

TAMPA SHORT IS RESTORED TO SERVICE

TRAINS NO. 27 AND 28 BETWEEN SANFORD AND TAMPA TO RESUME

The Sanford Short Line to Tampa will be restored on January 17th, which will be good news to the traveling public. Trains Nos. 27 and 28 will be re-established for a period of three months and the train will probably leave Sanford at eight in the morning and return to Tampa at about 11:30. This arrangement enabled people to stop over in Sanford all night and get out on the early train in the morning for all points south and west also a convenience for local people who wished to transact business in the south of Sanford before leaving and returning to Tampa in the morning. The exact date of the restoration has not been decided but it is expected to be on or about January 17th. A letter from the Sanford Short Line to Tampa, Florida, dated January 14, 1916, states that the line will be restored on January 17th. The line was closed for a period of several weeks last year because of the strike of the railroad men. The line is now being operated by the Sanford Short Line to Tampa, Florida, and it is expected that it will be restored to service on January 17th. WILL NOT TRAIN HERE

Ball Park Unsuitable and Colonels Will Not Come

The Louisville Base Ball team will not train in the south this season on account of the many changes that have been made in organized ball in the past few months. They would have trained here if the park had been large enough, but the idea of building a new park did not appeal to Sanford people nor to the Louisville Club and maybe another season we can have a new and larger park and make arrangements for the team to train here. The following letter from the manager is self explanatory: Louisville, Ky., Jan. 8th. Messrs. W. H. Thatcher and Walter S. Adams, Sanford, Fla. Gentlemen: Referring to the matter of the Louisville Base Ball Club coming to Sanford for training in March, we beg to advise that we have had our ground keeper carefully inspect the Base Ball Park at Sanford, with the result that same has been found entirely inadequate for professional ball playing. The enclosure is entirely too small and the infield is being anything like sufficient clay to permit proper playing and training. It is also doubtful in fact it would be impossible to put our ground in any or any other amount of satisfactory shape by March and the necessary preparatory work would be completed. It would have been better to get the backing of some of our field with the idea of building a new park as agreed with you. We are sorry of the lateness of taking this matter up with you, but we are sure that reports that our ground was not suitable for training would be corrected. The match games would be very small and parties in Sanford would be disappointed. It is necessary to bring our own to Sanford would be big sufferers. We deeply regret that conditions are such as to preclude our coming to Sanford as we expected. We therefore feel in duty bound to the people of Sanford that we have done the proper thing for them. Yours very respectfully, W. H. Thatcher, Manager.

Volusia County Fair Drawing Near

Each day brings the date of Volusia county's first fair nearer and each day's close sees the fair officials work that much nearer complete. Everything is in ship shape and the prospect is that Volusia county is going to have a fair second to none in the south. Exhibit entries from seven different states are already in and coming in every mail. The five main buildings on the grounds will be taxed to their capacity. Local and county exhibits are making a tower for and harmony is the slogan among all towns throughout the county. Poultry, hogs, citrus fruits and vegetables will lead in numbers, with manufactures, art, etc. a close second. Interest in every department is manifest by the way entries are coming in. The amusement end will be taken care of by the Johnny J. Jones exposition shows which is in itself a guarantee of genuine clean amusement. All in all, the fair officials have everything in hand that all they are now in for a week of sunshine.

Progress in Southeast

Columbus, Ga., Jan. 12.—The Industrial Index in its issue for this week says: "A business like realization of the great improvement in general conditions and firm faith in the coming of a great measure of prosperity have been among the valuable assets in the southeast. Even in the first two weeks of the year there is evidence that this confidence has been well founded. The southeast is not only expecting greater prosperity but it is literally pulsating with energy. The number of substantial enterprises and the magnitude of some of them are surprising even to those who have been expecting much."

