Western Power Line Route Dead

By MICHAEL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

Plans to route two 500,000-volt transmission lines west of Geneva apparently died Wednesday when a group of Geneva residents failed to reach a consensus on where a line should be located.

The failure to reach agreement compelled one of its leading proponents to withdraw his support for the proposal to re-route Florida Power and Light Company's corridor west of the Seminole County community.

Lee Voorhees, a spokesman for People Against Power Intrusion, the group empowered by the Cabinet to develop a route west of Geneva, said he will not present a plan at the Nov. 16 state Cabinet meeting because of the intense opposition it has received from residents of that area.

"My personal opinion is that FP&L has a 99 percent chance or better of getting its proposed corridor," Voorhees told about 120 people who gathered at the Seminole County Agricultural Center at the county's Five Points Complex.

"I believe that FP&L, as long as the controversy continues, will get a corridor running down the east side of Geneva," he said.

PAPI members had hoped to draw a new route for the line through Seminole County, a route that would pass to the west of Geneva. They had protested FP&L's proposed route, which passes to the east of the community.

That protest resulted in the Cabinet voting 3-2 at an Oct. 6 meeting to reject 35 miles of FP&L's route from the Seminole-Volusia county line to the Poinsett Substation in Orange County.

But the cabinet also rejected PAPI's plan to take the route east of Lake Harney and instead ordered the group to consider only western routes.

That action upset residents and property owners west of Geneva who claimed that PAPI leaders had betrayed them. They have complained bitterly at two meetings held to consider alternate routes.

FP&L Attorney Carlos Alvarez showed a map of the proposed corridor and alternate routes drawn by PAPI leaders and Margaret Cammack.

Alvarez compared the three routes for the participants. He said the proposed corridor is the shortest, goes through the smallest amount of wetlands, the fewest pieces of property and the least number of subdivision acres.

The proposed corridor is 7.88 miles long compared to 14.87 miles for the PAPI route and 13.64 miles for the Cammack route.

FP&L's route traverses 1.06 miles of wetlands while PAPI's cuts across 2.35 miles and Cammack's crosses 2.78 acres.

The Cammack route affects the fewest residences, 90. The FP&L route affects 113 residents and the PAPI route affects 149.

FP&L's route crosses 603 parcels of property and 442 subdivision acres. PAPI's route crosses 560 parcels and 2,120 subdivision acres. Mrs. Cammack's route crosses 359 parcels and 2,172 subdivision acres.

Alvarez said either western corridor, which run west at Hart's Lake and then south near Osceola Road along the border of Cockran Forest and Seminole Woods, would have to be routed around two eagles' nests which are located along the eastern shore of Lake Jessup.

"We still feel the eastern route is the best route," Alvarez said. He plans to ask the Cabinet to certify the proposed route at the Nov. 16 meeting.

All Set For 8th 'Games'

By JANE CASSELBERRY

It is the calm before the storm for the Golden Age Games Executive Committee whose members are making last minute checks to make sure everything is ready for the opening Monday of Sanford's annual week-long competition for senior citizens 55 and older.

Committee members said today all is ready for the eighth annual games, which will be held Monday through Saturday with men and women participating in approximately 40 events.

Probably the most grueling of the tests of skill and stamina is the decathlon which will be held Wednesday and Thursday in the Seminole High School stadium, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Sanford, which also sponsors the track and field events on Saturday.

Athletes in the decathlon will compete in the 100-yard dash, the 50-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 440-yard dash, softball throw, discus throw, shot put, running long jump, high jump and softball hitting. There will be separate competitions for men and women and age groupings will be 55-64 and 65 and up.

Golden Age Games General Chairman Jim Jernigan showed the committee members the new award which winners in the decathlon will receive. The gold, silver and bronze medals will be mounted on wooden plaques above an engraved metal plate.

Winners in this event will receive this special award because of the extraordinary effort required of the competitors in the 10-part event.

With 245 entries signed up for Tuesday's golf tournament, it has been closed out for that day, but the tournament has been continued over into Wednesday at the Mayfair Country Club.

There are already 50 golfers signed up for the second day. The deadline for entering is 5 p.m. Friday. The Rotary Club of Sanford sponsors the golf tournament.

Jernigan said bleachers will be provided for spectators at the opening ceremonies Monday at 9:15 at the Sanford City Hall. Spectators are welcome at all events, especially the variety show and talent contest at 7 p.m. Thursday at the Sanford Civic Center. There will be competition in comedy, dancing, musical instruments, singing, recitation and other categories.

BALANCING ACT

Construction workers balance high atop scaffolding this week as they work on a wall of the $1,050,000 CFS Continental's new 30,000-square-foot warehouse and office addition at 2100 Country Club Road in Sanford. The new facility is scheduled for completion in late March or early April, according to Division President Richard DiMarco. CFS Continental employs 105 persons in its present 45,000-square-foot building. One of the largest institutional food distributors in the state, CFS Continental has been in Sanford for nine years.

Election Brantley May Chair Seminole Legislators

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Tuesday's election results in Seminole County are now in the record books.

Final figures were certified to the state by Elections Supervisor Camilla Bruce, County Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff, Elections Official Frances Leahy and County Judge Wallace Hall on Wednesday.

A clear winner, although his name was not on the ballot Tuesday, was State Rep. Bobby Brantley, R-Longwood. Brantley was automatically elected unopposed to a third two-year term in Florida's House of Representatives by virtue of being unopposed.

Seminole County's voters gave him five Republican allies on the county's legislative delegation and those GOP legislators and senators are likely to give Brantley the office he unsuccessfully sought for the past few years — chairman of the Seminole County Legislative delegation.

Of the county's seven-member expanded delegation, 10-year State Sen. John Vogt, D-Cocoa Beach, is the only Democrat.

The members of the delegation other than Brantley and Vogt are: state Sen. Toni Jennings of Orlando; state Sen. Dick Langley of Clermont; state Rep. Tom Drage of Orlando; state Rep. elect Carl Selph of Casselberry; and state Rep. elect Art Grindle of Altamonte Springs.

Brantley would only say today that he would accept the delegation chairmanship if his fellow members choose to elect him.

And Selph, the 36-year-old certified public accountant from Casselberry, a new member of Seminole's legislative delegation, would say only that "it's a safe bet that a Republican will be elected" to lead the delegation.

Art Grindle, another new delegation member, could not be reached for comment.

Selph was a surprising victor for the District 34 seat in the Florida House from Seminole County.

It was believed by many prognosticators that the more experienced and veteran politician and Winter Springs city official Troy Piland would "bury" Selph in Selph's first bid for public office.

Many Republican party leaders miffed at Selph for going his own way in his election were not actively involved in the Selph campaign.

Selph attributed his success to a hard five months of solid campaigning and hard work and to his volunteers. "I have a wonderful wife, and a wonderful mom and dad who campaigned with me," Selph said.

He noted he was able to take the 13 southern precincts of the 25 in Seminole in the district that he had targeted and worked the hardest in. He counted on the nine precincts in Brevard which are part of the district. "It really came off as we had planned in our strategy," he said.

"We used historical and primary voting data and talked to people who had been involved in races in Seminole for years," he said, noting during his walking effort with his wife, Lillian, at his side that he wore the bottoms off three pairs of shoes.

During the weeks before the election Brantley devoted himself to the campaigns of Jim Smith and Van B. Poole, candidates for secretary of state and U.S. Senate, respectively.

While each candidate carried few counties in the state in their efforts against popular Secretary of State George Firestone and Sen. Lawton Chiles, Smith and Poole carried both Lake and Seminole counties. And those are the two counties where Brantley, his friends and organization led the campaigns.

While the 34-year-old golf course owner and operator was handling those two campaigns locally, he also was traveling the state on behalf of the Republican Party and assisting Ron Richmond, GOP minority leader in the House, who was fighting for his own survival against a Democrat in Pinellas County. Richmond won.

"I've never been so spread out and so tired after an election," said Brantley today. During his travels from the panhandle through the Keys, Brantley touched base with first-time GOP candidates helping them organize and meeting their volunteers.

But the Republican Party statewide lost strength in the Florida Legislature. The Republicans will have 36 or 37 members out of 120 in the Florida House in the 1983 session. They lost three or four seats. One House race was so tight the final results will not be known for days.

In the Senate, the GOP lost three seats and now will have eight members out of 40.

He added the four legislative delegations in Central Florida — Orange, Seminole, Lake and Brevard — will probably work more closely together than ever and probably meet together often.

