Candidate takes a good look at area schools

Jeb Bush speaks with students at Seminole High School as Principal Gretchen Schapker surveys the crowd.

Bush learns how students excel

By Maria Orem
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - The spotlight was on youth during a tour of the county by gubernatorial candidate Jeb Bush Thursday. Bush made stops at Seminole High School, the Seminole County Juvenile Assessment Center, and the Excel Alternatives program, where he spoke with teachers, parents and students. "I wish you guys all the best; moms, you too for hanging in there," Bush said. The Excel program serves more than 1,000 expelled students from Seminole and Orange counties, by providing an educational program and life skills training in a business setting. Dressed in business attire, several students shared their experiences at Excel with Bush and later commented on his visit. Manny Martinaz, 17, of Sanford has been at Excel since February. He will be transferring back to Seminole High School as a 10th grader in December. Martinaz said Excel has allowed him to catch up on his credits and he also has become much more spiritual. "This is a neat experience," said Martinaz. "He's (Jeb Bush) good because he puts God first." Jessica Fisher, 17, also of Sanford, a student at Excel since March, said she wants to stay at Excel until she graduates from high school. Fisher said she listened to everything Bush had to say. "I would like for him to be governor because I liked what he said," she said. Janet Harden, parent of former Excel student Jarrett Shaloup, now 21, praised the Excel program for giving her son a second chance. Once labeled an underachiever, Harden said her son went on from Excel and will graduate from Auburn University next year. "I'm grateful he was given a second chance," Harden said. In partnership with the county's school board, Excel offers expelled students a second chance by giving them the option of attending its classes instead of staying out of school. Of about 90 percent

Later that day, Bush discusses education with Lake Branley High School Principal Darvin Boothe during a forum at Excel Alternatives Inc. where students and parents share their positive experiences. Excel is a non-profit program that offers a second chance to expelled students in Seminole and Orange counties. The program, which started four years ago with 34 students, now serves 1,000.

GOP leaders bask in glory

Hob Nob not MacKay's cup of tea

By Russ White
HERALD STAFF WRITER

MAITLAND - The minute he walked into the Mattland Shrine Auditorium on Thursday, Lt. Gov. Buddy MacKay knew he was in for a bashing. He probably wished he had stayed home and reined "Wag the Dog." There were 1,500 or so in the hall - mostly all of them Republicans. Chamber of Commerce types, business leaders and Seminole County politicians. This was their Hob Nob. Buddy MacKay and his running mate Rick Dantzer, entered at their own risk. "The Lt. Gov. showed class coming into a Republican stronghold - I told him that," said Greater Seminole County Chamber of Commerce President Wayne Weinberg. As it was, Sudan terrorists had a better day. MacKay was either hissed or ignored and lost the gubernatorial straw vote balloting to Republican Jeb Bush, 81 percent to 19 percent. Bush was warmly greeted, and "humbly" asked for support in the November election. He vowed to create the best government possible for the 14 1/2 million who live in Florida. He mingled with the Hob Nob guests and stayed for nearly two hours. Both MacKay and Bush were asked if they approved of the cruise missile attacks on terrorists in Afghanistan and Sudan and both said they backed President Clinton. A TV interviewer focused on the attacks rather than the coming elections. But for the most part, the Hob Nob was about local government. This was a shindig that those in office loved. The incumbents and main streamers won everything in sight. By the end of the 2 1/2 hour affair everyone had their fill of spare ribs and cold cuts and were re-

