organized labor has been fighting against such injunctions late with threats to go after the politicians' scalps of those who vote for them.

The first test came on an amendment by Senator Holland (D-Ill.) to write the injunction authorization into the Administration's Taft-Hartley repealer.

Fifty Democrats and 14 Republicans joined to smother that proposal down on a 54 to 37 vote. For a few minutes there was inhibition to the Administration camp. But it didn't last long.

The Administration, the United Resources Board some months ago but later turned down by the president despite its approval by seven cabinet officers.

The White House aide said no such plan was presented to the President or approved by the Resources Board. He said the President could not have rejected any such plan since it was not presented.

Broom Still Active After 47 Years

SPENCER, W. Va.—(AP)—Americans lay proud claim to being the earth's most mechanically-minded people, but 76-year-old Lon Love says you can't prove that fact by him. Just rehired for the 47th straight year as Spencer's street foreman, Love insists he'll continue to clean the city thoroughfares with a broom, just as he always has done.

Love is non-committal about reports of recent weeks that council now has definite plans to provide him with some such mechanical device. The members of the city governing body have volunteered to donate their annual salary of $80 each toward buying street cleaning equipment. Major Eddie Farmer says he will match the sum contributed by council.

Meanwhile, Love continues to report for work each morning at 3 o'clock and stay on the job until around daylight. Police Chief Ernest Baynes, who formerly worked the night shift, says he could not see his watch by the veteran city employe's appearance. Love is considered the only living person to know the complete Spencer sewage system from memory. Many of the lines were installed years ago, and no blueprints were made of their routes.

FDR Stressed Freedom Of Religion In 1933 Negotiations With Russia

NEW YORK CITY, June 25.—(Special)—During the 1933 negotiations which led to America's recognition of the Soviet Union, Franklin Delano Roosevelt stressed Moscow's promise to maintain "freedom of religious practice" in Russia, Eleanor Roosevelt reveals in the second installment of her new memoirs, published in the July issue of McCall's Magazine, out June 29th.

Describing "the final conversations on the recognition of the Soviet Union" between the President and Maxim Litvinoff, then special Russian envoy to this country, Mrs. Roosevelt says: "My husband used to talk of one particular point in these negotiations, which dealt with the freedom of religious practice in Russia. He insisted that when any recognized religious group had more than a certain number of members it should be permitted to have a pastor, minister or priest, as the case might be, to carry on religious services and perform whatever church rites were desired. He obtained assurances that this permission would be granted, though at first there was some hesitation."

Mrs. Roosevelt's memoirs also reveal that President Roosevelt felt the Civilian Conservation Corps was of such value to the young men of the nation that it might well have become permanent. The idea of the CCC, she says, was "his own contribution to the vast scheme of relief rehabilitation planning." This section of the memoirs covers many aspects of life in the White House as it was lived by various members of the Roosevelt family, according to Otis L. Wiess, editor-in-chief and publisher of McCall's. Mrs. Roosevelt discusses her re-organization of the White House, Roosevelt's attitude to newspaper ment," Mrs. Roosevelt says, "but if Franklin and I had any of our children or personal friends at such a dinner we had to pay their pro rata share of the cost."

Louis Howe's death in 1936, Mrs. Roosevelt declares, was "a great blow" to her husband. Howe, she adds, "seemed to have a very acute sense of the need for keeping a balance in Franklin's appointments, making sure that my husband saw a cross-section of people and heard a variety of points of view."

NEW ZEALAND HERO
AUCKLAND, New Zealand.—(AP)—Sir Bernard Freyberg, New Zealand war hero, has a word of advice for the young of the world: Don't drink spirits, and don't smoke too much. Sir Bernard, who won the Victoria Cross in World War I, is now New Zealand Governor General.

"I am disturbed when I see young people drinking spirits and chain smoking," he said at a university graduation ceremony. "They are only storing up trouble for themselves."

Now I'm Going Back To High School

When I saw lights burning in the High School auditorium last night, I looked in to see what was on. About twenty people were listening to Buzz Ellis, the electrician, talk about television.

