

GREEN IS NOT BOUND TO GIVE UP SAN INSULL

However, Fugitive Is Being Held At Re- quest Of State De- partment Officials

The Associated Press
Samuel Insull, fugitive, former utility magnate, was held at Athens, Greece, last night for extradition to the United States to face embezzlement and larceny charges.

The state department in Washington ordered the American legation in Athens to request the formal arrest and detention of In-sull, but revealing the extradition treaty between the two countries is not yet effective and that Greece is therefore not bound to grant the request.

State's Attorney Swanson, of Cook county, Illinois, was investigating a report that Insull took $75,- 000 to his father to finance his flight.

A debenture holder in Insull Utilities, Inc., whose bankrupt insolvency investment trust, started suit in a Chicago federal court to recover securities of the concern held as collateral by Chicago banks.

John F. O'Keefe, former secretary of Samuel Insull, revealed in the grand jury in Chicago that Insull had been advised to flee to Greece by George A. Cooke, according to Swanson. Cooke, a former Illinois supreme court justice, recently resigned as receiver for Middle West Utilities, Insull's holding concern.

Shaffer Is Named Temporary Chief In Williams Place

Charles H. Shaffer, a recent candidate for constable, has been appointed as acting chief of Police of Sanford.

His temporary appointment to take the place of Chief of Police Ray G. Williams, who received serious injury in an attempt to arrest a negro convict, was made by a majority of the City Commissioners last Thursday evening.

The official notification is as follows: "This is to notify you that the mayor of Sanford has designated you as acting chief of police, of Sanford to serve in that capacity during the present emergency caused by the accident to Chief of Police Williams, and until further notice. This action has been concurred in by a majority of the City Commissioners, and it will be confirmed at the next regular meeting of the Commissioners."

Acting Chief Shaffer this morning said that he is appreciative of the splendid co-operation that has been rendered him from all sides particularly by the sheriff's office and Constable Bob Wilcox.
He said that he and his force of five will attempt to maintain Chief Williams' fine record in office, and that with the co-operation of the residents of this City, law and order will be maintained.

Other members of the force sent A. L. Marshall, B. C. Anderson, Bob Tillis, W. W. Owens, and George W. Gray.

Chief Williams remains confined to the Ferrel-Loughlin Hospital. His condition shows the extent of the extent of his injury still undetermined since he cannot be sure that only time and careful attention will save him. He is reported as believing that he is capable of returning to the hospital in a few weeks through physicians believing that he must remain permanently quiet for a considerable time, to recuperate on public bones to rest.

Robert Howard, the negro ex-convict who escaped from a sanatorium, was found in a stolen Ford car, in a field near here today. He had been shot to death.

Farley Makes Appeal For Democratic Funds To Aid In Roosevelt's Campaign

An appeal for funds with which to carry on the National Campaign to safeguard Franklin D.
Roosevelt's present admitted advantage over President Herbert Hoover, is contained in a telegram received by the Editor of The Herald today from James A.
Farley, chairman of the Democratic National Campaign Committee.

Mr. Farley declares that there is an urgent need for immediate funds with which to make Mr.
Roosevelt's position a certainty.
He states that there is a very definite advantage in favor of the New York candidate at present, but that desperate efforts are being made by the opposition party to defeat this advantage.

He also stated that any and all donations made by Democrats throughout the nation will be used solely for the national campaign which at the present time is being conducted with all the energy and enthusiasm at the command of outstanding members of the party nationally as well as locally.

Mr. Farley's telegram is as follows:
"National headquarters urgently needs immediate funds to safeguard present Roosevelt advantage against desperate efforts of opponents. Will you kindly respond personally if possible and also appeal to your readers for immediate campaign money, forwarding results speedily with names for record and credit to individual givers and your state quotas?"

Persons wishing to make a contribution of any size should address their contribution or checks to James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic National Campaign Committee, and send or bring them to The Herald office.
They will be transmitted to the New York headquarters of the National Committee, and the names of all donors will be printed in The Herald from day to day.

SUPREME COURT GUARDED DUE TO "RED" ACTIVITIES

Communists Protest Sentence Of Blacks For Attacking Girls

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—(AP)— While extra squads of policemen watched outside, the U. S. Supreme Court yesterday went internally about the business of acting on approximately 100 cases.

The guards were on duty because of threats that a Communist demonstration would be held urging that seven negroes condemned to death in Scottsboro, Ala., be freed. The court late in the day denied the petition of the negroes, assaulted for assaulting two white girls, were denied a fair trial.

Opposing counsel argued before the cases of the Alabama Supreme Court cases of seven negroes condemned to death.

"They were not given a fair trial," contended Walter Pollak, of New York, counsel for the negroes.

"They were," replied Attorney General Thomas E. Knight, Jr., of Alabama.

Both cited precedent. Both reviewed the history of the case but their clashing contentions resolved about the legality of the hearing given the seven in the Alabama town.

All through the court's session, officers outside closely scanned the line which allowed admission to the court. In front of the capital, other bluecoats were prepared to act promptly if a demonstration were attempted.

