NEW PARTY IN HOUSE IS BI-PARTISON COALITION WESTERN, SOUTHERN MEN

WILL JAM NEW EMERGENCY TARIFF BILL THROUGH

SPEEDING UP

THE OLDER HEADS WHO HAVE BEEN TAKING TIME FRAMING BILLS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—Undismayed by reports of a probable presidential veto and of senate opposition, "new party" in the house—the bipartisan coalition of western and southern representatives—today began the work of jamming through the emergency tariff bill on agricultural products.

So powerful has been the "new party" that it has forced the ways and means committee to frame a tariff measure—usually the work of months—in two days, and according to all indications will obtain favorable action on it in the house in the same time, plans being to take a final vote tomorrow night.

The emergency schedules established rates so high that a virtual embargo on the importation of the products would be affected.

Leaders of the "new party" the strength of which frankly has alarmed members from the eastern manufacturing sections claim that the bill will receive sufficient votes in the house to assure its passage over a presidential veto. Test votes indicate the majority are to have the bill forced through the senate within two weeks, but this is rather doubtful because of Democratic opposition there. In the house it is probable half the Democrats will cast aside their historical antipathy to a protective tariff.

The first move of the farmer tariff makers in the house, today will be to seek a rule that will prevent the burdening of the bill with numerous amendments to extend its "proective wing," to other raw materials and many manufactured products.

Chairman Fordney of the ways and means committee estimates that the emergency bill will produce about $130,000,000 in revenue whereas the commodities enumerated now yield about $5,000,000. The products included in the bill are wheat, flour, corn, beans, peanuts, potatoes, onions, rice, lemons, peanuts, cottonseed and soya bean oil, cattle, sheep, lambs, frozen mutton and lamb, wool and wool manufacturers.

The importation of these products amounts to only about one-fortieth of the home consumption. The total value of the products included is placed by the department at about $4,000,000,000, while the imports the last year amounted to only $90,222,000.

Proponents of the bill also rely on the department figures to win support for the bill. They point out that importations of wheat from Canada and Argentina this year have amounted to 15,050,966 bushels.

Corn, rice and other crops are estimated to be larger this year and consequently will suffer in increased degree by importations, advocates of the bill contend.

Wool producers have insisted that they face the greatest menace. American wool production was estimated at 260,000,000 pounds this year, and foreign importations have amounted to 192,000,000 pounds.

Importations of soy oil bean from the Orient have exceeded in value the entire soy bean crop in the United States this year, but all the vegetable oils imported—peanut, soy and cottonseed—were only about one-tenth of the American production. The new tariff proposes a 20 and 26-cent per gallon duty on these oils.

"CHRISTMAS BURGLAR" HEEDS CHILD'S PLEAS AND SPARES PRESENTS

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—A "Christmas burglar with a heart" heeded the pleas of Ruth Malley, aged 10, not to take her Christmas presents when she found him in her room yesterday noon on her return from school for lunch. The burglar was eating her lunch, which had been left by her mother before going down town shopping. He took her to the parlor and played little jingles and Christmas songs on the piano for her.

When she told him she would have to return to school he said:

"Tell your mother I'll return some day and steal everything in the house," and he left without taking anything.

Laffer, who is the proprietor of retail stores here and at Newport, R. I., will go to his New York offices. "I think it best that I leave," he said.

CHARGE AGAINST U. S. CONSUL IS TO BE INVESTIGATED

ENGLISHWOMAN SAID HE REFUSED TO VISE HER PASSPORTS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—Charges made by Mrs. Minnot E. Robinson, of Manchester, Eng., that American Consul Wells at Manchester had attempted to prevent her from coming to this country to testify before the commission for the committee of 100 investigating conditions in Ireland, are to be investigated by the state department.

Consul General Skinner, in London, has been asked for a full report of the circumstances surrounding the visa of Mrs. Robinson's passport. In making this statement today officials remarked that Mr. Wells was a new appointee and that if he had at first refused to visa the passport, as she testified yesterday before the commission here, he had exceeded his authority.

She told the commission that Mr. Wells finally had vised her passport after she had visited Mr. Skinner, at London, but that he had required of her a promise that she would not further propaganda nor give interviews to the American press.

Miss Susanna Walsh, sister-in-law of the late Lord Mayor McCurtain of Cork, told today to the commission of the committee of 100 investigating condition in Ireland the story of the killing of the mayor last March 20. She declared the mayor was shot down by Royal Irish constabulary men in the presence of the lord mayor's wife and two small children. Twenty raids had been made on the mayor's home previously and come since, she said.

Miss Walsh declared that she was held up at the point of a pistol in her home a week before she left Cork and questioned concerning inmates of the house and that on another occasion she was locked in a vermin-infested cell and jeered at by the police.

GROWING PEPPERS IS LATEST FORTUNE MAKER

FORT MYERS, Dec. 22.—The Iona-Fort Myers section has shipped fifteen carloads of peppers this season. From three acres at Iona 700 crates of peppers were picked in two pickings. Citrus fruits are being shipped out rapidly.—H. E. Stevens, Lee County Agricultural agent.

The above is an excerpt from the official report from the Lee county agent to the agricultural extension bureau of our state agricultural college, and cannot, therefore, be charged with being an overdrawn statement of fact. Peppers have been selling from three to five dollars a crate, making these two pickings worth from $2100 to $3500—a pretty good return off three acres eh? And the season of picking only just begun, for peppers are not allowed to ripen and blooming and picking alternately continues all winter from November to May.—Tampa Tribune.

C., Dec. 23.—A statement charging the Japanese military authorities with "frightful and barbarous" deeds in Manchuria has been issued by the Korean commission. CAPITAL BEGINS DRIVE AGAINST CLOSED SHOP

MANUFACTURERS OF ILLINOIS SERVE FORMAL NOTICE ON UNION LABOR

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—Manufacturers of the nation today served notice on union labor that the intensive drive against the closed shop had started, when William Butterworth issued a call for a convention of big employers of the country.

Butterworth is head of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association, vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States Conference of Manufacturers' Associations, comprised of employers in the following states: Colorado, Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New York, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin. He conferred with President-elect Harding yesterday.

