$2 Tax Hike For Schools Tentatively OK'd By Board

By SYBIL MITCHELL GANDY
Herald Staff Writer

Despite threats, pleas, and a special appeal by Seminole County Commissioner Robert "Bud" Feather, school board members tentatively approved a 33 percent tax increase Monday night. School Superintendent Robert Hughes, who proposed a $2 property tax increase for a $97 million school budget, gained approval of his tentative 1981-'82 proposal. But some Seminole County residents in the audience were not happy about it at all. Seminole County residents presently pay $6.11 per $1,000 of assessed property value. With the tax increase, if it is granted final approval, that amount will be $8.11. Although Hughes explained that the extra tax money was needed for a new school in Tusawilla and three "sutes" to accommodate special education students, he and board members still were met with threats that they would be "remembered at election time."

Denouncing any need for a $2 tax increase, Feather said his previous experience on the school board leads him to believe Hughes has other motives. He did not elaborate. "In my eight years on the school board, eight new schools were built without a significant tax increase," he told board members William Kroll, Roland Williams, and Pat Telson. Allan Keith and Nancy Warren were absent. Feather, who asked the board not to vote for the increase, reminded those present that Hughes had promised to "hold the line on taxes" during his campaign bid for school superintendent. Hughes told the crowd of about 30 that he was "obligated to look at the need for new school construction."

Each year, he explained, the state department of education will withhold 80 percent of $1 million or $800,000 from county schools until that sum is paid back. Although Hughes' tentative budget was given the go-ahead last night, some corrections and amendments have to be made, he said, since officials recently learned of a $473,000 "mistake" made in allotting state money to Seminole County Schools for next year. The revised budget will be presented to the school board for final approval on Sept. 9.

Officials Say

Altamonte Mall Disaster Unlikely

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Although the Altamonte Mall contains walkways and balconies similar to those in Kansas City's Hyatt Regency Hotel, Seminole building officials think chances are "practically nonexistent" that a collapse will ever occur at the mall. That opinion is shared by two former Altamonte Springs city officials and a spokesman for the Edward DeBartolo Corp., developers, owners and operators of the multi-million dollar mall.

The mall, which is the largest shopping center of its kind in Central Florida, was built seven years ago while Don Bundy, who has since retired, was director of public works for Altamonte Springs. Bundy said today the Altamonte Mall was the "most completely engineered building I have ever seen in all my years in construction activity. There were engineers coming out their ears during every minute of the two-year period," Bundy said. "I would say it is impossible that that building could be structurally deficient in any way," he said.

The structure is a bi-level building. The second level includes a balcony which is used by patrons to get from store to store. Former City Commissioner Dan Dorfman, who served when the mall was constructed, said the city's consulting engineer Bill Palm of Glace and Radcliffe, Winter Park, reviewed the building plans for the facility in detail. Palm is in Port St. Lucie on business and could not be reached for comment. Meanwhile, Vic Hill, mall manager, said the DeBartolo Corp. of Youngstown, Ohio is one of the biggest developers of shopping centers in the country and one of the major construction corporations in the nation. Hill said the corporation directly supervises all construction phases of its shopping centers — to provide quality control. Hill said the mall — since construction was completed, has had a 20-member, full-time team constantly inspecting and providing maintenance.

occurred in Kansas City. But is that cause for alarm about every multi-level building? How many multi-level structures are there in the world and how many have collapsed?" Hill asked. Two skywalks at the $50 million, 40-story Hyatt Regency in Kansas City collapsed into a dance floor Friday night killing scores of people and injuring dozens of others. Revelers standing on a second story "sky bridge" heard two loud pops then were crushed as an identical walkway two stories above them folded at its center, broke from its moorings and fell. The two sky-walks plunged into the bottom level dance-floor.

The death toll from the accident has reached 113 and as many as 186 are reported injured in the mishap. Investigators are considering whether the jazz beat of the 1940s era band coupled with the tapping feet of persons on the walkways could have started in motion a sympathetic rhythm that splintered the tons of concrete and steel, causing the crash.

Reportedly one engineer interviewed since the disaster has noted that no national building code in the nation takes "harmonics" into account in its construction requirements. Harmonics has been defined as the result of a concentration of energy put into a structure by any means, including a large number of persons tapping feet in unison.

Harmonics causes a structure to sway or expand. The only structures designed to withstand such "give" in the nation currently, according to the engineer, are bridges which may expand five feet upward or 15 feet downward.

Harmonics is one reason why military personnel when crossing a bridge are instructed not to march in cadence but to use alternating feet which would provide only half as much pressure on the bridge.

Hill, a student of music, is familiar with sympathetic vibrations. Although the mall provides various types of entertainment, none is believed to cause a dangerous concentration of vibrations, according to the mall manager.

"We do not normally have loud music going on in the mall," Hill said. "There will be and has been musical presentations in the center court, but I don't believe there has ever been a time when music, meant to be danced to was presented. And normally any musical entertainment lasts for only 20-to-30 minutes. "We don't compete with dance floors."

He said, "We have soft background

Catholic Church Fears Legal Death Definition

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A presidential commission's recommendation for a uniform legal definition of death could lead to more widespread acceptance of euthanasia, a top Roman Catholic church official warns. In addition, the Rev. Edward Bryce, executive director of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops' Committee for Pro-life Activities, said there is "no demonstrated need" for the proposed definition of death and it would fail to achieve the uniformity sought by its proponents.

Medicine and Biomedical and Behavioral Research recommended Congress and the states adopt uniform laws including "irreversible cessation of all functions of the entire brain, including the brain stem" as part of their legal definitions of death. But Bryce said Monday the proposed definition "can become a stepping stone to laws which authorize euthanasia for comatose patients who are dying but not yet dead."

The (proposed) statute as presently worded is designed to ensure that dead patients are not treated as living, not to ensure that living patients are not treated as dead," he said. "This represents a subtle shift in society's attitude toward the dying patient, and creates a precedent death as a matter of legal definition rather than as a matter of medical fact," he said. The commission, in making its recommendation, said it "concluded that, in the light of ever-increasing powers of biomedical science and practice, a statute is needed to provide a clear and socially acceptable basis for making determinations of death."

