Dog Track Officials To Do Some Explaining In Court

By BRITT SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

More than 40 dog trainers and officials of Super Seminole Greyhound Park, Casselberry, will find themselves in Circuit Court in Sanford Tuesday and Wednesday talking to investigators about possible administrative irregularities at the track.

Trainers and track officers were subpoenaed by the state Division of Pari-mutuel Wagering and the Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE) following a Friday night check of several dogs which ran in the ninth race at Super Seminole.

Gary Rutledge, Pari-mutuel director, said today persons receiving subpoenas "will be asked to give statements. It's not really a court hearing," Rutledge said. "The courthouse was just a convenient place to talk to these people. No one has been arrested. All we want to do is take their depositions."

Rutledge was evasive when asked about the thrust of the probe, and would say only "no comment" when quizzed about the possibility of race-fixing.

"I can't go into specifics right now," he said. "Sorry."

Rutledge did confirm, however, that FDLE and pari-mutuel investigators arrived at the race track unannounced around 10 p.m. Friday and took blood and urine tests from dogs in the ninth race.

Rutledge this morning would not reveal the results of those tests. Neither would he confirm or deny reports that investigators were looking for dogs which may have been drugged to make them run faster than normal. He also said he was unaware of reports that one of the tested dogs was seriously injured when a veterinarian stuck it with a needle several times trying to find a vein.

Also of concern to the FDLE and the Pari-mutuel division, Rutledge said, was that six of the eight dogs entered in the ninth race had been matched together in three previous starts.

"I'm not saying there's anything improper there," he said. "I don't know that yet. But it is very unusual."

Not really, according to one kennel owner who requested anonymity. "They've been doing the same thing in Daytona Beach and Miami, but the state chose to pick on Seminole. Why, I don't know. It's just a matter of not having enough dogs to run in certain races," the owner said.

Investigators were also concerned that one of the track's mutuel machines, used to punch betting tickets, was stolen earlier this month. "It's unlikely, but there's always the possibility of someone trying to produce or alter a winning ticket," Rutledge said.

Super Seminole officials said they were surprised by the state probe, but would not comment further, saying they felt it would be inappropriate to discuss an ongoing investigation.

Track officials who received subpoenas were: Carroll Toler, general manager; Robert Sandler, veterinarian; Richard O'Dowd, racing secretary; and Jim Haynes, track publicity director.

Subpoenaed dog trainers include Paul Arruda, Paul Petrone, Philip Currid, and William Hope. Track maitre d Ken Reed and at least one other food service worker were also instructed to show up Tuesday to make statements.

It included (above) an outdoor concert by the Light House band sponsored by the Light House youth ministry of the First Assembly of God, Sanford, a "Jesus March" and other events. Getting into the spirit of "The Happening," a citywide youth event, was band member Jeff Gibson of Sanford (left). The day's events included the march from Pinecrest School to the plaza and back to the church, games, and evening concert by "Hope" film and a "Battle of the Stars" athletic competition held at the school between the Sanford police and fire departments (the firefighters won). Approximately 250 young people participated.

County Stands Firm

Cities Eye Tax Suits

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Four cities in Palm Beach County have won a circuit court decision saying double taxation exists there in four specific instances — sheriff's road patrol, sheriff's detective and investigative division, maintenance of and construction of local road system and neighborhood parks.

The decision, which may be a landmark one in the state of Florida, is being "intriguingly studied" by Casselberry City Attorney Kenneth McIntosh. McIntosh said he is preparing a report to be delivered to the Casselberry City Council within the next 30-to-45 days on whether that city should file a lawsuit against Seminole County for charging double taxation.

When city residents are taxed by their county for services which they do not receive or which are already provided by the city within the city territory that is generally considered to be double taxation.

Double taxation is forbidden by Florida's 1968 Constitution.

The city of Sanford is standing by ready to join Casselberry in whatever action it decides to take against the county, Mayor Lee P. Moore said today. Earlier this year, the city of Sanford dropped a lawsuit it had in the courts for several years charging the county with double taxation after none of Seminole's other six cities joined in the fray.

But County Attorney Nikki Clayton, County Administrator Roger Newsender and Sheriff John Polk remained firm today in their opinions that despite the win by cities in Palm Beach County no double taxation exists in Seminole County. The circumstances are not the same here, they said.

Clayton, pointing out that other circuit courts in the state in the past have ruled in favor of cities in double taxation but their decisions have been reversed at the appellate court level.

Palm Beach is appealing the circuit court decision there to an appellate court.

"Our position has been that the sheriff's road patrols drive through cities and their presence is a deterrent to crime. We will wait and see what the appellate court decides," she said.

Representing Palm Beach County in the suit there was Bob Nabors, a Brevard County lawyer. Nabors has also represented Seminole County in double taxation suits in the past.

Newsender said road construction in Seminole is supported totally from gas tax revenues and municipal service taxing district funds and the county has no neighborhood parks it is supporting.

Polk said with all due respect to the court and the judge involved, "the judge is entitled to his opinion. My opinion is that there is no double taxation within the sheriff's department. We work hand in hand with other law enforcement agencies in the county, especially the detective division."

The city of Sanford has received a report from Kelton & Associates of Deland. The firm is one of those specializing in double taxation from the cities' point of view.

Kelton, president of the firm, told City Manager W. E. "Pete" Knowles in a letter that the ruling marks the first time in the history of double taxation litigation that municipalities have been able to present evidence sufficient to prove the sheriff's patrol and investigative services do not provide "real and substantial" benefits to cities.

Previous court decisions have said that a city must prove that a county service does not provide "real and substantial

City To Debate Building Permit Fee Hike

It's costing the general taxpayers of Sanford a minimum of $12.49 for every building permit issued for a single family home containing 1,000 square feet, the city's building official, Gary Winn, will report to the Sanford City Commission today.

In a memo to City Manager W. E. "Pete" Knowles, Winn detailed the costs involved in inspecting all stages of construction for the typical home. He noted that while permit fees charged for the house would be $65, minimum costs for inspections, review of plans, discussions with the builder and costs of other services for the same house would total a minimum of $77.49.

"If the costs are not covered by the permit fee, it means the taxpayers must provide the difference," Winn says in the report. Two weeks ago, Winn suggested to the city commission that the base upon which building permits are calculated be increased from $13 per square foot to a more "realistic" $23. His major argument in favor of the increase at that time was that other cities in the county are using a higher building cost base.

But city commissioners rejected Winn's recommendation, saying they had no intention of approving increased fees just because "everyone else is doing it."

Winn, in the report, said his calculations are on single-family permits only and for an ideal situation where second inspections are not necessary. He said commercial and apartment construction requires even more time and additional cost.

Winn said the city has not increased its base for building permits since 1974.

He said by using $23 as the base for calculating the fees, the builder of a 1,000 square foot house would pay $99. The additional money over the cost in an "ideal situation" would cover the costs of repeat inspections, he said.

Knowles reported earlier the new base for fees would bring the city $28,687 in additional revenues annually. The current year's receipts for building permits are estimated at $69,466. The new base would bring the city about $98,153.

Bathroom Couplings

The tension was as thick as fleas on a dog's back — the courtroom was hushed as the jury, charged with deciding the guilt or innocence of a murder suspect, hung on every word as defense attorney Irving Gussow tried to discredit a key witness' testimony.

There was some contention as to whether a bathroom in a Fern Park motel room where the alleged homicide took place could have accommodated three people as the witness had testified.

Gussow, gripping a lectern and staring coldly at Seminole County sheriff's technical services officer Chad Barton, asked, "Is that bathroom really that big?"

Barton: "I think so, yes."

Gussow: "Could you and I fit comfortably in there?" Barton paused and deadpanned, "I don't think I could be comfortable with you in the same bathroom, counselor."

Gussow turned red. The jury cracked up. The judge snickered. And Barton sat calmly in the witness box, the only outward sign of emotion a wry grin playing at the corners of his mouth.

Despite County Burning Permit, You May Still Need City OK

Lake Mary citizens could unwittingly violate the city's law banning open fires except for land clearing purposes when permits are granted by Fire Chief Jim Orioles.

Councilman Ray Fox told the Lake Mary City Council last week that city residents are contacting the city and receiving burning permits and are apparently unaware they must also request a second permit from the city.

A move by Fox to repeal the city ordinance and lift the ban was abandoned after the issue became controversial at last week's meeting.

Fox told fellow councilmen that the city law is impractical and impossible to enforce. He also said those cited for violations will not be prosecuted by State Attorney Douglas Cheshire Jr. and the city has no means of prosecuting violators itself.

Cheshire has told cities in the county that his assistants must give priority to prosecuting life and death matters and serious crimes.

Fox said city residents often contact the county for a burning permit and receive one. Yet those citizens who do not also seek a permit from the city, are in violation of the city law, he said.

"This leads an unsuspecting citizen into violating city law, Fox said, adding it is difficult for a citizen to understand when one governmental body says, "no" while another says "yes" and a third gives a "positive maybe."

Councilman Vic Olivera, the council's liaison to the police and fire departments, said the council should look again at the possibility of creating a code enforcement board.

Many of the other cities in the county have created code enforcement boards as a means of enforcing city ordinances. The boards have been authorized by the state Legislature.

However, City Attorney Gary Massey has given the opinion that the boards can be successfully challenged in the courts.

Fox dropped the idea after Olivera made his comments.

International Controllers Appeal For Strike Talks

United Press International
Despite veiled threats of sanctions against overseas U.S. flights, the Reagan administration is standing firm in its refusal to reopen talks with 12,000 fired air traffic controllers.

The International Federation of Air Traffic Controllers Associations again asked President Reagan Sunday to resume negotiations with striking controllers the administration has said will not be rehired.

Although the federation ended its two-day emergency meeting in Amsterdam without announcing any other action, individual delegates said the United States could expect reprisals if Reagan rejects their appeal.

Transportation Secretary Drew Lewis immediately reiterated the administration stand that the strikers are fired, their walkout is over and there will be no negotiations.

Iran Executes Eight

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Iran executed eight dissidents and arrested 460 more in a weekend roundup but ousted President Abolhasan Bani-Sadr predicted Ayatollah Khomeini's regime would fall "in a matter of months."

Tehran radio reported Sunday revolutionary firing squads executed eight dissidents, all of whom were found guilty of being "corrupt on Earth." The new executions brought to 556 the number of people executed on political grounds since the June 22 ouster of Bani-Sadr.

The broadcast said five of those executed were "military and active members of the Monafeqeen" — an adjective meaning hypocrites, which the Iranian media uses in reference to the leftist Mojahideen Khalq. It said the other three were members of "minigroups" — a reference to smaller and less active anti-government factions.

Khadafy: Our Jets Fired First

ABU DHABI, United Arab Emirates (UPI) — Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy now says his nation's jets fired first on U.S. F-14s in Wednesday's dogfight but still insists one American jet was shot down over Libyan waters.

Khadafy gave his new version of the dogfight when he arrived in Abu Dhabi Sunday from Ethiopia. At the time of the aerial encounter, the mercurial strongman was in Aden.

Khadafy's scenario, carried by the Times of London and attributed to the Libyan news agency JANA, said two Libyan planes were on "routine reconnaissance patrol" and met a single U.S. F-14 jet, which they warned was violating Libyan air space.

"As it is obviously the basic duty of the patrol planes to protect Libyan territory and skies, the two planes shot down the twin-piloted F-14 United States jet. After this, the two Libyan jets were attacked by a formation of eight American fighters, which took off from the aircraft carrier (USS Nimitz) nearby."

Poles Should Emigrate?

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Faced with the threat of massive rationing of food, coal and electricity, an economic newspaper said Poland should consider letting 300,000 Poles emigrate to the West where they could earn money to send home.