Butterworth, in an open letter today, attacked the plan of the railway brotherhoods, who, he said, demand the establishment of a national bureau of adjustment to handle all labor troubles instead of the individual companies handling their own industrial affairs.

Butterworth said if the brotherhoods succeeded in their plan it would influence all other industries. "The plan of the brotherhoods means the closed shop and union domination over all industries alike," Butterworth said. "This is the most vital question facing the manufacturing and producing interests of the country today and should have immediate attention."

The brotherhoods want to establish the adjustment board under authority of the transportation act passed by congress which provides for a national labor board having jurisdiction over railway employees' wages when controversies are appealed to it. The act provides the adjustment board may be established

CLARA SMITH SURRENDERS TO OFFICIALS

(By The Associated Press) EL PASO, Tex., Dec. 23.—Clara Smith returned to her father's home last night and plans to go at once to Ardmore, Oklahoma, to answer to the charge of murdering Jake L. Hamon, November 26 last. She fled to Mexico after the shooting, returning voluntarily.

MURPHY MAY BE GIVEN A MEDAL FOR BRAVERY

Pat Murphy of Jacksonville, genial editor of the Legislative Blue Book of Florida, is among those spending several days in the city on abusiness mission. Mr. Murphy has received a letter from Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy, highly commending him for his bravery aboard the U. S. S. Saturn in April, 1898, when by quick thought and action he prevented one of the Saturn's boats, which had been lowered with the drain hole plug removed, from sinking and carrying with it to death a boy named Pierson. Mr. Murphy at that time was a coxswain and it was through Lieut. W. E. Saord, an officer on board the Saturn, that the act of bravery came to the attention of Secretary Daniels. It is believed Mr. Murphy will be awarded some medal as a reward for his courageous and prompt action in jumping into the boat and thrusting a marine spike into the hole in the bottom of the boat, despite the fact that he could not swim.—Tampa Tribune.

HOLY OFFICE ISSUED DECREE

(By The Associated Press) ROME, Dec. 23.—The Holy office today issued a decree asking all Catholic bishops to watch "an organization, which while professing absolute freedom of thought in religious matters, instills indifference and apostasy to the Catholic religion in the minds of its adherents. The decree mentions the Young Men's Christian Association, saying it corrupts the faith of youths.

ST. JOHNS RIVER VALUE HARDLY ESTIMATED HERE AT TRUE VALUE IN RATES

by agreement of labor and employers.

Butterworth called a convention of the national conference of state manufacturers' associations to be held January 1st. The conference will be in protest against the stand taken by the brotherhoods.

Butterworth invited the following big employers of labor to be present at the conference: Elbert H. Gary of the United States Steel Corporation, Charles M. Schwab, president of the Bethlehem Steel Company; Dwight W. Morrow of J. P. Morgan & Co., F. A. Sieberling, Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.; Charles Piez, former head of the emergency fleet corporation.

It was indicated by Butterworth that the immigration problem is one of vexation to American industry and will be discussed at the conference.

Robert M. Buck, editor of the New Majority, leading labor paper of the middle west, said labor was aware of the fight on the closed shop and was prepared to go the limit.

"Manufacturers sweeten the open shop proposition by calling it the 'American plan,'" said Buck. "The open shop, if established, would mean the end of organized labor. This fight is vital to our interests."

CHRISTMAS DINNER TO COST LESS THIS YEAR THAN IN 1919

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—Christmas dinner this year will cost less on the average than last year. The Christmas turkey was reduced about a dollar, butter from 38 to 28 cents and reassert (plum pudding), from 60 cents to 35 cents.

The cost of Christmas baskets of provisions, such as are distributed by charitable organizations to the poor, also have declined. Investigation disclosed that baskets which cost $4.80 last year can be obtained this year for $3.50.

Cost Reduced 15 Per Cent

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—Decreasing living costs have knocked approximately 15 per cent of the cost of this year's Christmas dinner, it was announced today by counsel for the committee on high living costs. Last year's dinner for a family cost $9.90. It will cost $8.26 this year, it was said.

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—A gross deficiency in the national fiscal transactions of two billion one hundred million for this fiscal year and one billion, five hundred million for the next fiscal year is the forecast by Secretary Houston, testifying before the Senate finance committee considering soldier bonus bill today. He said federal finances were in such shape that new sources of revenue must be found and that no new burdens should be added to the national treasury.

FREIGHT RATES

ARE KEPT TO THE MINIMUM BY THE WATER TRANSPORTATION HERE

Standing at the Clyde Line dock and watching the boats come in from Jacksonville with the freight of the world brought to our very door makes one who pauses to think, feel that our greatest asset is being neglected unless there is a combined effort to get behind the Sanford Chamber of Commerce in its fight to get better accommodations from the railroads and to take advantage of our water rates in every way. We have never as yet quite appreciated this magnificent artery of trade and travel that stretches from Sanford to Jacksonville—the beautiful St. Johns river—and that from Sanford South through the reaches of the Upper St. Johns river offers so much in the way of transportation. But other cities would appreciate the river if they had it and the following from the Orlando Morning Sentinel shows what they think of water transportation down there and how much it would do for them if they had it:

"President A. Van den Boom, of the American Collapsible Box Co., a concern engaged in the manufacture of corrugated paper boxes, with a plant at Walnut Cove, N. C., in addressing the diners at the Orlando Chamber of Commerce luncheon yesterday, stated his mission to the City Beautiful without parley or delay by announcing that his concern had purchased $75,000 worth of machinery for the manufacture in Florida of a new patented collapsible box to be used in the (Continued on page eight)

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—The State Department today intervened in a threatened controversy between the British Embassy and the Senate committee now investigating cable communications over the question of the alleged British censorship of cable messages to the United States from Great Britain. This action is regarded as a rebuke to the embassy for sending direct to the committee chairman a letter denying the testimony.

GEORGE C. KELLER HERE

George C. Keller, who receives a big salary for distributing hot air for the Mergenthaler Linotype Company, came in today to look at the Herald's new model 14 machine. He was greatly pleased with the manner in which the machine is kept and needless to say the management of The Herald is pleased with the way the machine performs. Mr. Keller made the bunch a lot of promises (which he has probably forgotten ere this) and caught the bus for Orlando where he will spend Christmas with his family.

