Navy Wastes Billions On Torpedo, CBS Tells

NEW YORK (AP) — A new torpedo which the Navy had hoped to develop for $680 million is now two years behind schedule and the estimated total cost of the program is now $4 billion, CBS reports. (See Stafford Derby's lead editorial on this subject on page 4A today.)

The torpedo program was described by an unnamed Senate source as "one of the worst cases of weapons system development that could be found," the network reported Tuesday night.

Correspondent Mike Wallace, who narrated the story on the CBS News "60 Minutes" program, said the Mark-48 torpedo program seeks to develop a torpedo of increased range and speed to combat improved enemy submarines.

Ernest Fitzgerald, a former Pentagon efficiency expert who revealed cost overruns on the CSA airplane, described the torpedo program as "a classic case of decomposition of early problems."

Dr. Robert Froese, a Navy spokesman, told Wallace, "We found ourselves in the situation with developmental torpedoes that were supposed to be making a certain test schedule began to fail in ways that indicated that a good deal of redesign and change was needed."

Officer, Motorist In Shootout

Policeman Returns Gunfire

By BILL SCOTT

A midnight shooting between a Sanford policeman and a motorist has resulted in the wounding of a Sanford man.

Police Chief Ben Butler reported Peterson was wounded by Tate after the man, in a drunken stupor, refused to be arrested when approached by Sergeant Tate and attempted instead to shoot the officer with a .38 caliber Smith and Wesson revolver.

Butler stated Peterson was hit in an exchange of stern shots, six by Tate and five by Peterson, after Peterson stopped his car near the William Clark Courts between Tenth and Eleventh Streets.

Butler related, "After Peterson stopped his car, Tate confronted him to make the arrest after first observing the man's car weaving along on Southwest Road."

"Peterson was charged with driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor but refused to get in the car with Tate, Butler advised. 'A woman who lives in the neighborhood and who knew Peterson came to the car and said she would try to talk the man into going peacefully with the officer,' the chief said.

"While the woman talked with Peterson, Tate went to his car and readied for help in case the man continued to resist," Butler related.

"When Sergeant Tate turned again Peterson had gotten out of his car and fired two shots point blank at the policeman, missing both times. Tate immediately backed behind the patrol car as the man advanced firing a third time," Butler continued.

This brought a return shot from Tate, who had drawn his Magnum service revolver after the first shots from Peterson. The policeman's bullet struck Peterson in the thigh, causing the man to fall to a sitting position in the road, Butler added.

"While in this position, Peterson fired his two remaining shots from the five-shot pistol at Tate, with both slugs striking the patrol car," Butler commented. "At this point the policeman fired back five times in the darkness with all five shots missing."

Peterson was limp when Tate walked over to take away the man's gun, the chief continued.

Butler said a radio call from Tate brought an ambulance to the scene and Peterson was removed to the hospital where he received a three-hour operation before being placed in the hospital's intensive care unit.

Peterson had been arrested two weeks previous on two counts of destroying private property, Butler said. Authorities had charged him with slashing tires on a car belonging to a Goldobere area resident.

Chief Butler said assault with intent to murder charges are pending against Peterson and may be filed after a hearing today with Thomas Speer, assistant state attorney.

Signal Requests Deluge County

By MARION BETHA

The old game of "one-two-three-red light" may well be the hallmark of Seminole County Commissioners who are deluged every week with requests and petitions for traffic signals.

At a meeting this week, residents in the area of Barney's Academy, Inc., petitioned for a signal at SR 436 and Howell Branch Road. Board Chairman John Alexander advised that the request to the Department of Transportation (DOT) had been initiated by the commission and was under study.

A letter also was received from the city of Longwood, requesting the DOT conduct a traffic study at SR 427 and SR 434, and that conditions at this intersection were of such a hazardous nature that a signal was warranted.

County Engineer William Bush was asked to conduct a cursory study of the area and report to the commission, although Commissioner Greg Drummond reflected that he could not see the expense of an extended study. Bush stated that the area met vehicular warrants at certain peak hours but that otherwise traffic was minimal.

A county resident complained to the commission regarding the Maitland Boulevard extension at SR 441 and SR 436, saying he was opposed to the extension which Jack Bratton alleged that the main switch in a home in Winter Woods subdivision was not connected when the home apparently passed county inspection. Drummond maintained that in this instance a half the decibels generated by power mowers, motor scooters and swimming pools. Drummond concluded that many people only complain about noise and pollution "when it's to their advantage."

Drummond queried County Zoning Director Robert Brown concerning another complaint in which Jack Bratton alleged that the main switch in a home in Winter Woods subdivision was not connected when the home apparently passed county inspection. Drummond maintained that in this instance a half the decibels generated by power mowers, motor scooters and swimming pools. Drummond concluded that many people only complain about noise and pollution "when it's to their advantage."

A television set was removed from the home of Mrs. Stan Washburn at 713 Briarcliffe Avenue near Sanford.

The reported loss was men's clothing.

Burglars were apparently unsuccessful in an effort to break in the John A. Gielow home at 123 Variety Tree Circle in Spring Valley. Deputies report the lock was removed from the patio door but, thus far, nothing has been missed.

Three County Homes Looted By Burglars

Burglars were active again last night in Seminole County and at least three homes were entered and three television sets, a stereo and some clothing taken.

Mrs. Diane Metcalf, 10205 Acapulco Way, in Oakland Hills, near Forest City, reported to authorities that her home was entered and a color television set and a stereo was stolen.

Thieves entered through a rear door some time between 8-10 p.m., Mrs. Metcalf said.

Narcotics Lab OK'd For Here

By FRED VAN PELT

Establishment of a narcotics crime laboratory to serve seven East Central Florida counties was voted today by the Planning and Urban Development (HUD) administration of Seminole Sheriff John Polk and will be located at Sanford Airport.

