Probe Launched Into Plane Crash Which Killed 28

SHANNON AIRPORT, Ireland (AP)—The Dutch and Irish governments launched an investigation today into rescuers' delay in reaching the KLM Royal Dutch airliner which plunged into the River Shannon yesterday. The disaster claimed 28 lives—11 of them American.

Survivors of the Shannon crash told of waiting anxiously more than three hours, despite the fact that the big plane came down only two miles from the airport in the early morning darkness.

KLM representatives and Shannon Airport officials, paled together this timetable in starting their inquiry.

3:35 a. m.—The plane took off from Shannon Airport after a routine stop en route from Amsterdam.

3:40 a. m.—The plane crashed into the river near its mouth, within sight of the airport's lights.

5:30 a. m.—The mud-covered navigator staggered into the KLM operational office at Shannon Airport to report the crash.

The airport fire brigade reported receiving an alarm at 5 a. m. The first rescue launch reached the sinking plane.

SMUGGLERS ARRESTED

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Police have rounded up 20 members of a gang accused of smuggling scrap iron and other metals to Communist lands.

City police announced today that over the first part of the long Labor Day weekend no accidents had been reported.

If this situation continues for the remainder of today, it will be the first time it has happened in several years. Last year two minor accidents were reported inside the city.

Meanwhile in City Court yesterday Willie James Dudley, who gave his address as Richmond, Va., was sentenced to pay a total of $220 in three counts. Dudley had been found guilty and sentenced to $200 or 60 days. He pleaded guilty to charges of carelessness and negligent driving, $15 or 20 days, and to drivers' license, $5 or 10 days.

Chinese Nationalist Bombers Hammer Communist Artillery

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Chinese Nationalist bombers today hammered Communist guns which have been bombarding Quemoy, and the exchange of artillery fire between Red and Nationalists boomed into the fourth day.

The latest flareup came as Nationalist antiaircraft guns opened fire against what were officially described as unidentified planes over this capital city.

The antiaircraft of Formosa was blacked out three hours, but air raid sirens remained silent.

The Defense Ministry said several waves of Formosa-based bombers pounded Communist gun positions at Amoy and nearby Tatung, Communist mainland bases within artillery range of Nationalist-held Quemoy.

The bombers streaked in just after daylight, the announcement said, scattering Red gun crews and blowing up weapons and supplies. The ministry quoted returning pilots as saying heavy smoke was rising from military targets in Amoy and a big fire at Tatung could be seen clearly from Quemoy.

The announcement said all bombers returned safely.

Artillery fire at Quemoy, most important link in a chain of Nationalist island outposts along the mainland coast, was described as sporadic Monday.

U. S. and Nationalist Chinese officers conferred here and with Defense Department officials in Washington concerning the Quemoy attacks which began Friday.

Two American officers were killed in the initial five-hour Red bombardment of Quemoy, which lies only a few miles off the coast of Red China, 100 miles west of Formosa.

Italian Statesman

The man who did the most to rehabilitate Italy after the ravages of Fascism and years of war, Alcide de Gasperi, is dead. His last days must have been consolled with the knowledge that he had restored a country to a place of respect among family of nations.

De Gasperi was an ardent foe of Communism. He detested tyranny in any form. He lent his strength to all the projects designed to unite Europe, speaking out for the Schuman Plan, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the European Defense Community. He believed EDC to be the best hope for preventing Communist conquest of Europe and shortly before his death he called the present Premier of Italy to urge him to fight for it.

His life is proof that a good man willing to stand up for his principles can exist in a land which has given up its liberty to a dictator. His every public act after coming to power was designed to bring true democracy to his people and to polish his country's tarnished honor.

Under the Fascists the Italians took part in one of the most vicious wars of aggression ever waged. Broken morally and physically when that war ended, the road back has not been easy. The spirit and determination of Alcide de Gasperi inspired his countrymen to make the effort. If history must write that modern Italy produced a Mussolini, Italians should be glad that it can write that Italy also produced a de Gasperi.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

When a man's ways please the Lord, he maketh even his enemies to be at peace with him. Prov. 16:7. But selfishness, greed, pettiness alienate even our friends.

HAL BOYLE

Wives Wield Paint Brushes, Too

NEW YORK 36—Does your wife, girl like you?"

"Well, why not? Don't let her get away with such a game excuse,"

"I like to take care of things to earn you more money to play the horses, dear. But our washing machine spills water on the basement floor and makes it so slippery I keep falling on my face."

That wily gal is no longer any good—thanks to a fellow named Richard J. Eckart. He invented a nonskid paint.