ODD FELLOWS BUILD HOMES MANY STATES

INTENSIVE WORK BEING DONE BY ODD FELLOWS IN ALL PARTS OF U. S.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Intensive work is being done by the Grand Lodge of Georgia, I. O. O. F., to the end that funds be raised for the erection of a home for orphans of Odd Fellows, the home when completed to be a memorial to Robert T. Danfel, late grand sire of the order in that state. A drive was made on November 8, which had been set aside as Orphan's Home day. The objective was $100,000. The grand lodge, according to R. L. Smith, grand master, and T. H. Robertson, grand secretary, has deeded to a magnificent property consisting of 100 acres located at Griffin as a site on which to erect the home.

A new Odd Fellows' State home was recently dedicated at Caldwell, Idaho, and it is expected to be ready for occupancy by January 1. The dedication took place during the annual encampment of the Idaho Odd Fellows. A site of 17 acres for the home was donated by Montie B. Gwinn, of Boise, Idaho, who, it is stated, also was largely responsible for raising not only the $70,000 necessary to erect the building, but also an irreducible endowment fund of $60,000. The dimensions of the home building are 140 feet by 45 feet; it is of reinforced concrete, two stories high and a basement, and convenient in every way.

Announcement is made of the completion by John M. Gibson Lodge No. 18, I. O. O. F., of its new $30,000 home at Marshall, Texas. This lodge was organized in 1846, and is soon to initiate a class of 45. A feature of a "house warming" held in honor of the completion of the new home was the presence of Major N. S. Allen, of Neith Lodge, Shreveport, who is said to be the oldest living Odd Fellow. Maj. Allen has been a member of the order for 73 years.

The Odd Fellows of Maryland, at the grand encampment in October, decided upon the erection of a new home for members of the order throughout the state. The present headquarters of Cathedral and Saratoga Sts., Baltimore, will be disposed of and a new structure large enough to accommodate properly the convention of the order will be erected.

Florida Odd Fellows have a fine home at Gainesville, Florida, where the members and their families are given the best of treatment.

Pets of Prisoners.

Visitors to prison have noticed the prisoners, like other folk, are fond of pets and that their pet is generally a canary or other species of bird. There is a reason for this: A bird fits up little room and requires little food, whereas larger animals do not very easily be kept in confinement. Most prisons have rules forbidding inmates to keep pets, but visitors to several of the smaller prisons have sometimes observed mice as well as birds and an occasional dog sharing cells with prisoners. In one of the large state prisons a long-term prisoner was permitted to have as pets several dogs of the toy variety.—New York Times.

THIS A "WOMAN'S COUNTRY"

English Writer Gives an Interesting Impression of Her Sister Over the Sea.

As an English woman who went about America for nearly three years, making friends, East, West, South and North, I ought to be able to contrast the women of the two countries, but the more one travels the more one realizes that "folks is just folks" all the world over.

American women are quicker at the uptake as regards friendliness and kindness; but the tongue-tied English do just as much in the long run. The American's manners are more cosmopolitan, her clothes are better put on, she has more good stories in her after-dinner speeches. But if you compare corresponding types—as most travelers omit to do—they are "both the same color under their skin."

America is a woman's country. The boy belongs to his mother, and most women give their own opinions on all subjects—quite curiously well expressed—without any suggestion of having gone to a man for help.

The Englishwoman speaks more shortly and with a suggestion of having "asked her husband at home"; but I doubt if the Englishwoman is worse off, since England is the home of the proverb, "As the good man saith, so say we; but as the good wife saith so must it be."

One very noticeable charm in the American woman is her quickness in starting conversation with a stranger and her aptness in saying something pleasant at once. I cannot help thinking that if English nurseries and school rooms taught this, it would have widely international results and put more reality into the League of Nations.—Lucy H. M. Soulsby in the Woman's Supplement of the London Times.

VAST EMPIRE IN SOUTH SEAS

Extent of Australasian Group Under British Rule is Hardly Realized by Americans.

Judson C. Welliver writes in the Country Magazine that our impressions about the Australasian empire of the future are rather vague, because we are unable to realize its mere bigness. Thus the island of New Guinea, the greatest island in the world, if we classify Australia as a continent, was, before the war, divided between the British, Dutch and Germans. The British have now taken over, in the name of Australia, the German claims.

We think of New Guinea as a considerable patch of dry land in the expanse of the southern ocean, but have difficulty realizing that if it could be laid down on the United States, one end would be at Portland, Me., the other near Omaha, and that it would blot out an area about twice the size of the German empire, and including something like a quarter of the population of these United States. It contains vastly greater resources than Germany, also about a thousand white people and 500,000 aborigines, largely cannibals. Half of it yet remains Dutch, but its predestination to be essentially British is quite obvious.

Australasia aims at leadership in the south temperate zone, on lines curiously parallel to those by which Great Britain has become leader in the North. With inexhaustible coal and iron, she is creating iron and steel and shipbuilding industries and a navy of her own. The war era has been marked by the completion of Australia's first transcontinental railroad, suggestive reminder of the beginning of our own Union Pacific.

OFFICIALS SHARED IN COAL PROFITS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Charges that government officials joined in coal profiteering during the period of shortage last summer were made by George H. Cushing, managing director of the American Wholesale Coal Association, testifying under oath yesterday before the senate investigating committee. In executive session, the committee, according to Senator Calder, Republican, New York, its chairman, was furnished by Mr. Cushing with the name of one man, said to have been a principal in an operation by which a group of men in government service obtained 450,000 tons of coal, which they sold later at a profit of $600,000. Railroad officials and one army officer also participated in the profit making, Mr. Cushman was said by Chairman Calder to have charged.

TO CONTROL THE FLOODS

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Dec. 21.—Control of floods throughout the southeastern section of the United States is the tentative plan of the Southeastern Water Resources office of the United States Geological Survey, with headquarters here.

The idea is to temporarily dam the waters originating in western North Carolina mountains during periods of excessive rain. Huge basins would be built in mountain crevasses, into which flood waters could be turned and stored until high waters of streams lower down had subsided. Streams whose sources are in this section form rivers in Tennessee, South Carolina and Georgia.

