Cops searching for driver

SANFORD — Police are looking for a man who went for a test drive and ended up taking the car.

Friday afternoon, a black male was taking a test drive in a black Honda Prelude from Jimmy Bryant Honda, State Road 600. The man was described as in his mid 20's, 6-foot-3-inches tall, 180-190 pounds wearing a white polo shirt with "Duckhead" logo and khaki pants. According to police, he took the car for a test drive with one of the salesman. While they were on General Hutchinson west of SR 600, the subject pushed the salesman out of the vehicle and turned around, driving toward SR 600. The man was dropped off at the dealership by a white male in his late teens. It is unknown if he was involved in the theft.

Anyone with information about the incident should contact the Seminole County Sheriff Office.

Re-election bid announced

Sandy Robinson, vice chairman of the Seminole County school board, has filed papers to begin her campaign to seek re-election.

Robinson, who has led the crusade for magnet schools and for the anonymous tip line now in place in the schools, was elected for the first time in 1990.

A campaign promise to keep the people informed of what the board was doing and to listen to the concerns of her constituents led to the creation of her public forums, called Chalk Talks.

Robinson lives in Lake Mary where she and her husband operate a medical textbook business.

Abortion protest ruling review

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court set the stage Friday for a significant abortion-related ruling by agreeing to clarify how far courts or local governments may go in restricting protesters outside abortion clinics.

The justices said they will review a Florida court order by a Seminole County judge that created a protest-free buffer zone outside a Melbourne, Fla., clinic.

The high court's decision, expected by July, could have an enormous impact across the nation.

Friday's action came just hours after an estimated 35,000 abortion opponents marched on the court's Capitol Hill building to mark the 21st anniversary of the 1973 Roe vs. Wade decision that affirmed a constitutional right to abortion. The march is an annual event for abortion foes.

The Florida case pits the free-speech rights of anti-abortion protesters against the rights of women seeking abortions and of abortion clinic employees to be free from harassment, intimidation and other illegal conduct.

In the abortion case, operators of the Aware Women Center for Choice in Melbourne sued Operation Rescue in 1991, leading to a permanent injunction banning certain activities outside the clinic.

Early last year, a state trial judge determined that those restrictions were insufficient "to protect the health, safety and rights of women" seeking the clinic's services.

The judge found that Operation Rescue members often interfered with patients and staff members trying to enter or leave the clinic.

Forfeited profits from crime used to advance cop efforts

SANFORD — Six city police departments and the Seminole County sheriff collected over $1 million in forfeitures during 1993, swelling their respective Law Enforcement Trust Funds. The agencies spent almost $480,000 on equipment, computers, drug education programs and youth programs.

The sheriff along with the cities of Altamonte Springs, Casselberry, Lake Mary, Longwood, Oviedo, and Sanford belong to the City County Investigative Bureau (CCIB). Winter Springs is not a part of CCIB. Its trust fund contains $9,900. Winter Springs did not collect or spend any money from the fund during 1993.

There was $477,000 in all of the trust funds on Oct. 1, 1992 and when the year ended Sept. 30, 1993 the funds contained, nearly $1,035,000. An additional $1,032,000 was collected during the fiscal year and $476,706 spent from the funds. The amount collected includes interest earned on the money in the trust funds.

When property is seized and then forfeited through the courts, according to law, the funds are divided among the departments and deposited into the trust

3 murders in a week

Dead woman found in cardboard box

By SANDRA ELLIOTT
Herald Staff Writer

WINDWOOD — Seminole County Sheriff's deputies are investigating the third murder of the year, all of which occurred last week.

On Saturday morning, a boy walking along a water-filled ditch near Windwood at Anchor Road and Oak Street between Casselberry and Altamonte Springs discovered the body of a female inside a partially submerged cardboard box sealed with tape.

Sheriff's spokesman Ed McDonough said the boy was looking for some stolen Christmas presents in the ditch when he opened the box and found the body. He went home and told his parents, who called 9-1-1.

McDonough said the victim was an Asian female between 18 and 25 years old, five feet, four inches tall, 125 pounds with brown eyes and medium length brown, wavy hair with frizzy ends worn in a ponytail on top of her head.

SANFORD — Imagine walking from the First Street specialty shops across brick walkways to a major central plaza where the Seminole County Courthouse parking lot is presently located.

At the plaza, you can sit under an umbrella and sip coffee, while looking at the natural beauty of the area along Lake Monroe.

Along the water's edge, there is a walled promenade with walkways, lights and benches for relaxation.

These images are contained in the plans submitted to the Waterfront Master Plan Steering Committee and Sanford Main Street by Bruce Andersen, of Andersen and Associates.

Although discussed extensively Wednesday at the Steering Committee's regular meeting, the proposals are being presented to the Sanford City Commission Monday night, through Director of Planning and Development Jay Marder, who serves on the Steering Committee.

Among items presented for consideration are comments regarding the use of the parking lot area east

County irked by state road shift proposal

By J. MARK BARFIELD

SANFORD — Seminole County officials are preparing their objections to a state proposal to shift 32.5 miles of highways to county control.

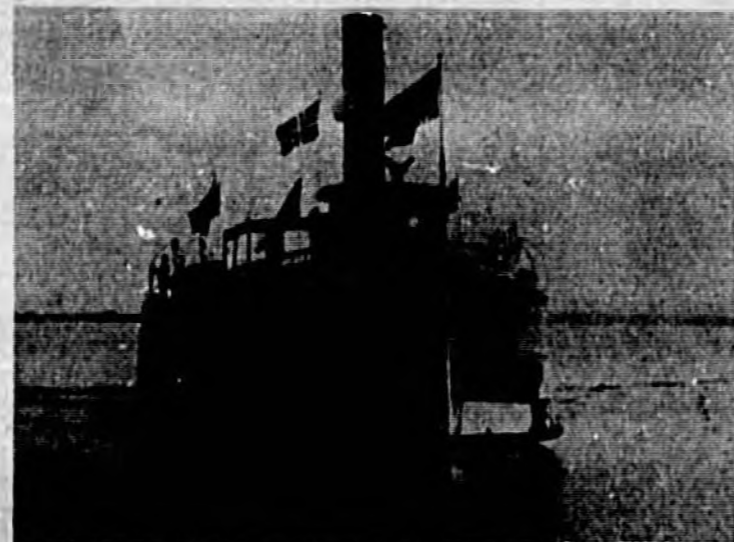

According to a state-commissioned study, the shift would move $1.7 million of annual maintenance and improvement expenses to the county's fiscal lap. But County Engineer Jerry McCollum

If this doesn't bring back memories, nothing will

Morning folks! We've had quite a few letters since we began this column in 1991, but none like the one we're going to share with you today. We've taken the liberty of doing some editing to shorten it a bit but if this one doesn't bring back memories of Sanford in the 1920s and 1930s nothing will.

Retail theft charged

Anton Jerome Harvey, 34, 1513 Meadowlark St., Longwood, was charged with retail theft by Casselberry Police on Thursday.

Police said he left a store with a sandwich concealed "on his person." They said he made no attempt to pay for it. When he was stopped on the street outside the store, police found a hoagie in his possession.

He was taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility and held on $100 bond.

Forgery alleged

Police said in November, he presented a check for $242.68 to a Park Avenue business. The check was written on the account of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church.

Latent fingerprints on the check, which matched William's helped investigators link him to the incident.

He is also under investigation, police said, for similar incidents in other parts of Sanford, in Seminole County and in Volusia County.

He was taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility and held in lieu of $2,000 bond.

Bus service expansion begins

BY ROGER HARNACK
Herald Correspondent

Before long, Lynx customers will be able to take advantage of express bus services from Seminole County to downtown Orlando.

"This is the first step in a two-part expansion of services," Lynx Executive Director Paul Skoutelas said.

Lynx already provides service between Seminole and Orange counties, but the express service is aimed at speeding up transportation between the counties.

The second step of the transit system's expansion depends on Volusia Transit (Votran) officials.

According to Skoutelas, Lynx and Votran officials have met to talk about connecting services allowing customers to essentially be able to take the bus between Orlando and Daytona Beach.

Skoutelas said the meetings had resulted in "discussions" on connecting services, but stopped short of calling them negotiations.

"We are waiting to hear from Votran about offering commuter services and we are looking at the project," Skoutelas said.

"We are waiting to hear from Votran officials on what they want to do. Currently, we are looking at some park and ride possibilities and areas where we can connect our service with Votran. We are looking at potential sites in both Seminole and Volusia counties."

It may be awhile before residents can get on the bus and get off on the beach, Skoutelas said.

"There has been a lot of interest expressed in it. However, the exact timing is not clear," he said.

Aside from connecting services with Votran, Skoutelas said Lynx was looking into providing services between Sanford and Deltona.

Skoutelas is optimistic that the transit system's expansion plans could be realized in the near future. He projected that express services to Orlando could be implemented within the next year, but shied away from making a time-line projection on expanding services eastward.

"I think it's feasible to tie Volusia, Seminole and Orange counties together," Skoutelas said.

Woman of murdered man remains in jail on forgery charges

By SANDRA ELLIOTT
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — A Seminole County woman whose husband died of a shotgun blast to the face in their home near Winter Park last week will remain in jail on unrelated theft and forgery charges despite her request for a lower bond so she could make funeral arrangements.

During a hearing Saturday, Circuit Court Judge Robert McGregor found there was sufficient evidence to hold Sherry Lee Perry, 37, 2316 Poinciana Road on forgery and theft charges. The charges relate to two stolen checks being forged at a crafts fair in December. In addition, Perry is charged with fraudulent use of a credit card, two counts of grand theft and uttering a forged instrument. The total bond on all counts was $4,500. However, McGregor doubled the bond to $9,000 noting the degree of criminal activity alleged and the number of charges increased the likelihood the defendant would be tempted to flee if she was released on bond.

The public defender's office was appointed to represent Perry after she filled out a form stating she could not afford to hire an attorney. Perry has a daughter and son and receives Social Security disability. The family home is in foreclosure, according to the request for a public defender. Perry told the court she has a worker's compensation claim pending.

Prior to the beginning of the hearing, Perry asked a bail bondman if he would talk to her about posting bond. She told him there was $14,000 equity in her home which was valued at $125,000. Another bond company pulled a $1,500 bond it posted on earlier charges of dealing in stolen property and uttering a forged instrument after Perry was arrested on the new charges.

Perry appeared in court dressed in a blue jail uniform wearing a surgical-type mask over her nose and mouth.