SEMINOLE TO HAVE EXHIBIT AT BIG FAIR

COMMITTEE MEETS AND GETS DOWN TO THE BUSINESS OF EXHIBITS

Seminole county will have a first class exhibit at the Five County Fair in Orlando if the efforts of the fair committee are seconded by the growers of the county and others interested. Chairman S. O. Chase called the committee together yesterday and those present were C. M. Berry, I. A. Brumley and R. J. Holly. A. T. Rossetter, the other member of the committee was sick and could not attend. Mr. Berry was made secretary of the committee and will not only take an active part in getting up the exhibit but will also be on the ground at Orlando and assist in every way to make the exhibit the proudest and best that has ever been sent to the fair. It was decided to have A. V. French in charge of the exhibit at Orlando and he will assist in looking after the exhibit here and with Messrs. Berry and French on the spot the exhibit will be both coming in good shape. Aside from the magnificent vegetable display that Sanford can always have there will be live stock, hay and grain, poultry, fancy work, the exhibit of ... and ... and ... products of field and farm and ... Any one who has anything to exhibit should get it in shape right now for the fair, as there is just about thirty days in which to prepare. Information is obtainable at the Herald office, or from A. V. French and C. M. Berry or I. A. Brumley. Catalogues and premium lists on application. Let us see what Sanford has to show.

Washington, Jan. 13.—One of the most important bills introduced at the present session of congress was offered today by Senator D. U. Fletcher. He desires to have a national chamber of agriculture organized and made a permanent government department. To do this, he would have appointed first a commission of seven members, who would thoroughly organize every county in the United States, and endeavor to have those counties become members of the national chamber of agriculture. Having been organized it would work similar to the Federal Department of Agriculture. "Unless we thoroughly and systematically organize, the consumer and the producer," Senator Fletcher said, "there will always be chaos and strife between these two sets of men. There will always be misunderstanding and uncertainty. The only way to reduce the cost of living, and at the same time give the producer a fair return upon his work and labor, is to organize the producer and consumer and make them feel that there is a common bond uniting them."

Big Military Operations

Washington, Jan. 13. Today's session of the House Military Committee hearings on the military increase proposals produced a series of sharp exchanges between Chairman Hay, who has announced his opposition to the continental army plan and Assistant Secretary Breckinridge of the War Department, arguing in favor of it. Mr. Breckinridge characterized Mr. Hay's proposal for recruiting the regular army in war time by drafts from the Stat Militia as impracticable. Both the Assistant Secretary and Major General Tasker Bliss, chief of staff, another witness, today spoke in favor of a citizen army for protection of the nation against invasion. Representative Green asked why it would not be better to go directly at the task of federalizing the National Guard by direct action than to "get around" the limitation of the state troop system with the continental army proposal. "Hope deferred maketh the heart sick," replied Mr. Breckinridge. "You would project the matter so far into the future that it would be useless to consider now any military policy whatever."

Watch Party

Quite a number of our young people met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Geiger on Friday evening, Dec. 11st to watch the old year die, and to celebrate the glad New Year. The hours were pleasantly spent in music, games, guessing contests, recitations, etc.

The merry making was continued until about eleven thirty, when the guests were invited in the dining room to partake of delicious refreshments, consisting of cake, coffee, etc. When the hour had pointed to twelve all joined in a shout of welcome to the new year 1918.

Pound Party

Among the most delightful social affairs of the season was a pound party given by Misses Corinne Raulerson and Georgia Geiger, at the home of the former on the evening of Jan. 7th. A large square enclosed with long Spanish moss had been previously arranged, with seats, lights, etc., artistically decorated with vines, palms and flowers, in the centre of which a table was placed to receive the pound each guest brought.

The party was a great success and many of the guests were very much pleased with the arrangements. The party was held at the home of Miss Corinne Raulerson, at 1115 N. W. 1st St., Sanford, Fla.

ond Sunday in the month. The writer is glad to state that Rev. Bartless has been returned to this charge for another year. We all welcome him back with us and feel very much gratified to be able to have such a minister in our community.