The Florida Regional Law Enforcement Planning Council, in meeting today at Winter Park, voted to place the laboratory at Sanford and under the administration of Sheriff Polk.

Polk said that work will be started immediately in writing specifications for firms to bid on necessary equipment and supplies for the lab.

A federal grant of $105,000 to finance the first phase of the narcotics lab is expected between April 1 and June 30, the sheriff stated.

The second year of operation is expected between April 1 and June 30, the sheriff stated.

The department will reach full status within five years, Polk stated.

Urban Renewal To Be Considered

Urban Renewal for Sanford will receive attention at tonight's scheduled 8 p.m. Zoning and Planning Commission meeting at city hall.

At least two agenda items pertaining to the reclamation project will be considered by the city agency charged with advisory duties to the City Commission in areas of zoning and planning.

The appointment of the firm will be studied to prepare a U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) application to receive a survey and planning grant for an urban renewal project.

A second item to be discussed is the selection of an area within the city to be designated as the Urban Renewal project area.

This information will be forwarded along with request for survey and project grant to the HUD office in Washington.

Whatever site is selected by the planning board will be recommended to the city commission for final action.

Urban Renewal was approved for Sanford by city voters in Dec. 2 election after the state Legislature passed an enabling act which would allow local communities to apply for renewal after first approving the idea in a community referendum.

Grumbling Rail Unions Delay Strike

By NEIL GILBRIDE
WASHINGTON (AP) — Grumbling union leaders postponed a nationwide rail strike today under a 37-day delay ordered by Congress that got the lawmakers out of a politically tight spot.

"A catastrophe," said William W. Wimpfinger, chief negotiator for four AFL-CIO unions whose 45,000 maintenance and repair workers have already waited 15 months for a pay increase. The union leaders said they would not strike until the law is but feared without work.