Longwood Officials OK Tentative Tax Rate Hike

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

Longwood City Commissioners voted to approve a tentative tax rate of $3.16 per $1,000 assessed taxable property value to fund the proposed $1,581,000 budget presented by City Administrator David Chacey. This is a tax rate increase of 99 cents per thousand. The tentative figure has to be submitted to the county property appraiser by July 24 to comply with the TRIM (Truth in Millage) law. The county will mail notices to taxpayers to notify them of the proposed assessment and the date of the public hearing on the budget to be held Sept. 14. Final approval of the budget will be on Sept. 28.

The tax base has broadened in the city, but the taxes received are less than they would have been because of the increase in the number of persons eligible for the $15,000 Homestead Exemption instituted this fiscal year. The taxable value of property in Longwood for the current 1980-81 year was reduced last fall by $14 million as the result of the Homestead Exemption increase approved by the state's voters. The carryover expected from this year, ending Sept. 30, is $170,000, Chacey said. Expected total income for the 1981-82 fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1982 is $1,411,000 plus the 1981 carryover.

The proposed $1,581,000 figure will include $70,000 for operating expenses, $30,000 for contingency, cost of living and incentive increases totalling $104,000 and $115,000 for capital improvement, minimum growth, allowance, $94,000 and what Chacey calls the "bare bones" budget of $1,155,000. A surplus of $4,850 is anticipated for Sept. 30, 1982. To achieve this $10,000 was lopped off Chacey's original request for city hall and one firefighter and one policeman were cut from additional personnel requested by the fire and police departments.

Sanford Postmen May Not Join In Strike

How much of an impact a postal union strike would have on Sanford and the rest of Seminole County is somewhat difficult to determine.

In Sanford, the post office has 48 employees, 38 of whom belong to the two larger unions involved in negotiations, the letter carriers and the postal clerks, according to James Covington, postmaster. The 10 other employees are management people or rural mail carriers, he said.

How many of the 38 would join a strike should one be called? "That's difficult to say," said Covington, adding: "We can't tell how many would honor such a strike, since it is illegal. The only talk I've heard so far is from several employees who said they wouldn't strike. As far as we're concerned, it would be business as usual."

Besides the Sanford post office there are about seven more in Seminole County, but most are small stations with only a few employees, Covington said. He noted, however, should a strike be called, there would be some impact in the larger cities, such as Orlando, and "that could create a side-effect for us."

Postal Contract Agreement Collapses

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A tentative agreement announced by postal union leaders collapsed in the dawn hours today in a controversy over a wage clause, but marathon talks continued to avert a strike by 500,000 workers nationwide. Union officials urged members to stay on the job until hearing further word from their leadership. Four hours after a midnight strike deadline, American Postal Workers President Moe Biller and Letter Carriers President Vincent Sombrotto issued a telephone message outlining to members the basic details of a three-year tentative settlement. But, shortly after 7 a.m. EDT, the union officials — saying they had been "had" — reported the situation had changed. The two said they would continue negotiations immediately, however, and instructed their mail carriers and postal workers not to walk out until further word from policy-making counsels. "We are asking them to hang in ... until they hear the word from our policy committees," Biller told a news conference early today. "We are not going to stop negotiations," said Sombrotto. Biller and Sombrotto said they based their pre-dawn optimism about a tentative agreement on a verbal agreement at the bargaining table, but a typewritten version later prepared for their signature by the Postal Service differed from the earlier understanding. The two union leaders said the difference involved a wage proposal for postal workers, who now make an average $19,900 a year, that Sombrotto said he offered in the early hours today and was accepted by the Postal Service. Sombrotto said the union officials explained the problem to Postmaster General William Holger but quoted him as saying the typewritten agreement was correct. "We are angry because we don't like to be had," Biller added. He said the typewritten wage proposal was "totally different" from the verbal version the union negotiators felt had been accepted. There was no immediate comment by the Postal Service on the wage clause controversy, other than to say talks were continuing. Sombrotto said both sides agreed on the tentative pact at about 2 a.m. EDT, after which the union leaders took it to their executive bodies for votes of approval and support. He said a taped telephone message was then made announcing an agreement in order to assure no "repeat of what happened in 1978," when there was wildcat striking in California and New Jersey. Federal law forbids strikes by postal workers and other federal employees. Any differences that exist at the expiration of a contract are supposed to go to binding arbitration, but union leaders are opposed to that and said they would strike instead. The two sides had been bargaining continuously since 10 p.m. EDT Monday, and extended the postal workers contract — which expired at midnight — on an hour-by-hour basis. Federal mediator Nicholas Fidandis gave the first indication of a problem at about 6:30 a.m. EDT, when he told reporters that no agreement had been reached despite the earlier union reports. "We have no agreement. There's no agreement here," he said.

Meantime, the Postal Service announced a tentative settlement with another union, the 63,000 National Rural Letter Carriers Association, and said it was near agreement with the 39,000-member Mail Handlers Division of the Laborers International Union of North America.

The two smaller unions had bargained separately with the Postal Service and had ruled out participation in the walkout threatened by Biller and Sombrotto. As midnight approached Monday, the Postal Service readied contingency plans to keep the mail moving in the event of a strike. The plans included using military and national guard personnel to help move priority mail, plus steps to allow the use of private firms normally barred from mail delivery in competition with the Postal Service.

3 Lil' Pigs

LAHABRA, Calif. (UPI) — It was a coper Miss Piggy might have enjoyed. Two suspicious police officers cautiously approached the car, whose trunk was shaking violently. Inside, they found three pigs — a 250-pound male and two 200-pound females.

NATION IN BRIEF

Police Officer Stabbed In New York Violence

NEW YORK (UPI) — A protest by about 800 blacks demanding jobs at a Madison Avenue construction site erupted into a melee with 200 construction workers. A police officer was stabbed.

While pedestrians on lunch breaks ran for cover, 300 police in riot gear used their night sticks to separate the demonstrators from the Black Economic Survival group and 200 construction workers' most of whom were white.

Mayor Edward Koch Monday warned, the city "will not tolerate violence or threats of violence." He said he had asked Robert Keating, the city's criminal justice coordinator, to "make sure people do not engage in extortion and get away with it," in their pursuit of jobs.