Tropical storm brewing My Bonnie lies over the ocean

By Nick Pfeiffauf
HERALD STAFF WRITER

TALLAHASSEE - The Florida Division of Emergency Management said this morning that tropical depression #2, near the Leeward Islands, was expected to become Tropical Storm Bonnie before the end of the day. It is also expected that the storm will become Hurricane Bonnie possibly by Sunday morning. Emergency Management is monitoring the progress and is prepared to activate the State Emergency Operations Center, if necessary, this weekend. A series of conference calls with county emergency officials and various state agencies were scheduled for today. "It is far too early to tell where this weather system is going and whether it will be a threat to Florida," said meteorologist Andy Devanas, "but it certainly serves as sufficient warning for Florida residents that they need to stay prepared during the hurricane season. That preparation must include having a family disaster plan in place right now," he added. Devanas admits it is difficult to determine which direction Bonnie may take at this time or how powerful the winds may eventually become. Locally, television meteorologists are predicting a variety of directions. One believes after approaching the Florida coast, Bonnie will turn further north, miss most of the state, and possibly come ashore in North Carolina. Another prediction is that it will continue moving westerly, heading over Cuba, missing the Florida Keys, and finally turning north after it reaches the Gulf of Mexico, possibly aiming at southern Louisiana or eastern Texas. According to Devanas, the following procedures should be taken by all Central Florida residents as soon as possible:

- Prepare for evacuation - know the area and plan on which route should be taken.
- Prepare for a power outage - check flashlights, batteries and battery-powered radios.
- Buy a NOAA weather radio - be sure it can be battery-powered.
- Stock up on food and water - non-perishable - for possibly two weeks.
- Inspect the exterior of your home for potential problems in the event of a storm.
- Make plans for your boat, camper or other towable equipment.
- Review your insurance policies to determine if you have adequate insurance.

No computer glitches for Casselberry cops

By Maria Orem
HERALD STAFF WRITER

CASSELBERRY - The city's police department will enter the 21st century without computer glitches thanks to a new software system approved by the city commission this week. The city awarded a contract for $160,000 to Open Software Solutions Inc. of Greensboro, N.C. to provide a system that will aid in computer dispatch operations and record management. The system will replace the one used for the past 12 years, said Jack Schluckebier, city manager. "The OSSS system adapts to changes and resource needs and also gets around the year 2000 problems," Schluckebier said. Because most computers are equipped with an internal calendar that cannot process dates past the 1900s, major computer problems are expected unless programmers find a solution. OSSS also will have the capability to link up with state and national law enforcement computer data bases and keep track of all related activity, said Captain Jim Ruf of the Casselberry Police Department. A major advantage with the OSSS system is that officers can analyze data and generate

Gazebo may be past its usefulness

The gazebo has long been the focal point of the Evergreen Municipal Cemetery as well as the location of many funeral services. Now, because of deteriorating construction and the expense of repairs, the Cemetery Advisory Committee is recommending the gazebo, as well as the two-story brick building be demolished. The Sanford City Commission is to consider the committee's recommendation at Monday night's commission meeting.

In a small world, there are Genevas everywhere

Here's some good news for Geneva, a town that has had more than its share of bad news in 1998.

Geneva is about to become a member of the Genevas of the World Association.

Earlier this month, Seminole County Commission Chairman Randy Morris went to Geneva, Switzerland for the initial meeting of the Association, whose purpose is to have a continuing dialogue and free exchange of ideas to benefit the respective communities.

Geneva, Fla., was one of 11 U.S. Genevas invited to be in the Association of Genevas. There are also Genevas in New York, Alabama, Nebraska, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa and Michigan. There are two Genevas in Ohio.

There's also a Geneva in South Africa and one in Dominica.

"This is a neat agreement," said John Jones in the county's Economic Development Office. "You might not think we have much in common with Geneva, Switzerland but we do. Our economic development and high-tech industries are similar and the population of Seminole County (370,000) is the same as that of Geneva. We both have skiing - only ours is on water."

"The Canton of Geneva invited us to come cost-free to the Festival of Genevas," Jones

On Tuesday, the Board of County Commissioners will vote on whether to adopt a resolution to have a cooperative agreement with Geneva, Switzerland. It is expected to pass.

Ike says Aloha

One of the easiest proclamations President Dwight Eisenhower ever made was to admit Hawaii to the Union. He did this 39 years ago on Aug. 21, 1959. The Hawaiian residents voted for statehood and their June referendum was approved by Ike a couple of months earlier. He probably went there to check out the golf courses. Plenty of water hazards. Hawaii is the 50th state.