A survey by a Roman Catholic newspaper showed many Poles blame the government for creating the economic chaos, and a government commentator warned Sunday the hardship could last another three or four years.

Sugar, meat, flour, cereals, cigarettes, vodka, powdered milk, washing powder, butter and rice already are rationed or will be by Sept. 1 and the list is to be expanded.

Inmate Joins Hunger Strike

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Another IRA inmate refused breakfast today, joining five others on a hunger strike that has already taken 10 lives. Supporters said they had more than 70 volunteers willing to starve themselves to death.

The Northern Ireland Office said the latest addition to the macabre protest was Bernard Fox, an Irish Republican Army member serving concurrent 12-year terms for the 1977 bombing of a Belfast hotel and possessing explosives.

In joining the five other fasting inmates in refusing breakfast, Fox, 30, took the place of Patrick Quinn whose mother authorized medical treatment on July 31 when he slipped into a coma. Quinn said on Aug. 15 he would not rejoin the fast.

Sanford City Manager's Executive Secretary Mary J. Meyer (right) receives a $50 bonus check from Rosa M. Rotundo, secretary-treasurer for the Sanford Municipal Employees Credit Union. The check was awarded by the Board of Directors of the credit union to the employee whose recent loan placed the credit union over the $1 million mark in loans to its employees. The Employees Credit Union was organized September 17, 1973 and since that time has grown to the point of being able to act as an investment or saving program for the employees as well as an institution of many loan services. The bonus of $50 is the credit union's way of establishing the one million dollar service loan as a plateau.

2 Teen-agers Tortured By Father, Girlfriend

SOUTH HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (UPI) — A man and his live-in girlfriend were jailed today in lieu of $175,000 bail each on charges they tortured the man's two teenage daughters with hammers, coat hangers, broomsticks and cigarettes for about a year.

Police said Richard Lenehan, 42, and his girlfriend, Patricia Alba, 28, tortured his daughters, Veronica, 17, and Dawn, 16, until a police officer living nearby became aware of the beatings.

The girls were reportedly struck with hammers, whipped with coat hangers and beaten with broomsticks. A police spokesman said one girl had a lit cigarette crushed into her face and her sister's hand was held over an open flame of a gas stove.

The girls were removed from their father's home on July 2 after relatives took the girls to the hospital where they were diagnosed as suffering from severe concussions, police said. They were placed in a foster home by Family Court.

Police said the officer's interest triggered a series of investigations by county agencies during the summer that eventually led to the arrest of the couple Saturday.

Lenehan and Ms. Alba were charged with seven counts of assault, one count of reckless endangerment and two counts of endangering the welfare of a child.

The couple, arraigned Sunday in First District Court in Mineola, was jailed pending a hearing Wednesday.

Vandals Damage 12 Cars, Mobile Home In Sanford

By BRITT SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford was hit by something of a crime wave over the weekend. Vandals armed with BB guns shot out the windows of 12 cars, and a mobile home, causing an estimated $2,315 in damage.

Herb Shea, assistant to Police Chief Ben Butler, said a similar rash of shootings occurred "a couple of years ago and we never caught them. We will be out in force this Friday night to see if we can catch the little suckers this time," Shea said.

All of the vandalism occurred late Friday night or early Saturday morning, according to police reports. Many of the victims were retirees, and half of the damaged vehicles were Dodges.

The owners of the damaged cars are: Larry Wynne, 75, of 623 E. 2nd St., 1971 Dodge Polara; Robert Wyche, 73, 700 E. 14th St., 73 Dodge pickup truck; Jean Adams, 70, 609 E. 14th St., 70 Dodge Dart; Lizzie Baker, 64, 1004 Locust Ave., 63 Ford; Mary Hilda Massingale, 47, 228 W. 19th St., '80 Plymouth; Elizabeth Harkness, 35, 913 Oak Ave., '73 Buick; Flora Mae Lovie, 45, 546 Plumosa Drive 78 Lincoln; Arnold Hood, 63, 210 W. 14th St., Ford pickup camper; James Richard Denmark, 28, 1118 Magnolia Ave., '77 Datsun; James DeLong, 60, 111 W. 11th St., Dodge; Shirley Causey, 48, 201 W. 18th St., Dodge mobile home; Kenneth E. ## SANFORD MAN JAILED

A 23-year-old Sanford man was in the Seminole County Jail this morning accused of sodomizing a mentally retarded man.

Frederick Lee Timms, of 1807 Pear Ave., is charged with sexual battery and is being held under $1,500 bond.

CONVENIENCE STORE ROBBED

The Little Town Food Store, U.S. Highway 17-92 in Longwood, was robbed of an unknown amount of cash Saturday morning by two gun-toting bandits. Dorothy Mullett, the 49-year-old clerk, told Seminole County sheriff's deputies that two men in their early 20s, one of whom had a pistol, walked into the store about 7:30 a.m. and demanded money.

After the thieves took an undetermined amount of cash from the register, they fled on foot, deputies said.

RINGS STOLEN

Two gold and diamond rings — valued at $1,400 — were stolen from a Longwood home Friday afternoon.

According to a Seminole County sheriff's report, Priscilla Shively, 46, of 101 Wild Holly in The Springs, Longwood, discovered the rings missing around 3:45 p.m. Friday.

Deputies said there were no signs of forced entry to Shively's home.

HORSES MISSING

Three horses with a total value of $3,500 were either stolen or let loose from an Oviedo pasture over the weekend.

Cynthia Jones, 27, who works for the Orange City Police Department, reported someone opened the gate to her ex-husband's pasture on VanArsdale Drive and removed an Appaloosa, a bay filly and her colt.

TRIAL CONTINUES

Testimony continued in Circuit Court in Sanford this morning in the trial of two young Sanford men charged with a March 11 shooting outside a westside bar.

Columbus Tyrone Shuler, 19, of 54 Lake Monroe Terrace, and Leon Pendleton, 18, of 1015 Hickory Ave., are accused of shooting Timothy "Skip" McIntyre, 22, of 1004 Olive Way, Sanford, near the Deluxe Bar on South-west Road.

According to testimony, McIntyre was shot once in the stomach around midnight after he and some friends had gotten into a verbal battle with Shuler and Pendleton who were reportedly dressed as women.

The argument degenerated into fistcuffs, according to testimony, and one of the defendants pulled a pistol from a purse and began shooting while the other egged him on.

Western Spies Infiltrate Poland, Minister Says

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Western spies, particularly from the United States, are infiltrating Poland in an attempt to bring an end to communist rule, Deputy Interior Minister Wladyslaw Potoga said today.

The charges came one day after a survey in an economic newspaper showed many Poles blame the government for their economic woes. The newspaper also said Poland should consider letting 300,000 Poles emigrate to the West where they could earn money to send home.

"For many months now, espionage penetration of Poland by many foreigners, well-known to us and coming to stay in this country for some time, has been growing considerably," Potoga said in an interview in the Communist Party newspaper Trybuna Ludu.

"The highest activity has been noticed among the American offices. The operations of the main NATO countries are characterized by a tendency to maintain contacts with Solidarity on the same level as with representatives of the state administration."

Potoga said diplomats, reporters, tourists and businessmen were being used to gather intelligence aimed at bringing about the downfall of socialist Poland.

"Only in the last six months, 220,442 foreigners from Western countries stayed in Poland, including some 1,000 newsmen also from capitalist countries," he said.

"Many so-called tourists tried to conduct espionage operations. Even among the newsmen were found some 100 amateurs of the adventure (who) were expelled from our country."

Potoga's remarks demonstrated a growing hard-line by authorities. Solidarity has been the focus of increasing attacks, which have dominated the media.

The army newspaper Zolniers Wolnosci kept up the offensive today with a bitter criticism of Jan Rulawski, a local Solidarity leader.

Rulawski was one of three men beaten by police last March in an incident that nearly led to nationwide strikes.

"(He) is a morbidly ambitious and mentally disturbed man(who) excels in an adventurous policy-making," the army newspaper said in what has become a campaign against Rulawski.

The newspaper said Rulawski was the son of a Nazi officer and tried himself to defect to West Germany.

Meanwhile, a survey by an economic newspaper Sunday showed many Poles, facing the threat of massive rationing of food, coal and electricity, blame the government for creating the economic chaos, and a government commentator warned the hardship could last another three or four years.

benefit" to a city before double taxation can exist.

"Although the (Palm Beach) ruling applies only to the facts as presented in Palm Beach County, the decision does establish a precedent if similar facts and conditions can be demonstrated. It is encouraging news to you and other municipalities who have been patiently awaiting the results," Kelton told Knowles in the letter.

"Additionally, it should help soften the position of some county commissioners and make negotiations toward settlement of the double taxation matter easier," Kelton said.

Sanford and Altamonte Springs officials during public hearings on the Seminole County sheriff's proposed budget for fiscal 1981-82 urged the county commissioners to set up a mechanism whereby costs of additional road patrol officers would be borne entirely by residents of the unincorporated areas.

The majority of the commissioners refused. Only County Commissioner

Barbara Christensen agreed that the residents in the unincorporated areas would benefit totally if "additional road deputies were added to Polk's department. She said with this in mind the residents of the unincorporated areas should pay the cost. She agreed with the city representatives that the city residents receive little if any benefit from sheriff's road patrols.

McIntosh said today he is talking with principals and experts to evaluate double taxation data.

Casselberry To Debate Comprehensive Plan

The Casselberry City Council will debate tonight a comprehensive land-use plan and a contract for service providers for its new planned Senior Citizens Center.

Casselberry's Comprehensive Land Use plan is expected to be passed tonight and go immediately into effect, said city officials.

City Planner Dale MacMahon said the plan will be used to control growth of Casselberry for 20 years.

"It can be updated as needed," MacMahon said. "It will be used as a tool to zone the city."

The plan includes chapters on population, fire control, economics and transportation.

"It will be our development guide," MacMahon said. If approved, the contract for the senior center will be adopted, according to Linda Thomas, acting city clerk.

The center will be used by both the Seminole County Mental Health Center and the Federation of Senior Citizens. By-laws for the center will also be adopted.

The council meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. today in Casselberry City Hall on Lake Triplett Drive.

Housing Survey They're Costly In Frisco, Pittsburgh Most Reasonable

CHICAGO (UPI) — The average cost of buying a home in San Francisco is $133,900 — higher than in any other major U.S. city, the National Association of Realtors reports.

Louis Dombrowski, director of public information, said today housing costs in the San Francisco area soared 106.3 percent between 1978 and 1981 because of limited construction and increasing demand.

The realtors' group compared housing costs in 15 major metropolitan areas.

While San Francisco was the most expensive, Pittsburgh — where the average price of a home is $59,000 — was ranked the most reasonable.

"San Francisco is a desirable location," Dombrowski said. "The citizens in the area have decided on limited growth policies. Limiting supply and maintaining demand — prices have to go higher."

In San Francisco, the average monthly payment for principal and interest was $1,403.

Dombrowski said prices in Pittsburgh remained relatively stable during the period, possibly because residents made no effort to limit growth.

Los Angeles was the second most expensive, followed by Washington, Houston, New York, Minneapolis, Milwaukee, Chicago, Atlanta, Baltimore, Boston, Philadelphia, Detroit and St. Louis.

In Los Angeles, where homes sold for an average $130,100, the average payment per month was $1,234, an increase of 78.6 percent over 1978.

Homes in the Washington, D.C., area sold for an average $100,900 in 1981, with average monthly payments of $1,048, an increase of 72.1 percent over 1978.

The average price of a home in Houston was $86,000, with monthly payments of $974, an increase of 105.3 percent over 1978.

In New York, the average price of a home was $83,600, with monthly payments of $976, an increase of 93.9 percent.