The near-riot Monday afternoon injured seven police officers and a dozen other people. One officer, Angelo Bevilacqua, was stabbed in the back and was listed in fair condition at Roosevelt Hospital. The other injuries were not serious, police said.

The violence broke out when workers clashed with unemployed blacks demanding jobs at a construction site on Madison Avenue, police said.

Shrimp Boat Crew Arrested

MONTAUK, N.Y. (UPI) — The Coast Guard has arrested a 12-man shrimp-boat crew who tried to burn and scuttle the vessel to get rid of its cargo of up to $10 million worth of marijuana, authorities say.

The captain and 11 crew members of the "Lucky Louise" were charged Monday with criminal possession of the drug with intent to distribute it.

Officials said the 600 bales of marijuana found in the 70-foot ship's hold had a street value of $10 million.

If convicted of the charges, the suspects, all from Colombia, could each get up to 15 years' imprisonment.

Winnings May Not Last Long

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lottery winner Daisy Fernandez has won a court battle to get the first $200,000 of her winnings — or at least whatever is left after the government, welfare department and lawyers claim their shares.

A Supreme Court justice Monday rejected a claim by Mrs. Fernandez' 17-year-old neighbor that the money should be held in escrow until he can sue to get half the $2.8 million prize.

Christopher Pando claims that Mrs. Fernandez had promised to split the winnings 50-50 if his voodoo saint selected the winning numbers for her. A state Supreme Court judge ruled Pando would not suffer financially if Mrs. Fernandez was allowed to collect her first yearly $200,000 payment.

Mrs. Fernandez' $200,000 however, may not last long. The federal government will take $40,000 before she ever sees the money, and the city's Human Resources Administration says it has the right to collect $52,000.

'Despondent' Airman Missing

NORFOLK (UPI) — The Navy today tried to track down a "despondent" airman who vanished from the amphibious assault ship USS Saipan, leaving behind a blood-stained bunk and a trail of blood to the vessel's deck.

"We don't know what happened," said Cmdr. Mike Cherry, a spokesman for the Atlantic Fleet.

Cherry said Airman Ward Brown, 20, of Douglas County in Nebraska has been missing since Sunday morning. He was last seen "despondent and non-talkative" Saturday night, Cherry said.

Brown is an orphan with no listed relatives, Cherry said. "He was a ward of the state of Nebraska since birth."

The only clues to Brown's disappearance was blood splattered on his bunk and along passageways to the port bow, Cherry said. The blood was the same type as Brown's.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

State Officials Predict California Lawsuit

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Florida agriculture officials say California will probably sue Florida for placing a state quarantine on produce when a federal embargo was already in effect for California's three Mediterranean fruit fly-infested counties.

California Attorney General George Deukmejian said he would seek to overturn the quarantine before the U.S. Supreme Court — possibly today.

"We have been anticipating a suit from California ever since the quarantine was announced," Gov. Bob Graham said Monday.

"They would probably sue all the southern states involved in the quarantine."

Texas, Alabama, Mississippi, South Carolina and Florida Monday imposed quarantines on all California produce. The quarantines require all California produce be banned from the states unless they are fumigated or come from areas where traps showed no Medfly infestation.

The fruit fly infestation is confined to 150 square miles in three counties south of San Francisco — Santa Clara, Alameda and San Mateo.

Sinkhole Opens In Ocala

OCALA (UPI) — A sinkhole 20 feet wide and 30 feet long opened Monday on the campus of Central Florida Community College and menaced the school's new vocational building.

The building was only 20 feet from the edge of the 16-foot-deep sinkhole. College officials said there were cracks in the earth around the edge of the hole, indicating it might widen. They planned test borings today to attempt to assess the danger.

Opening of the sinkhole on the campus just off Interstate 75 resulted in the temporary closing of a loop road serving the school.

A combination of the current drought along with the sudden weight of water from a recent heavy downpour of rain was blamed for the sinkhole.

Foundation Is Being Laid On New Data Center

Data Center Construction Is Underway

A new data processing center for the Seminole County School system is expected to be ready for occupancy by early October.

Construction is underway on the building located adjacent to the main office of the Seminole County School Board.

Data Processing Manager Randy Johns is optimistic that the construction project can be completed by the first of October. Johns is anxious to abandon a pair of trailers, which the processing department has occupied for seven years.

The new structure is expected to cost $200,000. It will house the school system's computers and offices for the data processing personnel.

Plans call for increasing the size of the 13-member data processing staff to meet expanding needs, according to school officials.

The departments request for more space resulted in approval for construction of the building during the June 22 meeting of the school board.

Six offices in the 4,422-square-foot structure will comprise the computer suite. Three other offices will be used for administration.

The structure has been designed by Daimwood, Derryberry and Pavelchak Architects. Beeline Construction Co. began work on June 29. — SYBIL MITCHELL GANDY

Refugee Employment Promises May Be Probed

DALLAS (UPI) — With 10 more refugees set to arrive, a congressional spokesman said Monday there may be an investigation into reported promises made by the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service that jobs would be waiting for the 90 Haitians transferred from Florida to West Texas.

The INS reported Monday that 10 additional Haitian refugees would be transferred to the federal prison facility in Big Spring, Texas, next week.

"We're definitely concerned," said Paul Rogers, a Washington spokesman for Rep. Mickey Ieland, D-Texas, who has championed Haitian rights in Congress.

"We're appalled if all the reports we're getting out of Texas are true. We plan to investigate the matter, he said. "If this is going on, we'll definitely get into this thing," he said Monday.

Mike Trominski, Cuban-Haitian project coordinator for the INS, said 20 other Haitians originally slated to be part of the weekend transfers would be flown out "sometime next week" — 10 to Lake Placid, N.Y., and 10 to Big Spring.

He said no more mass transfers were scheduled, but added, "I have been advised that the INS is looking into additional space elsewhere."

The Big Spring city council met in special session Monday and went on record in opposition to allowing the Haitian refugees to remain at the federal prison.

The motion passed 3-2, with the tie-breaking vote being cast by Mayor Clyde Angel.

The 90 Haitians reportedly told interpreters at the Big Spring federal prison, where they were transferred Saturday, that they were told they were coming to jobs in Texas. They said they were surprised to find themselves in prison.

