Mid-East War Rages In Sinai

N. Korean Pilots Fighting For Egypt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Israeli fighter planes were engaged with Soviet MIG fighters piloted by North Koreans flying over Egypt, the Pentagon said today.

Pentagon spokesman William Beecher said North Korean pilots on loan to the Egyptian air force engaged in a brief dogfight with Israeli fighters in the air south of Cairo.

Beecher said no planes were downed on either side, though shots were exchanged.

There were approximately 30 North Korean pilots in Egypt before the latest Arab-Israeli fighting began almost two weeks ago, but today's report was the first indication of an Israeli-North Korean encounter.

The Pentagon declined to identify the source of its information, but the report apparently came from Israeli pilots.

"Neither side took any losses or hits," Beecher said. "It was a short dogfight situation."

Beecher was asked if there has been any evidence of other Communist-bloc nations providing pilots for the Egyptian or Syrian air forces.

He responded that Israeli pilots have indicated they believe they were fighting pilots of either Communist-bloc nations, but said there is no firm substantiating evidence.

Egyptian and Israeli tanks clashed furiously today in the large and possibly decisive Suez Canal battle, Syria said its tanks knocked back an Israeli probe on the Golan Heights front.

Egypt said the Suez fighting centered around the central Bitter Lakes section of the canal and called on Israelis there to "surrender or face complete destruction."

"The battles raging since Wednesday, in the middle sector, are the most ferocious of all since the war began," said Cairo radio. "But our troops will continue, according to plan, to achieve victory."

Israel said its jets were pounding Egyptian targets in support of the Suez armored forces and claimed Israeli ground fire downed two Soviet-built MIG warplanes and two Egyptian helicopters.

The Egyptians claimed their air defenses shot down 12 Israeli planes and said four Israeli pilots were captured.

Intense diplomatic activity was reported under way to end the fighting. Unconfirmed reports circulated in Washington, Moscow and other world capitals that Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin was in Cairo heading a Soviet mission.

The Middle East war also came home to non-combatant Beirut with offshore explosions that cut an undersea cable.

Publicize Holdings, Askew Tells Nixon

MIAMI BEACH (AP)—Gov. Reubin Askew today called on President Nixon to make public his financial holdings and income tax returns "as a gesture toward restoring confidence in our national government."

Askew said in a speech for the AFL-CIO's biennial convention that the goal of good government should start with a strong program of ethics in government, including disclosure of financial holdings and income tax returns. In the three years he has been governor, Askew has filed a copy of his income tax returns and other financial data. "I don't believe it has hurt my social standing and I don't believe it would be a source of embarrassment to any public official who has nothing to hide," he said.

The governor said Vice President-designate Gerald Ford's pledge to disclose his finances to a congressional committee "should be a signal for all public office holders to follow Congressman Ford's lead and to make their disclosure public."

Serious Condition Remains For Wirz

Richard Wirz, Casselberry city councilman, remains in serious condition in Florida Hospital North as a result of gunshot wound he suffered Tuesday night, but doctors today report that the condition of the 34-year-old politician has stabilized.

David Lee Griffin, 31, of 11 Michelle Drive, Casselberry is in the Seminole County jail charged with aggravated assault with a deadly weapon, in lieu of $2,500 bond.

Griffin's bond was reduced from $5,000 by County Court Judge Harold F. Johnson, who scheduled a preliminary hearing for Griffin at 3 p.m. Friday.

Casselberry police report the investigation of the shooting which occurred at Griffin's home is continuing in that Wirz has not been interviewed.

According to police reports Wirz, Griffin and Arthur Rainin were preparing for a hunting trip to Colorado when Wirz was shot with a .25 caliber revolver.

Rainin took Wirz to the hospital and police arrested Griffin at his home shortly afterwards.

Casselberry police said Rainin reported the incident from the hospital.

LI. Fredrick McGowan said Wednesday a preliminary investigation ruled out the possibility of an accidental shooting.

Altamonte Loses City Clerk, Jordahl Confirmed By Council

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

ALZAMONTE SPRINGS—The city council in a hastily called special meeting this morning confirmed the appointment of Phyllis Jordahl as city clerk, replacing Jane Richards who resigned from the post late Wednesday afternoon to seek a seat on the city council.

Mayor Lawrence Swofford, calling the emergency session, said he has been expecting Mrs. Richards' resignation and was prepared to name a replacement. Mrs. Richards was not available for comment.

A state law requiring resignation of public officials 45 days before the beginning of a qualifying period caused some confusion today over whether Mrs. Richards could seek the council office.

However, City Atty. Joe Davis told The Herald when Mrs. Richards resigned her office Wednesday she no longer came under the purview of the resignation law.

"Swofford called the resignation a move by his 'partisan' supporters," said Mrs. Richards.

Richards is running for Councilman Keith Nixon's office because "she can be controlled by the opposition."

Although Nixon has not formally announced his intent to run for return to the office he has held for the past 10 years, it is known that he has been preparing campaign literature for the past eight days. Cal De'Onof of Spring Oaks has also announced for the district council office.

Swofford said Mrs. Richards at 4:30 p.m. Wednesday submitted her written resignation.

"My resignation is submitted of my own free will and for only the reasons stated—to seek public elective office," she said.

Swofford said Mrs. Richards' resignation was effective Wednesday.

Mrs. Jordahl, Swofford said, has been working for the city for the past six months in the comptroller's office. She has 15 years experience in municipal government.

Mrs. Jordahl was also not available for comment today with many years experience in government. During her tenure she was praised by the mayor and council members on many occasions for her efficiency, dependability and thoroughness.

Mrs. Jordahl is the city's sixth clerk in the past five years.

Richards and named Comptroller Denver Baxter, treasurer.

Swofford admitted today that Mrs. Richards for many months has been attempting to resign.

Bradshaw Claims Part Time Status

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

WINTERSPRINGS—City zoning administrator and building official Ray Bradshaw, called "part time" and "a bargain basement city manager" at Wednesday's city council meeting, today received a vote of confidence from Mayor Granville Brown.

Brown today said Bradshaw is in "good shape" with the council, despite undergoing a 30-minute quizzing Wednesday night by members who labled further discussion of his situation for two weeks.

Indicating surprise that Bradshaw is not a full-time building inspector but rather a part-time zoning administrator, three council members questioned him closely about his announced employment with Lake Mary, also as a zoning director.

A suggestion was heard that Lake Mary help pay Bradshaw's salary.

Bradshaw who receives a salary of $8,268 from Winters Springs plus an auto allowance said he never intended to work full time at the Winters Springs job.

Councilman Vicki Baker said the board believed when Bradshaw was appointed six months ago that "we were hiring a building inspector with a glorified title."

Councilman John Booth said the city council had no intention of hiring a "bargain basement city manager."

Councilman Victor Miller answered that it appears the council will have to raise Bradshaw's salary to $16,000 annually for his full-time service. "And you would be getting a bargain," Bradshaw said.

Bradshaw said accepting a building inspector title would be a "come down" and something he has been overqualified for for the past 20 years.

He added that he did not accept the job for the money. "I'm probably better off financially than any man in this room," he said.

Bradshaw insisted he has put Winters Springs first in his relationship with Lake Mary, has received no salary from Lake Mary and does not know when any will be forthcoming.

Lake Mary Mayor Donald Jackson said today the budget allocates $3,000 for the building inspector job in addition to a car allowance. But, he said, he has to negotiate with Bradshaw on a salary.

Kaiser 'Very Disappointed' County Slashes Fire Budget

By CHRIS NELSON
Herald Staff Writer

Penny-pinching Seminole County commissioners may have priced themselves "under" the market in their tentative $3,492 budget for the newly approved county fire prevention department.

At least, that's the "very disappointed" opinion of Gary Kaiser, chairman of the committee which drew up the specifications for the ordinance, effective Nov. 12, and Monday submitted a budget request of $8,884.

