'Make Ours Milk' Say GMC Truck Drivers

Even the most talented traffic technicians lose control when a bit woozy, decided a group of Detroit truck drivers who climbed up on the brass rail in the interest of science. The drivers—the majority of them operators of huge General Motors Trucks—passed around the bottle and then submitted to tests which showed them to be 21 per cent less efficient than when strictly "on the wagon." The above photographs picture the tests and some of the reactions which followed.

Below, Michigan State Trooper Fred Nentwig and John F. Ivory and C. E. Wormuth of the Detroit Industrial Safety Council watch one of the drivers being tested for his ability to manipulate. Left, above, Driver Jack Konepny, of the Geo. F. Alger Co., Detroit, takes a test of his own before climbing into the cab of his GMC truck. In the circle, Gordon Montcalm, says "How many fingers am I holding up?" before allowing his co-worker, Gordon Danks, to drive away in his GMC.

Death Comes To Frank B. Kellogg

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Frank Billings Kellogg, former Secretary of State and co-author of the Kellogg-Briand world peace pact, died at his home at 7:14 P. M. yesterday.

Kellogg, 1930 winner of the Nobel peace prize, would have celebrated his eighty-first birthday today.

Dr. J. A. Lespak said that death resulted from pneumonia which set in Saturday night and which complicated cerebral thrombosis from which Kellogg had suffered several months.

The one-time farm boy who rose to international prominence as a statesman and champion of peace, had been in a coma almost steadily since late Saturday night.

Christmas was not among the earliest festivals of the Christian church.

Investigation Seen As Furnishing Basis For Dealing With Budget Balancing

Dies Plans Meet To Cut Spending

Roosevelt Warns Of Unbalanced Budget; Blames Congress

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Officials arranging for the Senate's unemployment investigation beginning Jan. 4 indicated today it would develop into a broad analysis of the extent of the business recession.

Governmental and industrial leaders will be called, they said, to testify on the present industrial activity and prospects for the next few months. Some informed persons forecast the inquiry, under the direction of Senator Byrnes (D-S. C.) would be one of the most significant events of the 1938 congressional session.

It probably will provide the background, they said, for the dominant issue of the session—government expenditures and budget balancing. Furthermore, the inquiry will constitute the first attempt by Congress to study the relief problem for itself and devise a program of its own, discontinued on page two.

In the letter Marcus C. Fagg, superintendent of the home expressed his gratitude to the members of the club who had a part in sending the donations which "will help to bring Christmas cheer to our little folks."

Representatives of the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works in Washington and Atlanta, Florida Senators, Gov. Fred P. Cone and other outstanding figures have been invited to participate in the program.

MATECUMBE MONUMENT

This coral rock column was dedicated November 14 to the memory of civilians and war veterans who lost their lives in the Labor Day hurricane of 1935. The storm howled at 100 miles an hour and pushed waves 18 feet high over the ground where several hundred spectators stood during recent ceremonies. The monument is at Matecumbe on one of the small keys off the southern tip of Florida.

Drive Planned To Stamp Out Rabies Spread

15 Persons In County Are Bitten In Mad Dog Epidemic

Following a meeting with C. A. Holloway, an officer of the State Board of Health, and Claude Wolfe his assistant, in the office of County Physician Dr. A. C. Kirk yesterday, a definite program has been arranged to control the spread of rabies in this vicinity, Dr. Kirk announced today.

Members of the Police Department during the past few days have killed more than 30 dogs suspected of having rabies. It was reported, and in addition to this number positive tests have been returned from Jacksonville, where the heads of approximately 15 more dogs have been sent.

Mrs. Roosevelt Flies West For Christmas

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was enroute to Seattle, Wash., by airplane today for surprise Christmas visit to her daughter, Mrs. John Boettiger, and family. This was announced by White House aides who said the trip was decided last night by the President and First Lady.

Most of the Roosevelt family is scheduled to come to Washington for Christmas, but Mrs. Boettiger is unable to travel because of illness. Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt decided, therefore, they would "divide" themselves between the two family groups. Mrs. Roosevelt is due in Seattle late today. She is expected to return Tuesday night.

Mexico City Is Hit By Heavy Earthquake

MEXICO, Dec. 23.—(AP)—A heavy earthquake shook Mexico City early today, killing at least two persons and crushing the adobe homes on the outskirts of the city. Communications with cities in the interior were disrupted and it was thought possibly they may have been harder hit.

One report was that Tulaco, in the southern part, was damaged. One woman was fatally injured here when the room of her home collapsed and a man was electrocuted by a broken high tension wire. A number of adobe huts collapsed.

The people were calm, however. A few rock walls also tumbled under the tremor which began at 8:15 P. M. T. and lasted a minute.

Peace Reigns At Eckersons Despite Halt

Meeting Planned For Tonight When CIO Agent Will Try To Organize Workers

Although knotted groups of strikers loafed near the premises of the Eckerson Fruit Cannery today, conditions as a whole were peaceful following a walkout of approximately 75 men peelers yesterday.

Threats of picketing were heard this morning, officials reported, but City and County peace officers who remained at the plant throughout the day frustrated any attempts of interference with workers as canning operations were in both the heat and juice sections on a somewhat smaller scale.

The management also reported that while there was no general walkout on the part of over 200 women employed, there was considerable agitation. This however, is believed to have been eliminated through the firing of a number of women whom officials felt were working to the detriment of the plant.

One of the workers who struck for higher wages advised a Herald reporter this morning that as an inexperienced peeler he had made up to $2.75 for a nine-hour day and in four days had made $12. Records at the cannery plant also revealed that some of the experienced workers made as high as (Continued on page three)

6 Circuit Judges Asked To Decide Murphy Act Issue

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Dec. 23.—(AP)—In at least six circuits of Florida the courts have been asked to decide whether tax certificates that were two years old after the Murphy Tax Redemption law became effective last June may be sold under its terms.

Attorney General Cary D. Landis ruled that certificates must have been two years old on that day to come under the law.

Circuit Judge J. C. B. Koonce at Tallahassee decided that certificates which became two years old during the period covered by the law—ending in June, 1935—may take advantage of the new tax sale procedure.

Attorneys here said the state was not a party to the suit in which Judge Koonce ruled and his decision probably would not reach the Supreme Court.

At Clearwater Circuit Judge T. Frank Hobson made a similar ruling in another case.

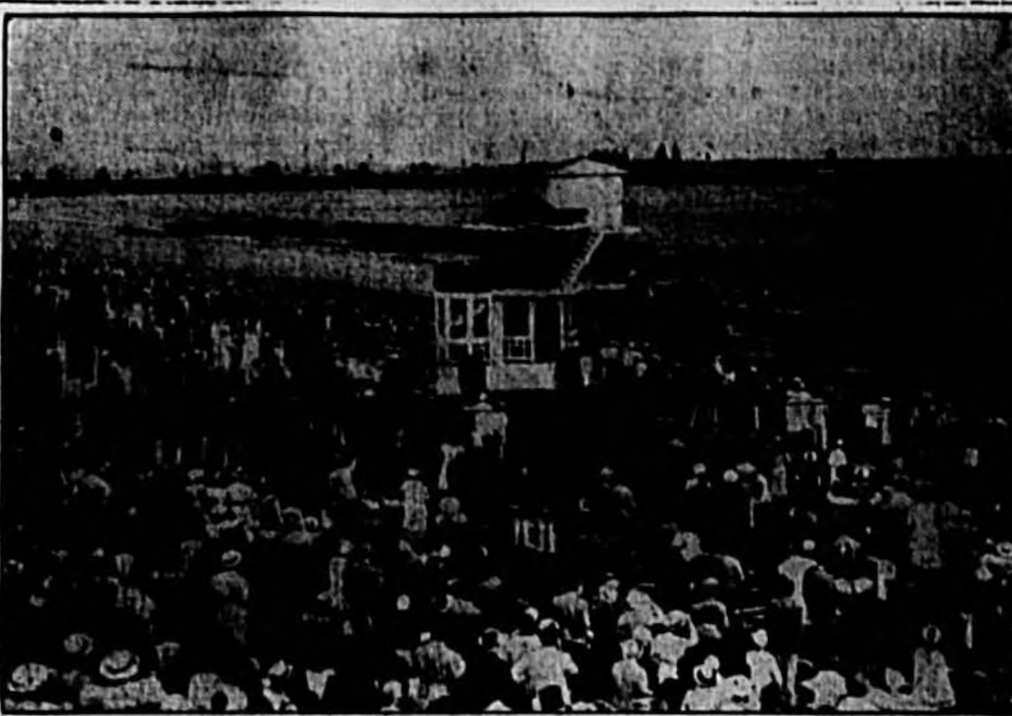

At Fort Pierce Judge Elwyn Thomas agreed with the Attorney General that only certificates two years old on June 9 could be sold under the Murphy law. This ruling probably will reach the Supreme Court, attorneys said.

Two other attempts to force advertising and sale of certificates that only recently became two years old are pending in Broward and Pinellas counties. A similar proceeding was started at Bartow, then dropped.

