WACs in Japan Enjoy Civilian Clothes As Often As Permissible

By DUANE HENNESSY

TOKYO—There's a warm argument going on among American soldiers here as to whether they like the WACs better in uniform or in civilian clothes.

New regulations permit them to continue to wear civilian clothes at almost any time when they are off duty—and from now on, men in the Service without even asking permission.

Some soldiers contend the girls look more attractive in their army uniforms. But others insist they take their uniforms off as soon as possible and wear civilian clothes that let a man forget he's with a fellow.

The girls themselves are divided on the matter. One argument is that they are more attractive in uniform because they want to be and they should not be forced to wear them just because the men are trying to do it. The other side counters that a uniform is a handicap because it puts them at a disadvantage in front of War Department girls and boys from other countries.

But some soldiers contend the civilian clothes with them are wearing them at every opportunity. On Saturdays they go to the city, visit the building, the WAC barracks in downtown Tokyo, and stroll the downtown streets.

The girls are more efficient in their army uniforms. But others insist they take their uniforms off as soon as possible and wear civilian clothes that let a man forget he's with a fellow.

Eddie Miller May Be Placed On Block By Cincinnati Reds

JACKSONVILLE, Mar. 25—Reports from Florida indicate that bidding soon may open for the services of Eddie Miller, shortstop of the Cincinnati Reds. Miller recently announced his return to active duty, after previously saying that he would retire from baseball because of an injury incurred in the Army.

Since President Warren Giles of the Redlegs has hinted that Eddie will go on the block, it is believed that the Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia Phillies, both in need of a shortstop, may open negotiations for the fielding ace.

Truman Seeks Greek Aid OK Before Mar. 31

President Asks Program Be Approved By Congress Prior To British Deadline

WASHINGTON, Mar. 26—The Senate Select Committee today approved legislation placing House Speaker Joe Martin of Massachusetts first in line for succession to the presidency. The vote was 8 to 5.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 26—President Truman said today he hoped Congress would okay his $400,000,000 Greek-Turkish aid program before Mar. 31st, the deadline for Britain's withdrawal from Greece. A newsman asked Mr. Truman whether he would support a stop-gap loan to Greece if it became clear that there would be an unusual delay in acting on his request. The president replied that he preferred not to anticipate events.

The President said that Warren Austin, our UN representative, will cover the whole Greek-Turkish situation Friday in a speech to the United Nations Security Council. The President also announced that Ambassador Richard Patterson is not returning to his post in Yugoslavia. Mr. Truman gave no explanation of why Patterson is not returning to Belgrade.

President Truman told a news conference today that he is concerned over rising prices generally and that he hopes industry will cooperate to reduce them.

The Chief Executive declared that he hopes other industries will follow the example of firms like

United States-Canada plan to throw a radar screen around the north today is seen as another long stride in the development of the Arctic wastelands.

Canada's External Affairs Minister, Louis St. Laurent, announced the joint plan to establish a series of long range radar aid-to-navigation stations in the Arctic within the next two years. Two of the stations in the system, known as Loran, are expected to be completed this year, and possibly another year or so.

"These stations are seen not only as materially increasing the potential of northern bases, but as an added force to United States moves in the international political field."

In addition, President Truman's contemplated visit to Canada in early June is viewed in some Canadian quarters as a further demonstration of the close friendship between Canada and the U. S.

In his announcement of the Loran program, the Canadian minister and United States offered to assist Canada by supplying technical personnel until sufficient trained Canadians are available for replacement.

The external affairs minister said this aid "would make it possible to have the Loran stations constructed and in operation at an early date."

Shippers here predict that not more than 350 cars of Florida celery a week will be sent to northern and western markets during the next three weeks.

The supply of winter cabbage, which was hard hit by cold weather coming after several months of unprecedented warmth, is about gone, and in its place is a fine quality crop of spring cabbage. This year, say shippers, may last for the next six weeks.

Cabbage is now bringing between $1.15 and $1.25 per 50 pound unit.

March has been a very rainy month, with 6.12 inches of rain to now recorded by B. F. Whittier, weatherman. Normal rainfall for the period to date is 2.74 inches.

NEW ORLEANS, Mar. 26—New Orleans is short of milk today because of the dairy farmers strike. Strike sympathizers at Amite, La., stopped a second Illinois Central passenger train and seized nearly 8000 gallons of milk.

Amed men had already seized 60,000 gallons of milk in the same area. The dairy farmers are trying to restore a price cut in milk that was ordered two days ago.