"I'm definitely concerned about funding the commission has apparently settled on," Kaiser, former Altamonte Springs fire chief and a leading candidate for the top county post, said today.

"We anticipated the director putting in frequent 60-hour weeks, and they're just not going to be able to hire a first rate guy for the money they're talking about," Kaiser added.

The ordinance, which authorized advertising for a director at the minimum step salary of $12,500, despite the fire committee's recommendation of a minimum $15,000 necessary to secure a properly trained man.

Also shocked at the economy move, slashing the request after previously earmarking $5,866 for the department from federal revenue sharing funds, was County Commissioner Dick Williams.

"One of the big problems in Seminole County is that we say we want to do things, but we aren't willing to spend any money to get them done," Williams said after Tuesday's commission meeting saw his arguments defeated.

Williams, noting the board must still give final approval to the budget next week, said "I'm going to try again to convince them that they have got to go to salary level of at least $15,000 for the director, and I'll continue to push for $18,000."

The tentative budget sheet in the clerk's office also shows that the board allocated only one car to the department, despite apparently agreeing Tuesday to one car each for the administrator and the chief inspector.

Today, county staff indicated they felt the omission of one of the contracts, priced at $3,000, was a "mistake" that would be rectified Tuesday.

Tropical Storm Gilda Expected In Cuba Today

MIAMI (AP) — Dozens of people were evacuated today from low lands in Cuba's Oriente Province as tropical storm Gilda, producing gale force winds and heavy rains, headed toward the island.

In a broadcast monitored in Miami, Radio Havana said evacuation was underway in Cuba's southeastern coast.

The National Hurricane Center said Gilda's winds were expected to spread into the Florida Straits tonight.

Forecasters said Gilda was heading north at about six miles an hour and at 9 a.m., EDT, was 65 miles south of the central Cuban coast and 65 miles south of Miami at latitude 20.7 north, longitude 79.7 west.

"Gilda changed to a northerly course early today and poses a threat, but not a direct threat, to the United States," said forecaster Paul Hebert.

The center said Gilda was expected to continue on a slow northward course for the rest of today.

The storm was expected to gather strength as it remained over water.

Authorities Say UFOs Are Balloons

Weather research balloons have prompted a new rash of reports of unidentified flying objects throughout the South and UFO-bugged authorities are bracing for more reports today and Friday.

At least two offices of the National Weather Service reported separate launchings of weather balloons Wednesday.

A large balloon, 150 feet in diameter, was launched at Palestine, Tex., and authorities say it drifted over Mississippi at a constant 50,000-foot altitude. The weather service at Montgomery, Ala., also reported launching a balloon with an altitude reaching about 50,000 feet.

Many of the sightings occurred after the sun had gone down but a spokesman at the National Weather Service in Macon, Ga., explained the sun's light would reflect off the balloon long after dusk because of the high altitude of the object.

Meanwhile, officials at Eglin Air Force Base in Florida have announced high atmospheric rocket tests today and Friday and cautioned that the rockets could easily be mistaken for UFOs.

Air Force officials said the rockets would release glowing clouds of red, green, blue and yellow gases.

A spokesman said the colors in the sky will be visible as far south as Miami, as far west as Corpus Christi, Tex., as far north as Memphis, Tenn., and along the Eastern Seaboard to Charleston.

Pentagon Analysts Predict Tanks Turning Point in War

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cairo newspapers reported today the biggest tank battle of the war was still raging in the Sinai Desert as Israelis and Syrians probed one another's defenses in tank and artillery skirmishes on the Golan Heights front.

Unconfirmed reports circulated in Washington and other world capitals that Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin was heading a Soviet mission now in Cairo. The New York Times reported in a dispatch quoting diplomats in the Egyptian capital that Moscow has begun high-level efforts to bring about a settlement of the Middle East war.

Five Arabic-speaking gunmen raided the Bank of America in downtown Beirut, Lebanon. They took between 20 and 30 hostages in an operation they told officials was aimed at hurting American interests and securing the release of Palestinian guerrillas imprisoned in Lebanon.

They also demanded a plane and safe conduct out of Lebanon, a noncombatant Arab country just north of Israel on the Mediterranean. Negotiations continued.

The 13-day-old Middle East war also came home to Beirut with offshore explosions that were the work of Israeli fragments.

Israel claimed it destroyed 90 to 100 Egyptian tanks in the crucial Sinai battle Wednesday along the Suez Canal. Egypt said the Israelis "suffered heavy losses in tanks and armored cars."

"In the next day or so, we should be able to tell if this is the decisive battle," said an American official in Washington.

"It looks as if it will come to a head soon," said Maj. Gen. Haim Herzog, former Israeli army intelligence chief.

The Israeli drive into Syria remained bogged down about 21 miles from Damascus and the Syrians claimed they knocked out seven Israeli tanks just after dawn "when our forces repelled an enemy attack on one of our forward positions."

Congressional Probe On Ford Uncovers Nothing Embarrassing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President-designate Gerald R. Ford says the FBI probe for congressional confirmation hearings has uncovered no potentially embarrassing incidents in his past as far as he could tell from agents' questioning.

Ford, the first person to come under the 25th Amendment's new procedure for replacing a vice president, commented in an interview with The Associated Press.

"I believe that under the circumstances the person selected in this situation as in any other has to have his life exposed in a factual way to the maximum degree."

Ford also said he expects President Nixon to veto at least three more bills before he can be confirmed and begin work on his goal of trying to achieve compromises with Congress to avoid six confrontations.

He said he agreed with Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield that a Republican vice president working closely with congressional Democrats to reach such compromises will be "a delicate operation."

"But that doesn't mean men of good will can't work together and achieve reasonably common goals," he said.

Catalytic Converter Defended
DETROIT (AP)—A General Motors official has defended the auto maker's catalytic converters, a proposed antipollution system. Robert Sempel said Wednesday researchers critical of sulfate and sulfuric acid emissions from the devices have been using devices more primitive than the unit GM has developed. A government report says sulfate emissions from the devices may pose health problems in areas of traffic congestion. Converters resemble a muffler and use platinum to change carbon monoxide and hydrocarbons into harmless carbon dioxide and water vapor. "We don't have any reservations about our system," Sempel said.

Organized Campaign Mounted
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The AFL-CIO's biennial convention opens today with union chief Martin Luther King Jr. presiding. He is expected to announce a national campaign to elect a veto-proof Congress in 1974. King said labor would use "everything we have got in the political field next year to see if we can't get enough votes in the House of Representatives to override vetoed legislation." President Nixon has recently vetoed several labor-backed measures, including the minimum wage bill and emergency medical services legislation.

Perjury Charges Dismissed

Charges of perjury against Joe Thomas Russell in connection with the 1971 fire that destroyed Meador's Marine have been dismissed.

Russell's attorney David Best, filed a motion of dismissal on the basis that the information about the alleged perjury was too vague and thus precluded an adequate defense.

Judge Dominick Salli granted the dismissal motion and gave the state attorney's office 14 days to refile.

"I do not plan to refile, at least not at this time," Assistant State Atty. William Heffernan said.

St. Johns Canal District Loses Its Survival Fight

A hundred-year-old dream of a canal linking the St. Johns and Indian Rivers died today when the board of directors of the St. Johns-Indian River Canal District decided to abolish the district.

The district was created by the Florida Legislature June 12, 1963, at which time the estimated cost of construction the canal was $10 million.

This cost today has escalated to an estimated $38 million.

When the canal project was first authorized as a state project in 1956 the estimated cost was a mere $30,000.

District Chairman John Krider said they have not produced enough benefits to justify the annual cost of the project.

"The way in the world can we get enough tonnage," he said. "There is no feasible way of continuing with the canal — we're just beating our heads against a wall."

District members Everett Huxley (Orange County) and W. A. Patrick (Seminole County) both resigned abandonment of the district with arguments that they should wait until litigation on the Florida Cross-State barge canal was resolved, and their attitude should be more "how can we continue," rather than "why we should stop."