The law provides that when the Murphy law's redemption period expires, all tax certificates two years old upon its passage shall become property of the state. Lands covered by certificates can come into the state's possession only if the certificate was two years overdue last June, informed sources here said.

In passing twice on the validity of the new redemption statute, the Supreme Court apparently did not decide this point.

Dingfelder Tells Kiwanis Of Yule Time In Germany

Before Hitler Advent Christmas Was Widely Enjoyed There

Christmas customs in Germany before the Hitler regime were interestingly described by Kiwanian Julius Dingfelder at the regular weekly luncheon of the Sanford Kiwanis Club in the Valdes Hotel yesterday.

The German Christmas season, Mr. Dingfelder began, started on Dec. 6 and ended with the Day of the Wise Men on Jan. 6.

On the opening night of the Yuletide season, a patron saint, Night Rupprecht, who was both fierce and good and was much feared by all the children, made a house-to-house canvass of all the villages and towns and put the children on probation until Christmas.

The patron was dressed in sackcloth and wore heavy boots, he also carried two sacks on his back and a large whip in his hand which he kept for bad children. In one of the sacks he had nuts and candy for the good children he found along the way and from the other protruded two stuffed legs used to represent a small bad boy he had to pick up.

From the appearance of the patron until Christmas the children were on probation and if they were bad Christ Kindel, meaning Christ Child, who is the donor of all Christmas gifts, would not pay them a visit on Christmas day, Mr. Dingfelder stated.

Mr. Dingfelder also described the Christmas markets and fairs held throughout the country during the Christmas season and told of the many at (Continued on page three)

Scouts Are Promoted At Court Of Honor

Several members of local Scout troops received promotions at the regular quarterly Court of Honor held in the Sanford Junior High School Monday night, according to Arthur Branan, district chairman.

The promotions and bonus received during the regular court were as follows:

Arthur Branan, Jr. received a Athletic Merit Badge and was promoted to the Life rank; Paul Moore received a First Aid Merit Badge and was promoted to the Star rank; Sherwood Jacobson was also promoted to the Star rank; William Goetsch to the Bronze Palm rank; and Billy Hollywood and Billy Southward were promoted to the Rank of Second Class Scouts.

At the meeting it was announced that the annual Father's Night will be held in connection with the next regular meeting of Troop 5 to be held in the Sanford Junior High School Monday night.

CITY NEWS BRIEFS

A Christmas program will be presented at the Sanford Gospel Tabernacle at Ninth Street and Laurel Avenue tonight, church officials announced today.

The Sanford Municipal Library will remain open from 7:00 until 9:00 o'clock Friday night instead of on Saturday night as is customary, Mrs. Elton J. Moughton, librarian, announced today.

The Florida Power and Light Company recently erected its annual Christmas Tree on the smokestack of the Phoenix plant across the St. Johns River bridge. The lighted tree may be seen for miles at night.

Recreational workers of the Works Progress Administration in Seminole County have assisted in making a variety of toys and mending Christmas trees and have also aided in making costumes for the South Side Primary School Christmas program, which in the past few weeks, Mrs. Ollie Bryan, recreational workers, reported today.

Mrs. C. C. Earl Is Named President Of Tourist Club

Mrs. C. C. Earl of Detroit, Mich., was yesterday unanimously elected president of the Sanford Tourist Club at the club's first meeting of the winter season held in the Montezuma Hotel. Other officers elected included: Mrs. Peter Peterson of Virginia, Minn., Vice President; Miss Ina H. Fenwick of Ann Arbor, Mich., Secretary; and Ralph F. Bagwell of Sanford, Treasurer.

Directors, in addition to the Officers, to serve for one year, are: W. H. Brooks of Ottawa, Ont., Canada; J. F. Dodge of Methuen, Mass.; and Lear Hopper of Brockport, Mass.

The Sanford Tourist Club was organized in March, 1937, under the auspices of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of promoting acquaintance and friendship among Sanford's winter visitors, to provide entertainment and recreation for them, and to look after the interests of winter visitors in Sanford as far as possible. The large attendance and enthusiasm expressed at yesterday's meeting assures the club of a successful year, Chamber officials believe.

Plans are already underway for an entertainment to be held Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Montezuma Hotel. Mrs. Jno. S. Sherman and Miss Ina H. Fenwick are assisting with arrangements, and attention is called to the fact that all winter visitors in Sanford are cordially invited to attend.

Membership in the Tourist Club is open to year-round residents in Sanford who are interested, as well as winter visitors. Anyone wishing to join should contact either of the Club's officers or the Chamber of Commerce. Officers and Directors of the Club will meet in the Montezuma Hotel Thursday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock.

Britain To Delay Naval Movements Until New Year

Russia Is Reported As Having Promised To Assist Chinese

LONDON, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Great Britain took steps today to insure a quick movement of part of her Mediterranean fleet to the Orient in any emergency.

The decision was understood to have been reached, however, against immediate naval reinforcements in the Far East. Authoritative sources said the cabinet had considered the admiralty's technical plan for naval reinforcements but left further decision to Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden over the Christmas holidays now might be considered by the Japanese as unduly provocative.

In Shanghai it was learned that China's high command, committed to an "irrevocable" policy of fighting Japan to a finish, has begun the task of clearing a military highway route through its western frontier over which Soviet Russia is expected to pour military supplies.

The reports said vast labor army of Chinese coolies was now at work, rushing to completion a 3,000-mile military highway through Central Asia which will enable Russia to supply China with arms on an almost inexhaustible scale.

The new highway will cut the trip by truck to a fortnight instead of two months as now required.

Chinese communist leaders were anxious to retain Chiang as the dominant man in China, because he is regarded as the only man capable of bringing cohesion between "the state and sand" of China's variegated millions.

Meanwhile the "shift to the left" in the Chinese political set-up which began early this week with the ousting of six powerful Kuomintang (nationalist party) leaders from Central Government posts, was believed to have strengthened China's hope of aid from its vast western frontier.

Free Show For Kiddies To Be Given At Ritzy

Suggesting that drivers of school buses bring their children to the Ritzy Theatre, Joe L. Marentette, manager, again called attention this morning to the annual free show for children tomorrow morning at 10:00 o'clock.

The free show for the young people has been a custom of several years standing and it is an occasion at which the children may bring canned food to be turned over to the Elks for the benefit of the poor.

It has been pointed out that it is not advisable to contribute citrus fruit or other perishables, and the children are urged to confine their gifts to canned foods or candy.

Japan Forms New Rule For Nanking Area

Three Hundred Americans Flee Hankow; Others Are Warned To Leave Hangchow

Japs Admit Panay Machine-Gunning

Officer Describes Incident Resulting In American Loss

By Associated Press
Japan formed its new autonomous government at captured Nanking today, presumably to replace Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's nationalist government. It was only 10 days ago that a similar autonomous government, headed by a Chinese was set up by Japan at Peiping, the center of the vast north China region taken by the Japanese army in its latest invasion of China.

The Japanese army appeared today nearer the end of its conquest, however, as it was spreading its reaches over ever-widening front which threatened to encompass all foreigners who were warned to evacuate Hangchow, checking province's capital seaport, to escape the danger from an imminent siege by Japanese forces.

Three hundred Americans and other foreigners fled the threat of another Japanese attack at Hankow, a Yangtze River valley city, aboard a special train bound for Hongkong.

TOKYO, Dec. 23.—(AP)—The Japanese army today admitted for the first time the machine-gunning of Americans in the Yangtze River Panay incident, but did not mention firing on the United States gunboat itself.

Lieutenant Colonel Yoshiaki Nishi, a former assistant military attaché at Washington, described the incident after an investigation at Pukow, across the Yangtze from Nanking.

Nishi declared the entire incident resulted from efforts to cut off Chinese troops fleeing from Nanking. Nishi said launches were observed leaving the steamers bombed by Japanese planes. He said one launch escaped and another captured while 11 Chinese soldiers were taken prisoners.

Other troops approaching the wharf, he said, saw Chinese soldiers leaving the launches. "Army patrols opened fire. Another patrol approaching through the fields and intending to cut off the retreat of the people fleeing from the shore found Americans and Europeans among the group and ordered the troops to cease firing."

Nishi stated positively the Japanese troops failed to see any identification or flags of any kind.

A foreign office report was issued in the midst of popular excitement caused by the arrest of 370 suspected agitators, as (Continued on page three)

Christmas Carnage

The National Safety Council declares that the annual Christmas traffic toll reached an all time high last December when more than 4,290 persons met their deaths in automobile accidents during the Christmas holidays.

Pointing that the number killed last December is greater than all the Americans killed in action during the entire seven years of the Revolutionary War, the Safety Council announces two definite objectives: (1) To bring about stricter enforcement of traffic laws by police officers and courts at a season when it is natural to relax under pressure of the general geniality.

"We therefore call upon each citizen of the United States to do his or her part in a national effort to cut down this huge Christmas traffic toll. They can do this by being careful and considerate of others on the streets and highways, whether driving or walking; by driving and walking with special caution during the holiday season; by not driving after drinking, and by supporting strict enforcement of the laws against reckless and drunken driving.