Minneapolis reported $82,300 as the average price of a home with an $830 monthly payment, an increase of 81.9 percent.

Houses in Milwaukee cost an average $78,200, with $818 monthly payments, an increase of 99.3 percent over 1978.

Chicago homes averaged $77,300, with $812 month payments, an increase of 89.9 percent over 1978.

In Atlanta, houses cost an average of $75,900, with monthly payments of $767, an 88 percent increase over 1978.

The average price of a home in Baltimore was $72,100, with an average monthly payment of $718, a 74.8 percent increase.

12-Year-Old Girl Held Prisoner In Attic 57 Days

DALLAS, Texas (UPI) — A 12-year-old girl says she was kidnapped by her brother-in-law, secretly imprisoned in his attic for 57 days and sexually assaulted every day.

Police said the girl had lost 20 pounds during her ordeal and was dressed in the same dirty nightgown she wore June 26 when she disappeared from the porch of her father's house.

"When I saw her come down from the attic, I could hardly believe it. I almost cried," said Rodgers Taylor, a family friend who witnessed the child's release Saturday. She was back home with her mother today.

Her brother-in-law, Charles Grayson, 21, a construction worker, was charged Sunday night with aggravated rape. Bond was denied because Grayson was already serving a five-year probation sentence for accidentally shooting the girl two years ago during a family feud.

Police found the girl when they responded to a report of false imprisonment and found Grayson's wife, Gloria, 18, locked inside the house by burglar bars she had no key to open.

Mrs. Grayson told police she had been a virtual prisoner since last Tuesday when she returned home from being hospitalized since June for pregnancy complications. Since then, she said, she had heard scratching sounds coming from the attic.

The 12-year-old was found in the attic a short time later.

Youth Division investigator Floyd Perry said the girl emerged from the attic "traumatized, in shock."

"She's very thin and very weak," Perry said. "She was reluctant to come out of the attic, even with the officer there."

The girl told police Grayson sexually assaulted her each of 57 days she was held prisoner in the attic and released her just once a day to use the bathroom. Since Tuesday, she said, she had eaten only a bologna sandwich.

The girl told police that another man also had attacked her, but police said they had no other suspects yet in the assaults.

"We're still checking this out very carefully," Sgt. William Huffman said. "Her stories and his (Grayson's) stories don't match and seem to have a lot of holes."

Huffman said there was a "long-running" family feud. The girl was accidentally wounded during a family argument in which Grayson was shot at by a relative and returned fire.

The girl, who lives with her mother, said she was awakened on June 26 about 3 a.m. by a strange man who crawled into her bedroom through her window and went into the bathroom. She told police she was frightened so she crawled out through the window and went to her father's house.

While waiting on her father's porch for him to come home, she said she was abducted.

The girl's mother filed a missing person report on June 29. The report said the girl had called home that day, saying an unknown woman had taken her to a nearby town to work as a babysitter.

ERA Betty Ford Leads March

By United Press International

Former First Lady Betty Ford led celebrities urging ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment and about 8,000 supporters in a noisy parade to drum up support of ERA ratification before a June 30 deadline.

The parade in Los Angeles was the nation's largest ERA rally this weekend — one of about 250 events held across the country as ERA supporters tried to raise funds and support for passage of the amendment. Three more states must ratify the ERA before next June's deadline.

"Our time has come, I feel it in my bones," Mrs. Ford told the crowd gathered at Rancho Park Saturday. "We have stood shoulder to shoulder — working, sharing and sacrificing as they have."

"Now we must have equal protection by the Constitution of the United States."

Her sentiments were echoed by Mayor Jane Byrne of Chicago, who told a rally Sunday that men and women must recognize their fundamental equality.

"I think the time has come for men and women to say let's not put on the sham. We are equal," the mayor told ERA supporters gathered for a National Organization for Women walk-a-thon.

"What happened to me at the age of 22 — widowed with a child to raise — was not protection," she said at Gill Park, where ERA supporters gathered before the walk.

So far only 35 of the 38 states needed have accepted the amendment. If Illinois is to join the states that have ratified the measure, supporters will need to muster a three-fifths vote in the Illinois General Assembly.

ERA foe Phyllis Schlafly, in an interview, called the Chicago march and others like it around the country "media events," which will do nothing to boost support for the amendment.

"We think the ERAers do not have the votes to pass ERA," Mrs. Schlafly said.

Among participants in the parade sponsored by the National Organization for Women in Los Angeles were Maureen Reagan, the president's older daughter, Steve Allen, Jane Meadows, Ed Asner, Henry Winkler, Linda Kelsey, Lynn Redgrave and Linda Lavin.

Talks Begin On Regional Nuclear Waste Burial Site

By United Press International

Barnwell, S.C. may become the first regional, low-level nuclear waste burial site if negotiations among nine Southern states including Virginia are successful.

A spokesman for S.C. Gov. Dick Riley said Barnwell would be willing to accept the waste for 10 to 15 years if there was such an agreement. That means Virginia could postpone the need for an in-state disposal site for at least that long.

The states already dispose waste at Barnwell but authorities want to form an official interstate confederation and commission to oversee nuclear waste disposal.

After that, Virginia "has a one-in-eight chance of getting targeted" as the next disposal site, said Susan Dull, executive director of the state Solid Waste Commission.

Meetings were to begin in Atlanta today among representatives of the nine states.

McKinney said Barnwell "in all likelihood" would be chosen the first regional disposal site.

The negotiations among Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Florida, Alabama, Tennessee and Kentucky began last winter, after Congress made states responsible for disposing of low-level wastes. Representatives have met six times so far.

In 1979, South Carolina began limiting the amount of out-of-state wastes it accepted. That prompted Virginia to consider building its own waste disposal site.

But South Carolina could reconsider its policy if an agreement is reached, McKinney said.

Principled Position

The Reagan administration is showing considerable skill and commendable resolve in coping with the efforts of foreign air traffic controllers to disrupt trans-Atlantic service.

First, the administration refused to flinch when Canadian controllers sought to support their fired American counterparts by denying service to flights across the North Atlantic. The Canadian government, bolstered no doubt by Washington's grit, prodded its controllers back to work and North Atlantic flight schedules quickly returned to normal.

Then, Portuguese controllers responsible for handling flights over the Atlantic's southern route called a 48-hour boycott of flights to and from the United States. The Federal Aviation Administration foiled the threat by shifting southern flights farther north.

The message Washington is sending is that it won't be bullied or intimidated by foreigners meddling in what is clearly internal dispute between a federal agency and those of its former employees who chose to violate the law and their oath of employment.

Beyond this abundantly justified defense of American sovereignty, the Reagan administration is serving further notice that it won't retreat one inch from its conviction that the skies belong to the public, and not to the air controllers.

Let there be any doubt about where the public itself stands, a Newsweek magazine poll recently reported more than 2-1 support for President Reagan's actions in the air controller strike.

All of this seems to be having a sobering effect on the International Federation of Air Traffic Controllers Associations, an organization representing the air controllers of 61 nations. The federation actively discouraged the Portuguese boycott and appears to be counseling moderation to its members.

And well it might. The Chicago Convention and other international air agreements obligate nations to provide air controller services. And now that the Reagan administration has demonstrated that it is possible to assert authority over controllers who put their own interests ahead of those of the public, other governments should find it less difficult to do the same.

Meanwhile, the FAA's effort to rebuild this country's air controller system seems to be proceeding on schedule. The contingencies for coping with a mass walkout by controllers are keeping a full 75 percent of all flights in operation, and with no apparent decline in safety.

Indeed, it appears that the controllers' strike is hastening a long overdue reorganization, and modernization, of the FAA's air traffic machinery. The very fact that three-quarters of all flight schedules can be maintained despite the loss of 12,000 controllers is persuasive proof that the system was overstuffed.

Further automation and far more efficient management by the FAA could eventually give the nation an air traffic control system markedly superior to the one operating before the strike.

We also think that FAA director J. Lynn Helms and Transportation Secretary Drew Lewis would be wise to re-evaluate a management style of years past that inadvertently encouraged some of the militancy that has been evident among air controllers. Otherwise, even a revamped FAA might find itself confronted with a new generation of militants six or eight years hence.

The key to these improvements, and to the maintenance of discipline among air controllers here and abroad, will continue to rest with the firm, principled positions taken by the Reagan administration in recent weeks.

"If they actually DO reduce the marriage penalty on couples with two incomes, will you marry me?"

By DONNA ESTES

State Sen. John Vogt, D-Cocoa Beach, has been given the Florida Engineering Society's "first annual legislative effectiveness award."

Vogt, whose senatorial district includes Seminole County, is an engineer by profession and vice president of Stottler, Stagg and Associates of Cape Canaveral.

Vogt was recognized primarily for the key role he played in the passage of an omnibus regulatory reform measure. One section of importance to engineers provides for disciplinary action against licensed engineers practicing outside of their specialty or sealing plans that were not prepared by them or under their direct supervision.

This provision was added to the law to strengthen protections against preparation of engineering work by unqualified personnel. The act also brings engineering into line with other professions by making an engineering degree a prerequisite to licensure, although it provides a "grandfather" clause for some non-degree engineers who seek licensure within a specified time period.

It does indeed cost the Sanford Housing Authority $2,508.84 monthly to maintain and operate an office at the Sanford City Hall. But most of that sum has nothing to do with rental costs as such.

Although Linda Williams, interim director of the SHA, at its recent meeting said the "monthly expenses for rental of city hall office space" totaled $2,508.85, that figure includes not only rent and utility expenses, but other expenses as well that have nothing whatever to do with the city.

The authority pays the city a monthly rental fee of $1,237.70 per month. In addition since the authority asked the city to provide utilities to the office as well, it reimburses the city for those utilities at the rate of $398.13 monthly.

The balance of the expenses at the office, all of which have nothing to do with the city, include the following: postal $43.50; water $18.43; photocopying usage $174.21 and photo-copy purchase $87.93; janitorial services $100; telephone service $348.55 and telephone tolls $102.37.

The Housing Authority plans to move its offices out of city hall to save money. The actual amount they will save is about $1,237.71 monthly, the cost of renting the space. It will still have to pay costs for utilities and the other expenses listed earlier totaling nearly $1,300.

Gene and Joan McDonald of Lake Mary celebrated their 29th wedding anniversary this past Friday. McDonald is currently completing his first two-year term on the city council.

"My wife is very tolerant," McDonald says of his bride. A physician for an Orlando firm, McDonald has to spend a good deal of time on out-of-town trips for the company.

Politics On The Mind...

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. — Politics was much on the minds of the 27 Democratic governors who gathered here recently for the annual meeting of the National Governors' Association. No fewer than 22 of them must retire or run for re-election in 1982. The state of the party and the political climate of the nation are critical issues to these politicians.

The Democratic governors want to play a bigger role in shaping their party than they have been permitted in the recent past. Democratic National Chairman Charles Manatt promised to help them — and their state parties — to do so during his meeting here with the Democratic Governors' Conference. Manatt told them that any 1984 Democratic comeback would have to be based upon a strong effort by the state parties.

In the face of President Reagan's victories in Congress and his popularity with the voters, however, there is great confusion within the Democratic Party over how to go about opposing the Republicans. This confusion was much in evidence among the Democratic governors.

California's Jerry Brown, the newly elected chairman of the Democratic Governors' Conference, was one of the few in attendance who were willing to come out swinging against the Reagan administration. Brown declared that the president was riding a wave of "temporary euphoria" that would last only until the budget deficits started to mount.

Brown's role at this meeting was interesting in light of his past performances. Brown has usually either skipped the annual gathering altogether or arrived on the last day to have his picture taken and to hold a news conference. Only when he was running for president did he seem to take much interest in what his fellow governors were doing.