However, after the reading of a resolution prepared by attorney Mack Cleveland, Patrick made the motion they adopt the resolution to abolish the canal district. It was seconded by Huxley and carried unanimously.

District member Edwin Sanders (Volusia County) was not present.

Cleveland said he has been an enthusiastic supporter of the canal project for the past 10 years, and it was with reluctance he recommended its abolition.

"Regardless of the outcome of litigation of the Florida Cross-State barge canal, we have no way of financing this canal," he said.

"The state is not interested in helping us, and we are losing the support of four county commissioners." (Seminole, Orange, Volusia and Brevard Counties were involved with the canal district.)

"We have accomplished our purpose which was to establish feasibility, determine alignment, and right-of-way for the canal," said Krider. "Inflation has caught up with us. We must face the facts and abolish the project."

Cleveland said the district could at this time serve a better purpose by informing the state for reasons mainly economic the project is no longer feasible.

Shevin To Fight Prisoner's 'Rights'

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Florida Atty. Gen. Robert Shevin was to appear before the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals today to argue against a so-called "bill of rights for prisoners."

The state is appealing a ruling by U.S. District Court Judge Charles Scott of Jacksonville, Fla., that state prison inmates must be given due process of law before being punished.

Prisoners accused of breaching prison discipline must have the right to a hearing, including cross-examination of witnesses against him and representation by a lawyer or another prisoner, Scott ruled last January.

Shevin has said the decision "will cause disruption within the prison system" and "goes well beyond anything required before Florida."

He also said allowing prisoners to represent other inmates would allow lawyers in prison to build up "a power structure within the system."

1,100 Jobs By January Stromberg Employment Climbing

By JEAN PATTESON
Herald Staff Writer

Stromberg-Carlson, Seminole County's largest industrial employer, predicted a 1,100 person work force by the end of this year, up from 300 in July 1971, and will grow 300 a year after that, a company spokesman said today.

Company executive Joe Hartwig, noting present employment of 220 at the plant, made his prediction during a Sanford Chamber of Commerce "Industrial 25" committee meeting which accepted a "challenge" from Seminole Junior College to set up a communications systems training center in Sanford.

"We'll train — you attract," said Russell Moncrief, school program director, after outlining the vocational-technical opportunities offered by SJC.

He stressed the growing importance of efficient communications in today's world, and described the new telephone communications training program started in January with the cooperation of the Florida Telephone Association.

The main training facility is located in a 17,000 sq. ft. building at the Sanford Airport, and the program has attracted out-of-state interest from Georgia and as far afield as Washington, D. C.

"One purpose of your committee is to attract desirable industry to Seminole County," Moncrief said. "Possibly we could sponsor a series of top management seminars here to make industrialists aware of the training and industrial potential in the Sanford area."

Clifford McKibbin recommended Chamber Executive Secretary John Krider form a small committee to look into possibilities of cooperating with the college.

Hartwig outlined the basic problems facing Stromberg-Carlson which are common to other industries in the area. The shortage of housing for both low and middle income families, and the lack of good day-care centers are the main problems said Hartwig. He foresees the lack of a public transportation system as a major problem of the future.

Stromberg-Carlson has completed a 168,000 sq. ft. addition to its plant, he said, noting his growth predictions of 1,100 this year and 300 per year after that.

"You can see we need housing—and now!" said Hartwig. He said as about 75 per cent of his corporation's employees are females, the child day-center problem is a major one.

Moncrief said SJC has a child day-care center training facility, which they hope will produce persons to operate and work in centers and so help relieve this problem. He said the low wage paid day-care workers is a limiting factor in the expansion of the program at this time.

Moncrief told the committee the college has just awarded a $3.7 million bid to Fennell and Associates of Orlando for construction of Phase II at the college. Buildings will include administrative offices, a health center, student center, and additional vocational-technical facilities.

He said the college is a balance institution serving the academic, vocational-technical, and adult continuing education needs of the community. Last year 14,000 students took advantage of the courses offered by SJC.

Pizza Request Heads Agenda

The Sanford Zoning and Planning Commission will hold a public hearing tonight on a request to change restricted commercial zoning on the southwest corner of French Avenue and 20th Street to general commercial to allow construction of a Pizza Hut.

Public hearings are also scheduled on proposed zoning amendments that would permit hospitals and motels as conditional uses in multiple family residential (MR-1) districts and colleges, vocational-technical schools, high schools and public buildings in multiple family residential (MR-1) districts.

The MR-1 amendment must be adopted by the city before Seminole Junior College can construct nearly $4 million in new buildings. The college property was zoned multi-family in December when Sanford adopted a new citywide comprehensive zoning ordinance and map.

Representatives of Gutmann, Dragash and Matz Architects Inc. are scheduled to discuss site plans for the college addition.

Other site plans to go before the Z-P board tonight include a LIJ Camp Food Store proposed for the northeast corner of French Avenue and 20th Street and a Florida Power and Light Co. office building for the northeast corner of Falton Street and Myrtle Avenue.

Florida News Briefs

State Workers Ask Raise

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—The Florida State Employees Association has called for a special session of the legislature to increase state employees' salaries by at least five per cent.

The 80,000 plus Florida state employees have had but small relief from the 12 to 15 per cent cost of living increase since January 1973 in the state of Florida," said association president John P. Docherty.

Docherty said the increase should be retroactive to Sept. 1 and paid from the state's $26 million surplus funds.

Accident Kills Man

MIAMI (AP)—One man was killed and 13 children suffered minor injuries when a school bus and a car collided here Wednesday, police said.

Killed was Lloyd Mann, 56, of suburban Miami Lakes. Police said the bus with 37 children aboard was making a left turn at an intersection when the accident occurred.

Drug Education Week

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Families can help prevent drug abuse by teaching their children that "drugs are not crutches to be leaned on in time of trouble," Gov. Reubin Askew says.

Askew Wednesday proclaimed Oct. 21-27 as National Drug Abuse Prevention Week in Florida.

Robbery Suspects Nabbed

MIAMI (AP)—Two men who were allegedly involved in a gun battle with police Oct. 2 after robbing a Pittsburgh, Pa. bank of $217,265 were arrested by FBI agents here.

Agents said Willie Cecil Thomas, 25, and Emanuel Daniels, 30, both of Pittsburgh, were arrested at a Miami hotel Wednesday.

Turner Trial Waning

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—The presiding judge in the Glen W. Turner mail fraud trial, which is now in its fifth week, says a day-long meeting with attorneys should result in a quicker finish to the case.

"I think we've cut about a month off the trial," U.S. District Judge Gerald B. Tjoflat told jurors Wednesday after spending the day in conference with attorneys representing both sides.

The conferences, Tjoflat said, would speed up the examination of witnesses.

When a juror asked the judge how much longer the trial would last, Tjoflat said he couldn't answer but repeated that it will more finish faster.

Adams Trips Into Jax Due Probe?

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—The chairman of the Jacksonville Bicentennial Committee has called on Gov. Reubin Askew and the Florida Bicentennial Commission to investigate trips by Lt. Gov. Tom Adams to this North Florida City.

George Linville called for the probe after WJXT-TV revealed that Adams, who serves as chairman of the commission, had billed the agency for seven mysterious trips to Jacksonville since March.

Linville said he did not meet with Adams on any of the trips, which WJXT says cost taxpayers at least $600, and did not know what commission business could have been involved.

"I hope the lieutenant governor has a good answer but if his past history is any indicator he may be in another problem situation," Linville said. "I don't think we can afford this kind of leadership at the state level if Core is in fact something amiss."

"I would recommend that the governor and the state Bicentennial Commission make a full investigation into the lieutenant governor's travels. We should find out what he was doing in Jacksonville if he wasn't with any of the bicentennial commissioners."

WJXT said it tried for two days to contact Adams for comment. But the lieutenant governor's office said he was on a trip and would not disclose his whereabouts.

Shelton Kemp, executive director of the commission since August, said he did not know the purpose of Adams' Jacksonville travels and said his records did not reflect the trips.