Reports had it that Communists planned to show their sympathy for the court's routine and only the packed room showed that it differed from the ordinary case.
When the hearing was concluded

GOLD STANDARD MENACE UNTRUE, SAYS JIM REED

Declares Hoover As- sertion About Dan- ger Was Falsehood

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 11.— Former Sen. James A. Reed of Missouri, in the Democratic response to President Hoover's opening campaign speech, last night asserted the statement that the gold standard is being forced on the country was "absolutely untrue."

Speaking in the coliseum where the President last week opened his active campaign, the Mis-souriian also denounced a statement of Governor Roosevelt's last night as "willful perversion of the truth," and referred to the body of the President's address as "a series of uncorrected statements and unjustified deductions."

Reed quoted Sen. Carter Glass (D. Va.), former secretary of the Treasury, as the source of his information that the country was never within $2,000,000,000 of the lawful suspension of gold payments.

Quitting from the sessions of the President's address, Reed made a brief speech in which he said:

"The fact is that the drum up our gold reserve was largely accomplished by the mismanagement of the federal reserve system, and also that the system has been greatly strengthened by the Democratic Glass-Steagall bill."

"But the astounding thing is that at the very time efforts are being made over the country to restore confidence in the financial system, Mr. Hoover is willing to spread false rumors about the gold standard." (Continued on Page Three)

HOOVER WILL GIVE ADDRESS IN CLEVELAND

Second Campaign Talk To Be Given From Place Where Cool- idge Was Nominated

At the auditorium in Cleveland, Ohio, where Calvin Coolidge was nominated for the presidency in 1924, President Hoover will deliver his second away-from-home campaign address next Saturday night.

The President's intention to make his second political trip of the campaign to Ohio was announced at the White House yesterday shortly before Postmaster General Brown and Gen. Thompson, chairman of the Cuyahoga county (Cleveland) Republican organizing discussed plans with him.

Just as the President did in his recent swing into Iowa, Brown said, so Hoover probably will stop his aerial train at several cities along the route. He is doing he will be able to speak briefly to at least half a dozen audiences from the rear of his car.

The postmaster general told newspapers that the chief executive in his Cleveland speech probably will touch upon unemployment conditions and the question of depressed farm prices.

"Certainly he will speak about 'employment,'" he said. "We are feeding thousands of people in this who can't find themselves." It is one of the most painful things I have ever seen.

"The political situation there has been improved very greatly in the last week, due in part to the President's Des Moines address.
There is now a better understanding of the issues of the campaign."

Brown said Hoover is being pressed by Republican leaders in many parts of the nation to visit these sections.

The President still has under serious consideration Brown said the advisability of a tour across the continent before election time.
He added, however, that no decision had been reached and that the result might depend in part upon the outcome of the Ohio journey. The President probably will make this trip a swift one returning to Washington almost immediately.

It has been announced by Republican leaders that Hoover will make at least one speech in the East.

SHOLTZ DELIVERS TAMPA ADDRESS TO 4,000 PERSONS

Urges Vote For Entire Democratic Ticket

TAMPA, Oct. 11.—Dave Sholtz, Democratic candidate for government, Senator Duncan U. Fletcher and Senator Park Trammell spoke to an enthusiastic audience of more than 4,000 persons in Plant Park last night, urging them to vote for the whole Democratic ticket in the November election, and to protect the common people.

Sholtz in opening, paid tribute to the city he received from Hillsborough county and the big audience that stood before him.
He told them they never would regret voting for Dave Sholtz, he pledged his cooperation with members of the ticket.

"It is the common people of Florida who stand behind me, not the vested interests, not the utilities," he shouted. "The Democratic Party has been for the common people, the Republicans for the vested interests. The American people would have to be gluttons for punishment to want any more Republican property."

Sholtz then paid tribute to Roosevelt and Garner as ideal leadership. Then he talked about Florida and the crisis through which the common people are struggling.

"They say to me after the pro-

SOUTHERN TRIP BY ROOSEVELT BEING PLANNED

Governor Will Give His Views On How Far U.S. Should En- gage In Relief Work

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 11.—(AP)— After accepting an invitation to give his views on the extent to which the federal government should engage in relief activities, Franklin D. Roosevelt last night went into a conference to complete the itinerary for his southern trip.

He decided to make a radio speech Thursday night at 10 o'clock to outline his relief views in response to a letter signed by 10 white workers a time on their own individual initiative.

They letter said they were asking the same five questions on relief, public works, unemployment insurance, the children's bureau, and education, of both candidates.

The Democratic presidential candidate conferred last night with James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee, to complete the southern itinerary which will swing back to the political battleground of the Mid West before striking back to Albany.

Several of his recent visitors have brought word that he is not needed in the southern states and thought is being given to the possibility of further shortening the leg of the trip so as to give him more time in the Middle Western states which many consider the real battleground of the campaign.

J. W. Shadoin Catches 12-Pound Black Bass

From the deep waters near Blue Springs, J. W. Shadoin, who was on a fishing trip with Sam Hawkins, drew a 12 pound black bass that attracted the attention of scores of persons and the envy of many veteran fishermen when it was displayed in Sanford early this afternoon.

Mr. Shadoin landed the huge bass on an ordinary rod and reel. A stiff fight was waged by the fish before it was landed in the fish-era and into the boat. The fish was one of seven caught during the morning by Mr. Shadoin. Mr.
Hawkins caught eight black bass, varying in size from one to three pounds.