But for the past two years Brown has worked very hard on NGA business both at the summer meetings and during the year. He campaigned hard to be elected chairman of the Democratic governors. And he is expected to try to establish a major role for himself as a representative of the governors in the rebuilding of the party.

However, Brown's call for the party to meet Reagan head-on hardly echoed by his fellow Democratic governors. Most of them seemed to adopt a wait-and-see attitude. For example, Richard Riley of South Carolina said that "the old liberal approach is gone in this era" — but admitted that he did not know what might replace it or how the party might fit into the new scheme of things.

Some possible presidential candidates paid their respects to the Democratic governors. Former Vice President Walter Mondale gave a brief speech at a fund raiser and shook a few hands but — surprisingly, considering that he is probably the front-runner for the 1984 nomination — was not particularly well-received. To many observers, Mondale did not seem to have his heart in it.

Ohio Sen. John Glenn, another potential presidential contender, gave a speech urging the governors to "organize, computerize and do whatever is necessary to bring the party back in 1984."

Mideast Terror Affects Haig, Courts

WASHINGTON — The deep, age-old enmity between Jews and Arabs in the Middle East has spilled over into the United States court system and threatens to put Secretary of State Alexander Haig in an embarrassing no-win situation.

The diplomatic dilemma involves Ziad Abu Eain, a 23-year-old Palestinian whom the Israelis suspect of planting a bomb that killed two young boys and wounded 36 others in Tiberias, Israel, on May 14, 1979. Abu Eain arrived in Chicago a month later on a visit to his sister. It was there that the FBI arrested him three months later at the request of Israeli authorities. He has been in jail ever since, fighting extradition to Israel for trial.

Abu Eain's court battle — so far unsuccessful — has centered on two legal points: 1) He is innocent, and 2) the bombing was a political crime, and therefore not subject to extradition. His appeal has now reached the Supreme Court and the justices will decide whether to hear it in the fall session.

What puts Haig on the spot is that the case has become a cause celebre among both Arabs and Jews here and abroad. Even if the Supreme Court rules that Abu Eain can legally be extradited, Haig can decide to

Example Of Time Wars?

OCEAN GROVE, N.J. — I decided to take a few days off from the book I am finishing on the 1950s and relax at the shore.

Years ago, when I was a child, my grandparents used to take me to Ocean Grove for a couple of weeks in the summer, and so, out of curiosity I headed down to this unusual town on the Jersey shore.

As I drove through the gate of the town — yes, it has a gate — I felt as if I were stepping back into the 19th century.

Time has stood still here. I checked into a three-story white wooden hotel. It had a front porch for every floor, three porches, overlooking the boardwalk and the Atlantic Ocean.

Elderly people were active in rocking chairs on the porches. My hotel was typical of the old-fashioned places all along the beachfront.

One reason Ocean Grove has changed so little is that it is bone dry. You can bring in your own alcohol if you want to, but there are no bars, even in the hotels, and no nightclubs.

Ocean Grove was religious in its origins, founded by Methodists, and the Methodist spirit is still powerful here.

A huge wooden auditorium stands in the center of the town, a few blocks from the beach. On its facade is a large electrical cross. Methodists come from all over the country to attend religious services and listen to a famous religious choir.

I think it must be the absence of liquor and entertainment that have inhibited much commercial development here, and kept the town from changing much. It is also a very quiet place.

When I was a child, they closed the gates of the town and did not admit automobiles. Driving on the Sabbath was forbidden. I wondered if that was still true.

In those days it was forbidden to appear in a bathing suit anywhere but on the beach.

Ocean Grove has relaxed a bit. Now you can walk on the boardwalk in a bathing suit, even cross the street to a beachfront hotel. But you cannot go any further into town that way.

I remember that there used to be chairs on the boardwalk, made of wicker and with large wheels and canopy. They were pushed at a languid pace by black men in white jackets. My grandpa used to ride along the boardwalk in the evening. Today those chairs have disappeared.

I remember my grandfather, Albert, in his wide-brimmed Panama hat. He was allergic to the sun, and never went on the beach. My grandmother, Bertha, was a beach fanatic — as I am — and she stayed on the beach from early morning through late afternoon. Albert died of a heart-attack during the '40s. She became unbalanced and died in a lunatic asylum.

This year, after my first day on the beach, I walked up the boardwalk to the amusement park in Asbury Park. Except for the swan boats on the lagoon, all the rides I remember were still here, including the huge Ferris wheel.

It was night, and it was fun to ride the Ferris wheel and look out over the lights of the amusement park, and along the boardwalk, with the dark ocean beyond. Fireworks were going off down the beach, star-rockets exploding over the sea.

I remembered the night long ago when I had seen the glow in the sky to the west, a curious false sunset. The German seppelin Hindenburg was burning.

I remembered the serious sunburn I had absorbed, the day before the Germans invaded Russia.

Ocean Grove is a survival out of the American past, and it was very much a part of my own past. I am glad that it hasn't changed all that much.

Duping Of The Governors

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (NEA) — Fifty of the country's most sophisticated professional politicians are belatedly discovering that they allowed themselves to be duped into endorsing a scheme that could lead to their humiliation or defeat.

The hapless victims are the nation's governors, who were eulged by President Reagan into accepting responsibility for administering scores of governmental programs without adequate funding to perform the task.

As a result, when the annual meeting of the National Governors' Association was held here recently, most of its members were in a state of barely controlled panic.

The governors had given their blessing to the president's plan to reorganize federal grant-in-aid payments to the states for operation of various social-service programs.

In theory, many of the categorical grants that fund such programs were to be consolidated into block grants that could be administered efficiently by the states without being burdened by meddling from Washington bureaucrats or unreasonable demands imposed by restrictive federal regulations.

In return for that "flexibility" — the one-word rallying cry of the governor, for the past six months — the state officials were willing to sacrifice 10 percent of the federal financial support earmarked for those programs.

When the legislation was finally approved by Congress and signed into law by the president, however, only 37 of the 492 categorical grants were combined into nine block grants covering about $7.5 billion worth of federal expenditures.

Instead of a 10 percent cut, the reduction in the federal funding level is estimated by NGA staff analysts to range from 25 percent to 40 percent with even deeper cuts likely in future years.

Georgia Gov. George Busbee, a Democrat who was NGA chairman for the past year, warns that if "all of those programs are going to be dumped on the states... that's bad news."

California Gov. Edmund G. "Jerry" Brown Jr., also a Democrat, bluntly criticized the Reagan initiative as "a shell game."

Instead of flexibility, the governors got a new law that imposes intricate paperwork requirements and elaborate bureaucratic supervision distastefully similar to that required under earlier statutes.

In addition, the second half of the president's economic program, the tax-reduction package to which the governors paid little attention, could produce a revenue loss for the states amounting to as much as $2.3 billion next year.

Finally, the governors now are beleaguered by complaints from mayors, county commissioners and other municipal officials fearful that the financial aid they receive from the states will fall far short of previous Washington funding levels.

"There is great tension — destructive tension... and hostility" between local and state officials, the governors were told here by Indianapolis Mayor William H. Hudnut III, a Republican.

and a store employee, Shaker Al-Shaker Samour, said he worked with Ziad all day. Several employees of the family's kitchenware factory said they telephoned Abu Eain several times during the day with questions about orders.

Adding to the persuasiveness of the witnesses' testimony is the fact that Mahmood Abu Eain's wife had a baby that day, May 14. She told my reporter that she telephoned Ziad at the store about 1 p.m. to tell him she needed to go to the hospital. The baby boy was born about two hours later — at almost the same time the terrorist bomb exploded 120 miles away in Tiberias. Several residents of Ramallah swore to my reporter that they stopped by the family store during the afternoon to congratulate Abu Eain on the birth of his nephew.

The Israelis' main evidence against Abu Eain is a statement made by Jamil Yasin, a since-convicted PLO terrorist. He told Israeli interrogators he gave Abu Eain a pipe bomb in Ramallah at 9 a.m. on May 14, and that it was set to go off at 2:30 p.m.

But Yasin's confession was written in Hebrew, a language he does not understand, and — more importantly — he recanted it after Abu Eain was arrested. He said he implicated Abu Eain only because he knew he was in the United States and thought he was beyond the reach of Israeli authorities.

Abu Eain's supporters claim he can't get a fair trial in Israel. In fact, former Sen. James Abourezk questions whether he got a fair hearing in this country. Abourezk, now a Washington lawyer, points out that the U.S. Court of Appeals, in its opinion rejecting Abu Eain's arguments, cited a law review article on the case eight times — without mentioning that the article's author, Steve Lubet, had been an adviser to the Israeli government throughout the original extradition hearing. "That's just unfair and unheard-of," Abourezk said.

The respected human rights organization, Amnesty International, has criticized Israel in the past for its repressive administration of justice in the occupied territories. One of its major complaints was "frequent reliance in security cases on uncorroborated confessions as the effective basis for conviction."

However, Abu Eain's appeal is decided, it will mean trouble for the United States in the Middle East.

NATION IN BRIEF

Woman Accuses The Pill Of Causing Her Paralysis

STERLING HEIGHTS, Mich. (UPI) — A woman who took birth control pills for five months says the oral contraceptive was at least partially responsible for her paralysis from the waist down.

Susan L. Odgers, a suburban Detroit woman who calls herself "a member of the expendable body count," said her case is extreme. But she claims there is no doubt the Pill was at least a contributing factor in her paralysis.

"Doctors call me a freak case, even though it's estimated that one in every 2,000 women taking the Pill suffers a blood clotting disorder severe enough for hospitalization," she said from a wheelchair at her apartment.

"How many freak cases do they need?" Ms. Odgers began taking the Pill in 1975. She awoke one morning with painful spasms in her legs and stabbing pains in her abdomen. She was rushed to a hospital. She has not been able to move her legs since.

Physicians said the paralysis stems from a blood clot that lodged in an artery. The Pill was at least partly to blame for the clot's formation, doctors testified at a trial in federal court in Detroit.

In July 1980, a jury awarded the woman a $3.8 million settlement in the case against Ortho Pharmaceutical Corp. of Raritan, N.J. manufacturer of the contraceptive she had been taking.

However, no money has reached the woman. The federal judge in the case decided he may have erred in instructing the jury and has ordered a new trial.

Medfly Still Spreading

By United Press International
California agriculture officials, frustrated by discovery of more Mediterranean fruit flies, are blaming motorists for helping spread the pest by taking fruit out of the 2,700-square-mile quarantine area. The state's $5.5 million bell pepper crop is in immediate danger.

Four fertile Medflies and a larva were found during the weekend, forcing the aerial pesticide spraying program to be expanded to a sixth California county.

In Florida today, helicopters were to douse malathion over the remaining areas of Tampa where five dead Mediterranean fruit flies were discovered earlier this month. And Texas, trying to keep the Medfly out, awaited a federal judge's ruling to strengthen restrictions on California produce.

Although California produce trucks are being stopped at Texas borders to check for Medfly, Texas Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown has asked a federal judge to allow the state to fumigate incoming California produce and to order extension of the government quarantine. A ruling is expected in Dallas Tuesday.

Tampa To Get Another Dose Of Malathion In Medfly War

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — Tampa was expecting another dose of malathion today in continued efforts to make sure the five dead Mediterranean fruit flies found earlier this month didn't start a devastating infestation.

A Lee County mosquito control helicopter on loan to the state Agriculture Department was scheduled for another four hours of spraying over 12 square miles, but weather forecasters were calling for rain in the Tampa Bay area.

Spokesman Ernest Collins of the state Department of Agriculture said in the event of rain today, spraying would be limited to one-square-mile corridors immediately adjacent to the Medfly finds.

