Big 3 Proposes World Board Handle Canal

LONDON (AP)—The Western Big Three proposed today that the operation of the Suez Canal be made the responsibility of an international board, including Egypt linked to the United Nations.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, on behalf of the United States, France and Britain, presented a four-point plan for solving the international crisis blown up by Egyptian President Nasser's nationalization of the vital waterway.

Dulles told the 23-nation Suez conference the board proposed by the West would be established by treaty and would provide for operation of the canal in accordance with the 1956 Constantinople convention.

The plan would insure that the board could not be dominated by any single power or group of powers and would open the canal to all powers.

Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov made a bid to broaden the conference to include 84 other nations — including Red China — but agreed to waive procedural objections and expressed willingness to help in a peaceful solution to the dispute.

Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser, who boycotted the conference, kept an eye on the proceedings by sending some of his foreign experts to London as side observers.

The police and formal air in this old capital was in sharp contrast to strikes and demonstrations sweeping the Arab world in protest against the conference.

Shepilov, in criticizing the makeup of the London parley, said: "Cairo should be the real place for a conference on the Suez Canal."

Kennedy To Place Stevenson's Name Before Convention

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai Stevenson announced today that he has asked Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts to place his name before the Democratic National Convention for the presidential nomination this afternoon.

Roger Tubby, press secretary for Stevenson, emphasized "this has nothing to do with the vice presidency."

The press secretary said Stevenson "has long admired Sen. Kennedy."

Tubby said William Blair, Stevenson's assistant, started trying about 1 a. m. CDT today to reach Kennedy and ask him to make the nominating speech.

The senator was reached about 2 o'clock and agreed to do it, Tubby added.

Hall Tells Group Ike Is 'President Of All People'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Leonard Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee, told a mass meeting of San Francisco Young Republicans last night that Dwight D. Eisenhower is the first man in American history who is "a president of all the people."

"When you take a proposal to the President, the first thing he asks is: 'Is that a good thing for 100 million Americans?'" Hall reported.

"This is the first time in our history we have a president who is president of all the American people."

Kiwanians Applaud Pianist

Members of the Sanford Kiwanis Club, in a spontaneous demonstration, rose to their feet and applauded the efforts of young Allyson Lee, 11-year-old concert pianist, who provided the program at their meeting yesterday afternoon.

Her rendition of two classical numbers and two encores, one of a syncopated style and the other of the so-called "boogie" type, elicited enthusiastic applause. Beginning with "La Vespillon" (The Butterfly) by Lavielle Allyson next played her arrangement of three numbers by Lecuona, "Andalucia, Malagueña and Ante El Escorial". Her encores were: "Nola" and "Bumble Boogie."

She was introduced by Charlie Morrison, member of the advertising staff of The Sanford Herald, who has acted as her mentor on the many appearances she has made in recent months. In his introduction, Morrison took occasion to read an editorial appearing recently in another paper which praised the young pianist in glowing terms and concluding with the paragraph, "Sanford is some day going to be mighty proud of this young lady. Sanford is mighty proud of her right now."

Little Miss Lee's next appearance is scheduled for Saturday night at the Mayfair Inn, at 8:15 o'clock when she will be featured in a short recital following the swimming party being held for the members of the Mayfair Inn Country Club and Bath and Tennis Club.

Mrs. Ruby Williams, Assistant Manager of the Inn, extends a cordial invitation to all music lovers to hear Allyson. There will be no admission charge. It is suggested that those planning to attend use the North entrance to the inn; the one facing Lake Monroe.

Three VAH-9 Men Re-Enlist In Navy

Belay or not, Tuesday was re-enlistment day at Heavy Attack Squadron Nine, NAS Sanford. Three VAH-9 men re-enlisted for another six years: Lloyd A. Ricker, Aviation Machinist's Mate First Class, and Graden O. Grooms, Aviation Ordnanceman First Class. Both men were sworn by Lt. W. E. Oldwell, acting in the hurricane-flyaway absence of the squadron's commanding officer, Cdr. W. R. Hazlett.

Also re-enlisted earlier this week was Donald L. Birkmeyer, Aviation Machinist's Mate First Class. Currently serving as senior storekeeper of VAH-9, Birkmeyer is responsible for the procurement and accounting of all aircraft parts, tools and supplies used by the squadron, from pencils and paper clips to propellers and jet engines. He hails from Marshall, Minn., first joined the Navy at Minneapolis in July 1948, and has served aboard the aircraft carriers Wright, Palau, and Cabot. He and Mrs. Birkmeyer have two daughters, Donna Lynne, three and Susan Kaye, two.

Lloyd Ricker is a native of Brook, Ind., where he was employed by the Standard Elevator Co., before entering the Service in December, 1940. He and Mrs. Ricker have two children also, Rebecca, 7, and Ronald, 10. Ricker is presently a third crewman in one of VAH-9's Heavy Attack bombers.

Grooms is another member of the squadron's vital ground team which keeps its aircraft ready for action. He comes from Alton, Mo., and first enlisted at St. Louis in October, 1942.

34 Cars Of Freight Train Are Derailed

BALTIMORE (AP)—Thirty-four cars of a long Baltimore and Ohio freight train plunged off the tracks about five miles east of here early this morning and several cars were set ablaze.

Three firemen suffered minor injuries in fighting the fire.

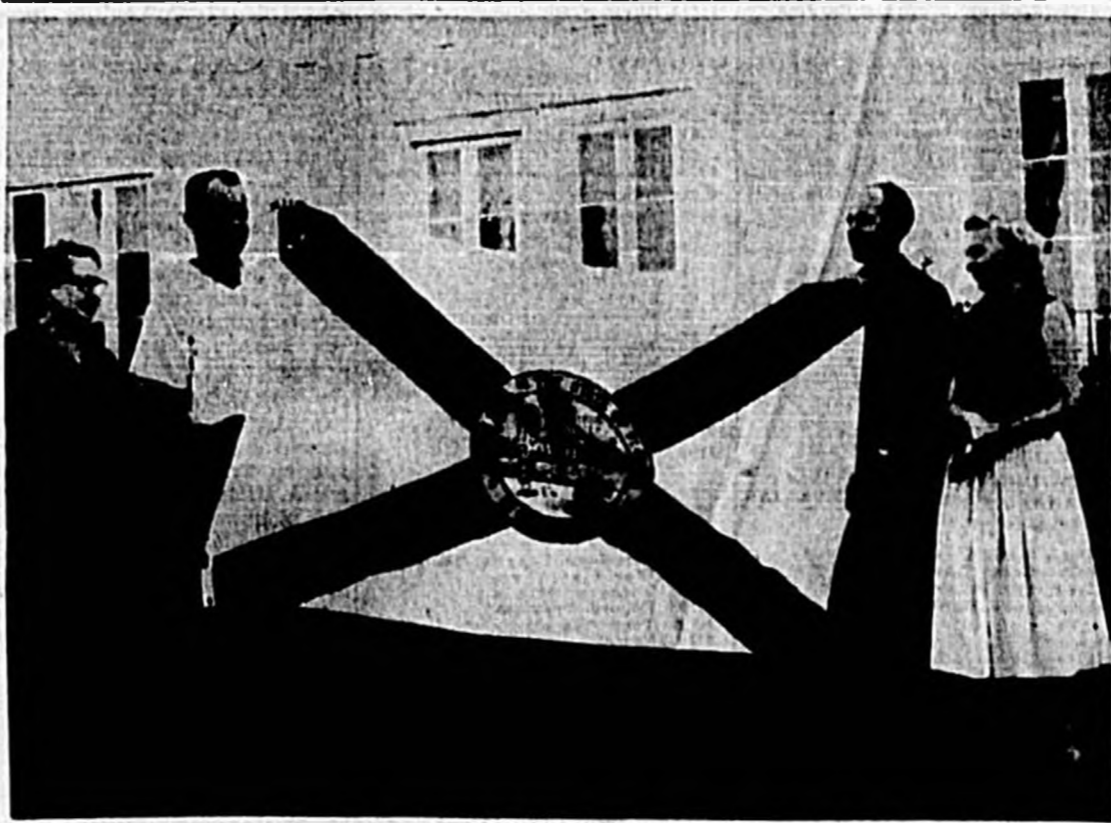

A railroad spokesman said apparently an overheated journal box on a freight car caused the derailment and fire.