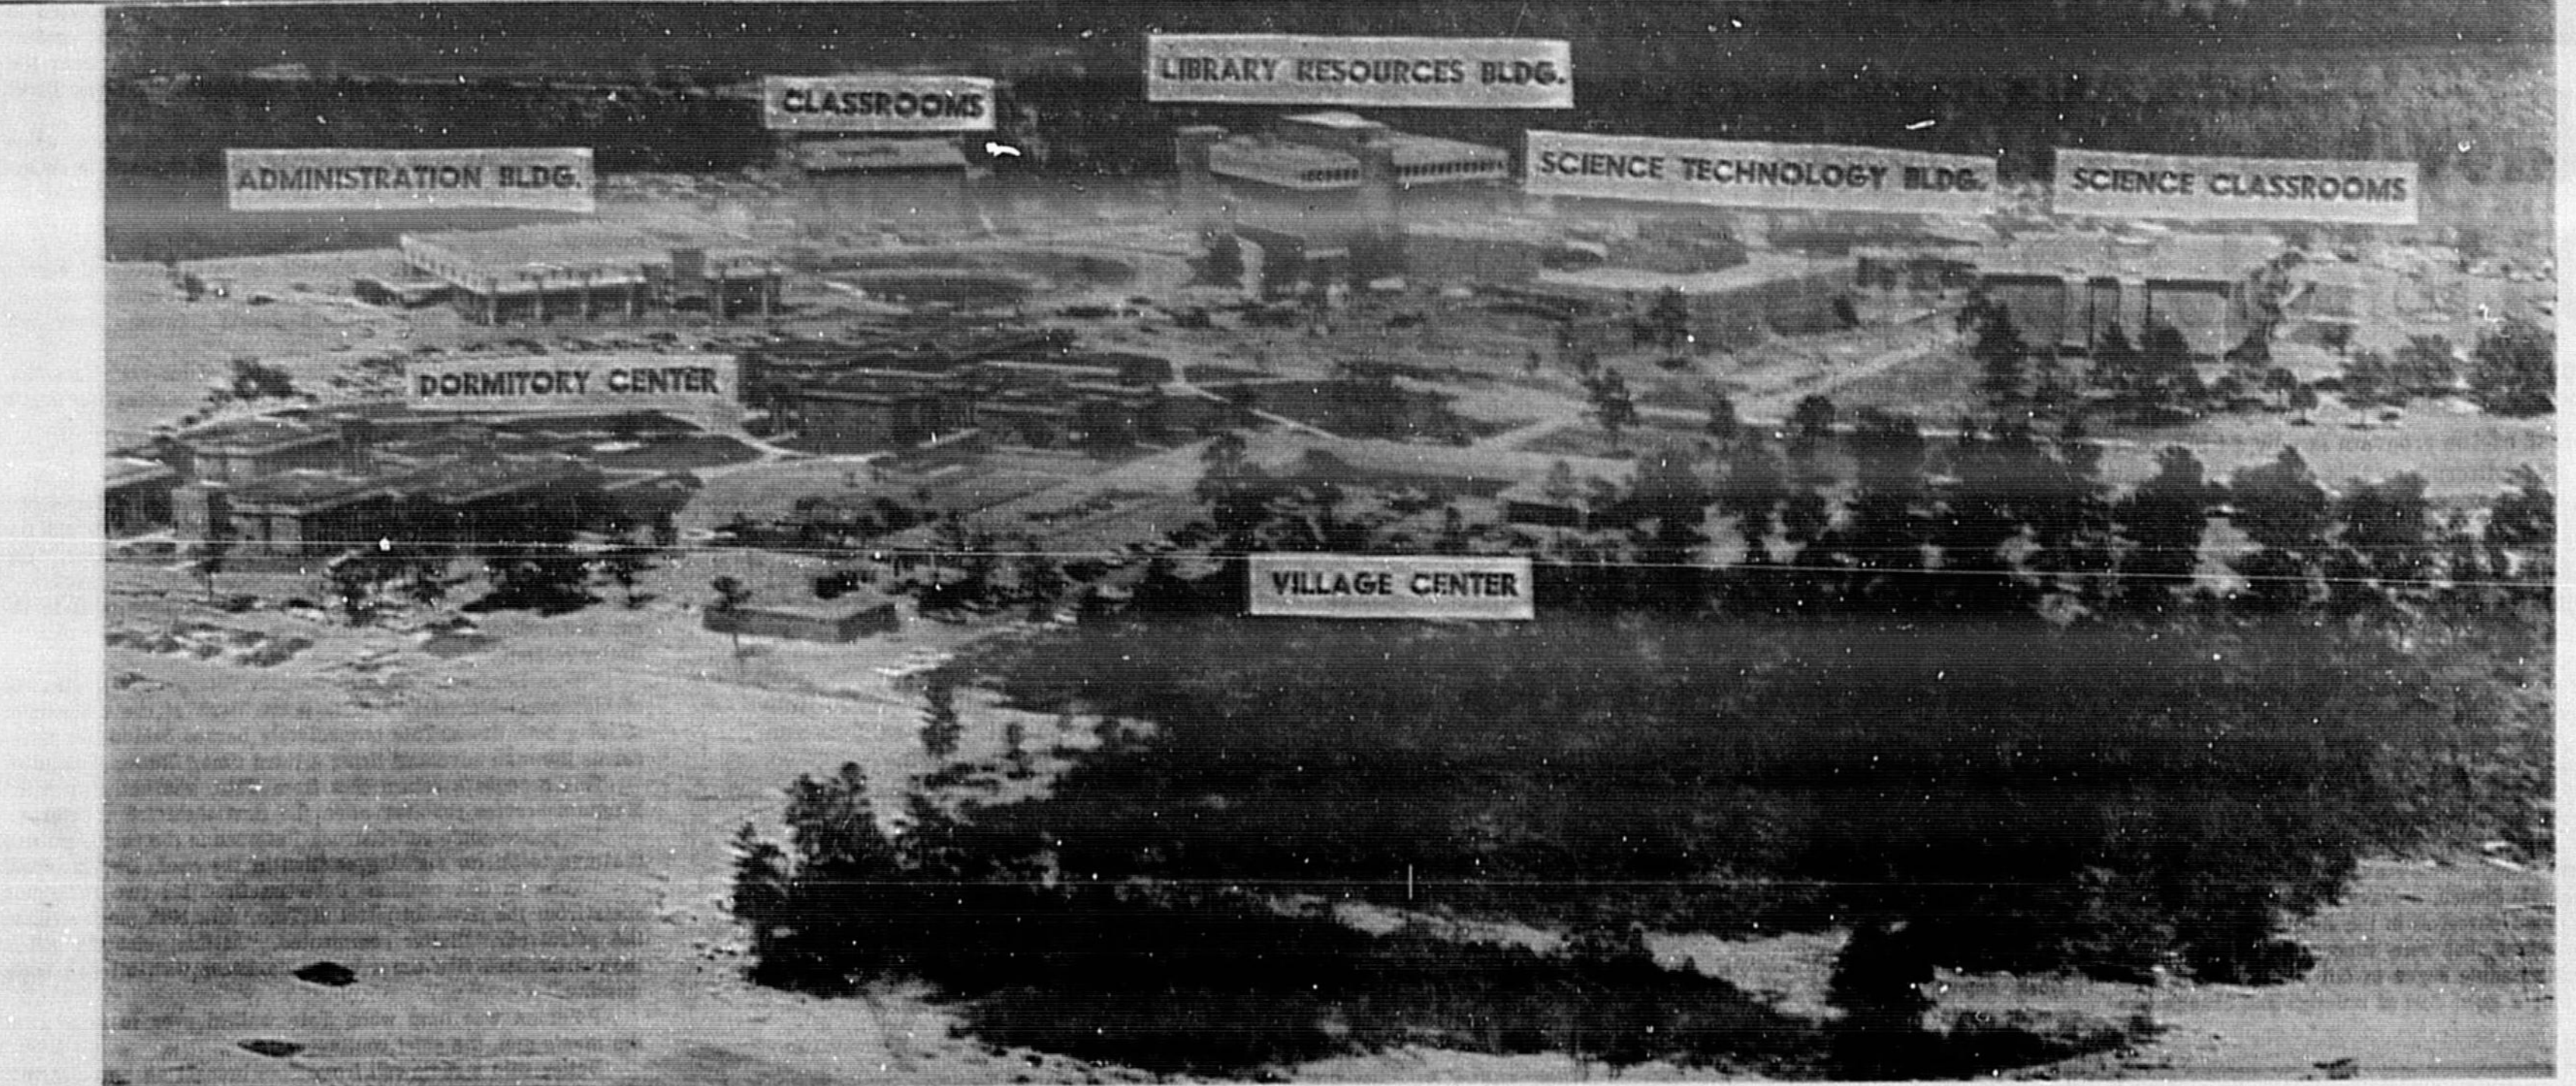

"The bill preserves the status quo for 37 days but does not resolve the underlying dispute," said White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler in behalf of President Nixon, who had wanted Congress to order a settlement now.

"We are going to make every effort to do just that," said Assistant Secretary of Labor W. J. Ueary, Nixon's chief troubleshooter in trying to resolve the dispute. He said he would start immediately trying to arrange new bargaining between the union leaders and chief rail industry negotiator John P. Hiltz, who also had strongly opposed the 37-day delay.

The delaying bill was rushed through Congress in less than 10 hours Wednesday and signed by Nixon just three hours before 11:21 a.m. EST strike deadline. The Senate vote was 83 to 0 and the House vote 343 to 15.