There is a saw mill to be located in the community of Wekiwa and Ethel, which will give employment to several of our men and boys we hope. The homesteaders will have a chance to cut their timber sawed up.

Mr. Andrew Rosh is home again working on his farm, after working in Sanford for several months in the garden section. He has the leading garden of Wekiwa.

Mr. Henry Deas had the misfortune to have three toes cut off his left foot several weeks ago. He was taken to Sanford under the care of Dr. Denton, but with the Doctor's careful and skillful attention he was able to save all but one toe which had to be taken off. Henry is now at the home of Mr. Will Lee doing his job.

Mrs. A. O. Powell is able to be out again after ten days' sickness at her home in Wekiwa.

There has been a brick due put in the school house at Ethel last night. The children can now have fire on cool, chilly days.

Mrs. Will Lee gave the children quite an agreeable surprise at the school yesterday when she went in about noon with a well packed and full basket of warm dinner for them all to partake of. Such little acts of kindness are never forgotten and especially by the children. Many thanks to Mrs. Lee for her thoughtfulness of the dear little children.

The school children are very much enthused over making something to take to the fair, which I believe will be a success.

I am sorry to say the roof was damaged on our waiting room at Wekiwa some time past, which makes it necessary to have the same repaired to wait for the train in a rainy season.

STOMACH TROUBLE FOR FIVE YEARS

Majority of Friends Thought Mr. Hughes Would Die, But One Helped Him to Recovery.

Pomeroyton, Ky.—In interesting advices from this place, Mr. A. J. Hughes writes as follows: "I was down with stomach trouble for five (5) years, and would have sick headache so bad, at times, that I thought surely I would die. I tried different treatments, but they did not seem to do me any good."

I got so bad, I could not eat or sleep, and all my friends, except one, thought I would die. He advised me to try Theford's Black-Draught and quit taking other medicines. I decided to take his advice, although I did not have any confidence in it.

I have now been taking Black-Draught for three months, and it has cured me--haven't had those awful sick headaches since I began using it.

I am so thankful for what Black-Draught has done for me. Theford's Black-Draught has been found a very valuable medicine for derangements of the stomach and liver. It is composed of pure, vegetable herbs, contains no dangerous ingredients, and acts gently, yet surely. It can be freely used by young and old, and should be kept in every family chest.

We are glad to report that the Sanford ladies are taking a great interest in the automobile parade that will take place in Orlando during the big fair.

Bob Holly, editor of the Sanford Herald has a bright son named Reginald. Reginald is a pretty name but "Bill" or "Buck" sounds better for a "journalist's son."

Not guilty His aunt named him and she lives in Tampa. In fact we believe she reads the Times, sometimes the editorials.

Congressman Stephen Sparkman has announced that he will be a candidate to succeed himself in the First district and this means that he will be re-elected.

Editor Bob Holly's son, Reginald of Sanford has been appointed a page in the House of Representatives at Washington.

A rose under any other name would be just as sweet and the Sanford Y. M. C. A. order of the parade.

Wilson's paper, the Sanford Herald, is always good, as bigger and better than ever and nothing is done of type in the last.

The Herald goes on record from this time on as one paper to the state that will not mention any candidate unless they take a space in this paper.

Mr. Kato Thompson was entertained Wednesday at Mrs. Bertel's, whose daughters, Mrs. Borell, Mrs. Magnusson and Mrs. Erison were accompanied to meet her.

Rev. Morley and daughter, Miss Boring, expect to visit as many as possible in this community today.

Mr. Ballinger will assist them in getting around and later all will gather at the church for service.

We know that there has been a good deal of gripe about, which has kept us at home when we do not attend these splendid services, especially the Thursday evening, for there we have the help of two good ministers, Rev. Morley, who is a man of ripe experience and long years of training, and Bro. Erison, who is well known and respected by all and both earnestly desiring to help us.