The Importance Of Trade

How is peace among nations to be maintained in the face of recent increases in international political tension, expansion of standing armies, sharp increase in military budgets, and actual warfare in some portions of the globe? Secretary of State Hull gives his answer to these important questions in a recent issue of the Rotarian Magazine.

"No one," says Secretary Hull, "would presume to give a complete answer to that question. But certain conditions are obvious, and in the light of troubled international relations in the present they take on tremendous significance.

"One such fact," he continues, "is this: Only as the world's economic health is restored will individuals and nations develop again adequate resistance to psychological madness that makes possible internal and external strife.

"The foreign-trade program of the United States is based fundamentally upon what is to us an indisputable assumption—namely, that the domestic recovery of any country, including our own, can be neither complete nor durable unless its surplus-creating branches of production succeed in regaining at least a substantial portion of their lost foreign markets.

"We are seeking to bring about a mitigation of trade barriers on a reciprocal basis. This method of procedure, combined with the use of the fair, constructive, and equitable principle of equality of treatment, contemplates simultaneous action by many countries and operates to drive down excessive trade barriers throughout the world.

"Already we find the results heartening. Already we find our way leading us to increased economic stability among the nations of the world. The reciprocal trade agreements which we are negotiating form a real foundation upon which to build friendly relations with other nations. They constitute a check upon tendencies that in recent years have become alarming indeed.

"We are learning the lesson that peace can be obtained by bringing contentment to the peoples of the world. All that is lacking is world-wide co-operation and the will to make use of the instruments of action which are at our disposal."

Many Killed When Italian Castle Falls

FORLI, Italy, Dec. 21.—(AP)—A medieval castle atop a cliff in the village of Civitella di Romagna collapsed today and tumbled on to the homes lying below, crushing possibly 20 persons while they slept.

Five bodies were recovered by firemen and soldiers. Four persons were removed alive, three of them injured. Eight families were unaccounted for. Recent heavy rains are thought to have weakened the castle foundations.

The U. S. department of agriculture was established in 1889.

Senate Plans Big Probe Of Trade Slump

Continued From Page One. Dined from the recommendations of President Roosevelt. Meanwhile Representative Dies (D-Tex.) told President Roosevelt in a letter today that a House group would call a caucus, or conference, to "agree upon a definite program to balance the budget" immediately after Congress reassembles.

Dies said an attempt would be made to place organized House support behind the Executive's budget balancing program. He predicted there are at least 100 Democrats who will join in this movement, but warned some opposition could be expected from most liberals in the House.

Earlier, the President made it plain to White House visitors that he had no intention of abandoning the wages-hours bill which was settled in a House revolt and that there would be no retreat by the White House in the struggle toward New Deal reform objectives.

Company officials after twice offering the strikers a chance to return to their jobs, have indicated their intention of hiring additional men to replace them if it was learned this morning.

Officials of the Company stated that "this company has always endeavored to be fair in considering the wants of the employees but absolutely refuses to consider their wishes when demonstrations of this nature occur."

The plant has connections in Puerto Rico and Texas and officials advised a Herald reporter this morning that in the event of any additional labor disturbances crippling requirements of the Company will be shifted to those points and that the Sanford plant will be closed indefinitely.

my continue, one of the strikers indicating that the labor strife at the plant advised a Herald reporter that a representative of the National Committee for Industrial Organization will come to Sanford from Orlando tonight and near the premises of the Canning plant, in which they hope to organize all the workers.

As a measure to prevent further spread of the disease City and County officials joined in their orders that all dogs in Sanford and vicinity will have to be vaccinated for rabies and then chained with a closed pen for a period of 21 days.

The officials have allowed until Tuesday, Dec. 22 for the work to be done and after that time all dogs found running at large will be shot wherever found.

Senate Plans Big Probe Of Trade Slump

Continued From Page One. Dined from the recommendations of President Roosevelt. Meanwhile Representative Dies (D-Tex.) told President Roosevelt in a letter today that a House group would call a caucus, or conference, to "agree upon a definite program to balance the budget" immediately after Congress reassembles.

Dies said an attempt would be made to place organized House support behind the Executive's budget balancing program. He predicted there are at least 100 Democrats who will join in this movement, but warned some opposition could be expected from most liberals in the House.

Earlier, the President made it plain to White House visitors that he had no intention of abandoning the wages-hours bill which was settled in a House revolt and that there would be no retreat by the White House in the struggle toward New Deal reform objectives.

The Chief Executive made his views on spending and economy known in a brilliant letter to Chairman Wilbur Cartwright (D Okla.) of the House Roads Committee. It left no doubt of Mr. Roosevelt's determination to balance the budget through a reduction in Federal appropriations which provide the least employment and assistance to the unemployed.

Mont Answer To Nippon. Likewise, the letter made it clear that Congress in general and the preponderant Democratic majority specifically must answer to the Nation and to their constituents if they continue the spending spree which the President is seeking to end.

The administration last night began a drive to kill the Ludlow war referendum constitutional amendment when Chairman Key Pittman, (D-Nev.) of the powerful Senate Foreign Relations Committee, denounced it as a "fatal step toward the destruction of our Republic."

Pittman flayed the proposal of Rep. Louis Ludlow, (D-Ind.) which is to be considered early in the next session of Congress, after Sen. Arthur Vandenberg, of Michigan, potential candidate for the 1940 Republican presidential nomination had demanded that America "keep out of other people's wars," but insisted on freedom of national action to combat aggressor powers.

Pittman praised the exchange of messages as "a very splendid demonstration of the sound solidarity of the American people in regard to foreign relations." He attacked the Ludlow proposal, however, as "the first step in substituting mass determination of all questions—not only foreign but domestic—for the present constitutional determination by selected representatives of the people."

"It would result in less than one-half of the people expressing their opinion in such referenda," Pittman said. "That half would inevitably be influenced by violent and misrepresentative propaganda, not only from foreign sources but from subversive forces in our country."

"Instead of preventing war, in my opinion it would result at some time in a disastrous war when we were morally and physically weakened to the point where our suffering in such war would be beyond imagination and our defeat in such war quite probable."

"TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY"

The other evening I met a friend on the street; he had his arms laden with Christmas packages. As we waited for our car conversation turned to the grave international situation.

"There ain't no use our writin' notes to them damn Japs," he says, "we ought to send some bombers over there and blow hell out of 'em."

"Not change the subject or nothin', John," I remarks, "but how did it that boy of yours—I haven't seen him now for several years."

At the mention of his boy the hard look on John's face softened, his set jaw relaxed. "You ought to see him," he boomed. "He's a smart and a handsome devil if I do say so myself. Just home from school last night."

"Ever visualize him, mangled and crushed, half buried in the slime and mud of a foreign soil, with a flock of buzzards circling overhead?" I asked.

"Good God, men," he stammered, paling, "how can you say such a ghastly thing?"

"I ain't a very pleasant thought," I admitted, "but you encouraged it with your tirade about bombing the Japs. You know it's boys like yours that will have to fly the ships and drop the bombs, and I was just wonderin' if you'd thought about that when you were mouthin' so free about what ought to be done."

I agree with you, John, the bombing of the Panay and other American ships in Chinese waters was unfortunate, but I hardly feel it justifies a declaration of war, and since Japan has humbled herself as never before in her history to make amends, meeting every demand of our government, it seems to me that we might give heed to the admonition of One who came long ago at this season, with the message "Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men."

It is the loose talk of thoughtless individuals, picked up and amplified, that often leads men and nations into situations from which they find it impossible to recede.

As we in America approach another Christmas season, instead of pampering our hearts and minds to become possessed with the venom of malice, hatred and ill will, we should offer up a prayer of fervent thanks that in a sorely troubled world we are still at peace, we are still a free people, and despite our problems and difficulties we stand today among the nations of the earth favored beyond the status of any other.

Kiwanis Club thank you most cordially and sincerely for the gift of your club's Christmas party and weekly meetings during the year through the columns of your valuable newspaper, The Sanford Herald.

The undersigned was instructed by unanimous action of the club today, in regular meeting, to express their thanks and appreciation, and you may be assured of their sincere gratitude.

And furthermore, they wish for you and yours a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

Police said the alleged movement was directed by three organizations—the former labor party, the proletarian party and the all Japan council of labor farmer unions. The home ministry immediately ordered the three parties dissolved.

The arrests, including those of a number of parliament and several university professors, were made during a nation-wide series of raids which began last Wednesday but were not announced officially until today.

"The main point of their movement apparently was to lead a general revolution based on communism," the metropolitan police board said. "Since the outbreak of the Chinese incident they have used every opportunity to spread anti-war propaganda throughout the nation."

There was a belief among many Japanese that the arrests were announced to deflect the nation's attention from Japan's strained international relations. Ordinarily, it was said, such a campaign would have been kept secret for months.

The foreign office declined to say whether the interim report would serve as a reply or as a basis for a reply to American notes protesting the Panay attack, but said "investigations still are progressing."

'Fight For Your Lady' Opens At Ritz Today

Bright comedy, romance and thrills mingle with stimulating effect in the feature "Fight For Your Lady," which opens at the Ritz Theatre today.