There ought to be a law

Today we salute all the attorneys in the land. It's their kind of day - the founding of the American Bar Association.

The group was formed on Aug. 21, 1878 in Sarasota, N.Y. That makes the Bar Association 120 years old. None of the original members are practicing now. At least we don't think they are.

Halo there

Saturday is Be an Angel Day, but the suggestion here is to start observing this fine event today. It's a day to do one small act of service to someone. Maybe just say halo to a stranger. The Anaheim Angels baseball team always wins on Angel day. Remember where you read it.

Wilt's getting up there

Wonder what Wilt Chamberlain, who fancies himself as quite the ladies man, is thinking about Bill Clinton. Wilt the Still (a.k.a. The Big Dipper) is 62 today. Singer Kenny Rogers is 60 and looking for Lucille. Princess Margaret is 68. Singer Jackie DeShannon is 54 and still singing Put a Little Love in Your Heart. Actor Clarence Williams III is 59. Actress Alicia Witt is 23.

The "Magical Evening of Giving" is scheduled for Sunday, Nov. 22 from 6 to 9 p.m. Participating charities will sell tickets to the event for $5, with all proceeds going directly to the charities. Reading volunteers

SANFORD - Sanford Middle School is starting a new program to help students learn to be better readers. HOSTS, Help One Student to Succeed, is a nationally recognized volunteer mentoring program that pairs a student who needs help in reading, writing or study skills with a community member wanting to make a difference in a student's life. With help from volunteer mentors, students receive the extra attention and encouragement they need to become better readers.

The HOSTS structured mentoring program in language arts is a national model and the recipient of numerous awards from federal, state, university, and association bodies. Nearly 200 volunteers are needed to impact social, academic, and emotional growth of the students of Sanford. Volunteers may offer as little as one hour a week to help make a big difference in a child's life.

There will be a mentor recruitment kick-off on Thursday, Aug. 27 at 5:15 in the HOSTS classroom, room 11002 at Sanford Middle School. Future mentors, business partners, staff volunteers, parents, and community organization members are asked to attend to find out about this exciting program.

YMCA celebrates Tomorrow Project with open house Saturday

By Debra Wood
HERALD CORRESPONDENT

LAKE MARY - Curiosity may not be good for cats, but for inquisitive people Saturday will be a day of fun at the Seminole YMCA Family Center.

The YMCA will celebrate the Tomorrow Project, a 19,000-square-foot expansion, with an open house that includes complimentary use of the facilities, entertainment, prizes and activities for the whole family.

"The open house is a time to give people a sneak preview tour of the project," said spokesperson David Dennis. "Everybody has free access to the facility. They could come and swim or work out, whatever they'd like to do."

Activities will begin at 8 a.m. and will include demonstrations and information about fall programs for adults and children. Joiner fees will be discounted on Saturday. Throughout the construction period, members receive an All-Y membership, which allows them to use any Central Florida YMCA facility.

"People join the Y to feel good and spend quality time with their families in a family-friendly organization," Dennis continued. "We have a sense of fellowship. People come because they want to get in touch with the community and make friends."

Construction on the $2 million Tomorrow Project, which began in March, will be completed by year end. The new facilities will include an 8,000-square-foot gymnasium, an expanded wellness center with additional amenities, an expanded baby-sitting center, a commercial-grade playground, refurbished locker rooms and more parking spaces.

The Y continues to raise funds for the expansion and to equip the new indoor gymnasium with a floating wood floor.

"We're doing a Wall of Light, a glass brick project," Dennis said. "People can purchase a glass block etched with their name that will be on display in our lobby."

The Seminole Family YMCA is located at 605 Longwood-Lake Mary Rd., one mile south of Lake Mary Boulevard. For more information, call 321-6944.

