Radicals' Attorneys Petition Fuller For Another Death Delay

Avenues Of De- fense Closed Unless Governor Allows An- other Stay To Red's Attorney Stone Refuses A Stay

BOSTON, Aug. 22.—(INS)—The question of life or death for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti was put square-ly to Governor Alvin T. Fuller today—a bare hours before the condem-nation of the two men ap-peared at the state house in formal session. Fuller refused to grant another respite on the ground that the case is now in litigation in the supreme court of the state. This action by the governor followed swiftly on the heels of formal docketing of the case in that court this morning. The application for a writ of certiorari from the nation's highest tri-bunal.

WASHINGTON, Mo., Aug. 22 (INS)—Associate Justice Har-ry Stone, of the United States supreme court, today refused to grant a stay of execution for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti. Mr. Stone, today refused to grant a stay of execution for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti. Mr. Stone, today refused to grant a stay of execution for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti.

Jones And Von Elm Begin Battle Today For The Amateur Golf Title

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., Aug. 22 (INS)—Golfers to the number of 174, the absolute flower of a fan of American fairways, will begin firing steadily and with mon- otous persistence at old Pete sev- ering par this morning. The best in the land, they represent the last word in accuracy, distance and fighting stomach. But the field was a joke compared with Bobby Jones and George von Elm, cham- pions past and present, respective- ly. If neither wins, the story will make history.

CELERYMEN AND COLTS MEET IN SCORELESS GAME

Withrow And Minor Formby Engage In Pretty Pitching Duel With Former Having Edge; Frisbie Gets Two Hits

Darkness ended a pretty pitching battle Friday afternoon when Sanford and Orlando played nine innings of scoreless baseball at Times Field, Lee Withrow serving for the Celerymen and Minor Formby doing the chunking for the Colts.

Withrow held the hard-hitting Colts to six measly hits and failed to issue a single free pass to first base. Formby gave up five hits, but walked five men and hit two others. Air tight fielding behind him saved him on several occasions. Both teams played errorless ball.

There was only one extra base hit a double by Johnson, Orlando centerfielder. For Sanford the hitting was done by Dunbar, Allen, Withrow and Frisbie with the latter getting two singles.

Abrams, Johnson and Kirby did the hitting for the Colts, each collecting two hits.

Lefty Meyers was scheduled to work this afternoon when the two teams meet at the Municipal Field.

Nine Warships Of United States Are Scrapped Recently

OAKLAND, Cal., Aug. 19. (INS)—The steel sides of nine famous American warships have graced their last nights in shipyards flanking the Oakland estuary.

The Connecticut, Brooklyn, Boston, Alert, Nauchan, Vermont, Nebraska, Montana, and Philadelphia have all been dismantled for junk in the Eastbay yards.

The Connecticut led the American navy round the world cruise in 1908 as the flagship of "Fighting Bob" Evans. Another flagship, the Brooklyn, carried Admiral Wilfield Scott Shipley in the Spanish-American war. The Vermont was the only ship of the fleet which was wrecked and the war for Cuban independence decided.

The Boston was the only ship struck in the battle of Manila bay. A decrepit hulk she still serves her country as a training ship at Goat Island. The Vermont, Nebraska and Montana were all sacrificed to the first three power naval treaties. The Philadelphia was a recent arrival. She was flagship of the American fleet that took possession of the territory of Hawaii.

All the vessels have been broken up. The Detroit which defied the whole Brazilian navy in clearing a passage for blockade American boats is now a plain banana transport.

RAY SCHALK HAS DIFFICULTIES IN RUNNING THE SOX

Diminutive Pilot Of Chicago American League Team Has Same Trouble As Ex-Leaders Owned Meddles With Team

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—According to varied accounts gifting in from the middle west, Ray Schalk is not getting the best break in the world as manager of the Chicago White Sox. Of course the managers of the Chicago White Sox have taken it on the jaw as time goes on and Ray is no different from anybody else, except that he has quite a jewel.