Altamonte Boy, 12, Hit By Car Dies

A 12-year-old Altamonte Springs boy is dead today as a result of injuries he received after being struck by a car along Maitland Avenue Monday.

Joel Morgan, son of Hayden Morgan of 730 Maitland Ave., died Wednesday at Winter Park Memorial Hospital where he had been listed in critical condition since the accident, hospital officials said.

Altamonte Springs police said the 12-year-old Milwee Middle School student was on his way to a bus stop at about 8:30 a.m. Monday when he was hit by a car driven by Eva Stewart, 30, of Altamonte Springs.

Police said Ms. Stewart's vehicle was traveling south along Maitland Avenue. No charges have been filed in connection with the accident, police added. The accident remains under investigation today.

According to the Florida Highway Patrol, the boy's death marks the 28th traffic-related fatality in Seminole County this year.

Roof Work Awarded

General Roofing, Inc., of Casselberry has been awarded a $432,495 contract for re-roofing at Oviedo High School by the Seminole County School Board.

Four other firms also submitted bids. General Roofing was the low base bidder and was also the low bidder on the four alternates to the project.

The second lowest bid was submitted by the Butler Co., of Lakeland for $609,231. B. B. McCormick of Orlando submitted a $654,024 bid. L. F. Still & Co. of Orlando submitted a $657,369 bid and Anning Johnson Co. of Orlando bid $718,400.

The bids were received Oct. 18 and General Roofing's low bid was recommended for approval by the Cox Partnership, Inc., of Orlando, the board's consultant for the project.

The board Wednesday also awarded a $33,800 contract for re-roofing at Crooms High School in Sanford.

School Board members also accepted bids from B&R Erectors of Orlando to repair bleachers at six Seminole County high schools.

Wimer-Stubbs of Orlando submitted a lower bid, $52,450 but the B&R bid of $54,525 was accepted because Wimer-Stubbs could not meet a 45-day deadline for the work at Lyman, Seminole, Lake Howell, Lake Brantley, Crooms and Oviedo high schools.

Board members tabled a request from Seminole County to grant a drainage easement across part of the campus of Lake Howell High School in Maitland.

Originally, Complete Interiors of Sanford had submitted the request for an easement but later withdrew the application because the county already has an existing drainage ditch on the property.

But the county does not have an easement for the ditch or for additional property it wishes to use for drainage into Howell Creek.

Board members tabled the request to allow school administrators time to examine the county's request in more detail. — MICHAEL BEHA

IN BRIEF

Cyanide-Tylenol Suspect Had Revenge On His Mind

CHICAGO (UPI) — An Illinois man wanted for questioning about the cyanide-Tylenol killings vowed "Son of Sam will pale" in comparison to revenge he planned against a grocery chain that reportedly mistreated his former wife, court documents said.

Kevin Masterson, 35, also said "many people will suffer," the Chicago Tribune reported in today's editions. The grocery chain was identified as Jewel Food Stores. Some bottles of poisoned capsules were purchased at Jewel and one of its subsidiaries — Osco Drugs.

Seven people died in the Chicago area after taking cyanide-laced Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules between Sept. 29 and Oct. 1.

The grudge against Jewel apparently arose from an incident in which Masterson's former wife filed suit against Jewel after being mistreated by security guards. A settlement was reached, but he was dissatisfied and vowed revenge, the newspaper said.

Social Security Borrows $

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government Friday begins the first borrowing funds to cover Social Security checks — about $1 billion — since the program was enacted 47 years ago.

Before the year is out the government will have transferred an estimated $1 billion to $11 billion necessary to pay benefit checks through June, Treasury Department officials said Wednesday.

Congress authorized the loan at the end of last year, when the Social Security system's trustees saw the Old Age and Survivors Insurance Trust Fund running short at least until 1990. About 31 million Social Security payments are made each month from the Old Age and Survivors fund.

Two other Social Security funds which cover Medicare payments and other benefits are not affected.

Ford Has Another Idea

DETROIT (UPI) — U.S. automakers opened the 1983 model year with a 5.5 percent sales increase and Ford Motor Co. and General Motors Corp. are fighting a financing war to get rid of their leftover 1982 cars.

Ford unveiled a 10.75 percent financing program Wednesday that also includes some rebates. GM Sunday announced a 10.9 percent interest rate — its lowest since 1966.

Ford's rate applies to all 1982 cars with rebates offered on Escort, Lynx, EXP and LN7 models. Car buyers who decide not to take part in the financing program can choose between more cash and the company's 24-month, 24,000-mile free maintenance plan. In addition, Ford is offering rebates — but no financing offer — ranging from $300 to $1,000 on trucks.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: A surprise tornado that roared out of the Gulf, ripping through a resort island off southern Texas, injured at least 28 people. Strong north winds raked the Plains and up to 20 inches of snow buried Lake Kabetogoma, Minn. today. Five people were hospitalized with broken bones and back injuries suffered when the twister, packing winds of up to 145 mph, tore through a trailer camp on South Padre Island. In northeastern Minnesota 15 inches of snow fell at Isabella and about 20 inches of snow covered Lake Kabetogoma, just east of International Falls near Canada. The Hibbing and Duluth areas had 3 to 4 inches of snow. Freezing temperatures gripped Nebraska and Iowa as light snow dusted the area. Temperatures in southern Texas dropped 30 degrees in less than 24 hours — from the 80s into the 50s and a freeze warning was in effect for the Southern Plains early today. The East Coast was bathed in warm weather as nearly a dozen cities from Burlington, Vt., to Atlantic City, N.J., set new record-high temperatures. Temperatures in the middle 70s were common in the area.

Jailed For Stealing Bread

Man, 19, Arrested In Cleaners

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

A 19-year-old Altamonte Springs man was being held in the Seminole County jail today following his arrest Wednesday in connection with the burglary of two stores.

Emiliano Enrique Noriega, of 615 Parkwood Ave., was being held under $5,000 bond on charges of burglary and possession of burglary tools after Altamonte Springs police responded to a call that someone had broken into Max's Bakery and the Village Cleaners off W. State Road 436 in Altamonte Springs.

Police said they arrived at the bakery, 271 W. SR 436, at about 3:24 a.m. Wednesday and were met by the store owner who told them he heard what sounded like hammering noises coming from the cleaners next door.

Upon investigation, police saw a man squatting underneath the front window of the shop. When the suspected burglar saw police, he ran into the parking lot where officers apprehended him.

Police said they arrested Noriega and after searching him, found an undisclosed amount of coins, keys and customer receipts from the cleaners.

Police added that the thief had entered the bakery through an opening in the ceiling, broke into the cash register and stole an undisclosed amount of cash. The burglar then crawled back onto the ceiling and "dropped into the cleaners" where he pried open vending and video machines, police said.

Police confiscated a screwdriver and a hammer which they say were used in the burglary.

BULLET FOUND IN DOOR

A woman told deputies she discovered a bullet imbedded in the front door of her home near Altamonte Springs at about 12:30 a.m. Saturday.

Alice Faye Lewis, 26, of 315 Williams St., told deputies she did not hear a gunshot. She told police she is scheduled to appear in court today on a battery charge in which she is the victim, adding that the shooting at her home may have been connected with the trial.

THREE FREED

Three Orlando men are free from the Seminole County jail today after Lake Mary police said they saw a vehicle, occupied by the men, pass another vehicle in a no passing zone and later found three concealed weapons in the car.

Willie Terry Anderson, 26; Paul Franklin Hillman, 32; and Michael R. Ruiz, 20, all of Orlando, were being held in the county jail under $5,000 bond each, jail officials said.

Police said they observed the vehicle pass another vehicle in a no passing zone and after police stopped the car, two people in the front seat switched places while also hiding something under the car seats.

Upon investigation, police determined the driver of the car at the time of the traffic violation was Anderson, whose license has been suspended indefinitely. Police said they also determined there were three weapons, including a .22-caliber revolver, a .635 caliber automatic pistol and a .45-caliber automatic pistol concealed under the car seats.

Anderson was arrested and charged with driving on a suspended driver's license, possession of a concealed and stolen firearm, police said. Hillman was charged with possession of a concealed firearm and Ruiz was charged with possession of a concealed firearm and possession of a firearm by a convicted felon, police said.

Police added that the .22-caliber pistol had been reported stolen in Los Angeles, Calif., although Anderson reportedly said he was in the process of buying the gun.

Ruiz, who was convicted on a burglary charge in Palm Beach County in 1980, is currently on probation in that county, police said.