The television station quoted a commission source as saying there was no possible way in Jacksonville if he wasn't with any of the bicentennial commissioners."

Cult Priest Claiming Innocence

DELAND, Fla. (AP)—A South Carolina teenager, called the high priest of a Satan cult, says he tried to save the life of a California boy who witnesses claim was tortured and killed as a sacrifice to the devil.

David Hester, 17, of Greenville, S.C., testified at his murder trial Wednesday that he struck Ross Michael Cochran lightly on the head with a pine log to trick other members of the cult, also thinking the Fresno, Calif., youth was dead.

Police said Cochran, 17, was strangled with chains and slashed with broken glass in a satanic ceremony in nearby Daytona Beach before being taken to a wooded area and clubbed to death.

Both the prosecution and defense completed their cases Wednesday and the trial was to go to the nine-woman, three-man jury today following closing arguments.

Deborah A. Shook, 22, of Washington, N.J., who said she was the priestess of the satan cult, testified that Cochran was bound to a black wooden altar in the basement of a rundown rooming house while he was tortured as a sacrifice "to appease the master, Satan."

Arabs Strike At Israel With Oil Production Cut

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The proclaimed outbreak in Arab oil production should have little immediate effect on U.S. supplies, an American energy expert says. But Western Europe and Japan, the Arabs' biggest customers, are expected to put pressure on the United States before long to reduce its support of Israel.

Arab oil ministers at a meeting in Kuwait Wednesday announced they would cut production at least 5 per cent a month until Israel gives up all territory it seized in the 1967 war and restores the rights of the Palestinian refugees.

Because the United States gets only about 6 per cent of the oil it uses from the Arab countries, the Arabs strategy was to squeeze the Europeans and Japanese in the hope that they in turn would put the screws on Washington, Israel's chief source of arms.

A 5 per cent cut in U.S. imports from the Arab countries would reduce the total supply in the United States only three-tenths of one per cent, the U.S. expert said in Washington. But he estimated the action would reduce Western Europe's supplies by 3 per cent and Japan's by 2 per cent.

The Nixon Administration is counting on imports of refined heating oil from Europe to meet the shortage expected this winter, and a reduced supply of crude to Europe would make refined products harder to get.

Since production is being cut back rather than exports, the effects of the decision may not be felt for several weeks. And the volume of production will decline very slowly if the reductions continue, since each month's cut will be 5 per cent of the previous month's production. But oil experts in Beirut predicted a major world oil crisis if the cuts continued for as long as four months.

Troops Reopen Highway

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP)—Government troops today reopened Highway 4, Phnom Penh's road to the coast, only two days after Khmer Rouge insurgents cut it 40 miles northwest of Kompong Som, Cambodia's deep-water port.

U.S. Pays Peace Flights

SAIGON (AP)—The United States advanced $5.6 million to the International Commission of Control and Supervision today to keep the Vietnam peacekeeping force from being grounded. Air America, the charter airline that ferries ICSS personnel around the country, has not been paid for months and gave the commission until Friday to pay its August bill of about $500,000. The four signers of the Vietnam peace agreement—the United States, North Vietnam, South Vietnam and the Viet Cong—have not agreed on a budget for the ICSS, and it is about $8 million in the red.

Woman Hijacks Airliner

MARSEILLE, France (AP)—An armed woman hijacked an Air France plane with 110 passengers aboard today and forced it to land in Marseille, the French news agency reported.

She allowed the passengers and most of the crew to disembark at the Marseille airport, but kept two crew members hostage in the plane, the agency said. Her demands were not immediately clear.

The plane was on a flight from Paris to Nice. Marseille is 40 miles south-southeast of Paris and 160 miles west of Nice.

Harvard Economist Named Nobel Winner

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Harvard Prof. Wassily Leontief won the 1973 Nobel Prize for Economic Science today.

The Royal Academy of Science honored the 67-year-old economist for the development of the "input-output" method and for its application to important economic problems.

Leontief was born in Leningrad, Russia, studied in Berlin, worked in Germany and China and went to the United States and to Harvard in 1931.

The prize for economic science was established in 1969 by the Central Bank of Sweden in connection with its tercentennial celebration. It includes the same cash prize as the other awards established by the will of Alfred Nobel, the Swedish inventor of dynamite. This year each is a record $10,000 Swedish crowns, or $120,000.

Diplomats Searching For Mid-East Solution

WASHINGTON (AP)—The diplomatic search for an end to the Arab-Israeli war has narrowed with the United States and the Soviet Union engaged in extensive discussions over specific ideas.

These are said to center on linking a cease-fire to an overall settlement of the 25-year-old Middle East dispute.

Although there has been some progress in the talks, U.S. officials do not believe Washington and Moscow are ready to make a proposal public.

Progress in the talks were acknowledged Wednesday by State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey.

The negotiations are being conducted primarily by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and Anatoly F. Dobrynin, Soviet ambassador to the United States. Any agreement would be sent to the United Nations Security Council for ratification.

While working for an end to the fighting, the United States is facing increased pressure from the Arab nations to pull back from its support of Israel.

State Department officials were unclear Tuesday night about what this action meant, when it would take place and exactly what was being demanded.

Watch State Development To Check Growth: Askew

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Gov. Reubin Askew says Florida's growth needs to be controlled by regulating development, not by making life in the state unattractive.

Askew said Wednesday he found much to agree with in a report from the "Florida 2000" growth conference he called last weekend in Orlando.

"But he said he would not go along with the conference's recommendation for a personal income tax and elimination of homestead exemptions on property taxes.

Askew said, however, he felt the tax recommendation was only a means of pointing out that tax policy affected growth.

Elliott Messer, a Tallahassee attorney who presided at some of the conference workshops, said, "I begged them not to approve the tax recommendations because they would get all the attention."

Messer said the proposals came up at one of his workshops because tax policy was on the agenda that had to be discussed.

Rep. Kenneth MacKay, D-Orlando, said the conference was "one of the most intensely educational experiences I've ever had."

"It seemed to me this was the first time any real effort had been made to bring together a cross-section of opinion from the citizenry of Florida and face the growth problem," he added.

Some businessmen staked out of the conference, claiming it favored environmentalists.

The television station quoted a commission source as saying there was no possible way in Jacksonville if he wasn't with any of the bicentennial commissioners."

WJXT said Adams made six of the trips in a state airplane at a round trip cost of $77 dollars per trip.

15 Are Hospitalized After Taking Juices

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Fifteen persons in three Central Florida cities have been hospitalized with hallucinogenic drug symptoms after accepting an offer to sample rival orange juices in shopping centers, police say.

Ten persons, including two in critical condition, were admitted to a hospital in Lakeland Wednesday night.

Many complained of hallucinations and all said they felt drunk with no sense of coordination, officials said.

The victim told police they were shopping when approached by an attractive woman in her late 20s who said she was conducting a marketing survey and asked them to sample two kinds of orange juice.

"So far as we know everybody who drank the stuff has gotten sick," said Lakeland Detective D. E. Peterson. "It seems to have been some hallucinogenic drug such as LSD."

In two other incidents Tuesday in Daytona Beach and Orlando, police said, apparently the same woman asked employees in jewelry stores to sample two brands of orange juice.

Georgia Robson Honored On Birthday

Five Generations Attend Gala Celebration

Mrs. Georgia Robson received the surprise of her life Saturday Oct. 13, about 5 p.m., when she was escorted to the Police Benevolent Hall, on the Lakefront by some members of her family.

She was celebrating her 78th birthday and thought she was going to a restaurant for a birthday dinner.

The entire clan had arranged a big birthday dinner and family reunion in her honor. She almost collapsed for about 15 minutes, then rallied and enjoyed the event as much as the ones who arranged the surprise.

A white rose corsage was pinned on her shoulder and she was escorted to a table where an oversized birthday card was presented to her.