Collins said the Medfly fighters would check their 16 rain gauges in the spray area to try to determine whether showers nullified the morning pesticide application Sunday.

"We said the Medfly fighters hoped the spray would remain active against newly hatched flies "as they emerge from the ground. If we get an inch of rain or thereabouts, we're in trouble."

Smugglers Of Aliens Sought

MIAMI (UPI) — Immigration officials searched today for three men who smuggled 29 illegal aliens from the Bahamas to Miami and abandoned them in the surf.

An immigration official said 23 women and six men, including a 1-year-old boy, were picked up just before midnight Saturday as they waded ashore behind a Miami Beach area restaurant.

Another group of 89 refugees in two boats were towed ashore at West Palm Beach by the Coast Guard Sunday and turned over to the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service.

Authorities said there may have been more than the 27 Haitians and two Jamaicans who were captured near Bogey's Restaurant Saturday night because other aliens may have escaped before police arrived at the scene.

Prisoner Hangs Himself

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — A convicted cocaine dealer apparently hanged himself in his cell at the Federal Correctional Institute, prison officials have said.

Luis Nussa-Sanchez, 29, of Colombia, was discovered hanging in his cell at 4:30 a.m. Sunday, a prison spokesman said. Attempts to revive the inmate were unsuccessful. He was pronounced dead two hours later at a Tallahassee hospital.

"There was no one else in his cell. He was being kept by himself," the spokesman said.

Nussa-Sanchez was sentenced in April 1980 in South Florida on charges of possession with intent to distribute cocaine. At the time of his death, he had served more than a year of his three-year, six month sentence.

Rendezvous With Saturn

Voyager 2 Searches Rings For Never-Seen Moonlet

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Voyager 2 sped into Saturn's littered environment today, heading for a Tuesday night rendezvous and seeking a never-seen moonlet scientists suspect causes a gap in the planet's frosted rings.

The spacecraft, launched four years ago and almost a billion miles from Earth, comes within 1 million miles of the icy ringed planet today.

The increasing tug of Saturn's gravity is expected to push the spacecraft's velocity to 28,231 mph, beginning the surge of speed that will send Voyager hurtling to within 63,000 miles of the planet on its closest approach at 11:24 p.m. EDT Tuesday night.

Space scientists searched pictures returned by Voyager's two television cameras for some sign of an "embedded moonlet" or little moon in the Cassini division, a split in Saturn's rings visible from telescopes on Earth.

Scientists said the moonlet is the best possible explanation for the gap, but as of Sunday afternoon, the spacecraft's cameras had finished a third of their hunt and found nothing.

"If we don't find that satellite, we're in trouble trying to explain these features," said Dr. Bradford A. Smith, leader of the imaging team.

Discovery of a moonlet responsible for the large Cassini division would probably mean that even smaller moonlets are responsible for the many smaller "gaps" between the rings, scientists said.

The rings are believed to be made up of countless chunks of "dirty snow," ranging in size from that of a small car to several city blocks long and circling the planet on an endless merry-go-round. There are also hundreds of bands covering an area wider than the United States.

There is an extraordinary amount of matter cluttering up the vicinity of Saturn — a collection of rings, ringlets, dust motes, snowballs, boulders, moons and moonlets.

Voyager 1, on its swing past Saturn last November, discovered that many of what astronomers thought were divisions between the rings contain rings and gaps invisible from Earth.

"At the inner edge of the Cassini division, there appears to be a gap 300 miles wide," Dr. Edward C. Stone, the project scientist, said at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory where scientists monitor far-flung NASA robot space explorers.

"That gap may have a moon in it, which is causing the gap, basically by repelling the ring material, keeping the B-ring material in and holding the A-ring material out away from Saturn.

"In order for the moon to clear such a gap, it had to be on the order of 15 to 20 miles in diameter."

Astronauts Rehearse For 2nd Shuttle Launch

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — Astronauts Joe Engle and Richard Truly climbed aboard the space shuttle Columbia today to rehearse the scheduled Sept. 30 second launching of the reusable rocket plane.

The two planned to spend most of the morning in the spacecraft following the simulated 10 a.m. liftoff in one of the final tests before the shuttle is rolled out to its launch pad Aug. 31.

The backup crew of astronauts, Thomas Mattingly and Henry Hartfield, are scheduled to enter Columbia's cockpit at 2 a.m. Tuesday for a simulation of a launch and abort of the mission under emergency conditions with an imaginary quick return to the Kennedy Space Center airstrip.

At 6 p.m. Tuesday, Engle and Truly will be back aboard the shuttle for a final rehearsal, this time to go through the steps they would perform during reentry into the Earth's atmosphere and on landing.

The tests are being performed while the shuttle rests nose up in the huge Vehicle Assembly Building at the Space Center.

Tuesday night's landing simulation will end the test series, which began a week ago with interface tests that continued through last Friday.

Although the launch of Columbia on its second space flight is still scheduled for Sept. 30, space agency officials have said they may reassess the schedule following the end of the current tests.

Who's Most Likely To Be Murdered?

MIAMI (UPI) — If you are a young Latin male who owns a gun in Dade County, the chances are 1 in 1,300 you'll be murdered this year, the Miami Herald reported today.

The newspaper reported on a computer study of 320 homicides during the first six months of the year. It found the likeliest victims to be gun owning Latin men between the ages of 20 and 30.

The computer found that most murders occurred within two hours of midnight and most of the victims knew their killer, who probably was a person very similar in race, sex and age to the person killed.

For the Seminole Broncos, Sunday will be remembered as the night two inches increased the Five Points entry's World Series' magic number from one to three.

Center fielder Jimmy Waring drifted back to the center field fence with one out, a runner on second and Seminole holding a commanding 10-7 advantage in the top of the seventh inning over Richmond, Cal.

Waring made the grab, hesitated, then fired a strike to second baseman Eddie Evans. The throw beat the runner to the bag and the Broncos believed they had just knocked off the California powerhouse and inched within one game of the championship.

But hold everything. "The umpire said 'his foot was off the base by two inches,'" moaned Bronco Manager Richard Coffey. What followed turned the Seminole Title dream into a nightmare.

Richmond broke loose for five runs before reliever Sean Flaherty could induce Cory Wafer to pop out and grab a 12-10 come-from-behind victory over the stunned Seminole squad.

"We blew it," muttered Coffey. "No doubt about it. But they have an excellent team. Their hitters are much better than the other teams we've played."

Seminole now faces the imposing task of beating St. Bernard Parish tonight at 8 and then whipping Richmond twice (5 p.m. and 8 p.m.) Tuesday to secure the coveted title.

In Saturday's games, St. Bernard ripped state-rival Lafayette, 8-2. Oak Park, Ill. had an easy time with Puerto Rico, 12-1. Bernard then earned a spot opposite Seminole tonight with a 6-0 blanking of Oak Park in Sunday's 5 p.m.

game.

Sanford's Terry Miller started for the Broncos and went four and two-thirds innings before Coffey opted for left-hander Greg Ebbert. Miller walked eight and fanned six. "Terry pitched pretty well, but he was a little wild," said Coffey pointing to the eight passes.

Rozek, as usual, gave the Broncos an early 1-0 edge. The diminutive shortstop worked Richmond starter Kevin Yates for a walk, was sacrificed to second by Waring, moved to third on a Mark Coffey fly ball and then tallied on a single to left field by catcher Eddie Taubensee.

In the third inning, Waring walked, went to second when Coffey reached on an error and third when Taubensee walked. Flaherty struck out, but Miller dropped a suicide squeeze to score Waring. Coffey, however, attempted to score from second base and was caught in a rundown to end the threat.

"We cost ourselves three runs by not executing the suicide squeeze," said Coffey, whose team nussed some signals on a similar attempt.

In the Richmond fourth, Wafer singled home Bernard Lee to cut the margin to 2-1, but Seminole exploded for seven runs in its half of the inning for a 9-1 bulge.

Stevens sandwiched a walk between fly ball outs by Evans and Helms to ignite the two-out splurge. Rozek reached on an error and Waring walked to load the bases.

After Stevens scored on a wild pitch, Coffey walked to reload the bases. At that point, Richmond manager Frank Hancock went to his "lady luck" and turned the pitching chores over to Charlotte Wiley.

Wiley, only the second girl in history ever to compete in the Pony Baseball (age seven to 21) tournament was roughed up early, but then settled down to earn the victory.

She walked Taubensee to force in one run and then Miller slapped a single up the middle to score two more after another error by the shortstop on Flaherty's grounder tallied the previous one.

Evans, though, was nipped at the plate while trying to score on a passed ball to end the rally.

"Charlotte's my number one reliever," said Hancock after the game. "She was 9-0 for the season and saved five or six games too."

Coffey was equally impressed with his female opponent. "She threw hard no doubt about it," conceded Coffey. "She didn't have much of a curve, but as hard as she threw, you wouldn't have thought she was a girl."

Richmond chased Miller in the top of the fifth. Matty Felder clubbed his first home run of the game to lead off the inning. Miller, then walked four of the next seven hitters and Wafer added a single to help California score five runs.

Ebbert, a curve balling left-hander, came on to induce Mario Ramey to pop to third base for the final out.

Seminole added its fifth run in the bottom of the fifth inning for a 10-6 edge. Stevens reached on an error, Helms popped, but Rozek singled up the middle.

Rozek then stole second and Waring singled to center to score Stevens, but when Rozek attempted to score from second base, center fielder Ronnie Williams gunned him down with a perfect peg.

In the Richmond seventh, Ramey followed Seminole's near escape with a double to score Wiley, who was the runner nearly doubled off at second base.

Felder then socked his second round-tripper of the night to pull Richmond within, 10-9. Fred Bryant reached on an error by Stevens which brought on Flaherty in relief of Ebbert.

Flaherty walked Andre Bostic and Landrin Kelley chased home the winning runs with a single to tag Ebbert with the setback.

Eric Cooper relieved Wiley in the seventh when she hurt her leg to retire the Five Points gang in order.

Experienced Hale Irwin(ner) At Buick

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (UPI) — Instead of falling flat on his face, Hale Irwin fell back on experience. Irwin recovered from blowing a two-stroke lead with two holes to play Sunday to edge three other golfers with a 17-foot birdie putt on the second hole of a sudden-death playoff for the $350,000 Buick Open.

Irwin won $63,000 and now is only $1,002 behind fourth-place Tom Weiskopf on the all-time earnings list with $1,938,523. That includes $248,649 this year.

Bobby Clampett, defending champion Peter Jacobsen and Dr. Gil Morgan tied for second and won $26,133. "One has to go through it," said Irwin, who has now won two of the five playoffs he has been in. He was 13 and a half years of experience to fall back on.

"You can't explain it. You have to be in those situations, learn from them. You can't give up on yourself, which is easy to do."

Irwin, 36, Frontenac, Mo., bogeyed the seventh hole and then missed a 6-foot par putt on the 18th to fritter away a seemingly safe lead. Jacobsen was already finished carding a 60, 3-under, to get 377 while Morgan finished his 4-under 68 even earlier.

Doubting Daniel Captures Women's $50,000 World

SHAKER HEIGHTS, Ohio (UPI) — Beth Daniel figured the last place she would finish in the $50,000 World Championship of Women's Golf was in first place. "I have absolutely no confidence in my game," she said prior to the event which was offering the largest first place prize in LPGA history — $50,000.

"I don't like my chances at all." So much for Beth Daniel's hand-dapping. Donna Caponi, who either shared or held the lead for the first three rounds, could do no better than 75 Sunday and finished third at even par 288 to win $17,000. Daniel, who moved up to third on the LPGA's money list at $163,277, rolled in a 50-foot birdie putt at the 380-yard, par-4 15th hole to break a tie with Stephenson.