In a related development, the former head of the INS said in Houston the government does not have the authority to give out jobs to refugees.

"The Haitians were being detained for screening. Some may be deported. Nobody with INS would have the authority to promise jobs," said Leonel Castillo, former INS commissioner. "Somebody is confused."

He said that the government usually turns refugees over to a sponsoring agency after approving them for settlement.

"If you ask me," said Paul Doyle of Catholic Charities, one of those agencies in Texas, "INS in Washington just decided they were going to do something and didn't tell anybody."

"The government has never just sent people out to jobs. It sends them out to a sponsor. I'm amazed if the Haitians were just dumped on the community," Doyle said.

Even the governor's special refugee resettlement task force was not alerted to the transfer, said spokeswoman Lee Russell.

"We're not just partially in the dark, we're totally in the dark," she said. "And, of all places, why would the government send people looking for jobs to Big Spring?"

Big Spring — a city of 25,000, some 100 miles south of Lubbock — has suffered economically since a Air Force base, now the prison camp, was abandoned a few years ago.

'Titanic' Clues To Be Unveiled

ABIENE, Texas (UPI) — Oilman Jack Grimm will not say if he has located the Titanic nor will he reveal until Thursday underwater photographs he says will explain why the luxury liner sank.

Grimm said Monday it would take two or three months to examine all the data collected in his 11-day search 250 miles off the coast of Newfoundland. He said he will show "the most interesting things" at a press conference in Boston Thursday.

Expedition leader Mike Harris said Monday from aboard the Research Vessel Gyre the voyage had been successful and a study of undersea photographs and videotape helped scientists form an explanation of the Titanic's sinking.

But Harris and Grimm, an Abilene oil millionaire, said questions about whether the ship had been found would not be answered until Thursday, when the Gyre steams into Boston harbor.

"We searched the Titanic area and believe we know what did happen. We feel we've solved the mystery," Harris said by telephone. "We have black-and-white photos of ocean, and the first color video ever taken at 12,000 feet. We're pretty excited."

Judge Lifts Texas' Medfly Quarantine

LOS GATOS, Calif. (UPI) — A federal judge lifted Texas' short-lived quarantine against California fruit, but other states inspected produce trucks at their borders today despite agriculture officials' claims to be winning the war against the Mediterranean fruit fly in the Santa Clara Valley.

Texas, which in eight hours briefly stopped three California fruit trucks at roadblocks, was the most restrictive of 14 states that imposed quarantines against cargo from a three-county area south of San Francisco in fear the Medfly would infest their fruit crops.

U.S. District Judge Patrick Higginbotham in Dallas late Monday ordered Texas agricultural officials to lift their blockade and set a hearing for Saturday on whether his temporary restraining order should be made permanent.

The California Grape and Fruit League of Fresno had sought the restraining order on grounds Texas' action, which required that produce entering the state be certified as coming from areas where traps showed there was no Medfly infestation, violated the Constitution and federal regulations on interstate commerce.

In Florida, meanwhile, nine trucks carrying California produce were turned back at the state line Monday because they did not have proper certification. Others, officials said, were allowed to enter the state.

NOTICE OF REGULATION OF LAND USE

The Board of County Commissioners of Seminole County, Florida, proposes to regulate the use of land within the area shown in the map in this advertisement. A public hearing on the proposal will be held on July 28, 1981, at the hour of 7:00 a.m., or soon thereafter, in Room 206 of the Seminole County Courthouse, Sanford, Florida. The public hearing is being held in order to discuss and hear comments on additions and revisions as comprehensive amendments to the adopted Seminole County Comprehensive Plan.

As part of the continuing process of keeping the Comprehensive Plan responsive to changing circumstances and perceptions of community needs comprehensive amendments to the Plan have been prepared.

The primary issues associated with the amendments are presented below. The Board of County Commissioners will first consider the comprehensive amendments in the public hearing on July 28, 1981 but no action to adopt or deny the amendments can occur until the second public hearing on August 11, 1981.

The purpose of the public hearing is to provide the public an opportunity to present comments to the Board of County Commissioners for or against the draft amendments. All interested individuals are encouraged to make their views known.

To help in the public review a summary of the draft amendments, the draft amendments and the minutes of the Local Planning Agency public hearing where the amendments were discussed have been compiled into the report "Draft Comprehensive Amendments — 1981." The report is available for review at the Planning Department at the Courthouse in Sanford. A limited number of the reports are available for distribution to groups representing diverse business, professional, civic and community interests, and to members of the general public. All interested groups and individuals are encouraged to critically review these draft amendments, ask questions and provide reactions. Contact Woody Price, Planning Director at 333-4230 ext. 181 for information. Staff of the Planning Department is available to discuss the draft amendments should individuals or groups so desire.

ISSUES:

1. How best to accommodate community needs for lower intensity nonresidential uses, such as professional offices and small neighborhood retail establishments, while protecting residential areas? Are convenience stores appropriately classified as low intensity or full intensity commercial? A related issue is whether the proposed C-5 zoning district should be permitted or excluded from the Low Intensity Commercial land use category and permitted or excluded from residential land use categories.
2. To what extent can development design standards be flexible and still protect neighboring residential and other uses? How best to provide incentives for development proposals that protect sensitive environmentally valued areas while protecting the character of the area?
3. Issue response: Planned Unit Development zoning district is proposed to be allowed in Low, Medium and High Density Residential, Low Intensity Commercial, Commercial and Industrial land use categories without an amendment to the Plan for Planned Unit Development land use. Criteria for allowing PUD zoning are identified to protect area character.
4. In what manner can the community fulfill its responsibility to accept those citizens of the community who require group home and foster care facilities without isolating the residents of the facilities from the community and without burdening the community?
5. Issue response: A proposed policy provides for group home and foster care facilities in Medium and High Density Residential and PUD land use categories. Revisions to the Land Development Code will be required to implement this proposed policy.
6. In what manner and by what procedures should the Official Land Use Maps be physically revised when amended by action of the Board of County Commissioners?
7. Issue response: Procedures and forms are proposed for inclusion in the Plan as an appendix that provide for map revisions.