"They say I have hepatitis," Perry told the bondman through the glass observation window in the jail courtroom. "But they've got me confused with somebody else. They've never even taken any blood samples."

Both of the female guards accompanying Perry wore masks and latex gloves. Perry was brought into the courtroom alone.

Perry's husband, David, was killed Thursday with a shotgun blast to the face in the bedroom of the couple's home. Mrs. Perry told police two men she described as Panamanian, came to the house about 9 a.m. She said her husband knew the men and told her to let them in. They went to the bedroom where she heard the three arguing in Spanish. She said she then heard a shot and the two men fled on foot. Perry was an airplane mechanic and once worked in Panama. Mrs. Perry told investigators.

After hearing Mrs. Perry's request for a lower bond due to her husband's death and need to make funeral arrangements, McGregor refused due to the number of offenses charged and temptation to flee. He added, "Nothing is going to happen there in the sense that others can't attend to it."

Arraignment dates on February 3 and 24 were set on the new and previous charges.

Losses at SHS this year Friends gone but not forgotten

High school is supposed to be a period in your life when the happiest memories are made. You have friends to be with, fun things to do, and you know there will never be anything like it.

So why is it that really tends to hit so hard just when you're having the time of your life?

For two members of the freshman class at Seminole High School there will be no more football games or dances. There's no homework for them to worry about anymore.

For some cruel decision of fate their young lives ended, suddenly, almost before they had begun.

Earlier this year students were shocked when Mrs. Shapker made the announcement that an aneurism had killed Hilda Ser-

Jaime Ollman
A first year member of AAU, she was described as a friendly, cheerful young woman. Her friends in the club mourned her death by wearing signs that read "I remember Hilda."

This past long weekend, another young person's life was taken by an accidental drowning.

Steven Gathera was a talented freshman football player and was missed by his coaches and friends.

He was with his father when the incident occurred. The family was hit twice with the loss of a brother and son and also a father and loving husband.

No one can describe the feeling of losing someone close unless they've experienced it themselves and when they do it's horrible.

Some express grief by trying to forget about it and others draw inward and get lost in their sorrow.

No one has the answer to why anyone dies.

You can say that it was just their time to go or that God needed them.

Either way it doesn't explain it.

And the last thing you want to do is to think about everything that could've been.

The terrible decision you must face is that life will never be the same again and you must strive on.

To the families of our lost students, support and sympathies go out to you and to Hilda and Steven, you may be gone but you won't be forgotten.

Curfew unpopular with kids

By VICKI DeSOMMIA
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Kids in Sanford are not thrilled with the prospect of the whole state joining what Tampa and Dade County are doing to keep young people off the streets late at night.

They say they believe the law will unfairly affect the freedoms of the "good kids" in an effort to rein in the "bad" ones.

Lindsay Sinclair of Sanford said she works in Altamonte Springs until 10 p.m. four nights a week.

"Most nights I'm not home until after 11," she said. "I'm not a bad kid. I have a job. There are lots of others just like me."

Karen Smith of Lake Mary said she and her friends like to "hang out" at a local restaurant to talk late into the night on Fridays.

"We don't do anything wrong," she said. "We just hang out."

Lawrence Dimmitt of Sanford admits that he and his friends sometimes get together and get rough and loud, but sometimes they're out well into the night for legitimate reasons.

"Sometimes like around exams we all go to someone's house for an all night study session," he said. "Like, that's a real reason to be out, but if there was a curfew we'd have to do like a conference call or something to stay off the street."

One teen, who didn't want to have his name used in the paper, said it was not the government's business to decide when he could or could not be on the streets.

"If my mom don't care when I'm out until two or three in the morning, why should the cops?" he asked. "It's between me and my mom if I just want to go out and hang. I ain't doing nothing wrong. Sometimes I just don't want to be at home."

He said he is one of 13 children and sometimes "home is just too damn crowded."

The teens agreed that they believe parents, not law enforcement, should see to it that they teach their children right from wrong and then come to an agreement about how late they should be allowed to stay out.

"And what about Homecoming, Prom, Project Graduation...stuff like that?" Denise Long of Sanford wondered. "Are we gonna have to leave those things early or get arrested?"

What do you think? Are the laws in effect regarding a curfew or the suggested statewide curfew fair? Let us know. Sanford Herald/300 N. French Ave./Sanford FL 32771.

Students honored
Angle Davis and Pete Stogner were recently honored for their anti-drug speeches made at a recent Moose convention in Orlando. The students were among the top orators in the state. Sanford Moose Lodge 1851 was the only lodge in the state to sponsor multiple winners in the state competition. Davis will compete in a national competition later this spring. The students were presented with plaques for their efforts by Tom Nichols, governor of the Sanford Moose Lodge 1851.

Feet can be prone to variety of problems

NEW YORK — More than 75 percent of us will suffer some kind of a foot problem during our lives. It's a problem that's hard to ignore since most of us spend about 25 percent of our waking hours walking or standing.

Our feet undergo tremendous stress. In the course of an average day, they can be subjected to loads equivalent to several hundred tons.

If that isn't enough, certain medical conditions, such as diabetes, arthritis, poor circulation and obesity, can worsen foot problems.

The foot is a complex design of 26 bones, 33 joints and an intricate arrangement of tendons, muscles and ligaments, so it's no surprise that it is prone to any one of a number of problems.

Although aching feet can be attributed to a number of causes, experts agree that the main culprit is shoe size, especially as we grow older.

With aging, the metatarsal bones of the feet tend to spread out as we walk. A shoe size that was right in our early adulthood is likely to be a tight squeeze 20 or 30 years later. Even the healthiest people can suffer aching feet as the cushioning layers of fat on the soles of the feet gradually thin out in our later years.

Outside of serious foot problems that may require a medical evaluation, most disorders can be stopped before they even start by:

- Choosing well-fitted shoes with firm soles and soft, roomy uppers for everyday wear.
- Keeping your feet fit by regular moderate exercise, such as walking.
- Bathing feet regularly. It's especially important to clean between the toes and dry thoroughly.
- Helping tender spots to heal by using pads, cushions or heel cups.

A vaccine to lower cholesterol?

Medical scientists at the Walter Reed Army Institute of Research are experimenting with microscopic, cholesterol-filled spheres that might someday be used to prevent atherosclerosis.

The spheres, or liposomes, appear to stimulate the production of naturally occurring anti-cholesterol antibodies.

The scientists tested the vaccine in 46 rabbits being fed a high-fat diet. Of these, 40 already had been given the vaccine. It was found that immunized rabbits had significantly lower levels than nonimmunized animals. In addition, it was found that the arteries of the immunized bunnies also contained far less atherosclerosis plaque.

Hormone treatment raises gallstone risk

NEW YORK — Researchers have found new evidence that hormone treatment after menopause raises the risk of gallstones.

In an eight-year study that tracked nearly 55,000 nurses, researchers found that women using hormone treatment ran about a doubled risk for having their gallbladders removed.

Virtually all women who have had surgery have gallstones, the researchers said in their report in this month's issue of the journal Obstetrics and Gynecology.

Most women in the study used estrogen, while others used estrogen plus progesterin.

The researchers said hormone treatment after menopause has several risks and benefits, several more important than gallbladder removal. A woman and her doctor "should consider all factors" in deciding on whether to use hormone treatment, said the researchers, from Brigham and Women's Hospital and the Harvard schools of medicine and public health.

Dr. Wulf Utian, chairman of reproductive biology at Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland, said the link to gallbladder disease has long been known. He also said he suspected that taking estrogen from a skin patch rather than a pill might reduce the problem.

Type of fall as important as bone caliber

CHICAGO — The way elderly people fall may have as much to do with whether they fracture their hips as how strong their bones are, a new study suggests.

The findings could lead to better strategies for preventing some of the 250,000 U.S. hip fractures a year, which cost the nation $8.7 billion and lead to much disability, institutionalization and death, researchers said.

They studied 149 people age 65 or older who fell — 72 patients who broke their hips and 77 who did not.

Falls to the side, the researchers said, were more likely to break a hip than falls backward. Also, taller and leaner patients had higher fracture risks, and people with weaker bones were, indeed, more likely to suffer fractures.

They suggested adding preventive strategies such as muscle strengthening and hip padding for high-risk patients in addition to strategies already used to prevent fractures in older patients.

The study was led by Dr. Susan L. Greenspan of Harvard-affiliated Beth Israel Hospital in Boston. The findings were published in the Jan. 12 issue of The Journal of the American Medical Association.

Dr. William J. Robb III, a spokesman for the American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons, said the findings are new and important.

"Much of the emphasis has been placed on osteoporosis as one of the primary etiologies (causes) of hip fractures," he said.

Treating osteoporosis, the bone-thinning condition associated with aging, is important, but the study shows other measures are also important, said Robb, who was not involved in the research.

Health Education Day

Teacher's dream of creative education becomes day of fun

By SHIRLEY K. BAKER
Herald Correspondent

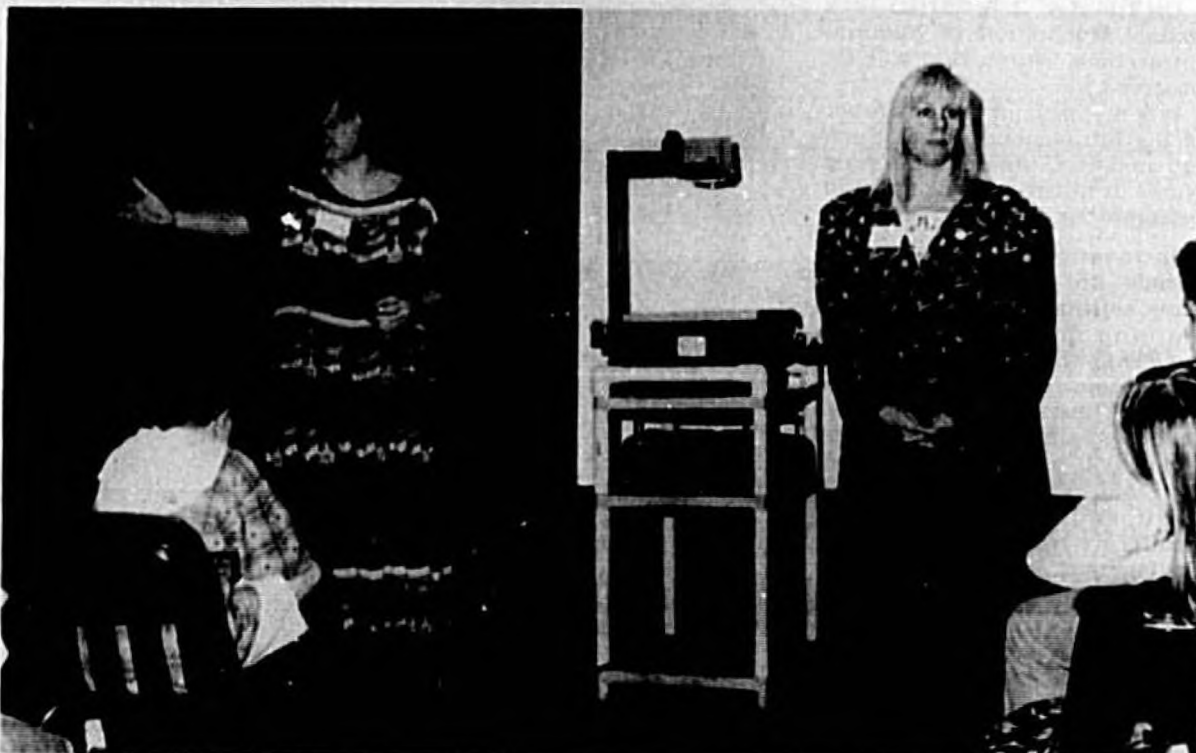

Delora Campbell, a sixth grade Health Education teacher at Tuskwilla Middle School decided 11 years ago to invite local health professionals to talk to students about their work and its importance. She felt that their comments would enhance the material in the textbooks she uses with her students.