WILL EXAMINE PRISONERS' SKULLS

JACKSON, Mich., Dec. 22.—The Michigan state penitentiary here has set what is said to be an innovation in prison management by the purchase of an X-ray machine with which to photograph the skulls of inmates and determine if surgical operations might cure the patients of criminal tendencies. This work has just been undertaken at the prison.

When it is found that a part of the skull is pressing on the brain, an operation will be performed in the prison hospital by Detroit surgeons who have volunteered to co-operate.

If the operation is believed to have cured the prisoner the judge who sentenced him will be asked by Warden Harry L. Hulbert of the prison to bring about his release. A number of judges in the state have agreed to accede to any such request made by the warden, he announces.

We hate to see so many of the old guard in the newspaper ranks falling out, although it seems nice to be able to quit.

It is a cinch that the Daily Herald is giving the readers a good eight-page paper this week. And Friday's daily will be bigger than ever.

Ft. Myers pepper growers are raking in the golden shekels on peppers now and we congratulate them. We love to see the growers make money.

We should place out more benches for the visitors. There are a number on the street now but more of them could be utilized as the visitors especially the older ones love to sit around and enjoy the Florida sunshine. Put out more benches in the sunny byways and hedges.

It is this spirit that makes cities out of villages.

After the Christmas holidays are over and people get back to real facts again it ought to be a good thing for the Rod and Gun Club to get busy on that boat basin and let the public know just what they intend to do and when they intend to do it. We hope our readers will understand the situation and realize that printers are human and want a holiday at least once in each year and that they are entitled to one day and especially Christmas day. This daily grind on a newspaper is not hard work but it is awfully regular and we hope the day's vacation will freshen the force and help them to make a bigger and better Herald in the year to come. It is a cinch that the editor will relish the fact that he gets two days in succession when he is not bothered with the many little vexations that creep into the making of a daily, but at that we would not change places with any of the millionaires right now for if any of them get more pleasure out of life than we do, let them step forward and receive the medal.

COME TO IT

The value of water transportation can hardly be estimated and when a city has it they sometimes appreciate it and sometimes they hardly know that they have it. Other cities would give millions for it and spend almost that sum trying to get it. Orlando wants manufacturing plants and would get them if Orlando had water transportation in order to get a lower freight rate. Some day Orlando will dig a canal to the St. Johns river and become a basing point before the people of Sanford wake up sufficiently to discover that they are on one of the greatest arteries of travel in the South—the St. Johns river. We grow familiar with the river and the lake seeing it day by day and are apt to forget all about the wonderful possibilities of the river and lake in reducing freight rates, in obtaining a basing point here for wholesale firms and for factories. We already have a low rate on account of the river transportation but we could go farther and get more concessions in freight rates if we just stood up for our rights and the entire city backed up the Sanford Chamber of Commerce by becoming active members. We have so much furnished by nature and so little furnished by man. But we are getting better.

LITTLE STORY CARRIED STING

Must Have Shown to Readers the Neglected Industrial Possibilities of the South.

D. A. Tompkins, the father of the cotton-ool industry, who built his fortune on his inextinguishable faith in the industrial possibilities of the South, was fond of quoting this little story about a Georgia funeral, says his biographer, Dr. George Tayloe Winston, in "A Builder of the New South."

"I attended a funeral once in Pickens county, Georgia. It was a poor, 'one-gallus' fellow. They buried him in the midst of a marble quarry; they cut through solid marble to make his grave, and yet a little tombstone they put above him was from Vermont. They buried him in the heart of a pine forest, and the pine coffin was imported from Cincinnati. They buried him within touch of an iron mine, and yet the nails of his coffin and the iron in the shovel that dug his grave were imported from Pittsburgh. They buried him by the side of the best sheep-grazing country on earth, and yet the wool in the coffin bands and the coffin bands themselves were imported from the North. The South did not furnish a thing on earth for that funeral but the corpse and the hole in the ground. There they put him away and the clouds rattled down on his coffin and they buried him in a New York coat and a Boston pair of shoes and a pair of breeches from Chicago and a shirt from Cincinnati, leaving him nothing to carry into the next world with him to remind him of the country in which he lived and for which he fought four years but the chill blood in his veins and the marrow in his bones."

WORLD'S DEBT TO CHINAMAN

Celestial is Directly Responsible for Improvement in the Breeding of American Porkers.

The economic genius who figured out that all that was needed to bring unbounded prosperity to the cotton mills of New England was to add half an inch to each Chinaman's shirt tail never carried out his project, but the Chinaman, without announcing his plan, has done something quite as remarkable: He has added inches to the legs of the American pig.

He has not done it alone. He has had help from the East and West Indies and from our own farmers in the South. The process was simple and was just another instance of a great industry altering itself almost unconsciously to meet new conditions, the Nation's Business states.

Not many years ago the prizes of the pig world went to the round, short-legged type, the kind of hog that you couldn't see under. The chief purpose in the life of that hog was to turn corn into lard. Now it's the pig type that is popular, the pig that makes more lean meat, more bacon and more ham.

What has done it? For one thing the Chinaman and his soy bean, coconut, corn, cottonseed and peanut are furnishing a vast amount of lard substitutes at prices lower than the pig can supply his product. So the four-legged lard factory is turning to the ham business and the Chinaman, his shirt tail unlengthened, has added to the legs of the American hog.

The Split Infinitive

An infinitive is said to be split when an adverb or adverbial phrase is inserted between "to" and the infinitive, as "to readily see;" this construction is not considered good English. As a sign of the possessive, "of" may be the equivalent of the apostrophe "s," or it may be used with the apostrophe "s" in a somewhat different meaning, thus: A saying of Wilson might mean "A saying about Wilson," while "A saying of Wilson's" would be "one of Wilson's sayings," said by Wilson himself. You could say "This is a hat of my father's," meaning one out of his numerous hats. The English language avoids the use of the genitive sign "of" whenever possible, preferring the apostrophe with "s," my father's hat."

Water Cause of Goller.

Goller is epidemic in important zones of South America, especially the Andes region and certain mountainous territory in tropical South America.