FBI Agents Arrest Escaped Murderer

MIAMI (UPI) — An escaped murderer from Ohio who dropped out of sight for 12 years and was thought dead until he slipped through the hands of Canadian police last April is back in a jail cell today.

William John Haslem, 41, was arrested by FBI agents in the Miami suburb of Coral Gables and taken to the Dade County jail, returning him to U.S. custody for the first time since his Feb. 27, 1969, escape from the Ohio State Penitentiary.

The search for Haslem had been given up four years ago and the federal fugitive warrant for his arrest canceled because information was received indicating he was dead, an FBI spokesman said.

Last April, provincial police at Sudbury, Ont., arrested a man using the name John Phillips. They charged him with filing a false police report of a burglary at a TV repair shop, allegedly involving theft of 98 ounces of gold.

opened the frame with a walk and moved to second when shortstop Dave Westgate kicked Shane Letterio's ground ball. Shaker had moved to third on a wild pitch prior to Letterio's grounder and Shane easily stole second base on the first pitch to Bret Marshall. Moments later Marshall was called on strikes as was third baseman Mike Schmit, but not before both Shaker and Letterio scored with head-first dives on wild pitches.

Despite being held hitless by Eustis, Altamonte commanded a 2-0 edge going into the top of the fourth inning. After two were out, Laszic helped his own cause by working Watson for his fifth walk.

Catcher Dan Beaty then ripped Altamonte's first hit—a big one—on the line over the right-field fence for a two-run homer and a 4-0 advantage.

That brought a sprinkling of rain and a pitching change from Eustis. Westgate moved in from shortstop with the downpour and Altamonte waited — just three outs from the title. "I wouldn't have done that," mused Letterio about the Eustis change. "We knocked that kid (Westgate) all over the field last time and the other guy (Watson) was giving us some trouble with his sidearm delivery."

Letterio's words proved true as defensive replacement Jimmy Fox dropped an expert bunt that rolled dead down the third-base line to open the fifth inning.

Schmit walked and Ryan Lisle beat out a roller to the third baseman when Fox distracted him by darting down the third base line. With the bases filled, Neal Harris crunched a liner to right field which scored Fox for a 5-0 advantage.

Westgate bore down, however, to strike out Jeff McGeath and Laszic to retire the side.

In the sixth inning though, Altamonte gave Westgate another belting around the field. Again, after two outs were secured the pesky Letterio ripped a double down the right-field line. Fas lined a shot to left with Letterio stopping at third base.

Schmit, hitting like his namesake, crashed an opposite-field double to left which scored Fox. After a walk to Lisle loaded the bases, Letterio slipped home on a passed ball.

Harris then chased everybody home with a three-run blast over the center-field barrier. For the tall infielder, it was run batted in number two, three and four for the evening.

"A" Train Laszic, meanwhile, was getting stronger, something Letterio credits to a rigid pitching program which calls for his pitchers to throw a set of 30 pitches a day.

"It's something I picked up at Rollins College where we work out," said Letterio about his Boyd Coffie, Tara's baseball coach, influence.

Not to mention Duke Ellington and Altamonte's "A" Train, right Gene?

Altamonte's Dan Beaty has a good reason to smile. The solid catcher belted a two-run home run Monday night at DeLand to help Altamonte drop Eustis 10-0 for the Division II title.

Oviedo Edges Altamonte

Mark Hofmann's squeeze bunt brought home Craig Duncan with the winning run Monday night as Oviedo upended Altamonte AAA to deadlock the District 4, Division II 13-year-old series at one game apiece at Eustis.

Altamonte Manager Vance Ambrose will send ace right-hander Kenny Chapelaine after the Division II Title tonight at Eustis at 6. Oviedo will probably counter with Duncan.

Chapelaine shut out Oviedo on four hits, 7-0. He struck out eight. Duncan was the loser, but some shaky fielding, four walks and three wild pitches led to his demise.

Monday, however, Oviedo's Terry Gannons was the biggest pain in Altamonte's attempt to wrap up the division. In the fifth inning, with Altamonte holding a 1-0 edge, Gannons singled and stole second base.

The swift Jamestown resident moved to third on a passed ball and then cruised home on a bunt by Randy Ferguson. "He's (Gannons) really going to be a good one," said Ambrose.

Altamonte had seized a 1-0 lead in the top half of the inning. Kyle Brewbaker walked and stole second. P.J. Scaletta then nailed a pitch to right field, chasing home Brewbaker.

Dave Wood picked up the victor for Oviedo. He allowed just two hits (Chapelaine got the other one in the first inning), walked three and struck out three.

David Drazen suffered the loss, despite allowing Gannons' two safeties. Drazen walked three and struck out five. Altamonte went down in order in the seventh inning.

"There was absolutely no hitting," said Ambrose about the ball game which was delayed 30 minutes after three innings by rain. "The boys looked a little flat, but I guess you could say that for them too."

Change Of Scenery No Help To Strike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Changing the scene of the baseball talks from New York to Washington did not produce a settlement Monday, but the two sides agreed to a news blackout of further negotiations.

After meeting for more than four hours Monday, the 39th day of the strike, the players and owners agreed to meet again at 9:30 a.m. today. Federal mediator Kenneth Moffett made the announcement with neither side speaking publicly.

Labor Secretary Raymond J. Donovan asked the talks be moved from New York to Washington to avoid the "goldfish bowl atmosphere" of media attention. The plan failed when several newspapers and radio and television stations sent reporters and camera crews to the talks, held at the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, not only from New York, but from across the country.