The settlement would include a 68-cent boost in current $3.60 hourly wages, including several hundred dollars per man in back pay for 1967, and the controversial proposal permitting members of all four unions to cross each others' job jurisdiction lines to do limited amounts of work.

The unions traditionally have jealously guarded their job jurisdiction, but only the sheet metal workers feared the proposal would hurt them. The differing positions have severely strained relations among the unions. The mandatory settlement proposed by Nixon would last only through this year.

Welfare Reform Bill Gets Boost

By EDMOND LEBRETON
WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, powerful chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, is expected to sponsor the sweeping welfare reform bill, giving the measure a boost toward easy passage. It has been hurried.

House rules will bar amendments on the floor, but the bill is expected to be the target of determined efforts in the Senate to write in more generous provisions.

TV Exposure Of $4 Billion Torpedo Fiasco!

An alarming, instructive and important television program was aired by the Columbia Broadcasting System on its "Sixty Minutes" production Tuesday night.

Alarming, because it showed the unbelievable waste which has and is taking place in the development and production of Pentagon approved defense systems.

Instructive, because it showed the Navy and the producers of this as yet unperfected $4 billion torpedo had refused to let the CBS crew take pictures on Friday, the week before the program was to be aired, that CBS meant just what it said and would produce this research masterpiece as scheduled.

Then a torpedo film was made available, which had been hidden behind a cloak of secrecy, and a spokesman for the Navy added a few minutes to the regularly scheduled show with an admission that such a professional job in talking with those who had been and are involved in this billion-dollar (SNAFU) operation.

Senator John Stennis (D) of Mississippi, chairman of the Armed Forces committee seemed unalarmed at this overrun, and even put it into his own focus as he talked about other overruns when the millions or billions of dollars so expended were minor in terms of the vast sums needed in the present conduct of the armed forces.

Not so with Senator William Proxmire (D) of Wisconsin who expressed his alarm at such expenditures and used the harshest terms in condemning this manner of spending government funds.

Another Democrat, Rep. William S. Moorhead of Pennsylvania, talked with Mike Wallace, too. It was his attitude as well as his well-chosen phrases that seemed to us to express what we were feeling as this account of mal-ordered execution of mis-directed programming jumped alive from the TV screen.

When A. Ernest Fitzgerald, the expert and highly regarded adviser who lost his job following testimony he offered when the C-5A transport plane costs were under study, was interviewed he added some information which was quite unbelievable.

For this expert had been in at the 1964 start. At that time he advised that this torpedo was wrongly devised and would need major changes. Yet, along went the costly mis-handling between the contractor and the Navy.

In regards to the torpedo itself, this TV watcher said that the only ones now in operational stage display no sure confidence of performance.

But to professional journalists and editors — newspaper or electronic — the message which the program delivered was most important as it proved that such research, such reporting is needed now, more than ever, if the public is to be informed so that its voice can be raised and heard.

Without it can anyone, even Vice President Spiro Agnew, harsh critic of mass media, believe that this billion figure — already known — would have been made known by either the contractor or the Navy?

In making this comment we do not take a stand which is unpatriotic or super-critical. But we are of dollars are needed and needed urgently to finance improved education, expanded and effective crime control and to provide fiscal muscle for other action on the home front.

We are also complimenting the CBS coverage in producing such a revealing program and Channel 6-WDBO TV for making it available for our viewing.

All The News!

The president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors has it about right, we suspect.

An older generation of Americans looks upon the press with suspicion, accusing the media of "deliberately suppressing good news, of slanting everything, of trying to tear down the nation."

In the younger generation, almost the opposite is true. Here the suspicion is that the press operates in collusion with the Establishment, and the prevailing mood is one of cynicism toward both government and the press.

Too bad. No one, young or old, it seems, believes exactly what he reads or trusts implicitly in the established sources of information. The mood is a healthy one.

And if the press, considered as an institution, has need of some rebuttal, it is readily available. Where do the American people of either generation get the information on which they base this difference of opinion on the press?

Why, from the press, of course. More often than not it is the source of the knowledge on which the people base their criticism of its behavior. — Charleston (W. Va.) Daily Mail

OAS And Cuban Relations

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

On July 28, 1964, the then 23 members of the Organization of American States (OAS) signed a resolution in Washington binding them to impose economic sanctions on Communist Cuba and to break all diplomatic relations with her.

Four of the nations signed reluctantly. They were Bolivia, Chile, Uruguay and Mexico.

Mexico promptly forgot all about it, regarding the action as interference with Cuba's internal affairs.

Of the others, Chile has now bettered its first, by breaking it.

Under an agreement signed Feb. 20, Chile will sell to Cuba $11 million in agricultural products in 1970 and 1971. There are indications it may become a trend.

Ecuador, Bolivia and Peru have suggested they might be willing to take similar steps.

The nationalistic, anti-U.S. regime of Peru has been praised by Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro as "without any doubt revolutionary."

The nationalistic, anti-U.S. feelings south of the border came last month in a speech by Trinidad and Tobago Prime Minister Eric Williams before the Inter-American Economic and Social Council session in Caracas, Venezuela. In a

Role Of Democratic "New Left"

By BRUCE BOSSART
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A party suffering such dismay as now afflicts the Democrats is like a music wall pattern with broken and missing pieces. What you see is incomplete, distorted and sometimes comical.

If driving vocal energy could make a party, the activists of the Democratic New Left would have to be accepted as the hopeful uniforms for 1970 and beyond.

When the party's big council met in Washington to adopt positions on the major issues, Ad Averil Harriman and veteran economist Gardner Ackley found themselves sharing the floor with youngish types like Curtis Gans, sometime aide to Sen. Eugene McCarthy, and Gloria Steinem, a New Left cultist who calls herself a reporter.

Forward-looking party professionals thought that was fine, up to a point. Maybe it signaled the future, opening up the party, giving full house to the young.

