Opening today, at last

LAKE MARY — Litchfield Theatres, 3850 N. U.S. Highway 17-92 in Victoria Square, was scheduled to open today at noon. Originally scheduled to open July 13, the theaters experienced construction and electrical delays, and a dispute with the city over the size of its outside advertising.

City Planner Matthew West said they have not reached an agreement yet, and it would probably be another two to three months before any kind of marquee will go up.

Man charged with drug delivery

LAKE MARY — Lake Mary police detectives received a tip that a delivery of marijuana would be made at a recreation area of Stromberg-Carlson on Rinehart Road at about 4 p.m. Wednesday.

Police report watching as the suspect allegedly made a $30 sale of marijuana to a couple. The accused buyers weren't arrested, after reportedly cooperating with police.

David Scott Blanchard, 33, 2543 Eastbrook Blvd., Casselberry, was charged with possession and delivery of marijuana in the case. Bond is $500. He was arrested at 4:26 p.m. after being taken from the business to the police station.

Here we grow again

SANFORD — The city will be growing by one more motel soon. The Planning and Zoning Commission approved a site plan Thursday night for a new motel to be built at 3401 Orlando Drive, U. S. Highway 17-92, south of and adjacent to the Foxfire Restaurant. The site plan will now go before the City Commission.

The 71 room facility will be known as the Sanford Motel. Pending approval by the Commission, there is no word on when construction might get underway.

840-unit residential development wins preliminary approval

Many residents west of Sanford express concerns on many points

SANFORD — The July 19 meeting of the city's Planning and Zoning Commission lasted 15 minutes. "Sometimes the only people here are the commissioners," Chairman Joe Dennison said. But last night's meeting was different as a large group of citizens turned out to hear about the new 15-acre housing development planned for the area between Upsala Road and Oregon Avenue in west Sanford. The meeting lasted almost two hours.

Russell J. Sepielli, represented the developers, Davis and Associates of Orlando, in a request to have the zoning changed. In February, 1989, P&Z and the City had agreed to a plan that designated the eastern half of the property as PD, or planned development, and the western half as SR1, or single family residential. Last night the goal was to have the entire parcel

The commission voted unanimously to recommend approval of the zoning request to the city.

State official questions legality of water group

Midway residents asking for help

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald staff writer

MIDWAY — An official with the Florida Public Service Commission said today that the Midway-Canaan Water Association may be in violation of state laws if Midway residents don't have a say in the association's operations.

"Homeowner's associations like this are exempt from our regulations if the residents participate in decision making," said John Williams, bureau chief of PSC water and sewer certification. "I spoke with someone from the State Attorney's Office down there two weeks ago who said residents have not been permitted to participate."

Williams said he is awaiting information from the local State Attorney's Office to show Midway residents have been blocked from participating in the 24-year-old association. If so, Williams said the association would be required to submit to PSC rate-setting regulations.

Midway residents began receiving questionnaires from state attorney's investigators this week asking if they were satisfied with their water service and rates. The questionnaire also asks if residents have been offered an opportunity to join the association. Community meetings will be held Aug. 14 and 16 by state attorney's officials.

Proposed airline passenger fee called unfair taxation

United Press International

WASHINGTON — The House voted to hit airline passengers with an airport user fee that could add up to $12 to the cost of a round-trip ticket, rejecting arguments it amounts to an unfair and regressive $1 billion tax.

An amendment to eliminate the user fee from the aviation reauthorization bill was debated Thursday.

The House then passed the bill, 405-15, and sent it to the Senate. The legislation authorizes $18.3 billion in 1991 and 1992 for Federal Aviation Administration programs to operate and develop the airway system.

The "passenger facility charge" would affect millions of consumers while adding $1 billion a year to the Airport and Airway Trust Fund, which currently has a surplus of about $7.6 billion. The law would allow more than 70 major airports — many of them congested and experiencing long and expensive flight delays — to charge a head tax on each passenger to help pay for

Group files complaint about unreported gifts

TALLAHASSEE - Florida Senate President Bob Crawford smuggled two exotic birds from Mexico into the country after a 1987 hunting trip that was paid for by lobbyists, a newspaper reported Thursday.

CRIME AND PUNISHMENT

Judge: Plan to release inmates is mockery of judicial system

United Press International

TAMPA - A plan to ease prison crowding by releasing non-violent inmates has judges worried that it will make a mockery of criminal penalties, a published report said Thursday.

"Already they're out in one-fourth of the time," Hillsborough Circuit Judge Susan Kucklew told The Tampa Tribune. "If we make it less than that, it makes sentencing seem kind of ridiculous."

The proposal, which could take effect by Nov. 30, is designed to free non-violent offenders to make room for violent convicts. The Florida Parole Commission will vote Aug. 8 on whether to adopt the plan.

burglars, not murders," Hoyer said. "Letting them out after a token amount of time is scary," he said.

Prison officials said about 900 of more than 42,000 inmates are released each week. They hope to maintain that number under the new system.

State Rep. S.L. "Spud" Clements Jr., D-Brandon, said he supports the new system even though it "will be a revolving door for some."

"Unless we build enough prisons to keep everyone in prison their full term, some sort of system has to be worked out."

Life in prison urged for child murderer

United Press International

PORT MYERS - A jury recommended a life prison sentence for convicted child killer Thomas Coe, who could have received the death penalty for the abusive murder of his 2-year-old stepson.

Coe, 33, was convicted of first-degree murder and aggravated child abuse Monday for the brutal slaying of toddler Bradley McCoe, who was repeatedly dunked headfirst into a toilet as punishment for soiling his pants.

His death last July led to unprecedented criminal charges against four state social workers and reforms in the way the state handles child abuse cases.

The Polk County man smiled after the verdict was read in the courtroom of Polk County Circuit Judge Randall McDonald, who will make the final decision on Coe's sentence.

A psychiatrist testifying for the defense told jurors earlier Thursday that Coe was abused as a child.

Judge orders Eastern pilot reinstatement

United Press International

MIAMI - A federal judge ordered the reinstatement Thursday of Eastern Airline pilots who called off their 8-month-long strike in November, but have been prevented from returning to the cockpit by the hiring of replacement pilots.

U.S. District Judge Edward B. Davis ruled that pilot trainees hired by Eastern Airlines during the strike cannot be considered permanent replacements for the union pilots who honored the picket line set up by the International Machinists Union in March 1989.

"It's a victory because it shows that the company cannot violate laws left and right as they see fit, as long as a collective bargaining agreement is in place," said Rick Monnar, a spokesman for the Air Line Pilots Association in Miami.

ALPA members met Thursday night to vote on a proposal that union pilots once again go on strike. A spokesman said results of that vote probably would not be announced until Friday.

Eastern Airlines said it expects to file an appeal Friday, but said that even if that fails it will be a long time before any pilots who honored the strike return to the cockpit since they must first undergo pilot recertification.

Eastern filed for protection from its creditors under Chapter 11 of the U.S. Bankruptcy Code five days after unions representing its pilots, flight attendants and ground workers launched the crippling strike.

Union officials said the ruling applies to more than 800 pilot positions, but Eastern officials disagreed, saying it only affected 180 pilots.

Opposites attract: FSU, UF cooperate on magnet lab

United Press International

TALLAHASSEE - Florida State University and the University of Florida have put aside their bitter rivalry and are cooperating in an attempt to win a prestigious high-technology research project.

The two schools, in cooperation with New Mexico's Los Alamos National Laboratory, are seeking to build the nation's foremost magnetic field laboratory in Tallahassee.

up to $50 million from the federal government over the next five years and would also bring in scientists and researchers from around the world.

The lab would deal with the fundamental forces of nature, studying the properties of various substances under magnetic pressure.

FSU physicist W.G. Moulton said the study and development of magnets "permeates all of modern technology." For instance: They can be used to study the structure of DNA, to develop new materials, to separate minerals and to clean up pollution.

