TALLAHASSEE (AP)—The Florida Constitution Revision Commission, watched by Republican Governor-elect Claude Kirk, today passed an amendment to extend a concept already in the constitution to officers from holding more than one office at the same time.

Supreme Court Justice B. F. Cook, recovering after a week-end rest, said its purpose was to avoid a possible conflict of interest and to extend a concept already in the constitution to officers from holding more than one office at the same time.

The group, however, accepted a reworded version of Justice Roberts' amendment. Justice Roberts said it accomplished the same thing.

"No person shall hold more than one state, county, district or municipal office in this state at the same time, provided, a notary public or military officer may hold another office."

Justice Roberts said the measure would avoid possible cases of conflict of interest. He gave an example of where a mayor of a city might hold a legislative post and be called upon to deal with a measure affecting tax distribution in his area.

In other action, the commission temporarily passed over an amendment allowing the governor to suspend indicted municipal officials. Sen. John E. Matthews Jr. of Jacksonville, chief proponent of the measure, was not present and the commission decided to wait until he came in.

Kirk took a chair close to commission Chairman Chesterfield Smith in Barrow within minutes after the commission—a motion from Smith—voted to allow the governor to elect to hold four-year terms.

This means Kirk can now at any time sit in deliberations. Some free-wheeling debates are expected at this week's session.

Amendments dealing with the executive, local government, transportation, taxation, and other issues were jammed on took place 11 miles northeast of the town.

The stepped up air war around Hanoi dominated the picture as only small, scattered ground actions again were reported.

A U.S. spokesman said American pilots clashed with MIGs and the advanced model delta-wing MIGs in four encounters.

In addition, there were "numerous sightings" of the Soviet-designed jets by U.S. fighters.

Off the coast of North Vietnam, the U.S. destroyer Ingersoll (lashed a gun duel with the North Vietnamese shore batteries this morning, U.S. headquarters reported.

Six of the nine candidates running for three vacant council seats in today's Casselberry municipal elections presented their views and answered questions from the audience.

Candidates participating were Arthur Lego, Edward Lamm, and Dr. Eugene Ellis, incumbents, and Erwin Remington, Don Wilson, and George Lewis. Others running for the posts are Charles Woodruff, Richard Wirtz and Paul Briggs.

Clifford Overman was moderator and Hollis Johnson was master of ceremonies. Coffee was served those attending following the program, by members of the VFW and its auxiliary unit.

U. S. Jets Meet Sky Full Of MIGs

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. jets flew a sky full of challenging Communist MIGs Sunday to bomb targets near Hanoi, and pilots reported shooting down one of the Red jets and probably a second.

Retaliating for the heaviest U.S. air losses of the war two days earlier, the American fliers also claimed widespread destruction to one of North Viet Nam's major railroad marshaling yards six miles northeast of Hanoi.

While the air war swirled around the North Vietnamese capital, fresh fighting was reported on the edge of South Viet Nam's capital at the Tan Son Nhut Airport.

American guards led by sentry dogs reported killing 12 North Viet Cong in flushing out remnants of an enemy suicide force which penetrated the big air base Sunday.

In the next two days, U.S. spokesmen reported, 30 Viet Cong were killed in the defense perimeter of Saigon.

Three Americans were killed and five wounded in the Viet Cong attack. U.S. casualties in later action were reported light. One U.S. jet fighter and a Vietnamese transport were damaged.

High Court Ponders Remap Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—Arguments on Florida's latest legislative reapportionment formula were scheduled today before the U. S. Supreme Court, which twice before has halted the state's proposals as not giving fair one-man-one-vote representation.

Lowering the judicial bond on the present version might be accompanied by a directive to hold still another special legislative session to come closer to the court's specifications.

The state's 46-senator, 117-representative formula was frozen in a special session last March, and lawmakers were elected from districts provided. If the plan is tipped over some of these legislators-elect could find themselves without seats.

The Need To Vote

Tomorrow some 6,000 registered voters in Sanford will have a chance to knock out authority at the polls by giving our two incumbents in the City Commission a vote of confidence.

Mayor Al Wilson and Earl Higginbotham have both served the city well during their many years in office.

If there was any doubt of this there would have been others qualifying for the race. Since no one else decided to run, it apparently means the people of Sanford feel they are doing a good job.

That's why it is a MUST that every eligible voter here go to the polls to cast their ballots for the two incumbents.

There has been a drive undercover for write-in candidates. This led by some disgruntled people. This write-in candidate is a civic-minded and responsible business leader in the community. However, if he had wanted to seek election he would have put up his qualifying fee like Wilson and Higginbotham. He has said publicly he is not interested in running. That is good enough for us and every voter should feel the same way.