Up to the present no investigations had been made of the water from goller-infested regions; but recently Houssay has succeeded in producing experimental goller in white rats after feeding them with water from the province of Salta. These investigations should be repeated on a large scale on account of their great theoretical and practical importance. They tend to confirm the theory that water is one of the transmitting agencies of goller.

The Dress Problem in the Orient

The Yokohama Reform association recently sent a communication to the mayor requesting his co-operation in endeavoring to prevent coolies and appearing in public places in sufficient clothing to conform with western ideas of propriety. The association's spokesman stated that the reason for the request is the presence of a large number of foreigners in the city, and the sight of the scantily clothed persons on the streets and in the tramcars will tend to give them an unfavorable opinion of the city.—From the Japan Advertiser.

Knocking a Tradition

Turkey is a tradition. Because the pilgrim parents were rotten shots and couldn't kill a quail on a bet, turkey was all they could find for meat on that memorable day. They had been on a diet of claims so long that mayhap even turkey tasted like food to them. But that is no excuse for wishing the blamed thing onto posterity and making it a sacred duty to gnaw a bundle of concentrated fiddlestrings on the last Thursday of every November.—Topeka Capital

WHAT SHALL WE GIVE THE CHILDREN FOR CHRISTMAS?

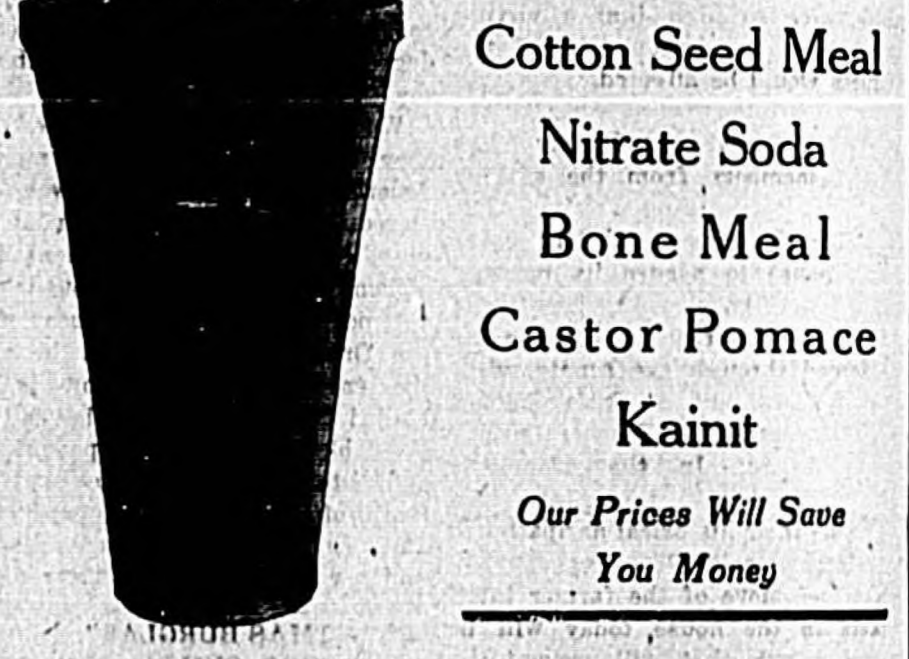

THIS is a question that many parents are asking themselves. Why not give them something worth while? Open a bank book in the little one's own name and put the bank book in his stocking. ONE DOLLAR will open the account. P. S.: A bank book is a nice present for the grown up children, too.

Young Financier Forget That Bank's Relations With Its Clients Must Be Confidential

Banks and bankers give much time and attention to the training of their apprentices. The head of a big downtown institution was once giving a lecture on the work of the paying teller and, as Homer occasionally nodded, this man felt justified in lapsing, toward the end of his talk, into an informal narrative of some of his early experiences. He told of the natural reluctance of a bank to refuse to cash a check for one entitled to the money who might not be fully or regularly identified and of various ways in which an experienced teller outwitted himself of an applicant's good faith.

"Once a charming young woman presented a small check at my window," said the speaker. "She was transparently honest, but had no acquaintance in the bank nor any letters or other papers with her. I asked her if she had a handkerchief or some article of jewelry marked with her name or initials. After a moment's deep thought her face brightened and she asked: "Would an initialed garter buckle do?"

In the tumult that followed a budding financier near the back of the room raised his voice to ask, in a tone of detached scientific inquiry: "Did she get the money?"

"Young man," answered the great one, "I have to remind you that a bank's relations with its clients are often highly confidential."—Wall Street Journal.

UNMARRED BY PLOW'S TOUCH

Rolling Plains a Scene of Great Beauty Before the Advent of the Agriculturist.

Seventy years ago... Indians were Indians, and the plains were the plains indeed.

Those plains stretched out in limitless rolling swells of prairie until they met the blue sky that on every hand bent down to touch them. In spring brightly green, and spangled with wild flowers, by midsummer this prairie had grown sere and yellow. Clumps of dark-green cottonwoods marked the courses of the infrequent streams—for most of the year the only note of color in the landscape, except the brilliant sky. On the wide, level river bottoms, sheltered by the enclosing hills, the Indians pitched their conical skin lodges and lived their simple lives. If the camp were large the lodges stood in a wide circle, but if only a few families were together, they were scattered along the stream.

In the spring and early summer the rivers, swollen by the melting snows, were often deep and rapid, but a little later they shrank to a few narrow trickles running over a bed of sand, and sometimes the water sank wholly out of sight.—George Bird Grinnell.

Queer Drugs Once in Use.

Alchemy and medicine, as it was practiced in the early part of the fifteenth century, had many strange beliefs. Among them was that a roasted mouse would cure cannon ball wounds if it was bound tightly to the fracture, and old blood could be made young again by transfusion. Every starbeam was thought to be a thread of light that ran directly to the head of some living man, and his fate was determined by its action. It was also believed that rock crystal was ice that had been buried a thousand years, and that gold was once lead, that after being buried 200 years changed to red arsenic and 200 years after that was changed to tin and then to silver and last to gold.

A favorite treatment for gout was a tea of daisy petals and cures were many, although the real secret was in the fact the physicians put the patient on a diet and a rest cure went with the flowers.

Mixture of Races in France.