The crash ripped up tracks of the main line and broke communications. The spokesman said the road expected to have service restored on the eastbound tracks by 3 p. m. EST and on the westbound tracks by 5 p. m. Trains were being rerouted over Pennsylvania Railroad tracks.

Weather

Partly cloudy through Friday with scattered showers and evening thunderstorms.

Demos Certain Of 1st Ballot Win For Adlai

Red Lodge, Mont. Receives Florida Flag From Sanford

After seeing that in the Festival of Nations, held each year in Red Lodge, Mont., the Florida state flag was not among those displayed, Mrs. F. R. Thomas and Mrs. Lillian Bakka decided to do something about it.

Both are wives of service personnel attached to VAH-11 at the Sanford Naval Air Station. The festival is held each year at Red Lodge and flags of many nations and states are exhibited. "It's a big affair there," said Mrs. Bakka.

After noting that the Montana festival did not have a flag of the United States, the local Chamber of Commerce of which C. W. McKibbin is president, to make the presentation.

The flag has already been air-mailed to Red Lodge to be there in time for the festival which is scheduled from Aug. 18 through Aug. 28.

The flag, by the way, was sent to the Mayor of Red Lodge.

Nicholson Buick Ties For 2nd Place

Enthusiasm and excitement are at a high pitch at the present time at the Nicholson Buick Co. on Magnolia Ave. upon receipt of the news that the local dealership is now in a tie for second place in a sales contest that includes all the Buick dealers in the Jacksonville zone area known as the class three, smaller dealers, comprising Florida, Eastern South Carolina and Eastern Georgia.

Nearly 30 dealers are engaged in this spirited contest, the winner of which will be awarded an all-expense paid trip to Nassau. To the salesman associated with the first place dealership will go many valuable prizes.

"JUST SIGN HERE, SON," says Donald L. Birkmeyer many times a day as he handles the flow of parts requisitions for VAH-9. Birkmeyer re-enlisted for another four years this week, says he'd like to spend all four years in Sanford. (Official Photo, U. S. Navy)

Lutheran Church Will Offer 'Prayer For Day'

Beginning Sunday Aug. 19, the day may be started with a prayer, may be interrupted for a consoling moment of prayer, or ended with a "Prayer For The Day."

The Lutheran Church of the Redeemer will provide a "Prayer For The Day" which may be heard by telephone beginning with the dedication of its new Chapel Building on West 23d Place.

Through the use of Southern Bell Telephone Company's automatic answering service, "Prayer For The Day" brings to Sanford's telephone users an opportunity to hear, each day, a prayer. The prayer is changed daily, providing a prayer to fit each day's particular celebration, hardship, accomplishment, sadness or gain.

Installed in the new Chapel Church Building, the prayer may be heard at any time of the day or night by calling 1828. The telephone user will hear a 28-second prayer to fit each day's activities.

Now in this area, the "Prayer For The Day" is available to everyone merely by calling the number designated.

Rev. Phillip Schlessmann, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, will voice each day's prayer. The service is automatic and the listener will hear only the prayer. If the line is busy the listener has only to call back within a few seconds to hear the recorded "Prayer For The Day."

Many Sanford people will be able to find consolation and help through the use of "The Prayer For The Day" which is constantly available throughout the week and without interruption, according to the congregation of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Missouri Synod.

Everyone is invited to use the service, said officers of the local Lutheran Church.

John Bailey, USN To Attend Officer Candidate School

From AJ third crewman to bombardier-navigator to Officer Candidate School—that's the short story of John Bailey's career in Sanford. Bailey, an Aviation Machinist's Mate First Class with Heavy Attack Squadron Nine, has been selected to attend the Navy's Officer Candidate School at Newport, R. I., under the integration program which makes it possible for qualified enlisted men to earn officers' stripes.

He first came to Sanford in February 1953, flying as an AJ third crewman with the squadron's commanding officer. His interest in the Heavy Attack program led to his selection for bombardier-navigator training in April 1955. After completing the course at NATU, which at that time was located in Norfolk, Va., John returned to VAH-9.

During the squadron's recent deployment he flew as bombardier with Cdr. W. E. Lemna, who was Commanding Officer at that time. Bailey comes from Delaware, Ohio, presently lives at 2515 South Elm Ave. He and Mrs. Bailey have two children. Before coming to Sanford Bailey was stationed at the Naval Air Test Center, Patuxent River, Md.

Mediation Board Tries To Head Off Threatened Strike

MIAMI (AP)—The National Mediation Board moved today to head off a threatened strike by 378 National Airlines pilots, set for midnight Friday.

In identical telegrams, the board asked the pilots to postpone the strike and it offered to mediate the issues in dispute.

James Holaren, a board mediator here on other business, was assigned to contact both sides pending a joint meeting.

The dispute involves a retirement plan, legal liability, whether pilots should take company physical examinations on their own time and at their own expense, and the Capital-NAL interchange agreement.

NAL claims none of these issues is subject to negotiation because the current contract does not expire until next August.

The Air Line Pilots Assn. argues that the interchange and retirement issues were left open and that details of the physical examination issue were to be worked out later. It contends that the legal liability issue is "moral" and has arisen since the contract was signed.

Running Mate Big Question

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago (AP)—The Democrats, safely past the shoals of a possible party-shattering fight over civil rights, sailed happily today into the formalities of naming Adlai Stevenson as their presidential nominee.

Tensions had swept away and left a sayer mood among the delegates who trooped back into this hall to listen to the "man who" speeches and joined in the traditional whoop accompanying the placing of the names of the presidential hopefuls before the convention.

The balloting will come at tonight's session, and nobody doubted for a moment that it would be Stevenson on the first.

In delegation caucuses, a big stretch was on to the 36-year-old former Illinois governor and 1952 nominee.

Decisions in morning meetings fairly shot him soaring high above the winning total, based on The Associated Press poll of delegate preferences.

Six additional votes from North Carolina put him over the top. Kansas had just thrown in 18. Together, the two states gave Stevenson 600—or 2 1/2 more than needed for the nomination.

He climbed within breathing distance of the winning total, based on The Associated Press poll of delegate preferences, in the first report from morning caucuses.

It was Kansas, plopping 18 votes to Stevenson and shooting his total just 2 1/2 short of the 600% needed for nomination.

Still to come were a flock of Southern votes which had been held uncommitted pending action on the civil rights plank. The convention's defeat early today of attempts to force in a "strong" plank cleared the way for the Southerners to take a stand.

But most of the other one-time hopefuls for the nomination were of a mind to let their names be presented to the convention. In some instances, there was the thought of a possible build-up for the future. The opportunity to be praised simultaneously on most of the country's radio and TV stations doesn't come often.

The Tennessee delegation announced that Gov. Frank Clement, who had his day in the spotlight as convention keynote, was withdrawing as a favorite son candidate. The Tennessee delegates delayed action as to where their 22 votes will go until a caucus on the floor.

Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, who made the chief challenge to Stevenson in the week's maneuvering, insisted he was still in serious contention. He fired a telegram to all chairmen of state delegations telling them:

"I have just talked with President Truman. We are determined to fight through to the nomination, tonight regardless of any rumors to the contrary you have heard or may yet hear."