"Health Education Day has become an exciting day," said G. Brewer, principal of Tuskwilla. "It is a day of celebrating good health and hygiene. The health professionals are all excellent speakers who share their time and expertise with the children and faculty. The sixth graders look forward to this day long activity each year.

"Many of the speakers stay longer than planned because they are also interested in what the other presenters have to say," he said.

"This day is a great experience for the kids," according to assistant principal W. Griffin. "Not only are they exposed to various health careers, but they are also made aware of the importance of good personal hygiene."

Both principals recognized the fact that Campbell has done an excellent job each year with the organization and coordination of this activity for her students.

Doctors, residents to discuss digestive disorders at UCF

On Thursday, Jan. 27, Central Florida residents will have the opportunity to participate in an important educational program entitled "Partnerships for Better Digestive Health."

Digestive disorders affect more than one-half of all Americans at some point in their lifetime and cost this country more than $50 billion each year.

The program will provide up-to-the-minute information on common digestive health problems. Developed and co-sponsored by the Glaxo Institute for Digestive Health and the American Gastroenterological Association, it is intended to increase people's knowledge of and response to symptoms of potential digestive disorders to encourage earlier and more effective care and treatment.

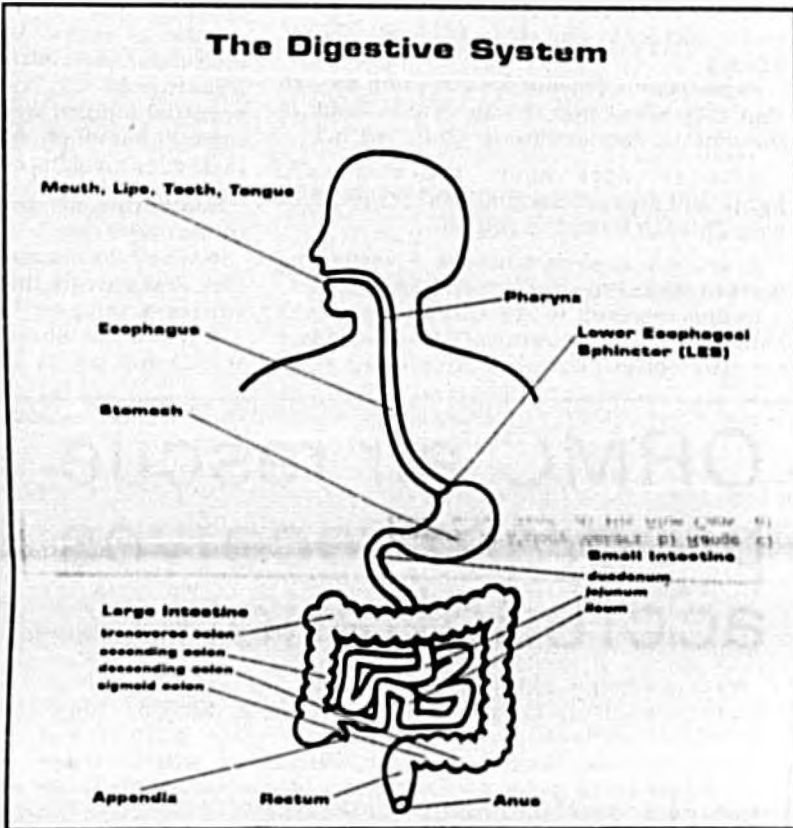

This live, interactive program will link thousands of people at more than 20 medical institutions in a six-state region with five of the nation's leading digestive health experts. Area residents can register to attend by calling 800-544-5481. The event will take place at the University of Central Florida, sponsored by Winter Park Memorial Hospital, from 7-8:30 p.m.

The panel of health specialists will be moderated by Don W. Powell, M.D., president of the American Gastroenterological Association. In a discussion of the following topics:

- The latest information on colon cancer.
- Up-to-the-minute information on heartburn and gastroesophageal reflux disease, one of the most common disorders of the digestive tract.
- Managing irritable bowel syndrome, a common and chronic intestinal disorder.
- The current thinking about peptic ulcer diseases.

Attendees will have the opportunity to participate in a "live" question and answer session, and receive a collection of information on digestive health, including summaries of the presentations for handy reference. practical tips for simple lifestyle adjustments to improve their digestive health and delicious digestion-friendly recipes to try at home.

Exercise can make menopause go easier

By IRINA DREYFUSS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — Middle age doesn't have to make a woman feel suddenly old. Exercise can help retain strength and vitality.

"Exercise decreases risk factors for coronary artery disease, decreases the risk of osteoporosis, strengthens pelvic structure and improves mood," said a report in The Physician and Sportsmedicine, a medical journal.

Studies find that taking up aerobic exercise can increase endurance, according to the article by Dr. Kathleen M. Hargarten of the Medical College of Wisconsin in Milwaukee.

Diseases of the heart are a special concern to women at menopause because diminished estrogen production robs them of that hormone's apparent protective effect against cholesterol increases, the article said.

But exercise seems to increase production of high-density lipoproteins, which sweep away low-density lipoproteins, the cholesterol component that can lead to artery-clogging buildups of plaque.

"There are indications that even relatively low- to moderate-intensity exercise can produce significant increases in HDL cholesterol," Hargarten wrote in the January issue of the journal. Her personal prescription leans to the moderate end, calling for a minimum of three vigorous 20-minute aerobic exercise sessions per week.

However, some researchers have found that daily walking can improve HDL levels.

Reduction in estrogen can also lead to the brittle-bone disease known as osteoporosis. But exercise puts stress on bones, which stimulates them to become stronger, the article said.

Estrogen replacement is considered the best therapy against bone loss in postmenopausal women. But "recent evidence suggests that exercise also helps prevent and possibly reverse bone loss caused by aging," the article said.

This may be overstating the benefits, commented Barbara L. Drinkwater, a researcher on osteoporosis.

Some women will think that exercise, combined with adequate calcium, the raw material of bone, will protect them — but there's no evidence to support this, Drinkwater said.

Exercise can, however, prevent a bad thing from getting unnecessarily worse, said Drinkwater, a research physiologist at Pacific Medical Center in Seattle.

"It would prevent the bone loss that would occur from being inactive," Drinkwater said. But the value of exercise alone "is not really very impressive," she said.

There's no evidence that exercise can help a woman control hot flashes, the article said. However, exercise can fight atrophy of the muscles and ligaments of the pelvis — an important point, because atrophy can increase the risk of prolapse, Hargarten said.

Hargarten praises Kegel exercises — tightening of the pelvic diaphragm muscles — to fight these problems. Women should first learn how the muscles function by stopping urine midstream, she said. She Hernia repair is no longer major surgery. Recent advances like the mesh technique have made it as simple as a one-day "walk-in, walk-out" procedure.

A new laparoscopic technique now available at The Hernia Center of Central Florida has simplified things even further. Because this procedure requires only small incisions, it lessens pain and further shortens recovery time.

IV nursing adds personal touch

Since 1981, the specialty practice of IV nursing has been honored with a national day of observance set by Congress.

On Tuesday, Jan. 25, the 14th annual celebration of National Intravenous Nurse Day will be observed.

It is my pleasure as a member of the Intravenous Nurses Society and a Certified Registered Nurse in intravenous therapy to celebrate the day.

Intravenous nursing transcends the various traditional care settings of hospital and nursing home. Today, intravenous therapy is available at home and on an out-patient basis. This delivery has been made possible by technologic innovation and expanded nursing skill. The alternative sites also reduce the cost of healthcare by reducing hospitalization time.

IV therapy encompasses total parenteral nutrition, chemotherapy, blood transfusion, dialysis, antibiotic and anti-infective medication delivery and fluid and electrolyte therapy.

Approximately 85 percent of all hospitalized patients and 70 percent of homecare patients receive some form of IV therapy.

—By Judy Tivnan, R.N.

Approximately 85 percent of all hospitalized patients and 70 percent of homecare patients receive some form of IV therapy. Nurses specializing in this area of care work with some of the most medically fragile children and adults seen in healthcare today.

The role of the nurse as a patients advocate is not a new one, nurses take care of the patient, not the illness or disease.

The role of professional societies are to set standards with clear definition of how care should be given. It bases the standards on scientific principal and research and defines procedures that are acceptable in the delivery of care. These standards allow the consumer to measure service, allow the industry to control costs and the professionals to achieve a common bond of quality practice.

On Tuesday, members of the Intravenous Nurses Society will take this day to reflect on a shared vision, and to celebrate achievements. The nurses role as patient advocate places demands and carries a responsibility to maintain the highest level of quality care throughout the changes of technology and the increasing health care costs. Through the shared vision of the Intravenous Nurses Society members, and the adaption of standards of practice, nurses will have a professional practice of IV therapy that is representative of the professional values and vision for the future of quality patient care.

Making life safer for pedestrians

By MALCOLM RITTER
AP Science Writer

NEW YORK — Every year in the United States, more than 5,000 pedestrians die in traffic accidents and more than 90,000 are injured.