Prayer meeting is held at 7:00 on Thursday and Sunday school at 2:30.

We were pleased to see more of the little ones out at Sunday school Sunday, and the superintendent, Mrs. Thompson formed a Junior class by dividing Mrs. Borell's and Mrs. Ballinger's classes, which we all think will be an improvement.

WOMAN'S CLUB

Civic Committee
An enthusiastic meeting of the civic committee of the Welfare Department was held at the home of Mrs. W. W. Abernathy, Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. C. H. Dinger, chairman of civics, presiding. Present were Mrs. Abernathy, Mrs. Frank Woodruff, Mrs. A. E. Hill, Mrs. T. L. O'Connor and Mrs. R. A. Terhune. Plans for the Ninth street park, which will be the objective work of this committee for 1916 were discussed and the plans given this committee by the City Beautiful committee, when this body disbanded were adopted. A vote of thanks was extended the ladies who had composed the City Beautiful committee for these plans and their generous donation of $28.00 for civic work. A donation of $15.00 was made by the now defunct A. E. A. Association, the amount still in bank when that organization disbanded for the purpose of buying palms for the park. The civic committee was very grateful for the generous donations from these two bodies. The treasurer reported a total of $104.00 cash on hand. Ten dollars of this was voted to the Welfare Department to be used at the discretion of the department. The committee as a whole, placed themselves on record as objecting to the ugly ice cards that are posted in many front windows and disfigure the homes and beauty of grounds surrounding them.

The regular meeting of the Music Department of the Woman's Club will be held in the club house Tuesday, Jan. 18th at 3 p. m. A program of modern German music will be given, Mrs. W. Gwynn Fox in charge. The public will be admitted for the small fee of ten cents. All club members are urged to attend, as this money is to be applied on the piano fund.

Cold Wave Predicted
For several days the people here have been waiting and watching for the predicted cold wave that is sweeping the entire country but it looks today as though it might pass Florida by. Up to the time of going to press there have been no reports of alarming nature but the rain and a shift of the wind would bring frost in its wake, although it seems now that nothing more serious would happen.

All records for drops in temperature were recorded at Little Rock, Ark., the mercury falling from 40 degrees yesterday afternoon to 12 degrees this morning, the greatest on record for any place. The following table gives an idea of the cold wave that is sweeping the country.

Temperature Temperature
Jan. 13, 1918, 11 a.m. and 11 p.m.

Galveston	65	55
Corpus Christi	55	36
Shreveport	38	16
Birmingham	34	12

General warnings were sent out over the state from Jacksonville last night. The following cold wave warning was received at the local weather bureau from Washington last night: "Cold wave warning now advanced for northern Florida. Further advancement of severe cold depends on movement of high pressure area now over Atlanta, Ga. There is good prospect of frost over central Florida and possibly as far south as Miami Friday or Saturday."

Morning Bridge

Among the many charming social functions being given in honor of Mrs. Chas. Bell of Atlanta, there has been nothing prettier than the attractive morning bridge party with which she was complimented by Mrs. B. W. Herndon on Wednesday, at her beautiful home on Park avenue. The rooms were very lovely with a profusion of gorgeous poinsettias, their brilliant beauty displayed with charming effect against the background of ferns. Graceful palms completed the effective color scheme of green and red. Four tables of bridge were played, Mrs. C. O. McLaughlin making top score, winning the handsome prize, an embroidered sofa pillow. To the guest of honor was presented an exquisite flower basket filled with double pink hibiscus and ferns and tied with a big bow of pink ribbon. A delicious salad course was served at the refreshment hour. Besides the guest of honor, enjoying the gracious hospitality of their hostess were Mesdames C. O. McLaughlin, Geo. D. Bishop, D. L. The game on Monday was won by Miss Laura Fish to whom was presented a lovely little work basket. Moonlight Surprise Party