Magnetic resonance imagers enable doctors to see irregularities in tissue and bone marrow.

Magnetically levitated trains can reach speeds in excess of 300 mph.

"Economically, there's a greater return for research in magnetism than computer chips," Moulton said.

Also competing for the research laboratory is the prestigious Massachusetts Institute of Technology, which already has a smaller version of the same type of lab.

All of those involved have already presented their cases to the National Science Foundation, and a decision is expected soon.

The state would be expected to contribute $50 million to $60 million to the project if it is awarded. It has already set aside $10 million just in case.

City to unveil blueprints for redevelopment

By BOB PFEIFFER
Herald staff writer

LONGWOOD — What will the city look like 10 years from now if planning projects can get under way? What will happen if nothing is done?

During the past six months, there have been many meetings throughout the city on the future of Longwood. City leaders, consultants and planners have met separately with city leaders, school groups, merchants, business leaders and people concerned with the historical area. Now, a mass meeting is planned, with everyone invited to hear what it all looks like when everything is put together.

City Planner Chris Nagle said the Aug. 14 meeting will have four main focal points. "First of all," he said, "we'll be discussing the strategic planning. Most of this deals with research on what needs to be done, how much it may cost, and what happens if we don't do anything at all." Experts who have studied all aspects of this question will be on hand to discuss it.

"Secondly," Nagle said, "is downtown redevelopment. This is the project that the Herbert Halback firm has been working on, where three suggested plans for improvement were combined into what we called 'Plan D,' a plan approved by the city commission. The importance of the downtown historical area also plays a prominent part in this matter."

Nagle explained the third area deals with sewer comparability. He said representatives of an engineering firm will be on hand to discuss Longwood's options that could range anywhere from maintaining sewer service as it is today to selling the sewer services to an outside contractor for management.

"Finally," he said, "we'll be putting it all together in a wrap-up, so that everyone will know how it all interrelates." He added, "We'll probably get into talking about the proposed city budget with its one-mill property tax increase that will be used primarily to help fund these projects."

Nagle hopes to have as many city officials, citizens, business owners and interested persons as possible on hand.

"There will be plenty of room," he said, "we will be meeting in the auditorium of Lyman High School."

The town meeting will be Aug. 14 at 7 p.m. in the auditorium of Lyman High School, 1141 South East Lake Ave.

Too little, too late for Cambodia?

Belatedly, the Bush administration is changing its failed policy on Cambodia. It has withdrawn recognition of a three-party rebel alliance that includes the genocidal Khmer Rouge, and now proposes a dialogue with Vietnam, the Cambodian government's principal backer, in the hope of preventing another bloody Khmer Rouge takeover of the country. So far as it goes, it's the right step, but it may well be too little, too late.

Such a shift could have come late last year, after Vietnam withdrew its occupation troops from Cambodia as promised. Until now, the administration wouldn't even acknowledge that Vietnam had kept its word, nor did it make any meaningful reciprocal gesture. Now, concerned by Khmer Rouge battlefield victories over Cambodian government forces, and faced with mounting opposition in Congress to its policy, the administration says its policy shift is aimed at preventing a Khmer Rouge victory. The question is: how?

Since Vietnam invaded Cambodia at the end of 1978, it has been U.S. policy to isolate Hanoi, and to shun its client regime in Phnom Penh headed by Hun Sen, a former Khmer Rouge field commander. Yet now that it's willing to talk with Hanoi, the administration offers no hint of what kind of plan, if any, it has for resolving the Cambodian conflict, or whether it's simply trying, belatedly, to get on the "right side" of an intractable issue. Until there's further movement, the practical effect of the U.S. action is likely to be minimal, amounting to not much more than the denial of Khmer Rouge accreditation at the United Nations, where it's part of the Cambodian delegation.

In Cambodia itself, there's an impasse. All sides in the conflict agree on the need for multiparty elections to choose a new government, but Hun Sen and the Khmer Rouge remain far apart on the makeup of a caretaker regime that would serve until a U.N.-supervised election could be held. If neither side budges, and if China continues to arm the Khmer Rouge, as it insists it will, it's hard to see any basis for a breakthrough. That leaves the military side, where the Khmer Rouge appears to be winning.

By agreeing to talk with Hanoi, U.S. policy has moved off dead center. But it needs to go further — including, for example, direct talks with a Cambodian government that, as Secretary of State James Baker now obliquely concedes, may be more than just a Vietnamese puppet. If the United States wants to play a leading role in ending Cambodia's nightmare, it also must engage itself in a larger process of regional diplomacy. That means setting aside the bitter memories of the Vietnam War and dealing in a businesslike manner with both its clients and its former adversaries.

2 Live Crew's painful paradox and the law

Antonin Scalia, the U.S. Supreme Court justice, was saying recently that a proper decision of law by our nation's highest court may sometimes have a bad effect, but that is no reason to hand down an improper decision. That same painful paradox applies to us as we reconsider the abysmal case of the 2 Live Crew rap group.

When a U.S. District court judge in Florida ruled that the group's recent album should not be constitutionally protected as free speech, all across America was raised the specter of censorship and all its dreary consequences.

It is dangerous to the point of disaster to attempt to decide which expression merits the umbrella of the U.S. Constitution, and which does not. To do so is to set in motion the treacherous logroll of censorship.

Yet, as Edward Mortimer writes in The New York Times Review of Books about the Salman Rushdie affair: "The liberal instinct is to proclaim freedom of speech as an absolute right. But that position is not sustainable in practice.... We are not free to destroy other people's reputations.... We are not free to shout abuse or obscenities at people in the street...."

Perhaps we should not be free, either, to shout the kind of abuse and obscenities currently being absorbed by the 2 million Americans who have purchased 2 Live Crew's current album.

Since at least hundreds of thousands of American children are among those listening to this album, we see no point in invoking family newspaper restraints about its contents; readers may be among those least likely to know.

Hit man fears protection lifted

WASHINGTON — Former mob hit man John Tully is an honest, law-abiding citizen these days. But his honesty may cost him his freedom. Tully needs a passport to leave the United States, but he refuses to lie about his background on the application forms. Essentially, he is trapped in the country.

For some, that may not be such a bad predicament. But for Tully, who is about to publish his dicey memoirs, temporary exile is a must.

We first reported Tully's story in 1974 when he was a hit man whom we had urged to turn government witness against organized crime. He and his bosses from the Newark, N.J., Campus mob got prison terms because of his testimony. When Tully got out, the federal government gave him a new identity to protect him.

Today, he runs a successful business, is married and has been clean for most of a decade. But Tully is not entirely happy with his new life. Nagging at him, he says, is his role in convicting fellow mobsters. Not that he pities them, but he hints that the government took some liberties in making its case. Tully is promising to tell all in a book that he has been writing for years. It could make people mad.

"When it comes out, I'm not going to feel comfortable living in the United States anymore," he said. That's where his problem begins. To leave, Tully needs a passport, and to get a passport, he needs to give the real names of his parents and wife, and disclose whether he has ever held a passport before. The truth would blow his cover, but a lie would be a felony and could get him five more years in prison.

So Tully turned to the U.S. Marshals Service, which runs the witness protection program. He claims several officials there told him to lie on his passport application. When Tully pushed for a better answer, one official surprised him with the news that Tully might not even be covered by the protection program anymore and the office could do little for him. It seems the marshals were holding against him a couple of misdemeanors from his drinking days shortly after he got out of prison and was under the wing of the witness protection program.

Tully insists that no one had previously told him that he was out of the program. Officials say anyone bounced from the roster would first have to be formally notified.