Pedestrian accidents are common enough that they seem just the inevitable result of inattention, carelessness or plain bad luck.

After all, once you've provided traffic lights and crosswalks, and told people to be careful, what more can you do?

A lot, say experts who are investigating ways to make life safer for pedestrians.

Noting research in the United States and abroad, they cite an array of ideas, including not only better designs of streets and signs but also teaching such tricks as the safest path for reaching the diagonal corner of an intersection.

"When we observe people walking and crossing streets, we see a tremendous number of errors" by both pedestrians and motorists, says Dan Burden of the Florida Department of Transportation. "So the eventual injuries are highly predictable in a society based on automobile travel, with neither one looking out for the other."

Some tips for pedestrians on avoiding traffic accidents:

- When the illuminated sign says "Walk," look first for cars that are turning into your path or running red lights. Then walk.
- When the illuminated sign says "Don't Walk" and you're on the sidewalk, do not enter the street. Wait for the next "Walk" signal.

• When the illuminated sign says "Don't Walk" and you're in the middle of an intersection, complete your walk across the street. Do not run across the street. Do not turn back.

• When you're at an intersection of two two-way streets and want to reach the far corner, diagonally across the intersection, the safest path is to cross each street so that the intersection is always on your right.

• To increase visibility to drivers at night, pedestrians should carry a lit flashlight or wear "retroreflective" material that reflects headlight beams directly back at cars.

• Most importantly, before crossing, stop at the curb and look left-right-left before entering the street.

ORMC air rescue program receives accreditation

Patients flying with the Air Care Team (ACT), the helicopter ambulance at Orlando Regional Medical Center (ORMC), are in the care of Florida's first nationally-accredited air ambulance.

The independent Commission on the Accreditation of Air Medical Services (CAAMS) and the HRS Office of Emergency Medical Services (EMS) jointly announced that ORMC's Air Care Team has voluntarily passed the Commission's evaluation process.

"We congratulate the Air Care Team for demonstrating their excellence as a provider of air ambulance service," said HRS EMS director Michael S. Williams. "In meeting CAAMS' rigorous standards, ORMC's Air Care Team has set an outstanding example we hope all of Florida's aeromedical operations will follow."

Only 12 of the nation's more than 200 helicopter ambulance services have earned CAAMS accreditation. The HRS EMS office licenses all aeromedical services in Florida. The state has 51 state-licensed air ambulance operations, of which 19 are helicopter services and 32 are fixed wing.

Accreditation means all aspects of the Air Care Team's operation have met CAAMS standards. An out-of-state panel visited ACT to review quality of patient care, safety, training, communications and documentation.

"We are really thrilled," said Dottie Tanner, Air Care Team chief flight nurse. "CAAMS is the 'gold standard' of air EMS, exceeding state licensure requirements. Our going through the accreditation shows our commitment to the best in patient care, including safety."

The Air Care Team flies an American Eurocopter BK 117, which is maintained and operated by OmniFlight Helicopters, Inc., of Dallas.

The ORMC air ambulance service covers 26 counties and logged more than 800 patient flights in 1993. In October, the team will celebrate 10 years of operation.

Sunscreen may not prevent melanoma

By Associated Press

HOUSTON — A study on mice in which sunscreen was applied to their ears and tails found that sun lotion may be ineffective at preventing the most dangerous form of skin cancer.

The study by scientists from the University of Texas M.D. Anderson Cancer Center was published today in the Journal of the National Cancer Institute. The study found that the sunscreens prevented sunburn, skin swelling and inflammation but not the development of melanoma.

In the study, three groups of mice were treated with different types of sunscreen, and a fourth group was treated with oil and water. Then the animals were put under sunlamps for 20 to 27 minutes twice a week for three weeks.

On the day before the last exposure, scientists injected the mice with melanoma cells. Two weeks later, more than a third of the mice in each group had tumors.

Dr. Margaret Kripke, one of the researchers, said it appears that immune suppression caused by ultraviolet light may not be stopped by sunscreen even when sunburn is averted.

Exercise

Some studies have found that middle-age women who exercise regularly showed less anxiety and depression than did women who didn't exercise, the article said. Exercise can give a person a feeling of accomplishment, it said.

Studies: Blacks more likely to balk at living wills

By IRA DREYFUSS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — Blacks are more likely than Hispanics or whites to distrust documents that tell doctors when to give up on efforts to keep them alive, researchers say.

"The (blacks) we spoke with were concerned — at least, a higher percentage of them were — that, if they executed an advance directive, they would be treated less," said Dr. Pat Caralla of the University of Miami. Caralla and other experts spoke at a recent meeting of the American Geriatrics Society.

Advance directives tell caregivers the conditions under which the patient wants care withheld or life support terminated in the event of a terminal illness or injury.

These include living wills, in which the patient spells out what he wants done, and durable powers of attorney, in which he or she designates someone to make decisions in the event he or she is mentally incapacitated.

Under federal law, health care facilities that receive Medicare or Medicaid funds must tell patients they have a right to an advance directive, although the patients need not have one drawn up. The Caralla study analyzed the decisions made by 139 whites, blacks, and Hispanics (largely Cubans) who were hospital patients in Miami. The average age of the patients was 53, although some ranged up to 88.

Eighty-three percent of all patients agreed with the purpose of living wills. Forty-two percent of patients overall had created one. No ethnic group was significantly more likely than the others to have done so.

However, there were differences in attitudes.

Blacks were less likely than Hispanics or whites to agree with the idea that doctors should help patients to die. Thirty-six percent of blacks believed that such aid could be valuable, compared with 53 percent of Hispanics and 61 percent of whites.

Blacks also were least likely to want a doctor's assistance to die if they were terminally ill. Fourteen percent of blacks would want such help, compared with 29 percent of Hispanics and 38 percent of whites.

Overall, one-third of patients felt unsure of how a living will would affect their doctors' treatment decisions, and blacks were most likely to feel they would be less cared for, the Miami researchers said.

Fuller's jumper keeps SHS undefeated in SAC

By TONY DeSORMIER

OVIEDO — Neville Fuller's game-winning basket as time expired was the perfect ending to a disciplined effort by Seminole's Arrow Force II Friday night that resulted in a 63-61 win over the host Oviedo Lions.

The victory completes an undefeated run through the first half of the Seminole Athletic Conference boys' basketball schedule by Arrow Force II (14-6 overall, 5-0 in the SAC).

Oviedo falls to 5-14, 0-5 in the conference.

The Lions, Class 4A state champions two years ago and state semifinalists last year, dictated the tempo of Friday night's contest with a patient, deliberate attack.

But Seminole, which uses its athleticism and speed to run opponents into the hardwood whenever possible, accepted the challenge to a battle of attrition.

"That's what will dictate how good a team we'll be later in the season and in the years to come," said Seminole coach Bob Traina. "Most of the teams that play us will attempt to control the tempo and slow the game down.

"Our primary asset is our collective speed and athletic ability. But we have to be ready and able to play a slower pace of game until we get the chance to use our speed to go on a quick spurt."

With Eric Roberts (a game-high 24 points on 9-for-13 shooting and five assists) and Brad Traina (11 points) leading the attack with their outside shooting and ball handling, that's how Seminole played Oviedo, closing out the first period with a 9-4 sprint and opening the second half with an 11-4 run.

Other than that, the game was a draw as Brian Hendrix (18 points), Ben Boss (15 points, five assists), and Brian Buchanan (a game-high seven assists) kept the Lions within striking distance.

After falling behind 44-35 with 3:45 remaining in the third quarter, Oviedo put together its one sustained run of the evening, closing out the period with an 11-4 charge that cut the deficit to 48-45 heading into the final eight minutes.

The teams traded baskets throughout the fourth quarter. Seminole never leading by more than four points and Oviedo closing to within a point five times.

Hendrix finally tied the score at 61-61 for the Lions when he converted a breakaway layup, was fouled, and made the ensuing free throw with 1:20 left in the game.

Seminole patiently brought the ball up court, ran the clock down until there was 16 seconds left, and called timeout.

"We didn't call a special play for anyone," said Traina. "We reminded the guys to run our LONGWOOD — This is what winning teams live for.

Trailing at home by seven after three quarters, the Lyman boys basketball team ambushed Lake Mary 30-8 in the fourth period to beat the Rams 67-52 in a crucial Seminole Athletic Conference and 5A-District 4 game Friday night.

The win keeps Lyman (11-4 overall, 4-1 in the SAC) within one game of both Seminole (which improved to 5-0 in the conference with a 63-61 victory over Oviedo Friday night) in the SAC race and undefeated Daytona Beach-Mainland (18-0, ranked No. 3 in the state 5A ODU in the district battle for the top seed in the district tournament).

"This was an important game," said Lyman head coach Norm Ready. "The key for us was defense, defense, defense, and more defense. That created turnovers which we turned into scoring opportunities. We spend 3/4 of our time in practice on defense."

The fourth quarter run started immediately, with Lyman reeling off the first six points. After Jimmy Newberry's free throw gave Lake Mary a 45-43 edge, Tavaron Raymon stole the inbounds pass and made a lay-up to tie the score. Clyde Johnson's driving jump-shot gave Lyman the 47-45 lead, and so it went.

Lyman was blessed with a total team effort, as all 12 players contributed to the win. DeWayne Bell led the way with 27 points and 10 rebounds, while Raymon (12 points), Johnson (nine points), Shawn Ready (eight points), and B.J. Kibler (five points, five rebounds) also came through.

"It's really important that all 12 kids contributed, and that we played together as a team," said Ready. "In the first half, we didn't play as well as we normally do. Lake Mary played well, and we had

'Hounds complete SAC 10-0

From Staff Reports

LONGWOOD — Danya Harris' hat trick helped the Lyman High School girls' soccer team achieve an interesting hat trick of its own Friday. Led by Harris, Lyman blitzed the Lake Mary Rams 7-1 in a Seminole Athletic Conference contest at Longwood High School Stadium to complete a 10-0 sail through its SAC schedule.

This is the third consecutive year that the Greyhounds (22-1) have gone through the conference undefeated. Lyman hasn't lost an SAC game since Jan. 3, 1991, when Lake Mary blanked the Greyhounds 2-0.

Since then, Lyman is 33-0-1 in conference play.

Danielle Garrett added a pair of goals Friday night. Caryn Roberts and Sara Kane also scored for the Greyhounds, who outshot the Rams 23-11.