One of the most enjoyable affairs of the week was the delightful party with which a jolly crowd of Sanford society folks surprised Mr. Frank Brown of Paola last evening. The pleasure seekers left the city at five o'clock, going out in autos, carrying with them a tempting picnic lunch that was served on the banks of the lake. Fun and frolic ran rife and a happy good time enjoyed until a late hour, the Sanford folks returning by moonlight. It was a happy surprise for Mr. Brown who confidentially remarked that it would be nice to repeat the surprise real soon and quite often. Enjoying the delightfully informal affair were Dr. and Mrs. Puleston, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Thrasher, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Watson.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Newman, Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Herndon, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. DeCotter, Mrs. Chas. Bell, Miss Laura Fish, Miss Charlotte Hand and Messrs. Arthur Yowell, Ernest Galloway and S. M. Lloyd.

Chappell for Assessor
To the Voters of Seminole County.
In the December 31st issue of the Sanford Herald I announced my candidacy for the office of Supt. of public instructions. The encouragement received from my voting friends has been very gratifying to me, but since it became known that I would accept a public office it has been suggested that, owing to special fitness for the place I could give very valuable service to the county in the capacity of tax assessor.

Theatre Party
Miss Agnes Bothamly was the charming young hostess at a theatre party at the Star on Wednesday evening. After the play the young folks repaired to the home of Miss Bothamly where dainty refreshments were served. Enjoying the play and the gracious hospitality were Misses Ruth M. Daniel, Elizabeth Stafford, Maud Ensminger, Laurie Reta Munson, Dorothy Rumph, May Thrasher, Frances Chappell, Virginia Brady, Fern Ward, Frances Gonzales, Earl Proctor, Alfred Robinson, Harold Washburn, Reginald Holt, G. W. Spencer, Howard Williams, Hume Rumph, Oscar Farwell, Richard Bunch, Louis Higgins and Rush Murphy.

After due and careful consideration, I have decided to become a candidate for that office and earnestly solicit your support. I will explain to you fully my qualifications as opportunity presents.
While no doubt causing disappointment to some of my friends, my withdrawal as a candidate for the superintendency of schools is made easier because there will be men in that race whom I can conscientiously support.
Very truly yours,
A. R. Chappell

Mary Pickford in Latest Screen Triumph, "The Foundling," at the Star Theatre

Quite inexhaustible in appeal, the peculiar artistic faculty of Mary Pickford, the world's foremost motion picture star, for creating transcendent screen triumphs. In rapid and uninterrupted succession, this unsurpassable star of the Famous Players Film Company has provided a series of individually distinctive and collectively astonishing film successes. Following her triumphant appearances in "Madame Butterfly," this great star is now presented in another sterling characterization, as "The Foundling," the latest famous Players production now on the Paramount Program at the Star Theatre, Jan. 14th.

Presenting a story of beautiful sentiments and tender appeal to the finer senses, "The Foundling" epitomizes in a strongly dramatic manner the sufferings of a girl cast out into the world by the hatred of her father, because her birth has caused the death of the wife he had loved and worshipped.

The father goes to Italy to forget the death of his wife, committing Molly O to a boarding school, where she is subjected to all sorts of indignities and personal hardships. She is finally given to a boarding house keeper who makes a drudge of her and ill treats her in every conceivable manner. When the penitent father returns to look for his child, another is substituted for Molly O and the poor child continues to live in misery until her own kind efforts accidentally bring her in touch with her father.

slavery in the home of the cruel woman who takes her from the orphanage, as the servant in the boarding school, and as the father's dream and love, and is finally returned to her father and restored to the normal position rightfully hers. Miss Pickford is consistently charming and artistically effective. "Little Mary" at her best in her most captivating mood, in her most triumphant ability and her most compelling power can be found in "The Foundling."