We hope that the same enthusiasm generated by the citizens in the communities of Longwood, Altamonte Springs and Oviedo toward voter registration will carry over into a large turnout of voters at the polls Tuesday.

In Longwood two seats on the council, a new mayor, city clerk and tax collector will be elected while two council seats will be filled in Altamonte Springs. Three positions on council will be elected in Oviedo.

Voting is your sacred right. . . Don't neglect it.

How To Ruin A Town

- Every town has its quota of people who do nothing to make their community a better place to live.
- We agree with Chulota Reporter Liza Baker that the following 12 rules on "How To Ruin A Town," first printed in the Pulaski County Democrat, Waynesville, Mo., are being used by some residents in every Seminole County area. Are you one of the guilty ones?
- 1.—Don't pay taxes or dues to a community club, let the other fellow pay his, then hope to benefit from his money—not yours. Vote against taxes, then fuss because the streets and roads are not kept up and police protection is lax.
  - 2.—Never attend any of the town meetings. If you do, don't have anything to say. Wait until you get outside and then fuss because the streets are not kept up and police protection is lax.
  - 3.—Get all the town will give but don't give anything in return.
  - 4.—Talk cooperation, but don't do any work for the town unless you are paid for it. By all means refuse to serve unless they make you chairman.
  - 5.—Never accept an office. It's easier to criticize than to do things. Accuse anybody who serves in an elected office or who has any authority of being publicity seekers or just wanting to be boss.
  - 6.—Don't do anything for the youth

Yule Double Talk

NEW YORK (AP) — Now that Santa Claus is on the horizon, it is time for a quick brush-up on our Christmas double talk.

There is no other season of the year that puts so great a strain on our vocabulary of appreciation and good will.

Double talk, you will remember, is the art of camouflaging a real meaning or a true feeling. Here are a few tested samples up on our Christmas double talk.

"Are you sure you've been a good little boy?" This little bit could cause trouble even in a straightjacket.

"How I was a good boy, Santa, but I tell him what I want to borrow the money for."

"Oh, just anything will do for little old me." It'll be lucky to get anything at all from little old cheapskate you.

"Wasn't it nice of the Christmas card?" What a booby. Now I'll have to mail them a New Year's card.

"We're featuring this perfume at a pre-Christmas price of $25 an ounce." After Christmas we sell it as mouth wash at a dollar a pound.

"This is just a small token of appreciation, George for all the services you've performed for our family during the past year. Why, is it, just because we live in an apartment, we have to pay blackmail to this bum?"

"Could you help me find a really unusual gift that would surprise my wife?" Perhaps a sequined claymore mine, or a fur-covered booby trap.

"See, boss, I know the real of the staff joins me in thanking you for that unexpected Christmas bonus." Now we can all buy a one-ounce larger turkey for dinner.

"Just what I wanted — a necktie." I need some kind of rag to polish the car with.

"Christmas always makes me feel so sad." Maybe a couple more of those bourbon old-fashioned will cheer me up.

"Daddy, I can't find one of my stockings to hang by the chimney. Can't I hang up one of yours instead?" Yours will hold even so much more.

"Yes, Virginia, there's a Santa Claus." But the old bubbleheart has been spending so much of the year with us lately that he might as well put a "No rent" sign on the North Pole.

James Marlow Analysis Of The News

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sixteen years ago in San Francisco, when the United Nations was patched together, there was almost a feeling of exhilaration around the world.

Perhaps there could be a new beginning when reason and cooperation would prevail and war at last would be disowned as primitive. History indicated otherwise.

But at least there was a chance. In the 16 years since there have been no wars between major powers, but there have been wars. And the two biggest, Korea and Viet Nam, involved the United States.

Although the statements of many two nuclear giants of the world, the United States and the Soviet Union, may claim that reason was the persuasive force in their ability to avoid a head-on clash, fear was a big element, perhaps the biggest.

Thus, the United Nations has not been the ideal solution of the world's problems and, in the foreseeable future, there is no reason to think it will be.

So long as the world's antagonists can meet, argue, dick and be made just a little self-conscious about reverting to barbarism, there is a chance over many years they may achieve a maturity lacking now.

This kind of belief is perhaps the basic reason why I thought agreed Thursday to stay on another five years as U.N. secretary-general after announcing last Sept. 1 that his first five-year term, ending this year, was his last.

Both the United States and the Soviet Union wanted him to stay. His agreement to do so, and he was under pressure from many other governments to say yes, may have averted U.N. chaos in trying to find a successor.

Perhaps the most important effect in his decision to remain is that he gives the troubled United Nations a sense of continuity that can cling to while stumbling through its self-created fog.