The ultra-secret nature of the program prevents authorities from even acknowledging to outsiders that they know who Tully was or is. But they did tell us that the agency has ways of getting passports for its protected clients. "If he's in the program, I don't understand any reason why he'd be getting the runaround," program chief Gene Coon told our associate Dan Njegomir. Tully doesn't understand either. His most recent advice came from someone in the program who told him that the service "can't tell you to lie, but they can't tell you how to answer (the application)." If there is a legitimate way for Tully to get a passport, no one has told him about it.

Tully is a registered voter and a taxpaying businessman. No one appears to quibble with his right to travel abroad. All he asks of the government is to tell him how to do it legally.

Temporary exile is a must.

Reopening Bork battle wounds?

WASHINGTON — Proclaiming their public-spiritedness and high principles, politicians in both parties are saying that Judge David H. Souter's confirmation process must not "re-open the wounds" of the Bork battle. There is bipartisan eagerness (for partisan purposes) to avoid asking Souter questions that might (for partisan purposes) avoid asking Souter questions that might elicit answers that would be inconveniently interesting. In this atmosphere of high-mindedness there is universal disdain for "litmus tests" and "ideologies."

President Bush recoils in horror from the idea of a "litmus test" for a Court nominee. Of course he became President running on a platform that declared Roe v. Wade an abomination and promised "the appointment of judges at all levels of the judiciary" opposed to that decision. But no litmus tests.

Democrats, whose impatience with ideology is famous (their last hero declared the 1988 presidential election to be "about competence, not ideology") say they sure hope Souter is not an "ideologue," and Republicans say they hope so, too. What is this universally (and therefore, of course, justly) reviled creature, this ideologue?

Not all conservatives are ideologues, but all ideologues are conservatives. (When was the last — has there been a first? — media reference to a "liberal ideologue"?) Cynics say an ideologue is someone whose thinking has a rigor that is offensive to whomever is using "ideologue" as an epithet. Anyway, Souter isn't one. Everyone says so (although no one says how they know so).

Sen. Dennis DeConcini (D-Ariz.), one of the anti-Bork senators on the Judiciary Committee, does say that Souter "needs to assure the committee that he is not an ideologue who has made up his mind on the issue of Roe v. Wade." Hmm. Souter was a 33-year-old assistant attorney general of New Hampshire when that abortion decision was handed down in 1973. Since then he has been attorney general and a federal judge. Does DeConcini believe, or hope, that in the intervening 17 years Souter has not decided what he thinks about that case as constitutional law? If Souter has not decided, is he sufficiently interested in constitutional law to be a good citizen, let alone a good justice?

Today's Senate and President have different reasons for wanting the same thing — a nominee whose views are not known and will not become much better known during the confirmation process.

Bush's preference for a human blank slate is related to his basic political style. In Chinese, "crisis" also means "opportunity." For Bush, opportunity means crisis. An opportunity is an occasion for choice; choices define; defining himself is dangerous for Bush, whose strategy for pleasing almost everyone depends on fighting over nothing fundamental.

The mugging of Robert Bork institutionalized anti-intellectualism, at least when Republican Presidents submit Court nominations to a Democratic-controlled Senate. A nominee needs to be innocent of having published conservative thoughts.

But Democrats are of two minds. They value vagueness in a Republican President's nominee, but require specificity regarding one matter — the "privacy right," now celebrating its silver anniversary.

Senators are, as a species, risk-averse. This means they want justices who will be vague before confirmed and activists after being confirmed.

A vote for a nominee whose views are not well-known does not make a senator very vulnerable to the wrath of interest groups. But the rejection of Bork signified that a Senate majority is committed to maintaining the leftward ratchet in constitutional law. That majority is determined to preserve the tendencies of the Court's activist majority during the last 35 (the Brennan) years.

So these senators must know a nominee's views concerning the line of decisions that began with the ruling in Griswold v. Connecticut, a 1965 ruling that became a lush garden sprouting hybrid rights. In that case the Court announced a new "privacy right," which the Court described as a "penumbra, formed by emanations" from real rights that the Constitution actually mentions.

"No other case" writes Gary McDowell in The Public Interest, "typifies more clearly both the direction of judicial power in America and Congress' institutional approval of that direction." Abortion is just one of innumerable privacy rights Griswold empowers the Court to discover. This style of jurisprudence nationalizes many questions hitherto left to the states and absolves Congress from primary responsibility for wrestling with them. What once were policy questions to be decided by political institutions become questions of rights defined by courts.

Because Bush expresses a confidence in his nominee's conservatism that the public record does not confirm.

What is this universally reviled creature, this ideologue?

Double sessions can work

It irritates me when I hear parents and teachers complain about double sessions or year-round school. I taught third grade in Maryville, Tennessee during the Depression.

The school where I spent four years was consolidated — high school and elementary grades together. We had never heard of middle schools. At Everett High School, there was no library or music room or auditorium available for crowded conditions. The children furnished their books and some of them came without.

One year we had over 70 children in each of the first three grades and no space for another class, nor money for three more teachers. We had never heard of portable classrooms! The principal seemed to think it was our problem. There were fewer than 40 desks in each classroom — desks made for one child. So we, the three primary teachers, decided on double sessions. When we announced it at PTA, some of the parents were furious and the principal agreed with them. But we won — the superintendent was intelligent!

We three teachers went to school at 7 a.m., taught until 11:00 a.m. with an hour off for lunch and to get ready for the next group from 12 to 4:00 p.m.

We are all three still living. The others — retired of course — are still in Maryville, Tennessee, so I can prove what I say.

At Pinecrest here in Sanford, one year we had to have double sessions. I shared a sixth grade room with a teacher, now the wife of the principal of Lake Mary High School. I taught sixth graders in the morning and she had the room for her sixth grade in the afternoon.

I spent my afternoons on class projects that could be done in the auditorium or teaching folk dancing to my group or others outside. Most of my kids would come back after lunch for interesting projects.

Now there are extra reasons that we had never heard of at Everett High School and our salary was $80 per month. And our pupils did not suffer. They turned out well. Two years after two left Everett, that first grade teacher taught a little boy who became Governor of Tennessee and is now President of the University of Tennessee. And on my 90th birthday, I received flowers and a telephone call from one of those third graders of 1936.

P.S. All those primary grade teachers at Everett High were named Lucile — Lucile Lane, Lucile Waters, and Lucile Campbell!

Commercial growth in county drops

By J. MARK SANFIELD
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Although the amount of money spent in 1989 on new or expanded business in Seminole County dropped to about a third of that spent in 1988, local business officials say there's no reason for concern.

"Capitol investment can gyrate very significantly," said Ron Thibodeaux, vice president of industrial development for the Industrial Development Commission of Mid-Florida Inc. "The number of projects remained constant which shows Seminole County has as much to offer as it ever had."

"It's not bad news," said Bob Lewis, executive vice president of the Greater Seminole County Chamber of Commerce. "We're still one of the fastest growing areas in the country."

Figures released by the Florida Department of Commerce this week for the year ending June 30 show while the number of new or expanding businesses remained constant from the prior 12-month period, the amount of capitol investment dropped substantially from the $24.7 million spent in 1988 to $8 million spent in 1989.

By comparison, the commerce department reported a 277.9 percent increase in capitol investments statewide and a 20.2 percent increase in new or expanding business projects.

The commerce department numbers are based on those companies assisted by the department.

The largest investment during the last fiscal year was the $3 million expansion of the Epelaa International scale assembly plant, adding 32,000 square feet of space and 25 employees. By contrast, the largest investment reported by the commerce department for fiscal year 1988 was the $13 million expansion of Stromberg-Carlson.

Other figures suggest Seminole County businesses continue to grow in number.

Data compiled by Mark-t Force Corp. of New Smyrna Beach and provided by the IDC, show the number of businesses in the county increased from 9,414 in 1988 to 10,015 in 1989.

development, runway improvement and building gates to have some competition at hubs dominated by single carriers," said Rep. James Oberstar, D-Minn., the bill's sponsor.

The bill's basic airport fee w tax would be $12.