But to the delegates the remaining unanswered big question of the convention was who is to be Stevenson's running mate.

State School Heads Favor Uniform Rule For Handling Law

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—Florida's county school superintendents favor uniform rules for administering the new pupil assignment law designed to preserve segregation.

At a meeting here yesterday, the school heads recommended that county school boards adopt regulations drawn up by the State Department of Education before classes start next month.

The superintendents also recommended that a continuing committee be named to work with a committee from the school board association and the State Department of Education to study the problems and make further recommendations on implementing the program.

The new law calls for county school boards to assign pupils to schools for which they are best suited on the basis of intellectual ability, scholastic proficiency and a number of intangible sociological and psychological factors.

The State Department of Education was requested to make recommendations on testing materials to be used in classifying and reassigning pupils under the law.

State School Supt. Thomas D. Bailey said tests which would stand up in the courts must be standard and nationally recognized.

John Wigginton of Tallahassee, a member of the Fabianist committee which drafted the new assignment law, said it would serve segregated schools for "quite some time" but white and Negro should prepare for possible integration eventually.

Mrs. May Fort Is Named Assistant To SHS Principal

At a special meeting called this morning for the local School Board members, the Fabianist committee report was discussed.

The board will meet in a special session next Friday to adopt rules and regulations for putting this report into effect.

New teachers were also announced and include Mrs. May Fort, a teacher at Seminole High School who was appointed Dean of Girls and assistant to the principal at High School for the ensuing school year.

Sen. Steels was transferred from Lake Monroe School to be a teacher in Junior High School while Mrs. Mary Rogers was transferred as a teacher from the Lyman school to Seminole High School.

Others appointed were Mrs. Alerecia Olinif at South Side, Miss Martha Thompson, Lyman School, and Mrs. Effie Durden to Junior High School.

Fly Infestation Lower; Road Blocks To Be Rearranged

MIAMI (AP)—The aerial spray campaign has reduced the Mediterranean fruit fly infestation of Florida to the point where further rearrangement of road blocks is planned.

The rustblocks will be removed from U. S. 31 at Everglades, on State Road 29 north of Everglades and on State Road 88 near Alva.

The Fort Myers area will be removed from roadblocks because the infestation level has been lowered. A road block on State Road 31 north of the intersection with State Road 78 will be moved across its road. Formerly removing fruit from north-bound cars, it will not confiscate fruit in cars headed for the Fort Myers area.

Because the infestation is still heavy at Punta Gorda, a roadblock will be set up on U.S. 41 south of the town to check traffic headed for Fort Myers.

Aerial spraying was stopped on five miles of the southeast Florida coast. Plans now will spray only some 50,000 acres, including 47,000 in the Miami area and some 3,000 at Fort Lauderdale.

Most American Children Of Today Suffer From Lack Of Leisure Time

Is Junior tired and listless in the morning, unwilling to jump brightly out of bed and off to his play and activities? Is bedtime a nightmare because Susie hasn't finished some task and Junior can't be dragged away from the television set? Are both children short on appetite and king on complaints? Do they never want to do anything around the house?

It could be adolescence of course, but it doesn't necessarily mean they will need a trip to the doctor, round of tonic or even the latest vitamin pill. Several prominent physicians have pointed out recently that American children are suffering from a lack of leisure time.

Like their club-mad parents, too many children of today are hurrying frantically from one activity to another without having the proper time to grow in peace. We have gone so far in trying to "orient" our children to society that we do not allow them time for orientation to themselves.

On Monday it's a scout meeting, Tuesday dancing lessons, Wednesday Junior choir, Thursday piano or band, Friday a dance at the Rec, Saturday art classes or a movie matinee, Sunday a full day of Sunday school, church and other young people's sessions in the evening. Sandwiched in between, in every available moment, come homework, radio, television, school plays, bird movies, picnics. A modern child's daily schedule is so complex it has to be worked out a week in advance and set down in an engagement book so nothing will be overlooked and forgotten.

When does today's child have time to live? Junior ought to have leisure to read something he really wants to read, to build a tree-house, to wander in the woods and along the creek, to putter in his workshop. Susie ought to have a chance to play dolls again, to enjoy a play-house in the yard, to explore the family attic, to look at a flower, to lie in the hammock.

Childhood needs its time to dream and dreaming is crowded out by a regimented schedule.

New Automobile Engine

For years there has been talk of an automobile engine that would burn almost anything, from diesel fuel to peanut oil. Humorists have kicked the idea around for what it is worth in wisecracks. More to the point, engineers have sought to create a power package of this kind to help keep the wheels of America rolling.

Now one of the major motor companies has come up with a working prototype of just such an engine. It runs on high octane gasoline, as conventional autos do. But it also will run on almost any other mineral oil, right down to residual fuels that would be so much sludge in the tank of an ordinary car. Even whale oil and various vegetable oils have operated the engine.

The principle is not new. The idea of a free-piston engine, which operates a turbine with hot gases, has been known for several decades. Even now, development is far from complete. Much work remains to be done before the engine is sufficiently improved to make commercial use feasible.

But the time is coming when such engines, burning a wide variety of simple fuels, will appear on our streets and highways. They offer a long-range promise of cheaper transportation, a promise that the American motorist will be glad to accept.

Too Much Carelessness

There are people who think, when there is a long run of accidents to transportation or in some other field, that the stars have something to do with it—that there is some mysterious cycle of human affairs which affects people's minds in that area. There are other people who believe it's all psychological—one accident sets off a chain because of some inner mental fear. Most people, however, believe "the fault, dear Brutus, is not in our stars, but in ourselves." Whatever be the basic cause, one thing has become plain: There is too much carelessness.

A railway axle burns out. Why? Obviously, it was not greased enough or in time to prevent disaster. Maybe a replacement was needed. A plane hits a hilltop. Something is wrong with the instruments or the man who reads them. A plane mysteriously drops from the sky where all seems safe. Some nut was not screwed tightly enough.

In a ward, something was left undone which should have been done. Human lives had to pay for that omission. Young pilots feel their oats. They do not always know so much as they think they do. They—and the passengers with them—get killed because they were cocky.

The air is still a new field of travel. Much remains to be learned. But such is now known and should be applied. Railroads are old in the ways of trains on tracks. There can be no excuse for carelessness.

There is more travel today than ever before. Holidays in late summer and early winter will add to the number of travelers. It behooves all who have the slightest responsibility for the safety of those who journey to use extra care. Good enough is not good enough.

Most travel is entirely safe. It should all be so.

Washington See-Saw

By WIN FENDLETON

Something big cooking?—Congressman Jim Haley may have uncovered one of the biggest scandals of the year. It has to do with a land grab deal on the Crow Indian Reservation in Montana. Back in 1920, in order to protect the rights of the Indians, the Congress passed a law that restricted the amount of land that any one person could own in that reservation. 1200 acres was the limit.

Grazing was the principal use for this land, and the ceiling was placed on ownership to keep rich cattle barons from taking over the reservation. But that law was neglected and overlooked by many people—and in the 34 years since then, according to Congressman Haley, some folks have literally acquired more land "than the law allows."

Haley, chairman of the Indian Affairs Committee, says that his committee has evidence showing that one group has gained possession of what might add up to 300,000 acres of this land.

About the time that Haley's committee was uncovering this irregularity, a bill was quietly introduced in the Senate which would "validate and confirm" all of the deeds issued since 1920. Haley found out about this bill. Added to what he already knew about the over-purchase of these lands by at least one group, he rose up to kill the bill when it came to the House.

Haley, because of his position in Indian Affairs, had no trouble in killing the bill when it came to the House. "I don't know what our next move is," Haley said, "it looks

Farmers Should Be Alert For Symptoms Of Poisonous Plants

New that many cultivated grasses and plants are dry and food is less plentiful, trouble may develop from livestock eating weeds and plants which are poisonous. The American Federation for Animal Health warned today.