Becky Ferris, a granddaughter, made the unusual card and decorated it with nongays of rosebuds and carnations and an appropriate poem on the outside. Each one present at the event signed the card on the inside.

Five generations were represented at the gathering.

She has 32 grandchildren, several great-grandchildren and five great-great-grandchildren. She married the late Charles T. Robson in 1942, is still very active and resides at 2933 Maple Ave., Sanford.

All of the small fry in her family adores "Granny Robson" and had a field day at the reunion.

Mrs. Robson married her first husband, John Ashley Wright, Aug. 8, 1909, in Eastman, Ga. They had 11 children, six of whom are still living and all six attended the reunion. They are Bart Wright, and Gladys Holzmann, both of Sanford; Lenore Ferris, Sorrento; Billy Wright, Winter Park; Jimmy Wright, Hollywood; and Madeline Hipp, Innisbrook.

Deltona Women At Work For Coming Benefit Bazaar

Deltona — Workshops for the Deltona Women's Club Bazaar, to be held Nov. 16 and 17 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the club house on Normandy Boulevard are progressing nicely, according to general chairman Kit Withers.

The children's booth, under the direction of Mary Parke and Mary Beth Weigand will be nice for grandmothers in selecting Christmas gifts for their favorite grandchild or grandchildren.

Mildred's Christmas gift shopping list can easily be filled from the arts and crafts booth under the supervision of Kay Dankworth. At the attractive hand knit booth on display will be stoles for day or evening wear, shawls of all colors, decorative pillows, gloves and afghans.

Christmas in November will certainly be celebrated at the booth where Phyllis Gas and her committee have made charming and attractive decorations, candles, tablecloths and other holiday ornaments.

At the treasures booth will display small antiques such as sugar shakers, pewter candle snuffers, salt and pepper shakers, commemorative irons (a collector's item) and many slightly used but still usable items. These will be in the hands of Katherine Von Niederhausen.

The odd and unusual will be the kitchen booth, staffed by Esther Mason and her committee. For this you must come and see for yourself.

Margaret Schaller has "cooked-up" all sorts of goodies for the gourmet booth. Homemade plants in wire, run balls and miniature fruit cakes are but some of the treats to tempt your taste plates.

New this year, is the Oriental table. Kit Mizozita has a marvelous selection of unique gifts she has brought from the Far East, that will add a charming, mysterious touch to the decor of the bazaar.

Lunches will be served each day, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., prepared by the vanguard of the kitchen, Kay Kraft, and her efficient committee. They are planning now from new and more tempting recipes so all attending should certainly plan to stay for lunch.

President Dottie Langnecht and Sunny David, public relations director, are hopeful this will be the largest most profitable bazaar of all time. The club always donates a great portion of the net proceeds from this bazaar, to the needy charities in and around the Deltona Area.

Among the groups the club works with and contributes to are Good Samaritan Home, Sanford, Hacienda Girls Ranch, and Radio Free Europe.

"Hi mom" (mom's in the kitchen preparing lunch). "Mom don't you think it's time I started my garden?"

"Yes, John, but don't you think you are a little too young?"

"No mom, now listen. Dad promised to spade the soil all over for me and it is all finished. I've just finished raking and laying out the garden."

"Remember the compost pile I've been working with all summer getting rid of all your garbage for you. The compost is just wonderful now and I've just finished mixing it all with the soil in my garden, now it is all ready to plant."

"I made a seed bed behind the garage and planted tomatoes, egg plant, kohlrabi and cabbage seeds. Now they are up about six inches and ready to transplant."

"So, you see, mom, I've been working even though I'm only 12-years-old. I'll bet I will be able to sell all the vegetables that I can raise if I don't charge quite as much as the stores."

"Oh, so that's the reason for the garden. Okay, son, you win, everything you raise, I'll pay you the same as I pay the store, because fresh vegetables, particularly organically grown ones, taste so much better than ones you buy in stores."

"I expect to plant lettuce, carrots, spinach, radishes, leaf lettuce seeds. You know, mom, all these seeds can be planted this month and will mature before the hard cold sets in."

"Well, John, how about beans, corn, peas, squash or cucumbers?"

"No, mom, pole, snap or lima beans and corn should have been planted six weeks ago, but I will plant some in February. Oh yes, squash and cucumbers should also be planted in February. Pears should also be planted in February."

February. Pears should also be planted the latter part of August in order to mature properly. But I shall try a few of each to see if they might grow in that our last two winters have been mild."

"Dad spaded the ground then I worked it over getting out every weed, then mixed all that good compost into the soil real well. Mom, you know I'm having an organic garden bit if other people want a good garden they can get a good well balanced fertilizer. When plants have a few leaves they can put a small amount of fertilizer around each plant or alongside of the row, then add a small amount every two weeks."

"A good all-purpose insect spray such as Malathion or Dioxinon—with either of these Methoxychlor or sevin should be applied at the slightest sign of insects."

"Good gardening to you all, you know all your vegetables you raise will help out shortages, and the pocketbook. Also if you are lucky enough to have an organic garden that is a help to ecology by using garbage and leaves getting them back in the soil again. Help in just a little way to make the cycle of life complete and not pile up your trash."

Calling All Area Little Girls! Little Miss BPW Contest Underway

What are little girls made of? Little girls are made of sugar 'n spice 'n everything nice, and, of course, lots of Miss Universe potential.

Last year Sanford Business and Professional Women's Club sponsored the first annual Little Miss BPW contest. Petite Judy Andrews walked off with the coveted title.

The response was so tremendous that the club voted to make the contest a annual affair.

All little girls between the ages of 5 and 7 are eligible to enter the second annual Little Miss BPW Contest which is not confined to the Seminole area but outlying communities also.

Entry forms are available at Downtown Sanford Stores, all of the Sanford banks, School of Dance Arts, Merle Norman Cosmetics Studio and Vivian Woodard Cosmetics, or by writing to Little Miss BPW Contest, P.O. Box 111, Sanford, 32771.

Each contestant is asked to submit a recent photograph to be on display at Florida State Bank and the photo will be returned at the end of the contest.

Entrants will be judged for poise and personality and are eligible to win a variety of gifts including savings bonds, trophies, flowers, gift certificates, free dinners and many, many more.

Door prizes will be awarded to the audience during the fast-paced pageant which will be an event of Saturday, Nov. 10, at 8 p.m., at Sanford Civic Center.

Entertainment for the evening will feature Frank Dunn, organist, and Jan Carr and her group performing in a show featuring exciting Polynesian dances.

Sports Spotlight

By J Richards

Headed Sports Editor... A tie football game is like kissing your sister, right? Tuesday's 13-13 tie flag football game between Seminole High's Junior and Senior girls' powder puff football teams wasn't exactly a "kissing" contest, but the outcome left quite a few unresolved questions. More on that later.

LET ME SEE NOW! THIS SHS JUNIOR 'Cheerleader' ponders a way to the top of the heap, but as things worked out, the cards were 'stacked' evenly in the SHS annual Powder Puff Flag Football game.

WE WON IT ALL

But back again to my own glory days when we girls as young ladies we tried the drive for the trophies. It wasn't the juniors in a classic struggle. Don't worry, it's all documented somewhere. However, here is where Davina Gilmartin and I differ. He says the Senior Class of '65 beat my Junior Class of '66 the next year. Bosh! I know better.

Lion Harriers Win Four Way CC Meet

In a rematch, the Oviedo cross-country team topped Mount Dora Bible School and Lake Brantley squads to win a four-way meet at Brantley on Tuesday. The last time these teams met in competition Mount Dora emerged victorious with Oviedo second and Lake Brantley a distant third.

Staub, Mets Shrug A(che)s Away, 6-1

NEW YORK (AP) — Something finally has taken the play away from the Oakland A's internal battles—Rusty Staub's bat. The A's, who have grabbed most of the headlines lately with juicy stories of clubhouse unrest, at last took a back seat in the World Series to the New York Mets Wednesday night.