"The Tangles of Men"

Constance Collier, the noted London star, in Oliver Morosco's filmization of "The Tangles of Men," released on the Paramount Program is a forthcoming attraction at the Star Theatre, Monday, Jan. 17th. The duel of wits between the aristocratic, high church rector of St. Martines in the Lane and the emotional grand opera singer whose performance in a sensational opera the rector denounces from the pulpit is a shower of flying sparks. The sentimental development with which the duel ends up makes one fairly catch one's breath by its very daring. Constance Collier, a strikingly beautiful woman appears to fine advantage especially in the stage scenes in the grand opera house, which were taken in one of the largest Pacific coast theaters, by the way. Forrest Stanley, one of the handsomest leading men on the stage, gives a performance as the young rector which makes his recent alliance with motion pictures all the greater a blessing. "The Tongues of Men" is another Oliver Morosco production. Adults 15c, Children 5c

Barbara Freitchie

"Little Mary" Miss Minter, whose winsomeness and distinctive dramatic talents have won her nationwide fame on the speaking stage as well as on the screen, did whose delightful work in "Emmy of Stock's Nest" fascinated Metro audiences will again make her low on the screen at the Star Theatre on Tuesday, Jan. 18th, in "Barbara Freitchie," a five part feature produced by the Popular Plays and Playlets for release on the Metro program. Miss Minter is only thirteen years old, but more than five years ago she scored a remarkable success as the star in "The Littlest Rebel," a play that had a run of three successful seasons. William and Dustin Diamond appeared in the supporting cast of this production.

"Barbara Freitchie" is a picturization of Whittier's famous poem of the same name and the play by Clyde Fitch. The story is a gripping one, teeming with stirring situations and historical romance. Miss Minter is surrounded by a cast of unusual players, including Mrs. Thom W. Whiffen, the veteran actress, who makes her debut on the screen, Guy Coombs, Anne Nilsson, William A. Morse, Wallace Scott and Franke Fraunholtz. Adults 15c, Children 5c

Many Races of Man are Seen in "The Man Trail"

An exceptionally large variety of types and races of man makes up the 1,000 persons who appear in the various scenes of Essanay's six-act feature, "The Man Trail," the photoplay adapted from the recently published novel of Henry Oyen. The hobo and college man; Indians, Chinese, Ethiopians and Caucasians all are represented.

The story is a vivid and dramatic more than a dozen nationalities. One of the Indians, White Wing, is a full-blooded Washington and comes from the reservation in Washington. He spent five years at Carleton University. He has a splendid physique, standing six feet four inches tall. Several Chinamen are employed in running the gambling halls of the logging camp. "The Man Trail" comes to the Star Theatre on Thursday, Jan. 20. Richard C. Travels and June Keith appear in the leads.

The Big Show Fun

"Everything New Every Season" like "Your Money's Worth or Your Money Back" has become a watchword with Joe Coburn's Big Minstrels and each season's return of this splendid attraction has demonstrated it is no idle press item in the advance notices. Clean comedy, splendid singing, and the latest and best in minstrelsy has also been forced into prominence with the amusement public by this jovial hustling fun purveyor, until we do not question its authenticity and have learned to expect and depend on one of the season's most enjoyable events. Music, mirth and melody, fun, comedy and novelty follow continuously throughout the big show, without a lull or objectionable feature. From the "toot" to the box seats Joe Coburn's patrons receive their money's worth. We are always glad to announce the coming of this company, don't forget the date, Wednesday, January 15th at the Star Theatre. Mr. Coburn has always been anxious to play in the Star Theatre, but on account of its convenient

The Romance of Elaine

SEQUEL TO THE EXPLOITS OF ELAINE
A Detective Novel and a Motion Picture Drama

away with our dangerous prize, Elaine now and then advising me. Finally I turned the engine over. For a wonder it ran smoothly.

"What's the matter now?" exclaimed Elaine, turning quickly and looking up the road along which we had just come.