Letters To The Editor

Editor, Herald:

I view with alarm the overall damage that could be done to our voting system by the "write-in" vote. Further, if I tested I doubt the legality of it. As a citizen, think about why should ANY candidate step forward and put up a qualifying fee of $90? Why not at least in the bushes and at the last minute fan the fire in any manner of trickery you deem possible to spell victory. We could come up with some interesting "city fathers," but would they be the representation that the movement is based on a personal ax to grind. And, I strongly oppose the act of our City Government being contaminated by being placed in the undignified position of setting the scene for the commission for such a year. They announced many months ago their intention to run for re-election. It is every citizen's right to become disenchanted with any elected official, and he has the perfect right to express his dissatisfaction. Our City Government provides an ACCEPTED manner in which he may be heard; run a candidate of your choice, let him be heard, and let the vote of all interested citizens decide. Our Government states:

"I need some kind of rag to polish the car with."

"Christmas always makes me feel so sad." Maybe a couple more of those bourbon old-fashioned will cheer me up.

"Daddy, I can't find one of my stockings to hang by the chimney. Can't I hang up one of yours instead?" Yours will hold even so much more.

"Yes, Virginia, there's a Santa Claus." But the old bubbleheart has been spending so much of the year with us lately that he might as well put a "No rent" sign on the North Pole.

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

Dr. Aray is now the greatest single unifying influence for the alumni of North-Western University.

Dr. Aray is now the greatest single unifying influence for the alumni of North-Western University. Similar good teachers, who stay at the same school all their lives, help maintain college loyalty and enthusiasm. Bravo to all good teachers like Dr. Aray! May their tribe increase!

Case B-501: Dr. L. B. Aray, aged 78, is a famous American educator and medical textbook author.

Recently I attended a testimonial luncheon here in Chicago for Dr. Aray. He began with a rueful smile.

"I used to reach the Medical School at 8 a.m. and didn't leave until 7 p.m."

"But now I don't arrive till 9 a.m. and leave at 6 p.m."

As he got up to speak and asked to use the microphone, he depressed the latter saying: "I get no more pleasure in speaking to my audience through a microphone than in kissing a girl through a screen door!"

One of Dr. Aray's textbooks on "Embryology" has been widely used by Medical Schools all over the world.

And Dr. Aray is now one of the few unifying forces that still holds together our medical alumni of the past 51 years.

For the methods of teaching and the architecture of the school has changed radically.

Other faculty members are all gone.

So returning alumni feel like strangers except for the fact they can still be greeted by handsome and cordial Dr. Aray.

He is much like New England's pioneer educator, Mark Hopkins, of whom it was said that the definition of a university was simply Mark Hopkins on one end of a line and the student on the other!

But at least he is earnest, he has balance, he is courageous enough to be critical of the big powers, even though he expresses himself in diplomatic language when he cuts at one side or the other.

It is still vital in medicine, yet computer machines and glorified electronic equipment are now threatening to depersonalize medical treatment.

"Molecular biology" is now the magical phrase in medical education, said Dr. ARAY.

The old stress on anatomy has also been sidetracked by the advent of electronics.

"Some modern educators," stated Dr. Aray, "have even urged the dropping of all gross anatomy and substituting calculus!"

But when patients are dying of internal bleeding or heart attacks, they don't cry out for calculus!

No, indeed, for patients crave the reassurance of a bedside physician who knows anatomy and surgery, even if he never has heard of "molecular biology."

If medicine becomes too idolatrous concerning computers and other electronic machines, people will turn toward the doctors who still lay their hands on their patients.

This laying of hands was used even by Jesus in his curing of the sick and crippled.

The early saints likewise employed this tangible, tactful approach to their healing.

Chiropactors and dental surgeons are destined to attain higher prestige in the future, for patients will never repose as much faith in machines.

Just as a kiss through a screen door is not very effective, medical treatment via machines cannot hope to replace the human doctor, for $5 per minute into his misdeed. On spreading fires and bomb explosions to go through a time-honored ceremony—the hoisting of the colors.

Minutes ticked by. It was 10:25 to 8 o'clock. Yet band leader Oden McMillan and his 23 musicians remained in formation, seeming oblivious of the danger to their lives. At 8 a.m., the raising of the flag began.

Just then an enemy plane made a swooping plunge toward the Arizona and sent a torpedo into its misdeed. On across the Nevada's fantail it hurtled at blazing speed. Suddenly the plane's rear gunner spotted the assembled musicians near the flagpole.

It triggered his machine gun—and the burst from it came close to hitting McMillan and the Marine guard. But no damage was inflicted. Despite the hubbub escape McMillan and his band resumed playing the Star-Spangled Banner.

It was a true moment of inspiration. Yet there was more of the same defiance to come.

From my hilltop vantage point overlooking Pearl Harbor, I kept my binoculars focused on the Nevada.