"We first developed it for the Navy—they wanted a nonskid surface around gun mounts," he said.

"But now housewives use it to give a safer footing on cellar steps and the like in their laundry room."

As a matter of fact, Eckart is getting to be the Navy's civilian's best friend. In his post as vice president in charge of research for Saponin Paints, Inc., he has come up with a number of specialized do-it-yourself home paints. They are so simple to use that the ordinary intelligent husband has no trouble finding his wife how to open the cans and use the paint.

You simply buy her a dollar paint roller, hand her the can of paint, pat her on the back, and say, "Go to it, honey. Why should I pay a professional painter $10 a day when I got a swell all-around painter?"

"Surveys show that three out of four home painting jobs are now done by the householders themselves, and often the wives insist on doing it," Eckart continued.

"My own wife does. She paints like mad. I could put her to work painting."

Eckart's repertoire includes more than 100 types of special paints. Each for a separate purpose—from covering wrought iron outdoor furniture to refurbishing an old porcelain refrigerator.

"Many of the suggestions come from housewives who want a paint for some particular job around their home," he said.

County Agent's Column

Way Down South In Sanford, Florida

By C. R. Dawson, BSA, MSA.

THE 21ST FLORIDA Gladstones Growers Association will hold its 5th Annual Convention October 7, 8, and 9th at the Sans Souci Hotel in Miami Beach.

NO BOMBS PLEASE — The Manufacturers Trust Company is building a new Fifth Avenue office. The two street sides of the five story building will be entirely of glass panes 10 to 22 feet and weighing 1500 pounds. These 22 sheets of glass are the largest ever cast in the United States.

TIME FLIES — A fly was walking with her daughter on the head of a man who was very bald. "How things change, my dear," she said. "When I was your age, this was only a foot path."

OLD TIMES — New England farms are more fertile today than when Continentals and British redcoats fought over them in the Revolutionary War, but the steeple of Old North Church could not withstand the forces of "Florida Hurricane" Carol. The toppled steeple will be rebuilt by donations from school children of all states and this column is going to get in on it. We may need those "One if by land and two if by sea" signals, or some such, again some time. Instead of Red coats it may be Red Russians this time, and the modern Paul Revere had better have a radar station in good working order.

GOOD ROADS — Every day someone somewhere bends or makes a ladder trying to get two automobiles into and out of spaces big enough for one, and we yearn for the good old days when certain cars had red leather "mudguards" and patent leather bumpers.

NOT OVER 22 FEET — A shallow well pump is O. K. if the distance from the pump to the water (the lift) is not more than 22 feet. If your well is deeper than this, you'll need a deep well reciprocating or jet pump, and don't forget to run a pipe near the gutter for irrigation. A little water at the right time often mean the difference between success and failure in your garden.

Then be sure to keep a hose available that will reach from the nearest faucet to the roofs of all your farm buildings. A small stream of water may save a building while the fire is still small.

Example: Wives wrote in asking:

"My kids keep scribbling on the wall. What can I do?"

"It took us only about 10 minutes in the laboratory to find the answer to that one," said Eckart.

The answer was a hard quick dry ing cream eraser which children can easily make up with chalk to their heart's content. A wet cloth or chalk eraser easily removes the marks.

A neighbor, Mrs. Ethel Rose of Allenton, rushed the three children, two boys and a girl, 3 to 6 years old, from the house and drove them in her auto through rising waters to refuge at her own home.

Destruction Reigns In Rhode Island As Hurricane Damage Total Mounts

Editor's Note—Rhode Island was one of the hardest hit states in the path of Hurricane Carol, which battered New England Tuesday.

The following story by John Ward of the Providence Journal Bulletin tells of one family in a shore community and how it is faring three days after the storm.

WAKEFIELD, R. I.—(UPI)—Mrs. Mrs. Maude Jamie and their four children go to bed at 9 p.m. by the light of a single kerosene lamp that their family physician gave them.

That's all the light they have. The adults have a light fixture day night and had to go to bed at dusk. The hurricane had carried away power lines in this little village on Narragansett Bay 10 miles south of Providence.

That storm had left them with their home, but with a cellar full of water, a yard covered with puddles of salt water, no lights, no heat, no facilities for storing food and none for drinking.

Last night, Mrs. Jones, who perhaps typifies all the housewives and mothers in the area, said, "Oh, we're living."

"We have got one kerosene lamp. Dr. Patrick O'Brien loaned it to us. The first night we went to bed at 8 o'clock we got a call."