Altamonte Man Admits Trying To Kill His Ex-Girlfriend

A 24-year-old Altamonte Springs man is facing up to 12 years in prison and 30 years probation after he pleaded guilty Wednesday to trying to kill his former girlfriend at her Sanford home.

Walter Kenneth Harper of 1015 E. Clemson Drive is being held in the Seminole County jail today after entering his guilty plea to charges of attempted first-degree murder and aggravated battery Wednesday just moments before he was scheduled to go to trial before Circuit Judge Joseph S. Davis Jr.

Harper was arrested July 7, 1982, in connection with the shooting of Janice G. Smith, 22, of 403 Ventura Drive at her home June 30, 1982.

"The plea agreement states Harper will spend at least three years in prison but the judge said he would not sentence him to more than 12 years in prison on the attempted murder charge," said Prosecutor Alan Robinson. "On the second charge of aggravated battery, the judge indicated he would sentence Harper to 30 years probation."

Robinson said Harper has had no prior convictions and is slated for sentencing before Davis at 1:30 p.m. Feb. 15, 1983.

DUI DEATH NETS MAN PRISON TERM

An Apopka man has been sentenced to 15 years in prison after pleading guilty to manslaughter while driving under the influence of alcoholic beverages in connection with an Altamonte Springs woman's death.

Brian Le Heup, 30, was given the maximum sentence by Circuit Judge Lon Cornelius in Orlando Friday after Le Heup pleaded guilty to the DUI-manslaughter charge in exchange for prosecutors dropping an additional charge of second-degree murder.

Lyndale Hughes, 30, of Altamonte Springs was killed in the March 30 accident which occurred on the Bee Lane Expressway just south of Orlando. Le Heup suffered a crushed pelvis in the fatal accident and appeared in court Friday using crutches.

Witnesses told police Le Heup was driving his car at about 85 mph and had traveled about a mile on the wrong side of the road before the crash.

Cornelius described Le Heup, who has convictions for aggravated assault, drunken driving, robbery and possession of a firearm by a convicted felon, a "three-time loser" who hadn't learned his lesson for breaking the law in spite of two prison stays.

STORE MANAGER JAILED

A 34-year-old grocery store manager is free from the Seminole County jail today following his arrest Saturday on a charge of selling alcoholic beverages to a person less than 19 years old.

Ammedali Shahbuddin, 34, of Apopka, was arrested by state Division of Alcoholic Beverage and Tobacco agents who said they observed a man sell a beer to a 16-year-old girl at the S & M Market at State Road 436 and Lake Brantley Road in Forest City at 9:10 p.m. Friday.

MAN SHOT IN ANKLE

A Sanford man was treated for a gunshot wound to his right ankle after police said he accidentally shot himself at about 11 p.m. Friday.

Westley O'Neal, 36, of 1803 Persimmon Ave., told police he was "playing with" his .22-caliber gun when it discharged.

DUI ARREST

Leo Peterson, 55, of 2006 W. 16th St. in Sanford was arrested at 7:50 p.m. Tuesday along West 22nd Street after Sanford police said they observed a vehicle being driven erratically along the road. Peterson was arrested on charges of driving under the influence of alcoholic beverages and careless driving. Bond was set at $500.

RENT, CAR, ELECTRIC PAYMENTS STOLEN

Someone stole $211 from a Sanford man's home which he says was intended to pay the rent, electric bill and car payment.

Mark Richard Turner, 25, of 2748 Ridgewood Ave. told police he had placed $124 in an envelope marked "Rent," $72 in an envelope marked "Car," and $15 in an envelope marked "Electric" and placed all three envelopes in a metal box.

When he went to get the money from the box Tuesday, Turner said he found only the empty envelopes, police said.

"We had already picked the jury and were ready to begin Wednesday morning when Harper pleaded," Robinson said. "The victim took the stand, though, and admitted that she and Harper had been boyfriend-girlfriend."

"However, she said that he had moved out of her home and that she had not lived with him for about four or five months when the incident occurred," Robinson said. "She testified that Harper came to her home to get some of his belongings which he had left when he moved out."

Robinson said the two hair stylists began arguing and that Harper fired one shot at Ms. Smith, missing her.

"He also did some things like rub the gun through her hair and tell her that no one was going to know her, no one was going to remember her when he shot half of her face off," Robinson said.

Robinson said Ms. Smith testified that Harper called her new boyfriend and said, "Larry, this is Kenny. You need to come over here. Janice and I are having a confessional."

"She ran out of the house and Harper followed her," Robinson said. "He fired three shots at her. Two of the bullets hit her and they are still lodged in her body. She said they'll have to be surgically removed."

"After Harper shot Janice, he took a shotgun and stuck it in his shirt at an angle across his chest, pulled the trigger and blew a portion of his chest off," Robinson added.

Police responding to the shooting scene said they found the bleeding couple lying on the kitchen floor. Police added that they were summoned by telephone to the home by Harper.

New Lake Mary Councilmen To Be Sworn In Tonight

Lake Mary's two new city councilmen — Pat Southward and Cliff Nelson — will be sworn into office as the first item of business at tonight's 7:30 council meeting at City Hall, 158 N. Country Club Road.

Nelson and Mrs. Southward were appointed by the three-member council 10 days ago to serve until councilmen for one year unexpired terms are elected Dec. 7 and assume their duties on Jan. 3.

Mrs. Southward has served one two-year term while Nelson served three years previously.

The council vacancies occurred when Gene McDonald resigned to accept a position with the Motorola Corp. in Huntsville, Ala. and Vic Olivera quit to run for mayor.

Mrs. Southward and Nelson were appointed by the unanimous vote of Councilmen Ray Fox, Dick Fess and Ken King.

In the meantime, King drew no opposition in his bid for a second two-year term in office. Fess qualified to run for mayor in the Dec. 7 race.

Tonight, the council is scheduled to consider appointing a person to the Planning and Zoning Board to replace Bill Durbenberger who has resigned to run for Fess's council seat.

Court Upholds Dismissal Of County Worker

The Fifth District Court of Appeals in Daytona Beach says the Seminole County commission was correct in firing a county-employed vehicle inspector after she threatened a supervisor.

The appellate court reversed the Seminole Circuit Court decision Wednesday, saying the lower court was too technical with the county and that a complaint filed by an administrative agency is not obligated to meet all of the technicalities required in a court of law.

Mildred Long was fired from her job as a vehicle inspector in Casselberry in August 1980 after supervisor Milton J. Raw received a telephone call from someone who said a "certain organization" would take care of him if he didn't "back off" an investigation of the Casselberry station.

Raw received the threatening call after he and Inspector Don Mattoon, of the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles, made an inspection of the station after receiving numerous complaints that Casselberry workers were failing new cars.

In addition, Frederick Weldon, supervisor of the Casselberry station, was dismissed after he refused to use "judgement" when inspecting compact cars and, instead, failed the cars because they were too light for the results to show on brake testing equipment. Weldon's firing was not appealed.

However, Ms. Long, who was fired on grounds of "verbal assault," appealed that dismissal to the Seminole Circuit Court, where the charge was thrown out because the three-judge circuit court panel ruled the charge did not meet the legal definition.

However, District Judge Joe A. Cowart said Wednesday the lower court was too technical in its ruling and reversed its decision in favor of the county.

"I wish to thank all those who gave me their support during my campaign."

Overcrowded Jail May Net Jail Terms For Officials

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — Jacksonville officials were to appear before a federal judge today on possible contempt charges resulting from the city's jail population exceeding a court-imposed limit.

Mayor Jake Godbold, Sheriff Dale Carson and other officials were scheduled to explain to U.S. District Judge Charles R. Scott why they should not be held in contempt of court.

Jacksonville lawyer William J. Sheppard, who represented prisoners seven years ago in a jail-overcrowding lawsuit against the city, called for the hearing after the number of inmates slipped past the limit several times this fall. The 1975 suit over conditions at the Jacksonville jail prompted Scott to impose a 418-inmate cap on the facility.

Jailers managed to keep the number of prisoners below 418 until this fall, when tougher bail-bond laws caused the inmate population to swell past the mark several times.

'Roach Shake' Sparks Suit

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — A woman who claims she became ill after swallowing several cockroaches from a strawberry milkshake she bought at a Burger King restaurant has filed suit against the owner of the franchise seeking more than $5,000 in damages.

Benita Wilson, 29, said Wednesday that she bought the large strawberry milkshake from the Burger King restaurant's drive-in window on a Saturday night in late July.