Anyhow Schalk is supposed to have been given the same run-around this year that was tendered to Eddie Collins and others in previous years.

The story is that the players are constantly sniped upon when the team is on the road, which is all right as long as the manager knows about it, which Schalk doesn't. He hasn't had anybody spied upon. Apparently the owner of the club didn't think it necessary to apprise his manager of what was going on, and in consequence, there was a little stranger in the ranks and Schalk was as much at a loss to know for him as was anybody on the club.

Only several days ago Johnny Mostil appeared for his first practice since the attempted strange designs on his jugular vein. His appearance was as much a surprise to Schalk as it was to the general public. The owner of the club, Charles A. Comiskey, apparently thought it wasn't necessary to notify his manager that the player was ready to go on.

What Comiskey apparently is doing to Schalk is only what he did to Eddie Collins, Johnny Evers and other men who handled the club.

It seems that a certain type of club owner must do the basing and that the same type must have a manager for some reason. Hitherto, unexplained. Sometimes they take a man like Schalk. Sometimes the selection does not meet with popular favor and the public naturally concludes that the man is going to go wrong. It never figures that way in the case of Schalk.

Only an internal upheaval could discharge a man of this type, yet public opinion is such that mere results can be taken at face value and a team like the White Sox can rid itself of a manager like Schalk without the slightest commotion.

But if Schalk goes you can figure that the owner-manager is supreme in this case—that for such a reason, this owner prefers to play his own players and decide how they will play. Collins couldn't get by under these conditions. Schalk did for comparatively few weeks.

A few days ago, certain players were announced as having been purchased by the White Sox for next season. At that time, Schalk said he had no knowledge of these purchases. It seems to me that this is an illuminating example of how little Roy Schalk knows about the management of the Chicago White Sox.

The Host And Hostess Of Kansas' Concrete Eden

Adam, Eve—And Two Snakes

for years, but he is preparing for any eventualities, and so, near the cabin, is a mausoleum for the Dinsmoor bones.

Inside the tomb is a coffin with a glass lid, so that future generations may see the genius who figured out just what Moses was talking about when he wrote his book.

Outside the tomb is a cement angel. This has been provided to carry Dinsmoor upward when the end of the world occurs, if it is God's will that he go to heaven. He also has placed a large jug near the foot of the coffin. If he must go below on the day of judgment, he plans to fill the jug with water.

Another feature, not present in the original Garden, has been added by Dinsmoor. This is a story in cement of the eternal struggle that goes on in life, of the preying of one creature upon another.

It begins with a worm in the act of eating a leaf. A hungry bird is about to make a breakfast of the worm. A fox is ready to pounce on the bird. A wolf is stalking the fox. An Indian stands with his bow and arrow ready to shoot the wolf, while a soldier has his gun aimed at the Indian.

And back of the soldier is a woman, who is after him.

Party Lines In Senate

Although theoretically, Dawes will have to use his privilege of breaking the votes in the Senate almost every day, on account of the precarious political lineup in that body which may result if Smith and Vare are barred, actually he will seldom be required to cast a deciding vote. So many Democrats vote so often with the Republicans that hardly anything is ever decided on strict party lines any more.

The Dinsmoor's have a lovely little two-year old daughter, Emily Jane, who has never known a day of sickness and has never taken a dose of medicine—because, you see, she lives in the Garden of Eden, where there is no sickness, Adam and Eve are Emily Jane's playmates.

In fact, says Eden's contractor and builder, "My wife is no younger than I am, for we live in the Garden of Eden where youth is perpetual."

Dinsmoor originally set out to follow the account of Moses (Patriot follow exactly the account of Moses, but as the work went along, he realized that the great pithead may have omitted a few things).

Re-creator Dinsmoor has put them in.

There are for instance, two serpents instead of one. The second snake is to tempt Adam.

Also you may meet in the Bigger and Better Eden of Kansas Moses forgot to mention.