The fee was proposed by President Bush earlier this year as part of a five-year plan for improving the nation's commercial aviation system. Critics said it amounts to an unfair burden on consumers, who already pay an 8 percent federal tax when buying airline tickets.

The user fee is "a $1 billion tax on the traveling public," said Rep. Douglas Bosco, D-Calif., and is unnecessary, since the aviation fund has a bulging surplus.

Said Rep. Norman Mineta, D-Calif.: "We're talking once again about taxing consumers.

... Airline travelers once again are about to be taken for a rito have a user fee, you couldn't think of a worse way to impose it," said McIntyre, who described the charge as regressive. "The equivalent of this would be every time you get into the car, you have to send the government another dollar." The Airline Passengers Association of North America complained that the fee would force consumers to bear the brunt of paying for airport improvements.

"The premise is that airline passengers are being asked to pay for everybody's costs," including runway construction that should be underwritten by airlines and private-plane users, said association spokesman Jack Corbett.

The new fees would have to be approved by the Department of Transportation. Airports that charge the fees would have other federal funding reduced by 50 percent of what they collect from the passenger fee.

Oberstar said the money is needed to address monumental bottlenecks that can only worsen at the nation's airports. Oberstar noted the 117 million hours of airport delays that cost the economy an estimated $3 billion in 1989.

Twenty large commercial airports already are operating beyond their designed capacity, according to the FAA, which estimates passenger traffic will soar to 775 million by the year 2000, up from 480 million last year.

water customers, association president Willie C. Cummings said membership is comprised of only directors of the Midway-Canaan Water Association. Allowing everyone to vote on association operations and rates would be disruptive to the association, Cummings said.

The State Attorney's Office began investigating the association in April at the request of Seminole County Commissioner Jennifer Kelley, whose District 5 encompasses Midway.

Industry

Lou Forte, marketing vice president for Industrial Waste, said the company first began operations in Seminole County in 1990 with 12 employees and four vehicles. The company now employs 140 people and operates 72 vehicles daily.

The company serves 30,000 homes in Seminole County, making it the largest hauler in Seminole County. Another 24,000 homes are served in Orange and Osceola Counties. The company also serves 3,700 businesses in the three-county area and is the largest recycling hauler in the county, serving Longwood, Winter Springs and Oviedo.

Forte said the company is also opening new territories in Lake and Marion Counties from the Altamonte Springs location.

Forte said Industrial Waste moved to the new, state-of-the-art facility in Altamonte Springs in September after outgrowing their first Seminole County facility in Longwood two years ago. The facility features individual bays for all the trucks and a water recycling system allowing industrial waste to reuse truck-cleaning water.

Industrial Waste is a subsidiary of Atwood PLC, a British company, Forte said.

Zoning

commission.

The citizens who were in the audience were mostly residents of the Upsala Road area, where the proposed development would have 600 feet of frontage. They voiced concern over many issues, including what type of barrier wall might be put in place along Upsala, where access roads would be placed into the property, the value of the housing, traffic congestion and even whether headlights from exiting vehicles would shine across Upsala into windows of homes.

One resident asked why, in more than a year's time since the initial presentation, the only thing Sepielli seemed to accomplish was creation of an artist's drawing of the proposal. "Red tape," said Sepielli. Referring to a wetlands area in the middle of the 157 acres, Sepielli said, "It took nine months to get a representative of the U.S. Corps of Engineers down here from Jacksonville. He only spent 20 minutes looking around, then it took another two months before he issued our permit." Sepielli explained that the wetlands area in the middle of the property would remain untouched and no roadways would be built through it. Housing would be to the east, with access to Upsala Road and to the west with access to Oregon Avenue.

Several citizens were concerned over the value of the houses to be built. Sepielli explained that after the required setback from Upsala Road, beyond the right of way and behind the wall, the first 600 feet west of Upsala would be restricted to single family units. He said they would be, "10,000 square foot lots with 1,500 square foot homes and would be in the price range of $135,000 to $180,000 minimum value. The rest of the units," he added, "would be in the $90,000 to $100,000 price range." In all, there would be 840 proposed dwelling units.

Although the developer was merely seeking to change the zoning, the citizens were diving into matters that would not come under discussion until the site plan is proposed. Chairman Demision however, allowed the questioning to continue, saying, "We want to be sure everyone is heard and that as many questions as possible are answered."

When the Planning and Zoning Commission finally brought the matter up for a decision, they voted in favor of recommending the rezoning to the City Commission.

Court to rule on power line burial along Lake Mary road

By ROCK PETERMAN
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — The Chief Judge of the 18th judicial circuit Monday at 9 a.m. will hear arguments regarding a dispute between Lake Mary, Seminole County and Florida Power Corporation over the city's request that power lines on Lake Mary Boulevard be buried during road construction work.

Ned Julian, Lake Mary city attorney, said, "The question we are asking is whether or not the county and city have the legal authority to order the power lines to be buried. FPC says we don't." Julian said attorneys for both sides will be filing their briefs in the case today, to give the judge time over the weekend to study the issues.

The big question, however, is not necessarily centered on the actual burial of the lines, rather, who will pay for the cost of the burial.

House opens debate on civil rights

By ROBERT SHARP
United Press International

WASHINGTON — Ignoring a threatened veto, the House moved toward passage of a civil rights bill termed "radical" by its opponents but hailed by supporters as the most important rights bill since the landmark 1964 act.

The measure was drafted primarily to reverse or modify five Supreme Court rulings that narrowed civil rights in employment discrimination cases.

The House opened debate on the measure Thursday and was expected to pass it Friday.

Opponents of the bill charged that it goes beyond the Supreme Court decisions of last year and would greatly expand employment discrimination laws and require hiring quotas. Rep. Steve Steven Bartlett, R-Texas, called it "quite radical."

Arguing for the Democrat-sponsored bill, Rep. Alan Wheat, D-Mo., described it as "the single most important civil rights legislation since the 1964 Civil Rights Act."

The bill is similar to one that passed the Senate two weeks ago over administration opposition.

Opponents warned of a presidential veto if the bill is not modified. Without amendments, "we can pretty much expect this bill to be dead on arrival at the White House," said Rep. Gerald Solomon, R-N.Y.

Republican opponents urged adoption of a substitute amendment they said would limit damages in discrimination cases and eliminate the threat of job quotas. Democrats said the amendment would weaken the bill.

The legislation would reverse or modify a series of 1989 Supreme Court rulings that made it more difficult for women or minorities to prove job discrimination, and also restricted the remedies available to them.

The administration has complained that the measure would lead to job quotas.

Backers of the bill have denounced both concerns as unfounded. "There is no reference to quotas in this bill," said Rep. John Conyers, D-Mich. "As a matter of fact we have gone out of our way to continue a Supreme Court decision that ... had no quota result whatsoever."

W.T. Harvey operations sold, moved

By ROCK PETERMAN
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — W.T. Harvey Oil Company, 409 Laurel Ave., is now closed, with the company sold and the new ownership headquartered on Taft-Vineland Road in Orlando. W.T. Harvey has been the main jobber of petroleum products for the Sanford area since 1987, supplying kerosene and diesel fuel to area distributors.

Manager Bob Austin said, "Bill Forness and Jim Harrison bought the operation and moved it to Orlando. Because of the company's good name and reputation, we will be now using the name, Harvey Oil Company." Austin said Harvey Oil will continue to deliver fuel in bulk quantities to storage tanks maintained at local distributors.

Last Christmas in Sanford during the unexpected freeze, W.T. Harvey had closed for four days to allow their employees time off for the holidays. Local distributors, however, for a brief time had no source of kerosene or diesel fuel, which resulted in long lines of people with fuel cans at local service stations. Austin said there would be no such problem this year.

Administration nixes 'intrusive' recycling bill

By DAN CARMICHAEL
United Press International

WASHINGTON — The Bush administration opposed a bill to require the recycling of newspapers, old tires and used motor oil, saying the proposal's regulations would be "cumbersome and intrusive."