Providing some news of his own, Staub dismissed a painful right shoulder and knocked in five runs to help the Mets beat the A's 6-1 and square the best-of-seven series at two games apiece. "I did a lot of work during batting practice and did several things to adjust for my sore shoulder," said Staub after hitting a three-run homer and two-run single.

CLASS CONFRONTATION COMING THE STRUGGLE between Juniors and Seniors comes to a head on this running play Tuesday when Seminole High School's two highest classes engaged in a 13-13 tie that left the dispute hanging. Tonight, Lyman's girls get into the same act at 7:30 at the Hounds' football field.

White Collar Moochers Which You Probably Met

NEW YORK (AP) — About the lowest form of life in the average business office is the character almost everyone calls "the moocher."

Everyone looks down on him, and more bad things are said about him to his face than are said about the boss behind the boss' back.

Every office, no matter how small, has at least one moocher, and larger offices may have several. But they are all united by a common philosophy: They want something for nothing and, if possible, they want to mooch it from you. Here are a few familiar types of white-collar moochers you may have noticed in your office:

"Merton the Muncher" — Merton never buys a lunch or brings one. He depends upon the largesse of others for his midday calories. At lunchtime he goes from desk to desk, his eyes mournful, his tongue hanging out like a collie's, and stares in turn at his fellow workers until they toss him a tidbit from their brown bags. Everyone despises Merton, but they can't turn him down. He has grined 30 pounds in 10 years, and the company doctor tells him he'll have to go on a diet or die. Merton's probable choice: death before diet.

"Nelson Nicotine" — Twenty years ago Nelson decided to quit buying cigarettes in hopes of breaking his one-pack-a-day habit. He decided he'd smoke only those he could borrow. Now, after two decades of mooching, he is smoking three packs of cigarettes a day — and has an ominous-sounding cough.

Accountants Are Advised To Halt Issuing All Confusing Reports

NEW YORK (AP) — The accounting profession has just released a report that in effect urges its members to produce financial statements that emphasize accuracy, reality, clarity, simplicity — that communicate rather than confuse.

The figure that counts most in a corporate financial statement, a nine-man study group indicated, is "cash in hand," real cash that is, in contrast to those profits that sometimes are produced on paper but cannot be demonstrated physically.

The thrust of this accounting report appears to be that financial statements should inform individual investors and other unsophisticated readers rather than just offer argot to the professionals.

That these goals, among many set down, should have to be spelled out seems extraordinary, and it is. But that's because many financial reports are extraordinary too.

Most extraordinary, in the view of those who have had to study these statements, is that they sometimes fail to communicate, which is the primary purpose of all words and numbers, even in a financial statement.

This might have been more calmly tolerated in the past, when the relatively few Americans with money to invest seemed satisfied to remain in a state of ignorance, relying on the wisdom of their broker or trust company.

But now this nation has many millions of shareholders. And while most of them still won't attempt to read a financial statement or an annual report, they aren't as willing to tolerate the condition. They want information.

In the absence of that information the stock market has suffered. Many individual investors were scarred by their own and their brokers' ignorance during the late 1960s, and they won't let it happen again.

The common reaction of such people has been to withdraw from the market and let the professionals play with each other's money. And so, after rising for two decades to more than 30 million, the shareholder population declined this year.

Unsophisticated investors won't buy if they read a report and conclude that, while all the figures seem to be in order, the overall picture is incorrect.

Has this been the case? Have they been deluded? You judge.

The nation's largest railroad, the Penn Central, was just days away from collapse before some of its own directors and executives became fully aware of this alarming situation.

Land sales companies reported healthy profits because they included the full selling price in their statements even though they received only a small down payment.

MAN AND MEDICINE
 It's all there in yellow pages

By IRWIN J. POLK, M.D., Copley News Service

"Been having trouble with your gadget lately, doctor?" My secretary stood before me, grinning impishly as she held out the stack of mail for the day. "Perhaps you need a Wasserman test," she continued, "a truss, a surgical appliance?" I asked what that was all about.

"It's the Yellow Pages," she replied. "You got this letter from a nice man named Philip Schiano at Curningham and Walsh. He wants you to refer your readers to the Yellow Pages for the services and materials described in your articles. It's all here in this letter."

I took the letter she held out. Sure enough, it suggested I advise my readers to use the Yellow Pages. In fact, it recommended that I say, "You can find someone to fix your gadgets in the Yellow Pages."

Somehow, I can't bring myself to do that.

But there was more to the letter. Enclosed was a list of "Medical, Dental and Mental Health Products and Services." This turned out to be a listing of the headings in the Yellow Pages which Schiano thought had to do with doctors and health. I scanned the list and looked up at my secretary.

"Happy with your body?" I asked. "Yellow Pages offers you a parts department for your body. Artificial Breasts, Artificial Eyes. Perhaps a third one of each. Artificial Fingernails. Or a whole Artificial Limb. It's all there in the Yellow Pages."

My secretary grabbed the letter away from me. "Let's see how you rate in the health personnel race, doctor. This list includes chiropractors, Christian Science practitioners, Divine Science practitioners, hypnotists, midwives, naturopaths, Nutritionists, Lawyers, engineers and other professionals do the same. They shun actual advertising except perhaps for a line in the Yellow Pages which lists name, address and sometimes specialty. More than that in a listing is considered to be in bad taste. Professional societies exert group pressure to prevent more than that from appearing.

But as was pointed out above, listings in directories can be confusing, too. There are a large number of choices offered which lead or sometimes mislead the public. The listings of the health personnel are surely broad enough to be misleading. About the only omission in the health section in the Yellow Page listings was an important one. Perhaps for people who choose their health care from the phone book there should be one final listing added: Funeral Directors.

Youngsters Reflect 'Beef' Price Freeze Fails To Solve Money Woes

By ANN REILLY
 Everyone complains about the high cost of food these days and even the youngest children reflect their parents' concern. First graders were eager to share many helpful suggestions on how to stretch the budget to meet inflation, when interviewed at Longwood Elementary School.

Lee Vigue of Winter Springs says, "My mother complains about meat, pork and turkey. It's not rabbit. You should try it. Fry it longer than chicken, but it is better and only 25 cents a pound. We eat hundreds of vegetables."

Laura Kaine of Longwood volunteered, "Yes, my mother complains about meat is too expensive. She doesn't buy much meat. We like vegetables. Buy peanut butter, it's good for you. We might buy a turkey Thanksgiving if they don't cost too much. Oh, yeah! Peanuts are good, too, and fun to eat."

Kristin Johnson of Longwood revealed, "Yes, my mother says buying groceries makes her sick. She buys hamburger and chicken. We eat melons, too. I help her pick out the melons, but I can't squeeze them."

The only unconcerned one seemed to be John Sparks of Longwood, who when asked if his mother complains about the high cost of food, replied, "She just gets it over with fast."

After a siege of severe inflation, the public takes heart when government announces a price freeze.

The trouble is, however, price freezes do not really work. They have not proved to be disinflationary, either in this country or abroad.

Less popular and at least equally unsuccessful are wage freezes. It would seem that close control over wages might be maintained quite handily for modest periods.

History documents that it does not work out that way. This should not be surprising in democracies, but even authoritarian nations have failed in efforts to control inflation by means of either wage or price controls, or both.

Twelve European countries in recent years have tried wage controls: Britain, Austria, Denmark, France, Finland, Norway, Spain, Switzerland, The Netherlands, Ireland, Iceland and Yugoslavia. Three tried complete wage freezes.

The German Tribune, an English-language newspaper, records their lack of success.

In Britain, wage guidelines permitted a 2.5 per cent increase in 1970 and 4.5 per cent in 1971, but collective bargaining alone produced an increase of approximately 10 per cent.

Austria was acknowledged to be highly experienced in wage pegging subsidies. In 1971, that country planned for wages to increase no more than 8 per cent. They actually rose 14 per cent.