Symphony Orchestra Given Another Name

Announcement was made today by George C. Fellows, director of the Sanford Symphony Orchestra that the members of that unit have decided to change the name to Sanford Concert Orchestra.

The change was made because the original plan to encourage enough talent to perfect an organization that would by its varied instrumentation warrant the name Symphony Orchestra is apparently impossible of fulfillment.

Budget Adoption Is Halted By Writ Of Outside Bondowner

AMENDMENTS TO CITY BUDGET ARE O. K. TO BOND MEN

Delinquent Tax Col- lection Can Be Used To Purchase Bonds

The Bondholders' Protective Committee admitted representatives of nearly 88 percent of the bonds of the City of Sanford, has accepted the City Commissioners' amendments to the budget arrangement submitted by the Committee early in August.

This was learned at a meeting of the City Commission last night when City Attorney Fred R. Wilson read a letter from E. Engle and Shands, Jacksonville attorneys representing the Committee.

The Committee accepted the first amendment to the plan, that the collection from delinquent taxes be used to purchase bonds on the open market for cancellation, with the declaration that although this would mean a 10 percent reduction from the anticipated revenues of the Committee, "nevertheless, the Committee is willing to make this concession to evidence the desire of the Committee to cooperate with the city officials and the taxpayers even in a manner which involves substantial monetary loss to the bondholders."

The Committee went into closer detail as to the second amendment, that the Commissioners be given a more definite statement as to the committee's plan to wipe out all accrued interest to Sept. 30, 1932.

Deciding that "the formulation of a plan which would be acceptable to the City and the Depositors will necessarily require time and serious consideration in an exchange of views between members of the Committee and possible discussions with bondholders," the Committee stated that it does not propose to defer the matter until the end of next year, but rather will "submit such plan before the end of the present calendar year."

In its letter of acceptance, the Committee is understood that to save time and to settle in the matter of the cancellation of bond coupons during the month of January, 1933, the Committee issue the City receipts for all cash collections set aside for the purpose of retiring the coupons and that at the end of the fiscal year these receipts are to be surrendered to the Committee in exchange for the actual coupons.

Chiropractors Will Gather In Orlando

The Eighteenth Annual Convention of the Florida Chiropractors' Association will open in Orlando Thursday for a three-day session before which Dr. James N. Keith, of the Lincoln Chiropractic College of Indianapolis, and Dr. W.
C. Schuler of the National College of Chiropractic in Chicago, will be principal speakers.

Sanford chiropractors expect to attend the meeting, it was learned today. They assert that Dr. Keith has been recognized as an authority on symptomatology even by those outside of his profession. His book "Chiropractic Symptomatology" is said to be a standard text on the subject in chiropractic colleges, while Dr.
Schuler is president of the National College, a recognized school of chiropractic.

Meet Scheduled For Golf Club Members

The more than 250 members of the Sanford Country Club yesterday and today were notified by aid of an important meeting of members to be held in the council room at the City Hall Thursday night, Oct. 13, at 7:30 o'clock.
Among the matters to be discussed are winter rules and a basis for operations during the winter months. The postcard, sent out by Andrew Cartaway, secretary of the club, declares that it is urgent that all members be present.

Operation Of City's Government Given Setback By Court Action Of C. J. Root

An alternative writ of mandamus signed by Circuit Court Judge Millard R. Smith on Saturday in favor of C. J.
Root of Terre Haute, Ind., owner of $25,000 worth of City of Sanford Public Improvement bonds, has temporarily halted the City's efforts to adopt the 1932-33 budget, officially declare the new year's millage, and in general proceed with the business of operating the City government.

Served on the Commissioners yesterday morning, the writ infact states that since it is proven that the City issued a certain series of bonds which Mr.
Root holds a part of, that these bonds bear coupons which, with the bonds, were valid; that all times have elapsed and all conditions have been performed to entitle Mr. Root to maintain action which will insure a collecting a sum of $6187.50 representing past due and soon to become due coupons on his bonds; that the City has tentatively adopted a budget which is "wholly inadquate"; that no provision has been made for a special levy which will satisfy Mr. Root's claim; that although it is the duty of the City to appropriate and provide for Mr. Root's claim, "they have stated that they would not do so without an order of Court," "I, being willing that justice may be done in the premises, do hereby command the City Commissioners forthwith and without undue delay to convene and revise the budget of the City for the fiscal year 1932-33 to include in said budget, and appropriate and provide for the payment thereof of the sum of $6187.50"

The City has until Oct. 20 to show cause why a peremptory writ shall not be issued from Judge Smith's office commanding that his order be carried out.

Upon advice of City Attorney Fred R. Wilson, who also notified attorneys for the Bondholders' Protective Committee of the new writ, the Commissioners will delay the budget, tax roll, and millage levy, until after the 20th of this month.

Because only three of the Commissioners were present at last night's meeting, much business that was to have been disposed of was temporarily tabled until a full meeting of the Board Commissioners H. J. Lehman acted as majority in the absence of Mayor E. L. Dumas, Commissioner V. A.

Body Of Former Head Of College Is Found

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 11.— County officers reported today the body of Dr. Simon J.
Baker, 65, missing former president of Washington and Jefferson College, was found in a field near here today. He had been shot to death.