The legislation, introduced by Sen. Timothy Wirth, D-Colo., on Thursday, would set up a system of financial credits as part of a government program to enforce the bill's recycling goals.

Wirth said, "The scrapping of old tires, the dumping of used motor oil and the dreadful glut of old newspapers convince me that we must develop market mechanisms to stimulate recycling of these products."

"We've got to get these products out of the landfill and into the living room as new products and new supplies of energy," he said.

But B. Reid Detton, a top Energy Department official, told a Senate Energy and Natural Resources subcommittee the administration opposes the Wirth plan.

"We applaud the intent" of the measure, Detton said. "However, the approach proposed is so cumbersome and intrusive into the marketplace that we must oppose the bill."

Detton said Energy Department officials "recoil at the prospect of creating the kind of bureaucratic infrastructure that would be required to monitor compliance" with the bill, which sets up a series of credits for recycling efforts.

Detton added, "We believe that a preferable solution is to develop technologies that can make reuse of these materials more economically attractive and thus achieve the same goal at less cost and disruption to the economy."

Wirth's bill would establish a system of recycling credits, approved by the EPA. The value of the credits would be set by the market.

An oil recycler, for example, would receive credits based on the amount of oil reprocessed. He could sell the credits to other oil producers or importers who otherwise would not comply with levels of recycling established in the measure.

Wirth said that recycling scrap tires would save 69 million barrels of oil every year. Another 10 million barrels of used motor oil is improperly discarded when most of it could be reprocessed and reused, he said.

The first game is set for a 6 p.m. start. The remaining two games will be played Saturday starting at 9 a.m.

Adcock Rowing (Seminole High School's summer team) finished as the regular season champions with a 16-8 league mark.

East Coast, made up of players from the New Smyrna Beach, Edgewater, Oak Hill area, took two out of three games from Wes Rinker's Florida Baseball School Academy last weekend to finish 12-6 and earn the second spot in the playoffs.

The Academy finished just a half-game back at 12-7.

The winners and runners-up will receive trophies at the conclusion of the series on Saturday.

Zellwood Tournament set

ZELLWOOD — The sixth annual Florida Hospital Apopka Golf Tournament will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 10, at the Zellwood Station Country Club.

The 1990 tournament is a scramble format with prizes for the first hole-in-one on each of the four par-three holes. Teams may compete in either handicap or non-handicap divisions.

One hundred and forty-four golfers are expected to shotgun start at 8 a.m.; another 144 will tee off at 1 p.m. The entry fee of $60 per player includes green fees, cart, lunch, door prizes and individual and team prizes.

For more information about the golf tournament, call Dick Koch at 886-8021 or Carl Ahlstrom at 886-4337.

Oviedo Juniors rule state

Rout sends All-Stars to regional

By BILL KERRIS
 Herald correspondent

ORANGE CITY — Playing in the championship game of the Junior League All-Star state tournament at Southwest Volusia Little League's Bill Thompson Field on Thursday night, Seminole jumped out to a 3-0 lead in the first inning over Oviedo.

Was that a mistake. All Seminole's early uprising seemed to accomplish was to get the attention of Oviedo, which appeared sluggish in the early going. By the time it was over, Oviedo had romped to a 16-8 massacre of Seminole and claimed the first state championship in the league's 20-year history.

"They got themselves up," said Oviedo Coach Rich DiTore. "We knew it wasn't over after the first inning. With our hitting, defense and pitching, we knew we could come back."

Seminole's three runs in the first came on Jacob Routinoja's blast over the left-center field fence, scoring Kurt Bullmann and Kevin McNamee. In the top of the second, it looked like Seminole would pad its lead as the first two runners reached base, one after getting hit by a pitch and the second on an error.

After Oviedo starting pitcher Byron Coffie got the next batter to fly out, up came Routinoja again. But this time, he hit a soft liner to shortstop Mike Duncan, who turned it into an inning-ending unassisted double play.

After that, it was all downhill for Seminole.

Oviedo picked a pair of runs up in the second on singles by Jason Fore, Mike Bergman, Brian King and a double by Coffie. In the third inning, Oviedo took a 5-3 lead as

While he managed to foul this pitch off, Mark Metcalf had a great offensive state tournament for the Oviedo Junior All-Stars this week. Over the three games, he was 5 for 10 with five runs scored, five RBI and four walks. Now Metcalf and his Oviedo teammates advance to the Southeast Regional Tournament next week.

Bellhorn trading glove for basketball

By TONY DeSORMIER
 Herald Sports Editor

ORANGE CITY — There's the possibility that Oviedo's Todd Bellhorn could play for national and international championship teams in two different sports in the same month.

Bellhorn, who was 3 for 3 with two doubles Thursday night to help Oviedo claim the Junior League Baseball All-Star state championship, was planning to leave for New Orleans today to meet up with the SOYSA Raiders at the AAU Boys'

14-and-Under Basketball National Tournament

Should the Oviedo Juniors claim the Southeast Regional championship next week while the SOYSA (South Orlando Youth Sports Assoc.) Raiders are winning a national title, Bellhorn will then head to Taylor, Mich., to play in the Junior (13-year-olds) League Baseball World Series.

"I already made the decision before All-Stars started that if we (the SOYSA Raiders) qualified for the national tournament, then I would go to New Orleans," said Bellhorn, who is one of Oviedo's

Going into the hole

Scott Bowersox aided Rhino Systems in its sweep of the McClanahan A's on Thursday with his steady play at shortstop. He also contributed a double, two singles and two runs scored on offense.

Rhino Systems' sweep of McClanahan A's tightens Thursday 'C' league race

From staff reports

SANFORD — Rhino Systems swept a doubleheader from the previously unbeaten McClanahan Law Offices A's while First Baptist Church got back on the winning track in the Sanford Recreation Department Thursday Night "C" Slowpitch Softball League at Chase Park.

Rhino Systems won the regularly scheduled game with an 11-9 extra inning triumph and came back to win the make-up game 12-9. In the other regularly scheduled game, First Baptist broke a two-game losing skid by hammering Dunbar's 13-1.

The A's still lead with a 4-2 mark, but Rhino Systems and First Baptist Church are right there with 4-3 and 3-2 records, respectively. Dunbar's brings up the rear with a 1-5 league standing.

Next week, Rhino Systems plays Dunbar's at 8:30 p.m. before the A's and First Baptist Church meet in a doubleheader at 7:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m.

On Thursday night, Rhino Systems quickly jumped on the A's in the first game as the first four batters in the Rhino lineup scored. Steve Grey singled and Will Bland walked before Scott Bowersox ripped a run-scoring double. Randy Ferguson cracked a bases-clearing home run to right field.

The A's fought back and took the lead 7-6 with a five-run fifth inning.

Rhino Systems	000	200	20	-	11	16
McClanahan A's	010	100	20	-	9	16
Dunbar's	100	0	0	-	1	3
First Baptist Church	112	9	0	-	13	17
McClanahan A's	200	200	0	-	9	14
Rhino Systems	200	000	2	-	12	17

The big blows were back-to-back doubles by Pete Mueller and Tony Madsen. But Rhino Systems retook the lead with three runs in the top of the seventh inning, capped by Steve Makey's triple.

A walk, a double by Mueller, ground out and Rocky Ellingworth's sacrifice fly allowed the A's to score two runs in the bottom of the seventh inning and send the game to extra innings.

Rhino Systems won the game with two runs in the top of the eighth inning. An error, a single by Jack Hearne and a pair of walks scored the go ahead run. The insurance run scored on a ground out.

Providing the offense for Rhino Systems were Ferguson (home run, two singles, two runs scored), Scott Bowersox (double, two singles, run scored), Hearne (two singles, two runs scored), Mike Leinger and Mark Sullivan (two singles each), Makey (triple), Bryan Nichols (double) and Mark Hoffman (single, run scored).