Jack Oakie and John Boles are starred in the picture, with Ida Lupino and Margot Grahame as the featured players. They, with Gordon Jones, Erik Rhodes and Paul Gilfoyle, become involved in a wild and uniquely humorous series of adventures as ever stirred movie patrons into laughing gusts of enthusiasm.

A highlight of the action is a duelling scene between Rhodes and Boles, with the former impersonating a European duelist of terrific killing reputation, who counts his victims by the score and intends to add Boles to the number. The efforts of Oakie, Gilfoyle and others to stop the intended slaughter bring about some extraordinary complications that are as absurdly comic as they are thrillingly realistic.

The work of the principals is at all times excellent, with Boles and Oakie proving themselves comedians of the first rank. Ida Lupino, as singer in a Hungarian cafe, gives a fine performance. Margot Grahame wins plaudits in the role of a British actress of the accomplished gold-digging type, and Erik Rhodes is effectively ferocious as the all-conquering European duelist. Gordon Jones scores a hit as the double-crossing wretcher in the opening scene, in a London grappling show.

Dingfelder Tells Kiwanians Of Yule Time In Germany

On the day of the Wise Men which marked the end of the holiday season, everyone again visited the churches and returned home with blessed incense and myrrh which was burned in the homes. Mr. Dingfelder said. The initials of the Three Wise Men, Caspar, Melchior and Balthasar, were carved on the door of every home. On this night children dressed in costumes resembling those worn by the Wise Men, marched through the streets singing Christmas carols and received donations of cookies and other sweets from the households. Mr. Dingfelder concluded.

In the business session of the meeting the Kiwanians passed a resolution thanking The Sanford Herald for the publicity the club has received during the past year.

The guests at the luncheon which was presided over by Howard Long included: L. E. Jones of Mulberry, Howard Overlin of Key West and C. E. Adams.

SANTA AND THE WHITE FOX

By SIGRID ARNE

THE STORY SO FAR: Helga and a sailor, both dolls from Santa's toyshop are traveling in a toy boat with the Queen of Fairies to a squirrel village where they want to leave a tiny squirrel with his parents.

Chapter 22.
The Wishes
As the ice-boat skimmed along on its return trip to the toyshop Helga looked a little pensive. The Fairy Queen noticed her and asked, "What is worrying you?" Helga smiled. "It's just that I wish I had a gift to take to Santa. I've caused him so much trouble."

"Why, it's Christmas Eve," said the sailor. "That means we must hurry to go with Santa, I suppose." Both he and Helga looked sad at the thought, but the Fairy Queen smiled.

"Tomorrow," the Queen's Secret.

sailor set his sails for Toyland. "Come back some time," shouted the squirrel. That made Helga look sad again. She spoke to the Queen. "You can go back again. But we'll soon be Christmas presents, and we can never go back."

"Wait and see," said the Fairy Queen.

When they came in sight of the toyshop they saw Santa's roly-poly red figure running in and out. In front stood his reindeers harnesses to his big sleigh. It was full of bulging bags.

"What's happening?" said Helga.

"Why, it's Christmas Eve," said the sailor. "That means we must hurry to go with Santa, I suppose." Both he and Helga looked sad at the thought, but the Fairy Queen smiled.

"Tomorrow," the Queen's Secret.

Wait and see," said the Fairy Queen. "And what do you wish, sailor?"

"I wish I didn't have to leave the Northland," said the sailor. "I don't want to be a Christmas gift any more than Helga does. And I know that's what Santa made us for."

"Again, wait and see," said the Fairy Queen. She smiled to herself as if she knew a secret. When the boat came in sight of the squirrel village the whole party aboard the boat shouted, "Hallo!" Even the tiny squirrel squeaked very loudly for him, so that his mama and papa and his aunts and uncles and cousins came tumbling out of the trees.

Something Happens
"Hurrah!" shouted the squirrel village as the boat stopped in their midst. "Here we are," squeaked the tiny squirrel. "Lift me over," he said to the sailor. And then something happened. As the sailor lifted him over the side to his mother, the Fairy Queen touched him with her wand, and he suddenly became regular size.

"Hurrah! Thank you," shouted all the squirrels. Then the old gentleman squirrel stepped forward very solemnly holding out a fine, brown acorn.

"We wish you would take this to Santa," he said. "It's the finest acorn we found this year, and we thought he'd like it for a watch-fob."

"Lovely," said Helga. "There's my wish answered."

"Would you like me to add something to your gift?" asked the Fairy Queen.

"Yes, indeed," said the old gentleman squirrel. So the Fairy Queen leaned over and touched the acorn with her wand. It became silver and from its stem came a fine watch-chain.

"Oh," gasped everyone. "How beautiful!" When they had all admired it the sailor tucked it into his pocket carefully. Helga and the Fairy Queen waved goodby as the

CHRISTMAS MORNING

If Bethlehem were here today Or this were long ago, There wouldn't be a winter time Not any cold or snow, Not run out through the garden gates, And down along the pasture walk, And off beside the cattle barn, I'd hear a kind of gentle talk.

Merry Christmas!

The Sermon On The Mount

In keeping with its established custom of annually publishing outstanding Christmas sermons, The Sanford Herald quotes from the Sermon on the Mount, the greatest religious discourse of all time, delivered by one whose very anniversary now provides the occasion, and upon whose words all other Christmas sermons are based; the world's foremost preacher, teacher, and practitioner, Christ Jesus.

ST. MATTHEW V.

- 1. And seeing the multitudes, he went up into a mountain; and when he was set, his disciples came unto him; 2. And he opened his mouth, and taught them, saying; 3. Blessed are the poor in spirit, for their's is the kingdom of heaven. 4. Blessed are they that mourn; for they shall be comforted. 5. Blessed are the meek; for they shall inherit the earth. 6. Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness; for they shall be filled. 7. Blessed are the merciful; for they shall obtain mercy. 8. Blessed are the pure in heart; for they shall see God. 9. Blessed are the peacemakers; for they shall be called the children of God. 10. Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness' sake; for their's is the kingdom of heaven. 11. Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake. 12. Rejoice, and be exceeding glad; for great is your reward in heaven; for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you. 13. Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven. 14. Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets; I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill. 15. Whosoever therefore shall break one of these least commandments, and shall teach men so, he shall be called the least in the kingdom of heaven; but whosoever shall do and teach them, the same shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven. 16. Ye have heard that it hath been said, 'An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth; 17. But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you; 18. Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect.

ST. MATTHEW VI.

- 19. Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal; 20. But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal; 21. For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also. 22. No man can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon. 23. Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment? 24. But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.

ST. MATTHEW VII.

- 7. Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you: 12. Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them; for this is the law and the prophets. 18. And it came to pass, when Jesus had ended these sayings, the people were astonished at his doctrine. 23. For he taught them as one having authority, and not as the scribes.

A Good Custom

On this night before Christmas Americans should be particularly thankful that the old Yuletide spirit still prevails in this country, that the love of Christ is still manifested in this celebration of His birth, and that Santa Claus still slides down the chimney at all good little children's homes, rich and poor alike, while aunts, uncles, grandparents and cousins gather from miles around for the big Christmas dinner.

and brothers in shanty town, a ragged stocking that still holds one long stick of red and white candy, with perhaps a top or a bag of marbles, will make his Christmas perfect, will bring him all the joy that mother gets from watching the beaming faces of her Christmas dinner guests as all the aunts and uncles, cousins and other relatives smack their lips as the beautiful golden brown turkey is brought in on a silver tray.

All this leads us to wonder what some of our big men are hoping that Santa Claus will bring them tonight. What does Gov. Cone want? What does Henry Ford want? We can imagine that President Roosevelt would like nothing better than "peace on earth, goodwill toward men" among all nations. What a simple unselfish wish, and yet how hard to get! Not all the money in the world could buy this Christmas gift.

IS THERE A SANTA CLAUS?

"IS THERE A SANTA CLAUS?" Four decades ago, eight-year-old Virginia O'Hanlon, looked by skeptical friends, put this question to a great metropolitan newspaper. The reply given by Francis P. Church, editorial writer for the New York Sun, is the classic of present-day Christmas literature. Today, little Virginia is Dr. Laura Virginia Douglas, prominent New York educator. Church has been dead for thirty-one years, yet the editorial is still reprinted far and wide every year. Its aggressive faith and hope have made it the most popular Christmas classic ever printed in any newspaper.

The Sanford Forum

I'm glad that my parents loved old "Santa Claus" and "Christmas." I can see my mother now as she bustled herself about the kitchen. There were big iron pots boiling and the oven was filled over and over with turkey, chickens and ham. The big coconut cakes had a fluffy appearance and the sweet potato pie was the best in all the world.

CANDLELIGHT

By NINA OLIVER DEAN

"In Baghdad or Cairo that house where the story takes place, the spell-bound Arab who listens some chapter from the immortal Thousand and One Nights?"

Can you imagine being at the American legation twenty-five yards from the Nile in front of a square where seven streets pass, a square where the musician calls the faithful to prayer five times a day from a minaret? Can you imagine having a body guard who is always with you, a bodyguard who dresses in a beautiful blue and wears a turban on his head? It seems that a tarbush is the right name for a fez. Can you imagine having a score of waiters dressed also in baggy pants, resplendent with silver trimming, and a butler, even more gorgeous, who speaks five languages? Well, all this is in the day's work for Judge Fish—all this and a whole lot more.