She said when she drank it she found a large roach in her mouth and believes that earlier she had swallowed several smaller insects she had thought were strawberries. She later found more small roaches in what remained of the shake, Ms. Wilson said.

Sheik Gone For Good?

MIAMI (UPI) — Flamboyant Sheik Mohamed al-Fassi, who failed Wednesday to meet a court-ordered deadline to reveal to his estranged wife the location of their four children, has secretly returned to Saudi Arabia, perhaps for good, associates say.

Special master Mallory Horton had set a deadline of 5 p.m. Wednesday for al-Fassi to report the whereabouts of his and Dena's four children. Sheka Dena had been unable to find her four children, aged 3 to 6, for several days, said her attorney, Melvyn Frumkes.

Dade County Circuit Judge Jack Turner in September had granted her temporary visitation rights and ordered the sheik not to remove the children from Dade County.

Number Receiving Jobless Benefits Sets New Record

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The number of workers getting unemployment checks rose for the seventh straight week to a record 4,687,000, government figures showed today, indicating a probable rise in the nation's 10.1 percent jobless rate.

High unemployment was credited by observers with playing a major role in the large Democratic gains in Tuesday's House elections.

The total exceeded by 23,000 the previous record set a week ago and is the highest since the program began in 1937.

The Labor Department report, however, showed a mild decline in the number of new claims for benefits, but that occurred a week after the Census Bureau survey for the October unemployment rate. October's unemployment rate will be released Friday.

The nearly 4.7 million workers receiving benefits during the week ended Oct. 16 — the survey week — reflected an increase of 290,000 from the week during which the 10.1 percent jobless rate for September was obtained.

Not included in the seasonally adjusted data, however, were 583,400 persons receiving benefits who are federal employees, newly discharged veterans, railroad workers, or those receiving extended jobless benefits.

Among states, West Virginia had the highest rate of unemployment among those covered by unemployment insurance, followed by Pennsylvania, Michigan, Washington, Kentucky, Alabama, Mississippi, Alaska, Arkansas, and Illinois.

John Perkins, head of the AFL-CIO's political arm, said Wednesday "without a doubt, unemployment was the principal issue" that gave the Democrats a gain of 26 House seats in Tuesday's elections.

"The AFL-CIO views the 1982 election results as a message to change the course of national economic policy and to reorder national priorities to make unemployment the No. 1 concern," said Perkins, director of the federation's Committee on Political Education.

The federation said victories by 24 COPE-endorsed candidates for governor exceeded all recent years, except the Watergate year of 1974. The federation also claimed victories by 20 of 31 COPE-endorsed Senate candidates, or 64.5 percent, the highest winning percentage since 1974. Labor's winning percentage for Senate races was 34.4 percent in 1980 and 40 percent in 1978.

Ill. Governor's Race May End Up In Court

CHICAGO (UPI) — The neck-and-neck race between challenger Adlai Stevenson III and incumbent James Thompson for Illinois governor likely will be decided in court, a key election official said today.

"I don't doubt this will end up in court," said Michael Lavelle, chairman of the Chicago Board of Elections Commissioners, as staff members slowly counted the ballots.

The Thompson-Stevenson cliff-hanger was the only one of 36 gubernatorial races still outstanding from Tuesday's election.

It was the Chicago area where a huge, unexpected turnout gave Stevenson a big boost and restored some of the luster to Chicago's Democratic machine as a kingmaker.

The ballots — so dampened by rain and humidity that counting machines would not accept them — eventually dried on their own and were being counted today by Chicago and Cook County officials.

The News Election Service totals showed Thompson leading Stevenson by just 8,577 votes — 1,771,409 to 1,762,832 — with 98 percent of the votes in.

Election '82: Everyone Wins

Reagan Faces Compromise, Stalemate

United Press International

The 1982 election ended with the Republicans holding their own in the Senate, the Democrats gaining House seats and governorships and everyone claiming they had won.

With only the Illinois governorship undecided, the political landscape today looked like this:

— The Senate in the 98th Congress will remain in Republican control, 54 to 46, the same breakdown as in the current session.

— The House will continue in Democratic control, with a lineup of 267 to 166, with two Georgia seats to be elected later this month. That will give the Democrats at least 26 more seats than they have in the 97th Congress.

— The governorships in 1983 will continue to be dominated by Democrats, with an indicated breakdown of 34 to 15, with Illinois undecided. That is an increase of seven for the Democrats.

The election produced a few surprises — the Democrats got more House seats and governorships than the experts predicted — but it was neither the "realigning election" with which the Republicans had once hoped to establish a lock on American politics, nor the repudiation landslide the Democrats had hoped would result from dissatisfaction with Reagan's economic policies.

Reagan declared he was happy because the GOP had retained the Senate and lost fewer House seats than might have been expected.

Democratic Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill declared the outcome "a disastrous defeat for the president," and Senate Democratic campaign chairman Wendell Ford claimed the voters rejected Reagan's economic program.

The congressional results will be translated into a somewhat different relationship between the White House and Capitol Hill when the new Congress takes office in January, but the significance of the shift in control of statehouses may be more important in the national political picture.

As was demonstrated in both 1976 and 1980, governors have returned to the presidential arena in American politics after a long absence in which the field was dominated by senators.

In addition, state political parties are strengthened by control of statehouses and it is in the states much of the groundwork for presidential elections still is done. The Democrats, although losing the California governorship, grabbed some other key states such as Texas, Ohio and Michigan. They also re-established a base of support in the Midwest with wins in Wisconsin and Minnesota, the loss of both four years ago presaged their 1980 fall from national power.

There were some political futures blighted by the 1982 results. Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. of California, a twice unsuccessful bidder for the Democratic presidential nomination, was stopped short in his effort to win a Washington showcase when he lost the California Senate contest.

It also is possible that Thompson, who made no bones about his presidential ambitions when he first won the Illinois governorship, may have been hurt by his difficulty with Stevenson, universally judged to be a lackluster candidate.

In the House, 28 incumbents, including 25 Republicans, were defeated. These losses, including five GOP seats in the South, appear likely to make Reagan's 1981-82 feat of consistently drawing conservative Democratic votes to his side on key bills, far more difficult.

And that, in turn, had Republicans up to the president taking a conciliatory tone about plans for 1983. Reagan, talking with reporters at the White House, said he looked forward "to working with this Congress in a bipartisan fashion to solve the major problems that have to be solved."

It's The New Emancipation

Most of the political rhetoric directed at black Americans these days amounts to an undisguised attack upon the Reagan administration. Mr. Reagan, it is said, is guilty of backsliding on civil rights and of gutting the social programs that are particularly important to minorities.

So persistent has been this drumbeat that its message is believed not only by many blacks, but by no small number of whites as well.

We think the critics are selling President Reagan and his programs short. The America Ronald Reagan envisions would be one in which a disproportionately black underclass would be liberated from permanent dependence on government.

Equality of opportunity and an expanding economy would replace the dole as provider for those now poor or unemployed. In the process, the dignity and self-esteem that accompany economic independence would do more to promote equality than all the social programs of the past 20 years.

Hearing Mr. Reagan say all this hasn't persuaded many black Americans, in part because so many black leaders remain prisoners of the welfare-state mentality of the 1960s and 1970s. Thus, it is critically important that prominent blacks who share Mr. Reagan's belief in the liberating potential of a meritocracy built on an expanding economy speak now in its defense.

Thomas Sowell and Walter Williams, two highly respected and outspoken black economists, have done just that. Both have shredded the myth of the welfare state and affirmative action as essential to black progress. Indeed, Sowell and Williams have demonstrated that dependency and quotas are barriers to the social and economic emancipation of minorities.

Clarence Pendleton, now chairman of the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights, took a similar stand in a remarkable address recently to the National Association of Human Rights Workers.

The speech challenged black America and its traditional political leaders to abandon policies that have already failed.

Pendleton cited one study showing that "federal outlays for basic safety-net programs since 1950, in constant 1980 dollars, were $8 billion in 1950 and have swelled to $245 billion in 1980 ... (yet) every evaluation report indicates that the social programs of the 1960s were a disappointing failure."

Exactly so. The cycle of dependency has not been broken nor has that disproportionately black underclass been moved much closer to self-sufficiency.

As for the civil rights movement, Pendleton noted that it had "transformed itself from being a civil rights watchdog to an economic redistribution movement — dispensing 'reparations' from our tax dollars to their clients."