Pacing the A's attack were Mueller (three doubles, three runs scored), Ellingworth and Smith

Magic sign top-draft choice Scott to five-year contract

United Press International

ORLANDO — Dennis Scott, a first-round draft pick out of Georgia Tech, Thursday signed a five-year with the Orlando Magic.

"As of 15 minutes ago, the dream of being in the NBA is a reality," Scott said after signing. Scott, a 6-foot-8 swingman who left Georgia Tech with a year's eligibility remaining, led the Atlantic Coast Conference last year with a 27.7

scoring average. His 970 points last season were an ACC record and Scott set a conference record with 351 3-point shots in 831 tries.

Scott was the No. 4 pick in the June 27 draft. Magic President Pat Williams said Scott's contract covered five years, but neither he nor Scott would release financial terms.

"Hopefully, the fans will be patient," Scott said. "I hope they don't expect too much too fast from me, but there's one thing I can guarantee them coming every night, that Dennis Scott will be playing hard every second, every minute."

Williams said the early signing would enable Scott to ease his way onto the team.

"He can start working out with our conditioning people, so when it comes to training camp in October, he won't come in pea green," Williams said.

"It's obvious that Dennis Scott is a key addition to our team."

Wildcats stay unbeaten with rout

From staff reports

SANFORD — The Wildcats posted another easy win to remain undefeated while the Buschwackers won the battle for second place in the Sanford Recreation Department Wednesday Night "C" Slowpitch Softball League at Pinehurst Park.

The Wildcats humbled Hall's Stucco 11-1 while the Buschwackers came from behind with a pair of runs in the sixth inning to outscore H.D. Realty 11-9.

The Wildcats stand two games out in front of the rest of the field with a 5-0 record followed by the Buschwackers (3-2), H.D. Realty (2-3) and Hall's Stucco (0-5). Next week's schedule has Hall's Stucco playing H.D. Realty at 6:30 p.m. and the Wildcats and the Buschwackers doing battle at 7:30 p.m.

In the first game, an error, back-to-back doubles by Ron Prager and Rob Cohen and three singles led to four first-inning runs for H.D. Realty.

The Buschwackers got a pair of those runs back in the bottom of the first inning on a double by John Haddock and a home run by James Smith, but H.D. Realty scored four more runs in the top of the third inning to take an 8-2 lead.

Then, in the bottom of the third inning, the Buschwackers got their offense going and scored three runs. The Buschwackers took their first lead with four runs in the bottom of the fourth inning to go up 9-8.

After Charles Hatcher's triple in the top of the fifth inning allowed H.D. Realty to tie the score at 9-9, the Buschwackers scored the winning runs in the bottom of the sixth inning on consecutive singles by Jim Jenkins, Alan Williams and Andy Griffith.

H.D. Realty got two baserunners on in the top of the seventh with one out, but a 3-4-3 double play ended the threat and the game.

Providing the offense for the Buschwackers were Andy Griffith (home run, single, run scored), Haddock and Williams (one double, one single and two runs scored each), Jim Jenkins (two singles, two runs scored), Smith (home run, run scored), Mike Rotundo and Jack Jenkins (one single and one run scored each), Samay Griffith (single) and Jeff Wall (run scored).

Contributing to a 17-hit H.D. Realty attack were Hatcher (triple, two singles, two runs scored), Cohen (double, two singles, run scored), Mike Miller and Duane Carlson (two singles and one run scored each) and Charlie Adams (two singles).

Also contributing were Prager and Steve Nemeth (one double and one run scored each), Chris Dapore, Syd Petraglia and Bob Howard (one single each) and Mark Blythe (run scored).

The second game was all Wildcats as the leaders jumped out to an 7-0 lead and allowed Hall's Stucco only one run on nine hits. Frank Stagg scored the lone Hall's Stucco run and was the only Hall's Stucco player to reach third base in the game.

Doing the damage for the Wildcats were K. Brown (home run, two doubles, three runs scored), S. Lorenz (home run, single, run scored), Mike McArdle (triple, single, run scored), K. Welch (double, single, run scored), Tom Gibbons and Lee Jenkins (two singles and one run scored each), Tony Hemgeberg (double, run scored), Lynn Voeks (single) and S. Voeks (two runs scored).

Pacing the Hall's Stucco attack were Tom Gillan (three singles), Mike Wilson (two singles), James Garner (double), Stagg (single, run scored) and Alan Dubos and Spencer Baggett (one single each).

Winning pitcher Jack Jenkins supported his own cause with a single and a run scored Wednesday night as the Buschwackers rallied to defeat H.D. Realty 11-9 at Pinehurst Park.

Todd Bellhorn, Mark Metcalf and Richie DiTore singled and Seminole added a throwing error.

The Orange City Massacre really got underway when Oviedo exploded for five runs in the fourth inning. Todd Bellhorn started things with a costly two-out double, pulling up lame while rounding first and having to leave the game.

With Marvin Wilson running for Bellhorn, Diore and Metcalf walked to load the bases. Aaron Church then cleared the bases with a double. After Fore walked, Bergman singled to complete Oviedo's five run outburst.

Another five runs in the fifth upped Oviedo's lead to 15-3.

King singled before Seminole issued consecutive walks to Duncan, Moss, DiTore and Metcalf. Church then drove in one run with a ground out and Fore singled in another.

Seminole added more wood to the fire, committing an error and walking Scott Root (which loaded the bases) and King (scoring Fore) before finally ending the inning.

An additional Oviedo run came in the sixth when Church singled in DiTore.

Oviedo relaxed in the seventh, yielding three walks on an error, a hit batter, and a single to Brian Stiff to make the final score 18-6.

Just about everybody in the Oviedo lineup contributed something on offense. King was 4 for 4 with a run scored and two RBI. Bellhorn was 3 for 3 with two doubles and Church drove in a game-high five runs with a single and a double.

DiTore scored four runs and drove in two more, Metcalf had three runs scored and two RBI. Fore was 3 for 5 with three runs scored and Bergman contributed two singles, a run scored and an RBI.

Oviedo starts play Tuesday at Dr. Phillips-Windmere Little League in the Southeast Regional Tournament. With three wins in that tournament, Oviedo would advance to the Junior League World Series at Taylor, Mich.

Todd Bellhorn, who pitched and played first for the Oviedo Junior All-Stars this week, will be playing guard for the SOYSA Raiders next week in the AAU Boys' 14-and-Under National Basketball Tourney.

starting pitchers, plays first base when not pitching and hits third in the lineup.

According to Ted Bellhorn, Todd's father, they had discussed the possibilities and informed Rich DiTore, the manager of the Oviedo All-Star team, of Todd's decision to attend the basketball national tournament.

"He had decided that if the team (the SOYSA Raiders) won the state championship, he would go to the national tournament," said Ted Bellhorn. "We told the All-Star coaches and they said they'd still like to have Todd play on the team whenever he could."

Up to this point, there was very little crossover. The most notable conflict came this past Tuesday night, when Bellhorn missed the start of Oviedo's game with Vero Beach in the winners' bracket final because of a basketball practice.

"So far, I think he's only missed a part of one or two games," said Ted Bellhorn.

One probable part of Bellhorn's decision-making process was that the Raiders had qualified for the national tournament several weeks ago, when the possibility of Oviedo advancing to the Southeast Regional was only a dream. Also, no Oviedo All-Star team had ever gotten past the state tournament in the league's 20-year history.

"There was the thought that we (Oviedo) could win the state tournament," said Todd Bellhorn, who plays guard for the Raiders. "But it was still a couple weeks away."

All this discussion may be moot. On Thursday night, Bellhorn's plans may have been thrown a curve during Oviedo's 16-6 blowout of Seminole (from Pinellas County) for the state championship. Somewhere between home and second base, Bellhorn suffered a muscle pull in his left quadriceps while running out his second double.