There was a civic luncheon honoring Judge Fish at the Sanford Woman's Club recently given by the Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions and Women's Club. He is an exceedingly well-tailored American lawyer with a ruddy face, silver hair, and green eyes, can twinkle. He wore a brown suit, a brown tie, his shirt had a fine line of the right shade of brown, and even his glasses had brown rims. That day he had a sort of home-coming expression when he spoke of his country in general and especially when he turned to his sister, Laura Fish Galloway (Mrs. Ernest Galloway) or his brother, Ben Fish.

The Woman's Club had charge of the luncheon and it wasn't only to honor Judge Fish, United States Minister to Egypt, but to honor Judge Fish, Laura Galloway's brother, that the club was dressed in its best and was lucking with a Christmas tree sparkling on the stage and silver pine cones and Brazilian pepper shining on the table. I'd like to make myself responsible for the excellence of a product for which you receive 5 prices that is fair and within your own control.—Norman Haggood is the Rotarian Magazine.

of particular interest in Florida, that Egyptian are varying their main crop of citrus. For those who like to read English novels about Shaphay's Hotel in Cairo with its terrace where all the first-liners sit sipping whiskey and soda. It seems that they have all merged over to the new and smart Scambric, and I presume carried their drinks with them.

All this is interesting but it is the old Egypt that appeals to me—the fact that the Pyramids of Giza are just fifteen miles from the American legation, that at the monastery of St. Catherine on the hills of Sinai, an ancient book, the Codex Bezae Cantabrigiae, was found by a Russian, and later sold for a price of half a million dollars, and that the oldest university in the world, El-Azhar, is in Cairo.

in anticipated Christmas volume. The deep South where sales were reported "largest in history" was the only exception.

Men's furnishings again topped the lists of Christmas shoppers. Jewelry sales experienced a definite upswing. Heavy goods, such as furniture, slumped.

Warm weather augmented the Christmas spirit in the South and at Raleigh, N. C., department stores reported sales "beyond expectations." Dollar volume was estimated between 15 to 20 percent over 1936. Hardware sales and auto supplies, however, slumped.

Atlanta, Ga., department stores also reported sales and volume "considerably ahead" of last year. Merchants said they saw little evidence of the business recession and one leading department store manager said sales were largest in history.

Orlando Merchants reported sales best in 10 years. Merchants in the citrus belts reported trade approaching boom time holiday proportions. Tourist registrations were 20 percent over 1936.

Panay Captain Says Warning Was Not Given

personally handed the note to United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew after its approval by the cabinet and sanction by Emperor Hirohito.

Hirota did not make clear how the responsible bombers were punished except that they were dealt with "according to law." The note held that the sinking of the Panay was "entirely due to a mistake."

Naval Minister Mitamura Yonai cited "battlefield psychology" as the principal factor in the attack on the Panay. "By that I do not want you to think I am offering what is called an alibi," he said.

"I do not know how to apologize for this attack on an object representing the sovereignty of the United States," said Yonai, reiterating that the Japanese government "will do everything possible" to satisfy the demands of the American government.

SHANGHAI, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Japanese officials tonight announced that Hangchow, a rich Chinese seaport and capital of Chekiang Province nearly a hundred miles south of Shanghai, was captured today.

The fall of the city to the invaders, who overrun thousands of square miles of territory, came as United States authorities made strong representations to Japanese officials over the reported insult to the American flag at Wuhu, Dec. 13.

The reports said that Japanese, while completing occupation in Wuhu seized an American-owned boat, pulled down the flag and threw it in the Yangtze River.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST
"CHRISTIAN SCIENCE" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, December 26.

The Golden Text is: "He, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye, buy and eat; yea, come, buy wine and milk without money and without price." (Isaiah 55:1)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "There is a river, the streams whereof shall make glad the city of God, the holy place of the tabernacles of the most high. And it shall be in that day, that living waters shall go out from Jerusalem; half of them toward the former sea, and half of them toward the hinder sea: in summer and winter shall it be. And the Lord shall be king over all the earth: in that day shall there be one Lord, and his name one." (Psalm, 46:4, Zech, 14:8, 9)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "In the year 1866, I discovered the Christ Science or divine laws of Life, Truth, and Love, and named by discovery Christian Science. God had been graciously preparing me during many years for the reception of this final revelation of the absolute divine principle of scientific mental healing. This apostolical Principle points to the revelation of Immanuel,

"God with us"—the sovereign ever-presence, delivering the children of men from every ill that flesh is heir to. Through Christian Science, religion and medicine are inspired with a divine nature and essence; fresh plumes are given to faith and understanding, and thoughts acquaint themselves intelligently with God." (pp 107:1-14)

Dr. and Mrs. F. A. Everhard, winter residents of Sanford, arrived yesterday from Ripon, Wis., and will be with their cousins, Mrs. Allan H. Stone and Miss Carol Stone at their home in Ripon Court.

April's Biggest News Was The Ruling On Wagner Act

By VOLTA TORREY
News Review Editor,
The AP Feature Service

In 1937's April, 20th anniversary of Uncle Sam's entry into the World War, Grandpa Europe again wailed "boo hoo."

Foremost among the few war changes left was the fact Der Fuehrer had 800,000,000 fewer acres than Der Kaiser—and wanted a big farm. But he agreed to sniff a peace-pipe if the man in Woodrow Wilson's spot would hand one around.

Franklin D. Roosevelt stuck to cigars, France and Britain turned to Belgium. There Premier Paul Van Zeeland, from Princeton was trouncing the local Nazi nuisance in an election. He agreed to go on the road and see how to make friends and influence business.

There was an "unhealthy flush of fever" (Doctor Hull's diagnosis) from history's worst case of re-arming. The President told government employees not to dabble in the rising stock mart, and added:

"That's also good advice for the public."

The Wagner Act

Besides tossing out a baseball to open the season, Mr. Roosevelt pitched mathematics at America's millions: The nation's budget was farther from being balanced than anticipated. Congress would have to go easy.

Nearly everything was going up. WPA began cutting down. The President went fishing in the Gulf of Mexico.

In the Supreme Court's chamber, packed every Monday, New Dealers enjoyed "a pretty good day." The Wagner labor law was upheld, 5 to 4. Many thought that left no excuse for "court packing."

"The constitution," others snorted, "has become what Justice Roberts says it is."

"Destiny," Senator Ashurst remarked, "is telling her invincible bell."

Golden Gate Bridged

Walter F. Chrysler and John L. Lewis made peace after $37,000,000 losses in wages and trade. Turning to fresh foes, CIO brawled with Ontario's peppery Premier Hepburn and lost a battle to farmers angered by a Hersey, Pa., chocolate-plant sit-down.

Into Kentucky's "bloody Harlan" county, CIO advanced, too. Senate inquirers wondered how Sheriff Middleton, a $4,490-a-year man who admitted close contact with coal companies, had invested $102,728 since 1934. "I'm just as puzzled as you are," he told 'em.

Another flood flowed down the Ohio valley. Florida argued about a ship canal. The last San Francisco Golden Gate bridge rivet was driven; its golden head broke and fell in the water.

"Minority Stockholder No. 1" tried in vain to oust Charley Schwab from Bethlehem Steel. Father Divine, Harlem's "God," was held after a stabbing in "heaven." The Russian G-men's own chief was arrested in the red purge, and Leon Trotsky, safe in Mexico, tried to clear himself of blame for all the "treason" in an unofficial trial.

France Promises Victory

"Coronation Commentary" appeared. Broadway warmed up to "Richard II." Hollywood released "The Prince and the Pauper." "King Anthony" challenged King George VI's right to the throne. Premier Baldwin prepared to retire, explaining: "It is far better to go when the people may still think of you as perhaps not incompetent than to stay until perhaps they know before you do that you are becoming incompetent."

Spain's royal family was betting its last cent on Insurgent General Franco. He was promising Moslems the choicest blossoms in "the springtime of victory."

British ships were attacked. And the battle for Bilbao began. . . .

Ford Will Refuse To Obey Mandate Of Labor Board

office at the River Rouge plant in Dearborn.

"When that will occur, I cannot say, but Ford company attorneys will move in on the decision right away."

Plant Closed Down

Bennett's reply to the labor board's decision from Washington came as the River Rouge plant, employing 27,000 workers, closed down for the Christmas and New Year holidays.

Several hours earlier 800 UAWA members marched on Dearborn in another attempt to distribute union literature in proscribed areas near the plant and were arrested in groups by police.

"There was no trouble," Bennett commented.

He replied to the labor board's findings point by point but declined to remark on some which he said he knew nothing about.

To the board's charge that the company had hired professional fighters and former criminals for purposes of intimidation, Bennett said:

"Of course we have hired professional fighters and will continue to do so. But they have not been hired for purposes of intimidation. Some of them are working for the service department and others are engaged in other employment in our plants."

The national labor relations board decided yesterday that the Ford Motor company had violated the Wagner labor disputes act and ordered it to reinstate 29 employees. These, the board said, had been discharged for union activity.