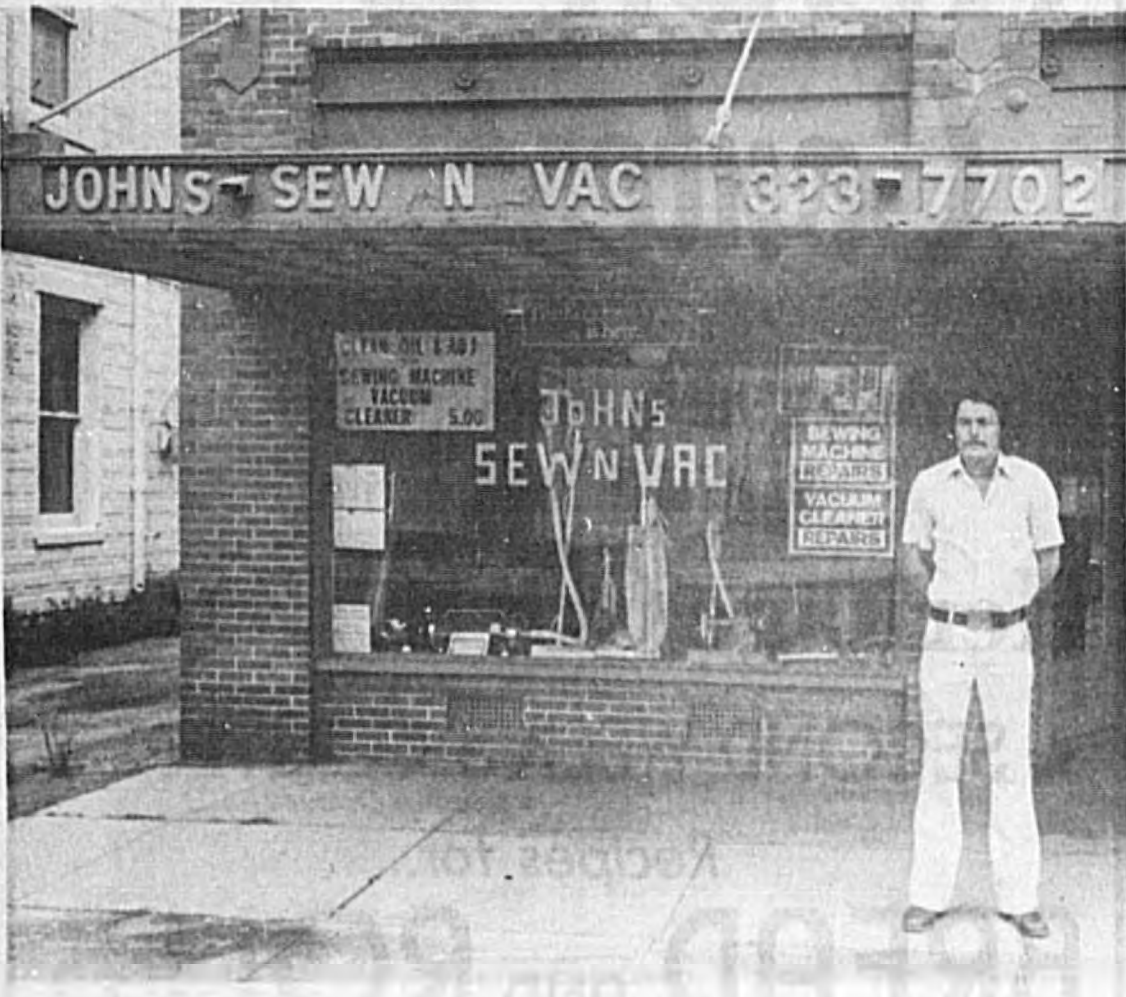

Donovan met for 45 minutes with Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players Association, and player representatives, and for 35 minutes with Ray Grebey, the owners' chief counsel, and the American and National League presidents. He also met with the two sides together for about an hour.

Moffett then announced the news blackout at 6:10 p.m. and said talks had recessed for the day.

"The reason for the blackout is the same as the reason for to coming to Washington," said Moffett.

A family business, it is owned and operated by John A. McCartney, who has more than 20 years experience in sewing machine and vacuum cleaner sales, service and repairs, and his sons, John A. III and Mark A., who have grown up learning the trade from their father.

Repairs are done right in the store and in most cases one day service is provided. They will be glad to give you a free estimate on your sewing machine or vacuum cleaner repairs.

They have original Singer parts right in the store and have access to all parts for sewing machines and vacuum cleaners.

Trades are accepted and financing is available. Trade-ins are fixed up and sold as used machines. Sewing machines are available for as low as $29.

We service what we sell, and everything is guaranteed," said John McCartney. "If anything goes wrong with a machine purchased from most discount stores it is necessary to pack it up and send it back to the factory. Should anything go wrong with merchandise we sell the customer can just bring it in with the warranty card and we will repair it here free of charge."

Preventive maintenance on vacuum cleaners and sewing machines should be done at least once a year to assure that the machines run properly and last longer," he said. Especially in Florida where so much fine dust and sand can be damaging. Keeping them properly cleaned and oiled can prevent costly repairs."

John's Sew 'N' Vac also sharpens scissors and pinking shears.

They are open Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and Saturday, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Lake Mary Officials Ponder 26 Percent Tax Increase

As expected, Lake Mary residents probably will see their property tax bills rise slightly next year.

The Lake Mary City Council tentatively approved a 26 percent tax increase Thursday night.

A 4.85-mill tax rate, tentatively was approved for a $754,893 budget for the 1981-82 fiscal year, which begins on Oct. 1. That is a one mill increase over the current rate of 3.85. A mill is $1 per $1,000 of assessed taxable property value.

The council also scheduled a final hearing on the city's millage rate and proposed budget for Sept. 24. The current city budget is $645,357.

The tax increase may be necessitated by inflation and a loss of more than $30,000 due to increased homestead exemptions, according to Mayor Walt Sorenson.

In other action Thursday, the council: — Postponed a decision on the long-awaited Evansdale Road paving and draining project because no one is sure just who owns the road.

City Attorney Gary Massey said that he could find no record of Seminole County of the city building the clay road. Likewise, Massey said the road was never dedicated to the city by the original land owner.

Several citizens who live along Evansdale Road, however, claimed the road was dedicated to the maintained by the county several years prior to Lake Mary's incorporation as a city in 1973.

City Manager Phil Kulbes said documents he has uncovered indicate the county took over Evansdale Road on March 30, 1971. "Then, when the city incorporated, we assumed responsibility for the street," he said.

The council gave Massey until Aug. 6 to sort out the ownership question.

Under a proposed formula for paving and drainage along 3,000 feet of Evansdale Road, the city would pay 15 percent of the $105,000 cost of the project. Property owners along the road would pay about 75 percent. Owners of property not along the road, but who would benefit from the work, would pay 10 percent of the cost.