As Old Glory fluttered upward to the halfway point on the mast, a strafing plane swooped in low over the ship's machine gun chattered. A blast tore the flag almost to tatters.

This had a nerve-jolting effect on handleader McMillan, and he forgot to wave his haton for a moment. In a swift reflex action his arm flashed out to the accompaniment of the accoutrements. His musicians, galvanized by this example of courage, resumed playing the anthem.

As they hit the final note, another plane came screaming so low that it almost crashed into the Nevada. Its fusillade ripped up huge splinters on the battleship's starboard side.

Having performed their duty under withering fire, Oden McMillan and his crew broke ranks. Across the Nevada's deck they sprinted like fleet hallmarks racing for their opponents' goal line. Some equipped to gun positions and others to first-aid stations, eager now to join their shipmates in fighting roles.

There can be no doubt about it: That dramatic flag-raising ceremony infused the entire personnel of the Nevada with a stiff-necked, die-hard, no-surrender spirit. The commanding officer was ashore at the time the Japanese unleashed their devastating assault. Lt. Cmdr. Francis Thomas, the ranking officer aboard, realized that his ship was in a terrible danger.

He resolved to save it from destruction. His first confidence-inspiring order was to "get up the steam—we're going to make a run for the open sea!" Stilled and resourceful!

There is nothing in the dreary and pathological performance of mainland China — or of the other Communist regimes in Asia — that represents to them (the non-Communist countries) the wave of the future.

—Walt W. Rostow.

As long as we let ourselves be deluded into thinking that the United Nations is an effective organization for collective security and mutual self-defense, which it is not, it prevents us from organizing something that could be what the United Nations claims to be and is not.

A Quarter Of A Century Since 'A Day Of Infamy'

Twenty-five years ago Hoyt McAfee, a testing reporter for several North Carolina newspapers, was in Honolulu. On the morning of December 7, 1941, he drove a naval officer friend to his ship, the Arizona, at Pearl Harbor. On the way home he stopped at a hilltop cafe near Pearl for breakfast. It was then, when 183 Japanese warplanes roared overhead, that the Pacific war began. McAfee was an eyewitness. He recalls the moment in this exclusive dispatch.

By HOYT MCAFEE

In the early moments of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, one scene magnified my attention to the exclusion of all others. A small group of men on the battleship Nevada ignored smoke fumes, rapidly spreading fires and bomb explosions to go through a time-honored ceremony—the hoisting of the colors.

Minutes ticked by. It was 10:25 to 8 o'clock. Yet band leader Oden McMillan and his 23 musicians remained in formation, seeming oblivious of the danger to their lives. At 8 a.m., the raising of the flag began.

"Candid Chatter"

By DOIS WILLIAMS

A REAL FAIRY TALE (al- most very human) — "I am not Linda Spencer—I don't think I am really Cinderella and all this has been a dream. The pages of a story book unfolded and out stepped a fairy princess — someone — keep pinching myself and can't believe all this happened to me from twenty, tiny Sanford.

"After phone calls and a letter, I was whisked off to Jacksonville and boarded a jet — crutches and all — I had injured my foot previously — and in the midst of all this luxury, I was suddenly, not scared stiff, but petrified. You see, I had never flown before and the thoughts of being alone in a strange big city were quite alarming.

"Oh, but the flight was marvelous — didn't even know I was way out in the wild blue yonder.

This is the prelude to a conversation with LINDA SPENCER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. (JIM) SPENCER, of Sanford.

"In the early fall, Linda won the title 'Miss Thermo-Jac of Sanford' in a contest at Mary Katers. Her photo was submitted before a panel of judges as a finalist in the national contest, 'Miss Thermo-Jac, U.S.A. The Grove Company, owner of Thermo-Jac Fashions, of St. Louis liked what they saw in the lovely Sanford lass and chose her as a finalist for the national title.

She was further selected to go to St. Louis to pose for photo-graphs for SEVENTEEN magazine and will be featured in a dramatic fashion layout in the February issue. Three finalists in the national contest joined Linda in St. Louis and the four contestants had an experience they will never forget.

"Would you believe? The other three girls were from the good ol' south — Texas, Tennessee and the Panama Canal Zone. They were all fairly princesses in the strange new atmosphere.

Linda continued on — "We had a gorgeous three-course suite, all decorated in pink, pink, pink and two women chaparrons were with us at all times. A black limousine was at our disposal and we took in the historical landmarks of the famed old city and we also had to call our parents each day.

"The president of the Grove Company lives in a mansion that I have never seen anything like, even in movie and pictures. We were photographed for Seventeen by his possidde. He took eight out to the most fabulous seafood dinner and the bill was way over a hundred dollars — WOW! I'll never have this opportunity again.