And what of affirmative action? Pendleton described it as a worthy concept but, in practice, a "bankrupt policy ... we must clearly understand that equality of opportunity does not mean equality of result."

Some black leaders will be tempted, no doubt, to react to such straight talk by accusing Pendleton of having "sold out" to the Reagan administration. But these accusations will have missed the point.

What Pendleton wants is "a revolution ... that reduces our dependence on government and prepares us and our children for the future." For the record, that is what President Reagan wants as well. It can only be achieved if Americans, of every race have the courage and vision to look beyond the discredited policies of the past.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Really! You're NOT alone! All the politicians and their campaign ads on TV got to me, too."

By TENI YARBOROUGH

Come Monday, I expect to be as proud as I was on Nov. 6, 1981.

Why? Because I predict — based on a past that runs deep, their current record and a never-say-die faith that the University of Georgia Bulldogs will once again romp the Florida Gators when the two football teams clash amid the World's Largest Outdoor Cocktail Party in Jacksonville Saturday.

Yes, friends and Bulldog enemies, the conflict of the year is scheduled to be fought in the so-called neutral city this weekend, and although — for the first time in three years — this Bulldog won't be sitting in the stands, I'll be watching and cheering via television with "Georgia on my mind."

Let's return for a moment to the fateful day just one year ago.

First the reptiles scored, and then again. But the Dawgs rallied and got on the scoreboard before the first half ran out. Dawgs love suspense.

In the second half the Silver Britches came on like gang-busters putting more points on the board. And, just when it appeared the Dawgs were going to wrap the whole thing up and carry a neat victory home, the Orange and Blue pushed forward and scored, leading 21 to 20.

But, as most Gator fans should know by now, you can count a Dog down but never count him out.

With little time remaining in the game, the mighty red and black offense with Quarterback Buck Belue at the helm, pushed down the field, scored the winning touchdown and for the second year in a row, left that north Florida field with a 26 to 21 victory over the head-sagging crocodiles.

Now, I realize that game happened last year and you can't live in the past. But, look at the facts — History does repeat itself.

Georgia is undefeated. Georgia is leading the Southeastern Conference. Georgia is number two (only to non-Bulldog fans) in national polls. Georgia still has its not-so-secret weapon Herschel "Heisman" Walker, who has tallied phenomenal yardage and has an unbelievable number of touchdowns to his credit. Georgia has repeatedly punished the Gators in Jacksonville. And, a friend of mine and defensive lineman for the Dogs, Tim Crowe says we can win it. That's good enough for me.

Florida on the other hand is not undefeated. Florida does not lead the SEC or any other poll. Florida does not have Herschel Walker. Florida hasn't beaten Georgia in years. And, Orange and Blue are tacky colors when combined.

Florida's Coach Charley Pell says he's a little worried about meeting my Dogs this year and, to be polite, Coach Vince Dooley says the Bulldogs will meet a "supreme test." (That's good press Coach).

Sure, Georgia has a new rookie quarterback with John Lastinger but he's pulled the Dawgs through every time this year. No reason why he, Herschel and the rest of the Pups can't do it again Saturday before an expected crowd of 80,000 — not to mention the TV audience.

So, unless you're a Gator and you have to support the loser again and suffer national embarrassment because of misplaced pride, put your money on the Bulldogs. You might even want to take it a step further by putting your money on a score of 26-21. Remember, three's a charm.

Go, Dawgs!

Erroneous Business Attitudes

There's a growing divergence of opinion within the business community. This divergence was evidenced in comments made at the recent meeting of the Business Council, which is made up of the heads of many of the country's largest companies.

Walter B. Wriston, chairman of both the Council and of Citicorp, one of the nation's largest banking institutions, asserted that too much attention is being paid to "the smokestack industries."

This comment is likely to infuriate the heads of companies that produce steel, automobiles, raw materials, and all types of machinery. These companies face the worst conditions in 40 years. Edmund W. Littlefield, chairman of Utah International, Inc., warned at the Business Council meeting that "all the markets we serve are soft at the same time."

Mr. Wriston thinks we need not worry because the service sector of the economy is "thriving." That's a questionable statement. Service industries in economically blighted areas aren't doing well at all. If their customers are out of work because plants have shut down, how can service industries do well? Indeed how can the nation as a whole do well if its basic industries are in steep decline? The basic industries are just that, the foundation on which other enterprises depend.

The service sector of the economy is important and somewhat more resistant to recession, at least in the initial stages. Many of the service industries aren't spectacular producers of wealth, however.

Fast food restaurants serve an important need in a fast-moving society. But their young workers need to graduate into more permanent, higher skilled jobs. These jobs which have the potential for long-term, substantial earnings, are to be found in manufacturing. And it is precisely this type of work that is being eliminated in the current recession.

The immediate need is for more attention to the "smokestack" industries and to lighter forms of manufacturing. If the condition of these industries can be improved, the entire economy will feel the improvement.

Mr. Wriston's own industry has contributed to the precarious state of the U.S. economy. The giant international banks have made loans to foreign countries in a highly irresponsible manner. Now, they face the possibility of defaults by foreign borrowers. How long will it be before these banks run to Washington, crying for bailouts?

The so-called "smokestack" industries have been the foundation of America's prosperity. If they continue to decline, the nation will only get poorer.

Congress' Escape Saved Taxpayers Cash

WASHINGTON — President Reagan rightly chided Congress for leaving Washington to run for re-election without passing the money bills that keep the federal government running. He called it "bad economics and bad management."

Actually, though, it may have been a break for the taxpayers. Judging by one of the two appropriations bills Congress did manage to pass — for funding military construction projects in fiscal 1983 — it's lucky the honorable members scurried off to the hustings when they did. If they'd passed all the money bills in a last-minute rush, there's no telling how much it would have cost us.

Consider some facets of the congressional raid on the Treasury:

— More than $75 million of the $7 billion approved was for military construction the Pentagon spendthrifts hadn't even asked for. By a not-so-funny coincidence, almost 80

DON GRAFF

Still Long Way To Go

The subject was — still is — El Salvador.

Things haven't been going at all well there. Certainly not as they were supposed to go after election of a constituent assembly last March that, to hear the U.S. State Department tell it, was just possibly the greatest blow struck for liberty since the storming of the Bastille.

Rather than putting the country on a democratic track, the assembly has been used by right-wingers to block land and social reforms backed by the United States.

The Christian Democratic incumbent president who was Washington's choice to continue in the job lost it. The army, as it has throughout most of El Salvador's modern history, dictated the selection of his successor — a blatantly non-democratic procedure but necessary even in Washington's view since, left to its own devices, the assembly would have opted for Roberto d'Aubuisson.

D'Aubuisson is an exception to the rule in El Salvador these days. Things have been going very well for him. A former intelligence major ousted after the 1979 coup by reformist officers, he is suspected of involvement in the subsequent assassination of Archbishop Oscar Arnulfo Romero.

He was exiled from the country for a time after his ouster by the military and denied a U.S. visa. But that did not prevent a July 1980 visit to Washington complete with press conference. D'Aubuisson has friends in places high on Capitol Hill.

The Salvadoran election was supposed to be a victory for democracy but it turned out to be one for d'Aubuisson. His ARENA party did not get the most votes — the Christian Democrats, with some 40 percent, managed that. But it did emerge as the dominant element in the right-wing coalition in control of the assembly.

Since the election, American policy has been to view d'Aubuisson positively — young and a bit intense, but expected to shape up satisfactorily after a little experience in practical politics. Privately, some knowledgeable diplomats who prefer to remain anonymous compare him to "a coiled snake."

Meanwhile, leftist guerrillas, who were supposed to have been thoroughly discredited by the massive turnout for the election which they boycotted, continue to dominate wide areas of the country and attack economic and military targets.

Those wondering why post-election developments should have taken such a dismal turn might take another look at the election itself. There were reservations at the time in some quarters, but these were smothered in the exultation over the heavy turnout and minimal rebel impact.

For one technical point, the ballots handed to the voters were numbered and, once marked, they were deposited in transparent urns. This, as former U.S. Ambassador Robert White subsequently pointed out, is a classic method of controlling the voting of Latin American peasants.

One of the American observers of the Salvadoran voting, an informed and sincere individual, assures that the sole purpose was to prove the urns had not been stuffed in advance, that the marked ballots could not be read and that the counting was not fraudulent.

He may very well believe that. It is, however, difficult to believe that Salvadorans, recognizing the traditional techniques, were ready to believe that just this once everything was going to be different. That this time they were truly free to vote as they wished and not as the soldiers wanted them to.