The report from Germany notes that pay in Finland was supposed to rise an average of 5.5 per cent a year in 1968, 1969 and 1970. Statistics show that industrial wages alone climbed an average of 19.5 per cent in those years.

In Ireland, the wage guidelines have been exceeded by almost 40 per cent since going into effect.

Norwegians, in 1971, collected a wage drift about 50 per cent above negotiated wage settlements, although this was officially forbidden.

In France from 1968 through 1971, wage guidelines were surpassed by approximately 50 per cent.

The German Tribune states that "even under the authoritarian Spanish government, the only wage freeze that came near to succeeding was in 1968. In the next two years, the officially decreed level of wage rises was almost doubled."

Ryder Truck Rental Refunds Over $49,000

The Internal Revenue Service today announced that Ryder Truck Rental, Inc., has voluntarily agreed to refund over $49,000 for prices charged in excess of economic stabilization regulations.

Jack L. Evans, IRS district stabilization manager for Florida, said that the refunds have been made by Ryder for charges which were inconsistent with the recent freeze period restrictions. Refund checks totaling $49,074 have been mailed to 1,469 customers who overpaid on one-way rentals. Evans added that one-way rates have been rolled back to their allowable base prices.

New Car Models Put Stiff Pressure On Drivers Of Some Older Vehicles

By SAM STEWART
Copley News Service
Anybody who has just about decided to make the old car do for another year is beginning to have second thoughts, the pressure coming via the 1974 model promotions and from such dealers as still have a few 1973s lurking about the premises.

It's So Easy To Be ... REAL COOL

A two- or three-year-old car never looks so shabby as during the autumn season when new models sparkle on the showroom floors and often, embarrassingly, in a neighbor's driveway.

new model time always has been an exciting time, even in the days when Henry Ford was credited with saying that he would allow his new Fords to be offered in any color, just as long as it was black.

This was indeed the case in the days when the Model T was the most popular car on the road, before it became the darling of the antique car clubs, or the classic car clubs, or the classic car clubs.

It is a sign of the times that today offers not a wide array of cars of different manufacturer's label, but whole spectrums (spectra?) of Chevrolets, Glimobiles, Fords, Dodges, Plymouths and AMCs.

One's economic station once was pretty well defined by the car one drove. The rich folk drove a Cadillac, a Pierce-Arrow, or a Packard.

There have been steam-powered cars named "Artzberger, Baker, Barlow, Carhart, Chicago, Clegg, Coates, Curtis, Doble, Eclipse, Johnson, Kellogg, Meteor, Puritan, Stanford and Toledo, a priceless bit of information neither you nor Ralph Nader would have had you not read it here.)

Electric cars once were snog free, too, but even the Ajax and the Detroit had a readily discernible handicap: about one trip around the block, and you had to recharge the batteries.

Innovations once considered a new gimmicks such as wire wheels or a sculptured motorometer or spare tires in fender wells, but kids grow up today who've never heard of fenders.

Long ago a handy jack and a Shaker patching kit were as essential to a drive as a tankful of gasoline, and a lap robe made an acceptable gift to car-owning families already equipped with a full set of language side curtains.

What's new in 1974? Well, there'd better be compliance with the air pollution standards with assorted antismog devices, and such safety devices as seat belts with sound effects.

Even the car makers concede we don't get as much gasoline mileage as of yore. But if it's any comfort, the gasoline will cost more.

There is talk of steam propulsion, as if the Stanley Brothers hadn't begun their run in 1895.

cluding the Volkswagen, Datsun, Toyota and Volvo, Ford had the low-priced field all to himself. Only after the Model A had run its course did the Ford get itself into head-on competition with the other makers with a wide graduation of price and powers, including Thunderbird, LTD, Torino, Mustang and Pinto.

1040 U.S. Individual Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. My daughter was married in August. Can I still claim her as a dependent for 1973?

A. Yes, under the following circumstances: 1) if she does not file a joint return with her husband for 1973; 2) if you furnish more than one-half of her total support for 1973; and 3) if she has gross income of less than $750 for the year.

Q. A federal gift tax return (Form 709) is due by the 15th day of the second month following the close of the calendar quarter in which a gift is made.

Q. Are there any limits on how much interest I can deduct on a loan to purchase investment property?

A. Yes, but the limitation generally would not affect the average taxpayer. For tax years beginning after 1971, there is a limit of $25,000 ($12,500 for married persons filing separate returns) on the deduction of interest paid on a loan to purchase or carry property held for investment.

Q. I'm a building contractor. I gave my teenage son a summer job as a laborer. Can I deduct the wages I paid him as a business expense?

A. Reasonable wages paid by a father to his minor child for personal services actually rendered are a bona fide business expense in the course of a trade or business.

Q. I am a stockholder in a St. Louis corporation, and for six months I've been trying to get permission from the president to have my lawyer and accountant examine the books. He is very evasive.

Q. At a minor traffic accident, I took out my driver's license and repeatedly offered identification to the other driver. He refused to look at it, so I left the scene.

Q. The Revised Statutes of Missouri, Sec. 38.296 (1969) says: "If each shareholder may at all times have access to books of the company and examine same, under such regulations as may be prescribed by the by-laws."

Q. For what the law says about your legal problems, write E.J. Demson, Copley News Service in care of this newspaper. Enclose stamped self-addressed envelope, please.

'Prime issue' rules pried out of IRS

By Carlton Smith

Twenty-one secrets of the Internal Revenue Service have been disclosed, with the result that taxpayers are no longer in the dark about the position of the I.R.S. when certain deductions or other tax breaks are claimed.

What the I.R.S. means by a "prime issue," explains the accounting firm Seidman & Seidman, is one "on which the I.R.S. would rather fight in court rather than settle or concede."

On one issue, certain fees paid to employment agencies by a taxpayer, the Tax Court has ruled in favor of a taxpayer. The I.R.S. adamantly refuses to concede the point, though, and will continue to litigate.

Economist Predicts 5-1 Dollar Ratio, Inflation, Depression To Haunt World

By HELEN CALL Copley News Service

We may have a new currency in the United States soon, in which five "old" dollars will be worth only one "new" one.

This is only one of several startling predictions made by Dr. Harry Schultz, London's internationally known financial adviser, who says that the twin specters of inflation and depression will continue to haunt world governments for the next few years.

Schultz predicted that the United States will have to increase its money supply by 25 per cent in the next two years. "Continuing and increasing turmoil in world money markets..."

"The U.S. government possibly adopting stern measures to avoid disaster, including allowing foreign governments to convert dollars into gold."

'Politicians will find themselves forced by circumstances back into some form of real money value!

"The United States fights gold because it would cause deflationary activity," Schultz said. "The key to how it will happen will be through the Arabs."

"There also is a 40 per cent chance the deutch mark will be revalued," he said. "The yen can be expected to be revalued seven or eight months from now."

Don't eat my pumpkin! ONCE OVER LIGHTLY Pumpkin Delight? nothing to it

By ANN RUDY Copley News Service. Lift lid, take a look and add whatever you think might help. Drain off excess water and throw remaining pumpkin out.

The woman on our block who used to make a pie out of her Halloween pumpkin was always a curiosity to me.

But now, with food prices high as a witch in the sky, probably a lot of us will be eating our holiday decorations.

So for those of you interested in having your jack-o'-lantern and eating it too, here is my method for preparing Pumpkin Delight.

Where was I? Oh, you've got this big pumpkin that your kids and a few other unidentified children with very runny noses have spent a couple of days carving and mauling.

Now remember, it's been out on your front porch all night with a candle in it—so the first thing you have to do is take out the candle before you cook it as melted wax is very bad for your arteries.

Four days later you are at last ready to start the actual cooking. First, drop the pumpkin pieces into three quarts of rapidly boiling water and simmer until one of your kids walks into the kitchen and asks, "What's that funny smell?"

Then remove lid and threaten to hit kid with it. Continue cooking as if nothing had happened and ignore daughter.