The mixture of races that have constituted the French people of today has determined the principal physical characteristics of our people. Thus it has been found, writes the Paris correspondent of the Journal of the American Medical Association, that the average height for men is 165 cm. (5 feet 2 inches).

The observations indicate that 85.10 per cent of the French people have chestnut hair. The blonds are next in order, forming only 12.32 per cent of the population. Pure black hair is found in 1.83 per cent—that is, slightly more frequently than red hair, which altogether was found in only 0.72 per cent of cases.

Pure black hair, so rare in France, is the rule in certain Mediterranean countries (for instance, in definite regions of Spain). Very light blonds form the majority of the population of northern Europe.

Best Sprinkler.

Many persons must have noticed that the most diligent sprinkling of lawns and flowerbeds fails to impart to the grass and plants a vital stimulus equal to that that comes from a good shower of rain.

It is because rain, falling from a great height through the air, brings with it a considerable quantity of carbonic acid, of nitrogenous particles, and of other elements nutritious to plants, which it has washed out of the atmosphere. So a sprinkler used from the top of a tall building might be slightly more effective than when employed at the surface of the ground.

BRADY WINS IGOU MULE CASES

These cases, three in number, were replevin suits started by W. M. Igou against E. E. Brady, and other persons to whom Brady had sold mules, in the fall of 1917. One of the cases was tried soon after and resulted in favor of Brady and other defendants. The other two cases were not disposed of until the 22nd day of this month, at which time they were set for trial by the referee. When the time for trial arrived neither the plaintiff Igou, nor his attorneys appeared to prosecute the cases, and motion was made by attorneys for the defendants to dismiss, which motion was granted, and the cases dismissed.

Thus ends some litigation that caused a great deal of comment at the time suits were started. Igou was represented by Geo. A. DeCottes, of Sanford, and Davis & Giles, of Orlando. Brady and the other defendants were represented by Dickinson & Dickinson, of Sanford.

NEW SHOE STORE WILL START HERE

LLOYD'S WILL BE AN EXCLUSIVE SHOE STORE AND WILL OPEN ABOUT FEBRUARY 1

Sherman Lloyd of this city expects to open an exclusive shoe store in the First National Bank annex building about the first of February and will carry a fine line of ladies' and gents' and children's shoes catering especially to the children's line—something that has been needed in this city for a long time. Mr. Lloyd is no stranger in Sanford having lived here for the past five years and he is no stranger to the shoe line having literally grown up in the business as his father is now and has been engaged in the shoe business in Michigan for the past forty years and S. M. Lloyd came up under the proper tutelage. He never engaged in the line here, being in other business, but at the earnest solicitation of his many friends and seeing an opening here has determined to open an exclusive shoe store and cater to the trade here with the best there is in this line. He will handle among other lines the celebrated Walkover shoes for men and women and the Pollyana line for children and these two lines are enough to guarantee Lloyd's Shoe Store a good business.

Watch the Herald for future announcements of the new firm known as Lloyd's Shoe Store.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd will handle the new business and both of them are very popular here with everyone and that they will make a big success of the new business is already assured.

PADERICK QUILTS OFFICE

JACKSONVILLE, Dec. 22.—The long drawn out fight between P. Fleming Bowden, elected to the office of tax collector of Duval county, and K. R. Paderick, son-in-law and appointee of the governor to the office, has been settled at last by Mr. Paderick resigning the post thirteen days before Mr. Bowden would have taken office under the long term for which he was elected. The governor has accepted the resignation of Son-in-Law Paderick and commissioned by Bowden.

Paderick was appointed to the office two and a half years ago, when Collector John W. Rast was removed because of an alleged shortage in his accounts. In the 1918 election Paderick was low man in a three-cornered race for the office, and Rast, then out on bond while his case was being appealed after conviction for embezzlement, was high man. The governor refused to commission Rast. In the election last month Bowden, the nominee, was elected, and he contended that under the law the governor should issue his commission immediately, as the law holds that an appointee continues in office until the successor to the regularly elected official is chosen by the vote of the people. Paderick and the governor held otherwise—until Monday, when Paderick resigned and a commission was issued to Bowden, who is now in charge of the office.

WANTS MORE SHADE TREES FRUIT TREES AND FLOWERS"

"Sanford never looked prettier than at present with all the vivid coloring of the many flowers and the yards all filled with trees and plants and shrubs. And each yard should have a few orange trees to show the winter visitors. They come down here to see flowers and fruits and we should have them to show."

Friend Holly:

Attached clipping from your editorial columns, this was the idea I tried so hard to have Marlow take up several years ago, had he done so Sanford today would be a thing of beauty. My idea was to agitate the planting of one or more citrus trees in every front yard in Sanford, either orange, grapefruit, tangerine or kumquat, the greater the mixture, the better the effect. Think what it would mean to have one or more citrus trees either blooming or bearing, in every front yard in Sanford, the advertising feature alone would be worth more than the cost, many times more, each resident would naturally take pride in these trees, and would give them extra attention, in the way of fertilizing, and eventually Sanford would develop into a veritable orange or citrus grove. You must remember that a large per cent of your tourists see but mighty few orange groves until they reach Sanford, as they come down the river, and make most of the trip by night. Imagine their feelings (particularly if it is their first trip) to step off the Clyde Line steamer and find themselves surrounded on all sides by citrus trees in all stages of bearing, from bloom to dead ripe fruit, the effect would be wonderful, and one never to be forgotten. I speak from experience. I never will forget, if I should live to be a thousand years old my first impression of an orange tree in full bearing, I thought it one of the most beautiful of God's creations, and while I have been spending the winters in Florida for many years, surrounded by citrus fruit of every kind, I still think that a well cared for, nicely trimmed orange tree in full bearing, is one of the most beautiful sights the human eye can witness, therefore I say agitate it, get the Woman's Club, the Civic Club, and every other club or organization in Sanford that can help any, interested, make a house to house canvass if necessary, and if you find any residents who feel that they are not able to buy the trees, start a fund to take care of such cases. I will give $10 any time to start such a fund. Let's get busy, start it today. Don't wait until tomorrow, or next week or some other time. We are all growing older all the time and if we expect to realize or enjoy the culmination of a movement of this kind it behooves us to get busy.