Yet, even as they spoke of that prospect hopefully, some of those professionals indicated concern at the rigidities of viewpoint so thoroughly embodied in the New Left establishment.

It is hardly news to anyone that these types do not welcome opposing viewpoints. One of the siller events of recent times

"So, you're the new office boy. Well, if you don't work out any better than the last one, you won't be around here very long."

"Where the deuce is he now? Out in the washroom staring at his hair in the mirror again?"

"I hear you're trying to grow a beard now, Wilbur. The best way to get it started is to put fresh cream on your face and let the cat lick it off."

"Fun is fun, but quit playing tricks on Wilbur. One of you guys sent him out last week to get a left-handed monkey wrench, and he didn't get back for three days."

"Hey, boy!"

"I don't think you should tell that kind of joke with Wilbur here. After all, he's still a kid."

"There's a lot of opportunity here, Wilbur. I started out as an office boy, just like you, and after only 15 years I got promoted to file clerk. Had 15¢ pay, few dollars, now I think I'm about to get promoted again."

"I don't think you owe me any office to give you a merit raise, Wilbur. I just need to get some indoor golf practice. Would you mind standing over there on the far corner of the rug with your heels together and your toes apart? Now, what did I do with that putter?"

"I've checked your check, Wilbur! How about being a good sport and lend me $10 to tide me over the weekend? By the way, don't mention this to any of the other guys. They might not

Editor, Herald:

Again Kirk's pet newspaper has cut one of my letters. It was too long, but how can one answer the propaganda of D. H. Lawrence in two paragraphs.

I was attempting to prove that the philosophy of our governor is subject to sudden convenient changes. For instance the governor was elected by the conservatives. But he is requesting a new five million dollar state office building and a four and a half million dollar arches building and an increase in his own salary. To me it seems the money the governor spends is just as inflationary as what the legislators spend.

Three Trek To Capital In Aid Of 'Poor People'

Three Seminole County women drove to Washington to challenge the U.S. Department of Agriculture on behalf of the county's disadvantaged.

Taking part in the automobile sojourn to the nation's capital to question the USDA's decision not to include poor people participation in that governmental department's 1970 Outlook Conference on the Rural Disadvantaged were Mrs. Alberta Walker, target area representative to the Seminole Community Action Board of directors from Midway; Mrs. Mona Hunt, SCA volunteer; and Mrs. Louise Crawford, assistant executive director of SCA.

Mrs. Crawford organized the Washington journey after learning through contacts that poor people were not included in the conference.

The result of the trip was the formation of an ad hoc committee that included active participation by the trio.

The group succeeded in being heard and were given a conference room, typewriter and telephone and combined efforts with representatives from Vermont.

Other groups taking part in the action of the ad hoc committee included: National Council of Hunger and Malnutrition, National Welfare Rights Organization and National Association for Community Development.

Position papers on 1970 Outlook for the Rural Disadvantaged, Health Housing, Civil Rights and Family Resources were developed. Mrs. Crawford said.

The group also managed to get representation on several panels. Leonard Smith, Southern rural projects director from Atlanta, was placed on the National Economic Situation general session and Robert Chase was included in the panel discussion on food and nutrition.

The ad hoc group also got representatives on two panels dealing

Smart Slipping?

They point out that women are not only the equals of men in every regard except mutual respect, but are physically more durable, live longer, have fewer mental breakdowns and are prettier to look at. All true.

They also declare that their intelligence is the equal of any man's, and any man who has a mind in proper working order will readily admit it.

But why is it, girls, that the U. S. Department of Public Health can report that in the past 10 years the percentage of American women who smoke has increased from 28 per cent to 40 per cent, while the number of men smokers has dropped from 59 per cent to 40?

Don't look now, dears, but your smart is slipping. — Asheville (N. C.) Citizen

The Lighter Side

WASHINGTON (UPI) — After writing the other day about the profusion of new political labels in America, I got to wondering where our statesmen acquire the epithets that they apply to nation groups.

So I sent my fingers lipping through the yellow pages and pretty soon they stumbled upon an entry which read:

The Tiffany Epithet Co. Fine Political Labels Since 1893

Stanley Y. Clert, Prop.

"We are indeed the nation's largest supplier of political labels," Clert confirmed when I called at his place of business. "While our client list is confidential, I can assure you that it includes many of the most important figures in Washington. Here, let me show you around."

He directed me to a stately, paneled chamber lined with bookcases.

"This is our showroom," he said. "As you can see, we have an exhibit a number of the

AP Wife Writes Of Life Among North Vietnamese

Editor's Note: Alma DeLace accompanied her husband, AP Correspondent, Daniel DeLace, on a news assignment to North Vietnam for The Associated Press. Here is her report on what she saw.

By ALMA DeLACE

HANOI (AP) — What does North Vietnam look like? All shades of cultivated green. Not an inch of land is wasted. Green rice, green corn. Cabbages as big as pumpkins.

Until you leave Hanoi and set out for the 17th parallel, the 18-year-old "temporary" dividing line between North and South Vietnam.

A few miles south of Hanoi on the 21st parallel, bomb damage is a noticeable feature of the landscape, though the American bombing stopped two years ago and green foliage hides some of the ruined sites of buildings.

Southward from the 20th parallel, where bombing did not cease until Nov. 1, 1968, towns and villages along Highway 1 ceased to exist. We were told that road travel was hazardous until a year ago, when delayed action magnetic bombs were cleared away. District officials said their detonation system was so sensitive it could be set off by a child cutting grass with a hand scythe for the family water buffalo.

Craters are everywhere—in rice paddies and muddy streams, on sand dunes and hillsides. Some are 60 feet across, with the average perhaps 25. Where a village or small bridge stood, craters nearly overlap.