Under normal conditions, says the Foundation, animals will stay away from poisonous plants because they are unpalatable. But when animals are hungry, they will feed on almost anything that is available.

Losses from plant poisoning in livestock are common in many areas of the country, especially in some of the western range states, and the eastern mountain areas, and localities where drought cuts down normal food sources.

Looseweed is the most important trouble maker in this respect in the western and mountain areas. In other sections, deadly nightshade, laurel and water hemlock are dangerous. Larkspur also causes a large number of losses and the lupines likewise can cause trouble.

A large number of plants are deadly because they develop hydrocyanic or prussic acid. Included in this group are wild chokecherry, sorghum, sudan grass, Johnson grass, flax and arrow grass. Some of these plants, when grown under normal conditions, are considered very good food. Only when the normal growth is interrupted by drought, frost or some other cause, do they tend to become poisonous. Foreign crops grown on soils containing a high nitrate content may result in costly cattle and sheep losses under certain adverse conditions of growth, and the symptoms picture is easily confused with prussic acid poisoning.

Farmers should be alert for occasional symptoms of plant poisoning at this time of year and obtain a veterinarian's diagnosis promptly if trouble develops, as lime is the vital factor in such cases, the Foundation says.

Medical Care Takes Big Rise

NEW YORK (AP)—Medical care has taken the biggest rise of any item on the cost of living index. It is one-fourth higher than six years ago.

Labor Dept. Suit Nixes Combination Worker Exemptions

ORLANDO — Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, through Solicitor of Labor Stuart Rothman, has obtained an order in the U. S. Court here prohibiting Southern Fruit Distributors, Inc., of this city, from in the future violating the overtime and record-keeping provisions of the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act.

The judgment, which was consented to by the firm, was based upon an investigation by the Labor Department's Wage and Hour Division. The action involved only nine workers out of approximately 300 employed.

The employees who had not been paid time and one-half their regular rates for hours after 40 in 11 weeks performed work which related in whole or in part to the manufacture of citrus feed or citrus molasses.

The defendant firm had considered these workers to be exempt under both the limited and full overtime exemptions which extend to most of its employees engaged in the packing and canning of fresh fruit.

Combination jobs which caused loss of the exemptions were performed by an electrician doing general repair and maintenance work for the entire plant; employees in the boiler-room which furnished steam for all departments; nightwatchmen who guarded premises including the feed plant and molasses tanks; and a worker who regularly loaded and hauled citrus molasses in addition to performing other activities.

Other jobs affected by the order were performed by employees wholly engaged in the non-exempt operation of making citrus feed or molasses.

One of the employees was paid on the basis of a flat salary without extra overtime during any week, but others received premium pay on the basis of the exemptions, that is, none during the 14-work week period of the full exemption, and with overtime computed after 12 hours a day or 56 hours a week during the 14-week partial exemption period.

The court order has the effect of denying wage-hour exemptions on such combination jobs as well as other work not directly and wholly related to fresh fruit canning or packing.

Blue Cross-Blue Shield plans splitting the bill fairly evenly.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics put medical care now at 122 per cent of the 1947-48 average, compared with 116.3 for the entire Consumer Price Index, also at a record high.

The cost rise hasn't deterred Americans from seeking more medical attention than ever before and accepting newer and costlier treatments almost without question. But the high costs have sparked a rush for insurance protection that is most spectacular.

The Health Insurance Council, a group of eight insurance associations, reports today that benefit payments under voluntary health insurance programs are running one fifth higher this year than last. Total payments under these plans in 1953 for hospital, surgical and other medical expenses, plus loss of income benefits, topped three billion dollars.

Sun Lotions May Have An Unpleasant Reaction

By HERMAN N. BUNNELL, M.D.

YOU can't always blame the sun for your "sunburn." Maybe it's the preparation you use to protect your skin from the sun's rays that causes the trouble.

The preparations themselves are perfectly harmless to your skin. But in the presence of direct sunlight, some of them sometimes cause redness and eruptions of the skin.

There may be several reasons for this. Probably it's a result of having been sunburned and tanned after the first exposure, so you don't burn again the second time. Or possibly after one such burning, you acquire a certain amount of caution.

Maybe, too, as Dr. Bunnell points out, the thickening of the skin after the first exposure serves as additional protection.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
Q. P. I have had pains in my right heel for the past five months. It feels like I am stepping on a nail. What could be causing this?

ANSWER: Your difficulty could be caused by a spur, or extra portion of bone, protruding from the heel bone. Sometimes an inflammation of the ligaments around the heel or arthritis can also be at fault. An X-ray will help reveal the cause.

Expanding Brain Causes Baldness

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Cerebrone comments of a pavement flake:
For years bald men have had to put up with such snickering greetings from their mattress-headed friends as, "Hi, conk!"

The balley—thanks to science—now can give this crushing rejoinder: "Hi yourself, you fathead!"

For the evidence is growing that bald-headed men are, on the whole, more intellectually gifted than the ordinary run of man—something we have suspected ourselves for a long time—and therefore more to be envied than pitied.

The latest beneficiary of the balley is Dr. M. Wharton Young, a professor of anatomy at Howard University.

After 20 years of research Dr. Young has announced that a leading cause of baldness is simply an expanding brain.

It works this way, he says. As you grow older your brain expands. This presses the layer of fat thinner, compresses the blood vessels. They fail to bring enough nourishment to the hair growing cells, and hair falls out.

Simple, isn't it?
This does leave the problem of why more men than women grow bald. Dr. Young has an answer for this, too. He explains that women possess more of the balley layer of fat in most areas of their body, including the scalp.

The more fat a man or woman has in that crucial area between the ears, therefore, the less likely he is to grow bald—particularly if his brain doesn't grow much as he matures.

Dr. Young didn't dwell on what causes our brains to expand as we grow older.

Perhaps he simply wanted to save the feelings of those who say about their thick crop of hair:

But the blunt truth is that, generally speaking, the thing that makes the brain grow is thinking. The cerebrum, or forepart of the brain, where the intellectual capacity centers, is in one way like a muscle. It grows with use.

A happy-go-lucky laborer may wear the same hat size all his life. A lawyer, whose brains earn him his living, is likely to need a larger hat at 50 than he did at 20. He is more likely to be bald also.

The conclusion seems inescapable—at least it does to us baldies—that any man of middle age who meets with a full crop of hair either has ducked his fair share of thinking, or is carrying an extraordinary load of blubber under his thatch.

It remains to be seen whether more hard thinking by women would, so squeeze their fat pads, we'd have a generation of bald-headed women. Over the centuries the girls have ducked the experiment.

Naturally this belated scientific confirmation of the mental superiority of us baldies creates in us a new sense of social responsibility. "We can cause our hair to fall out by halting our brows, year after year, trying to figure out what horse will come in first in the third at Saratoga."

But we must not fritter away our vast growing brainpower on trifles. We must follow the example of Aristotle, and grow grandly bald by thinking grand thoughts.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CURF

BEFORE DR. CONRAD ADENAUER went on his mission to the Kremlin, a confidant reminded him of an old English saying: "An infallible method of conciliating a tiger (or a bear) is to allow oneself to be devoured."

Incidentally, a Mr. Jim Spinning of Rochester insists that it was Dr. Adenauer who invented daylight saving.

Jack also supplies the answer: "The earliest bald headed girl in America!"