Whether you're looking for a little exercise, a fun place to while away a sultry Saturday, or just to satisfy a curious nature, check out the Tomorrow Project at the Seminole YMCA's open house.

For example, Ruff said, we can calculate response time much faster through the touch of a button. Or, we can look at patterns of burglaries, or check officer activity through the dispatch office.

The program that will be used by dispatch is icon driven and does not require typing in commands in most cases, he said. The department will also save on about 40,000 (the number of service calls received last year) pieces of paper, he said. Under the existing system, when a call for service comes in, a paper report must be generated. With OSSI, the paper report becomes obsolete.

During the past eight years, calls for service in the city have increased between 1,000 to 3,000 each year. And the busier his department is, the greater the need for advanced computer technology, Ruff said.

Once the system is in place, the police department plans to link the program through laptop computers for its officers.

"It's really exciting to be on the cutting edge of technology concerning law enforcement," Ruff said.

issues associated with the legal system, and the role of attorneys and legal assistants," said Bernard McCarthy, chairman of the Criminal Justice/Legal Studies department.

A series of evening courses will introduce students to the workings of the legal system, including civil and criminal operations. While designed for degree-seeking students, selected courses are designated for open enrollment, which permits the registration of non-degree seeking students with a general thirst for knowledge of the law.

"This is an excellent professional development opportunity for persons with career positions in law offices, corporations and public agencies," said McCarthy.

SANFORD - The Seminole County Expressway Authority announces that the regularly scheduled public meeting of Aug. 11 has been rescheduled to Tuesday, Sept. 8 at 4:30 p.m. at the Seminole County Services Building, Room 1028, 1101 East First Street, Sanford.

The general subject matter to be discussed is the proposed GreenWay "Missing Link" between US 17-92 and Interstate 4 in Seminole County.

Additional information may be obtained by calling the Seminole County Expressway Authority at (407) 323-2500, ext. 5740.

Human rights board

ORLANDO - An opportunity awaits citizens who want to work actively to protect the rights of people served by Central Florida's social service system.

The Human Rights Advocacy Committee for Seminole, Osceola and Orange counties needs volunteers to fill several vacant positions. The committee acts as an objective, third-party council with a goal of protecting consumer rights. It investigates allegations of human rights violations generating from inquiries and complaints about services provided by the Department of Children and Families.

HRAC members are appointed officially by the Governor following a local application and interview process. They serve four-year terms and usually meet once monthly.

Anyone who wants membership information and more background on the committee should call Wendy Jordan, HRAC staff liaison, at (407) 245-0400, ext. 183.

Currently, the state has 31 HRACs, with some focusing particularly on serving the developmentally disabled and recipients of substance abuse and mental health treatment.

The idea of citizen advocates developed in 1973 as a reaction to abusive conditions at the Miami Sunland Hospital. Today, there are more than 300 HRAC volunteers advocating for better treatment of individuals under the care or custody of Children and Families, or private vendors and service providers under contract to the department.

The Statewide Human Rights Advocacy Committee consists of 15 volunteers who serve as the appellate body for district HRACs. SHRAC handles appeals on complaints that are unresolved at the district level and other issues affecting two or more districts.

ther leaving or chanting for County Commission Chairman Randy Morris.

"Randy, Randy, Randy," cheered the chairman's spirited supporters. Morris, who captured 77 percent of the votes in his District 2 race against Bob West, playfully sprawled out on the floor in front of the group for a picture. West had left earlier. He figured he saved $300 for reserving a table at the Hob Nob, choosing to hand out a few brochures and call it a day. He, too, might as well have rented "Wag the Dog" and stayed home.

Win Adams captured 64 percent of the vote to defeat Carlton Henley in the District 4 Commission balloting. Obviously, Adams was pleased. Henley wasn't discouraged, however. "I'm pleased too," he said. "For me to get 36 percent in this crowd is good. The business force and chamber people favor those in office. On Sept. 1, we'll get the real vote."