Baker, who resigned as head of the school last year following a student's strike, disappeared in Pittsburgh yesterday after leaving home for a stroll. He had been president for 10 years. The strike followed dismissal of two professors and the possibility of disciplinary action against five football players accused of playing in a hotel.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

A SAFE INVESTMENT:—He that hath pity upon the poor lendeth unto the Lord; and that which he hath given will he pay him again.—Prov. 19:17.

NEW ENGLAND MOTHER

Since waste, to her, was most abhorrent. She poured her strength into a torrent Of household thrift, nor did she shrink A single task of all her work. Soap she made from bacon drippings. Quills she made from rag-bag snippings. She ground the dried-up parts of bread For puddings; sheets upon her bed Were laid with wrong end up, with care (Except when "company" was there). To save the hemstitched tops from wear.

Shirts and drawers from flour sacks Were worn upon her children's backs. Paraffin from jellies clear Was saved and used year after year. Papers, magazines and string, Bottles, boxes, everything That could be used again, she kept. Ah, once, when all the others slept, She rose, because the moon was bright And put her pantry shelves aright. "She could not bear to waste that light!" Ruth Seymour Vesely.

"Conditions were worse here in 1860 than they are now," an old timer reminds us. May be they were for you, brother, but not for us.

Add Social News: Samuel In-sull, retired utility magnate and Chicago social leader, has gone to Greece to spend the winter where a lack of treaty agreements prevents extradition to this country.

In Texas the Democrats seem to be split over the nomination of "Ma" Ferguson. This is a great year for decided differences of opinion. If we had leaders to organize we could have as many parties in this country as in Germany.

Huey Long, the Louisiana "Kingfish," made a friendly call on Roosevelt the other day at the latter's Hyde Park estate, but we doubt if the Democratic presidential candidate will ever put himself in the position occupied by Gov. Oscar Allen, of Louisiana, as explained recently by Time in the following conversation: Senator Long in full legislative session: "Oscar, go get me those goddam bills we was talking about." Gov. Allen: embarrassed silence. Senator Long: "Goddam you, Oscar, don't you stall around with me! I can break you as easy as I made you. Get those goddam bills and get 'em on the jump." Gov. Allen: "Yes, Sir."

The new non-partisan committee on railroad problems, headed by Governor President Coolidge, and one incidentally not appointed by either Hoover, has begun its investigation of railroad difficulties. In this connection it is interesting to note that the railroads borrowed from the Federal Government during the war and the period immediately thereafter the staggering sum of $1,111,000,000. Since then the railroads have repaid $1,077,000,000, together with six percent interest annually. Since the government was able to borrow the money at 3 percent, it made a profit on the deal amounting to approximately $30,000,000. It is well to know that the president in railroad work when including the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for present loans is talking.

For International Good Will

While tariff barriers, international debts, and armament issues, coupled with a natural touchiness because of world-wide economic depression, are conspiring to broaden the breach of friendly understanding between nations, there was opened in Chicago last week a three-million dollar center for the promotion of international goodwill.

The institution which combines a club, a theater, and a home all in one is open to men and women from other lands where they may live and study and share experiences with American students. The building, known as the International House of Chicago, is a gift of John D. Rockefeller, Jr. and is one of several homes endowed by the great philanthropist in Paris, New York, and Berkeley, California.

It is a massive structure which embraces all the better features of the earlier efforts and has been planned with an idea of making the foreign student feel at home amid surroundings which are designed to acquaint him with the best cultural features of this country and to provide him with every opportunity to make friends in an atmosphere of refinement.

Numerous recreational facilities are provided. A spacious lounge furnishes many welcoming chairs and divans with soft lights conducive to conversation. A book-lined library provides the reader with a wide range of literature. A dining room, in cheerful colors, serves food prepared by a chef from Yugoslavia. Dormitory rooms numbering 500 have been decorated in an artistic manner.

In keeping with need for curtailed expenses, living costs in the institution are not high and every means is offered to assist in keeping budgets as economical as possible. For instance, there is a sewing room and laundry opened to women students.

No better methods of spreading international good will can be found than in the inter-mingling of various foreign students on common ground, where they can learn to understand the view-points, the reactions, and national characteristics of one another. The big scale adoption of International Houses would go a long way toward eliminating suspicions and misunderstandings between nations.

Business In Baseball

How has the depression affected the baseball season just closed and do hard times keep customers away from baseball games in the same way and to the same extent as they do from various business endeavors? The New York Times says that in general the public showed a higher degree of discrimination than usual but where a good ball game was at stake there was no apparent lack of patronage. Baseball fans had money to spend all right; but they were more particular on the type of game on which they spent it. The poorer teams suffered severely; the better ones were well supported.

"In the National League," explains the Times, "there were five clubs still in the pennant race as late as mid-August, and the fans somehow found money to go along with them. The Chicago Cubs and the Brooklyn Robins fared well financially. The Pirates, Phillies and Braves, with better teams than in 1931, did a correspondingly better business at the gate. In the American League the Athletics, former world's champions, fell from their high estate and had a losing season in the treasury as well as on the diamond. But the pennant-winning Yankees and the improved Detroit team had profitable seasons. A good article was still finding purchasers, even in an era of depression.