"We were here cleaning up and drying up. We got food as we need it for each meal from a store two miles away."

"We finally got our gas man to hook up our bottled gas stove yesterday afternoon. Before that we had to eat cold food like frankfurters although Wednesday we had steaks cooked on our outdoor grill."

"We invited our neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Willis and their children, over that night. They're worse off than we are. They live in a first-story house that has been cut off from the rest of the house.

"We just put out all the children's shoes—10 pairs—and bed sheets. When we get paid tomorrow we've got to buy new shoes for everybody. We've got most of our spare clothes hanging on the line to dry."

"My husband has carried four trailer loads of stuff, including our radio, couch and rug, to the train dump and there's a lot more down the cellar to go."

"The back and side yard at the Jones' place were typical—shortly before dark last night—of yards throughout the flood area. Families ate meager meals, made shift picnic tables, mostly sat on the ground, slept on makeshift beds, wearing what clothes the storm left them.

The Jones' were working at the Quonset Point Naval Air Station and their son Robert at a bakery in Providence when the storm hit.

A neighbor, Mrs. Ethel Rose of Allenton, rushed the three children, two boys and a girl, 3 to 6 years old, from the house and drove them in her auto through rising waters to refuge at her own home.

The Jones' were able to return late Tuesday afternoon to find the floodwaters had virtually destroyed all their first-floor furnishings, including everything in two bedrooms.

SEATO Draws Few Mainlanders

WASHINGTON 25—Secretary of State Dulles sat down today in Manila with the foreign ministers of seven friendly countries to create a Southeast Asian defense alliance against Red China.

The alliance, SEATO, the Southeast Asian Treaty Organization, is intended to be the Asian counterpart of Europe's NATO, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, which is a defense against Russia.

There is one notable difference in the size of the membership of the two organizations. There will probably be another in the point of mutual help in case of attack.

The United States and almost all the countries of Western Europe, including Britain and France, are members of NATO. It has 14 members, while Europe's desire for defense against Russia was practically unanimous.

SEATO, the eight nations represented at Manila, besides the United States, are Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines, Pakistan and Thailand.

Thus only two nations from the mainland of Southeast Asia—Thailand and Indonesia—have shown interest in joining SEATO. Four others—Asia, Indonesia, Burma, Ceylon,

These four may go to the other extreme of making a nonaggression pact with China. India, insisting on neutrality, argues that SEATO may irritate China into action instead of discouraging her.

Indonesia tries to get along with communism not only abroad but at home.

So SEATO will represent much less than the unanimous desire of Southeast Asian to join an alliance against Red China. It will therefore lack NATO's rounded continental defense planning and the strength of its unified and huge manpower.

At the weekend he promised immediate American help to the Philippines if they should be attacked. But the Philippines, the Formosa and Japan, are part of the American defense line in the Pacific. Except for the fragment of South Korea, the line has not yet been extended into Asia.

SEATO, nevertheless, will provide a framework for consultation among the eight nations sitting in Manila and some preparations for defense, if not so thorough as the defense preparations of NATO. It can be the beginning for stronger agreements.

Last spring, when the Communists in Vietnam were smashing French in Indochina, Dulles tried to get united action in Asia. There was no SEATO then, although it had been talked of for years.

Britain therefore was not pleased to action in Asia. It urged Dulles down cold. That finished it. The United States wasn't willing to go to Asia to help the French without British cooperation. The result: Communists got half of Viet Nam, largest of Indochina's three areas.

After that disaster the United States pushed hard for SEATO. Today's meeting is the product of that push.

Ted Kluszewski's Powerful Hitting Asset To Redlegs

CINCINNATI (AP) — Ted Kluszewski isn't the greatest power hitter the Cincinnati Redlegs have ever had, name a better one.

Already leading the major leagues in home runs with 41, might Theodore yesterday also top over the pace in the runs batted-in department in the National League with 119. His nearest competitor in that category is Stan Musial of St. Louis with 117. Musial had held the RBI lead most of the season.

Kluszewski is batting .300 which makes him the fifth most effective batter in the senior loop and about seventh in the majors.

With 19 homers in August and three so far this month, two of them yesterday, Kluz is pretty good evidence for the Cincinnati fans' argument that he is currently the hottest thing in either league. He has 100 hits in 18 straight games and at his present rate seems a sure thing to top the National home run title.

Kluszewski is within nine RIBIs of the all-time Cincinnati season record set by Frank McCormick in 1939.

But even if he shouldn't erase that mark, Terrible Ted could retire on the standards he has already set.