The company was ordered to stop discouraging membership in the United Automobile Workers, or any other union, and to post notices in its Dearborn and Highland Park, Mich., plants stating it would comply with the board's order.

The decision resulted from complaints by the UAW, which is a CIO union. A UAW complaint that the company had discharged six other employees for union activity was dismissed.

"Utter Ruthlessness"

"From the mass of testimony in this proceeding, two facts stand out: The un concealed hostility with which the Ford Motor company views bona fide labor organizations and the utter ruthlessness with which it has fought the organization of its employees," the board said.

The respondent (the Ford company), not only through public interviews and statements, but through the direct circulation of anti-union literature within its plants, has made its antagonism to labor organizations so evident that no employee whose economic life is at its mercy can fail to comprehend it.

Constant Hostility

"The full significance of this antagonism has been brought home to its employees through the constant hostility of foremen and supervisory officials through the systematic discharge of union advocates, through the employment of hired thugs to terrorize and beat union members and sympathizers, and through numerous other acts of intimidation and coercion recited above (in the testimony)."

"The chief weapon of the respondent in this fight to prevent self-organization among its employees has been the Ford service department."

"The record leaves no doubt that the service department has been vested with the responsibility of maintaining surveillance over Ford employees, not only during their work but even when they are outside the plant, and of crushing at its inception, by force if necessary, any sign of union activity."

Rule of Terror

"Thus within the respondent's vast River Rouge plant at Dearborn the freedom of self-organization guaranteed by the act has been replaced by a rule of terror and repression."

In Dearborn the Ford Motor company denounced the decision by the labor relations board accusing it of violating the Wagner labor act as "wrong and unjust" and announced that it would appeal to the federal courts.

The company statement was led by Louis J. Colombo, Ford attorney who acted as defense counsel at a Detroit hearing several months ago on NLRB charges of Wagner act violation.

"The decision of the board," Colombo said, "is based on prejudice. It is not founded on the facts in the record. It is wrong and unjust and the company will appeal the decision to the United States circuit court of appeals."

Colombo issued his statement in the office of William J. Cameron, representative of Henry Ford, at the River Rouge plant.

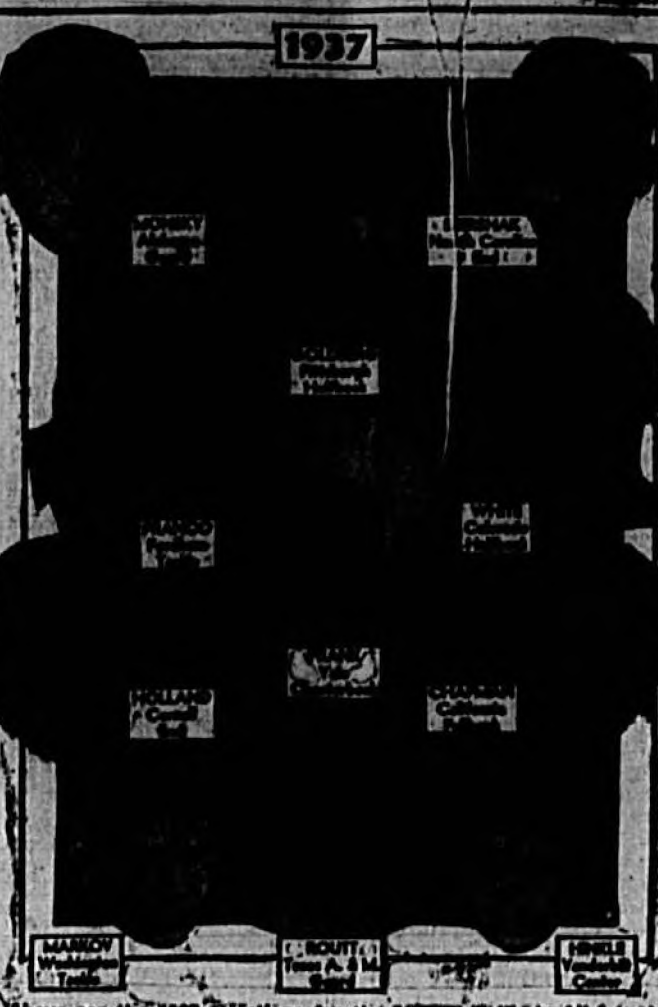

279 Arrested

While Colombo and Cameron were in conference discussing the board's decision Dearborn police were arresting 248 men and 31 women members of the United Automobile Workers for distributing union newspapers in a proscribed area fronting the River Rouge plant.

James E. Greene, Dearborn city attorney, said no action against men and women arrested for distributing union newspapers would be taken until after the new year's holidays.

"Then we will issue warrants against all those who can be identified by the police," Greene said.

Fire Chief Warns Of Fire Hazards During Holidays

The holiday season not only brings Santa Claus, turkey dinners, and gala celebrations, but also additional fire hazards which may lead to disaster unless every precaution is taken. Fire Chief Mack Cleveland stated today, "A fire at this time of year is particularly unpleasant since it takes all the joy from the season which normally is the happiest period of the year," the local Fire Chief stated.

Yuletide fire hazards have been reduced considerably since vari-colored electric lights have replaced the flaming candle, but even the electric lights sometimes may be the cause of a disastrous fire in the event that a shortage in the wiring sets afire the Christmas tree which dries out quickly in a warm room."

The Fire Chief continued, adding that if the wire is worn or kinked, the insulation may fail and a fire will result.

"Another dangerous practice is to hang celluloid decorations on the Christmas tree. If they come in contact with a flame or lighted electric bulb, they burn with a fierce, hot flame. When a Christmas tree burns, the heat given off often communicates the fire to curtains or other articles in the room, and the damage is high."

Some of the toys on the market are made of celluloid. There have been many instances of small children being burned when these toys were carried too close to a fire or heater. This hazard is increased when fires are lighted in open fire places. A screen to keep the kiddies away from the fire, and flying sparks away from the carpet is a good investment.

"Don't let fire spoil your holiday," urges the Chief. "A little care and forethought would prevent the vast majority of all fires. Don't allow carelessness to damage your property or injure your family or friends. Such an occurrence is even more depressing at Christmas time. But if fire should break out in your home in spite of your efforts, remember that our department is constantly ready to serve you."

SANTA AND THE WHITE FOX

By SIGRID ARNE

THE STORY SO FAR: Two of Santa's dolls, Helga and a sailor, are returning to Toyland with the Fairy Queen after exciting adventures in which the sailor rescues Helga from a cruel white fox.

Chapter 23

The Fairy Queen's Secret
Santa was so pleased when he saw the sailor's ice boat swing up to his door he dumped two bags of dolls he was carrying and rushed to the boat shouting:

"So you escaped the fox! I told Mrs. Santa you would. Come in!" He picked up the sailor and Helga in one hand, and the Fairy Queen in his other, and rushed in to the toyshop. Mrs. Santa came running from the kitchen wiping her hands.

"Look, Santa, what the sailor brought you," said Helga. The sailor pulled that pretty silver spoon and the silver chain from his pocket, and said, "Santa, this is a present from the squirrel village that lies west of here in the woods."

"My gracious! For me?" said Santa. He was so pleased he snatched the chain right onto his big watch and went to look at himself in the mirror.

New Fancies

When he turned around the Fairy Queen said, "Santa, I have a plan for Helga and the sailor. I guess you know they don't want to go down to the world as gifts," she said.

Santa chuckled. "Indeed I do. I don't know how I came to make such dolls."

"You also know they both like the sea," said the Fairy Queen. "Even Helga has become a sailor."

"You don't say," chuckled Santa and he gently tugged one of her curls. "This little thing!"

Helga looked so excited. She could hardly wait to hear the Fairy Queen's plan.

"This is my plan," said the Queen. "You know that on stormy nights I send people from my kingdom to ride the ships of good men and bring them safely through to port."

"Yes, and it's a fine, kind work," said Santa.

"Well, I should like to take Helga and the sailor into my kingdom to do just that," said the Queen.

"We'd love it," chorused Helga and the sailor. "But, why not go?"

Kneel!

"Will you come and see me sometimes, and tell me stories of your adventures?" said Santa.

"Certainly," chorused Helga and the sailor.

"Well, then, you belong to the Fairy Queen from now on," said Santa.

"Kneel, both of you," said the Fairy Queen, and Helga and the sailor knelt before her. She touched them with her wand, and said, "Now fly to the top of the fireplace."

"But, we can't," started the two dolls, and then suddenly they felt themselves soaring through the air just like birds—or like fairies. Sure enough, they weren't dolls anymore.

To this day they live with the Fairy Queen, and fly to aid her in all her doings. Sometimes, they'll be on the boat you're on, but you won't know it.

Everyone rushed to help Santa get off in time. Just at sunset the last toy was packed in his sleigh. He hopped in, snapped the long whip over the reindeer and they rose in the air. As they did Santa turned around and merrily shouted:

MERRY CHRISTMAS, EVERYONE. MERRY CHRISTMAS.

During 1937 Farmers Reap Biggest Dollar Harvest Since Year Of '29

By A. A. FATTON
 NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Farmers the past year reaped the best dollar harvest since 1929.