I slipped into a back seat and asked Hap Thomas what was up. Hap told me it was the new Self-Improvement Club. I stayed to listen—and learned a lot. Buzz really knows his stuff.

Turns out this club meets every Friday night. Each member gives a talk on the subject he knows most about. I joined on the spot because learning new things is one of my favorite hobbies.

From where I sit, it's willingness to learn from the other person that makes American television so many different viewpoints and tastes in things. Just because Buzz Ellis goes for chocolate malteds, while I prefer a mellow glass of beer, doesn't mean I'm right and he's wrong. Incidentally, next week I'm going to talk on how to run a newspaper.

Scientist Fears New Diseases In B-Bomb Breeding

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK—The big gun in biological war is some new way of cross-breeding disease germs. How is told by one of the world's top authorities, Dr. Theodor Rosebury, of Columbia, in a new book, "Peace or Pestilence" (Whitlessy House).

"If Biological War came," he says, "it might see diseases spread that even bacteriologists and public-health workers had never heard of. These might be newly discovered viruses or rickettsiae (the typhus diseases) of which, it is generally agreed, many remain to be found. Or they might be old germs in disguise, modified by changing their diet, by growing them in unfamiliar mediums, or by transferring them through a series of unusual animal species."

"Bacteria can be changed intricately by any of several fascinating new techniques that are now emerging. It is now possible to alter the hereditary constitution of bacteria so as to produce new types by what amounts to a marriage of different kinds, just as new varieties of dogs and wheat can be produced by crossbreeding."

"So far only varieties of the harmless colon bacillus, which have been dealt with in this way, may bring a relatively old trick moreover, whereby one kind of pneumococcus can be changed into another, has now been put on a sound chemical basis. Such increased fundamental knowledge may help Biological War as well as public health."

Dr. Rosebury worked in the United States bacterial war defense preparations. He, with Dr. Elvin A. Kabat and Martin H. Holdt, made a study of these war possibilities, which was kept secret until after the war.

"We know," he says, "that the agents of biological war can be picked out. We have found ways to make heaps of them, and we know they can be packed neatly into some sort of vague bombs and stored safely away."

"Perhaps this already has been done down Maryland way (Camp Detrick where the U. S. Chemical Warfare Service is in charge of bacterial war studies)."

"Maybe it has been done in a dozen different other countries. If it has not been done, it may be done tomorrow or the next day. We would be fools to assume otherwise, for what I have written is not secret and will not be new to those who feel the need to know it."

"BW bombs are cheap and easy weapons. To poor countries, if not to all others, they look like good substitutes for atomic bombs."

But as to how effective they may be, Dr. Rosebury says he does not know—and nobody knows. We will have no way of knowing, he adds, until they are used in war. BW is, he declares, a major weapon, and there is no adequate defense.

He warns against faith in vaccines. The diseases against which there are really good vaccines he says are smallpox, yellow fever, typhus, diphtheria, tetanus and probably botulism. The latter is a quick and deadly form of food poisoning. All the other vaccines he says are doubtful. This doubt includes typhoid fever vaccination.

He says he is uncertain about which are worse, atomic bombs or biological war. But he says the widespread reports that biological war brings quick and certain death are not true. There will be limits to what biological attacks can do.

The limits are of two kinds, one in the germs themselves, which do their deadly work only under the right conditions. The other in human beings, animals and plants, all of which have achilles heels to germ attacks. But the weak points are not always certain to be hit.

He draws this picture of a hypothetical radio broadcast of the first attack on the United States: "The epidemic started last week in St. Louis. There have been more than 4,000 deaths in St. Louis in five days, with a peak of 2,430 yesterday; but all indications are that the death toll will mount higher within the next few days. Cases of what are thought to be the same disease have been reported over an area of the Middle West from Chicago to Memphis and Kansas City to Indianapolis. In St. Louis, 47% of the population is being restricted. Quarantines are being imposed locally. You will be advised of regulations affecting your area by press and radio. Meanwhile keep calm. Do not telephone local police or health departments. Stay at home if possible. Grand Coulee on the Columbia River is the world's largest concrete dam.

