Decision Exempts Workers From Overtime Rules

Court Ruling Brings Relief To Sanford Employes

A United States Supreme Court decision to exempt city employes from federal overtime regulations has triggered a big sigh of relief at Sanford City Hall.

The city is, under the court's ruling Thursday, permitted to compensate for overtime by giving time off in a later pay period. That was prohibited under an extension of the Fair Labor Standards Act passed by Congress in 1974. "The first impact on us was on some city employes who had

Democrats' Expense Reforms

Face Hurdle in House Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Leader John J. Rhodes says Democratic-backed accounting overhauls for the House were drafted in a climate of "panic rather than reform" in the wake of the payroll-sex scandal and don't deal with power abuses.

"We cannot afford to sweep this climate of scandal under the rug," Rhodes declared Thursday. "It will not go away. The people will not let it go away." The Democrats' sweeping payroll and expense ac-counting revisions faced a hurdle today in the House Administration Committee where some members want to force full House action rather than have the changes considered only by the panel.

In the wake of the Capitol Hill payroll-sex scandal, the House Democratic Caucus approved 12 accounting revisions Wednesday night and ordered the committee to implement 10 of them. But on Thursday, Republicans and several Democrats contended the caucus has no business telling them what to do.

OCALA (AP) - A popular Florida attraction, claiming Deltona Corp. muddied the once-crystal clear spring that drew tourists, has filed a $4-million suit against the development firm. Weeki Wachee Spring, Inc., operator of the Hernando County tourist attraction, contends in the suit filed in

Marion County Circuit Court that Deltona polluted the

An Historic First For The Old South

Jimmy Carter has the Democratic nomination in his grasp, thanks to George Wallace, Mayor Daley, Henry Jackson and Hubert Humphrey, all of whom have recognized reality.

The reality is that Carter has accumulated enough delegates through the primary process to make his first-ballot nomination in New York City a virtual certainty.

Only Edmund G. Brown Jr. refuses to recognize that the race is over - and ever he has begun to waver, cutting back on his plans to go seeking delegates in other states between now and the convention next month.

The primary system has worked But for the primaries, Carter would be nowher. He is on the verge of nomination solely because he carried a message the ordinary Democraty voter liked, and not because of any help from the Democratic

A Vague Law

The U. S. Supreme Court has ruled that the federal government must comply with state pollution laws in the operation of such facilities as the Tennessee Valley Authority, Army installations and federal power plants.

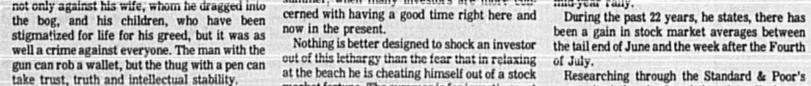

In the same breath Justice Byron White, who wrote the majority decision, said that states have no authority to require licenses or shut the federal plants down if environmental standards are not met. Justice White said that the policing nower resides in the federal government.

The question is a delicate one. States obviously should not be able to close down a military base or the TVA. On the other hand Kentucky, California, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Tennessee have brought suit against the government because officials of these states believe that federal agencies are polluting the air and water. If legitimate complaints of states are not met, efforts to cleanse the environment will be set back. The problem will gain in importance and become more critical as the federal government expands its role in the generation of nuclear energy. Justice White was undoubtedly correct in his assessment that the present federal law covering pollution by U. S. installations is ambiguous — and that the Supreme Court cannot infer a congressional intent to sacrifice property.

He also suggested the solution by saying that Congress could override the court's decision with more specific language. Congress should do just that.

Plant Thieves Slow, Can't Stop

WOMFN

Herald Staff Writer

The best laid plans of mice and men will sometimes go astray. But Jim Jernigan, Sanford's director of parks and recreation, says efforts at beautifying the city will not be thwarted by plant

Since the new flower beds of azaleas, day lilies and other shrubs were completed along the west stretch of the seawall a couple of weeks ago, some 12 to 15 plants have already been stolen, says Jernigan. The thieves apparently come at night, and favor the smaller newly planted shrubbery which is easy to pull out of the ground, and less conspicuous to carry away.

The police has been notified about the problem, said Jernigan, and cars are patrolling the lakefront area at night. But so far, no thieves have been spotted by the patrolmen. "I'm upset about it. I don't appreciate it one little bit," said

Jernigan. "But I'm not going to let it beat us." The beautification of the Lake Monroe seawall, and earlier of Memorial Park on the lakefront, has been the goal of the Community Improvement Project. This is a program initiated by the Woman's Club of Sanford, and co-sponsored by the Junior Woman's Club and Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce. Several other civic and community groups, including the Garden Club of Sanford, as well as individuals, have contributed to the beautification effort.

Bicentennial News, official voice of the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration

Future plans call for landscaping all along the seawall from Sanford to the Central Florida Zoo. Total cost of each flower bed, including irrigation, is $250, said Jernigan. About $150 worth of plants goes into each bed. So far, the plants which have been stolen from along the lakefront have not been replaced. "We don't have the money," Jernigan

Back in 1962, Jernigan related, a men's circle of the Garden Club was formed. Their chief project was to landscape the wayside parks along the lakefront. That puts a curve in the spine to the right, which crowds the rib cage where the concavity is and isn't good for the lungs." Use your left hand more, she urges. "Get acquainted with it."