While the injury wasn't thought to be serious, he did leave the game.

"I don't think that it's that bad," said Bellhorn of the injury. "I should be able to play."

His parents were a little more cautious.

"I don't know what's going to happen," said Ted Bellhorn. "He'll probably still decide to go to New Orleans. Hopefully, Oviedo will win next week. Then Todd will be able to play with them in the World Series."

(three singles each), Tony Madsen (triple, double, two runs scored), Gary Schattneider (two singles), Jeff Madsen (single, two runs scored), Mick McClanahan (single, run scored), Glen Coleman (single) and Steve Wasula (run scored).

In the make-up game, the A's took the quick lead with three runs in the top of the first inning on a single by Jeff Madsen, a double by Mueller, a triple by Ellingsworth and a single by Smith.

Rhino Systems came right back to tie the game in the bottom of the first inning on a double by Bland, a single by Ferguson, a triple by Hoffman and a double by Makey.

Rhino Systems then took the lead in the bottom of the second with a pair of runs on three singles and a walk.

The A's scored four runs on five singles and a Wasula double in the third inning. In the fourth inning, Tony Madsen stroked a double as the A's took a 9-5 lead.

But Rhino Systems would tie the score in the sixth inning with three walks, three singles and a Ferguson double.

Rhino Systems scored the winning run in the bottom of the sixth inning on a single by Steve Grey, an error, a walk, a two-RBI single by Hoffman and a sacrificial fly by Makey.

Doing the damage for Rhino Systems in the second game were Hoffman (triple, two singles, two runs scored), Ferguson (double, two singles, three runs scored), Chuck Rice (three singles, run scored), Bland (double, three runs scored), Makey (double), Grey and Hearne (one single and one run scored each), J.R. Johnson, Sullivan and Nichols (one single each) and Bowersox (run scored).

Leading the A's were Jeff Madsen (four singles, two runs scored), Ellingsworth (triple, single, two runs scored), Mueller (double, single, two runs scored), Coleman (two singles), Tony Madsen (double, run scored), Wasula (double), Schattneider and McClanahan (one single and one run scored each) and Smith and Ron Rinehart (one single each).

The game between Dunbar's and First Baptist Church was a beauty for the first three innings as Dunbar's took 1-0 first-inning lead. Tim Gillis, Wayne Kelly and Steve Abar hit consecutive singles to score the run.

First Baptist tied the game in the bottom of the first inning on a double by Tom Gracey and a single by Steve Laurence. Then the Baptists took the lead with a run in the second on singles by Tim Palmer, Bob McIntosh and Pat Austin.

The game was still close after First Baptist scored two runs in the third on a single by Laurence, a triple by Stan Brock and a single by Mike Henley. But First Baptist sent 13 men to the plate and exploded for nine runs in the bottom of the fourth.

Jim Brodie and the McClanahan Law Offices A's had a tough time Thursday night at Chase Park, getting swept by Rhino Systems. The losses were the first of the season for the A's.

Fruit beats wine for constipation

DEAR DR. GOTT: With all the current flap about eating foods high in fiber for good elimination, I suggest you advise your readers to drink wine. It surely would be a happy solution for this problem. As far back as Christopher Columbus, sailors were provided a ration of wine to prevent constipation as the ships lacked fruits and vegetables in their staple diets.

DEAR READER: I seriously doubt that ancient sailors drank wine to prevent constipation. They probably drank wine and spirits to relax and to relieve tedium, much as modern seamen do. The water in those old sailing ships was pretty awful; I'll bet contaminated water made constipation on board ship as infrequent as a hot shower.

right - in fact, an obligation - to refuse medication you don't like and may not need.

If, after you've explained your position, the doctor remains convinced of the necessity for an anti-depressant drug, ask for a referral to a colleague for a

In a modern setting, the moderate use of wine with meals appears to have a salutary effect. It may relieve constipation, and it certainly enhances the pleasure of dining.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 74-year-old female, and my doctor insists that I take anti-depressant medicine. I must admit I took some for 21 days last year, but I don't like the side effects and don't like having to taper off the medication. Should I listen to him, or be guided by my own wishes?

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

This deal, taken from the 1990 Epson competition held on June 8, emphasizes bidding. The first two bids by North are easy, but when responder South then bids one no-trump, North has a choice. Omar Sharif's analysis recommends two hearts, but I am sure that hundreds of North players around the world jumped to three hearts at this point. That shows 16 or 17 high-card points with three-card heart support. South certainly has enough to bid game in no-trump after North's jump to three hearts, but South should also recognize that a small singleton club in the North hand will expose declarer to the possibility that West may lead away from a club suit headed by A-J or K-J, in which case the defenders might just start by taking the first five tricks. Still the Q-10-3 figures to stop the suit, and it is sensible to play no-trump rather than hazard a 10-trick heart contract with only a 4-3 heart fit. No-trump plays well. Declarer should make the percentage play of putting in the club 10 on the second round. Then, after winning the club queen, declarer runs the diamond suit. West soon has trouble discarding, with the result that declarer will either take all the heart tricks or find the king of spades popping up when he leads a spade to dummy at the finish. Declarer will even make three no-trump if he mistakenly plays the queen of clubs at trick two, since the suit blocks in the West hand and the defenders can take only four tricks.

HOROSCOPES

By Bernice Bede Cool

YOUR BIRTHDAY
 August 4, 1990

There is a possibility you might have more opportunities in the year ahead than you have had for quite some time. It would be a shame if you don't capitalize on each and every one.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be sure to look gift horses in the mouth today, because what might initially appear to be a good opportunity could, in actuality, be anything but. Don't be taken in. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals what signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail #2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Usually you're not the type of person who likes to showboat, but today there's a possibility you might attempt to upstage your companions in order to redirect the attention to yourself.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you do not quickly capitalize on favorable developments today, they could deteriorate rather rapidly. Don't let your opportunities go by the boards.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Even though it might be hard for you to own up to your mistakes today, it's best to do so instead of making excuses. Rationalizing impairs your image.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you borrow something today that the lender values treat it with extra care. You might be inclined at this time to be careless with the possessions of others.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Being too indecisive is bad enough if it only affects you, but if you lack the ability to make a decision and stick to it today, it'll affect others and compound the problem.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you are too impatient or impulsive today, it might impel you to do something rash where you create problems for yourself that could easily be avoided.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) There is a big difference between trusting others or merely being too gullible for your own good.

Today it might not be too hard for some sharpie to sell you a piece of the Brooklyn Bridge.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It could be a grievous error today to depend too heavily on chance or luck to carry you through important involvements. These are not allies upon whom you can rely.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Don't get caught in a one-upmanship game today where boasting is concerned. Your adversary might be able to get away with some gross exaggerations, but you won't.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you're indifferent or careless in the management of your commercial affairs today, your miscalculations could be rather serious. Move cautiously to avoid mistakes.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Steer clear of people you know from personal experience are inclined to take you for granted. These individuals will be even more difficult to please today.

Treasures nestle amid usable junk

By JOAN KING
Herald correspondent

SANFORD — The mystique of sorting through used items is legendary and is an interesting pastime for hundreds of thousands of people. The wealthy do it, the not so wealthy and the poor do it. Even movie stars often relate finding a used piece of furniture at a junk shop or garage sale that fits nicely into their decor after refinishing.

Faye Roberts, a Sanford resident, owns and operates Heritage House, a charming little shop that houses a wonderful collection of usable junk, treasures and oddities.

The Heritage House still doesn't have a sign out front but you can't miss it. The windows are crammed full and it's on the corner of Second Street and Sanford Avenue. This is a place where you can find a Shady Brady hat or a typewriter.

The store has been open for a year and isn't quite organized the way Roberts would like it to be. The patrons don't seem to mind as they wind their way around one stack of junk after another.