Sandy Robinson and Jeanne Morris gained enormous support in their efforts to be re-elected to the County School Board. Robinson received 74 percent of the votes for District 2 and Jeanne Morris received 59 percent for District 5. Larlene Sweeting had 23 percent in her attempt to unseat Morris.

"Just to be in the election is more than I once dreamed for," Sweeting said. "This is so beautiful that I can be doing this. This is why America is so special."

Judge John Sloop, an 8-year veteran of the county court, had 67 percent of the votes to top challenger Jeanne Gold. Gold was enthused, however, and said she expected to have a good showing in the Sept. 1 election.

Supervisor of Elections Sandy Goard said that 555 people voted in the Hob Nob - one out of three who attended.

"This is important - very important," Win Adams said. "But the September vote is obviously what really matters. After walking to homes and meeting people on their own turf, it was nice to be here today. It was like playing at home."

Adams said that he believes Bush is eminently more knowledgeable and prepared in his second gubernatorial run. "He's learned a lot about the people in the state with his visits. He's going to make a very good governor."

No one probably understood the home field advantage more than MacKay, who was definitely playing a road game at the Hob Nob. Some thought the reception he received (or did not receive) was embarrassing and perhaps rude. Chamber organizer Weinberg made no apologies. "He knew what it would be like."

Jim Murray: A gentleman in a league of his own

SANFORD - He didn't have much of a fastball, couldn't come close to dunking a basketball, and would be hard pressed to run with a football. Yet when it came to writing sports, Jim Murray was a league better than anyone else in the press boxes of the world.

Murray wrote his last sports column for The Los Angeles Times on Sunday, and died the next day. He was 78.

In recent years his health was not good but he did not complain. You always saw him at the grand sporting events - made all the grander by his presence. He kept writing even when he had almost no eye sight. Murray saw a 10th of what others saw but captured 10 times more than they.

He was a gentleman with a profound sense of humor and it showed in his columns. He could get profoundly sarcastic, too. He won a Pulitzer Prize for writing sports columns that jumped out of his magic keyboard. The great Red Smith went through great pain to produce his prose. Murray made it look easy.

Below he became a sports columnist. Murray was the Los Angeles reporter for Time magazine. Much of his coverage was centered in Hollywood. He didn't mind it at all to lunch with Marilyn Monroe. It was Murray, in fact, who introduced Monroe to retired baseball star Joe DiMaggio. "He was like a kid," Murray said. "So was she."

Most of today's athletes who had the slightest of brains knew Murray and paid him respect. Former Dodgers Manager Tommy Lasorda loved him as much as he did Frank Sinatra. Murray was Sinatra when it came to talent but not in personality. He was a sweet man who never raised his voice or made any kind of fuss.

At World Series games, baseball assigns the best press box seats to the writers who cover big-league games on a regular basis. These best writers sit in the main press box while the columnists and others sit in secondary areas. Murray, because of his personality could have a special seat, but he didn't want it.

There was a young reporter at a game in San Francisco who was making a major scoop about his team's win at the World Series in 1980. "Look," an older writer told him, "let that man over there behind a plate. That's Jim Murray. He's a lot better writer than you can dream of being. Do you see him grinning?"

A couple of years before that Murray needed help during Kentucky Derby week in Louisville. His poor eye-sight prevented him from renting a car and he needed transportation to the early morning workouts at Churchill Downs and to the big race on the first Saturday of May. He relied on me to be his driver.

Driving Mr. Murray that week was privilege and a pleasure. At times, he would sit in the seat to my right and reminisce about Hollywood, about sports and sports writing. I wanted to stop the car, grab a notepad and take it all down. This going to journalism school should be as easy as I was that week.

There are a thousand men and women writing sports for papers across the U.S.A. but the gentleman who did it best has passed away. I can appreciate the loss by those in L.A. and cities that carried his columns.

At most papers the best and worst writing is on the sports pages. The LA Times had Jim Murray. That made it the best sports section in the world no matter what the others contributed. He covered 60 pages a game, his hair blew away and he'd be 6 hours long. If Jim Murray had been a sportswriter, he may have been Jim Murray.