Very truly yours,
F. J. McDANNEL,

PALESTINE: PIGMY LAND WITH A GIANT HISTORY

The historic Holy Land where moved the Nazarene whose birth will be commemorated around the world this week, is characterized as "a tiny little country," by Viscount James Bryce, in a communication to the National Geography society:

"Though the traveler's hand books prepare him to find Palestine small, it surprises him by being smaller than he expected. Taking it as the region between the Mediterranean on the west and the Jordan and Dead sea on the east, from the spurs of Lebanon and Hermon on the north to the desert at Beerseba on the south, it is only 110 miles long and 50 to 60 broad—that is to say, it is smaller than New Jersey.

"Of this region large parts did not really belong to ancient Israel. Their hold on the southern and northern districts was but slight, while in the southwest, a wide and rich plain along the Mediterranean was occupied by the warlike Philistines, who were sometimes more than a match for the Hebrew armies. Israel had, in fact little more than the hill country, which lay between the Jordan on the east and the maritime plain on the west. King David, in the days of his power, looked down from the hill cities of Benjamin, just north of Jerusalem, up on Philistine enemies, only 25 miles off, on the one side, and looked across the Jordan to Moabite enemies, about as far off, on the other.

"Nearly all the events in the history of Israel that are recorded in the Old Testament happened within a territory no bigger than the state of Connecticut, whose area is 4,800 square miles, and into hardly any other country has there been crowded from the days of Abraham till our own, so much history—that is to say, so many events that have been recorded and deserve to be recorded in the annals of mankind.

"Nor is it only that Palestine is really a small country. The traveler constantly feels as he moves about that it is a small country. From the heights, a few miles north of Jerusalem, he sees, looking northward, a far-off summit carrying snow for eight months in the year. It is Hermon nearly 10,000 feet high—Hermon whose fountains feed the rivers of Damascus.

"But Hermon is outside the territory of Israel altogether, standing in the land of the Syrians; so, too, it is of Lebanon. We are apt to think of that mountain mass as within the country, because it also is frequently mentioned in the Psalms and the Prophets; but the two ranges of Lebanon also rise beyond the frontiers of Israel, lying between the Syrians of Damascus and the Phoenicians of the West.

"Perhaps it is because the maps from which children used to learn Bible geography, were on a large scale that most of us have failed to realize how narrow were the limits within which took place, all those great doings that fill the books of Samuel and Kings. Just in the same way the classical scholar who visits Greece is surprised to find that so small a territory sufficed for so many striking incidents and for the careers of so many famous men."

Mt. Washington 6,293 Feet High

Many persons believe that Mount Washington, in New Hampshire, is the highest mountain in the eastern part of the United States. Mount Washington stands 6,293 feet above sea level, according to the United States geological survey, department of the interior, but many peaks in the southern Appalachians are several hundred feet higher than New Hampshire's famous mountain. The highest mountain in the Appalachian system—the highest point in the United States east of the Rockies—is Mount Mitchell, in North Carolina, which stands at an elevation of 6,711 feet. The highest mountain in Tennessee, Mount Guyot, stands 6,036 feet above sea level.

Ivory Does Not Rust

One cold afternoon several school-girls were standing on a corner waiting for a car. A man invited them to come into his office to wait for the car. They accepted. The conversation soon turned to the color of a certain girl's hair. One insisted it was red, another that it was auburn, and another that it was brown.

At the height of the discussion two children entered the office. As soon as they understood the nature of the argument, one of the youngsters exclaimed:

"Oh, struck! Her hair ain't red. Ivory don't rust."—Indianapolis News.

Great California Industry

Nearly a million acres are planted to the fruit trees that supply the canneries of California, according to Elton R. Shaw in an article in the Old Colony Magazine, the organ of the Old Colony club. Statistics tell us that of the 100,000,000 acres of land in the state of California, about 900,000 are devoted to fruit trees; so it is easily conceivable that the fruit-canning industry is no small part of the general industrial activities of the "Golden State."

Remember that the Million Dollar Band will render their first concert on Saturday afternoon, Christmas day, at 3:00 o'clock, at the corner of First and Magnolia streets.

BURROWED BY PRAIRIE DOG

"Devil's Corkscrews" Found in Western Mountains and Plains Are No Longer a Mystery.

Of the many fossils which have come out of the mountains and plains of the West, few have excited wider interest than the "devil's corkscrews," found in rocks of the Miocene period, in northwestern Nebraska. They are usually white, and stand out clearly against the buff background of the rock which incloses them, often attaining a length of 15 feet, with many twists and turns, ending at times in a large bulb, with occasional side passages.

When first discovered it was thought that these gigantic "corkscrews" were huge petrified vines of roots of some strange plant. Study of the "corkscrews," however, failed to reveal any traces of plant structure. Later the skeleton of an animal like the badger was found in a large bulb near the end of the "corkscrew," and bones of a small camel and small deer were found in others. After that it was discovered that many of them contained bones of a small burrowing animal about the size of the western prairie dog. Excavation of actual recent prairie-dog burrows, after filling them with thin plaster of paris, showed an interesting fact: the burrows of the prairie dog and the prehistoric "corkscrews" were closely similar. The mystery is considered solved.

SHOWED SKILL AS ENGINEERS

Ancients Did Remarkable Work Considering the Limited Mechanical Means at Hand.

That ancient Greek and Roman engineers were ingenious as well as skillful is proved by the works that are still extant, for instance when the Eupalinos, island of Samos, water-works mentioned by Herodotus were constructed in the middle of the Sixth century B. C., a tunnel about one mile long was driven through the Kastro mountain, certainly a respectable achievement when one considers the limited mechanical means at the disposal of the builders. From the books of the Alexandrian mathematician Heron, one sees that ancient engineers knew how to figure beforehand the direction of a tunnel. The fine medical instruments, of which many have been excavated, give evidence of high mechanical skill. Ancient instrument makers manufactured clepsydras (water clocks) that could be carried in pockets and devices used by Herophilus to measure the temperature of patients. The present-day slot machine and taximeter are imitations of similar ancient inventions. Even to ballistic war machines ancient people applied ideas which play an important part in modern warfare—the "poly-bon" being in a certain meaning, the predecessor of our repeating arms, and the "monankod," of the mine thrower.