Roberts says, "It's usable junk. I have something for everyone." Referring to a Christmas tree on display in August, she says, "That tree covers up a bare spot."

Roberts waits on customers and checks her books at the same time. She knows where every item in her store is located or at least its general vicinity. A pink wicker headboard is at the end of a makeshift aisle in the back of the store. A wicker baby bassinet is located around a shelf loaded with glassware, past the phonograph records and to the right.

The store is stuffed with collectibles, knick knacks, hurricane lamps, old cast-iron skillets and lead crystal. She even has a framed oil painting on stretched canvas, plus dolls, little gadgets and just about anything that anyone could want or need.

"People come in looking for country things, just like that couple that bought the little old frayed straw hat. They wanted it to complete their collection," Roberts says. One couple was looking for a youth bed with springs. Roberts just happened to have exactly what they were looking for.

"I started out with a lot of antiques and wanted to open with antiques only, but the needs of the community are not in that line. They lean toward the inexpensive used items," Roberts says. "What sells the best here is the unusual. I bought some huge earrings from a girl the other day and when word got out, they all sold within a few hours," she says.

Customers come and go. They all seem to be entertained and most make a purchase. Roberts asks everyone who browses, "Did you find something that you can't live without?" The question brings giggles and chuckles and seems to break the ice for those who seek and find hidden treasures among the usable junk of Roberts' store.

Grieving grandma thankful for friends.

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for your recent article about grief in which you recommended the group called Compassionate Friends.

I found the group that meets here in Fresno the second Monday of each month, and it really helped to talk to others who have lost loved ones. I had never heard of them.

I lost my 17-year-old grandson in a tragic gun accident, and I am having a hard time coping with it. I also lost my mother, mother-in-law and several friends last year. The meetings have helped me to come to terms with those losses. God bless you for your help.

MRS. T. IN FRESNO
DEAR MRS. T.: My heart goes out to you and to all who have experienced the death of a child (of any age), which is one of the most tragic losses one can experience. For those who have never heard of "Compassionate Friends," it is a national self-help support group for people who have lost children from any age and any cause. They meet and find comfort in consoling each other. It doesn't matter how long ago — if you are still grieving, it will comfort you.

Compassionate Friends has no religious affiliation; people of all faiths (or none) may join. Contributions are voluntary. To locate a group in your area, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the national office: Compassionate Friends, P.O. Box 3696, Oak Brook, Ill. 60522-3696. If you can, please enclose a dollar to cover the cost of mailing.

DEAR ABBY: Recently, I was invited, rather unexpectedly, to a wedding shower for a young neighbor. I purchased a very nice gift and went to the shower.

When I got there, I discovered that the wedding was only two weeks away and that I was not invited to it — only to the shower. Among the many friends of the bride who were there, I met one other lady who looked a little uneasy, and after we had chatted a while, I learned that she had not been invited to the wedding, either. While everyone else was gaily discussing nuptial plans, she and I tried to be as cordial and polite as we could, but we both felt uncomfortable, to say the least. Please comment.

ZIP CODE 60858

DEAR ZIP CODE 60858: According to Emily Post, with whom I wholeheartedly agree:

"No one should be invited to a bridal shower who is not also invited to the wedding. It is extremely presumptuous to ask someone to a shower — meaning she must bring a gift — if she is not close enough to the bride or groom or their families to be included on the wedding list."

The bottom line: People should not invite strangers to showers.

The Understanding Chair

When we are young, rocking is a game. When we are old, it can become a way of life. And in between, there are countless occasions when rocking fulfills a human need... to think... to relax... to reminisce... to dream.

It's almost as though the rocking chair understands people, turning their restlessness into calm and contemplation.

But there are deeper human needs that find no comfort in the rhythm of the rocking chair—intense spiritual needs met only by communion with God.

God's House really understands people. Its worship, its teaching, its community service, all provide expression for our spiritual needs. The soul's restlessness is turned into conviction and commitment. Visit there this week.

FROM THE PULPIT

Where is the balance for women?

Self independence is a threat to men

By BIRDOLLA HALL-WALKER

God's word has much to say in reference to men as the spiritual leaders in our churches, homes and community.

In today's world, there's no balance in our lives but rather an onslaught of independence, through ERA and women's lib.

Men have become threatened by strong-willed women. Women who feel they do not need a husband, but use men as prey for their own convenience.

We can no longer ignore this flaw in our churches, homes and community. If we continue to ignore the existence of this attitude caused by society's Birdolla Hall-Walker, minister, men will never rise to their spiritual potential.

Will men have a sense of fulfillment when it appears that society's attitude is geared more towards pleasing women?

Society's demands and the world's changing culture has crept into our churches causing turmoil and spiritual decay. We find in our community various women's meetings, clubs and associations which exclude men altogether.

As a pastor's wife, I am not so sure that these clubs and organizations are as healthy spiritually as they appear.

Could it be that the true motivating factor behind these different groups is not to help women to become better women but rather of fashion fanfare and outward beauty advertisement.

As Christian women our true motivating factor is to be all we can be for the Lord Jesus and not to neglect our home, church or the community.

We need a new spark of revival in our churches, a fresh drive, a burst of excitement and a desire to change in the spiritual realm of God's purpose for us in our community.

Let's not forget our men and their position and role in society. Will they be left out or will we help them to rise to spiritual success?

Let God give us a well-balanced life.

The outer man as seen in the eyes of God reflect the inner beauty God has designed.

Birdolla Hall-Walker is associate pastor of Freedom Assembly of God, Sanford.

Funerals becoming a 'celebration of life'

The young woman was leaving the church after her father's funeral when she whispered to her sister, "Were we in the right church?"

They had both brought sunglasses to hide their tears from the other mourners. But finding themselves unexpectedly dry-eyed, they put the sunglasses back in their purses along with the tissues they clutched but now found no need for.

Except for two references in the service to "William, our departed brother," they would not have known they had been at their father's funeral. The occasion that they expected would fill them with emotion had left them unmoved.

The trouble with most funerals is that they fail to touch our deepest feelings. Dealing as they do with the elemental issues affecting every one of us, they should speak vividly and personally to each one present. They should also be the corporate expression of the bereaved family's profound sorrow.

There is a modern trend away from grief at funerals to a "celebration of life." White has replaced black as the liturgical color. Everything is upbeat as if to say, "What's to be sad about?" I wonder if that is psychologically sound or is it just another way we evade death's imperious presence?

Arthur John Gosasp, the great Scottish preacher, could have answered the question, "What's to be sad about?"

"Ah," he said in his sermon after his wife's sudden death, "It is the bitter grudging every second of the dear body to the senseless earth. Anything, nothing, and the old overwhelming pain is back again." That's to be sad about.

The members of the bereaved family, already experiencing "the constant missing of what used to be always here," feel they may have lost their loved George Plagenz, one forever. That's to be sad about.

"When the blow fell, that was the one and only thought that kept beating like a hammer in my brain," said Gosasp when his wife died. "I felt I had lost her forever."

But later he was able to say, "I know now that I have not lost her. For loving is not a passing thing one leaves behind." Still later he was able to dedicate a book he had written to "my wife, my daily comrade still." Ultimately it was his realization that love is eternal that made him sure he had not lost her.

I have often used words from Gosasp's sermon, "When Life Tumbles In. What Then?" at funerals I have conducted.

"For years and years," he said, and I imagine there was not one dry eye in the congregation as he spoke, "you and I go on our sunny way and live our happy lives, and the rumors of these terrors are blown to us very faintly as from a world so distant that it seems to have nothing to do with us.

"But then to us too it happens. Never morning wore to evening but that some heart did break — hearts just as sensitive as yours and mine. But when yours breaks, what then?"

The sermon ends on a glorious note of triumph: "As Paul puts it, what can separate us from God's love? Not death, he says immediately — pushing that aside at once as the most obvious of all impossibilities.