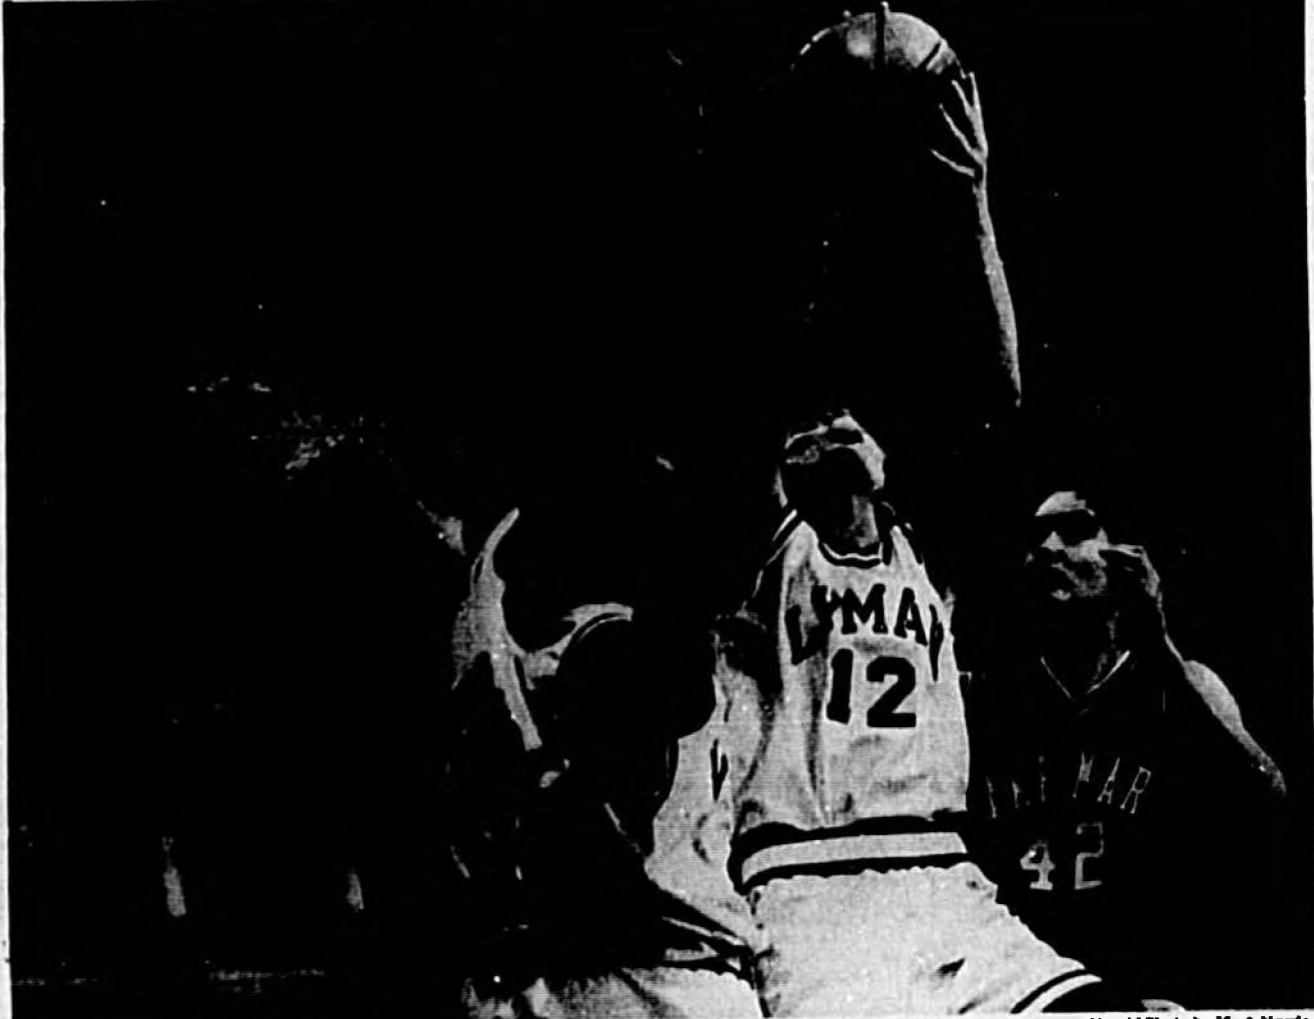

Angle Olson scored for Lake Mary. Lyman also won the junior varsity match, 1-0.

Next action for both Lyman and Lake Mary will be in the 5A-District 4 tournament this week.

HUSH LIFTS LIONS
 SANFORD — Tanya Hulah's second-half goal boosted the Oviedo Lions to a 1-0 win over the Seminole Fighting Seminoles in a Seminole Athletic Conference contest Friday night at Thomas E. Whigham Stadium.

The Lions outshot the Seminoles 12-6. Oviedo also won the junior varsity match, 3-0.

Now 9-12-5, Oviedo advances to the 5A-District 4 tournament this week while Seminole (4-18) moves to the 4A-District 6 playoff.

Lyman's Carrie Scranton (No. 12, light uniform) outreaches several others to pull down a rebound during the Greyhounds' 56-47 Seminole Athletic Conference victory over visiting Lake Mary Friday night.

Eight go over magic 600 mark at Bowl America

Special to the Herald

SANFORD — The magic 600 series score returned in bunches to league play at Bowl America-Sanford last week.

Ten bowlers reached the 600 level in eight different leagues, with Nancy Johnson and Ron Van Gelder tying for the top performance of the week by an individual by rolling over 600 twice.

Johnson tallied the highest series score for the women when she bowled a 655 in the Tuesday Nite Mixed League to follow up the 600 she had rolled in the same league the week before.

What makes Johnson's effort even more impressive is the fact that she was the only woman bowler to roll a 600.

Van Gelder's best was a 622 in the Beer:30 City League, but his second 600 series score was not had either, as he rolled a 621 in the Friday Nite Mixed on January 14.

The highest individual series of the week was a monster 680 series rolled in the Bowl America Men's League on January 11th by Jim Gateman.

Other 600 games were turned in by: Bill Biley (639, Harbour Brothers Mixed), Buck Benton (619, Saturday Senior Citizens), Ruben Blake (618, Friday Nite Mixed), Steve Enders (615, McGuire's Canvas), and Scott Terrell (605, McGuire's Canvas).

The highest individual game last week was a 258 turned in by Van Gelder in the Beer:30 City League. His total was one pin better than the 255 posted by Don Gorman Jr. in the Bowl American Men's League.

The best game among the women was a 268 rolled by Johnson during her big night in the Tuesday Nite Mixed League on January 18.

Trio of Hot Shots in Playtime Darts

Special to the Herald

SANFORD — Otis Gosser of the Lake Mary Pub and the Bamboo Cafe duo of Jolynn Moreland and Bobbie Buckley earned top honors among this week's Playtime Darts' Hot Shots.

Gosser, who throws for Right There in the Men's A League, had a great week, collecting five wins, a bull, a turkey, and an eight-throw dart out.

Moreland and Buckley, teammates on the Bamboo Bombers in the Ladies' League, each had four wins and a bull.

Also making the men's Hot Shot list were:

- Bel Godinho, who had three wins, two bulls, a bed, three turkeys, and an eight-throw dart out for Q-Biz's T.C.B. in the Men's A League.
- Kenny Doyle, also of Q-Biz's T.C.B. (five wins and two bulls).
- Scott Gessaman from Sharky's The Sharks (five wins).
- Doug Adams of Time Out's The Untouchables (four wins, two bulls, a turkey, an eight-throw and a nine-throw dart out).
- Keith MacParlane from Q-Biz's Q-Biz Bulls (four wins, two bulls, and a nine-throw dart out).

MEN'S A LEAGUE
After 10 weeks of play, T.C.B. of Q-Biz and Lake Mary Pub's Team No. 3 are deadlocked with 87 wins apiece.

They're followed by Right There out of the Lake Mary Pub (63 wins); Bamboo Cafe's Bamboo Scorpions (59 wins); and Team No. 1, also from the Bamboo Cafe, (48 wins).

MEN'S B LEAGUE
The second-place Knights from Sir Walter's picked up two games on the league leaders and now trail the front-running Q-Biz Bulls by just six wins, 94-88.

In the four-way battle for third, Q-Biz's Tom 80's (78 wins) have a one-game lead over the Four Bye Fours from Bamboo Cafe (77 wins). Close behind are the Lake Mary Pub's Just For Fun and Bamboo Cafe's Shoots (tied with 72 wins each).

Completing the 12-team circuit are Whiskey River's River Rats (68 wins); Salt & Pepper out of M.T. Muggs (63 wins); Score At Touchdown's The Nasty's (61 wins); The Greenhorns from M.T. Muggs (50 wins); Lake Mary Pub's Pub Pounders (32 wins); and the Sleepers of Whiskey River (20 wins).

LADIES' LEAGUE
Bit by bit, Bamboo Cafe's Bamboo Bombers continue to pull away from the rest of the pack. Last week, the Bombers added three games to their lead and now have a healthy 22-win margin (102-80) over the second-place Nick's Nightmares from Uncle Nick's.

Scraping for third place are Ron's Nieces out of Uncle Nick's (71 wins); Lake Mary Pub's No Answer (68 wins); and the Bamboo Babes from the Bamboo Cafe (65 normal offense, be patient, and not to take a shot until there was five seconds left."

Arrow Force II came out and did just that, moving the ball around until Brad Traina saw Fuller across the court. Traina got him the ball and Fuller (who finished with 10 points) drained the shot as the buzzer sounded.

"Brad saw Neville in his spot and made the right pass," said Bob Traina. "It was a good shot, not only because it went in, but because it was in Neville's range and he had a good look at the basket."

"At halftime, we talked about what we had to do to win this game, which was rebound more aggressively and not panic if the game went down to the wire. That's what we did and that's what I'm really pleased with, we kept our composure."

According to Oviedo coach Ed Bolton, Friday night's effort was one of the Lions' best of the season.

"We have to put more control on what's happening," said Bolton. "The kids are starting to come around. We're not worried about our record because when you go into the district tournament, everyone's equal. If we control the tempo and play our game, we have as good a chance to win as anyone."

"We've had to make some changes this year. And we've had problems with injuries and illness. But the guys are starting to get it. Except for the last two minutes, when we got a little out of control, I'm very pleased with the way we played tonight."

In junior varsity action, Eddie Masingale sank a pair of free throws with five seconds left in overtime to lift Seminole to a 70-69 victory over Oviedo. Seminole had to play most of the overtime period with four players after three members of the seven-man roster fouled out.