Italy's Black Market Cigarettes Cost Less

AP Newsfeatures

ROME—(AP)—A little man walks in carrying a cattered suitcase. Inside are 10 cartons of American cigarettes. You pay 5,300 lire and take two.

"See you next Monday," he says. At the free rate of exchange you have paid about $9 for two cartons of cigarettes.

But you got a bargain. For in Italy, 1946, it costs you more to buy American cigarettes legally than on the black market.

Reason: the cigarette business in Italy is a state monopoly. It costs you 500 lire (about 60 cents) to buy a package of American cigarettes legally in a tobacco store. That means $6 a carton.

But you can save $1.50 a carton if you buy on the black market. The operator isn't buying anything; he is supplied by smugglers who dump loads of American cigarettes in Italy's big and little ports. Smugglers are busy and the Italian treasury.

The black-market in reverse is a thriving industry. It's a particularly good deal for the hotels. The barnen buy them at the going black rate from the operator, then turn around and sell them to the customers at more than they cost in the tobacco stores, which have long shelves and are closed nights.

HOME TOWN HONORS LEADER

UNION CITY, Okla.—(AP)—This farm community in central Oklahoma owes a lot to one man—and it doesn't forget.

The man is Dr. P. P. Richardson, who was surprised by 500 persons who joined in celebrating his 80th birthday with a basket dinner and program. Dr. Richardson has been practicing 55 years here and has been the only physician since the turn of the century.

Besides his profession, the doctor is also president of the town's only bank, the only druggist, and its former postmaster—an office now held by his wife.

Dr. Richardson also has been mayor more times than he can remember and has served as president of the Oklahoma State medical society and as a member of the Oklahoma banking commission.

COWBOY IS UP AND DOWN LAWTON, Okla.—(AP)—Cowboy Jack Howestine of Cache, Okla., is going to stick to his bucking bronchos.

He entered the self-service county court house elevator and pressed the button to the top floor where the jail is housed. Howestine quickly jammed the button to go down to two—and the elevator didn't stop until it got to the basement, where it got stuck. After some fancy yelling, bystanders gave the cowboy instructions for getting out.

FINEST CIGARETTE LABORATORY

America's largest cigarette research laboratory is your guarantee that Luckies are a finer cigarette!

YOU SEE HERE the largest and most complete laboratory of its kind operated by any cigarette manufacturer in America.

For many years Lucky Strike scientists have delved into cigarette research on an extensive scale. Out of this has grown an elaborate system of quality control. Every step in the making of Luckies—from before the tobacco is bought until the finished cigarette reaches you—comes under the laboratory's watchful eye. Literally hundreds of precision tests are conducted daily to make certain that the Lucky Strike you smoke is a finer, milder, more enjoyable cigarette. As you read this, a constant stream of tobacco . . . samples from every tobacco-growing area . . . is flowing into the laboratory in Richmond, Virginia. These samples are scientifically analyzed, and reports of their quality go to the men who buy at auction for the makers of Lucky Strike.

Armed with this confidential, scientific information—and their own sound judgment—these men go after finer, lighter, milder tobacco. This fine tobacco—along with scientifically controlled manufacturing methods—is your assurance that there is no finer cigarette in the world today than Lucky Strike!

Testing tobacco. Samples from every tobacco-growing area are analyzed before and after purchase. These extensive scientific analyses, along with the expert judgment of Lucky Strike buyers, assure you that the tobacco in Luckies is fine!

So round, so firm, so fully packed. Typical of many special devices designed to maintain high standards of cigarette quality, this mechanism helps avoid loose ends . . . makes doubly sure your Lucky is so round, so firm, so fully packed.

So free and easy on the draw. This meter draws air through the cigarette, measures the draw. Samples are tested to see if they are properly filled. Tests like this one are your guarantee that Luckies are truly free and easy on the draw.