Likewise, there are concrete snakes—yes, that's right.

Just to show that Eden in Kansas has kept up with the times, even through all the ages, it is lighted by electricity at night.

Red and green lights play upon the concrete devil, who is pointing a wicked looking three-pronged fork at an innocent concrete cherubim.

Over in one corner of the garden, Dinsmoor has built for himself a cabin home entirely of cement. Dinsmoor doesn't expect to die

News Associations Debate Rights In Dissemination Of Governmental Information

GENEVA, Aug. 18.—Preparations are being made here by the European and Asiatic governmental news agencies, and their Associated Press, to defend their long-time rights of Governmental preference in the matter of news and new dissemination, in the Conference of Press Experts which meets here on Wednesday under the auspices of the League of Nations.

The conference will be called upon to act upon a resolution which provides for "equal treatment of all telegraphic news agencies, whether official or independent" in matters of transmission of news, priority of transmission of news, dispatches, telegraph and cable tolls and in the "treatment by the censor" of news dispatches.

The official agencies, represented by Reuters of Great Britain, Havas of France, Stefani of Italy, and the allied American organization, The Associated Press, have given tentative approval to a resolution of such a sort, but it is understood that there is now a movement among these agencies to maintain the rights of preference which they have held for so long, and to insist that they shall continue to receive preference from the Governments whose official viewpoints they expound.

Independent news agencies, such as the International News Service, which gather and disseminate news independently of Government viewpoints or Government favor, are prepared to urge that the Conference go on record as favoring equality in treatment for all news agencies.

Under present conditions the official agencies are often times given exclusive statements of Governmental policy and are given priority in transmission. Even though an independent agency gathering its own news was able to beat the official agency with a presentation of the Governmental policy it might find its dispatches held up in transmission, to permit the official agency dispatches to have precedence in the dissemination of news.

Discriminated Against

Often times, it is pointed out by the representatives of the independent agencies, when a crisis arises in a European country only the official agency is permitted to send out dispatches concerning the crisis. These official dispatches are disseminated to the Allied agencies officials recognized and news of the crisis reaches only those who are subscribers to the services of the official agencies, and only such news reaches the outside world as the Government in

All Kinds Of People

Our deepest sympathy goes out to those unfortunate aviators and the plucky girl who, if they are still alive, are today floating on small rubber rafts over mid-Pacific swells

We are unable to join with some in condemning the girl as a publicity seeker, or the aviator who allowed her to go with him or the promoter of the race who offered the thirty-five thousand dollars in prizes

And yet we are unable to cease wondering why do they do it. What is it that induces a pretty, healthy young Michigan school teacher to leave the comforts of her home

With most of us, the great ninety-nine percent of the human population, we are content to sit down and let someone else take the risks

But with most of us, it is the old saying, "Let George do it." Most of us may think something ought to be done, but we lack sufficient energy to bestir our own selves

And if they are successful as Lindbergh, we hail them as heroes. If they fail, as Miss Doran and her fellow fliers, we hail them as money grabbers and publicity seekers

The Advantage Of Co-Operative Buying

We have heard a great deal about the value of co-operative marketing, and here in our own celery district we have seen its success demonstrated, although perhaps not to the extent that it has been worked in some other sections of this country

Hand in hand with co-operative selling should go co-operative buying, says Advertising and Selling, a New York trade journal

IN THE LONG run religion wins. When Kemal Pasha took charge of Turkey, he took the veil from women's faces, the fez from men's heads, and power from the Caliph

Several of the horticultural marketing associations buy supplies for their members. During 1926 the California Fruit Exchange (not California Fruit Growers' Exchange) bought $2,069,361 worth of supplies

The Eastern States Farmers' exchange, with headquarters at Springfield, Mass., did a business that exceeded $6,000,000 in 1926, handling 5,498 carloads

A peculiarity of the Eastern enterprise is that they have their own brands which are advertised in farm papers circulating in the territory being covered

LOSING MILLIONS A YEAR, WHY?