Seminole, which was scheduled to host Daytona Beach-Scabreeze Saturday night, travels to St. Cloud for a 4A-District 6 contest Tuesday night. Oviedo, which played at Mainland Saturday night, will visit Daytona Beach-Scabreeze on Tuesday.

Light tackle is needed in the wintertime

Think L I G H T for wintertime fishing. Both fresh water and saltwater species are more finicky this time of year, and require a delicate presentation.

Successful bass pros will often go to very light spinning tackle and tiny offerings in order to get cold water bass to strike. The "strike zone" of a bass becomes very small during cold weather, and the fish are often extremely selective in what they choose to eat during this period of time.

Redfish and trout respond in a similar fashion in frigid waters. Live bait or slowly presented artificials will take fish, whereas faster moving offerings will remain ignored.

It is for this reason that I prefer spinning tackle during the winter months. A quality spinning outfit can easily handle are usually at their seasonal lows, and bass are often feeding on small ditch minnows and grass shrimps which are forced out of ditches and low areas into the main river channel. It is not unusual to see bass feeding on schools of this miniature bait.

Anglers using conventional tackle and lures will not get a strike, because the fish are focusing on much smaller forage.

The ultra-light system is particularly effective in the Puzzle Lake region, which has many small ditches and low areas that drain into the main channel.

I have also used this light rig on saltwater trout which feed around dock lights at night. These fish are typically very finicky, but they will jump on the tiny Rapala with reckless abandon.

Scaling down your tackle is not only more effective, it is also a lot more fun. A two-pound fish will feel like a real bruiser.

SHUPE'S SCOOP
Don't forget to tie a loop in your line whenever you are fishing a swimming-type artificial. The loop will allow a lure to swim much more freely than one which is tied with a cinched-down knot.

FISHING FORECAST
Consult the weather forecast carefully before planning your weekend trips. Be aware of high winds or rapidly dropping air temperatures that could drastically alter fishing conditions.

to do some things differently in order to succeed."

Lake Mary led 26-25 after a scrappy first half in which neither team ever led by more than four, and held a 44-37 advantage after three quarters.

The leading players for the Rams were Newberry (13 points), Ian Saunders (11 points), and Kent Pritchard (10 points).

"We thought we had taken control," said Lake Mary head coach Willie Richardson. "We played a lot of people to give the starters a blow, and never regained the intensity we needed until the last two minutes. That cost us the game. We failed to execute."

"We didn't box out well enough, catch the ball, make the easy shots, or hit the free throws. We can't expect to just cruise past a team like Lyman. We've got to get a lot better, period."

Lake Mary (which lost for the sixth time in its last seven starts to fall to 8-9 overall and 1-4 in the SAC) was scheduled to travel to DeLand Saturday night. The next Ram's game will be on Tuesday, when they travel to Eustis. The junior varsity game will start at 6 p.m., followed by the varsity game at 7:30 p.m. Lake Mary will also play two more important contests next week as it seeks to right the ship, hosting a tough Wymore Tech squad on Wednesday and traveling to Seminole on Friday.

Lyman will also play three games next week, hosting district foe Spruce Creek on Monday and then traveling to New Smyrna Beach on Thursday and Lake Brantley on Friday. The junior varsity games start at 6 p.m., and the varsity contests follow at 7:30 p.m.

"We won because of team togetherness," said Lyman head coach Steve Carmichael. "We had a meeting (Thursday night) and ironed out our differences. We got good senior leadership. It's our 15th win, and I'm proud of that. It's always nice to win against Lake Mary."

The win improves the Greyhounds to 15-8, 4-3 in the conference. Lake Mary is now 10-11 and 2-7 in the conference.

Lake Mary used tight defensive pressure to cause early problems for Lyman, taking an 8-4 lead after the first five minutes. But, Lyman was then able to befuddle the defensive press.

"We were just a little bit quicker than they were," said Carmichael. "So, we could spread the court and split their defensive press. We shot better than in recent games, and most of our baskets were from the inside. Good defense led to easy baskets."

Kate Brown had 22 points, 11 rebounds, six steals, and five assists to lead Lyman. Angel Rhodes added nine points with five rebounds and two steals, while Carolyn Crager scored eight points with six rebounds, three assists, and two steals.

Diane Duber had a monster game, scoring the first eight points for the Rams, and finished with 29 points and five rebounds. Lake Mary played well in the second half, outscoring Lyman 32-23, but never cut the Greyhound lead under ten until the final minute.

Laura Ragucci scored nine points with seven rebounds and five assists for Lake Mary, while Jennifer Greissing added four points, eight rebounds, and two steals. Sheri Gehl dished off five assists and Courtney Harris scored four points with five rebounds.

Lake Mary will host Tavara Tuesday night at 6 p.m. Lyman will travel to Lake Brantley Thursday night. The junior varsity game starts at 6 p.m., followed by the varsity game at 7:30.

This house will be built in a day

SANFORD — Local construction people are being asked to join together in a fund-raising house building. The home, in southeast Orlando, is to be completely built, furnished and decorated in one day.

John H. Jolinski, with JHJ Communications, said the entire project is aimed at providing funds for charities as well as school children.

"After it's built," he explained, "The house will be auctioned off to the highest bidder sometime in May. With a great deal of the materials and labor we hope to have donated, there could be a sufficient amount of money for distribution."

Among organizations which are expected to benefit from the sale Jolinski listed Coalition for the Homeless, AWFDF, a division of the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children, and its "Kids and Company" program — "Together for Safety" program, which benefits school-age children in Seminole, Orange and Osceola Counties.

"What we need right now," he said, "is licensed and insured workers to help build this miracle house, and donations of all types of building materials including lumber, drywall and concrete."

The entire Miracle House project is being co-sponsored as a fund-raising event by the Home Builders Association of Mid-Florida, and the Adam Walsh Children's Fund, (AWDF).

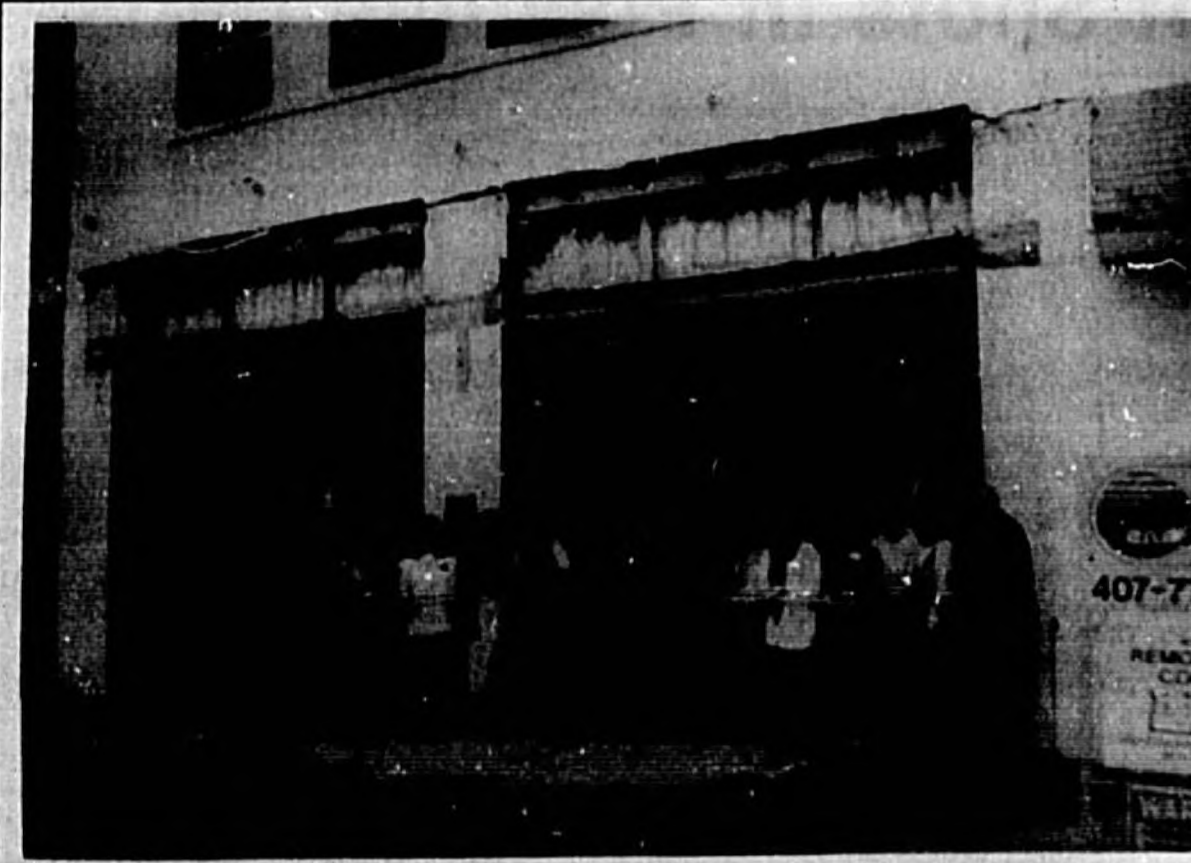

"We plan to build the house in the EastWood subdivision, southeast of Orlando, on March 26th," Jolinski said. "We want to complete the entire house, furniture and all, in just one day."

Jolinski said it had been done previously in similar fund-raising projects, with the first two in Palm Beach, home of the AWFDF, and one completed last year in Pinellas County.

"The earlier we can determine exactly how many building materials and worker donations we can plan on," he commented, "the better we can plan for this project."

Jolinski said a special fund-raising dinner auction and silent auction will be held on Feb. 12, at Church Street Station in Orlando, to raise money to be used in purchasing some of the materials. Other materials are expected to be donated.

For information on the Miracle House, to volunteer for the project, or volunteer building materials, phone the Home Builders Association of Mid-Florida at 629-9242.

Quest for a better company

By NICK PPEIPAUP

LAKE MARY — Conner Peripherals, Inc., of Lake Mary, is combining with Quest Development Corporation, a data management software developer, to form a new, stand alone company operating under the Arcada Software name.

Quest, based in San Luis Obispo, Calif., was founded in 1989. It is best known as the developer of the Norton backup software for Symantec Corp.

Conner's software unit, located on Lake Emma Road in Lake Mary, is best known for its Backup Exec data protection products for Novell NetWare and Microsoft Windows NT network application.