DECOR SCORE Butterfly hobby poses problem

By BARBARA HARTUNG Copley News Service

Q. My son has a collection of butterflies and insects which he's very proud of and interested in. Consequently one wall of shelves and counter in his room is constantly cluttered with books, insects, etc., and anything he's working on.

A. You should consider using pull-down window shades which may be attached to the ceiling. You could choose a color or white. You could also laminate a fabric onto them and carry out the fabric some other place in the room, or you could stencil huge butterflies and insects onto plain white shades that could really personalize them.

Q. I need help in choosing color for a rug and draperies for my living room. Walls are antique white, furniture is dark walnut and pecan finish, and divan and one chair are upholstered in a floral print in shades of gold, brown, green and hickory.

A. Measure the circumference of your rod and add one inch for the seam. Turn inside out and stir up at one end to slowly ease it onto rod being careful to keep the seam straight.

Really, there's nothing to it... Getting a home improvement loan, to add a room, install central heat and air, point, etc.

Q. I've seen walls carpeted in magazines and like the contemporary look. However, it seems like that's a terrible expensive kind of wall covering unless you use a very cheap grade of carpeting.

A. If you are concerned with cost, why not use carpet tiles that you pack and stick? These are usually available in the low-price range.

Q. I've seen drapery rods covered in fabric. How is that done? — E.L.

Living Cheap But Good

Lots Of Light For Little Loot

Every year, the cost of lamps goes up a shade. Fifty to $200 is standard, but alternatives to stand, sit or merely hang around. Without alternatives to such commercial fixtures, few of us Living Cheap but Good can afford to buy expensive lamps to brighten your life without lightening your wallet. First is general illumination—around-the-house light for around-the-clock activities. This lighting is usually provided by unattractive overhead fixtures, gawky standing lamps and ever-glower table lamps.

In addition, we need direct illumination—light focused directly where we need it. The reader needs direct illumination on his book. Hobbyists need direct light on their work. And even a housewife needs a light upon his food! (Sorry about that.)

Clamp-on floodlight fixtures and homemade hanging lamps are the cheapest, most attractive, portable and effective solutions to the general illumination problem.

Floodlights look like big silver bells with wire squeeze-clamps where the bell's handle should be. They cost $2 to $5 at most hardware or photo-supply stores. Their giant clothespin-like clamps can be clipped onto shelves, moldings or extremely lethargic pets. Placed behind a piece of furniture or hidden behind a big standing bookcase, floodlights can be aimed at ceiling to give excellent reflected illumination. No glare like ceiling overhead fixtures, and no clutter like standing or table lamps.

Homemade hanging lamps are beautiful and cheap sources of general lighting. White paper Japanese hanging lanterns are available in many sizes. And for $3.49, any hardware store can outfit you with light socket, wire, switch, plug-and personal instructions for assembling the parts into a hanging lamp.

Complete instructions may also be found in my book, HOW TO LIVE CHEAP BUT GOOD. DON'T buy the book, however. It's available FREE from our local library!

Extended hanging lamps are magnificent but still cheap. Make them in an hour by taping Japanese paper globes to cylinders of different sizes end-to-end (tape on inside). Remove wire loops from all but the top shade. Hung from ceiling-to-floor, this sensuous column of delicate forms is easily lit by a string of Christmas-free lights. Angled through the shade, light is cast through the shade. Outfit the lights with frosted white bulbs.

Still another cheap-but-elegant column of light can be made from a long rectangular piece of heat-resistant fabric folded in half lengthwise and sewn up the long edge, forming a tube. Turn the tube inside out (hens now inside), and basic wooden embroidery hoops at 18 inch intervals inside the fabric tube. Add light and hang.

In my opinion, your best buy in direct illumination is the draftsman's lamp. It looks like a Tinkertoy pelican, but this portable lamp clamps firmly to table or desk, and can be moved in every direction to illuminate your work perfectly. It costs about $25 (much cheaper secondhand at used office supply stores), but worth every dime!

Can Rent Be Recovered

By JOHN T. WATTS
Copley News Service

Dear John: You certainly offer sound advice to senior citizens. We hope you can help us with our problem. My husband and I are both retired and have only our Social Security and a small income from renting our home.

Recently we very foolishly put a deposit on an apartment. The rental agreement stated that the deposit, $150, was nonrefundable after seven days. We were quite certain that we would be very happy there until we took some time and spent a few hours there. We discovered that the noise from a nearby highway was more than we could bear.

We went to the rental and explained that we could not live in that particular unit and they agreed to let us take another—a quieter one, but it was quite closed in—and as the time draws close to move into it, I found myself getting very depressed. It is dark and gloomy—not open as the other unit was.

I haven't explained that this is an entirely new apartment and there are still about 25 per cent or more units available. As you probably have already guessed, they refuse to return our money, which of course puts us in a very bad financial position.

Is there any way we can recover this money? We simply made a mistake and certainly the management has suffered no financial loss as a result. We acted in good faith, but I know I could not live in that particular apartment. Thank you so much for any help you might give us.—Marie Lyons

Dear Marie: The best advice, of course, is not to part with your money unless you are absolutely sure it is what you want. But if you have paid a deposit and you can show that you have not cost the management anything by so doing—and you haven't taken possession of anything so involved—I think you can get your money back.

Q. My broker sent me a list of municipal bonds which I had previously requested. I wanted to buy a particular bond which was on the list. He told me they were no longer available. Why? Don't all bonds trade the same way?—A. O. T., Sioux City, Iowa

A. No, they do not. Although municipal bonds are bought and sold on a supply and demand basis, once a municipal bond is sold, it is generally kept in the portfolio, unless for tax reasons it is traded away the next year. For this reason, it is sometimes difficult or even impossible to purchase the particular bond which you may have had in mind. When you decide to purchase municipals, discuss with the broker your guidelines, what maturity you want, what coupon (interest on bond) and the rating. Let him or her find bonds which will match your prerequisites. Bear in mind that as a matter of investment, it really makes no difference whether the bond is Atlantic Central School District or West De Moines Water Bonds as long as your guidelines are met.

Q. I have some stock being held as collateral in a bank. May I sell it?—E. A., Union, New Jersey

A. If the proceeds from the sale are to be used to pay the loan, the answer to your question is "yes." First, you should tell the bank what your plans are. Then go to your broker and tell him or her that you wish to sell, for example, 200 shares XYZ stock. The bank should forward the certificates of XYZ, and the proceeds check can be sent to the bank for your account. If you should happen to have 800 shares of XYZ in one certificate and only $200, your brokerage house should see to it that a few certificates in the number of remaining shares is issued to you and returned to the bank for you.

Bonds tied to supply

By JUDITH G. RHOADES

It is worth filling a small claims suit to find out. The cost is only a few dollars and I don't think the rental people will want to fight it over something like this.

Dear John: My husband and I are very interested in the AIM booklet "Health Guide to Independent Living." Will you please tell us if there are any available?—Mrs. Leo Spurgeon

Dear Mrs. Spurgeon: I do not recall this booklet. You might try the American Association of Retired Persons, 215 Long Beach Blvd., Long Beach, Calif. 90801, which might have it or a similar publication.

Dear John: I have no happy solution for Constance Larson as her letter really told it like it is. I have lived alone for 30 years, the last 14 in Southern California and nowhere have I seen people more cold, unfriendly, selfish, and self-centered, than they are here. You have two choices. You either move away to a more friendly part of the county (contrary to popular belief, people are not the same all over), or I have not followed this course as it is just too complicated and too expensive to explain. Besides, I like this part of the country and the weather in spite of the stinking smog. The other course is to try and become thick skinned enough to bear it, which I have tried to do, but I no longer grin.

Believe me, I could write a book on this subject, but it wouldn't be the type of material to make the best seller list.—S.M. Switzer

P.S. Don't look for sympathy or understanding among the people in church, and so far as A.G. is concerned, you are just as apt to end him out as a corried-off in a rose garden or anywhere.

Dear S.M.: Pretty much of a book has already been written on it.