That Florida citrus growers are losing between $18,000,000 and $20,000,000 a year through failure to receive adequate prices for their product, as stated by J. Reed Curry

It is to avoid as much as possible of this enormous loss that efforts have been made to effect some sort of organized marketing system whereby the Florida grower can get a fair deal and realize the best returns for his investment and work

At present the growers are being asked to consider a plan which has been proposed to meet these conditions. The Tribune is advised that comparatively little interest is being shown by the growers

As Brisbane Sees It

Planes and Sentiment. Spiritual Police. Active, Modern Whiskey. 1 Newspaper, $14,000,000.

THE FIRST PACIFIC ocean fliers came back from Honolulu by steamer, leaving the big army plane there. A good idea.

It would be wise to send one airplane a week to Hawaii for the next year or two, leaving the planes there, building up a big air fleet on those interesting islands

IT WAS MADE clear at Geneva that Uncle Sam's foolish boy statesmen working at the Washington conference did not protect this country as they thought they were doing

AMERICAN FLIERS going east and west over the Pacific and the Atlantic are said to have given Great Britain "a new thrill," also causing the British to feel a sudden doubt as to England's "air superiority"

Americans fly as well, so do British, French, Germans, Russians and Japanese. Each nation thinks it has the best fliers

THE MAIN THING lacking here is the right kind of flying machines and enough of them. You can trust the British to see that they have the machines

IN THE LONG run religion wins. When Kemal Pasha took charge of Turkey, he took the veil from women's faces, the fez from men's heads, and power from the Caliph

PROHIBITION THAT eliminates beer and wine does not eliminate hooding which stalks here and there in somewhat disappointing fashion

LORD READING, recently viceroy of India, once a brilliant lawyer in the United States, had bought the London Chronicle for $14,000,000 and will enjoy dictating its policies

Men as they grow old like to control a newspaper. Sometimes that isn't good for the newspaper's health, but it improves the health of the owner

AT SAN TOY, mining town in Ohio, Ray Wiggins, annoyed, bit off the ear of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Amanda Taylor

Mr. Curry, in his remarks, brought out the calamitous "competition of Florida fruit against itself." This is the root of the trouble

There is no justice, cries Seranus A. Longel. There is, but it is frequently delayed—Columbus Dispatch

One of the best applications of the pay-as-you-go policy would be in contemplated buying of wars—Christian Science Monitor

It isn't every aviator who can fly out and shatter a record, but it's dogged every for them to shatter something—Los Angeles Times

Frisbie Stars With Bat And In Field As Feds Beat Sarasota

Brilliant Shortfielder Accepts 15 Chances, 11 Of Them Assists And Gets Three Hits

Drives In 3 Runs And Steals A Base

Cusack Steady On Hill While Feds Hammer Brower For 16 Hits

SARASOTA, AUG. 22.—Led by Shortstop Frisbie who starred both at bat and in the field, the Sanford Feds crushed Sarasota here 7 to 1. Frisbie accepted 15 chances at short, eleven of them assists, collected three hits in five trips, stole one base and drove in three runs.

Brower was touched for sixteen hits, seven of them coming in succession when the Feds scored five runs in the sixth inning. Cusack was steady on the mound for the visitors.

SPANISH FICKLE IN DEVOTION TO BULL FIGHTERS

Crowd Hoots At Fighter Who Stabbed Animal 11 Times In A Spectacular Battle

MADRID—Aug. 22 (INS)—Bull-fights are a very complicated institution in Spain. They have a traditional moral code, that requires on the part of the foreigner an extended study, to only begin to understand, and then he can never appreciate as well as a Spaniard can, the question of whether the bull-fighter is a real bull-fighter, and whether the bull is a real bull.

