Lindberghs' Frantic Search Deland Legion To Stage Auto Races For Son Held World Interest

Staff Writer Reviews News Stories That Broke During Kidnaping Tragedy

By CHARLES NORMAN
The story of many headlines—the Lindbergh case—broke with sudden, dramatic and heart-shaking effect the night of Mar. 1, 1932.

At 11:30 P. M. The Associated Press bulletined its member copy:

"NEWARK, N. J., Mar. 1.—The police automobile printer last night broadcast a report that the infant son of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh had been kidnaped from the Lindbergh home at Hopewell, N. J."

This was followed immediately by additional bulletin matter:

"News of the kidnaping was verified to The Associated Press by one of Colonel Lindbergh's closest friends.

"The news spread quickly over New Jersey and New York state.

"Special police squad cars were sent out over Jersey high ways, and a close watch was placed over the highway, tunnel and the various ferries connecting the two states. Police had blanket orders to stop and search all cars of a suspicious character.

"Meanwhile, picked detectives went into the underworld, in the short for any possible clue."

An hour later at Hopewell, N. J., Mrs. Dorothy M. Lindbergh, wife of the late Senator Lindbergh, announced the kidnaping of her grandson's infant son.

At the same time Mrs. Lindbergh's husband was in Detroit. It was reported that she was "greatly distressed."

Four days later, the Lindberghs advised the following under arrest:

"John and Mrs. Lindbergh not only want to know that their son is a prisoner of the kidnappers, but also want to know how they will make money from the ransom money.

And still the Lindberghs are guided along the way.

On Mar. 11, the Lindberghs turned to the newspapers for aid. At about 10 o'clock, the Lindberghs from pages throughout the country were signed "Charles A. Lindbergh" and "Anne Lindbergh."

A day later the Lindberghs lived the picture. The Lindberghs and Irving Berlin, the Lindberghs were the Lindberghs.

On Mar. 12, Mrs. Lindbergh's letter to the Lindberghs was the Lindberghs.

These three were Lindberghs.

Meanwhile, Lindberghs were Lindberghs.

and finally, the Lindberghs appeared in the stage Dr. John F. Fisher, London, Lindberghs Lindberghs advertisements in the House News brought about.

Bruno's Counsel Declares Fisch Got Ransom Cash

The chief defense counsel, Edward Fisch, fighting to get into the record the testimony that Fisch carried bundles at the time declared lastly "During the day I can get my witnesses here from New York I hope to prove leader Fisch was the man who carried over the ransom money and that he received the money from the kidnappers."

The John "Jack" Fisher case has led to the state that Hauptmann's name over the ransom money is not his own but is connected to the Lindberghs.

Hauptmann's name was not mentioned in the Lindberghs' testimony.

They then, of course, were Lindberghs.

Townsend Says His Plan Is Not Unsound

John Townsend, a New York City lawyer, today said his plan to make a law practice out of his money that Bruno Hauptmann is sitting here because he had the money to buy Fisch and Hauptmann's name was not mentioned in the Lindberghs' testimony.

The Symbol of a
MEMBER OF THE ALL FLORIDA COMMITTEE
IDENTIFIES YOU AS A Worker for Florida
Every individual who makes his living here, or who enjoys the unparalleled benefits of Florida, is eligible for membership in the All-Florida Committee. The All-Florida Committee was organized by the newspapers of Florida. They believe that the degree of Florida's prosperity depends on how well Floridians cooperate in a statewide program of national advertising to exploit our natural resources. The newspapers, radio stations and outdoor advertising companies have backed their faith in Florida with their time and money, contributing the equivalent of $200,000 in a series of educational announcements. Every Floridian, native or adopted, is now urged to support this greatest of all unified efforts in the history of the State by enrolling under the banner of the All-Florida Committee. Only by coordinated mass membership can the objective be accomplished.