Children who have spent half their lives under conditions of air attack may be a little behind in their schooling, but they are knowledgeable about bombs, especially antipersonnel bombs. I never knew existed. One is called a "real bomb." It is

Business Mirror

'Warrants' To Become Common

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — You'll be hearing a lot more about warrants in the next few months, not only the kind that lead to arrests, but the stock market type that whets the appetites of speculators.

A warrant is a piece of paper that gives its owner the right to buy shares of a company's common stock at a fixed price, even though the market price of the stock might be considerably higher.

It isn't much more than that, either. It pays no dividends. And if it isn't turned in within a specified time it simply evaporates into nothingness. It isn't a claim on assets. It is only a right to buy stock. But it can be very profitable.

Assume an individual owned 100 warrants to buy for $12 a share of stock in a company selling for $10 a share. He was given the warrants in order to induce him to buy the company's bonds. Each warrant and $12 is worth one share.

Naturally he won't exercise his right under such circumstances. He'll wait for the stock price to rise. And, if the company is solid, progressive and well managed enterprise, chances are the stock price will rise.

Assume that the shares climb to $18. The owner of the warrants can redeem them for a similar number of shares that have been set aside for him. For $1,200, he will receive $1,800 in stock that he can immediately sell for a $600 profit.

Remember that $1,200 was invested for a very brief time. Had he purchased shares instead he very likely would have tied up his money for months or years.

Although a lot of investors have lost money dealing in such securities, some professional traders have reaped tremendous profits on relatively small investments. A return of several hundred per cent is possible.

The big news in warrants this year developed in recent weeks when:

- American Telephone & Telegraph Co. announced a capital raising package that included stocks, debentures and warrants. A formula was developed permitting stockholders to buy debentures to which warrants will be attached.
- The New York Stock Exchange announced it had approved in principle the trading of warrants on its floor is now in the process of discussing the specifics with officials of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The Red Cross Unit at the Seminole County Health Department has received a shot of adrenaline! The unit, which has been running on a low key since the Navy left Sanford almost two years ago, has recently been reactivated.

Prunier-Carpenter Nuptials Spoken

Miss Cheryl Ann Prunier and Chester Aldon Carpenter were united in Holy Matrimony Feb. 7, 1970, at 11 a.m., at St. Ann's Catholic Church, DeBary.

Fr. James F. Edwards was the officiating clergyman at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert John Prunier of DeLona, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Chester Carpenter of Osteen.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows a white Chantilly lace formal gown, over bridal tulle, fashioned along the princess silhouette.

Her bouffant veil of imported silk illusion was secured to a princess crown of seed pearls and iridescent and she carried a Colonial bouquet of all-white carnations showered with lace.

Princess Margaret Lowers Hemlines

By MARGARET SAVILLE

LONDON (UPI) — Princess Margaret is the first of the British royal women to buy a maxi coat. She chose a grey tweed one which she wears to take her two children, Lord Linley and Lady Sarah Armstrong-Jones—for walks and also to go shopping and driving.

It's a natural for Margaret. For some time, the fashion-loving princess has been choosing long-skirted dresses for private parties as well as official functions. She thinks they make her look taller. Princess Margaret always has been very conscious of the fact that she's only five feet two inches in shoes.

Her husband, Lord Snowdon, likes her in the longer lengths, too. He takes close interest in everything she wears, offering frank comments and suggesting alterations if he thinks they're needed.

Princess Margaret usually accepts his verdict but there have been occasions when they've disagreed and a lively argument resulted.

Tony has done some work as a designer of women's styles. Once he arranged a fashion show of ski clothes and winter sports outfits, but that was before his marriage.

While Princess Margaret and Tony were in Japan last year, opening British Week in Tokyo, the princess was presented with a wall banner of orange and gold embroidery. Tony decided it would make her an evening dress.

"There's hardly enough for a swim suit," the princess remarked. So the dressmaker was told to use the banner for the top, adding flame chiffon folds to the floor and wide sleeves trimmed with gold embroidery. Ever since it's been Princess Margaret's favorite after-dark outfit.

She's just acquired the very newest craze for daytime wear—a pair of soft leather boots, cowboy style, with square silver heels that clatter as she walks. A sombrero goes with them but it's said the princess was somewhat put out when a certain member of the royal circle asked: "Where's your horse?"

Club Sets Rummage Sale

By MARY HYATT

Knits and crochet hats in lightweight fabrics are very much "in" on the spring scene. And nothing looks better under them than bouncy, springy curls—unless it's the bowl-shaped shepherd's haircut or the still swirly long, straight, flowing locks. You can pick from the hair fashions. Just make sure tresses are clean and shiny, then style to suit your face and needs.

All members and residents wishing to donate their rummage are asked to take it to Mrs. George Dugette at her home 70 So. Cortez. Those who would care to have it picked up are asked to call Mrs. Dugette, 322-5071, or Mrs. Eugene Roy Phone, 322-5740.

Proceeds of sale will go for the benefit of the club.

Donna Routh Feted At Bridal Shower

A miscellaneous bridal shower, Feb. 28, at University of South Florida, honored Miss Donna Gail Routh, bride-elect of Daniel Robert Smith.

Miss Routh is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Routh and the parents of the bridegroom-to-be are Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Smith, all of Sanford.

Hostesses for the event were Mary Lee Healy, Linda LaPierre and Janice Sarian, Delta Zeta sorority sisters of the honor guest.

The bridal motif was carried out in the refreshments and decor. A pink and white floral arrangement centered the refreshment table which also featured a pink and white cake decorated with bride and groom figurines, wedding rings and bells. A cut glass punch bowl contained orange and strawberry punch.

Highlighting the afternoon's festivities was the opening of the many lovely gifts presented to the bride-elect and participation in a round of lively bridal games by all attending.