Exactly what a bull should be or what he should do, and what a torero should do and what he should not do, are technical questions in an art that can count as much on its true upbringing. But a recent scandal broke out in the bull-ring in Madrid, that even those who have never seen a bull-fight

FRANCE RAPIDLY RECOVERS FROM WORLD CONFLICT

American Legion Members To Find Former Battleground Supplanted By Rich Fields Of Agricultural Products

PARIS, Aug. 22 (INS)—The soldiers of the American Legion who make a visit to the old battlefields this year will find that already the Great War is fading into ancient history.

The wide, smiling fields with their good crops and new, modern homes, have little to do with the places of horror they once knew. It is almost impossible to find the traces of the old front line in any place for we can't trample down the wheat or oats. And where the German line once ran peaceful cows lie chewing their cud. Year by year trenches are falling in, parapets washed away and dug-outs collapse and disappear completely. Great shell holes are slowly filling in and young bushes and trees beginning to hide the burnt stumps. The yards and yards of herbed wire have been rolled up and every where throughout the battle areas the fences of farms and gardens are made of it, rusted and twisted, sometimes only half-

Others Are Killed The dying bull, fanning from the injustice of having been deceived into the arena to the accompaniment of gay music, had still enough life in his dagger-sharp horns to fling several men to death.

An amphitheater of twelve thousand enthusiasts, who have had their patience exasperated, and have had their sense of sport and decency violated, have to be treated tactfully. The referee, seeing that matters were taking an alarming turn, ordered the search and capture of the fugitive torero. Since Chicuelo refused to come out from the infirmary behind the arena, to which he had fled, and where the doctors certified they could not see anything the matter with him, the referee ordered him to be sent to jail. It was the only safe place for him!

Chicuelo spent until midnight in jail, arrayed in his gorgeous, torero costume.

straightened out. Ragged sheets of corrugated iron are put to a thousand uses, and among the spick and span new buildings are many little Nissen huts. They are used for chickens, children's play-houses, garages and stables. Some of them boast a new addition of corrugated iron and many of them have green climbing over.

Of course there are a few areas which still remain in their original condition, as on the Viny Ridge in the Hairway Triangle behind Arras, and the dreadful stretch by Thiépval to Beaumont Hamel, and for several kilometres around Verdun. On the ridge the ground has been purposely left untouched to the glory of the Canadians and Highlanders who fought there ten years ago. And in the triangle where perhaps more Germans met their death in 1917 than at almost any other place there really is no purpose to which the land can be put.

The fourteen thousand graves in the American Cemetery at Romagne near Verdun, and the recently inaugurated memorial arch to the Pennsylvania regiments at Verenne, not far distant are certain proof that there was heavy fighting in those parts. Then everywhere, the scavengers of the battlefields in gangs of two or three are still at work. They have a long iron rod sharpened at the end of a garden roller, with which they probe into the loose earth. They know by experience when the intruder hits metal and then they attack the spot with the great bo-

14,000 STUDENTS GO TO COLUMBIA SUMMER SCHOOL

Many countries represented. Record-breaking session this year; leading educators of world are present

NEW YORK, Aug. 22 (INS)—Men and women educators from the United States and its territorial possessions, Canada, Europe, China, Japan and South America comprise a large part of the record enrollment of nearly 14,000 in the summer session of Columbia University. Many seek the higher degrees, while others are taking subjects to make them more efficient in their respective fields, according to Director John J. Coss.

Countries represented include Spain, Greece, Sweden, Russia, Turkey, Chile, Central America, Korea, and Mexico. A large group attending the courses in education is composed of school inspectors, supervisors, principals, school administrators, college instructors, superintendents of city schools and directors of vocational guidance and personal instruction. About thirty per cent of the instructors in this year's Summer Session of Columbia are women. Of the 639 teachers, 195 are women.