Daniel then two putted from 45 feet for a birdie at the 448-yard, par-5 17th to clinch her second victory of the year. The winner, who was won a record $231,000 last year, said, "Last year, I had so much confidence coming here I had the feeling I was unbeatable. This year I didn't. I still don't have the confidence. This was obvious coming down the stretch when I hit several poor shots."

Stephenson, coming off the Mary Kay Classic in which she set a 54-hole LPGA record, missed birdie putts of 10, 7 and 25 feet over three of the final four holes that would have forced a playoff. "I shouldn't be as disappointed as I am because I stroked the ball as well as I can. All day I felt like I had a good chance to win," she said.

Caponi, seeking to become the second player in the history of the LPGA to go over the $1 million mark, did not record a birdie Sunday. Nearly in tears afterward she said, "I said all along this was a long hitter's course, and Beth proved that today. I didn't hit it long enough to put any real pressure on her."

NFL PREVIEW

Biles Predicts Tighter Ship For '81 Oilers

COACH ED BILES: "What we need more than anything else is more points on the scoreboard from the offense. We're a good football team, but we have problems — mostly in how some of our offensive linemen come back from injuries. One thing for sure — we're running a tighter ship in '81."

OFFENSE
PASSING QB Gifford Nielson, back-up last season to Ken Stabler, gets long look as starter. No more two tight-end offense. Should be bitter duel between Dave Casper and Mike Barber at TE. Ken Burrough comes back healthy as wide receiver. GOOD

RUNNING Merely built around all-world Earl Campbell, who could bust 2,000-yard barrier. None like him. But how about running mate? Biles would like holdout Rob Carpenter at fullback but might have to settle for plodding Tim Wilson. That leaves Ronnie Coleman for spot duty. VERY GOOD

BLOCKING Depends on damaged goods. Leon Gray and Angelo Fields are coming off knee repair; Bob Young had bad back. Gray at tackle is vital. Better work expected from Mo Towns at other tackle. Steady guys without much acclaim are center Carl Mauch and guard Ed Fisher. Pass protection was sieve at times. Not much new help — maybe BYU rookie Nick Eyer. FAIR to GOOD

DEFENSE
LINE No tactical change. Primarily three-man front. But Mike Stensrud could push Andy Dorris out of starting post at left end. He's huge. Old Elvin Bethea gets pass rush relief from Jesse Baker. Ken Kennard has settled down at nose guard. This is good, physical bunch. GOOD

LINEBACKING Robert Brazile, all-pro, gets major attention, but those close to Oilers tell you Ted Washington on left side is just as efficient. Darryl Hunt lines up inside next to nine-year vet Gregg Bingham. And Art Stringer serves as strong relief. This is fire-tested contingent that hits people and still has mobility to help on pass

coverage. VERY GOOD
SECONDARY Unit has now played together three years and still has no one over 30. Especially alert at safeties, where Vern Perry is staunch cover man and Mike Reinfield makes Pro Bowl. Also swift at the corners, with young J.C. Wilson and Greg Stenrick. Carter Hartwig is in line to be nickel back with release of Jack Tatum. GOOD

SPECIAL TEAMS
KICKING Tom Fritsch is in peril as field-goal booter; they drafted Bill Caspe at Florida State. Cliff Paraley doesn't excite anyone as punter but there's no rival in sight. FAIR to POOR

RETURNS Other special teams in general need jacking up. Era of Billy "White Shoes" is long gone. Carl Roaches, exciting at times, looms as the big threat on all returns. FAIR

PROSPECTUS
Genial reign of Bum Phillips is in the past. Biles waited long time for top job, and his tougher philosophy is on trial. Oilers don't lack the weapons. Defense is solid. May be counting too much on Stabler, though.

PREDICTION Third in AFC Central, but over .500

Contending Browns Scale Toward Bo Derek Status

COACH SAM RUTIGLIANO: "When we came here (in '78), we were a two or a three on a scale of Bo Derek. Now we're an eight or a nine. The key to the playoffs is contending within our division, and last year we were four and two. Our offense is just fine. The No. 1 priority is to improve the pass rush."

OFFENSE
PASSING Brian Sipe no longer has to prove himself to skeptics. He's leader of Kardiac Kids despite that one bad pass vs. Raiders. Here's where poise means as much as talent. In Dave Logan, Reggie Rucker and Orzle Newsome, he has excellent set of receivers. If there's worry about Rucker's age, 34, there's also eternal hope for Willis Adams as WR. EXCELLENT

RUNNING Mike Pruitt remains a one-man brigade (and excellent receiver, too), though Greg Pruitt (no relation) will run more now that he knows knee is sound. Charlie White, who's over rookie blues, will get more duty, and ancient Calvin Hill continues to be valuable on third downs. GOOD

BLOCKING With exception of Joe DeLamielleurs, this is mostly no-name troupe, but no complaints from Rutigliano. Doug Dieken is stickout tackle. If Henry Sheppard at guard is slow coming back from cervical disc surgery, Matt Miller, a big youngster, could get chance to show stuff. This unit particularly excels in keeping tacklers off Side. VERY GOOD

BLOCKING With exception of Joe DeLamielleurs, this is mostly no-name troupe, but no complaints from Rutigliano. Doug Dieken is stickout tackle. If Henry Sheppard at guard is slow coming back from cervical disc surgery, Matt Miller, a big youngster, could get chance to show stuff. This unit particularly excels in keeping tacklers off Side. VERY GOOD

DEFENSE
LINE Continue to go with 3-4. Lone proven guy up front is Lyle Alzado. Jerry Sherk, almost victimized by "staph" infection, will give it one more try. At 70 percent, he would still be better than any they've got. Rookies who could help are end Mike Robinson and NT Ron Simmons. FAIR

LINEBACKING Except for Charlie Hall, who's starting 11th year as outside backer, this is young and improving crew. Dick Ambrose inside has quelled all doubts. Robert L. Jackson, his inside mate, is firebrand. Clay Matthews is the pure talent. Latter two are now living up to advance notices. Pure talent. For depth, they proffer rookie Eddie Johnson of Louisville. GOOD

SECONDARY Ron Bolton had his beta year ever, his 10th, and young Lawrence Johnson gets another chance at the other cornerback because coaches want to shift Clint Burrell to strong safety as insurance against aging process affecting incumbent Clarence Scott. Other safety, Thom Darden, is fine leader. Rookie hotshot is No. 1 pick Hanford Dixon. GOOD

SPECIAL TEAMS
KICKING Punting job is wide open with Johnny Evans gone, so they drafted Steve Cox of Arkansas. He's also placekicker, but Browns are likely to retain Don Cockroft and let Cox kick off. FAIR to GOOD

RETURNS Little Dino Hall returns punts with flair and boldness. Keith Wright is doubtful physically, so Hall could double on kickoffs, with Charlie White chipping in. FAIR

PROSPECTUS
Last-second loss to Oakland in playoffs shouldn't affect Cleveland psyche. They'll still live with pass as they have last three years, and they've got tools to make it work. Rutigliano as coach inspires confidence. PREDICTION Second in AFC Central, but make playoffs.

Hernandez Turns Boos To Cheers

By United Press International

If they only knew what Keith Hernandez had in store, the fans at Busch Stadium would have kept their mouths shut.

Hernandez, a three-time Gold Glove winner at first base, failed to hustle after a wild pickoff attempt by St. Louis starter Larry Sorensen in the first inning and was lustily booed as Los Angeles took a 1-0 lead.

However, Hernandez, who sprained his right ankle and strained a muscle in his leg last week, didn't wait long to make amends.

In the bottom of the first, he cracked a two-run homer and wound up with four hits and three runs scored to spark the Cardinals to an 11-7 triumph over the Dodgers.

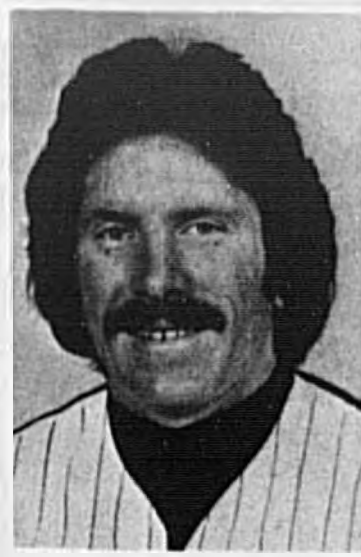

"On the pickoff play, the umpire called a balk and I thought the play was dead but it's not," said Hernandez. "There was no excuse. I kind of relaxed when the ball got by me. I got boos for that, but when the game was over the fans were cheering me."

The Cardinals pounded four Los Angeles pitchers for 20 hits as they remained in first place in the NL East.

Following his seventh homer, Hernandez doubled and scored in the third, singled and scored in the fifth and singled in the sixth. The only time he was retired came on a fly ball to the center field warning track in the seventh.

The Cardinals scored in every inning except the fourth and all of the St. Louis starters had at least one hit.

In the American League, it was: New

RICK CAMP ... 13th save

York 8, Kansas City 0; Detroit 5, Texas 4; Chicago 13, Toronto 2; Milwaukee 8, Minnesota 5; Baltimore 7, Oakland 4; Cleveland 6, California 3; and Boston 7, Seattle 5.

In the National League, it was: St. Louis 11, Los Angeles 7; Atlanta 2, Montreal 1; Philadelphia 6, Houston 0; New York 3, Cincinnati 2 in 10 innings; Pittsburgh 5, San Diego 2; and Chicago 6, San Francisco 5.

Braves 2, Expos 1

At Atlanta, the Braves took advantage of errors by third baseman Larry Parrish and center fielder Andre Dawson to score their runs in the sixth. The triumph, the Braves' ninth in 14 games of the second season, lifted them 1 1/2 games ahead of second-place Houston in the West. Rick Camp earned his 13th save in relief of Rick Mahler, 4-2. Steve Rogers, 4-6, took the loss.

Phillies 6, Astros 0

At Philadelphia, Mike Schmidt cracked his fifth career grand slam to back the pitching of Steve Carlton and Tug McGraw. The homer, Schmidt's league-leading 20th, was his sixth in 12 second-season games. Carlton, 10-3, allowed two hits over seven innings. Bob Knepper, 6-3, took the loss.

Mets 3, Reds 2

At Cincinnati, Bob Bailor drove in the winning run with a sacrifice fly in the 10th inning and made a leaping, game-ending catch to spark the Mets.

Pirates 5, Padres 2

At Pittsburgh, Phil Garner drove in three runs and Rod Scurry needed last-out relief help from Enrique Romo. Scurry, 3-4, allowed two runs in the ninth before Romo came on for his ninth save. Chris Welsh, 5-5, was the loser.

Cubs 6, Giants 5

At Chicago, Leon Durham drew a two-out, bases-loaded walk off Gary Lavelle in the ninth inning to lift Chicago. Doug Capilla, 1-0, picked up the win. Darrell Evans and Jeff Leonard homered for the Giants.

'Midas' Sparky, Peters Pinch Tigers Past Texas

By United Press International

If King Midas had known Sparky Anderson, he would have asked for pinch-hitters instead of gold.

Anderson continued his magic touch Sunday by tapping slumped Rick Peters on the shoulder for pinch-hitting duty and receiving a tie-breaking single in the ninth inning to give the Detroit Tigers a 5-4 victory over the Texas Rangers for their ninth straight victory.

"He's got a good eye and (Jim) Kern is a hard thrower," Anderson said, explaining why he bypassed Richie Hebner and Rick Leach — both of whom seemed to be a more logical choice for the assignment. "There was a chance for a walk as well. I wasn't worried about a double play."