"Also we were guests of the president aboard his fantastic riverboat, 'The Golden Arrow,' named for the Thermo-Jac trademark which is a golden arrow. The vessel is a VERY new three-deck paddle boat and my vivid imagination could dream such luxury existed. The entire boat was gold-plated, gold carpeting and the walls were brilliant gold and velvet — you just visualize the beauty and effect.

"We cruised down the Mississippi and watched the sun set through the 'Gateway to the Midwest,' which is a stainless steel arch, 62 stories high, in the river. It was most impressive.

A fun-filled evening is planned for all members, their husbands, escorts and guests. The festivities include a buffet supper, dancing and live entertainment.

J. RICHARDS, sportswriter and now a columnist, if you please, for The Herald, reveals that he doesn't really want to be a "troublemaker" at Seminole Junior College, but feels that someone should take the initiative on behalf of the stu-

Maitre D.s Now Arbiters Of Night Life Fashions

NEW YORK (AP) — For too long, designers, buyers and fashion magazine editors have considered themselves to be the arbiters of the styles women wear.

What does it matter if designers decide that pants suits or clouties or mini-skirts are perfectly acceptable party fare if the man at the door decides they are not? The men who stand at the velvet ropes of pool restaurants and night spots arbitrarily deciding who shall or shall not enter their establishments are the real fashion parasceners.

Drama In 'Jungles Of Bolivia' Village

By JANE CASSELLERY

Due to the realism of the costumes, make-up and setting, those attending the outdoor dramatization at the New Tribes Missions Boot Camp at Oviedo felt like they had been transported to the jungles of Bolivia and a stone age village.

The program was based on the book, "God Planting Five Seeds," Jean Dyer Johnson's account of the five young missionaries (including her husband) who were martyred in the attempt to take the gospel to primitive tribes in the "Green Hell" of Bolivia and how many of the Indians are eventually won for Christ.

A film, showing the missionaries at work before their disappearance, was shown first and then the live drama, depicting what happened to the Indians following this event.

The missionary students and their families portrayed the savages. Taking part in the program, and in the audience, were several missionaries who were inspired by these martyrs and went to Bolivia to continue their work in trying to make friendly contact with these new tribes.

Jim Ostewig, director of the "Boot Camp," who narrated the film, was one of these pioneer missionaries. A musical program was presented by Bruce Porterfield and a thrilling account of their work there entitled, "Commando For Christ," published in 1965.

When the Porterfield and Ostewig families arrived on the field in 1949, they were met by Mel and Connie Wyma, who had been there for three years. Their son, Paul Wyma, and his wife,

LBJ Picks Up Speed ... Driving Car, That Is

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson's Texas driving habits are back in the news again.

White House, using figures from an official log, said Johnson "drove at a moderate speed" on his way to and from a four-hour highway Sunday.

But a newsmen and two photographers driving separate cars said they couldn't keep up with the President despite traveling 80 to 85 miles an hour, and faster in some spots.

Johnson's accelerator foot stirred stories of high-speed driving in March 1964 but Secret Service cars screened newsmen enough to keep them from clocking the President.

Johnson drove his white Continental from the LBJ Ranch to church at Fredericksburg Sunday.

Harold C. Pachios, aide to Bill D. Moyers, press secretary, said the Secret Service log showed an elapsed time of 25 minutes for the 174-mile trip.

"This indicates the President drove at a moderate speed," said Pachios. His figures showed an average speed of 42 miles an hour, including driving time on the ranch road leading to U.S. Highway 290 and several blocks of driving within Fredericksburg.

The log limited visibility to about 100 yards and was heavy enough to necessitate some use of lights and windshield wipers, the newsmen said.

The front car hit 100 miles an hour several times but could not see the Secret Service cars trailing Johnson and did not see the President's car. The second car, moving at speeds up to 90 never caught the first. The third car's driver said he never could catch up with the second car, and finally slowed down.

Raiders Roll Over Tampa Quint

The Seminole Junior College Raiders handed Florida College a 64-47 defeat Saturday night in Tampa and tightened their grip on the number one defensive team ranking in the Sunshine State's junior college basketball loop.

The Raiders limited Lake Sumter to only 21 points as they opened their season with a 61-31 mauling of LSCJ. Then, the SJC cage five dropped a close 62-61 decision to South Florida Junior College but held South Florida to its lowest score as the winners had averaged over 70 points per game.

The Raiders never relinquished the lead throughout the contest, but in the first half the Florida College Falcons played on an even par with the Sanford team and the outcome was in doubt.

However, with the rebounding of Steve Groover, Earl Stokes, Jacob Wallace and Fred Milton, all of whom scored in double figures, the Seminole Raiders pulled away and tightened their defensive game to increase their standings to 2-1. Florida College's late reads 63.