Would you?

Faced with the evidence that the election was no answer to the Salvadoran civil war but only produced more problems, there are signs that Washington is rethinking policy. A development to which the non-confrontational manner of new Secretary of State George Shultz may also be contributing significantly.

There is a new interest in negotiation with the rebels, a downplaying of the Cuban connection as the cause of all the trouble and receptiveness to Mexican and Venezuelan efforts to mediate.

But there is still a very long way to go — much of it, thanks to misplaced faith in the magic of an election, backtracking.

Testing Counter Drugs

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
UPI Health Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — U.S. Surgeon General C. Everett Koop urges parents to examine all over-the-counter medicines before giving them to youngsters.

Koop's warning was issued at the annual meeting of the American Academy of Pediatrics as a result of the tampering of Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules for adults in the Chicago area.

"There's been no evidence at all of any contraindication (reason not to use) of any Tylenol intended for pediatric use," Koop said.

He issued some guidelines to follow when buying any over-the-counter medicines, a type that does not require a prescription. They include:

— Examine the package. If a seal is broken or if the package looks as though it has been tampered with, don't buy it. Never buy a box that's been opened. Report the defective container or package to the store.

— If no seal is broken or if the package looks intact, buy it. But at home examine the contents. Look at capsules carefully. If there are scratch marks or any other signs of tampering, don't take the medicine. Return it to the store, reporting the defect.

The Academy of Pediatrics has issued a statement saying all over-the-counter drugs and medications should be protected by tamper-proof packaging.

Academy poison prevention experts said safer packaging methods could prevent adult deaths and injuries as effectively as child-proof medicine containers have prevented deaths and injuries in children.

Dr. Paul A. Palmisano, medical director of the Children's Hospital Poison Center, Birmingham, Ala., and Dr. Joseph Greensher, chief of pediatrics at Nassau Hospital, Long Island, N.Y., said effective, tamper-proof packaging already is technologically feasible.

They said the introduction of "child-proof" safety closures on medicine containers in 1973 has saved an estimated 1,200 children from poisoning deaths and 200,000 children from poisoning injuries over a six-year period.

The protection against tampering involves the use of "bubble-pack" plastic packaging for capsules and plastic closure strips around medicine container necks.

Koop was asked if he would take an over-the-counter drug.

"Yes," he said, "if it was indicated for my condition. But I would examine the package outside and the contents inside."

Koop said he did not think the Tylenol incidents have made the American people lose faith in the drug industry. But he said the capsule tampering in Illinois has made people lose faith in their fellow man.

"There's no evidence to suggest that anything that the company did is to blame for the contaminated capsules of Extra-Strength Tylenol," he said. "The capsules of Tylenol that were contaminated happened after they left the plants."

Footnote: Members of the House and Senate Armed Services Committees claimed the additional projects will be funded with anticipated savings from other military construction programs.

The last time Seminole's volleyball team lost to Spruce Creek, it was because the girls — so overwhelmed with an easy first-set victory — began giggling and couldn't compose themselves in time to avert an upset.

Wednesday night at Lyman High School, the Seminole netters turned in that same (15-3) first-set "laughter," but there wasn't any giggling this time when Spruce Creek came back to stun the Seminole — 16-14 and 17-15 — and oust them from the District 4A-9 Volleyball Tournament.

"We put ourselves under too much pressure," said a dejected coach Beth Corso about the loss. Just a few weeks ago, the 'Noles had trounced the Hawks in straight sets.

The defending district champions concluded the season with a 12-9 mark, despite replacing all six starters from last year.

"The girls had a good year and came a long way," said Corso. "I'm going to miss the seniors. They played smart. Sometimes I think we're too smart and realize how much trouble we're in."

There wasn't any trouble in the first set. Genevieve Stallworth served the first 10 points as the 'Noles built a 10-1 lead en route to a lopsided win.

It even grew comical at times as Teri Hardy spiked a ball off an opponent's head for the 12th point before Sara Von Herbuls and Lisa Morse served out the victory.

The laughter stopped abruptly in the second set when the Hawks broke to a 5-0 lead. A timeout settled Seminole down as did five straight serves from Morse, two more for Stallworth and four from Lisa Nelson for an 11-9 lead.

Two points later, a Hardy spike gave the Tribe a 14-12 lead. Spruce Creek, however, regrouped at that point as Laura Moriarty, who ironically knocked Seminole out of the district softball tournament with a home run last year, hit three straight winners for the 16-14 win.

In the deciding set, the Tribe fell behind, 8-3, but battled back behind some excellent serving by Hardy to a 10-8 edge.

Stallworth hit two straight, aided by a nice tip from Morse, for a 12-9 lead but Spruce Creek pulled ahead on two points from Valerie Lewis and three by Carol Tiller for a 14-12 lead.

Jones served two straight to pull the Tribe even, but Hardy missed a slam as the Hawks went up one. She came back with a service point to tie it 15-15.

Moriarty entered the scene at this point, however, and zipped two service points to end the Seminole season.

Although the Tribe was the only seeded team to lose, Lake Brantley did give DeLand some trouble before falling in two sets. Lyman and Lake Howell breezed to wins.

Coach Jo Luciano's Silver Hawks staged a dramatic rally from a 14-12 deficit, then blew out Apopka in the second set to advance to tonight's semifinal against Spruce Creek at 7:15.

Junior Kathy Barma hit the last four crucial points to ball out the Hawks in set one. In the second set, Christy Scott hit eight in a row for a 10-3 lead before Cathy Saunders finished off the Blue Darters with four in a row. Chiquita Miller hit a "dribbling spike" for the final point.

For top-seeded Lyman, Pam Stambaugh served the last six points in the first-set 15-1 rout of Mainland and Carol Rogers was perfect with her setting game.

In set two, Rogers served Lyman to a 7-3 lead with spikes coming from Lynn Lugerling (2) and Wynne Wycoff. Amy Babcock hit five more with a slam each from Stambaugh and Wycoff to finish off the Lady Bucs.

District Cross Country Championships

Rams Eye Top 6 Spot Saturday

By SAM COOK

Herald Sports Editor

Lake Mary's cross country teams have no illusions of winning the District Meet this Saturday — but they would like to finish in the top six and earn a trip to the Regional.

Although the Rams will battle for a top six spot in the team standings, two individuals plan to do considerably better. Sophomore Kim Averill, third in the district last year and seventh in the state, is shooting for a spot in the top five. The cute all-around athlete has a 12:26 two mile to her credit this year.

The boys' best shot is junior Derek Tangeman. He has been coach Mark McGee's best all year and has really come on the past few weeks — turning in a 15:24 three mile at the Lake Mary Ram Invitational which set a record.

Lake Mary's first four runners — Averill, Liz Stone, Shannon Weger and Andrea Beardslee — are sophomores.

Lake Mary girls (two miles)

1. Kim Averill	12:26
2. Liz Stone	13:01
3. Shannon Weger	13:26
4. Andrea Beardslee	13:42
5. Maureen Friel	13:43

They are joined by juniors Maureen Friel, Sara Karen and Michelle Marnitz.

"We'll be in a four-way battle for the fourth, fifth and sixth positions," said coach Mike Gibson about his Rams, Palm Bay, Rockledge and Bishop Moore. "Three of the four will go to region and one will be left home — I just hope it isn't us."

Titusville Astronaut, the host school, Titusville Hill and Cocoa Beach are the favorites for the girls' championship.

For the boys, Rockledge is a runaway favorite to take the district, region and state. Bishop Moore, Titusville and Astronaut are also ranked ahead of McGee's runners.

The Rams figure to be in another four-way battle with Palm Bay, Seabreeze and Osceola-Kissimmee. Titusville was 20 points better than Lake Mary in the DeLand Invitational.

Joining Tangeman in the Rams' seven are Mark Blythe, Jim Schnell, Matt

Palumbo, Kit Johnson, Brian LaVigne and John Amrhein. Palumbo and Amrhein are sophomores while the others are Juniors.

The district and the region will be held at Dunn Park. Spectators should take State Road 46 east to I-95 south, exit at Highway 406 (Garden street) and go east to Singleton street. Go north on Singleton to the park.

The girls 3A race will be at 10 a.m. The boys will run at 10:30 a.m.

Lake Brantley's girls and Lyman's boys will try to make it two in a row Saturday at the District Cross Country Meet at the DeLand Airport.

The girls start the action at 11 a.m.