"New York was once a rabid National League town and John J. McGraw was the idol of the baseball multitude. But, in poor health and with a weak team on his hands, the veteran manager resigned, and under Manager Terry the lowly team had lowly gate receipts. The old Manhattan loyalty to the Giants slumped in obedience to economic law. The minor leagues, on the whole, had a disastrous season, peculiarly speaking. Clubs went into bankruptcy. Leagues were dissolved or curtailed. But the minor leagues, for various good reasons, were in a bad way financially even before the general depression hit the country. Their sad fate was only hastened by the depression."

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

William Earl Gore, of Orlando, and Miss Ida Blanche Bothamly, of this city, were married last night at 8:00 o'clock in Orlando by the Rev. Dean Spencer. The couple went from here to Orlando by auto and were accompanied by Miss Florence Stringfellow and "Pop" Wallace. The ceremony over the quartet returned to Sanford. Mr. Gore is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gore, of Orlando. He and his bride went to Orlando this morning and will board the Seaboard Railway for an extended bridal tour of Richmond, Washington, New York, and other cities.

Colg drinks, cigars, and ice cream will henceforth, for a time at least, be dispensed in Orlando on Sunday. County Solicitor George A. McCotter told Sheriff Kirkwood yesterday, in reply to a query from the sheriff, that he would not prosecute persons for selling such commodities on Sunday.

The offices of the Florida Vegetable Growers' Association opened for business, C. L. Smith having returned from his vacation spent in New Jersey. President Hughes is expected to arrive in the city in a few days and the Association will soon assume the former air of activity.

The Band 'A' Club will hold its first meeting of the season at the home of Mrs. Henry Wright this afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Howard and family and Mrs. Andrews motored to Orlando yesterday.

NO "WIDE-SPREAD DESTITUTION"

CHARLESTON NEWS AND COURIER

On the postulate that in Washington there is a Reconstruction Finance Corporation having $300,000,000 to lend to the several states and that unless South Carolina shall go begging for a loan it will be left in the cold, the application for $5,000,000 for highway construction can be defended. It is not an especially creditable defense.

It appears that the plan of the government is to appropriate this money to the state in future years, and the opportunity is offered that the state take it in advance. However, it would not affect the outstanding bonded interest of the commonwealth. The people will not deceive themselves by assuming that they can get $5,000,000 without borrowing it. In one way or another if the money comes to them they will owe it, for a time.

In South Carolina is no "wide-spread destitution." The amount of money in circulation is far greater than it was forty years ago. There is a great deal of poverty. Always there has been. Al-ways, we fear, notwithstanding Herbert the Prophet, there will be poverty in South Carolina. "Acute conditions," do not "prevail generally through the state." Conditions have improved notably within the last twelve months. Employment in the factories has greatly increased in the last sixty days. Prices of basic products, notably cotton and tobacco, however low, have markedly improved. Relatively, the people are cheerful.

When the governor says that "The serious reduction in estimated highway employment caused by inability to sell state highway bonds to finance a $20,000,000 a year construction program has naturally aggravated the unemployment situation with its attendant destitution," the implication is that we are going to have destitution in South Carolina unless we build $20,000,000 worth of highways every year or two. We are doomed to bankruptcy and destitution soon or late anyway. We cannot live forever by issuing highway bonds. Is road building the federal government holds on to this little state as a sponge to squeeze. Unless conditions shall change the more money we take from it the more completely shall we be enslaved by it.

The real need of South Carolina is a self-reliant people who will not look to the government for support. If the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall turn down the application for a $5,000,000 loan The News and Courier will shed no tears.

In Good Times and Bad —Your Service Improves Some of our customers have commented favorably upon the fact that telephone service is better than before despite the depression, and that their telephone friends were as anxious as ever to satisfy the individual needs of subscribers. This is gratifying, but quite natural when one considers the service comes first with telephone people and that they regard it as a serious obligation to serve the needs of the public efficiently, twenty-four hours a day, in good times and bad times. During the past ten years the number of telephones in practically every community has doubled, and in some instances tripled. With this growth the service has become more complex but there has been a constant improvement in scientific inventions, new methods and practices and a more skilled and experienced personnel. The value of the service has grown to the extent that it is regarded by many as the cheapest form of service that can be bought. That the increased quantity and quality of the service has not been accompanied by a greater cost to the user is because of economies effected by new inventions and practices which have been passed on to the telephone using public in the form of more and better service. Although your telephone company has suffered a serious loss in telephones and an enormous loss in revenue, there are still many more telephones in service than there were five years ago and the cost, compared with the value, scope and quality of the service is much less than it ever has been. Telephone people have faced the depression cheerfully. They have accepted shorter hours in order that the work might be spread among as many as possible and with a determination to fulfill their obligation to render the best possible service at the lowest possible cost consistent with financial safety. WITH CLIVE IN INDIA "Nature in the Raw" — as portrayed by the noted artist, Karl Goddard... inspired by the fierce and brilliant assault by Clive and a handful of followers, outnumbered 20 to 1 by savage hordes of bloodthirsty natives at the Battle of Plassey—the birth of the British Indian Empire—as described in the famous Henry book, "With Clive in India." —and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes They are not present in Luckies... the mildest cigarette you ever smoked WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seidom Mild"—these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the word—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes. "It's toasted" That's the reason of mild Luckies. "If a man with a better head, preach a better sermon, or make a better speech than I, should find his hearer in the words, the world will walk a better path to his door." —RALPH WALDO EMERSON. Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?