— Tabled a motion which would pave the way for takeover of The Forest's utility system. The matter will be considered again at the council's Aug. 6 meeting.

The delay will allow residents of the mobile home community to review the takeover plan and make recommendations.

The city and the utility's owner, First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Orlando, have been discussing transfer of the utility system — including the 80,000-gallon-per-day sewage treatment plant — since 1979.

Under the proposed plan, First Federal will guarantee the plant for one year after all lots in phase two of The Forest are sold and occupied. Eighty lots remain in phase two.

The $26,389 annual cost of running the utility is expected to be offset by fees collected from Forest residents.

The reasoning behind municipal takeover of the facility is lower costs to Forest residents, according to Kulbes. "If First Federal sells the utility to a private operator, he'll charge those people a lot more than the city would," he said. "A private company will be in there for a profit. We (the city) just want to break even, keep the facility up to standard, and provide our citizens with a good service."

— Was informed by City Manager Phil Kulbes that he has agreed to purchase a new turbine water meter from the Neptune Meter Co. of Georgia for $3,115. The meter should be installed by Aug. 20, according to Kulbes.

The city's existing meter is inaccurate, resulting in the city receiving more water than is recorded on the meter. The city of Sanford, which supplies Lake Mary's water, has been pressuring the city to have the meter repaired or replaced. — BRITT SMITH

New Medical Aid Plan Offered

The Florida Health Care Plan, Inc. has been certified by the Social Security Administration as a Health Maintenance Organization (HMO) to serve Medicare recipients in Seminole, Volusia and Flagler counties.

With centers in Daytona Beach and DeLand, Florida Health Care Plan is exploring the possibility of opening a similar health care center in Seminole County to make care more accessible. "It's certainly in our plans," said Gene Bryant, executive director.

There are approximately 15,150 Medicare recipients in Seminole County, according to the local Social Security office. Most of those recipients recently have been mailed notification about the program offered by Florida Health Care Plan. The Medicare law allows certain qualified HMO's to enter into contracts with Medicare to provide optional health care services to Medicare beneficiaries.

FHCP has approximately 11,300 persons enrolled, a few of whom are residents of Seminole County, who receive care at the DeLand center.

Beneficiaries may continue to receive the services covered by Medicare from their present physician and other providers of service as they have in the past or they may choose to enroll in the Florida Health Care Plan. If they enroll in Florida Health Care Plan, they will have a physician provided by the health maintenance organization and receive other Medicare services, such as prescription drugs, hospital care, and nursing home care through Florida Health Care Plan.

If they opt to join FHCP, Medicare recipients will pay the organization a monthly fixed amount to cover the costs of the deductible, and coinsurance under Medicare and Medicare pays directly to the FHCP the balance for covered Medicare services.

In the high option plan the patient is provided with an annual physical, routine eye and hearing checks and preventive dental care. They can receive up to a 30-day supply of prescription drugs for $3 and up to 365 days hospitalization.

Those wishing to enroll in FHCP must have their applications approved on an individual basis by Medicare.

Government Red Tape Snarls Family

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — The Romao family found out early about government red tape.

It snarled them before they left the chapel at the Orlando Naval Training Center on a warm day in May where they went to take the oath as new American citizens.

Somehow their 9-year-old son Luis wasn't on the list of those being naturalized. One of the most memorable days in their lives turned into a nightmare.

Idalia Romao recalls what happened as the judge read the names of the 300 people on hand to take the oath.

"He called my name and my husband's name and we stood up, but he never called Luis' name," she said.

Luis doesn't even remember his native Portugal. He was only a year old when his parents scraped together their savings, borrowed from relatives and came to the United States in 1973.

A fourth-grader at the St. Charles Catholic School in Orlando, he does know about his new country. And he wants very badly to be part of it. He's upset about being in limbo — a boy without a country.

"I want to be an American," he says. "This is my country now. I feel very bad that I can't get my papers. It just isn't fair because a child should be what he wants to be."

Belly-Button Buff Blessed With Navel Intelligence

DEAR ABBY: FUNNY NAVEL wrote to say that she was embarrassed to wear her bikini to the beach because she had a funny-looking navel. She said, "It's not round like a normal belly button; it's square, and I keep a dime stuck in it to keep it from popping out."

You told her to take the dime out of her navel and call a plastic surgeon. Shame on you, Abby, for suggesting that she change its natural shape!

I hope I'm not too late because I'd like to get in touch with this lady. I'm a singer-composer and writer with a special interest in navels, which I consider the most erotic part of the human anatomy.

Unique navels have always fascinated me. In fact I am writing a book on the subject, and have a collection of photographs of unusual navels from all over the world. I would like to photograph your correspondent's navel for my book. Will you please send me her name and address?

DEAR BUFF: Alas, FUNNY NAVEL requested anonymity. However, you possess a rare kind of navel intelligence. Good luck with your book. I hope you get the no-belly prize.

DEAR ABBY: IN THE MIDDLE asked if she should decline invitations from her ex-husband's family to attend their family gatherings. It seems that her "ex" has remarried and his new wife is uncomfortable at family gatherings with Wife No. 1 present, so consequently Wife No. 2 stays away — and so does her husband.

Abby, you told the "ex" wife that if she was invited, it meant she was wanted, and she should go if she wished. If Wife No. 2 was "uncomfortable" and stayed away, that was her problem.

While your answer sounds reasonable, let's face it, Abby, that's not being fair to the new wife. I know. My husband was married before, and I know how difficult it is to become accepted by John's family. They loved John's first wife. Marge was part of their family for 10 years, and the fact that John and Marge have children makes it even harder for me to compete.

The ex-wife should let go of those old family ties and give the new wife a chance to become part of her husband's family. If there is real affection between Wife No. 1 and her ex-husband's family, they can invite her on occasions other than family gatherings. Her "ex" and his new wife belong there — she doesn't. And if Wife No. 1 is invited, knowing if she accepts Wife No. 2 will stay away, she should have the good sense to decline.

DEAR IN: You make a good point. But this sticky situation could be avoided if the family would refrain from inviting former members, unless they know for sure everyone will be comfortable.