Coach Jim Marshall's Patriots ran away with the Five Star Conference race last Friday as Kathryn Hayward (second), Ellen Stern (fifth), Joanne Hayward (sixth), Barbara Holmes (11th) and Laura Barnhill (15th) were all in the top 15.

Seasoned Vet Opposes Youthful Scribe

For a change of pace this week, Fearless Fister and Sports Editor Sam Cook go head-to-head in a prognosticating war, a battle which pits a seasoned veteran (Cook) against a youthful scribe (Fister).

Going into this week though, Cook has the upper hand with a 69-22-1 record compared to Fister's mark of 64-27-1. Maybe this week Cook will use the same philosophy that world middleweight boxing champion "Marvelous" Marvin Hagler does.

As Hagler puts it, "When I come out of 'dere, I have two things on my mind, that's destruction and destroying."

Two things Marvin, here, have a banana.

Last week's guest picker, Seminole High Booster Club Publicity chairperson, Rose Futrell, had an 8-4 mark, two games off the pace of the best guest picking which was set by Lake Mary's Kyle Frakes earlier in the season.

SEMINOLE AT LYMAN

The Seminole of '82 have been a fizzle, turning coach Jerry Posey's nerves into a frazzle, leaving the Tribe with little sizzle and no dazzle — Lyman by 10.

Cook's theory — Lyman defense too tough for 'Noles — Lyman by 13.

LAKE MARY AT LAKE BRANTLEY

Rumors have it that there will be a shake up in the Lake Mary offense this week. The way things have gone lately for the Rams, it might take an earthquake. Lake Brantley has the momentum, the home field and a strong defense too — Patriots by 8.

Cook's thoughts on the subject — Patriots are playing good ball now — Lake Brantley by 20.

GROVELAND AT OVIEDO

The Groveland offense has been in the groove all year long, until last week, and Oviedo is riding high with three straight victories. Oviedo has struck three times and that means they're out — Groveland by 6.

Cook's premonition — Decent 3A team (Oviedo) beats good 2A — Oviedo by 12.

DeLAND AT LAKE HOWELL

The Silver Hawks are looking to get back on the winning track after dropping to 3-2 in the Five Star Conference. DeLand scored 32 points against Apopka and can be dangerous but not enough for the Hawks to handle — Lake Howell by 12.

Cook's intuition — Silver Hawks will regroup behind Robey — Lake Howell by 7.

TRINITY PREP AT MELBOURNE CENTRAL CATHOLIC

Melbourne CC calls themselves the Hustlers, and with good reason, they have one of the most potent offenses of any 2A team around. Trinity Prep has a solid defense but they haven't faced a team that passes as much as the Hustlers — Melbourne CC by 13.

Cook's prognosis — Too much manpower for Saints — Hustlers by 24.

CARSON-NEWMAN AT UCCF

One of these teams is 0-8 and the other is 7-1, if you can figure that out you know who will prevail — Carson-Newman by 17.

Cook's soothsaying — No going away present for Sam Weir — Carson-Newman by 24.

GEORGIA AT FLORIDA

Week after week the national powers are being upset. First it was Penn State, then it was Alabama and last week it was Washington. Guess who it is this week? — Gators by 3.

Cook's precognition — Gators never win this game — Georgia by 8.

FLORIDA STATE AT SOUTH CAROLINA

You know why they reinstated capital punishment in South Carolina? To get rid of the guy who named South Carolina University the Gamecocks. Call South Carolina the Rodney Dangerfield of college football — FSU by 20.

Cook's clairvoyance — Seminoles on their way to a major bowl — FSU by 21.

MIAMI AT MARYLAND

The Hurricanes didn't look too ferocious last week against Florida State and Maryland will reduce the 'Canes to a soft breeze — Maryland by 6.

Cook's sixth sense — Miami doesn't need Richt to beat the Terrapins — Miami by 18.

LOUISIANA STATE AT ALABAMA

LSU never has much luck at Bryant-Denny Stadium in Tuscaloosa, Ala., and the Tigers won't have a prayer this week — Crimson Tide by 11.

Cook's foresight — Bear trap works — Alabama by 1.

NOTRE DAME AT PITTSBURGH

Everyone thinks that Pitt will probably go undefeated and win the national title, except me — Notre Dame by 1.

Cook's prophecy — Panthers, Dan Marino beat fading Irish — Panthers by 3.

UCLA AT WASHINGTON

Washington fell a few notches after getting mesmerized by John Elway and Stanford a week ago. But the Huskies will come out of the spell in time to get by the Bruins — Washington by 5.

Cook's pick — The (Don) James Gang is out of tune — UCLA by 6.

The Lad, Bulldogs of St. Cloud ended Lake Mary's season but not before the Rams put up a fight Wednesday in the District 3A-8 Volleyball Tournament at Lake Mary High.

The first set was a see-saw battle as the Lake Mary starters, Michelle Swartz, Robyn Pinnock, Ibbi McGarvey and Laura and Peggy Glass played point for point with St. Cloud before the Bulldogs squeaked out a 15-13 first-set victory.

Behind the serving of McGarvey, Lake Mary took an early 3-1 lead in the second set. With Laura Glass serving, Lake Mary increased its lead to 6-2 on two good serves and an excellent block by Peggy Glass.

St. Cloud came back to tie it a 6-6 before Lake Mary regained the serve. A service ace by Swartz gave the Lady Rams a slim 7-6 lead, then the roof caved in on Lake Mary.

With the score 8-7 in St. Cloud's favor, the Bulldogs reeled off six straight points to take a 14-7 lead as Lake Mary regained the serve. But the Rams couldn't score in two service chances and St. Cloud went on to win 15-7 and eliminate the Rams.

In other first-round action, Eustis whipped Jones in two straight sets, Bishop Moore was extended to three sets before subduing Osceola-Kissimmee and Oviedo rolled over Leesburg in two straight.

Eustis plays Bishop Moore at 5 today while Oviedo and St. Cloud get together at 6:30 p.m. for the second semifinal game. The winners decide the championship at 8 p.m.

"We played terrible, just terrible," said Oviedo coach Anita Carlson. "But at least we did better in the second game."

In the first set, Mary Lokurs snapped a 12-12 deadlock with Leesburg with three straight service points for the victory.

In set two, Theresa Willis served the first three points and Fay Robinson added two spikes to erase a temporary Leesburg lead. Lokurs followed with five straight service points for an 8-3 bulge. Willis hit three more, Kim Bliestel and Fran Foster hit one apiece and Lokurs hit the final two, the last an ace for the victory.

Marino 3-Run Homer Derails Express, 15-14

Bill Marino's three-run homer with one out in the eighth inning vaulted the Pookie Bears to a 15-14 come-back victory over Express Wednesday night in Sanford Men's Softball League action at Pinehurst Field.

Thanks to a six-run first inning, Express built a 9-0 lead after three innings of play. The Pookie Bears began its come-back with three runs in the fourth, four in the fifth and, after Express scored a single run in the sixth, the Bears scored three in the bottom of the sixth to tie it at 10-10.

Both teams scored a run in the seventh to send the game into extra innings with the score deadlocked at 11-11. Express scored three runs in the top of the eighth, two on Kenne Daniels' sacrifice fly to take a 14-11 lead.

With one-out in the bottom of the eighth, the Pookie Bears got its next three men on and scored once before Marino unloaded his game-winning blast.

Lastinger Is No Belue, But He Gets Job Done For Georgia

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — The Florida Gators don't care that Georgia quarterback John Lastinger has languished at the bottom of the Southeastern Conference statistics list most of the season.

They still consider him a threat. Lastinger has completed 83 passes in 121 attempts for a 68 percentage, 769 yards and seven touchdowns this year. He has thrown six interceptions.

But Florida coaches call the first-year starter "an athlete who makes few mistakes" in getting the ball to Bulldog tailback Herschel Walker.

"We saw him when he played high school ball up in Valdosta, Ga.," Gator Head Coach Charley Pell said. "At the time, he was considered a superior prospect to Buck Belue (last year's Bulldog

In other action Wednesday night, S&H Fabricating got its best offensive effort of the season, scoring 10 runs in the fourth inning and coming away with a 19-10 rout over Mobilite.

Kevin Lemon had five hits in five trips to the plate for Fabricating while teammates Dave Perry and Barry Graham had four hits apiece. S&H Fabricating had 24 hits in the game.

Thad Brooks had three hits, including a two-run homer to lead Mobilite.

Jaycees scored 10 runs in the first three innings and held off a late rally in an 11-9 victory over Session Time.