As the nation struggles to accept or reject the Clinton team in the sports world are doing what we can to accept the loss of Jim Murray. I still have talked with the newspaper people who were with Mr. Murray. They are all sad. The Clinton team will show the nation and the sports world of this world. How marvelous for him to be in this world.

Tournament announced

Sanford to host AAU-sanctioned youth baseball event

By Jeff Berlinke
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

SANFORD - Seminole County is known for its strong performances in AAU baseball, but this year, they'll have home field advantage.

Bob Breum, a coach in the Sanford Babe Ruth League, will announce plans this Saturday to bring a Florida Amateur Athletic Union-sanctioned tournament to Sanford. Games will be held Sept. 25-27 at several locations in Sanford including Zinn Beck Field, Fort Mellon Park and Historic Sanford Memorial Stadium.

Breum said teams from all over the state will be invited except for areas from the panhandle and the Greater Miami area which are governed under a separate AAU division.

Two leagues will compete: 11-and-under and 13-and-under. The 11-and-under tournament will be held at Fort Mellon Park and the remaining sites will host the 13-and-under teams.

Each age group will feature 12 teams and Breum will coach the Orlando Outlaws in the 13-and-under league. The Outlaws will consist mainly of Seminole County players. Breum said he is almost done completing the roster.

"I expect a lot of local kids to participate," he said. "There will be a number of Sanford kids and players from as far as Altamonte Springs and Deland."

The championship games are to be held on the 27th, a Sunday, and Breum said he is hoping to work out an arrangement to use the stadium. A 35-and-over baseball league has the field reserved on Sundays. The format will allow three games of pool play with a single-elimination format. Weather permitting, eight teams will advance to the quarter-finals. There will also be a home run derby for the 11-and-under group and skills contests for the 13-and-under ers.

Breum said the economic impact will be a boost to Sanford.

"By the time you count coaches, players, siblings and fans, we should have over 1,000 people here in September," Breum said. "We hope to see a boost to the historic parts of downtown Sanford. It should bring a lot of business to local merchants."

The games will count towards regular AAU league play. Most teams play double-headers on the weekends and the tournament games will count against their records. More importantly, it gives the players a chance to compete in games against other state teams.

"The whole thing is designed to give teams some tournament experience," Breum said.

Registration is $275 per team and all entries must be received by Sept. 12. Call 323-3223 for information.

Are you ready for some football?

By Jeff Berlinke
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

SANFORD - For the past three weeks, Seminole County football players have been slaving under unbearable heat, sometimes in full pads, in preparation for nights like tonight.

For a lot of potential and future stars, tonight will be the first time to put on an actual game uniform and lay under the lights as each of the seven county football teams meet in scrimmage.

Next Friday, each team will participate in Kickoff Classics, followed by opening night of the regular season in two weeks.

At Lake Mary High School, new head coach Greg Stanton will lead the team onto the field at Don T. Reynolds Stadium for the Red and Black Game starting at 7:30 p.m.

Stanton has said that he has an extremely undermanned squad and his team will compete with junior varsity players in the game.

Stanton has also said that, due to rainouts, many of his junior varsity players will perform double duty this season.

Oviedo High School, which had the only team from Seminole County to qualify for regional play last season, will have its scrimmage under the lights at John Courter Field starting at 7:30 p.m.

Coach Greg Rogers has a strong group of returning starters from last year and the Lions are always among the elite of the SAC.

Seminole High School will host its Orange and Black game at Thomas E. Whigham Stadium starting at 7 p.m.

Coach Jim Worthington will be the county offensive starter taking on the county's best defensive players and the offensive back-ups against the defensive starters.

At Lyman High School, the Coy-hounds are taking a different approach.

Beginning at 8:30 p.m. at the Carlton Hasty Sports Complex, Lyman will host a booster dinner and the night will feature exhibitions put on by most of the ball sports teams.