Sholtz has discussed the schools, saying there were too many frills and fancies, not enough attention to reading, writing, arithmetic and spelling. He said kids from all over the state had written to him to help them get books so they could go to school. By practicing rigid economy, he said he hoped to be able to take care of these kids, and at the same time bring taxes down.

"Our gasoline tax is too high; a man should not have to pay such a penalty to go out riding on Sunday," he said. "I say that $5 is high enough license fee for a small car, and $10 for a big car, and you're going to get them. We can do these things. There are 75,000 cars that have been driven off the highways by high taxes. We will put them back; they will help the others to pay, and you can get tax reduction."

"I still think that free white labor ought to be given a chance on our highways."

"I have made no promises, no commitments. No big interests are behind me. I am not hog tied, nor hamstrung. I am no one but Dave Sholtz, representing the common people. No one is authorized to speak for me."

"But after all, I can't do it all myself, it is up to all of you. My heart, my soul, my blood and my energy is in this fight, but I am asking you to go to the polls and vote the entire Democratic ticket, because we need the whole ticket."

federal reserve banks in an effort to win an election.

"His statement has done infinite harm and if credited will send a shiver of fear throughout the financial and industrial world," he quoted newspaper headlines reporting lower market prices as an indication of the effect of the Hoover speech on stock and grain markets the following day.

In devoting a large portion of his address to reviewing both wartime and post-war activities of Mr. Hoover which he said were detrimental to increased prices for farm products, the former senator said:

"Mr. Hoover's (war-time) regulations of prices was the bane of England, Italy, France and Belgium. Thus did he carry out the plans he brought with him to the United States, viz. to beat down American farm prices for the benefit of Great Britain and her allies."

The speaker said Mr. Hoover's theory to capture the trade of the world was to "undersell the world."

In attacking the farm board, the address of the former senator, as distributed by the Democratic National Committee, said:

"He (Mr. Hoover) tells you in one breath that he proposes to collect the foreign debts and in the next that in some mysterious way he is going to wipe out the debts due us by Europe by sending them our wheat in addition to the money we have heretofore given them, that kind of financing is well illustrated by a proposition now being discussed.

"The Farm Board paid more than 25 million dollars of our money for 25 million bushels of wheat. It is now trying to sell the wheat to China for $15,000,000 and proposes to loan China $10,000,000 with which to pay for it. Thus we will have 40 millions of dollars invested and the very doubtful note of China for $15,000,000."

Turning to the tariff, Reed said Mr. Hoover charged that Governor Roosevelt promises a reduction of farm tariffs and asserted that the Democrats will reduce agricultural tariffs after they come into power.

"I denounce the statement as a willful perversion of the truth," Reed said. "Governor Roosevelt has never said that he favors a reduction of tariffs on farm products which can be shipped into the United States."

He interpreted the views of the Democratic party as expressed in its platform and the statements of Governor Roosevelt as holding that the Grundy tariff bill is too high, that it has brought retaliatory tariffs and destroyed the country's markets abroad for such farm and manufactured products.

"That is a very different thing from saying that the tariff against the importation of farm products should be taken off, a fact which Mr. Hoover and his advisors well knew when they prepared his false statement to be delivered in the agricultural belt of the country," Reed told his audience.

He said the Democratic Party in both Houses of Congress had supported measures to bar competitive farm products and their substitutes, and expressed his personal belief that the farmer should have protection equivalent with that enjoyed by manufacturers on things he must buy.

Referring to what President Hoover termed "bank bail" legislation and contended committed the Democratic Party to the policy of creating an un sound currency and unstable financial sit nation, Reed declared that "it is enough to say that if the Cather bill is a 'pork barrel bill' then Mr. Hoover is in bad up to his eyes."

"Indeed he is the responsible author for that kind of legislation," he asserted, recalling that "at a conference of governors in New Orleans in 1928 the President advocated adoption of a $3,000,000,000 public works program."

Senator Reed said the Garnet bill "simply puts this proposal of Mr. Hoover into effect."

"For the man who was the author of these very schemes to now denounce those who carry them into effect is as unjustified as for a man to deny the paternity of his own child and turn against one who gave it protection."

"If I had any criticism to pass upon Jack Garnet it would be that he never even for a moment followed the lead of Herbert Hoover," he continued.

The opening section of Reed's speech was devoted to picturing Hoover as a prophet. The former senator said the President in his Des Moines speech and elsewhere has told the people that he has plans to restore prosperity and that these plans will certainly work.

"It will be observed, however," Reed said, "that none of them can be demonstrated until after the election. What we are asked to accept, therefore, is Mr. Hoover's promises."

While tariff barriers, international debts, and armament issues, coupled with a natural touchiness because of world-wide economic depression, are conspiring to broaden the breach of friendly understanding between nations, there was opened in Chicago last week a three-million dollar center for the promotion of international goodwill.

The institution which combines a club, a theater, and a home all in one is open to men and women from other lands where they may live and study and share experiences with American students.