A character named Chill White bids up to advise: "If you have had a mind to get married, go ahead and do it. That's all it requires."

between you 'n me

By SANDRA BERG

Comes the time in every writer's life when he has to do something he doesn't like. My something is to say goodbye to all the good folks here because I'm "going north" as the saying goes. I have enjoyed writing and being in on the gossip and parties along with all of you and will now leave the society page after today, in the hands of our capable new society editor, Mrs. Pat Wood. My husband and I are leaving Tuesday for New Kensington, Pa. which, in answer to the question "where is it?" that is arising in your minds, is about 30 miles from Pittsburgh. Again, thanks for the cooperation that I have had from all of you publicity chairmen and keep up the good writing!

Seminole Chapter No. Two of the O.E.S. is getting all excited about the big picnic which is now an annual affair called the Robert Morris Picnic. It is slated to be held Aug. 22 at the Ovidio Swimming pool known as Sweetwater Park. All members and families are invited to join in the fun. The delicious meal, it is told, will be served at 6 sharp.

On the new arrival list... Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Gobel here from Jacksonville. The Gobels are living at 2433 Laurel Ave. and he is a dentist in the Navy. Sanford now has two young movie actors. Richard Hall and Donald Cain have been in several of the scenes in the new picture "End of Man" which the Empire Studios have been taking in Orlando locations. They worked all of last week and some during the night on the slight club "talkies." Richard and Donald won't charge for the autograph yet gals... better get them early. Who knows where this will lead?

After talking to "Cherry" Singletary I'm still excited about her forthcoming marriage to Gerald Ryan (L. J.). She isn't out of those "pink rosy clouds" yet. She has set the wedding date for Nov. 21 and is already in a flurry of excitement over bridesmaids, flowers and parties. "I up. Spread over toast and broil.

just haven't got good sense," she laughed. Well, who expects the bride-to-be "level headed" anyway. "Jerry" is on a cruise now and will probably return in October. Bet those letters he receives are at least 10 pages long and full of wedding plans.

Since the start of Girl Scout Camp most of the gals have been staying over night. Nancy Rountree, Martha Owen, Mrs. C. H. Jones and others have been volunteering to stay over night with them. The gals are having a grand time and even the news of a hurricane coming didn't faze them. Lucky for the storm it didn't hit... .

It's easy to add changes to the old standby, baked beans. Try canned ones emptied into a casserole, topped with sliced luncheon meat, baked in a moderate (375 degrees) oven for 30 minutes, then garnished with onion rings.

Good go-along for tomato juice: Cream soft cheddar cheese (it comes in a roll) with butter and add finely chopped shrimp, onion powder and chili sauce or catch-up. Spread over toast and broil.

Carving Set Is Given Cochrans

LAKE MARY—Tuesday evening the Sunday School of the Lake Mary Community Church sponsored a covered dish supper, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Glen Cochran and their son, David.

The Cochrans have both been "faithful and energetic teachers in the Sunday School" and the affair was in the nature of a farewell party as they are moving to Virginia to make their future home.

The Rev. James M. Thompson, Pastor Emeritus, gave the invocation. After the "bounteous repast" enjoyed by a crowd of members and friends of the congregation, Mrs. J. M. Thompson led the group singing of favorite hymns.

During the evening, Joe Smathers, on behalf of the church, presented the honorees with a carving set.

Use one cup of milk and one cup of heavy cream when you are making up a package of vanilla pudding mix. Serve with a fresh-fruit sauce for company.

Easy supper: pan-fried cube steaks with chilled potato salad and crisp greens.

On The House

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER, AP Real Estate Editor

Running a race with the busiest home builders and the neatest home-makers. They would like to eat us out of house and home. An entomologist, Dr. Harlan R. Shuyler of Kansas City, told us the other day that insects are now causing home damage estimated at four billion dollars a year.

Aside from termites and other bugs that attack the structure of a house, the ordinary flying or crawling whittler that we all battle at this season, is really eating green stuff right out of our wallets.

So if you find a new bug in your home, don't be ashamed of your housekeeping — it happens to everybody — but get a good insecticide and go into action. The bug may be a punkie, a mud dauber, a no-see-um, a fish moth, a bristletail or a boxelder bug.

It's impossible to know all bugs by their family names. There are some 686,000 species, according to the scientists. Man never has eliminated one species. The experts say that one pair of ordinary houseflies, if given perfect conditions, could blanket the earth three feet deep in a few months.

THE BUG PROBLEM has been intensified recently by the widespread building of new homes in outlying areas — on land that had been wild and wooded until the bulldozers came along. Excavation disturbs insect nests and land clearance destroys their food sources. In the three months or so while a house is under construction, workmen eat lunches and the partly framed house stands open over night. So the bugs move in before the happy homeowner.

Even when people move 48 minutes from Broadway or Main Street, they often are surprised to find roaches there ahead of them.

"Roaches not only come in on groceries," says Dr. Shuyler, "but they have been known to arrive on lumber. They are the most common household pest, carriers of disease, contaminants of food and destroyers of books, paper and soiled or starched clothing."

THE DOCTOR seems to know the private lives of all the bugs. He heads the Home Insect Control Bureau, a non-profit, public service organization, dedicated to stirring up action against bugs.

We told him we had carpenter ants in our houses, having found some sawdust on the basement floor.

"Don't worry too much. Your house won't fall down," he said. "Carpenter ants don't really eat wood. They just chisel out enough to build their nest. But you have to get rid of them."

Veterans Corner

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to four questions of interest to former servicemen and their families:

Q. I am going to school under the Korean GI Bill. What procedure must I follow if I want to change my course?
A. You must apply to VA for a change of course. Included in the application should be a report of your progress and conduct from your present school. The application should be sent to the VA Regional Office that handles your records.

Q. If a Korean veteran suffered a mental illness within two years of his discharge from service, would he be admitted to a VA hospital on the same basis as a service-disabled or a non-service-disabled veteran?
A. He could be considered as a veteran with a service-connected condition, and then admitted to the hospital on the same basis as any service-disabled veteran.

Q. Must a Korean veteran be drawing VA disability compensation payments in order to be eligible for vocational rehabilitation training under Public Law 654?
A. The veteran either must be drawing VA disability compensation payments, or must be entitled to such payments. A veteran drawing disability retirement pay instead of compensation may be eligible for training.

J. I plan to buy a farm with a GI loan. Included in a farm house we will be living in. Will this be considered a GI farm loan or a GI home loan, for purposes of VA's guarantee?
A. So long as the property includes a farm house to be occupied as your home, the GI loan will carry the same guarantee as any home loan: 60 percent of the loan, up to a maximum guarantee of $7,500.

Tallahassee Group Organizing Civic Plan For Oldsters

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—A group of Tallahassee oldsters, nearly all distinguished in their fields before they retired, is organizing a program for keeping old people active in civic life.

The plan was outlined to the State Interdepartmental Working Committee on problems of aging by retired Dean R. L. Eymann of the Florida State University school of Education.

Eymann, now president of the newly formed Tallahassee Live Oaks Club which numbers some 30 elderly members, said the group plans to "survey the local and regional scene to see what skills are needed and set up a plan to train oldsters in these skills if they have interest and talent and can fit into the work."

The principal goal of the Live Oaks is to "cause the community to recognize the needs of older people and to make provisions to meet these needs."

If the undertaking works in Tallahassee, the local club will become a model for similar organizations in other cities. It is being given assistance by the retirement section of the State Development Commission which is interested in providing activities for oldsters who come to Florida to live on pensions.

Members of the working committee expressed anxiety over elderly inmates of nursing homes who are without relatives or friends to visit them.

"I believe we could get a lot of these people out of bed if we had someone to push them out," said Dr. L. L. Parks of the State Board of Health.

Agreement came from Mrs. Margaret Jacks of the State Department of Public Welfare who said a "friendly visitor" program would prove helpful. Under this plan, outsiders would go to see inmates of nursing homes, chat with them, encourage them and perhaps take them for drives and the like.