A special assembly session will provide the dinner, followed by exhibitions from the volleyball teams

After three weeks of sometimes grueling workouts under the summer Central Florida sun and a lot of team meetings, Seminole High School head coach Jim Worthington (above) and pre-season All-American offensive lineman Jeff Faine, along with the rest of the Fighting Seminoles, will finally get to have some fun when they take to the Thomas E. Whigham Stadium turf at 7 p.m. tonight for the annual Fall Orange and Black Intra-squad Football Game.

Seminole will not be the only Seminole Athletic Conference football squad in action as also on the Friday night slate are the Red and Black Game at Lake Mary High School, the Blue and Gold Game at Lyman High School, the Silver and Blue Game at Lake Howell High School and the Oviedo High School Orange and Black Game.

The SAC schools will get their first taste of interschool play when the Kickoff Classics are contested next Friday (August 28th) in preparation for the opening games of the season in two weeks on Friday, September 4th.

Lyman features two new volleyball coaches and its football team plays a game for the first time in several seasons.

Lake Howell High School will also host its fall scrimmage, beginning at 7:30 p.m. at Richard Evans L. Field.

The Silver Hawks are coming off a sub-par season, but have looked impressive in preparing for the 1988 season.

Coach Mike Macchia has a strong returning cast and the Silver Hawks should be considered a favorite for the Seminole Athletic Conference title and a return to the state playoffs.

Lake Brantley High School is preparing for next Friday's Kickoff Classics and no scrimmages are scheduled, but the Patriots will host a family picnic for football players Sunday at 1 p.m. and a football fundraiser Monday beginning at 6 p.m.

Deltona's Temple Shalom to be led by new Rabbi

By Susan Wanner
HERALD STAFF WRITER

DELTONA - Rabbi Eli Scheeps recently joined the Temple Shalom in Deltona as its new Rabbi and Cantor. According to Temple spokesperson Bill Kessler, he will replace the former Rabbi that moved to Ormond Beach.

"Rabbi Scheeps will work full-time with the Temple," said Kessler. "He was recently a widower. He will be living in the parsonage that the Temple bought. It's a three bedroom home. He is very oriented for the young and old."

Kessler laughed as he shared that the Rabbi is a "200 bowler." Rabbi Scheeps is also knowledgeable about computers and Kessler hopes that will also help in his work with the Temple.

Rabbi Scheeps was born in Haifa, Israel in 1957. He graduated from Yeshiva High School in Haifa and also attended Cantorial school for four years in the evenings.

He served from 1974 to 1979 as a Captain (Seren) Rabbi in the Israel Defense Forces and from 1979 to 1991 in the active reserve. His duties were to identify the dead, comfort the bereaved families, take care of burials and cemetery work required by Jewish Law.

From 1979 to 1991 Rabbi Scheeps was Rabbi and Cantor at a traditional Masorati Conservative congregation. He officiated at life-cycle events as well. In 1991 Rabbi Scheeps was ordained as a private Rabbi as is customary in Israel.

In 1995, he was ordained once again by Rabbi Grinfeld. Rabbi Scheeps is affiliated with Chief Rabbinate in Israel, Chevrah Kadisha of the Israel Defense Forces and a Member of the American Association of Rabbis (A.A.R.).

Coming from Temple Shalom in New York he is a dynamic and active person preparing his daily and weekly schedules on his computer and practicing wood-working and Jewish carpet-making.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Scherr welcomes Rabbi Eli Scheeps. The Deltona Shabbat Services at the Temple Shalom are held every Friday evening at 7 p.m. and Saturday mornings at 10 a.m.

Research on emphysema

DEAR DR. GOTT: Is any progress being made in the research on treatment or a cure for emphysema?

DEAR READER: Although I cannot detail specific research advances being made in the study of emphysema, I can assure you that research is being carried out in many medical centers. A great deal is already known about the disease. Fundamentally, it consists of a loss of the tiny, feathery, terminal air sacs in the lungs; this results in difficulty taking up oxygen and exchanging carbon dioxide.