Fashionettes

Alberto Fabiani of Rome, participating in a Montgomery-Ward Designer "seminar," said people are living in a time of intense conflicts; new forces, new dangers, new voices clamoring for attention. "There seems to be no single direction," he said. "Meaningless and tasteless fads rise to sudden popularity, and just as suddenly die. We now sense a change reaction towards elegance of design and fabric, balanced by restraint and a severe line."

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 61 years old but nobody believes it. Everyone says I could pass for 30. I guess I'm one of the lucky ones because I don't exercise or do anything special to keep in shape, and I still have the figure of a high school girl. Also I don't touch my hair and it's flaming red without any dye.

Last winter my husband and I were at a resort hotel, and a perfect stranger came up and asked if he could take my picture. I posed for him in my bikini, and his hand shook so bad he could hardly hold the camera. (I'm not telling you this to brag on myself, I just want you to know I am not a slouch.)

My problem is my husband. He likes to get drunk every night and he's not good for anything when he drinks, so I've been living without physical love for nearly a year. Last night I put on my heels and a black chiffon see-through negligee and I did a little dance for him, and he didn't even look up from his newspaper. What can I do? Can you help me?

SEXY BUT LONELY

DEAR SEXY: It's your husband who needs the help. If he puts his nose wet every evening, he's either an alcoholic or a likely candidate. And the only "help" I can suggest for him is ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS. But HE HAS to want to help himself.

DEAR ABBY: We have a problem which I am sure has caused friction in many other families.

When my mother passed away recently, there were four potted plants set by friends, as well as a lot of cut flowers.

One of the sisters-in-law claimed THREE plants because they were sent by friends of hers.

There are four of us children, so that would have given each family a pretty plant to take home.

I think that the distribution of those plants should have been made by our father, and he wanted each of us to have one.

This year when someone asks you where your son is, just say, "He's in New York working."

Take it from a mother in New York who said her son was "California working."

DEAR POLLY:—If Mrs. W. B. will use vinegar in the best food, she will have doors with hard-water spots on them. It will help remove the spots. I use this on windows at the place I work after they sprinkle the lawn and it really helps. It may take more than one washing to remove them, and I suggest one cup vinegar to two quarts of water.

City-County Unit Gaining Support

By FRED VAN FELT

ORLANDO (Sp) — Effect of the consolidation of Jacksonville and Duval County, from the original idea through its inception to the present, was outlined in detail before the Central Florida Development Committee here last night. The outline was presented by Mayor Hans G. Tandler and J. J. Daniel, chairman of the Local Government Study Commission of Duval County.

Tandler said it is logical that adjoining cities will benefit by consolidation of services through lower taxes. He said consolidation served to equalize services and taxes in rural and urban areas of Duval.

"One telephone call," said the Mayor, "can bring an emergency service, whether it be ambulance, firemen or policemen. When communities have common needs, why cannot they work together for their mutual benefit?"

Daniel, president of Stockton, Whitley, Davis and Company, largest mortgage banking firm in the South, said the consolidation "enables us to plan in an orderly way for future growth. Duplication of government service creates waste, graft and inefficiency. The ultimate solution or urban problems has to be solved by us, the people who make up the urban population."

"Unless we face up," he warned, "federal government intervention will follow."

Reorganization of Duval County was described by Daniel as a "quiet revolution of free Americans exercising the power of the ballot box to completely restructure local government."

Further, he said, "The reorganization grew out of obsolete, duplicating and inefficient government in Jacksonville and Duval County."

Attending the session from Seminole County were Harold H. Kasher, Mack N. Cleveland Jr., George Tandy and Walter A. Giesler, who said later they will seek to arrange to have Tandler and Daniel meet with Seminole County officers and authorities of the six municipalities in the county to discuss possible consolidation.

What happened to the fountain which highlighted the entrance to the Casseberry City Hall? During its brief appearance it was illuminated with amber light at night. Or was it just a leaky pipe as one city official inferred?

Have you noticed the latest gas "war" in Seminole County? The prices are about 10 cents a gallon lower than the regular price. Of course this is great for us, as consumers, but don't you wonder about the hardship it is causing on the station owners? Maybe the "wars" are the reason so many of our gas stations have changed ownership so quickly, and why so many of them have been vacated altogether.

Six or seven months ago I encouraged you to visit a certain lounge down in Maitland and listen to "up-and-coming" vocalists Misty and Jack. Now I invite you to listen to their smash recording of Tennessee Bird Walk... a real zinger.

This is not intended as a note of sarcasm... but, the VA just put out the word that effective Dec. 30th, the word Korea will be inserted on the headstones of all military personnel and veterans who were on active duty during the period 27 June 1950 through 27 July 1954.

Let's see now, 1954 to '64... that's 10 years along, plus six or 15 years!

Now as my memory recalls it "This is the war to end all, etc." When are we ever going to learn?

Jack Horner reported that Pete Ashlock, of the Orlando Sports Stadium, has offered the steering committee for the home their choice of attractions at which they will be given permission to sell tickets, keeping a percentage of each ticket sold for the home.

The Block Sale, headed by Robert EK and Martin Haysman, reported over $500. Last weekend various groups sold blocks at 50 cents each in locations throughout the area.

Sailing Regatta Slated

By BILL SCOTT

"Hoist sail, me hardies, and lift anchor for the Y-Flyer Mid-Winter Championship Regatta to be held March 14-15 on Lake Monroe. With this cry of "ah-ho," the Holiday Isle at Sanford will play host next weekend for three big sailing sloop races to be sponsored here by the Orlando Yacht Club and Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

This event is the Eighth Annual Y-Flyer Mid-Winter Championship and will be run here for the first time, having been moved from Lake Conway in Orange County.

John Krider, Chamber manager, is doing the preliminary work on the two-day, three-race happening which is expected to attract at least 25 participants from as far away as Canada, not to mention several states.