John Thomas, whose driving, lay-up and flashy ball-handling and dribbling kept the Falcons off-guard all night, notched 15 markers to take the top scoring honors for the local team.

Fred Milton who tallied his 14 points on short jump shots or tip-ins was second; Steve Groover, a Seminole High career product garnered 13 while playing both forward and guard and Earl Stokes added 12 for the winners.

Pentecost Paces Bowling Play

One of the most exciting local bowling tournaments came to a close Sunday after three days of head-to-head elimination at Jet Lanes with Harry Pentecost emerging as 13th and Woody Wilson when he rolled a gigantic 237. For the 11 game total he averaged a 207.5, another personal high effort for this tournament.

Jack Kanner came in third place in the A Division with Slim Urban taking the fourth spot.

In the B Division, Zuckerman didn't have it as easy as the A Division champion, Pentecost, when he finally met Dave Krause in the eighth and final round, and lost 196 to 170.

One of the rules in this tournament prevented any finalist from being eliminated until he lost twice. Since this was Zuckerman's first defeat in the eight rounds of competition, it gave him an additional one game to play in the consolation round.

How Dallas Took Over First In NFL Play

into the game tied for the top with identical 8-2 records.

Nofziger, who had quartered back the Cardinals through four touchdownless games after taking over for the injured Charley Johnson, won the statistical battle impressively over the Cardinals, but lost the point war by almost as wide a margin.

He completed 21 passes, gaining 301 yards through the air and directed a Cardinal offense that chalked up 21 first downs to only 11 for the Cowboys. Meredith, who came out on top on the scoreboard, completed only seven passes for 84 yards.

How then did the Cowboys win by 14 points? Three recovered fumbles and two interceptions did the job.

The Cowboys scored three times in the first half as the players battled through the thick haze enveloping the Cotton Bowl. And each TD followed a break.

First, Johnny Roland fumbled a fair catch and Dallas' J.D. Smith recovered at the Cardinals 45. Dan Reeves sprinted for the score on the next play.

After Nofziger had driven St. Louis to a field goal and a TD—his first since Nov. 6—when Johnson was injured—Dallas struck again. A pass intercepted by Dallas' defensive end, Don Perkins slammed in for the score.

Elsewhere in the NFL Sunday, Green Bay clinched at least a tie for the Western Conference crown by beating San Francisco 20-7. Baltimore, Denver, Houston and New York tied for the lead in the Eastern Division title. Nance scored one and gained 109 yards raising his record rushing total to 1,284 yards for the season.

For Jim Nance 26 pounds was the difference between the bench and the record book.

Nance's running highlighted Boston's 14-3 American Football League victory over Buffalo Sunday, a victory that all but gave the Patriots the Eastern Division title. Nance scored one and gained 109 yards raising his record rushing total to 1,284 yards for the season.

All in all, it's a big change from the former Syracuse star's 1965 season in the AFL, his first during which he spent most of the time gaining weight instead of yards.

"I got my weight down to 236," he said. "I can make better, sharper cuts now. And I set my goal as being the best back in the league."

How well he has succeeded is shown partially in the standings of the Eastern Division. Boston has only to tie its last two games against Houston and New York to win the title.

Also, it is not totally out of the question for Nance to beat the second-year rushing total of 1,527 yards gained by Jim Brown with the Cleveland Browns in 1958.

Nance's touchdown was a 65-yard effort — the longest rush of his career — and he also supplied a key block that broke quarterback Babe Parilli for a 3-yard scoring run.

In other AFL games, San Diego beat Houston, 28-21. Denver took Miami, 17-7, and in a Saturday game, Oakland and New York fought to a 28-28 tie.

Oviedo Slugs Jackets, 63-31; Johnson Stars

Oviedo's junior varsity squad was too tall for the Sanford Naval Academy's varsity Friday as they downed the Blue Jackets 63-31.

Oviedo took a five-point lead in the first period and added to its total in each period. In the third quarter Oviedo doubled its lead by shelling up 25 points to the Jackets eight.

Bill Middleton led the Blue Jackets' scoring attack with 14 points.

Ray Johnson led the Oviedo JV's offensively by completing 10 passes for 20 points and adding six points on free throws. Phil Walker followed Johnson with 17 points.

Steve Branton became the rebound king for Oviedo, pulling 37 rebounds off the backboard. Branton also did a fine job of frantically collecting 12 points for the Lions.

In the preliminary game, the Jackets defeated Oviedo's second string JV's 21-15.

Children are not being brought up to adapt to crisis situations. They don't know how to react to crisis, complained Margaret Mead, the anthropologist.