Official Says Open Gas Valve Cause Of Cafe Explosion

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A state official says someone turned on a gas valve late Sunday or sometime Monday, unwittingly dooming 18 persons who died when the Lariat Cafe blew up Monday evening at Monticello, Utah.

Chairman Otto A. Wisley of Utah's State Industrial Commission said a workman who helped change the restaurant over to natural gas Sunday testified he shut off the main valve on top of a propane gas tank. Another witness said he shut off the same valve when he found it open after the blast had leveled the cafe.

What nobody apparently knew, Wisley said, was that the line from the propane tank branched and served a nearby apartment house as well as the cafe.

"Someone from the apartment house may—I'm not saying they did, but they may—have gone over and opened the valve," Wisley said.

He said leaking gas apparently filled the cedar of the restaurant and the open flame in an oven touched it off.

Baker Improving After Accident

Word has been received today at The Herald that M. E. Baker Jr., who was in a serious train accident last week in Kingman, Ariz., is "improving."

Baker's right leg was amputated and he received multiple cuts and bruises on his face and body. His wife, mother and father are at the Mohave Hospital in Kingman with him.

Stumbo Clan Will Operate Toll Road On Pacific Highway

WOLF CREEK, Ore. (AP)—Southern Oregon's Stumbo clan, not in a bargaining mood, made plans Wednesday to operate a toll road 10 1/2 miles long on the busy Pacific Highway.

Robert G. Stumbo, Wolf Creek logger and spokesman for his two brothers and a cousin, was surprised to learn that the Oregon Highway Commission—after two days of file searching—had admitted its mistake. The commission said the contested strip of U.S. Highway 99 had been overlooked in the past and, by golly, Robert, Harry and Allan Stumbo—the brothers—and cousin Clair W. Stumbo do have a lawful claim on the property.

The Highway Commission, not impressed with the toll road idea, is ready to negotiate with the Stumbos and buy the strip.

Stumbo announced at once that his attorney would handle any negotiations.

"I can imagine they are quite embarrassed," he said.

But as for the toll road...

"Well, we'd like to sort of follow that along."

The family began making money and ribbing the state last Sunday when they stretched a rope across their strip and put up a big "private property" sign on a long straightaway, 10 miles north of this small logging community. Traffic was delayed for half an hour and the Stumbos had a start.

The day after the traffic-stopper in nearby Raseburg for perping they applied to the county to operate the disputed strip as a toll road. The application even included a proposed rate schedule for livestock and wheeled vehicles.

Robert Stumbo told a reporter, "The Highway Commission has always pushed the little guy around down here in southern Oregon. . . and it occurred to us that if we're paying taxes on the property we might just as well take it over."

Betsy Is Taking Northeast Course

MIAMI (AP)—The U. S. Weather Bureau issued the following advisory on Hurricane Betsy at 11 a. m. EST:

Hurricane Betsy has continued to accelerate during the past 6 hours and at 11 a. m. EST was centered at Latitude 31.8 north Longitude 73.0 west or about 480 miles east of Savannah, Ga. The hurricane now is moving on a due northeast course at 21 m. p. h. Highest winds over a small area near the center are estimated at 120 m. p. h. and hurricane winds extend outward 85 miles to the northeast and 50 miles to the southwest. Gales extend 200 miles to the northeast and east and 125 miles in other directions.

The hurricane is expected to maintain its northeasterly course with a further moderate acceleration. The center should pass approximately midway between Cape Hatteras and Bermuda around midnight.

TV Fever Soars High At Opening Of Convention

NEW YORK (AP)—Television fever soared high at the opening of the Democratic National Convention when CBS failed to join NBC and ABC in using all of "Pursuit of Happiness."

The 45-minute film was a frankly partisan view of American history through Democratic eyes. In passing up the movie the CBS news staff showed journalistic enterprise, but they failed to bring new information or generate much interest. Lowell Thomas reminisced about bygone conventions with Walter Cronkite. There were cut-in interviews with candidates. Ed Murrow and Eric Sevareid held a small colloquy at a small table.

At any rate, one viewer was as stunned as CBS must have been when National Chairman Paul M. Butler castigated the network for failing to present the entire movie. Did this mean that cameras must be trained on the platform for the duration of the convention for every word of some of the dry speeches to come?

Butler claimed CBS had committed itself to carry the movie and he said he would demand that the network carry it later. CBS President Frank Stanton denied that anyone in the network had made such an agreement. In one viewer's opinion he went to the heart of the matter when he told Butler:

"For more important is the vital issue of freedom of the press which you raise. Those who make the news cannot, in a free society, dictate to broadcasters, as part of the free press, to what extent, where, and how they shall cover the news. Television and radio, in covering the conventions as well as all other news events, are not mere conduits which must carry everything which the news maker demands. On the contrary, we insist most vigorously that we are, and must remain, free to exercise our news judgment. . . . You may disagree with how we exercise our news judgment in this instance. But we, in turn, must retain that basic right which is guaranteed by the Constitution."

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO ALL DOG OWNERS

COMMENCING ON AUG. 27, 1946, THE DOG CATCHER WILL PICK UP AND IMPOUND ALL DOGS FOUND RUNNING AT LARGE WITHOUT A TAG CERTIFYING THEY HAVE BEEN VACCINATED FOR RABIES FOR YEAR 1946. AND WITHOUT A CITY LICENSE TAG FOR YEAR 1946. IF IT IS IMPRACTICAL TO CATCH SUCH DOGS FOR THE PURPOSE OF IMPOUNDMENT, THE DOG CATCHER WILL KILL THEM.

ALL DOGS IMPOUNDED WILL BE DISPOSED OF AFTER TEN DAYS, IF NOT REDEEMED.

Under the provisions of City Ordinance, all dogs are required to be vaccinated against rabies, and a City license tag obtained therefor, not later than May 1st of each year, and the vaccination and license tags worn on their harness or collar.

This requirement is not to produce revenue for the City but to protect the health and welfare of its citizens against the dreadful and infectious disease of rabies, which is spread by dogs, and fatal to humans as well as animals.

Therefore, since a number of dog owners have not complied with the foregoing requirements, it has become necessary for the City to employ a dog catcher to enforce this law.

By order of the City Commission.

Movie Star Never Learns To Dance

By JAMES HADON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—In this rock 'n' roll age it's downright amazing to find a young movie star who is luscious enough to be a "Miss America" finalist but never learned to dance.

Vera Miles, touted as one of the hottest screen personalities in months, never was on a ballroom floor until this week. Even then it took an important movie scene to get her there.

She is playing Betty Compton, second wife of the late Jimmy Walker, in "Beau James."

Bob Hope plays Walker. In one key scene the dapper New York mayor takes Miss Compton dancing in the Central Park Casino while still married to his first wife. At the time, the incident amounted to political suicide for Walker, who had been a favorite among Catholic voters.

Vera said she dreaded the scene for weeks but finally broke the news to director Mel Shavelson, producer Jack Rose and Hope.

When she told them she couldn't dance, they chorused as one: "You're kidding!"

Not in the memory of Paramount studio's oldest timer had such a problem arisen there before. After a hurried conference, choreographer Jack Baker was called in and Vera now knows how to dance.

Asked how such a pretty girl ever escaped dancing, Vera said, "I've just been too busy working all these years. When the kids in my high school class were out dancing, I had to work nights to keep in school."

The onetime "Miss Kansas" of 1944 she placed third at Atlantic City worked as a telephone operator, cafe cashier and waitress during her high school days. RKO signed Vera at the Miss America Pageant and brought her to Hollywood. After no pictures, she was dropped and 20th Century-Fox signed her. No pictures there either. Warners signed her next but put her only in one picture—as an Indian squaw. Soon she was dropped there too. Next she tried television—and started working regularly.