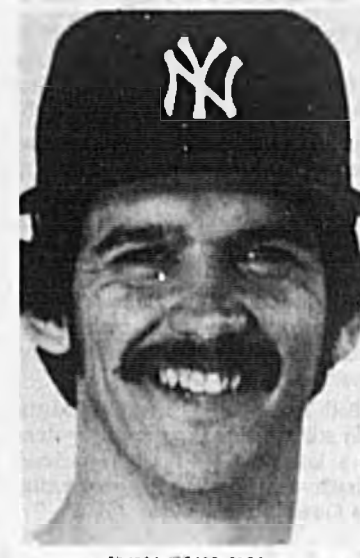

Anderson has made enough good moves recently to place the Tigers atop the AL East. If anyone can keep them there, Anderson can.

"Everybody in this club has contributed and that's amazing," Anderson said. "You look at most clubs and you see the same one or two guys carrying the team."

The Tigers entered the ninth trailing 4-3 but Lynn Jones tied the game by belting a 2-2 breaking ball from Jon Matlack into the lower deck in left field.

Later, Anderson needed a pinch hitter and Peters, who had collected one hit in his previous 24 at-bats, became the man. He explained that everyone on the club feels able to make a contribution.

"Everybody's picking up everybody,"

RON GUIDRY ... 20 scoreless frames said Peters. "I popped the ball good. It had good topspin, good enough to get us a wild hop."

White Sox 13, Blue Jays 2

At Toronto, Greg Luzinski, who Saturday ended a frustrating streak of 10 strikeouts in 13 at-bats with a mammoth homer, continued his longball ways with a 400-foot shot, pacing a 21-hit that backed Steve Trout, 7-4. Luis Leal, 4-9, took the loss. Harold Baines had four hits for the winners.

Yankees 8, Royals 0

At New York, Larry Milbourne's break

home run and Graig Nettles' three-run shot highlighted a four-run first behind Ron Guidry, 8-3. Milbourne lofted a fly that Royals' left fielder Willie Wilson lost in the sun. The ball struck Wilson on the side of the head and Milbourne circled the bases. Guidry won his fourth straight and extended his scoreless innings streak to 20. Loser Rich Gale fell to 5-6.

Brewers 6, Twins 3

At Milwaukee, Ted Simmons hit a three-run homer to highlight a four-run fifth inning to power Milwaukee. Jerry Augustine, 2-1, took over in the second after starter Moose Haas complained of a sore neck. He went 5 1/3 innings and Hollie Fingers finished for his 17th save. Orioles 7, A's 4

At Oakland, Calif., Eddie Murray hit a decisive two-run homer and Gary Roenicke and Ken Singleton added two-run shots. All three connected off loser Mike Norris, 9-4, who was touched for seven hits in a five-inning stint. Sammy Stewart, 3-4, picked up the victory.

Indians 6, Angels 3

At Anaheim, Calif., Andre Thornton smashed a two-run homer and John Denny combined with Mike Stanton on a five-hitter. A melee started when Denny hit Dan Ford with a pitch with two out in the third.

Red Sox 7, Mariners 5

At Seattle, Tony Perez' pinchhit, two-run single in the eighth inning lifted Boston. Reliever Tom Burgmeier, 3-4, was the winner with Bill Campbell registering his fifth save.

Williams Fires Two Touchdowns In Tampa Victory

Bum Hopes Saints Bounce Back From Bumbling

By United Press International

New Orleans Coach Bum Phillips certainly was prepared for it. Now he wants to know how his Saints will respond to a loss, even though it's still the exhibition season.

"What we do about it now is what we're interested in," said the Saints' new coach following the Saints' first preseason loss Sunday, a 36-7 defeat at the hands of the Philadelphia Eagles. "You knew it was going to happen sometime. You're not going to go undefeated all the time. I'm interested in finding out what we'll do next week — whether we'll come out back or make excuses. I don't think we'll make excuses."

However, it should be remembered it was these same Saints who dropped their first 14 games last season and finished at 1-15, the most losses ever suffered by an NFL team.

Ron Jaworski and backup Joe Pisarcik threw two touchdown passes each and Tony Franklin added first-quarter field goals of 47 and 54 yards to carry the Eagles to their second exhibition triumph.

The Saints scored their only points in the second quarter on a 1-yard plunge by No. 1 draft pick and Heisman Trophy winner George Rogers. The score was set up by an interception by Mike Williams.

In Saturday's games, it was: Dallas 24, Pittsburgh 14; Washington 13, Baltimore 7; Buffalo 31, Cleveland 20; Miami 31, Detroit 27; New England 23, Oakland 21; Tampa Bay 27, Houston 17; Chicago 24, Cincinnati 21; New York Jets 37, New York Giants 24; Minnesota 20, Atlanta 19; Denver 17, Green Bay 7; San Francisco 24, Seattle 17; and St. Louis 16, Kansas City 3.

In Friday night's game, San Diego outlasted Los Angeles 33-29.

At Tampa, Fla., Doug Williams

threw two TD passes and Garo Yepremian kicked a pair of field goals in the second half. Houston's Gifford Nielson, the No. 1 quarterback following Ken Stabler's retirement, suffered a sprained right shoulder early in the game and will not play next week.

McEnroe, Austin Post Victories

KINGS ISLAND, Ohio (UPI) — Wimbledon champion John McEnroe beat unseeded and outclassed Chris Lewis of New Zealand 6-3, 6-4 Sunday to win the $200,000 Association of Tennis Professionals Championship.

TORONTO (UPI) — Tracy Austin,

the teenage nemesis to the world's player, mastered Chris Evert Lloyd in straight sets Sunday to capture the $200,000 Canadian Open Tennis Championships, 6-1, 6-4. The player who holds a career edge over the Wimbledon champion, prevailed with surprising ease, using superior speed and a relentless string of unforced errors by her opponent to claim the $34,000 winner's purse.

President Taking Time Before Deciding On MX

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — President Reagan, who flew to Santa Barbara Saturday to resume his vacation, wants more time to decide how to put the MX missile in the front line of the nation's defenses, a spokesman says.

White House press secretary Larry Speakes said Reagan, who returned to his mountaintop ranch, wants to hold more meetings on a basing system for the MX missile and on other new strategic nuclear armament plans before reaching any decision.

"We've made no decisions," Reagan told reporters as he prepared for a meeting Friday with Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, chairman of the Senate armed services committee, and Rep. Bill Dickinson, R-Ala., ranking GOP member on the House armed services committee. "That's why we're having the meeting," Reagan said. "I'm not snowing you."

Presidential counselor Edwin Meese had said earlier there was a possibility that Reagan would reach his decisions on the planned new nuclear arsenal for the decade ahead before he winds up his stay in California on Sept. 2.

But Speakes said Reagan has decided to take more time to review the possibilities before he settles the thorny question of how to deploy the MX.

Both Tower and Dickinson told Reagan they still favor the "race track" system of a land-based MX multiple-warhead missile — the approach approved during the Carter administration.

During last year's campaign, Reagan said that system "didn't make sense" and he has been reviewing alternatives, such as building of huge cargo planes to carry the missiles or the possibility of placing them on nuclear submarines.

After meeting with the president, Tower told reporters he still believes the land-based system is the best and argued the United States is already "losing the advantage of the land-based mode" by postponing a decision.

"We're telling him, wherever it is put, it should be put on land," Tower said.

The Air Force is adamantly against an airborne MX missile and favors the plan that would have the 200 missiles shuttle among 4,600 shelters in Utah and Nevada. But there is strong opposition in both states to that plan.

The decision on the MX missile shapes up as one of the most significant, militarily and politically, that the Reagan administration may have to make. The system, a new generation of 200 nuclear-armed mobile intercontinental missiles, would replace the aging fixed-site Minutemen. The original land-based plan, developed during the Carter administration and still the favorite of most military leaders, calls for a network of 4,600 underground shelters covering 8,500 square miles of Nevada and Utah. The missiles, transported on flatbed trucks, would be constantly changing locations so that an enemy could never be sure of taking them all out in a pre-emptive strike. That plan is opposed by environmentalists and other interests, political and private, in both states. Alternatives are submarine-based and airborne systems, with the latter probably requiring development of a new plane. Military critics say the sea and air alternatives would be less effective because of greater vulnerability to detection and attack.

Woman, 80, Finishes Marathon

OTTAWA (UPI) — Ruth Rothfarb did not care if she won the first International Marathon for Women Sunday. At 80 years old, she was the oldest competitor in a field of 625 women and just wanted to finish the 26-mile, 385-yard course.

The 24-year-old winner of the marathon made it in 2 hours, 36 minutes and 45.9 seconds. Mrs. Rothfarb's time was 5 hours, 39 minutes, 56 seconds.

But she could not have been more pleased with her fourth-from-last finish in her first international marathon for women.

"I had hoped right through the race that I could do it," said Mrs. Rothfarb, who spends winters in Miami and summers in Cambridge, Ma.

"And now that I did, I know I can do more. I tripped once at the 23-kilometer mark when my shoe got caught, but I'm okay."

Mrs. Rothfarb began running at age 66 to ease her arthritis. In the past five years, she has won seven gold medals in her age class and competed at the U.S. senior Olympics in June in Los Angeles and has also ran in the Masters World Games in New Zealand.

A Natural Enemy

Geckos Growing In Popularity To Combat Roaches

By TOM HILLSTROM
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The household cockroach has a new enemy: pet geckos.

"A creepy, crawler critter," says Bill Huff, proprietor of the House of Pets, a Tallahassee pet store where geckos are the hottest thing going.

Wary of the never-ending war with roaches, a growing number of people are finding geckos an inexpensive, highly efficient and chemical-free weapon to keep household insects under control.

A gecko (pronounced gekko) is a lizard imported from Asia. Adults are five to nine inches long. Their feet have tiny suction cups and their bodies have purple polka dots on a gray background. They have sharp teeth, live up to 12 years, cost between $10 and $15 and make a deep sound that resembles the pronunciation of their name.

The gecko's most attractive asset in his appetite for insects.

"His natural way of taking care of the cockroach has made him very popular," said Huff.

Also appealing is a gecko's penchant for staying out of sight during the daytime and his ability to be housebroken, in a manner of speaking.

Huff said he has been selling geckos by the dozens for the last three or four years. "We're sold out right now," he said, adding he had a waiting list of six. "Our wholesaler in New York is kind of astounded by the number we buy."

Other area pet shops also reported they had sold their last geckos.

Huff said most gecko customers are people who are hesitant about using chemical insecticides in their homes. "They have a curiosity about nature taking care of things in its own way," he said.

Typically, he said, the free-roaming gecko finds a hiding place in the kitchen, often behind the refrigerator, and does his bug-hunting at night. The larger ones also will attack mice.

"The gecko doesn't stir any interest in dogs and cats," Huff said. "Dogs are totally uninterested in them. Cats can get interested, but a gecko stalks like a cat and so does not usually draw the attention of a cat. And his ability to climb walls leaves cats unavailable for pursuit."

Geckos generally won't attack humans, he said, but cautioned: "They've got a good set of teeth and while they don't seek out persons, if a person grabbed one, they can retaliate. There's a good set of jaws in a gecko."

"This is no little green chameleon. They mean business," says Louise Beauchamp, a writer who acquired a gecko to fight her bouts with roaches.

In a recent article in Spectrum, a Tallahassee periodical, she reported that her gecko, Zeppo, has significantly reduced her roach population.

"Once you get used to the idea, geckos can be very entertaining and, in an odd way, reassuring," she wrote. "I live alone and used to worry sometimes about noises in the night, but nowadays I just figure that it's only the gecko."

Creations of habit, Geckos tend to deposit their droppings in the same place from day to day, according to Huff. Smart owners simply put a small box at the site.

Geckos are not very popular among serious reptile collectors, Huff said.