Retired Soldier Refights Battles To Spend Time

BY HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK.—(AP)—I know an old soldier, retired one world war and three international riots ago, who spends his time refighting his campaigns and keeping the mice away from his medals.

The old boy knows his trade well and loves to work out small problems like the probable daily average hay intake of Hannibal's elephants in crossing the Alps.

I called on him the other day and found him fuming—as usual—over three big maps hung on his library walls. The maps were decorated with little flags, squares and triangles—the hieroglyphics of the military. And the old boy, wearing his old-fashioned high cavalry boots, was striding up and down before them like Napoleon the day before Waterloo.

"What's up now, Colonel?" I asked cheerfully. "Planning a motor trip to Long Island?"

The colonel gave me his customary glare and chomped in half a stray hair from his 1890 moustache.

"In the first map I have corrected the error made by Grant at the siege of Vicksburg," he snapped. "The second map shows my plan for setting New York City and."

"What do you want to take New York for, colonel—restore the five-cent subway fare?" I interrupted.

"I wouldn't take the place as a gift on a pewter platter," sniffed the colonel. "It's just a military exercise for me. I also have worked out plans to storm Moscow, Minak and Pinsk, envelop the north and south poles and outflank Addis Ababa."

"Sounds like a busy afternoon. How big a force would you need to capture New York?"

"After I threw three artillery shells into Times Square," puffed the colonel, pausing to pour himself three fingers of Bourbon, "I figure I could take it with a troop of spanned horse cavalry armed with sabers. The population already would have trampled itself to death trying to escape to New Jersey."

"Granted: Now what's the third map show—success of Von Clausewitz's campaigns?"

"Haven't I ordered you never to mention the name of that Prussian illiterate in my headquarters?" the colonel snorted. "No, the third map illustrates how we could stop the Russians at the Rhine—if we have another war—by using the atom bomb.

"But the atom bomb is a strategic weapon not a tactical one," protested. "It's for knocking out enemy cities—not enemy armies. Everybody says that."

The colonel gave me a scornful glare.

"Bonny," he said pityingly, "people at one time thought gunpowder was like a nice thing to make firecrackers with, too."

"The way to win a war with a new weapon is to use that new weapon in every way you can."

"Suppose the Soviet armies attack. Everyone figures they'd overrun Europe while our fly boys were wiping out Russian cities with atom bombs."

"But how long would it take us then to get the Russian armies out of the rest of Europe? Five years? Ten years? But why concede in advance they can overrun western Europe."

"Before they can hit for the English Channel, son, they have to cross a big wide river called the Rhine. To cross that river their army has to mass together."

"And whenever they mass, son, it's my idea we can hit 'em hard with atom bombs. I don't care whether you drop the bomb on 'em or shoot it over with a big gun."

"Either way you'll cost them about five square miles of an army. And I can't think of a better way to invest an atom bomb in wartime."

"It made sense to me."

"Colonel," I said, "I think I have been underestimating your gray hairs."

"What losses war, son," he replied, "is a head with a one-track mind, whether it's on old or young shoulders."

NON-BOAT MILKING CONWAY, Ark.

(AP)—If milking bossy gives you a back ache, Farmer H. O. Proctor figures he can save you a lot of stoops. It's just a matter of putting the sow on a higher level than the milker, says Proctor, who operates a farm near here.

Proctor used to wear himself out stooping over to milk his 20 cows each day. He thought up the idea of building a ramp around his barn high enough so that when he has to milk all he does is reach out and attach electrical squeezers. Everything is set—with no back bending.

The old method required one bend to wash of each cow's set of faucets; another to attach the electrical milking machine and a third to remove the mechanical apparatus. That's six squats per cow per day. Since Proctor milks an average of 20 cows twice a day for 10 months, that represents 36,000 stoops he now saves each year—so he figures.

PARIS.—(AP)—Charles Burrois and Louis Desoutre, arrested on burglary charges, were said to have called at expensive apartments, elegantly dressed and bearing a bouquet of flowers. If they found someone at home, they would pretend they were visiting some one else in the building and knocked at the wrong front door. If the apartment was empty, they broke in and went to work.