She played a cancer victim on the first Medie show and Director Alfred Hitchcock saw her: "He called me and said he would like to talk to me but he left the next day for France to make a picture with Grace Kelly. I was forgotten again—and discouraged."

Then, almost a year later, Hitchcock changed to see a rerun of the same "Medie" show. This time the famed director did something he has never done with another star—but her under personal contract. She just finished "The Wrong Man" for him opposite Henry Fonda.

Any Hitchcock feminine discovery is sure to be a top star. It

Sanlando Springs To Conduct Charm, Modeling School

Sanlando Springs is planning a modeling and charm school and prospective students are being requested to register at the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce in Sanford between 3:30 and 4 p. m. Saturday.

The school will be free of charge and be conducted over a four month period twice each month on Saturday afternoons starting at 2 p. m., Sept. 8.

The school is designed to train young ladies to serve as models for the Seminole County, Winter Park and Greater Orlando Chambers of Commerce and Sanlando Springs.

Polite, posture, physical education, diet and posing will be emphasized. A course also will be given in make up and hair styles. Although the school will be basic, it is expected to "discover" young ladies who may be qualified for professional modeling.

The first class will be limited to 24 students and those who are not enrolled in the first course will have an opportunity to reapply in the second class which will begin in January.

Naval War College President Dies

NEWPORT, R. I., (AP)—Vice Admiral Lynde D. McCormick, 61, president of the Naval War College since 1954, died today at the Naval Hospital of a heart attack.

One of the Navy's most brilliant fleet commanders, McCormick was commander of the Atlantic Fleet from 1951 until he took over his war college post. He also served as commander-in-chief of the U.S. Atlantic Fleet during those years.

McCormick held the Legion of Merit with two gold stars and many other decorations. Stricken at his quarters here about 3 a. m., Adm. McCormick died at the hospital some four hours later.

He leaves a widow and two sons, Lynde Jr., a Navy commander, and J. Jett, who was severely wounded in Okinawa with the Marines in World War II. His eldest son, Cmdr. Montrose G. McCormick, commanded a submarine in World War II and died in a plane crash in Australia in 1945.

Typhoon Babs Hits Japan's Main Isle

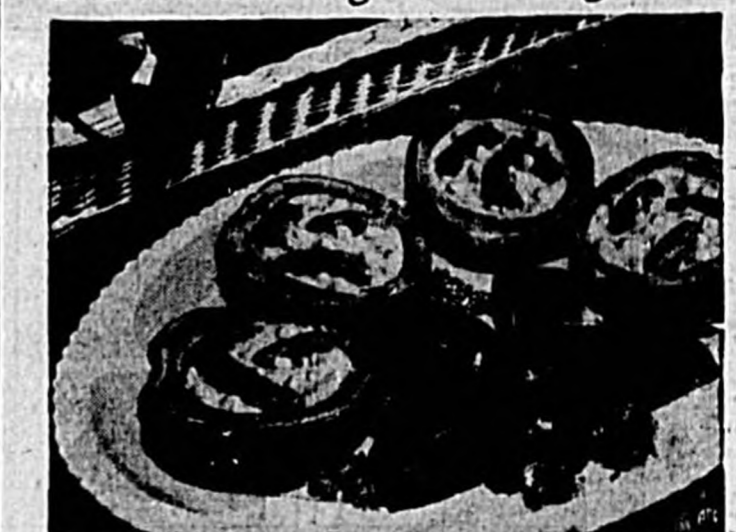

TOKYO (AP)—Typhoon Babs, with winds of 110 miles an hour in its center, struck a glancing blow tonight at Japan's main southern island of Kyushu. No reports of casualties or damage were immediately available.

One U. S. Navy airman was missing in the wake of the storm's fringe on Okinawa to the south.

Four others with him were rescued when their amphibious plane sank.

Predictions that the typhoon would hit Kyushu full force were not borne out. High winds on the fringe were expected to hit the Pusan area in Korea.

The Winner: Vegetable-Sausage Meal

While acorn squashes are on the market, here's a new vegetable-entree for your menu. The acorn squash "cups" hold a generous serving of succulent cream style corn and ready-cooked sausages for an easy meal-in-a-dish.

We like to serve it on a platter with generous wedges of canned cranberry sauce. Add crunchy cole slaw, and for dessert serve chilled canned raspberries over instant pudding. This money saving menu combines the easy and tasty with good nutrition.

Easy Corn In Acorn Squash
3 (or 3) acorn squashes
1/4 teaspoon mace (optional)
1/4 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1 can (16 to 17 oz.) cream style corn
1 can (8 oz.) cocktail sausage

Cut squashes in half and remove seeds. Turn cut side down on a buttered baking pan and bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) until tender. Combine seasonings with corn and fill center of squash halves. Put sausages on top of each. Return to oven about 15 minutes, until heated through. Four to six servings.

W. Germany Rules Communist Party Unconstitutional

KARLSRUHE, Germany (AP)—West Germany today outlawed the Communist party as unconstitutional.

Within minutes after the Federal Supreme Court announced its long-awaited decision, police squads in major cities throughout the country swooped down on party headquarters.

Property was confiscated and the offices padlocked. No arrests were ordered.

Immediately after the ruling was announced by Court President Josef Wintrich, a police cordon was thrown around the court building to prevent any Red demonstration.

The ban does not affect West Berlin since the old German capital is not now a part of the federal republic of West Germany.

The official East German radio in East Berlin immediately issued a call to West German workers to hold mass strikes and protest rallies against the ban.

The broadcast compared the action with similar steps taken by Hitler's government. The radio charged that the decision would make it much harder to bring about reunification of East and West Germany.

Reliable reports said the Reds several months ago completed preparations to go underground in the event the court's ruling went against them.

Lutheran Church Will Be Dedicated Sunday

The Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, in Sanford at the corner of West 25th Place and Oak Ave., just off Highway 17-92 south Sanford, will be dedicated Sunday afternoon at 3:30 p. m.

The Rev. A. H. Besalski, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran Church of Orlando, who conducted the first service for the local Lutheran congregation on May 10, 1953, will preach the dedicatory sermon.

Walter Kimbal, prominent Orlando organizer, will play for the dedicatory service. He will be heard during a 15-minute prelude to the service Sunday afternoon.

The Chapel Church Building, the first of the buildings to be erected here by the Lutheran congregation and is block constructed with laminated wood beams for the interior.

P. M. Campbell, local builder, was contractor for the building that was erected at a cost of $27,400. Church furnishings, organ, kitchen equipment, and other interior needs brought the cost of the church much higher.

The Rev. Phillip Schlessmann, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, will preside at the dedication service Sunday afternoon.

The Congregation of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer has extended an invitation to all local citizens to attend the first service to be held in the new church building.

The building was erected under the guidance of a Building Committee headed by J. C. Jorgensen and assisted by W. H. Knauer and Jerry Senkarik.

Architect for the structure was John Burton III.

Assistance in the construction of the Chapel Church building of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, was through the Florida-Georgia District of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod.

The first service of the local Lutheran Church was held in the Yacht Club Building through the generosity of the Board of Sanford City Commissioners. All Sunday services and special services of the congregation were held at the Yacht Club since May 10, 1953 until Sunday August 12.

Regular services of the church include Sunday School held at 9:15 each Sunday morning with church services following at 10:30. The Ladies Aid of the Church will serve sandwiches and refreshments to those attending the dedication service Sunday afternoon.

Chapel At Elder Springs Growing

Recently Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Wade of Elder Springs gave to the Elder Springs Baptist Chapel one acre of land for use of the chapel which was started by the First Baptist Church about three years ago.

It has now developed into two buildings with 96 enrolled in Sunday School and with a splendid preaching service with Dr. H. H. Martin as the pastor. Dr. Martin is a graduate of William Jewell College in Missouri and of the Central Baptist Theological Seminary in Kansas City.