DEAR ABBY: Please referee: Situation: Man makes luncheon date with woman — a new acquaintance. Half an hour before meeting time, woman telephones man and cancels lunch date in haste, offering no explanation. She says she will call him later in the afternoon.

Dear Abby

Man goes to lunch. As man is walking toward cashier, in walks broken lunch date with man No. 2. Man No. 1 does not know man No. 2. Man No. 1 greets woman with, "Why, hello there" or something. Woman smiles and says, "Hello" or something. Man No. 1 pays cashier and leaves.

Later that afternoon woman calls man No. 1 and accuses him of being rude and inconsiderate for not stopping to chat a moment, at least long enough to be introduced to man No. 2. Man No. 1 says "Nuts!" Who's right?

DEAR CURIOUS: Man No. 1. The woman is clever. She knows that the best defense is a good offense.

Committee Formed To Aid Foreigners

With increased numbers of international guests selecting Florida as their destination, Bonnie D. Manjura, director of Tourism Development for the Orlando Area Chamber of Commerce, has formed an International Hospitality Committee to meet the needs of the foreign visitor.

"Language and signage, currency difference and emergency medical needs are just several areas being considered as problems the international traveler faces during visits in the Central Florida community," comments Dick Weaver of Sea World, chairman of the committee.

Already five subcommittees dealing with currency, language, health and medical needs, signage and transportation as well as public awareness have been established to work with various sectors of the community to advance international assistance.

Some 30-plus active members from such companies as banks, attractions, hotels, restaurants, shopping and entertainment facilities, are donating their time to plan a special welcome for the visitors from such areas as the United Kingdom, Germany, Latin America, France and Scandinavia who visit the Orlando area in large numbers.

Pumping Iron May Not Aid Heart

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have been working out with weights to improve my health but one of my buddies told me that weight lifting won't help your heart. He said you have to run or jog to do anything to strengthen your heart. Is that true? If so, why won't weight training work your heart? It certainly is a lot of work.

Dr. Lamb

DEAR READER — It all depends on how you do weight training and also on how you jog or walk. There is some truth in your friend's statement if you take the extremes of the two different forms of exercise. If you lift a heavy weight, rest, then lift again you will work your lifting muscles but you will not work your heart very much.

exercises sustained for longer periods of time use up the extra oxygen and the heart work increases.

But if you lift weights for one group of muscles and immediately go to another group of muscles so that you are working steadily over a period of time, it will affect the heart. The sustained duration of exercise is the point.

A more complete explanation of how your heart responds to work is included in The Health Letter number 14-10, Exercising Your Heart, which I am sending you.

Exercise works your heart because exercise requires your body to use more oxygen. One way more oxygen can be delivered to your working muscles is by increasing the amount of blood your heart pumps a minute. The more blood your heart pumps, the more it works. As it works it opens its own arteries to the heart muscle.

For general health I favor exercises that provide for strength, endurance and flexibility. All three are important aspects of your being fit and healthy.

There is a unique feature to your circulation. The venous blood in your arm returning from your muscles still contains a lot of oxygen. For short durations of exertion, your body simply becomes more efficient in taking out the oxygen that is still in your venous (blue) blood. That means under ideal circumstances that you can do two to three times as much work without increasing the amount of blood your heart must pump. Endurance

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 46-year-old female. The last two years I have been breathing through my mouth and have started to snore. During the day or night when I breathe through my nose it feels stuffy. I have always been a nose breather. This is very annoying to me. What causes this and what can be done about it?

DEAR READER — You probably do have narrowed nasal passages. That can be from swollen nasal membranes from an allergy or a chronic infection. Or you could have a gradual growth of tissues such as cartilage that has narrowed your passages. Or your nasal septum may be deviated enough to be causing an obstruction.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL
For Wednesday, July 22, 1981

YOUR BIRTHDAY July 22, 1981
Take advantage of any opportunities this coming year to add to your storehouse of career knowledge. Finding time to study may be difficult, but your efforts will be rewarded.

you don't have time to take care of your own interests.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Enjoy yourself today, but don't give fun pursuits top priority. Duties you fail to take care of now could cause serious problems later.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't count too heavily today on Lady Luck to help you fulfill your ambitions or goals. Instead of pulling for you, she might be working against you. Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph that begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 19) You may not work too well under pressure today. If important projects are left to the last minute, you might not complete them as completely as you should.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Subdue any inclinations today to boast or exaggerate. Instead of making you look good, it might do just the opposite.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Avoid individuals today who, experience tells you, always try to impose their ideas on others. You won't want to be told what to think.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be extra-careful in your business and financial dealings today. Impulsive actions could cause mistakes that might prove to be very expensive.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't lend anything of value today to people who don't take care of things as well as you do. Something you prize could be returned in a sorry state.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Use good judgment at this time or you might assume new responsibilities or duties that could severely cramp your style. Know your limitations.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be doubly diplomatic in important one-to-one relationships today. If something is said that arouses opposition, it could be difficult to repair.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Normally you are one who understands the value of making compromises or concessions, but today you may be unyielding on positions about which you feel strongly.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Use good judgment at this time or you might assume new responsibilities or duties that could severely cramp your style. Know your limitations.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Be helpful today, but don't let others dump so many of their responsibilities on you that

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Try to avoid today groups or cliques with which you don't feel comfortable or those that have caused you problems. Forewarned is forearmed.

WIN AT BRIDGE

lead of the heart queen and South won the ace in dummy. Barring a bad break in either of the black suits, slam is there as long as South isn't careless.

Declarer played the king, queen and ace of spades drawing all the opponents' outstanding trumps. Now, as long as clubs were not divided 4-0 (only a 10 percent chance) declarer could dispose of his heart loser on dummy's fifth club and lose only one trick to the diamond ace. But South has to be careful.

South needs to collect all five club tricks. We have already mentioned that he won't get them if the suit breaks 4-0. If they break 2-2 they come in automatically, but 50 percent of the time the suit will divide 3-1.

It is rather normal play for South to lead a low club to dummy to start the suit. Then back to his king and over to dummy's other honor for the third lead.

All well and good and an expert makes what is his perfect normal play on the first lead. He leads either the seven or the eight. Then after the third club dummy holds the six-four and declarer the five. He can overtake the five to get that heart discard.