It is a massive structure which embraces all the better features of the earlier efforts and has been planned with an idea of making the foreign student feel at home amid surroundings which are designed to acquaint him with the best cultural features of this country and to provide him with every opportunity to make friends in an atmosphere of refinement.

Numerous recreational facilities are provided. A spacious lounge furnishes many welcoming chairs and divans with soft lights conducive to conversation.

In keeping with need for curtailed expenses, living costs in the institution are not high and every means is offered to assist in keeping budgets as economical as possible.

No better methods of spreading international good will can be found than in the inter-mingling of various foreign students on common ground, where they can learn to understand the viewpoints, the reactions, and national characteristics of one another.

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The physical healing of Christian Science results now, as in Jesus' time, from the operation of divine Principle, love which sin and disease lose their reality in human consciousness and disappear as naturally and as necessarily as darkness gives place to light and sin to reformation" (Prof. 25).

It appears that the plan of the government is to appropriate this money to the state in future years, and the opportunity is offered that the state take it in advance. However, "it would not affect the outstanding bonded interest of the commonwealth," the people will not deceive themselves by assuming that they can get $5,000,000 without borrowing it.

In South Carolina is no "wide-spread destitution." The amount of money in circulation is far greater than it was forty years ago. There is a great deal of poverty. Always there has been. Always, we fear, notwithstanding Herbert the Prophet, there will be poverty in South Carolina.

"Acute conditions," do not "prevail generally through the state." Conditions have improved notably within the last twelve months. Employment in the factories has greatly increased in the last sixty days. Prices of basic products, notably cotton and tobacco, however low, have markedly improved. Relatively, the people are cheerful.

When the governor says that "The serious reduction in estimated highway employment caused by inability to sell state highway bonds to finance a $25,000,000 a year construction program has naturally aggravated the unemployment situation with its attendant destitution," the implication is that we are going to have destitution in South Carolina unless we build $25,000,000 worth of highways every year or two. We are doomed to bankruptcy and destitution soon or late anyway. We cannot live forever by issuing highway bonds. In road building the federal government holds on to this little state as a sponge to squeeze. Unless conditions shall change the more money we take from it the more completely shall we be enslaved by it.

The real need of South Carolina is a self-reliant people who will not look to the government for support. If the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall turn down the application for a $5,000,000 loan The News and Courier will shed no tears.

In Good Times and Bad - Your Service Improves. Some of our customers have commented favorably upon the fact that telephone service is better than ever, despite the depression, and that their telephone friends were anxious as ever to satisfy the individual needs of subscribers. This is gratifying, but quite natural when one considers the service comes first with telephone people and that they regard it as a serious obligation to serve the needs of the public efficiently, twenty-four hours a day, in good times and bad times. During the past ten years the number of telephones in practically every community has doubled, and in some instances tripled. With this growth the service has become more complex but there has been a constant improvement due to scientific inventions, new methods and practices and a more skilled and experienced personnel. The value of the service has grown to the extent that it is regarded by many as the cheapest form of service that can be bought. That the increased quantity and quality of the service has not been accompanied by a greater cost to the user is because of economies effected by new inventions and practices which have been passed on to the telephone using public in the form of more and better service. Although your telephone company has suffered a serious loss in telephones and an enormous loss in revenue, there are still many more telephones in service than there were five years ago and the cost, compared with the value, scope and quality of the service is much less than it ever has been. Telephone people have faced the depression cheerfully. They have accepted shorter hours in order that the work might be spread among as many as possible and with a determination to fulfill their obligation to render the best possible service at the lowest possible cost consistent with financial safety. "Nature in the Raw is seldom MILD" - and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes. They are not present in Luckies... the mildest cigarette you ever smoked. WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—and these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the world—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes. "It's toasted" That makes the difference. If a man smokes a better leaf, breathes a better stream, or makes a better man than his neighbor, he should build his house in the woods, the world will make a better path to his door. Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?

He stated that since he was on an indefinite tour, the length of his stay is undetermined, but that he would at least remain here until tomorrow.

Mary, Dave, go on home; the election is over, but I told you here in Tampa that if you made your leader, I would be a leader, and so I am out working," he said.

"We have this year for the first time a platform, and I am interested in our party, not in building a machine for Dave Sholtz. We in Florida are having our struggles; we are losing our homes. We are entitled to a living. We have got to fight for the common people. I, myself, am from the common people, and I have no apologies to make to any man, it is time we common people took the government back where it belongs. I am not interested in new sources of revenue, but I expect to spend my time in Tallahassee fighting to get rid of costs, boards, political jobs, to simplify our government so we can live and still be able to take care of our bond I debt. I'm going to fight so we all can have a future, your children and mine.

Sholtz then discussed the schools, saying there were too many frills and fancies, not enough attention to reading, writing, arithmetic and spelling. He said kids from all over the state had written to him to help them get books so they could go to school. By practicing rigid economy, he said he hoped to be able to take care of these kids, and at the same time bring taxes down.

"Our gasoline tax is too high; a man should not have to pay such a penalty to go out riding on Sunday," he said. "I say that $5 is high enough license fee for a small car, and $10 for a big car, and you're going to get them. There are 75,000 cars that have been driven off the highways by high taxes. We will put them back; they will help the others to pay, and you can get tax reduction."

