Official Reveals Figures Relating to Seminole High

The largest, 1915 pupils, while seven schools, enroll over 1000 pupils each.
Five schools were "warned" last year and made full correction; six will be "warned" this year. (A "warning" subjects the school to being dropped at the next meeting of the Association).
Seven schools had an eight month term in 1931-32; only 12 schools expect an eight month term for the current year.
The average pupil-teacher ratio is 23 to 1.
Fifty nine of the 112 schools have classes with more than 20 pupils each, but only six percent of the entire teaching force will teach the 750 pupil-period per week limit.
Nine percent of all pupils are allowed to carry five subjects, but less than one percent of all pupils are permitted to attempt five in their records show a "failure" the previous semester.
In the smaller schools the average salary is $1173 per year, the range is from $447 to $3000. These averages do not include principals or supervisory officers. Due to abbreviated reports the figures for the larger schools are not available.
Thirty-six of the 112 schools employ college graduates only as teachers; in a majority of the schools over 90 percent hold some college degree.
Seventy percent of the schools have the one-hour period, of the larger schools, but only 40 percent of the smaller schools have the lengthened period.
Fifty-two schools meet the literary standards in all particulars; three fourths of the remaining schools are making satisfactory adjustments.
Fifty-three schools are six-year high schools; 48 are four-year high schools, and 16 are three-year senior high schools.
Ninety-nine are public high schools; three Catholic high schools; three military academies, and two private academies.
All beginning teachers with one exception meet the profes-

Hoover Pleads For Revision Of Bankruptcy Laws

a price-fixing plan hailed on one side as economic progress and likened on the other to a Russian dictatorship.
Scarcely had the bill reached the amendment stage when its sponsors were overwhelmed in votes that added dairy products and peanuts to the list of products to be benefited.
The House ended its consideration of the bill late in the day with pending business for today a motion to eliminate hogs from the commodities which could receive bounty benefits under the domestic allotment plan.
"You can't loan this bill down with a lot of commodities and hope for legislation," warned Representative Burness, Republican, North Dakota, adding his plea to that of Jones of Texas against over-burdening the measure.
But over this protest, the House immediately voted 111 to 116, to accept the peanut amendment of Representative Cox, Democrat, Georgia, and a few minutes later, 102 to 75, to approve one by Representative Andress, Republican, Minnesota, covering dairy products.
Earlier, rice was put in the bill as a committee amendment by a vote of 98 to 24. Jones announced at the time he would fight all other additions, but the Cox amendment removed the chief restraining cause, defining eligible commodities as those having an exportable surplus.
Representative McKeown, Democrat, Oklahoma, told his colleagues: "When you go to load the bill down as opponents of it are trying to do, it doesn't make much difference what you load it down with."
No roll call votes were taken on the changes but from the galleries it was evident that many avowed opponents of the bill were joining with interested representatives in adding to the five commodities originally approved by the committee: wheat, cotton, tobacco, hogs and rice.
It was Beck, Pennsylvania Republican, who in the last hours of general debate drew a comparison between the secretary of agriculture's powers under the plan with those of Stalin, Russian dictator. LaGuardia, Republican progressive from New York, termed it a step in "production planning."
"I think if a copy of the bill should reach this great dictator of Russia, Mr. Stalin, in the far-

Advertising Is Seen Big Aid To Citrus Industry

The Florida Citrus Exchange, he said, has the lowest selling charge on the Chicago market of any Florida shipper.
"Exchange growers during the past year," he added, "have been extremely fortunate in the net price realized for their fruit as compared with what growers in allied industries have received. The deciduous growers of California did not get back enough from the markets to pay for the rail that went into the packages. The Northwest growers shipped 7000 to 8000 carloads of pears and did not get back over packing charges. The great growers of the West are even worse off. The Northwest apple grower is in the same fix."
Mr. Evans went into detail as to breakage of packages in transit, due to the rough handling in transit.
F. W. Davis, exchange general sales manager, discussed the recent decision of the exchange to ship as much as possible of the remainder of the crop by boat.
"Before this decision was made," Mr. Davis said, "Mr. Com-mander, general manager, had the sales department make a thorough survey of the markets and perfect arrangements for the efficient and economical handling of our fruit into interior markets within trucking radius of ports of unloading. We find that because of the increased business by boat that the trade resistance to boat shipments no longer exists and sales can be made just as readily as on shipments by rail."
Mr. Davis reported a material increase over last season of sales in the South because of the freight reductions in that territory. Because of the low buying power in the North and East, he stated, it is absolutely necessary to get rail rate reduction or go to shipping by boat with a 25 percent to 40 percent cheaper rate. Plenty of refrigerator boats are available, he said.

Tunncliffe Upheld In Bank Litigation

ORLANDO, Jan. 11.—W. H. Tunncliffe, liquidator of Central Florida banks was upheld in two decisions recently in supreme court. Preferred claims to the extent of $20,000 were involved and the court handed down a decision similar to the Cortwright answer.
"My objections may be summed up," he said. "This is a price-fixing bill, it imposes a magnified sales tax of over $1,000,000,000 on the consumer, it sets up a new bureaucracy, and above all, it won't work."
Meanwhile, aid in refinancing farm mortgage indebtedness through a system of federal rural mortgage land banks was proposed in a bill introduced by Representative Hastings, Democrat, Oklahoma.
Purnell, of Indiana, ranking Republican on the agriculture committee, closed the case for the opposition.
"When farmers are carrying ropes to the courthouse," he said, "when a life insurance company tries to foreclose, the situation is bad and if you don't think so, you'd better think again."
Beam, of Illinois, one of two Democrats who voted against the bill in committee, was especially severe in his criticisms of the hog provision.
"A million and a half of Chicago's people are dependent upon it to one-tenth."
Jones retorted that the bill was not primarily for the aid of farmers, but to help the entire economic situation.

Bright, Fresher After Taking Black-Draught

"Seven years ago, I was troubled with constipation," writes Mrs. L. E. Williams, of Jackson, Miss. "My mother told me she thought it would help me to take Black-Draught. She had used it herself and it had helped her. I found it relieved me of this troublesome complaint. I suffered from sick headaches and biliousness which made me feel dull and listless. I had no ambition to do anything. I felt bright and fresh after I took Theodore's Black-Draught. It is a splendid medicine for constipation. I take it dry, at night, followed by a generous glass of water."