There, lurching along at full speed was a car. Two men were actually fighting on the front of it, regardless of speed and safety.

On rushed the car, directly at us. Just as it passed us, the chauffeur seemed to summon all his strength. He struck a powerful blow at the man, recoiled and straightened out his car just in time. The man fell, literally at our feet.

It was Del Mar himself!

"Why, what's all this about?" I asked eagerly.

Before I could raise him up Del Mar had regained his feet.

"Just a plain crook, who attacked me," he muttered, brushing off his clothes to cover up the quick recognition of what it was that I was holding in my hand, for he had seen the plan immediately.

"Can't we drive you back?" asked Elaine.

He climbed up and sat on the floor of the roadster his feet outside, and we drove off. At last we pulled up at the Dodge hall again.

"Won't you come in?" asked Elaine as we got out.

"Thank you, I believe I will for a few minutes," consented Del Mar, concealing his real eagerness to follow me. "I'm all shaken up."

As we entered the living room I was thinking about the map. I opened a table drawer, hastily took the plan from my pocket and locked it in the drawer. Elaine, meanwhile, was standing with Del Mar, who was talking, but in reality watching me closely.

Down the road past where we had turned, before a pretty little shingle house, the taxicab chauffeur stopped. One of the bullets had taken effect on him, and his shoulder was bleeding. But the worst, as he seemed to think it, was that another shot had given him a flat tire.

He jumped out and looked up the road whence he had come. No one was following him. Still, he was worried. He went around to look at the tire. But he was too weak now from loss of blood. It had been nerve and reserve force that had carried him through. Now that the strain was off, he felt the reaction to the full.

Just then the doctor and his driver, whom the valet had already summoned to Del Mar's car, came speeding down the road. The doctor saw the chauffeur fall in a half faint, stopped his car and ran to him. The chauffeur had kept up as long as he could. He had now sunk down beside his machine in the road.

A moment later they picked him up and carried him into the house. There was no acting about his hurt now. In the house they laid the man down on a couch and the doctor made a hasty examination.

"How is he?" asked one of the kind Samaritans.

The wound is not dangerous," replied the physician, "but he's lost a lot of blood. He cannot be moved for some time yet."

We talked about nothing else at Dodge Hall after dressing for dinner but the strange events over at Del Mar's, and what had followed. The more I thought about it, the more it seemed to me that we would never be left over night in peaceful possession of the plan which both Elaine and I decided ought on the following day to be sent to Washington.

Accordingly I cudgeled my brain for some method of protecting both ourselves and it. The only thing I could think of was a scheme once adopted by Kennedy in another case.

I had a small quick-shutter camera that had belonged to Craig, and just as we were about to retire, I brought it into the living room with a package I had sent up from the village.

As soop as Elaine had gone to bed and I was alone, I opened the package. There were the tools that I had ordered, a coil of wire and some dry cells. Then I went to the table, unlocked the drawer and put the plan in my pocket.

Although I was no expert at wiring, I started to make the connections under the table with the drawer, not a very difficult thing to do as long as it was to be only temporary and for the night. From the table I ran the wires along the edge of the carpet until I came to the bookcase. There, masked by the books, I placed the little quick-shutter camera, and at a distance also concealed the flashlight pan.

Next I aimed the camera carefully and focused it on a point above the drawer in the writing table where anyone would be likely to stand if he attempted to open it. Then I connected the shutter of the camera and a little spark coil in the flash pan with the wires using an apparatus to work the shutter such as I recalled having seen Craig use. Finally I covered the sparking device with the flashlight powder, gave a last look around, and snapped off the light.

Up in my bedroom, I must say I felt like some detective and I could not help slipping myself on the chest for the ingenuity with which I had duplicated Craig.

In his bungalow now that Smith had gone back again to New York and Washington, Del Mar was preparing to keep the important engagement he had told us about another of his nefarious nocturnal expeditions.