Preliminary government estimates of farm income from 1937 indicated a total around $8,700,000,000, compared with $7,650,000,000 a year ago. This would approximately double 1932 receipts.

Government payments to farmers were sharply higher. Full-year estimates were about $378,000,000, against actual outlays a year ago of $287,000,000.

The 11 percent gain in farm income over 1936 resulted largely from huge crops of various agricultural staples—cotton, wheat, corn and the like—that lifted total intake despite a drastic decline in average prices.

Prices Fall As Crops Rise
 The year was ushered in with quotations of the principal farm commodities high, and heading higher. The 1936 drought had sharply curtailed supplies of grain, livestock and other items. Domestic and world consumers were eager to bolster depleted stocks, and bids moved up steadily.

The upsurge was augmented somewhat by scattered indications of droughts during the spring. Hains came, however, and crop prospects began looking up. As commodity markets stepped up estimates month

Washington Daybook

Ever since the World War, the nation's first rank soldiers have been debating the value of an "army on wheels."

Recently, the army general staff got together a complete mechanized division, a miniature "army on wheels," and tested it out in Texas. The results amazed many an old soldier, including some of the nation's topflight generals.

Praxton Grover is a reserve officer with a thorough knowledge of military tactics, well qualified to describe the inside story of the modernization of the army. Here is the first of two articles by him on the subject.

WASHINGTON — The army is preparing for a situation in which the United States may be fighting its next war on American soil. It expects it—if and when— to be a war in which battles are won by maneuver instead of costly mass attacks straight into the enemy's teeth.

The army and navy for purposes of defense only has long been a nation of the country, although during the last two wars not an enemy bullet fell on United States territory. But since the World War the American army has been organized on a basis of the expediency of that war. And that it was a "specialized" war, such as is likely to be repeated if a foreign power should attempt to invade the United States.

In the World War there was a solid line of trenches from Switzerland across France to the English channel. There was no shoulder room for flanking maneuvers in which one enemy tries to get past the other's front line and put him at a disadvantage. The only sort of attack possible in the World War was straight ahead.

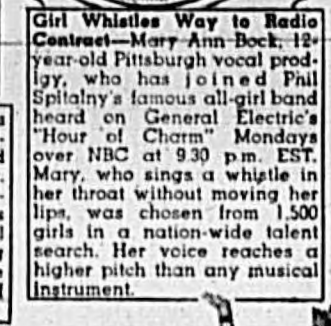

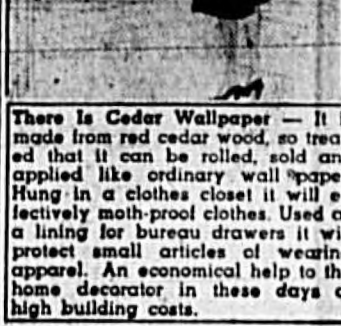

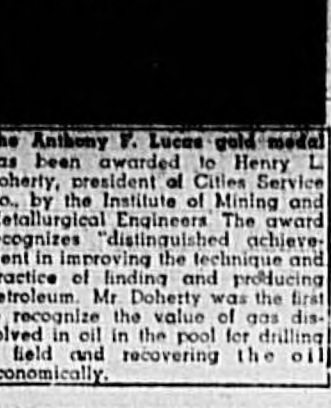

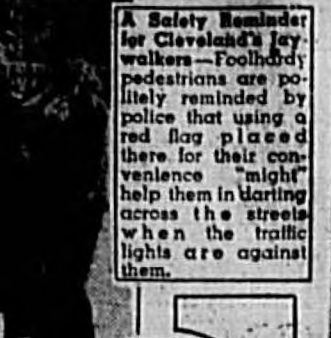

Frontal attacks take a lot of men. So a division, if it were ordered to take a certain objective, had to have a lot of men. One, two or three waves of men might be ordered down by enemy fire before the way could be paved for a fourth wave to sweep on to the objective. That is bloody warfare.

Modern military minds now are preparing for a different type of warfare. They expect to strike quickly and hard.

America's pennyweight army of a maximum 165,000 men is not designed for a quick penetration of an enemy's territory. But under its new mechanization program, as worked out in the hard-hitting mechanized divisions in Texas, it can plan to be able to concentrate stout resistance at a point of invasion.

This new mechanized division, first off, was reduced from the World War size of 27,000 men to a compact unit of 12,500 officers and men. But instead of the 18 miles a day that the old foot-slogging horse artillery division could travel, the new division covered 300 miles in a day and wound up fit to split an amazing curtain of

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—A novelist in New York has been... appears to be one of the most extravagant apartments on record. However, it cost only a $5000 a month, for most of its luxury is really stage settings. His cousin is a theatrical producer and from him he obtains the seemingly lavish fixtures of costly plays which fall to survive the reviews.

When his teacher suggested to him that his career under the name of Giuseppe Fabris, his Italian equivalent, Smith declined. "It is outrageous to think that American names and American teachers can not produce good singers." So he billed himself under the honest but wholly unromantic name of Joe Smith.

Some people live in New York for years without seeing many of its treasures. The idea, of course, is: "Why rush? I will see it some day." However, that some day is a long time in coming. For instance, I have never been to the Statue of Liberty, I have seen it from above and from passing ships thousands of times, but I have never been out to it and climbed its back-breaking stairway.

He said he would be present to assist in the distribution of over 600 toys and 200 checks of cash.

A fine example of how more one may be in this town is the experience of Jim Crowley, the football coach and Grandland Rice, the sports columnist. They are next door neighbors, but last year they saw each other only twice—in Berlin and in Los Angeles. Music lovers rubbed their eyes when they read in their newspapers of the debut of a young baritone—Joe Smith by name. He seems headed for the Metropolitan stage, but his name would have stunned New York

Habe Ruth, indicated by arrow at left, played a game of golf with the man you do not see, indicated by arrow at the right. We have reason to believe, though, that he is the mysterious John Monaghan. The people in between, around, over and under the contestants are a lot of other fellows who paid a dollar each to watch. A picture was taken the 10,000 cash customers had just broken into the match of their most darling across the fairways, tramping of greens, and complete occupation of the rough. This crazy spectacle between Montague and Sylvia Annenberg and the Babe Didrikson and Ruth was staged at the Fresh Meadow Country Club, New York, and the frogskins went to charity.

Drunkenness Brings Sentence To Jail

James Campbell was given a 30-day straight sentence and fined the cost of prosecution when he pleaded guilty to drunkenness charges for the third time this year before Judge H. W. Ware yesterday. The last time Campbell was sentenced before the Judge on similar charges he was fined $25 and costs with the admonition that he would receive the jail sentence if he was again arrested for drunkenness. The County Judge also sentenced Alfred Nash, negro, to serve five months in the County Jail when he pleaded guilty to larceny charges.

First Hint of Reprisal

The first hint of reprisal came in a letter to the president from Representative Dies, democrat, Texas, leader of the successful House fight against the wages-hour bill. Dies, after reading Roosevelt's letter to Chairman Cartwright, democrat, Oklahoma, of the House roads committee outlining the need of curbing highway spending, wrote that he would organize any economy bloc, which he described as the "first caucus of savers," when congress meets again Jan. 3. The Texan praised the president's "definite and courageous position on this subject," forecast support for it from at least 100 House democrats and agreed with the president's observation in the Cartwright letter that unless the heavy domestic majority in congress forces a cut in governmental spending, there "will not be any dramatic party and there will not be any solvent government after a few years."

Plant To Suspend Operations Soon

Juicers Enter Plant At 3:00 A. M. To Avoid Picket Lines

A general strike was called by officials of the United Cannery, Agricultural, Packers and Allied Workers union, a C. I. O. affiliate, at the Eckerson Fruit Cannery, Inc. this morning. Although women patrolled the sidewalks in front of the cannery bearing placards blood ready to form picket lines, City and County law enforcing officers who were present throughout the day, reported that conditions as a whole were peaceful. Following the activity of the union members who struck in sympathy with the men peelers who walked out last Wednesday for higher wages, came an announcement by C. H. Eckerson, president of the Company that cannery operations will be suspended indefinitely as soon as the fruit on hand has been used.

After learning that union officials had called a general strike for today and planned to maintain lines beginning at 7:00 A. M. officials of the cannery company obtained a new crew of approximately 75 workers who were admitted to the plant about 3:00 A. M. and continued juicing operations in full throughout the day.

Mr. Eckerson advised that facilities for caring for these workers inside the plant for a period of three days had been arranged but that operations will, no doubt, be suspended entirely before the expiration of that time.

W. L. Boleclair, an international organizer for the committee for Industrial Organization advised a Herald reporter this morning that the union is charging the Company.

Cuba Withdraws All Charges Vs. Machado

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—(AP)—The Cuban government withdrew all charges against former President Gerardo Machado of Cuba, who had been held by United States authorities in temporary custody on an extradition warrant. Machado, who is seriously ill in a hospital here, was accused in Cuba of misappropriation of funds and mass murder.

The liberation of Machado, once "iron man of Cuba" was formalized in the office of United States Commissioner Garrett Cotter before whom the extradition proceeding was first brought several weeks ago.