To those who are non-nautical minded, a Y-Flyer is a sail boat with an 18-foot by 150-foot sail area. All are racing sloops of the same configuration or design.

First race begins Saturday, March 14, at 1 p.m. with an outlined triangular course of approximately eight nautical miles.

Second race will start at 5 p.m. on the same day with the same course being followed. Third and final contest is set for Sunday, March 15, at 10 a.m.

An awards presentation with trophies will be made Sunday afternoon following the race conclusion. Two Sanford financial institutions, Florida State Bank and First Federal Savings and Loan of Seminole, will sponsor traveling trophies to winning contestants.

These awards may be kept for the entire year by the winners and will be given again each year to the best Y-Flyer racers.

The Y-Flyer group is the only one organization in Florida and in the past seven years have attracted as many as 35 participants from southeastern and midwestern states as well as Canada.

Girl Scouts Planning Programs

By JAVE CASSELBERRY

Sunday may not be St. Patrick's Day but the "wearing of the green" will be in style just the same as Girl Scouts everywhere observe Girl Scout Sunday and the beginning of Girl Scout week by attending church in uniform.

They will also be wearing their uniforms to school during the week and conducting the flag ceremony at many schools.

At Idlewild School Girl Scouts from Sanford Neighborhood will present bean bags to be used in the physical education program, which they made as a service project. Mrs. Dottie Bellise is neighborhood chairman.

Highlight of the week for Tangelo District will be demonstrations of scouting skills Saturday, March 14, at Seminole Plaza in Casselberry by nearly 20 troops of the Sunrise Neighborhood between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. They will have displays on such things as first aid, camping, health, and arts and crafts. Mrs. Marty Thompson is co-ordinating the event and Mrs. Carolyn Hughes is neighborhood chairman.

Mrs. Betty Knoblock, Sunset Neighborhood chairman, said some of the troops under her jurisdiction will have special programs on Juliette, Low, founder of Girl Scouting.

Mrs. Albert Tripp, area coordinator, will be in Savannah, Ga., this weekend accompanying a group of Cadettes on their pilgrimage to Juliette Low's birthplace, trip sponsored by the Citrus County, a trip that several of the county's troops are planning in the near future. Some troops are also planning a trip to St. Augustine and all are looking forward to spring camporees.

Juvenile Detention Need Cited

By MARION BETHEA

County Commissioner Robert Parker has advised that Seminole county is going to have to "quit dragging its feet" and establish a concrete plan for detention of juveniles. Parker stated that the facility which juveniles are currently placed in Orange county is becoming overcrowded and will, in all probability, no longer be able to accommodate Seminole county placements.

It was stated that the Florida Supreme Court recently ruled that the new constitution does not permit a hearing of necessity and convening upon such issues as the detention facility, but that the matter must have a public referendum if it is to be funded by ad valorem taxes.

Therefore, the juvenile facility was also facilities for the mentally incompetent, the branch office of the Court House in south Seminole County, and the new Agricultural Center must be placed on the election ballot in September. Commissioner Greg Drummond predicted that the proposals will be defeated because of the possibility of the county having to levy 1/4 Road and Bridge millage to offset the loss of race track funds to the Seminole County School Board, and because the school board may increase millage from 2.5 mills to 5 mills to retire bonds.

We're Growing

Entertainment Guide, the Friday supplement of The Sanford Herald, apparently is meeting with the approval of you, the reader. When the All Florida Magazine (our purchased supplement) folded, we decided to try our hand at publishing an entertainment magazine. We started with an eight-page tabloid, with entertainment and TV news. And then we added a four-page color-it-yourself for the youngsters. We followed with two pages of youth news, by Melinda Casselberry. Because of your support, we have had to add four more pages, making today's Entertainment Guide supplement 16 tabloid pages.

Narcotics Fighting Unit Here To Serve 7 Counties

Approval by the Fourth Regional Law Enforcement Planning Council Thursday to locate a narcotics crime laboratory at Sanford Airport to serve seven counties, members of the regional law enforcement group, is just the first step toward an intended five-year crime laboratory expansion to include additions of one crime combat service each year.

Sheriff John Polk revealed that this morning in a discussion with the Herald.

Polk, obviously pleased with the results of his efforts reaching fruition, reflected that narcotics is the No. 1 problem of regional law enforcement today and said the placement in Seminole County of the service center is a central location to serve the other six regional counties.

The regional council meeting yesterday at Winter Park voted to establish the facility with $105,000 federal funding the first year in Building 128 at Sanford Airport, a former Navy barracks.

Money is available under the federal government's Omnibus Crime Bill and is a matching 60-40 per cent, state-United States participation.

Second year of operation will include addition of a toxicology unit to study poisons; third year will see a fingerprinting and ballistics addition; fourth and fifth years inclusions are expected to be physical analysis and document examination (forgery) units, the sheriff advised.

"There is still the formality of State Planning Council approval at Tallahassee" but Polk revealed he expected no problem there.

To use the 4,000 square foot area, which the Sanford Industrial Commission, lessor of the property, has agreed to renovate up to $1,000 cost to suit the tenant, Polk said W. H. Ragdale, of Palm Beach County, has been named chief chemist.

The sheriff said the man helped in the setting up of a community crime laboratory on the coast and would head the Seminole operation.

A second chemist still to be named, and a clerk will complete the employment for the time being, he commented.

"This service will be operated on a 24-hour seven days a week basis," Polk advised, "and if a law agency at midnight finds material he can't identify, he can obtain an analysis so warrants can be issued to make fast arrests."

The overall five-year cost for the completed crime unit is expected to be in the neighborhood of $600,000 with each program having to be funded each year by congressional appropriation.

Polk said he anticipated no more red tape in setting up the