The new company, Arcada, develops data protection and storage management software and markets these products worldwide. At the combined locations of San Luis Obispo and Lake Mary, it has approximately 150 employees, including over 100 software engineers. The combined operation comprises one of the largest data management software teams in the industry.

According to Finis Conner, chairman and chief executive officer of Conner Peripherals, "This merger is an important step in implementing our strategy of creating the first truly comprehensive storage solutions company."

He continued, "No other company has the combined strengths of Arcada Software and Conner's disk, tape and storage system units, positioning Conner with the best overall understanding of, and access to a broad range of storage markets and technologies."

With its broad coverage of both network and desktop data management software," Conner said, "Arcada Software is an attractive alternative to companies such as Cheyenne and Central Point."

Founded in 1986, Conner sells, designs and builds a comprehensive line of information storage solutions products, including disk drives, tape drives, storage management software, and storage systems products for a wide range of computer applications.

Paying for troubles

By Associated Press

You pay dearly to live in some of the more troubled areas of the United States, such as California and the Northeast.

Both areas were among the worst hit by the recent recession, and both suffered greatly in the defense industry cutbacks that followed. And both have had their share of problems with nature.

While Macon, Ga., was the only southern metropolitan area to make the top 25 in affordability — it was 18th — the South, especially Florida, is strongly represented in the top one-third of 188 areas surveyed.

Much of New England had one of its longest and snowiest winters ever last year, for example, and this winter may match it. And, of course, California has its earthquakes and the incredible disruptions that result from them.

Trouble, of course, hasn't been confined to the coasts. Floods, tornadoes, blizzards, hurricanes and the like have become more destructive than ever as populations encroach on nature's territory. But there is a difference.

In spite of their problems with nature and the economy, California and the Northeast are near the top in living costs, whereas many more tranquil geographical areas are near the bottom.

Why? The biggest single factor in high costs is people themselves, eager to live where other people live and, in effect, compete with them for space, goods and services. It is starkly evident in the cost of housing.

In a National Association of Home Builders list of the 25 least affordable metropolitan areas for housing in the third quarter, 17 are in California and four in Connecticut. The others are Honolulu, New York, Reno and El Paso.

The five least affordable of all are California metro areas, led by San Francisco and followed by Salinas-Seaside-Monterey, Santa Cruz, Santa Rosa-Petaluma, and Los Angeles.

In contrast, the list of 25 most affordable metropolitan areas includes 18 in the Midwest and only four in the East — Binghamton, N.Y., Utica-Rome, N.Y., Harrisburg-Lebanon-Carlisle, Penn., Nashua, N.H. — and none on the West Coast.

The NAHB survey shows the percentage of homes sold that could have been bought by a family earning the median income at the prevailing mortgage rate. It assumes a family can buy a home equal to 3.5 times annual income.

Had certain other costs been included in the estimates, some of the more expensive areas might have been even more so — for earthquake insurance in California, for example, and for heating in New England.

Hobby: Love of baseball and hockey leads to collecting sports cards

Officer's hobby benefits youth

By SUSAN WENNER
Herald Correspondent

SANFORD - Leo Brunelle has turned a love of baseball and hockey into an outreach with his job, as well as an investment in the future. He collects baseball and hockey cards, but was quick to point out that his real love is hockey.

His wife, Jamie, and two sons, Matthew and Geoffrey, are supportive of his hobby. Yet, at times, his wife simply refers to his pastime as his obsession. Born in Kansas, he moved to other areas but has lived in Sanford for 12 years.

Brunelle's supervisor at his last job got him interested in collecting. "She bought me a Brett Hull use the cards to give to kids on my beat," he said. "It helps bridge the communications gap between law enforcement and gives kids things to do other than get into trouble, crime, drugs or gangs. Kids need a good hobby."

Any card collector store or some department stores carry a range of cards. The interested buyer would need to decide which sport or sports he would like to collect. There are also a wide variety of collectible cards for most anything you may be interested in. "A serious collector would like a binder for their cards," said Brunelle. "Department stores carry a limited supply of cards, but only what sells the best. They should carry a binder also for purchasing. Faded, torn or ripped cards will be worthless." Brunelle spoke of the fact that some collectors use cards as an investment and it can become too commercial.

Brunelle pointed out the many aspects of collecting. "There are expensive sets, stadium sets and premium

Burned-out bus restored to luxurious motor home

By ED KORGAN
Herald Correspondent

SANFORD - Retirement is 10 years away, but his plans call for rebuilding a completely burned out bus into a luxurious motor home.

Charlie Lytle of Sanford recently began work on his retirement home of the future, a 1980, Model 05, Eagle bus. He is building it completely from the shell of a burned out bus he spotted when he was driving through Atlanta. Lytle continued, "When I saw this burned out bus I was excited. I had been looking for a bus that I could rebuild for many months. As I got close to the bus the worse it looked. I kept thinking this might be a project that would be too much for me."

He continued, "All the windows had been knocked out by the fire department except for the front windshields and cab area. They had been burned from the rear of the bus up to the front bogey wheel (the rear wheel of the double wheels in the rear). It had smoke all on the inside. The seats were burned. The floor was burned. The engine was blown. All these things were problems. The whole rear-end of the bus was burned. From the floor area down and the outside skin of the bus everything looked fine there." Ironically, the bus was named the "Lucky Seven" by the previous owners. It was devastated by fire and was owned by an insurance company, the Fireman's Fund. Lytle walked in and offered $2,500 for the bus as it stood. He completed the deal and towed the bus to Sanford to begin repairs.

In six months, the bus begins a new era as a combination day coach, tour bus and vacation home. Lytle plans to build complete bathroom and kitchen facilities in the bus. In the front nearest to the driver he will have a cornered kitchen area that goes from the floor to the ceiling. All the necessary kitchen gimmicks will be right in that area. Midway to the back of the bus he will put a full shower, 4 x 4 feet, a full size commode and a vanity including the sink. Most tour buses only have a small port-o-potty aboard.

A hallway will lead to the back of the bus and the lounge area with a TV and all the little comforts that you might expect in a leisure area. As you walk past the bathroom toward the front, there will be three couches on one side and two on the other. They will sit in the area just before you reach the kitchen and the front of the bus.

The bus is a family affair as Lytle and his wife Brenda put it back together. Next week they begin to look for the material that will cover the See Bus, Page 6B

Republican women host coffee

Membership event attracts 70, including elected officials

The Suburban Republican Women's Club held a "very successful membership coffee" Thursday at the River Crest home of Laura Ginn, according to Linda Batman. Over 70 were in attendance with six new members recruited.

The newly-elected officers attending to kick off the new year were: Alice Weinberg, president; Carol Saporito, first vice president; Nancy King, second vice president; Laura Ginn, secretary; Leslie Ann Bartlett, corresponding secretary; and Connie Austin, treasurer.

The Suburban Club was organized in 1972 when the Republican party was not the majority party in Seminole County. Some of the founding members and past presidents attending were: Alice Myers, Barbara Wingham, Betty Holtz, Judy Van Der Weide, Dot Bolling and Mildred Lind.

Last year the club with the leadership of Dot Bolling as president instituted a scholarship award to be given to a young Republican to help with the recipient's education. The award was named the Mildred Lind Scholarship award in honor of Lind, a retired educator who taught most of her career in Orange and Seminole Counties. She taught many students in the area upon whose lives she made a definite impact, Batman said.

Among the elected officials in attendance were Sen. Toni Jennings, Rep. Bob Starks, Seminole County Commissioners Dick Van Der Weide and Pat Warren, Seminole County School Board Members Jeanne Morris and Sandy quality acts of cards," he said. "You'd pay $35 to $45 or $55 to $70 depending on the dealer and what you're getting." He also noted that you can spend a nickel on some. "A Mickey Mantle rookie card sells for up to $8,000," he said. "Price depends on the player and how rare it is as well as the demand."

One of his favorite non-hockey cards is his Shaquille O'Neal card. "My brother gave it to me out of a wax pack from McDonalds. "People give him cards that they don't want so he frequently keeps them for his children or others. "My most favorite card is my Bobby Orr card," he said. "He's a retired defense hockey player with the Bruins."

Looking in the sports page of the newspaper is one of Brunelle's suggestions for finding when conventions are being held for sports card collectors. One of the more interesting things about collecting is the information you get on the back of the card. "There's a history of the league and how it started," he said. "Players of the past versus players of the future are on the cards." Beckett's Monthly is a publication that he felt would benefit any card collector. Brunelle's hobby has become a wonderful way to share with friends, by trading cards or viewing the many cards. Four years of collecting have added a great number to his binder but the stories of each card and the players just keep him coming back for more.

inside walls and floors. Lytle has a long time love affair with buses. It started when he was touring with a band and the bus became the mode of transportation for many bands as they performed across the United States. He recalled that one of the first bands he could remember doing this was J.D. Stamps and the Stamps Quartet. It was one of the backup bands for the Elvis Presley tours of the 1960s and 1970s.

This is the third bus he has owned. The first was a 1960 4104 originally owned by Harley Hoy of Sanford. The second bus was an Eagle. An interesting aspect of that bus was that he paid a company to rebuild the bus, and then went to work helping rebuild that same bus to gain the knowledge to later on build his own bus.

Lytle considers this to be his freedom. His total money investment in the bus is approximately $25,000, but he owns something that will be his for the rest of his life. The bus does not depreciate and he has a motor home that runs on diesel fuel and is very economical to operate. By the time he gets through, the bus will be worth close to $100,000 on the current market.

Come to the celebration — the Fifth Annual Zora Neale Hurston Festival of the Arts and Humanities, an International Celebration, from Jan. 24-30.

It's Forgiveness Week; let go of your grudges

DEAR READERS: Did you know there is an International Forgiveness Week? Well, neither did I — until six years ago, when Alice Parent of Fresno, Calif. wrote to tell me about it. And this is the week.

If you are a card-carrying member of the human race, there is at least one person in your life who needs your forgiveness. Or perhaps it's you who needs to be forgiven, so hop aboard the meal culpa bandwagon, let go of those grudges and give your ulcer a chance to heal.

Robert Muller, former assistant secretary-general of the United Nations, wrote this lovely piece especially for International Forgiveness Week:

DECIDE TO FORGIVE
Decide to forgive
For resentment is negative
Resentment is poisonous
Resentment diminishes and devours the self
Be the first to forgive,
To smile and to take the first step.
And you will see happiness bloom
On the face of your human brother or sister.
be always the first
Do not wait for others to forgive
For by forgiving
You become the master of fate

ADVICE

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

The fashioner of life
The doer of miracles.
To forgive is the highest,
Most beautiful form of love.