He drew a cap on his head well over his ears and forehead. His eyes and face he concealed as well as he could with a mask to be put on later. To his equipment he added a gun. Then with a last word or two to his valet he went out.

By back ways so that even in the would not be recognized, he made his way to Dodge Hall. As he saw the house looming up in the moonlight he put on his mask and approached cautiously. Gaining the house, he opened a window noiselessly, turning the catch as deftly as a housebreaker, and climbed into the living room.

A moment he looked around, then tiptoed over to the table. He looked at it to be sure that it was the right one and the right drawer. Then he bent down to force the drawer open.

"Pouf!" a blinding flash came and a little metallic click of the shutter, followed by a cloud of smoke.

As quickly as it happened there went through Del Mar's head the explanation. It was a concealed camera. He sprang back, clapping his hands over his face. Out of range for a moment, he stood gazing about the room, trying to locate the thing.

Suddenly, he heard footsteps. He dived through the window that he had opened, just as someone ran in and switched on the lights.

Half asleep I heard a muffled explosion, as if of a flashlight. I started up and listened. Surely someone was moving about downstairs. I pulled my gun from my pocket and ran out of the room. Down the steps I flung myself, two at a time.

In the living room I switched on the lights in time to see someone disappear through an open window. I ran to the window and looked out. There was a man, half doubled up, running around the side of the house and into a clump of bushes, then apparently lost. I shot out of the window and called.

I was not the only one who heard the noise. The shots quickly awakened Elaine, and she leaped out of bed and put on her kimono. Then she lighted the lights and came downstairs.

The intruder had disappeared by this time and I had got up and was peering out of the window as she came breathlessly into the living room.

"What's the matter, Walter?" she asked.

"Someone broke into the house after those plans," I replied. "He escaped, but I got his picture, I think, by this device of Kennedy's. Let's go into a dark room and develop it."

There was no use trying to follow the man further. To Elaine's inquiry of what I meant, I replied by merely going over to the spot where I had hidden the camera and disconnecting it.

We went upstairs where I had rigged up an improvised dark room.

cular ring. Once seen, I think it was not readily forgotten.

"The ring!" she repeated excitedly. "Don't you remember that ring? I saw it on Mr. Del Mar's hand—at his house—this afternoon!"

I could only stare.

At last we had a real clue!

In his bungalow, Del Mar at that moment threw down his hat and tore off his mask furiously.

"What had he done?"

For a long time he sat there, his chin on his hands, musing, before him planning to protect himself and for revenge.

No Frost to Damage Crops In the Semi-Tropical Belt

There is a stretch of land in South Florida, hemmed in by Caloosahatchee, San Carlos and Estero Bays, which is immune from damaging frosts and where farmers have been growing tender vegetables through the winter months for many years.

These farmers state that from $100 to $450 an acre is a conservative estimate of cash returns after paying commissions and express charges, and in a few special cases as much as $1500 an acre has been realized.

This Fertile Lee County Land is Now Open to New Settlers

The Peninsular Realty Company now owns and offers for sale farms directly south of Fort Myers which are within the protected zone, made so by the warm air currents from the Gulf of Mexico which sweep in twice every twenty-four hours.

This land is the very best available in all Florida for winter vegetables, citrus and tropical fruits. The farm tracts are located on or adjacent to hard surfaced roads.

for my amateur photographic work some days before. Elaine watched me closely. At last I found that I had developed something. As I drew the film through the hypo tray and picked it up I held it to the red light.

Elaine leaned over and looked at the film with me. There was a picture of a masked man, his cap down in a startled attitude, his hands clapped to his face, completely hiding what the mask did not hide.

"Well, I'll be blown!" I cried in surprise at the outcome of what I thought had been my cleverest coup.

A little exclamation of astonishment escaped Elaine. I turned to her. "What is it?" I asked.

"The ring!" she cried.

I looked more closely. On the tip of the finger of the left hand, was a pe-