This number includes 157 women officers of instruction, twelve assistants, one teacher in the nursery school, seventeen in the elementary school and four in the high school. Home economics is one of the leading courses which women are teaching. Chemistry applied in household and nutritional problems, dietetics and family welfare are other topics for discussion and lectures. The fine arts, as art appreciation in the home, and art structure for teachers, designers, illustrators, craftsmen and painters, are also taught by women. Various courses in education, nursing, library science and social science, indicate the growing range of instruction which women are entering as well as the openings for women who plan to work in those fields.

Popular in all 4 corners of the Earth...

in London

where fine tobacco is a part of fine living

EVER since Sir Walter Raleigh brought the first tobacco home from America, the Londoner has made fine tobacco a part of fine living.

So it is only natural that he should be quick to appreciate the pure natural tobacco taste and fragrance of Chesterfield.

By his preference, London takes its place among the world capitals of Chesterfield's popularity.

Chesterfield

such popularity must be deserved!

Daily Letter
 By International News

Paris, Aug. 22. (INS)—Stone by stone Paris is moving westward so that almost the last remaining souvenir of old French aristocracy will disappear from the Avenue des Champs Elysees with the approaching removal of the old house of the Duke de Massa to the Left Bank.

Intimately connected with the events of France's two Imperial regimes and celebrated as having been frequented by Napoleon, Murat and Talleyrand as well as the social stars of the second Empire, the fine mansion numbers about one hundred and fifty years. It is now being removed from its original site and will be set up stone by stone to become the quarters of the Societe des Gens de Lettres, a home for literary men.

President Doumergue, like every other Frenchman, is taking a summer holiday. But in reality, it is only a change of scene. He has merely gone to the old palace at Rambouillet, an hour away from Paris where the Government departments can easily reach him. He could not pack his bags and go where he wanted to. The President is a prisoner of his greatness. Every morning he is busy with despatches and the numerous documents for which his signature is indispensable and he must preside from time to time over a cabinet council which may be held at either Rambouillet or in Paris.

Has one the right to cut the tail of his coat? The question being seriously considered by the society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in France, following a curious incident in the Haut Rhin department.

Upon the advice of a farmer who has the reputation of being a practical joker, one of his neighbors decided to cut the tails of his cows in order to fatten them. On the contrary, the remedy did not work. The poor animals have become thin as rails and are dying off one by one. Besides losing a fine herd, the poor farmer is threatened with a large fine as well.

Another curious case which has recently come up before the French courts has to do with a number of

Liquor Smuggling Returns To England In Old Time Form
 LONDON, Aug. 22. (INS)—The United States may have bootlegging, but the old-time smuggling has returned to Britain in real shape.

It takes place all along the south coast of England, Sussex, Essex and Kent, and the old-time coves under the cliffs are just as useful to the present smugglers as they were to their ancestors of 100 years ago.

What happens is that mysterious yachts with twinkling lights anchor about ten miles off the lonely stretches of coast. Then speedy motor boats with specially silenced engines, run out fast and collect cargoes of silk, brandy and perfumery. These boats can operate in almost a few inches of water, they run straight in to the shore, and an automobile awaits them. A good night's trade may mean an easy $2,000 profit. To the conspirators, and the risk is hardly worth worrying about.

Colonel Harry Day just raised the question in the House of Commons, asking the Secretary of the Treasury, Ronald MacNeil, whether he was aware of the smuggling operations now being carried on in the coves of the southeastern

OUT OUR WAY BY WILLIAMS

NOTICE is hereby given that under and by virtue of an execution issued out of the Circuit Court of the Twenty Third Judicial Circuit and for Seminole County on April 14, 1927, on a judgment rendered in said court on October 23, 1922 in a certain cause therein pending, wherein Peoples Bank of Sanford, Florida was plaintiff and 154 Oglesby, Jr. and Charles E. Crash Kills Pacific Flyers

Just after they had taken off from the San Diego airport enroute to San Francisco to enter the Honolulu race, the monoplane bearing Lieutenants George Covell and R. S. Waggener, U. S. N., crashed at Point Loma and burst into flames, killing both men. This picture shows firemen trying to extinguish the flames in the plane's wreckage.