"They make a nice little cage animal, but they aren't very friendly. If you don't have a roach problem, you wouldn't want to turn one loose because he'd starve."

Asked if he had a gecko in his home, Huff said no.

"My wife won't go for the idea. A gecko is not for everyone. He's a creepy, crawler critter, and some people can't abide by creepy, crawler critters. They'd rather have the roaches," he said.

Held Five Captive

Kidnapper May Surrender

DETROIT (UPI) — A woman who is charged with kidnapping five elderly Florida women to Michigan and confining them to a suburban home has talked with her attorney about surrendering to authorities.

Edward F. Bell, the attorney representing Lucille Walker, told the Oakland County prosecutor Sunday his client would turn herself in today. However, Bell said he did not know where she was.

"I hadn't really heard that much about this case until, out of the clear blue, I got a call from her Friday," he said.

Bell also is representing Walker's daughter, Lidra, 22, and granddaughter, Teresa, 23, who were arrested in Detroit Friday.

The three women and a man identified as J.C. Collins — who is believed to be

Mrs. Walker's husband — are charged with kidnapping five elderly women from a Miami boarding house Aug. 2. Mrs. Walker, who operated the home, also is suspected of taking the women's life savings.

The elderly women, who had been reported missing, turned up last week at Detroit Receiving Hospital. Mrs. Walker, apparently worried about a police hunt for the missing women, allegedly dropped them off at the hospital telling them it was an airport.

She spirited the women from Florida by telling them they were going on a "vacation," authorities said.

Police said they had evidence the elderly women spent the time in Detroit in a suburban Oak Park home owned by the Walker family.

If convicted, Mrs. Walker and the four others could be sentenced to life imprisonment.

Chief Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor Richard Thompson said an investigation showed Mrs. Walker may have duped the five women of their life savings — a scheme she allegedly tried on other elderly people under her care.

"We know that she would get old people into her confidence and have them sign over their assets — through powers of attorney and joint bank accounts — and she would take them," Thompson said.

Thompson said it appeared the woman bilked the elderly victims out of "at least a couple hundred thousand dollars, but it could be more."

Police are trying to determine how many elderly people fell victim to the scheme.

Officials said Mrs. Walker may have used as many as 15 aliases.

Exiles Charge Castro Regime Destroyed 'Invasion' Vessel

GRAND TURKS, Turks and Caicos Islands (UPI) — Cuban exiles led by Watergate burglar Frank Sturgis accused Castro commandos of blowing up one of the vessels for a "peaceful invasion" of the U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo. Island police today had a less glamorous query: an on-board explosion.

Wilfredo Navarro, secretary general of Cubans United in Miami, called the explosion Friday night aboard the 73-foot Franklin and Ian a "treacherous and vile attack ... by (Fidel) Castro's commandos perpetrated against an unarmed ship with 12 defenseless and unarmed men aboard."

All 12 escaped injury and Turks and Caicos Police Commissioner Stanley Williams expressed doubts about the claims of sabotage against Castro's Communist government.

"We're going to have a look at it tomorrow (Monday)," Williams said. "It looks like they might have had explosives on board."

The Franklin and Ian ran aground Wednesday on a reef off Providenciales Island, the Turks and Caicos' westernmost island, during the Cubans' attempt to set up a government in exile on Guantanamo, police said.

Providenciales Police Chief Don Grant said the 57 Cubans had been sleeping near the police station at night while the 750 residents of the pristine 15-by-4-mile island remained largely indifferent.

Navarro said the Franklin and Ian was just "one of 14 ships in the United Cubans' flotilla carrying 3,000 men to the Guantanamo U.S. Naval Base and scheduled to arrive peacefully and unarmed at the American base around the 25th of August."

The loss of the Franklin and Ian might delay the arrival of Cubans United at Guantanamo, he said, "but it is not going to stop our plan and purpose."

Navarro said another vessel was en route to Caicos, which is 400 miles southeast of Nassau and 150 miles northeast of the eastern tip of Cuba, to pick up the Cubans left stranded by the sinking of the Franklin and Ian.

Navarro said he did not want to announce a new landing target date "until those men have been safely removed because we don't want the same thing to happen to them."

Fugitive

Spy Almost Made Good His Escape

SEATTLE (UPI) — Fugitive spy Christopher Boyce apparently was only a week and a pilot's license away from fleeing his remote Olympic Peninsula hideout when he was snared by federal agents, ending their 19-month-long international manhunt.

Instead of taking flying lessons today, the 28-year-old convicted spy was scheduled for arraignment before a federal magistrate on charges he staged a cunning escape from a federal penitentiary in southern California.

The escape charge could add five years to his 10-year espionage sentence for selling U.S. defense secrets to the Soviet Union in the 1970s.

Authorities also suspect Boyce may have robbed as many as 16 banks while hiding in the Pacific Northwest, apparently using the money to buy cars, a commercial fishing boat and flying lessons.

Friday night, the one-time "A" student and altar boy was captured by a swarm of FBI agents at a drive-in restaurant in Port Angeles, Wash. Afterwards, the surprised Boyce told agents that he had been only days away from leaving the area.

He had nearly completed a "crash course" in flying at a Port Angeles flight school and was scheduled for a cross-country novice flight next Saturday. "I would have had my license in five days and would have been gone," he told agents.

Boyce and a drug-dealing friend were sentenced to prison in 1977 for stealing secret satellite technology from TRW, a Redondo Beach, Calif., aerospace firm, and selling it to the Soviet Union for $70,000.

He escaped from the federal prison at Lompoc, Calif., 19 months ago by concealing himself in a prison yard and going over the walls at night while an accomplice put a papier mache dummy in his cell bed.

Hospital Patient Stabbed

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Three men walked into a city hospital Sunday, ordered nurses to the floor, then stabbed a patient, police said.

The victim, Robert Franklin, 24, of Montgomery was listed in satisfactory condition at Montgomery Baptist Medical Center under 24-hour police guard. Franklin had been recovering from an earlier shooting, but police did not know if the two attacks were related.

Gene Hannah, a hospital spokesman, said two masked men, one toting a gun, emerged from the sixth floor employee elevator at 2 a.m. and demanded to see Franklin.

"The head nurse on the sixth floor heard the elevator stop and they told her and another nurse to hit the floor and not make a sound," Hannah said.

"They then jerked the telephone lines out of the plugs and one of them stood there with the gun on the nurse while the other went straight to the room. There was a scuffle and the man came running out of the room."

Hannah said the two men got onto the elevator, which was held on that floor by another man.

A police SWAT team searched the hospital early Sunday but found no clues on how the men got out of the hospital. Officials were also unable to determine how the men entered the building.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Tuesday, August 25, 1981

Your Birthday August 25, 1981 Progress toward what you hope to achieve is likely to be slow, but steady, this coming year. Time is your ally if you are patient and tenacious. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Do not make any investments or major cash outlays today if you feel you lack proper information. Gather all your facts first and act with deliberation. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph, Mail #1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) In situations where you count on your luck to get you through, you could be let down today. However, when you rely on your intelligence and initiative the results will be successful. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't make judgements on friends today based on hearsay, especially if the source has proven to be faulty before. It could be again. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your prospects for success today are good, provided you don't take things for granted. Be hopeful, but also take necessary, practical measures. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You'll be more productive today working with associates as realistic as you are rather than with persons whose expectations are too outlandish. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Sometimes your first ideas are right on target, but this is not apt to be the case today. Think everything through carefully. Second thoughts may be required. PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Much can be accomplished today provided you allocate your time properly. Avoid persons in the a.m. who waste their time as well as yours. ARIES (March 21-April 19) Conditions are reversed today. Persons on whom you can usually count may prove to be the least dependable, while those who have been the most unreliable come through. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) To get to the things you enjoy doing you may perform your other tasks halfheartedly today, thereby causing yourself greater problems at a later date. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Keep your expectations within reasonable limits today or you could be severely disappointed. Don't look for a harvest where you haven't sown seed. CANCER (June 21-July 21) Unfortunately, you are apt to be the one who has to do for others today, instead of them doing for you. Above all, don't bank on their lavish promises. LEO (July 22-Aug. 22) Your hunches pertaining to business or financial matters are quite keen today, but your insights regarding other matters could be far off-base.

Doctor Tries New Treatment

DEAR DR. LAMB — My wife has had rheumatoid arthritis for 20 years. She has been on gold shots, prednisone and Motrin. She is now on penicillamine and has been taking it for 16 weeks with no sign of relief. Her doctor claims it will take time. She goes in for blood and urine tests which are OK so far. The gold shots were doing the job for 13 years. The doctor took her off to start the penicillamine. Was that right? The prednisone had bad side effects. I am also aware of the danger of cortisone. How effective and how many shots can a person have?

DEAR READER — Penicillamine is one of the newer treatments for rheumatoid arthritis. It has actions similar to gold shots. Like gold, it can have important side effects. The only way to tell how a person is doing with such medicines is with frequent blood, urine and other tests that may become indicated. I can't second guess your wife's doctor. Evidently he hoped that he would get better results from penicillamine than he was getting with gold shots. Gold shots don't work for everyone. When a good response is obtained, it is usually within the first 30 doses. Apparently your wife was on a maintenance dosage. If she doesn't do better with the penicillamine, her doctor may want to use it again or try another medicine. To avoid confusing other readers, I would like to point out that there are three main kinds of arthritis, the rheumatoid type your wife has, gouty arthritis and osteoarthritis that occurs more commonly in older people and is sometimes called degenerative arthritis. Osteoporosis, dissolving bones, is not really arthritis although many people call it arthritis. The nature of rheumatoid arthritis, which is an inflammatory disease, and treatment is discussed in greater detail in The Health Letter number 4-11.

Rheumatoid Arthritis, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

It is sometimes difficult to judge the effectiveness of medicines used to treat rheumatoid arthritis because it has exacerbations and remissions even without treatment.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Please comment on moles. Are they usually cancerous? I have this large mole under my buttocks where it gets irritated when I go to the bathroom. It puts me in mind of a mushroom. The outer edges can be lifted up. It's starting to feel uncomfortable when anything touches it. It is about the size of a dime, dark in color with dots on it.

DEAR READER — Moles that show any change whatsoever are not to be trifled with. See your doctor at once. And a mole that is located in a place where it is irritated repeatedly for any reason should be removed. This includes those on the face where a man shaves or where a belt rubs. Early removal of a mole with any changes whatsoever may prevent the spread of a malignant melanoma. Other moles without changes are usually innocuous. Now I am not convinced that you have a mole. The only way you will find out is by having a doctor see it. You may be describing a "venereal" wart. These are commonly located around the pubic area. They are caused by a virus and are treated in a different manner.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Bridge hand diagram showing North, South, West, and East cards and scores.

South held the king instead of the queen of spades and a weaker holding in diamonds there would be no problems.

Oswald: "West opened the ace of diamonds and after mature deliberation, shifted to the 10 of spades. South, who had been thinking along with West, was ready. He went right up with dummy's ace of spades and played his queen. Then he led dummy's three of spades. His reasoning was that West just would not lead from king-10 of spades so that East was sure to have the king and just might play South for having been dealt a singleton queen."

Alan: "I regret to say that East fell for the swindle. He thought and thought and thought, but finally ducked. South made his spade nine and the rest of the tricks came in easily." Oswald: "East really shouldn't have fallen for it. He knew that South held the king of diamonds. That would allow South to discard one club from dummy. He also knew that hearts were going to break evenly. He held two in his own hand. The only chance for a second trick would be to find South with another spade."

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Soutag Oswald: "There are lots of ways to bid today's hand, but after South rebid two hearts, North just Blackwooded his way to six." Alan: "The slam depends on the spade finesse, but if