And lighten up that shoulder bag and alternate it from one shoulder to the other. ### Forgiving And Forgetting Question: I'd like to forgive the person who cheated me, but I don't know how. I don't think I hate him anymore, but I can't seem to get it out of my mind. How can I forget about the whole thing?

Answer: It's not enough to want to forget about a wrong done to you. As you've found out, your feelings just won't let you forget, You feel betrayed and wronged, and that's hard

North Carolina will be But it's even harder to live with angry feelings. I doubt you're really gotten rid of hate. I say that because when you've been unjustly treated, your bad feelings usually don't go away until after you've forgiven the person.

And that's one good reason to forgive . . . for your own peace of mind. Why should you suffer because of his wrongdoing? In your case, your thoughts keep revolving around what's happened. This keeps you churned up, going over everything again and again. Bad feelings show up in different people in different ways . . . bad temper, sleepless nights, health problems. But whatever form they take, they distroy the same thing in everybody . . . peace of mind. And peace is something we all need. We are not made to live with anger or resentment or bitterness. Our spirit reacts to hate as our body does to poison. That's why the price for keeping bad feelings is too high. The truth is, we can't afford not to forgive. Our peace and happiness depend on it.

God made us, and He really knows how we work and what will work for us. So when it comes to forgiving, God is our example. He promises to forgive us if we forgive others. And His foregiveness includes forgetting. He blots out our sins and will not even remember them (Isaiah 43:25).

So when you forgive, include forgetting, and do it just as quickly as you can. Paul said don't let the sun go down upon your wrath (Ephesians 4:26). He knew it's always harder to forgive tomorrow. I know it's hard to give up angry feelings. But when you really decide to forgive, it's not as hard as you thought it would be. That's because God gives you the love you need to Although the anger goes away, you may still feel a deep hurt. I recently experienced something that caused me a deep hurting. Out of my pain the Lord told me to plant my hurt as a seed for something better. And as I did, the hurting was crowded out by the excitement of knowing that something good was going to happen to me! I talk about this planting the hurt as a seed in much more detail in my book "Daily Guide to Miracles." To get your copy free, postpaid and without any obligation, write to Oral Roberts, Tulsa, Okla.

Ford set up the Puerto Rican trip to discuss global economic Britain, France, West Germany, Japan, Italy and Canada at a summit that formally begins today and winds up a day later.

In an obvious reference to pro-independence sentiment among some islanders, Ford said the relationship currently is "a subject of free discussion and debate" which he said was "the best promise that what we together choose to do in the future will be beneficial to people

Drug Task Force In Line For $326,000 Grant

As Orlando officials ponder the possibility of seeking perjury charges in testimony of three federal drug agents about a ruckus in Orlando's Rosie O'Grady's Goodtime Emporium, the Federal Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) has received a shot in the arm in the form of a $326,000

Although it's not official, the agency has the grant under wraps and "funding is on the way." Task force officials reserved comment until the grant is formally announced - possibly on Monday, Despite continued reports of irregularities on the part of task force agents, Seminole County Sheriff

John Polk feels federal agents are doing a good job and that operations are proceeding smoothly since the county recently agreed to act as task force "The money has started to flow," Polk noted. Preliminary notification has been received by county officials that the federal grant award is for $326,390. The funds are intended to carry the agency through Dec. 31, according to Seminole County Grant Condinator Shelley Cox.

Meanwhile, Orlando Municipal Court Prosecutor

Joel Spector is reviewing transcripts of the trials of John Lepore, Dennis Fitzgerald and Frank Torres, three task force agents who worked out of the Orlando office until they were transferred after a March 23 incident at Rosie O'Grady's, The three federal agents, witnesses say, posed as gangster-like characters on the evening of March 23 in an effort to win favor from waitresses. All three agents denied allegations during two trials that followed the incident. Lepore, the former chief of Central Florida operations, was acquitted of skipping out on a $22.55 bar bill. Fitzgerald was acquitted of the same charge. In a separate trial Torres was convicted of public profanity and battery of a Rosie O'Grady waitress. He has appealed the misdemeanor conan investigation is under way. And a report of findings is scheduled to be released in the near future, Washington officials say.

In May, the Seminole County Commission assumed sponsorship of the task force after the Orange County Commission declined to continue as the go-between for federal dollars.

Then Polk highly recommended task force

"I don't think coordination between agencies could be any better," the sheriff said. Federal agents are sworn deputies, and as such can cross state lines in quest of criminal activities.

Since Harper arrived in Orlando from Miami before Lepore and the other agents were transferred, he declined to comment on any pending investigations, or on the Rosie O'Grady incident.

Harper's agents cover seven Central Florida counties. Lepore is working in the drug administration's New Orleans office and Fitzgerald and Torres were transferred to New York City.