It's a safe bet Dr. Mead would have a hard time convincing the younger generation that what she claims about them is true. Crisis? Today's kids think they are always facing some kind of crisis or other. Look at all of the conveniences in the modern home that cause a family crisis when they go on the blink. Mama's car just doesn't know what a real crisis is.

Kids today have even worse problems to deal with. Think of the crisis a teen-age boy faces when his dad says, "You either go to bed or you go to the bathroom." Or the dishwasher who wants to wear a bikini, false hair, or a miniskirt—and she has to go around looking wholesome all day long. Oh, today's kids are used to meeting crises, all right. Otherwise would they be forever waiting "Oh Mother, how could you?" or "Dad, how could you?" or "Dad, how could you?" or "Dad, how could you?"

By LARRY VERHEL
Four teenagers decided to have some fun Dec. 1... They took their slingshots armed with BB shells and lined First Street as the annual Christmas parade began... Yeah, they had fun... they shot at horses, marders and Santa Claus... "It was real cool," one of them said yesterday afternoon at police headquarters... An anonymous tip to Det. Sgt. Charles Fagan and the four were in custody... Here's one of them speaking: "Yeah, man, it was great... We took turns helping people and here came old Santa and we really let him have it... The old man put his finger up to his eye and we got scared and got out of there fast. Honest, we just wanted to have some fun... And so the four were arrested... and promptly turned over to their parents... They'll probably be reprimanded in Juvenile Court and that will be the end of the story... Think of this, Sanford, as we rest comfortably in our living rooms tonight and click on the TV set and lose ourselves in our own little worlds... Someday we ought to do a story on how many surveys 'Seminoles Community Action' has conducted since last April... Oh, well, we hear Helen Gleason will get the 'head start' leadership once funds are available from the S. S... Local GOP officials are wondering why no invitations yet to the inauguration in Tallahassee... Poor Webb Jones. Some days it just doesn't put up with the county arrested him on the same bookmaking charge... Nobody asked me but the South Seminoles Jaycees deprive a lot of credit for their 'Green Club' project in Casselberry... They had 200 down there last Friday night and over 100 Saturday... State auditors in town look over the county books... We've been... to the architects on the proposed new courthouse... But they got the word... Only John Alexander can give out anything... I tried to get something from Fiscal Agent D. Kirk Gunby... Only John Alexander can give out the word... Nobody asked me but the city should do something about that Nativity scene in front of City Hall... The canvas and Lunn, were in... Why doesn't one of our better artists donate some free time to touch up the exhibit? I'm sure the city would have some of the materials... Which reminds me city crews painting over the cracks inside City Hall today... Will it stop the leaks? FOR THE STATISTICAL MIND... Ever wonder how many people are divorced and married during a six-month period in Seminole County? Well, from January through August there were 209 divorces recorded and 287 marriages... Oh, yes, for the same period of time, there were 376 deaths and 906 births... How come many residents of the city have to wait until 5 and 6 p.m. to get their mail? Maybe they should put on extra help during the Christmas season... Okay, who's supposed to take down the flag at Longwood City Hall? Old Glory was removed at 11 p.m. last Friday by a serviceman... It was flying after dusk again Saturday... You take a walk along the lakefront by the Sanford Naval Academy and get mighty discouraged... The city goes to a lot of trouble trimming palm trees, painting city hall, but how about that bulkhead?... The holes are terrible and if something isn't done soon it could cave in and some poor fisherman will drown and everyone will wonder why. But we'll know!

Early Vote In Sanford Election 'Steady'

Voling in Sanford city elections today appeared steady, despite the fact that only two unopposed candidates are listed on the voting machines. At noon today approximately 400 persons had voted, polling both tabulations showed. Two candidates, Commissioners Earl Higginbotham and A. L. Wilson, both running for re-election, are unopposed, officially. However, circulated handbills urging write-in votes in both Group I and II for ex-commissioner J. H. Crapps and J. Vidal Jones, respectively, apparently sparked greater interest in an otherwise more or less "shoot-in" contest. The rapidity with which voters moved in and out of the booths did not seem to indicate any large number of "write-in" votes however. Out of the 630 registered voters in the city, it has been estimated that only about 1,000 would vote, but it seems likely the size created by the "undercover" write-in campaigns may boost that figure. Machines set up in the Civic Center were in almost continuous use since the polls opened at 7 a. m. They will remain open until 7 p. m. Official canvass is set for noon Wednesday at City Hall. Incumbent city commissioners serve as the official canvassing board.