Credited With the Word Bohemia. The novelist to whom nature owes the word bohemian—not in the geographical sense, but a moral condition—was perhaps Henri Murger, if the word can be ascribed to any one writer.

Henri Murger, novelist and poet, was born March 24, 1822, in Paris. He made attractive to his readers the irresponsible life of artists and students in Paris, and left some classic tales and songs of dissolute thriftlessness and literary impetuosity. Murger was trained for the profession of law, became for a time secretary of Count Leo Tolstoy, but, like that earlier bohemian, Villen, he chose dissipation rather than decency. He died in a charity hospital in Paris in 1861. A monument has been erected to his memory, but not without protest. Several of Murger's songs have been translated by Andrew Lang in "Ballads and Lyrics of Old France," published in 1872.

LIGHT ON ANCIENT HISTORY

Some Interesting Data Bearing on the Strange People Known to Fame
as the "Aeae."

Evidently some one who had eaten a great deal of army corned beef in Europe wrote this amusing skit in the "Watch on the Rhine," remarks the Youth's Companion. The piece is headed, "Documents Published in the Year 2473 A. D., by an American Historian":

I have just been journeying along the Rhine gathering data on the ancient tribe of men known as the Aeae.
The origin of this strange people is one of the great mysteries of history.
Likewise their sudden extinction has been just as baffling.

The Aeae appeared in western Europe very suddenly about the time of the beginning of the Teutonic dark age--the latter part of the second decade of the Twentieth century. For a short period they flooded in great numbers the entire territory of Gaul from the Pyrenees to the Rhine. Then they suddenly vanished.

It was recently thought that a clue had been found to the kind of food eaten by these nomads. In an old cellar in Andernach there were found what at first looked like peculiarly shaped bricks, but what later proved to be cans of a strange sort of meat.
Certain investigators soon decided that this could be nothing other than elephant meat, and students were about to make trips to Africa in search of further evidence, when the result of some chemical tests was published.
This showed that the meat was at least 1007 years old, if not very much older; and as the Aeae were in Gaul about 550 years ago, it is folly to believe that this store of food belonged to them. It is much more probable that it was left there at the time Hannibal and his soldiers and elephant supply trains made their long expedition against Rome.

It is probably a good thing for America that the mysterious disappearance of the Aeae came about, for there is plenty of evidence that this barbaric race was planning to migrate to North America and establish itself on that continent permanently.

HISTORIC TREE NEARING END

Elm at Washington, Closely Associated With Samuel F. B. Morse, Will Soon Be Gone.

Another landmark in Washington is near destruction. The old "Morse Elm," under whose shade Samuel F.
B. Morse used to spend his leisure hours while working on his invention of the telegraph, will soon be removed.
The tree was planted in 1820. In the early forties the future inventor of the telegraph used to foregather with his cronies and newspaper men and crack jokes about the "impossible" and "crazy" invention of the magnetic telegraph on which he was working.
The tree was in front of the old Willard hotel.

Since those days the old hotel has been replaced by a modern eleven-story hotel. Morse, whose invention came true in 1844, died in 1872.
But the tree remained.

But it is now in its death hour in spite of many operations of "tree surgery" and all known applications of "tree medicine" practiced by Washington's superintendent of city parks.

Houses of Mud.

Women in California are building houses with their own fair hands.
What is more, they are making the bricks.

The bricks, however, are of the kind spoken of in the Bible as made by the people of Israel in Egypt--i. e., of clayey earth mixed with straw for a binder. The straw is indispensable, and it will be remembered how the Israelites "kicked" because it was not provided.

Such bricks are merely sun baked.
Missionary priests in California in the early days used them for building churches and other structures which, covered with stucco, were very handsome. These "dobe" buildings were also substantial, weatherproof and enduring, as is testified by many that still stand, unimpaired by the wear of centuries.

With labor so high and materials likewise, the idea of a mud dwelling, which one can put up for oneself, even the children helping, has its attractions.

HAD TO OVERLOOK FOIBLES

Herbert Spencer's Fuzziness a Trial to Those Who Did Not Know His Real Kindness.

More examples of Herbert Spencer's irritating foibles and extraordinary pettiness are superfluous, but two of them will bear the telling.

A friend had the opportunity of seeing in full working order the famous ear-stoppers that Spencer used to wear. Probably some frivolous remark of the friend obtained him this privilege, for in the middle of the meal Spencer, with a fixed glance at him, pressed the spring that closed the hole of each ear.

After luncheon the host and friend sat chatting in the garden, when there came an invitation from Spencer to take a drive with him in his rubber-tired carriage, the message adding that "we are not to talk."

When they were returning from Spencer's funeral Sir Michael Foster told this friend the following story:

Spencer detested cushions, and the trouble was to find a chair that was hard in the seat and yet comfortable, so, at a last resource, he had a seat covered with some inches of soft plaster of paris, and sitting on that made an impress from which a wooden seat of an exactly fitting pattern was cut.

Against a certain undeniable fuzziness there should be set the fact that Spencer had a soft place in a heart that seemed adamant, and there are stories of spontaneous acts of kindness and of offers of help to the troubled and bereaved that redeem much unlovely behavior.

The Superior People.

The following proclamation was recently published by the Mohammedan community: "Praise be to God and peace for having made us superior to other creatures in having granted us this holiday, which has spread all through this island among us all, both those who live near the sea and those who live on the mainland, those who live in the south and those who live in the north, among young and old, male and female. We celebrate great rejoicings on the arrival of our Master, the owner of this country. He came to see us, his subjects, and to inspect his country."--Zanzibar Gazette.

Gulf Coast Sulphur Deposits.

At some remote time there must have been tremendous volcanic activity in the region which is today the gulf coast of Louisiana and Texas; for in those parts are found deposits of sulphur vastly exceeding in quantity any known elsewhere in the world.
They are covered over by hundreds of feet of later sedimentary material, and to get at the sulphur deep wells have to be sunk. Superheated water is forced down the pipes to melt the sulphur, which is fetched to the surface by the power of compressed air. On cooling it is ready for shipment, being 99 per cent pure.