In return you will receive
Untold peace and happiness.

Here is the program for achieving a truly forgiving heart:

Sunday: Forgive yourself.

Monday: Forgive your family.

Tuesday: Forgive your friends and associates.

Wednesday: Forgive across economic lines within your own nation.

Thursday: Forgive across cultural lines within your own nation.

Friday: Forgive across political lines within your own nation.

Saturday: Forgive other nations.

Only the brave know how to forgive. A coward never forgives. It is not in his nature.

Love, Abby

was at Walt Disney World during the Christmas holidays where they wowed patrons attending "Mickey's Very Merry Christmas Party."

The next performance of the Sound of Sunshine Chorus will be Feb. 12 when the dazzling and talented chorus will appear in "Ab-Solutely Music" at Lake Brantley High School, Altamonte Springs. Two shows are scheduled, matinee, at 2:30 p.m., $10.00; and evening, at 8:00, $12.00.

Guests quartets featured will be "City Lights," 1992 Queens of Harmony, and "High Gear," a men's quartet.

Incidentally, the chorus is always in the market for new singers. For those who like to sing, this is your chance to learn four-part harmony, barber shop style, complete with choreography and colorful costumes. Ask any singer with the group and she will tell you, "I love it."

For ticket information on the Feb. 12 performance or membership, call Ann Stegman, 629-6528.

Taste of Sanford 'very successful'

Hungry patrons began filling into the Sanford Woman's Club late last Saturday afternoon for the club's annual "Taste of Sanford." And a steady stream poured in during the appointed hours to sample the array of delicious foods for a mere five bucks.

Local cateries providing their specialties were: Christo's Restaurant, Galleria of Lake Mary, Popeye's Fried Chicken, Park Avenue Catering, Golden Lamb and Mr. Bill's Real North Carolina Barbecue with Buck's catering providing the table settings.

Club members supplemented the buffet with a variety of salads, desserts, casseroles and vegetables. President Jean Metts prepared roast venison with rice and gravy, which has been her contribution each year since "Taste" was inaugurated.

Overall chairman Jennifer Kelley said, "It was very successful, no complaints, lots of good food. It turned out very well."

She added, "The ladies (club members) were wonderful. They all pitched in...many who had not signed up."

The event drew rave reviews as the satisfied-looking diners were leaving. All seemed to enjoy the potpourri of tempting foodstuff.

General speaking, everyone said, "It was delicious." Mildred Steed summed it up with, "I loved it."

Beta Sigma Phi sets sweetheart cruise

For years and years, the local chapters of Beta Sigma Phi have staged a Valentine Sweetheart Charity Ball around Valentine's Day when the Queen of Hearts was selected from the Valentine Girl of each chapter. A lot of pomp and pageantry went into the royal-like investiture.

Today, the format has changed, but the same spirit still reigns supreme.

On Feb. 12, the five local BSP chapters will gather aboard the Romance for a grand coronation while cruising down the river. Each of the five chapters will announce their Valentine Girl at that time and all five will be crowned with a sparkling tiara by the chapter's queen of last year.

According to Pat Johnson, president of the BSP City Council, the three-hour cruise will include luncheon, the coronation ceremonies and entertainment following.

Pat said about 55 will attend the all-female gathering.

Garden club learns Floral Design

The Garden Club of Sanford Inc. recently held the third unit of the Floral Design class and workshop at the clubhouse.

The class was directed by Helen Thigpen of Palatka, a native Floridian and the daughter of Sara Albritton, a longtime member of Rose Circle. Helen is experienced in Sogetau, a school of Japanese design, and is a certified instructor in Flower Show Design.

She created six designs using the Crescent Form and the Hogarth Curve, and introduced the class to the art of using fruits and vegetables in their designs.

The students created their own arrangements using the crescent form, greenery and lemons for an appealing design. Later, these creations were critiqued by Helen.

The next class will be on Feb. 9, and will cover table settings. For information about the three remaining classes, contact Mary MacTavish, 322-5545.

Home from out west

Jo Stankiewicz has returned home after a spending a month with two sons and their families who live in Las Vegas and her sisters in Tucson, Ariz. and Fresno, Calif. From all reports, a good time was had by all.

Joining her in Las Vegas was another son and his wife and their daughters, Steven and Rose Stankiewicz and Kristie and Shannon of Longwood. They visited her son and family, Peter and Kathy and Joshua and Conor, and another son and his wife, Tomohy and Charlotte.

While the family went skiing in Utah, Jo drove a snowmobile for about one and one-half hours, admitting it was a lot of fun but she was a little "scared." Also they went on a moonlight sleigh ride into the snow-covered mountains which Jo described as "beautiful." The trip would not have been complete without visiting different casinos and meeting the challenging one-armed bandits head-on.

In Tucson, she saw the world-famous Rockettes perform

California safe after Sanford visit

Shirley and Ralph Simas have had a "real nice visit" from their daughter, Rita Simas of Manhattan Beach, Calif.

While here, Mother and Daughter played cards in the Orlando Regional Bridge Tournament and as Shirley put it, they did "quite well."

Shirley said while visiting, Rita must have eaten 15 Crystal burgers. It seems the Crystal was the hangout of Rita's day, and she wanted to visit every Crystal they passed.

Incidentally, Rita lives about 20 miles from the earthquake center. She felt the tremors that morning, but drove on to work via a detour. Her home was without power and the only damage was a few fallen pictures from the walls. She described the quake as "weird."

When Shirley finally reached Rita, Rita said her mother had told her more news than she had heard about the tragic disaster. Rita did have a battery-operated radio, but no batteries, a situation which she probably declares will never happen again.

Shirley said she was so relieved to hear that her daughter was safe.

New officer downtown

Something new and attractive has been added to the downtown Sanford scenery. She's veteran Sanford Police Officer Claudia Webber who is now the second SPD officer on duty downtown.

Officer Webber is the former resource officer at Lakeview Middle School. She is very interested in the community, so if you should see her, introduce yourself and find out how personable she is.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Osol
YOUR BIRTHDAY
Jan. 23, 1994

The way to fulfill your ambitions in the year ahead is to emulate our old friend the turtle. Slow, but steady progress will turn out to be the swiftest way to achieve objectives.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You should be able to manage others effectively today, because your directives will make sense and you'll not demand of subordinates what you wouldn't ask of yourself.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your concern for friends today is a noble inclination, but what really impresses others is you'll do your good deeds without calling attention to yourself.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Lately you might not have been overly enthusiastic about ideas for new endeavors, but that could all change today. You may learn about something you'll really want to get your teeth into.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your financial aspects look encouraging today, but in order to profit from them it'll be up to you to do things which will prime the pump and generate a trickle that could become a flow.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Persons with whom you'll be involved today will find you stimulating to be around, because you could be full of fresh and innovative ideas for making life more interesting.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You should do okay today where your independent efforts are concerned, but your most substantial returns are apt to be generated from some type of collective involvement.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Although it might be a departure from what you usually do, there's a possibility you could function today as some type of middleman or agent for a commission.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) In competitive career situations today a victory will not be predicated upon what you know but what you know. If you're better prepared and smarter than the other guy, it's your day.

have much more in common than you may realize at this time regarding a person you've recently met. Today could mark the beginning of a new relationship.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If you feel you can truly help, offer your advice today to a friend who seeks your assessment of a puzzling development. What you have to say could be helpful.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Words and ideas are your best weapons today. Keep as many channels of communication open as possible. The more people you talk to, the better your chances are for finding opportunities.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Little developments could be extremely significant for you today. For example, you might make a series of small material gains that could add up to a substantial total.

YOUR BIRTHDAY
Jan. 24, 1994

Two old friends who drifted out of your life during the past years may reenter it in the year ahead. This time the three of you could cement bonds that'll make you inseparable.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) In an involvement with friends today you may see them doing something wrong in an area where you have expertise. They won't mind if you offer advice and help. Speak up.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) There are several tasks you may have failed to attend to lately, because they weren't on your list of pleasurable things to do. Today you should be in a productive mood to cope with them.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You might have very high expectations today, but this shouldn't be a liability. What you visualize can be attained through practical measures.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

Unless you are materially motivated today, you might not press the pedal to the metal. However, if substantial rewards are reachable, you'll give it your all.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you ask advice from others today, don't listen only to the rosy parts while closing your ears to sound suggestions with serious overtones.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) A situation that's been causing you anxiety might not work out in the negative manner you've been anticipating. Don't worry before the results are in.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) This is a good day to plan a get-together with several old pals you've been neglecting lately. Everyone will be glad to see one another and a good time can be had by all.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Two important objectives can be achieved today, but they won't be handed to you on a silver platter. If you're prepared to earn what you think you deserve, you should like the results.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Try not to put extra pressure on yourself today by brooding serious matters more seriously than they actually are. If they're whittled down to their proper size, they'll be manageable.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) There are some changes you can initiate at this time which could prove beneficial for both you and your family. They might not be easy to implement, but they'll be worth the effort.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You might be called upon today to make a difficult decision that will affect dissenting factions. If it's done impartially, no ill-will will result.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Rewards for work you'll perform in this cycle will be in close proportion to the effort you'll expend. You'll know what's required of you if you expect substantial gains.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder

Most sports have a Hall of Fame, the one for Ladies Professional Golf being probably the most difficult to enter. So far bridge doesn't have a Hall, but one of its stars is a Hall of Famer. Betty Ann Kennedy has been inducted into the Northeast Louisiana Hall of Fame. She lives in Shreveport and has won four world titles: the Women's Pairs, two Venice Cups and the Women's Team Olympiad.

Declarer played well on today's deal, but Betty Ann defended perfectly to give South no chance to make his contract. North's two-spade rebid was game-forcing, in the modern style. South bid out his shape with three clubs. North, with wasted values in diamonds, jumped straight to four spades. West led the diamond jack. Declarer could see 10 tricks: five spades, four hearts and one diamond. But he could also see four potential losers: one diamond and three clubs. Clearly East had the diamond ace, so there was no hurry to establish his diamond trick. South called for dummy's diamond four.

Against a normal East this would work beautifully. He would play low and the contract would become unbeatable. But this wasn't a normal East. From the bidding and play, Betty Ann knew declarer had exactly one diamond. (With a diamond void, he would have covered with dummy's queen.) So she overtook her partner's winning jack with the ace and switched to her own jack. Now declarer couldn't avoid losing the first four tricks. Betty Ann Kennedy is one of the pleasantest people I have ever met.