There are 608 registered to vote. City Hall is voting place in Longwood, polls will be open until 7, and elections are for two councilmen, mayor, city clerk and tax collector. ## In Casselberry It's Ellis, Woodruff, Willson

Casselberry voters returned incumbent Dr. Eugene H. Ellis to the city council for another two-year term in Monday's municipal election with 250 votes, and Charles Woodruff, receiving 210 votes, and former mayor, Don Willson, with 128 votes, to fill the other two vacant seats. All three winning candidates ran on a platform of "no new taxes." Woodruff, who served two years on the council, pledged to continue serving the needs of the people and develop for their use the new recreation site acquired by the city to include a civic and youth center, picnic pavilions and other facilities. Willson served as mayor of Casselberry in 1957 and 1959 and was first postmaster of the town. The other two incumbents seeking re-election, Arthur N. Hill and Edward Lunn, were defeated. Lunn received 158 votes and Lunn, 164. There were 411 votes cast, including six absentee ballots, out of 869 registered voters. Candidates trailing the field were Richard Wirtz, 107 votes; Paul W. Briggs, 88 votes; Erwin Remington, 50 votes, and George Lotwick, 41 votes.

All development in the town of Altamonte Springs requiring use of the town water system will come to a halt with receipt Monday of notification from the Department of Housing and Urban Development that applications for $720,000 for a sewerage system and water extension have been withdrawn. Mayor W. Lawrence Swafford in a statement to The Herald today said that two plans slated to be presented to Council Wednesday for 18 acres and 35 acres will be tabled as well as any plan requests until something water extension facilities. According to the letter received from HUD, the withdrawal does not affect in anyway the application for grants of $371,000. Applications for the grants and loans were filed last March. Members of the city manager, town attorney, fiscal agent and engineer will hold an emergency meeting to consider further plans to cope with the situation before the regular meeting Wednesday evening. # Injunction Suit Expected To Be Filed Within A Few Days

The County Commission was today accused of proceeding in an unlawful manner regarding the present courthouse plans and was informed that injunctive legal action will be filed.

Cliff Jordan, chairman of the courthouse committee of the South Seminoles Jaycees, in a prepared statement said, "It appears that one county citizen is preparing to file suit to stop any further expenditure on the present courthouse plans. Within the next few days this suit is expected to be served claiming the commission is proceeding in an unlawful manner in regard to the new courthouse construction. I understand this action started when the commission refused to hold a legal public hearing or stop present plans. The rest of the details I'll leave to the attorneys. "I believe now more than ever we should seek a complete study of total county needs by an unbiased group," Jordan concluded. Jordan added, "The South Seminoles Jaycees completely supports the citizen in this suit." He further urged citizens to participate in the forum to be sponsored by the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce on Dec. 12 and announced that he would represent his organization at the forum.

The commission made no comment to Jordan's remarks. The long-awaited decision on the alignment of Sand Lake Road was decided with the commissioners voting unanimously to shift that section of the road near the hill and houses on the south side. The road department was instructed to pave a 600-foot section, install curbs and gutters with a 10-foot shoulder on the north side of the road. Work will proceed as soon as practical in January and cost is not to exceed $65,000. Deferred action on the request from the St. Johns Indian River Authority that 350 feet of county land at Muller Lake Park be donated until the attorney can search the deeds. Delayed action on request of the Bear Gulley Lake Association that stricter requirements be enforced before dredging permits are approved until the board can study the matter further. Declared no objection to discussions by the Orange-Seminole Joint Planning Commission of including Osceola County in the commission as presented by Harlan Hanson, planning director.

Library Thrift Shop To Open In Altamonte

By JULIA BARTOS
Altamonte Springs Community Library will open its Thrift Shop in back of the library building on Mainland Avenue, Saturday, Dec. 17, with a bake sale.

Plans for the project were made at the December meeting of the executive board members who announces donations of baked goods for the sale will be greatly appreciated. Other events planned include the Annual Silver Tea, Jan. 29, and a benefit card party, Feb. 17, at the Altamonte Community House. There will be a fashion show in April, time and place to be announced.

The ways and means committee reported a profit of $186 from recent projects, which will go to the library building fund. The book sale brought $400 and a remainder was derived from sale of 5,000 pounds of folded newspapers. More newspapers are needed to fill orders on hand and any person wishing to donate papers are asked to leave them at the library or at the home of Mrs. George Hearn, 107 Genevieve Drive. Four new heaters have been purchased and wall to wall carpeting will be installed in the children's room. The library will close for the Christmas and New Year's holidays from Dec. 21 until Jan. 3.

World War I Veterans, Barracks 2898, of Altamonte Springs, and its Auxiliary Unit, will install new officers when they meet at 2 p.m., Thursday, Dec. 15, at the Altamonte Springs Community House on Mainland Avenue. This also will be the Christmas meeting and a 50 cent gift exchange is planned with the men to bring gifts for men and the women for the women.