Meanwhile the Cuban Congress passed a general amnesty bill for all political prisoners including Machado. The former president has been in exile for four years. He is now at liberty to return to Cuba if his health permits.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—(AP)—The back-to-work march in private industry through most of 1937 cut deeply into unemployment before the business downturn interrupted multiplication of jobs in the autumn.

Capt. Washburn Addresses Rotary On National Guard

Infantry Is Seen As Backbone Of Service Despite Air Planes

Declaring that the infantry is still the backbone of the service and that once the doughboy is properly entrenched it is pretty hard to get him out of the ground, Capt. H. C. Washburn, commanding officer of Company D, addressed the Rotary Club today on the subject "Is the National Guard Worth Community Support?"

Prior to Capt. Washburn's talk, Geo. Rollins, superintendent of the Atlantic Coast Line Railway, presented the club with a gavel made from a rare wood found in the Andes mountains of South America and imported to this country over 50 years ago.

Outlining some of the services performed by the National Guard, Capt. Washburn mentioned the assistance rendered the victims of the 1926 hurricane and near Miami, and again following the 1928 storm which devastated Palmetto and Belle Glade.

Hints Are Issued By Secretary Mayo On Farm Safety

TALLAHASSEE, Dec. 27.—(AP)—Thirty picture hints about safety for farm children are contained in a pamphlet just published by Nathan Mayo, state commissioner of agriculture, in co-operation with the Florida safety council.

Mayo said the farm "is a field of accident activity as yet hardly scratched with any program of safety although this field contains approximately one third of the population of Florida."

"It is my fond hope that the illustrated pages will cause a caution on the part of those of our people on the farm to the end that a thought in time will save pain, suffering, injury, or loss of life and limb."

Eight Persons Killed, And 60 Hurt In Madrid

Insurgents Hurl 400 Shells At Old Spanish City In Last Forty-Eight Hours

MADRID, Dec. 27.—(AP)—Spanish insurgent artillery batteries continued to shell Madrid, still shaken from the Christmas week-end bombardment, the worst and most prolonged the capital has suffered in a month. Official figures said in the past 48 hours 400 shells had been poured into the city killing eight persons and wounding 60.

One of the insurgent shells shattered Madrid's 70 year old "Big Ben" clock in the Ministry of Home Affairs building where Madrilenos traditionally gathered on New Year's eve to welcome the New Year by eating a raisin with each stroke of the clock's chimes.

Three persons were killed and eight injured when a shell scored a direct hit on a street car in the center of the city where most of the insurgent fire was concentrated.

A government dispatch reported four insurgent warships had bombarded Castellon and Vinaroz on the Spanish east coast Sunday without inflicting much damage.

Meanwhile, loyalist reports from Teruel indicated the government advance was rapidly mopping up the city. The official Spanish news agency said the event two years ago while Babe Tucker took the honors last year.

Favorite in tonight's feature will doubtless be Side Traffic, altho Ann Hope, winner of the Derby two years ago will get plenty of attention. However the futurity distance is considered too short for the Ann dogs to use their famous finishing speed to best advantage.

Rebel planes dived over the city and dropped a few bombs, but most of these fell behind the lines. The only known casualty, the government said, was a cow.

Broadcast Given On Rollins Plan By Miss McBride

ORLANDO, Dec. 27. Mary Margaret McBride, New York radio star, the Columbia Broadcasting System's columnist of the air, who is spending the Christmas holidays in Winter Park, made the nation's winter water today with a description of Florida quail, southern biscuit and orange blossom honey on the luncheon table of Orlando's Mayor and Mrs. V. W. Estee's.

In a nation-wide broadcast on Rollins College, she said "Some day, I'd like to teach a course in 'Human Events and Living' at Rollins College, but they have along those lines, that really wouldn't let me."

She told of Hamilton Holt's student conference plan that shifts the responsibility to the student and makes Jim ask the professor questions instead of being spoon-fed knowledge in regulated doses by instructors.

Miss McBride also told the story of the Rollins Animated Magazine and the Annie Russell theatre, two contributing factors that make Rollins a "different sort of college."

500 Are Killed In Violent Deaths Over Yule Holiday

Highway Accidents, Fire And Shooting End 15 Floridians

By Associated Press
Violent death claimed at least 500 lives as the nation's festive Christmas celebrations in years.

The double holiday, crowded by the highways with an unusual burden of homeward bound travelers, swelled the toll above normal years. Traffic accidents caused many times as many deaths as any other cause.

But the weekend merry making also was cut short by gunfire, hanging, suffocation, burning, poisoning, drowning, a plane crash and fatal household accidents.

While millions feasted in cheer, at least 14 men and women died in despair at their own hands. There were 30 slayings.

Florida listed 15 violent deaths, 11 from highway accidents, fire, shooting, stabbing and one reported suicide rounded out the (Continued on Page Three)

Annual Census Of Seminole Birds Is Made By Society

Total Of 6,400 Individual Birds Is Recorded In Count

By C. R. MASON
Following a custom of several years standing, 20 interested bird observers last Thursday took a one-day census of the bird life in the eastern part of Seminole County.

Cultivated fields, marsh lands, pine woods, hard wood swamps, grass fields, all were included in the territory covered and the census lasted from sun-up to sunset. The observers hunted at six parties, joining at lunch in Geneva to compare notes and plan for the afternoon part of the program.

Due to high water that limited the feeding areas for ducks and covered the sandy lake beaches where shore birds usually found some of the species normally reported at this season were missed. However with a larger list than usual of the small birds, 114 species and a total of 6,400 individual birds were recorded, comparing favorably with the record of 115 in 1936 and 114 in 1935.

One bird that regularly winters here, the Song Sparrow, was listed on this census for the first time in five years. The bird is quite secretive and as it feeds hidden among the lily pads, is often overlooked.

Myrtle Higgs made an interesting discovery in a stray Crested Flycatcher, a breeding bird in Seminole County in summer but usually restricted to extreme South Florida and southward in winter.

A combination of the Christmas census records of the past five years shows a total of 142 species recorded. However there are still several species that are found in this section in winter uncommonly that have escaped observation during these one-day censuses, that may be noted on future trips. The list of birds and their numbers found during this year's census is as follows:

- Common Loon, 1; Pied-billed Grebe, 15; Cormorant, 6; Water Turkey, 2; Ward's Heron, 7; American Egret, 28; Snowy Egret, 11; Louisiana Heron, 30; Little Blue Heron, 32; Green Heron, 1; Black-crowned Night Heron, 1; American Bittern, 2; White Ibis, 7; Mallard, 1; Red-legged Black Duck, 2; Florida Duck, 6; Baldpate, 5; Pintail, 2; Green-winged Teal, 1; Blue-winged Teal, 25; Shoveller, 11; Ring-necked Duck, 34; Scaup, 62; Ruffle-head, 1; Turkey Vulture, 90; Black Vulture, 157; and the Sharp-shinned Hawk, 5.

Also the Cooper's Hawk, 4; Red-tailed Hawk, 4; Red-shouldered Hawk, 6; Broad-winged Hawk, 1; Bald Eagle, 5; Marsh Hawk, 11; Sparrow Hawk, 27; Bob-White, 86; King Rail, 3; Sora, 1; Florida Gallinule, 2; (Continued on page four)

Proposed Citrus Pact Hearing To Be Held Jan. 17

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—(AP)—Agricultural Adjustment Administration announced today that the proposed marketing agreement for the Florida citrus industry would be considered at a public hearing Jan. 17, at Lakeland.

Growers and shippers have drafted a tentative program but AAA approval and ratification by a referendum of growers and shippers will be required to make it operative. AAA officials said the program would enable the adjustment of supplies of grapefruit, oranges and tangerines more nearly to marketing requirements.

The hearing, requested by shippers who last year handled about 70 percent of Florida's volume, will consider amendments and present evidence on provisions of the program.

Handlers of at least 50 percent of the volume of Florida citrus would be required to sign the pact and at least two-thirds of the growers by number or by the volume of fruit represented would be required to approve the ordering of agreement.

The pact would expire June 30, 1938, automatically unless formally renewed by the Secretary of Agriculture or through industry action.

Visitors Are Asked To Name New Leopards

Over the week-end, throngs of visitors packed the grounds at the Municipal Zoo which has developed into one of Sanford's leading attractions.

The antics of the monkey proved especially amusing to the children while the lions, the bear cubs and the new African leopards also received their share of attention.

The leopards, which were purchased for the Zoo by the City, as yet have not been named and beginning tomorrow Superintendent of Parks James Slaughter asked that all visitors at the Zoo cast a ballot for naming the pair. The names receiving the most votes will be the names used, he said.

The voting will continue until one week from today when the ballots will be counted and the results published in The Sanford Herald. Ballots and pencils will be furnished to those who wish to vote at a booth on the premises.

Regular auditorium meetings will be held on Thursday afternoons at 2:30, Sunday mornings at 10:30, and Sunday afternoons at 2:00, from Jan. 2 until April 2. Auditorium scenes are scheduled for Sunday evenings at 7:30 and Tuesday evenings at 7:30.