His home run total stands also as a club mark and he holds the Cincinnati record also for total bases in one year with 334. Kluz had the old mark with 325 last season, also held by Cy Seymour. And he has 74 extra base hits this year, another Redleg record. The old one was set by Ruth Hoffman in 1932 with 73.

Well Trained Dog Helps Bag Game, Gives Enjoyment

Hunting as a recreation is gaining more followers every year, and a good dog as an aid in the sport not only means a fuller game bag, but a lot more fun, says Harry Miller, director of the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York.

If you are about to join the group who find hunting an absorbing hobby, choose the dog that has all the facilities you have for keeping a dog and for hunting the kind of game most prevalent in your area.

If the best opportunities in your area are for rabbit hunting then a Beagle, or Bassett Hound, will probably be your choice. For quail or pheasant hunting, one of the pointing breeds, or a spaniel is desirable. In coastal or lake sections where duck hunting is the most available sport, one of the retriever breeds, Chesapeake Bay or Golden, is preferable.

A Beagle or spaniel can be kept in a small back yard, as long as he is exercised regularly. You Read more spacious quarters for a retriever or other big dogs like the pointers and setters.

Just because the pup you get is one of the sporting breeds doesn't mean that he will be the perfect hunter, warns Mr. Miller. Look for a pup whose parents and grandparents have been good hunters. Look for their field records if they have been entered in field trials, not at the records of the ancestors four or five generations back. Strains that have long been bred for beauty alone rarely retain their hunting ability.

Even with a strong, inherent hunting instinct, all good hunting dogs must be trained. A good deal of training is to be useful in the field. The professional trainers for all the various hunting breeds and training may take anywhere from three to six months or more. No dog is ready for training until he is at least seven months old, and meanwhile you can decide whether you want to try to train your pup yourself, adds Mr. Miller. This can be done by following one of the many good books on the subject and having the facilities, such as available game and time, for training.

You can also buy a dog already trained, or partially trained. A trained dog costs far more than a pup, of course, but in any case, don't expect to buy a good dog cheap.

If you are thinking of a dog for the coming fall hunting season

Skip Alexander Is Leader In Florida West Coast Open

ST. PETERSBURG (AP) — Skip Alexander, steadiest of the leaders in the first two rounds of the Florida West Coast Open Golf Tournament, began the final 18 holes today with a four stroke advantage.

The big St. Peterburg professional shot 66 yesterday, five under par for the 61-hole card. Today, too, he went with 66.

That 133 put him in a position where only one competitor was given much chance of catching him—Bud Bolesta, Tampa pro, who opened 66-64.

Three strokes back of Bolesta at 140 came Jimmy Lantz, Bradenton pro; Frank Houston, state high school champion from Orlando; and Pete Stephens of St. Petersburg.

Two players who had tied Alexander for second place Saturday with 67s—Al Roemer of St. Petersburg and Harry Root of Tampa—dropped out of the running with 141s and 143s.

Even farther back was the defending champion, Cyclo Uanna Jr. of West Palm Beach who had a hole-in-one total of 145.

After shooting their 14th Southern Assn. round, the Atlanta Crafters even a quick wrap-up of the post-season play-off. Their hot streak had been a pitching staff that became unbeatable the last few days of the season.

Before the mound staff began shooting, the Crafters were hardly hanging on, and no one gave them more than an outside chance for the flag. But they came down the stretch like Native Dancers and took the prize on superb pitching by Glenn Thompson, Leo Crandall, Dick Donavan and Dick Kelly.

Donovan pitched the pennant clincher yesterday, a six-hitter which throttled Mobile 8-1. The big right-hander homered in the ninth to give the Crafters a 10-9 win over the Rednecks for a tie. He is expected to be a pitcher. It was the eighth consecutive performance by an Atlanta pitcher during the amazing nine-game winning streak that ended down the hunting trail. Four of the 11 triumphs were at the expense of the runnerup, New Orleans Pelicans.

The Pelicans lost to third-place Birmingham yesterday 8-3, giving Atlanta a four-game lead. Everybody finishes up today with Labor Day weekend headers of Birmingham, Atlanta, Chattanooga and Nashville.

Chattanooga and Memphis took their 11s from Little Rock and Nashville. Little Rock topped Little Rock 12 and 13, and Memphis won the opener from Memphis 14-13 in 11 innings before taking the nightcap 42 in a 10-hitter till sliced to five innings by the curve.

After finishing third place in the 35th annual St. Thomas Yacht Regatta series was abed today with the Biscayne Yacht Club leading the field of 13 entries.