Emphysema can be inherited. It is common in some lung conditions, particularly a pulmonary disorder known as alpha-1 anti-trypsin deficiency. Cigarette smoking causes emphysema, as can certain forms of chronic air pollution and industrial exposure. It can occur with age.

The condition is treatable, but not curable, with medicine, oxygen, high fluid intake and aggressive therapy (such as antibiotics, postural drainage and special breathing exercises) for bronchitis and lung infection. Obviously, the best treatment is avoidance of air pollution, particularly tobacco smoke. Many adults could avoid emphysema if they simply stopped smoking cigarettes.

To give you related information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Living With Chronic Lung Disease." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10158. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Last year I experienced a complete peeling of the skin from my hands and the soles of my feet. My doctor had no clue as to why this happened. A year later, the problem has returned. Could the potassium, Coumadin, Cardizem and quinine be causing this?

DEAR READERS: An allergic reaction to drugs often causes skin irritation and peeling. Any of the medicines you have been prescribed could be to blame. If your doctor is stumped, ask for a referral to an allergist.

Don't give up without a fight

By Phillip Alder

Last week, I was commenting about tough players. Their bidding is unpredictable, leaving you wondering what they have. (True, sometimes this backfires on their partners.) When they are declarer, they find lines of play that make their holdings, making the defenses more difficult. And when defending, they produce plays that force declarer to decide which road to take. Also, they refuse to throw in the towel, no matter how hopeless the cause seems to be.

Today's deal is a straightforward example of this last point.

In the modern game, South would respond three no-trump to show a balanced 13-15 points without a four-card major. (A two-no-trump response would be invitational, promising 10-12 points.)

West led the heart seven.

South could see only six top tricks: four spades, one heart and one diamond. The extra tricks could come from the diamonds, but there was a risk that the defenders would take at least five tricks before he had raked in nine.

Still, the start was easy: Duck the heart ace until the third round, then try the diamond finesse. East won with the diamond king and returned a low club. Should South duck or play his king?

South realized that if West had the club ace, the contract was dead. So, thinking positively, South put up the club king. Here, it was the trick and he collected an overtrick.

True, if West had the club ace and East the club queen, playing the king would cost an extra undertrick, but that is worth much less than the game bonus. Always maximize your chance of getting home.

Exciting times could be in the offing for you in the year ahead where your social life is concerned. It looks like you're going to be included in a group you've always admired from a distance.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be more cautious than usual in financial matters today, especially those that have obvious risks. If you're impulsive or careless, your bank balance will reflect it. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2.75 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10158.

VIRES (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Associates may have difficulty convincing your true motives today. For this reason, they might not be so supportive of your interests as they usually are. Strive to be explicit.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You are endowed with splendid critical faculties, but today you might use them negatively. Look for virtues in others, not faults.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Be shrewd enough to read the signs today if friends appear to be put off by what you have to offer. Persistence will only strain relationships.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You shouldn't have trouble being an achiever today, but the methods you employ could antagonize those around you. Do nothing to tarnish your image.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Self-doubt must not be allowed to erode your confidence today. If you dwell too heavily on negative thoughts, they could induce you to be counterproductive.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) It may not be wise to take a chance doing business with a person whose reputation is questionable today. You don't want to learn the hard way who also served that label.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) It's a sole but your boss will be more difficult to get along with than usual if s/he feels you're not being as cooperative as you should be today.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Keep an eye peeled for unexpected career developments today. Something might pop up that requires an immediate response.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Think twice before putting additional funds into enterprises or projects that have yet to yield a profit today. It's unwise to put good money after bad.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) There are indications you might unknowingly emphasize your weaknesses in one-on-one negotiations today. Don't invite defeat.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) There's a chance you might be manipulated by a skilled user of flattery today. You'll be better off if you stick to people who are always straight with you.