"I still think that free white labor ought to be given a chance on our highways."
"I have made no promises, no commitments. No big interests are behind me. I am not hog tied, nor hamstrung. I am no one but Dave Sholtz, representing the common people. No one is authorized to speak for me."
"But after all, I can't do it all myself, it is up to all of you. My heart, my soul, my blood and my energy is in this fight, but I am asking you to go to the polls and vote the entire Democratic ticket, because we need the whole ticket."
"I am your servant, your hired man in Tallahassee, but you've got to stand behind me. It's your job, too, and if you do we will

federal reserve banks in an effort to win an election.

"His statement has done infinite harm and if credited will send a shiver of fear throughout the financial and industrial world," he quoted newspaper headlines reporting lower market prices as an indication of the effect of the Hoover speech on stock and grain markets the following day.

In devoting a large portion of his address to reviewing both wartime and post-war activities of Mr. Hoover which he said were detrimental to increased prices for farm products, the former senator said:

"Mr. Hoover's (war-time) regulations of prices was for the benefit of England, Italy, France and Belgium. Thus did he carry out the plans he brought with him to the United States, viz. to beat down American farm prices for the benefit of Great Britain and her allies."

The speaker said Mr. Hoover's theory to capture the trade of the world was to "undersell the world."

In attacking the farm board, the address of the former senator, as distributed by the Democratic National Committee, said:

"He (Mr. Hoover) tells you in one breath that he proposes to collect the foreign debts and in the next that in some mysterious way he is going to wipe out the debts due us by Europe by sending them our wheat in addition to the money we have heretofore given them, that kind of financing is turn in the greatest Democratic majority for the whole ticket that Florida ever saw," the capacity audience quietly withdrew.

Many negroes were in that audience. Mary Murray, the mother of the California Labor leader now serving sentence for the 1916 San Francisco bombing, was present. She said she was interested in seeing that other mothers' sons get justice.

Polak, counsel for the negroes, emphasized three main points in support of his contention of a fair trial, namely: that the negroes had been denied counsel until brought to trial, that the public mind was inflamed by newspaper articles, making the presence of state militia necessary to prevent mob violence, and that there had been race discrimination because the jury, which tried the three cases, had not been examined as to race prejudice, and no qualified negro had been permitted to serve as juror.

PARIS, Oct. 11.—(AP) Seven small delegations representing the "International Red Relief" organization, visited the American Embassy yesterday and presented petitions for the release of seven negroes under sentence of death at Scottsboro, Ala. It is an attack on two white women, and asking also that Tom Mooney be liberated from prison.

Sholtz then discussed the schools, saying there were too many frills and fancies, not enough attention to reading, writing, arithmetic and spelling. He said kids from all over the state had written to him to help them get books so they could go to school. By practicing rigid economy, he said he hoped to be able to take care of these kids, and at the same time bring taxes down.

will illustrated by a proposition now being discussed.

"The Farm Board paid more than 25 million dollars of our money for 25 million bushels of wheat. It is now trying to sell the wheat to China for $15,000,000 and proposes to loan China $15,000,000 with which to pay for it. Thus we will have 40 millions of dollars invested and the very doubtful note of China for $15,000,000."

Turning to the tariff, Reed said: Mr. Hoover charged that Governor Roosevelt promises a reduction of farm tariffs and asserted that the Democrats will reduce agricultural tariffs after they come into power.

"I denounce the statement as a willful perversion of the truth," Reed said, "Governor Roosevelt has never said that he favors a reduction of tariffs on farm products which can be shipped into the United States."

He interpreted the views of the Democratic party as expressed in its platform and the statements of Governor Roosevelt as holding that the Grundy tariff bill is too high, that it has brought retaliatory tariffs and destroyed the country's markets abroad for both farm and manufactured products.

"That is a very different thing from saying that the tariff against the importation of farm products should be taken off, a fact which Mr. Hoover and his advisors will know when they prepared his false statement to be delivered in the agricultural belt of the country," Reed told his audience.

He said the Democratic Party in both Houses of Congress had supported measures to bar competitive farm products and their substitutes, and expressed his personal belief that the farmer should have protection equivalent with that enjoyed by manufacturers on things he must buy.

Referring to what President Hoover termed "pork barrel" legislation and contended committed the Democratic Party to the policy of creating an unsound currency and unstable financial situation, Reed declared that "it is enough to say that if the Garner bill is a 'pork barrel' then Mr. Hoover is in a lard up to his eyes."

"Indeed, he is the responsible author for that kind of legislation," he asserted, recalling that "at a conference of governors in New Orleans in 1928 the President advised adoption of a $3,000,000,000 public works program."

Senator Reed said the Garner bill "simply puts this proposal of Mr. Hoover into effect."

"For the man who was the author of these very schemes to now denounce those who carry them into effect is as unjustifiable as for a man to deny the paternity of his own child and turn against one who gave it protection."

"If I had any criticism to pass upon Jack Garner it would be that he never even for a moment followed the lead of Herbert Hoover," he continued.

The opening section of Reed's speech was devoted to picturing Hoover as a prophet. The former senator said the President in his Des Moines speech and elsewhere has told the people that he has plans to restore prosperity and that these plans will certainly work.

"It will be observed, however," Reed said, "that none of them can be demonstrated until after the election. What we are asked to accept, therefore, is Mr. Hoover's prophesies."