The chapel has a "very fine" W. M. A. n's Missionary Society which meets on the second Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. and also on Thursdays for visitation.

Recently the chapel held a vacation Bible School with an enrollment of well over 50.

The attendance at all of the services is now growing. It was reported.

Egyptians Object To Plan

LONDON (AP)—French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau proposed today that the Suez Canal be managed by an international authority, but with Egypt acknowledged as the canal's owner.

Egyptian officials, objecting to a Western plan advanced yesterday by Secretary of State Dulles for international control, were dicker behind the scenes with Indians and Russians to block it as the Frenchman expressed his views.

"We consider that there are points on which agreement should be easily reached though they imply sacrifices for some, including ourselves," Pineau told the 22-nation Suez conference. He made these points:

- "1. The canal and its installation should be the property of Egypt, which would assure Egypt adequate revenues from it.
- "2. The Suez Canal Co., should be properly compensated."

As the owner of the canal, Pineau proposed, the Egyptian government should sign a treaty handing its management to an international authority.

He said the authority should make no profits and excess receipts should go to Egypt after provision for compensation of the company.

Secretary of State Dulles, who presented the big three scheme yesterday, only explored the attitude of Asian nations. The latter are sympathetic to Egypt's July 26 nationalization of the canal, but vitally interested in keeping it open to navigation.

Wing Cmdr. All Sabry top political adviser to Egyptian President Nasser, held a three-hour hotel room conference with V. K. Krishna Menon, leader of the Indian delegation. Then he talked with the Russians.

Sabry said Egypt insisted on the right to control the canal. Another Egyptian official said, "the Dulles plan is not acceptable to Egypt," primarily because of the provision for an international control board.

Keeping close tabs on developments, the Egyptians stayed up until dawn studying the plan.

The Egyptians said Dulles spoke in "a moderate tone," but declared Egypt could not go along with any plan to take control of the canal out of her hands. Dulles proposed that Egypt be a member of the control board.

Vice Presidential Hopefuls Scrambling For Support

Kefauver's Chances Look Good

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago (AP)—A great scramble was on today for the Democratic vice presidential nomination, thrown to the "free processes" of the party convention by presidential nominee Adlai Stevenson.

Five hopefuls were opening bidding for support in frantic campaigning that sought to compress into hours the kind of effort normally spread over weeks. They were:

- Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee who appeared to be out in front. Some of his backers were claiming he would have over 700 votes in the first ballot. It takes 688 1/2 to win.
- Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota.
- Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.
- Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee.
- Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City.

On the other hand, Texas' Lyndon Johnson, the Senate Democratic leader, who could easily corral the votes of many Southerners, sought to take himself out of consideration.

He told a news conference: "My name is not going before the convention."

Johnson said he had been up most of the night talking and had received several offers of support. But he declared he had stuck to his original position that he was not interested in the vice presidency.

Despite the claims made by half of the hopefuls, it was plain there were serious areas of contention among the haggard delegates caucusing in down town hotels and filtering back to this area for an afternoon session.

This session was to be given over to picking the man to run with Stevenson against the anticipated GOP ticket of Dwight D. Eisenhower and Richard M. Nixon.

The program calls for a final session of the convention tonight with windup addresses from former President Harry S. Truman and acceptance speeches by the vice presidential and presidential nominees.

Gore was a late starter in the scramble for the No. 2 place on the ticket. He bid came into the open when he showed up at the Pennsylvania delegation's caucus to seek support.

Newsman asked if he were a candidate?

"I just became a candidate now," he replied. "This is the first stop."

The Tennessee delegation called a caucus to throw its weight behind Gore.

The plan was to withdraw Gov. Frank G. Clement from consideration.

Clement, endorsed by his delegation yesterday for the No. 2 spot, is at odds politically with Kefauver.

W. Kemp Proposes Democratic Rally At Seminole Park

Seminole County may become the focal spot of one of the largest Democratic rallies in Central Florida political history.

William H. Kemp, president of Seminole County, Inc., at Castlesberry, disclosed today that he has extended an invitation to Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential standardbearer to appear at a proposed rally to be held at Seminole Park.

Kemp said that telegrams had also been sent to Paul Butler, Democratic National Chairman; James M. Milligan, chairman of the Florida State Democratic Executive Committee; and key delegates attending the convention in Chicago which included Rep. Volie Williams Jr. and Brailley Odham.

"When our Democratic presidential nominee pays his promised visit to Florida, I believe every Democrat in Central Florida should be given opportunity to see, hear and talk with him," Kemp told The Herald. "The facilities we have at Seminole Park are tailored to handling such a vast crowd and it is a privilege to offer the free use of the premises for such an auspicious occasion," he said.

Centrally located as it is, midway between Sanford and Orlando, the raceway is located in the very heart of heavily populated and politically important Central Florida, Kemp pointed out. He said the huge grandstand would provide seating and shelter for close to 4,000 persons and there is unlimited parking space available.

"In this beautiful setting Democrats can pay fitting tribute to their presidential nominee. Attention of the voters of Florida and the nation would be focused upon Seminole County on this occasion. It would go down in political history."

"As president of the corporation which now is engaged in developing one of the finest harness horse training and racing plants in the entire country, I regard it a privilege to extend to my fellow Democrats the use of these premises for what I believe can be one of the most auspicious occasions in the political history of this great and growing section of a great and growing state," Kemp concluded.

Brochure Contains Info On Proposed Building

Members of the Sanford Industrial Board through the cooperation of the local Chamber of Commerce and other interested groups announce that this week it mailed a brochure containing information pertaining to the proposed construction of a new building to house the Sanford Manufacturing Company.

The Sanford Industrial Board has been working on this project for a number of months according to a spokesman for the group and has arrived at the point now where they believe with the cooperation of the interested merchants and other citizens that this plant can be retained in Sanford with approximately $135,000 annual payroll for 70 employees.

In the brochure mailed to many interested citizens by the board it explains the entire financial picture up to the present time.

Another spokesman for the group emphasized in the brochure that the company is investing a substantial amount of money in the construction of the building but that some financial assistance will still be needed from persons wishing to participate.

For details of investing, interested persons, are asked to contact W. H. Stempier, phone 2122, 112 N. Park Ave., vice president of the board.

Lund States GOP May Lose Florida In Nov. Election

DAYTONA BEACH (AP)—Arnold Lund, Republican nominee for the 9th Congressional District seat, says the GOP may lose Florida in the November presidential election unless President Eisenhower comes to the state.

"The long strikes the Republican organizations have made for a two-party system will be lost" if there is no visit, Lund said.

"We have every opportunity of breaking the front of the solid South if we are given the moral support of having the President meet the people of Florida," he said. "We require the impetus that only his appearance can bring about. He is the best campaigner we could possibly get and we need him badly."

4 Persons Killed In Truck-Car Crash

PALMDALE (AP)—A University of Florida coed, her aunt and two men from New Jersey were killed in a truck-car crash near here yesterday.

Deputy Sheriff Floyd Gunn identified the dead as Sally Ledbetter, 21, University of Florida student from Miami; Mrs. J. A. Ward, 42, of Johnson, a small community near Gainesville, an aunt of Miss Ledbetter; Joseph A. Gallo, 26, Weehawken, N. J., and Armando Fiorentini, 25, of Hoboken, N. J.

Gunn said the accident occurred about 10 miles north of Fisheating Creek when the New Jersey car passed at high speed the truck in which the women were riding. The car skidded sideways on the rain slicked highway and swerved into the path of the truck.

Both vehicles burst into flames and it was hours before the victims were identified.

The New Jersey men were returning north after a visit in Miami. Relatives said that less than six weeks ago Mrs. Ward's husband, a grocery store owner, drowned in a lake near Gainesville.