The Biscayne club, winner of the Cup for the past two years, edged into first place yesterday with 322 points after Southern Yacht Club of New Orleans was disqualified in the third race.

Biloxi protested that Southern's 10th place entry should have been disqualified from the race because of non-compliance with the Gulf Yachting Protest Committee backed up the protest.

The disqualification fines Southern from first place in point standern from third place with 231. St. Petersburg was in second place with 29.

Texas Girl, 24, Badly Injured When Gored By Bull In Arena

Ciudad Acuna, Mex. (AP) — Patricia McCormick, a Texas girl who quit college to fight bulls, was impaled on the horns of a charging 1,350-pound black bull yesterday when she turned her back on him to seek cheers for her bravery.

The plucky, 24-year-old blonde lay in serious condition today in a hospital at Del Rio, Tex., across the Rio Grande from here. She had a deep puncture in the groin and was received surgery and three blood transfusions. Doctors said only that she was "holding her own."

Pat was gored fighting the second bull of the afternoon here. She killed the first with such skill she was awarded its ears and tail. Her manager, Joe Blair, said: "She has lots of confidence in her second fight," Blair said. He gave this account:

"The second bull trotted into the dusty arena. It was a big one, 4 years old. Pat began playing him daringly.

"In her cape work she was pulling the bull's ears awfully close," Blair said. "Then she fixed him."

"They call it 'the fix' when the bull, after being fought for some time, makes a pass around you and then turns the bull around."

The bull usually stands there a while, and it is customary at this point for the matador to turn his back on the bull's strut and take bows.

Matador Patricia turned her back to face the cheering crowd.

But the bull charged home and she heard him coming and started to run and deflect him with her cape. She was hit full-throated. The bull usually stands there a while, and it is customary at this point for the matador to turn his back on the bull's strut and take bows.

Miss America Contest Starts Today With Row One Of Two Connecticut Beauties Pickets Pageant After Heave Ho

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 6 — From the North, East, South and West, the pick of the nation's beauty crop gathered here today to battle it out for the "Miss America" title.

Also on hand, but barred from the contest—was a former WAC from Middlebury, Conn., who caused quite a stir yesterday by picking the pageant because she felt the officials had done her wrong.

While the 50 "local" contestants were registering, Violet Leigh, 24, barged in unannounced that she was Miss Connecticut and even obtained the white silk badge bearing the title.

But the officials soon learned of their mistake and rushed over to Violet while she was posing for photographers.

Miss Lezora Slaughter, the pageant's executive director, demanded the badge and told the blonde, "You are not Miss Connecticut."

"I am Miss Connecticut," she insisted. "I won the Miss America Pageant contest legally."

She refused to relinquish the badge, and Miss Slaughter struggled and said she could keep it.

Violet stormed out of the pageant headquarters and said she "was mad I couldn't cry."

At least not until she got outside where tears flowed freely as photographers snapped away.

The pageant, she said, would picket the headquarters. She did, hung antipicket signs. One read:

"Miss America Pageant unfair to the only legal Miss Connecticut."

After three hours in the sun, Violet keeled over in a faint. She was revived by police, who sent her to her hotel in a cab.

And who was the last of the 50 contestants to register? Dorothy Anne Hopkins, 18-year-old coed from Storrs, Conn., and the beauty who is officially recognized as the Miss America entry from the Nutmeg State.

Dorothy Anne won the contest on behalf of the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce, which the pageant says is the only organization authorized to select Miss Connecticut.

Violet won a rival contest, staged by Alfred Patricelli, a New Haven beauty promoter. He named Violet as the Connecticut representative in the pageant.

Patricelli, who came here with Violet, told reporters he managed the pageant for the past eight years. In the present squabble, he has filed breach of contract and damage suits against the pageant totaling $20,000.

Preliminary judging in the pageant starts tomorrow, and Miss America will be crowned Saturday night.

RESULTS OF CANCER STUDY REPORTED

WASHINGTON, D.C.—An extensive U.S. cancer study indicates about one half of all cancers in women originate in breasts or sex organs compared with only one eighth of the cases in these areas among men.

The figures are based on the first cancer study blanketing big population groups, covering about 1 million people in 10 metropolitan areas of the United States.

The results were reported today in a paper prepared for the International Congress of Pathology by Dr. Harold F. Dorn of the National Institutes of Health at Bethesda, Md. Several hundred doctors from 20 countries are pooling information at the congress and association meetings to find geographical patterns in disease and the causes.

Dorn said that when all age groups are considered, the U.S. cancer rate is about the same for males and females.