Session had an 11-13 lead going into the seventh inning and Session Time scored six runs in the seventh but fell short with one bases loaded and the winning run on first base.

Don Hibbard, Blair Kiltner and Rob Simpson all had two hits and scored two runs in the first two innings for Jaycees. Kirk Butler and Dave Kent had two hits for Session Time. — CHRIS FISTER

"I can't believe people hold his numbers against him," Pell said. "They ought to know the team is 8-0 and that's the bottom line. No quarterback is going to have great statistics when a team has a player like Herschel to build its offense around."

Florida defensive back Tony Lilly said Lastinger "may not be a good quarterback as far as stats go, but he's got a lot of attributes as a leader — or else his team wouldn't be undefeated."

"Anyway, if he hadn't completed a pass all year, he's going to be a good quarterback Saturday because it's the Georgia-Florida game," Lilly said. "He's basically a handoff type of guy," Florida nose guard Ricky Williams said. "He's not the smoothest quarterback we've seen all year, and he's not the best passer we've faced."

"He's not Buck Belue, but he gets the job done," Williams said.

"Lastinger is not near as great as Belue," agreed Gator defensive tackle Roy Harris. "But he's a key factor — not in the sense of being a great passer or scrambler, but as one of those old-fashioned quarterbacks who can help a team by being consistent and not doing anything wrong."

All 80,000 seats are sold out at the Gator Bowl for the SEC contest, and about half the nation is expected to watch the interstate rivalry on television.

'Iron Man' Sets Record; 76ers Break Clippers

United Press International

It took more than back rubs and liniment to make Randy Smith an "Iron Man."
"How did I do it? Prayer, good luck ... I've been healthy all these years but I've taken care of myself," the San Diego guard said Wednesday night after setting an NBA record by playing his 845th consecutive game, a 130-111 loss to Philadelphia. "I've been fortunate to avoid major injuries."

Smith, 33, broke the mark set by Johnny Kerr from 1954-65. Smith, signed by the Clippers hours before the start of the season, began his streak Feb. 18, 1972.

Moses Malone scored 29 points to spark the 76ers. Hitting 15-of-15 from the foul line, he helped the 76ers take control after the Clippers grabbed a 61-60 lead with 8:34 left in the third period. He converted a 3-point play and sank two free throws to enable the 76ers to establish a 7-point margin.

Celtics 111, Pacers 104
At Boston, Larry Bird, playing only three quarters, tossed in 23 points and Jeff Ruland added 21 points and 13 rebounds to pace the Celtics.

Bullets 104, Nets 85
At Landover, Md., Frank Johnson scored 24 points and had 14 assists and Jeff Ruland added 21 points and 13 rebounds to pace the Bullets.

Pistons 152, Bulls 144
At Pontiac, Mich., Isiah Thomas and Kelly Tripucka had 28 points each to help the unbeaten Pistons to their fourth straight victory.

Mavericks 102, Rockets 101
At Dallas, Kelvin Ransey outbattled two taller players for a rebound with 18 seconds left, then made two free throws for the Mavericks' win.

Lakers 135, Nuggets 134
At Denver, James Worthy tipped in a shot with four seconds left in overtime to lift the Lakers.

Sonics 109, Spurs 107
At Seattle, David Thompson hit a 3-pointer at the buzzer to achieve the SuperSonics' desperation victory.

Warriors 99, Knicks 97
At Oakland, Calif., Sam Williams hit two free throws with two seconds to play to give the Warriors their triumph.

Fergus Goal Beats Sabres

United Press International

Boston's Tom Fergus admits he couldn't have done it without the help of the Buffalo Sabres.

"Their defenseman tried to move it up, but their centerman just mishandled it," Fergus said Wednesday night, after scoring at 5:22 of the third period to give the Bruins a 3-2 victory over the Sabres. "It just went right to me and I went in and shot."

Fergus beat Sabres' goaltender Jacques Cloutier for his seventh goal of the year. The goal ended a comeback by Buffalo, which scored twice to open the period and erase a 2-0 Boston lead.

"In the third period they got a goal and got fired up and got another one, but I think we dug down after that," said Boston Coach Gerry Cheevers. "We played four defensemen the whole game and they got down. It doesn't happen in modern-day hockey."

Buffalo's John Van Boxmeer and Lindy Ruff scored 90 seconds apart in the first three minutes of the period to spoil the shutout bid of Boston goalie Pete Peeters. Mike Krushelnyski scored in the first period and Rick Middleton had a goal in the second to give the Bruins their lead.

In other games, it was the New York Islanders 3, Detroit 3; Chicago 3, Washington 3; Edmonton 7, Winnipeg 2; and Los Angeles 6, Toronto 2.

UPI Names Kuenn Tops

NEW YORK (UPI) — Harvey Kuenn of the Milwaukee Brewers, who took over a struggling club in June and turned it into the first pennant winner in the team's history, today was named the American League's Manager of the Year for 1982 by the United Press International.

Steve Garvey — Truth, Loyalty And Trust

Milton Richman

UPI Sports Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — How about Steve Garvey as the next commissioner?

Or Billy Martin.

Why not? Both are free agents now, aren't they? They'd never want anything like the commissionership, though. Especially Garvey. He'd have to take too much of a cut.

Besides, now that he has filed for free agency and there's the chance he may not sign again with the Los Angeles Dodgers, he has a lot of other job opportunities. Much better ones than the commissionership.

The New York Mets wouldn't mind having him. Neither would the San Diego Padres or the Chicago Cubs.

What's going to happen to him?

Here's a prediction: Garvey will wind up signing with the Dodgers again.

No, that's not set in concrete, but from the way they've got the cement mixer rolling now, that's how I see it.

Notwithstanding the fact that after another attempt at satisfying Garvey late Wednesday night, Dodger president Peter O'Malley said he was not optimistic an agreement would be reached.

"We have had a number of meetings and major moves have been made," O'Malley said. "However, we don't seem to be close to signing Steve." Although neither he nor the Dodgers like to mention the word, the problem now is money. Compounding that problem a bit is the fact Garvey will be 34 in another month and the Dodgers have a Great White Hope coming up behind him at first base in Greg Brock, who's 25.

Brock doesn't merely make contact with the ball, he makes powder out of it. He hit 44 home runs this year with Albuquerque for whom he also drove in 138 runs and batted .310. He looks like the goods, but even if he doesn't turn out to be as good as they believe, they've still got 22-year-old Mike Marshall, who can play first base. Marshall also compiled some mighty impressive stats with Albuquerque and is ticketed to play right field for the Dodgers next season with Pedro Guerrero moving to third.

Getting back to Garvey and money, Kapstein, who is doing all the negotiating for him, is asking for a 5-year contract with a total payout of $7.5 million. The Dodgers are offering a 3-year package calling for $3.5 million.

To Garvey's credit, he has never asked to renegotiate the six-year contract he signed back in 1977, as so many other players ordinarily would have.

"I never thought of renegeing," he says. "I signed a contract in 1977, that contract was my word and my signature was my trust and loyalty."

Imagine how much more Garvey would've made had he signed for only three years instead of six, then signed a new three-year contract in 1980?

I don't know any player in baseball today who has contributed more day in and day out to a ball club, than Garvey. Not only on the field, but off it as well. He and Tom Lasorda are the best salesmen the Dodgers have had since Jackie Robinson, and in these times it's hard to fault him for asking what he is for being able to still handle a baseball the way he does.

Garvey places an enormous value on loyalty and trust. In that sense, he's a traditionalist, a throwback to some era long gone because few people today think like that anymore.

Some of his critics, possibly resentful of this values and the way he conducts himself, have characterized him as some kind of plastic goody-goody. But I've found him to be a splendid ballplayer and a thoroughly decent and pleasant human being. But admits he has told a lie now and then.

"When I was in junior high school in Tampa, I had a pair of football shoes and lent them to a friend who lost them," he recalled. "I felt bad because I knew my parents had spent their hard-earned money on them and I was sheepish about telling them I had loaned the shoes out."

"So when I found an older pair in a bin at school, I took them home and when my mother asked me if those were my shoes, I said they were. She looked at me without saying anything and I started feeling guilty. Later, when my mother asked me again if they were my shoes, I told her the whole story. She was angry, but told me she wouldn't have been had I told the truth. She said we were all a family and no family can survive on lies."

"Yes, I have told some lies since then," Garvey concluded. "But only to protect someone. Essentially, I have lived my life on the truth, loyalty and trust."

FIRST UNITED METHODIST BAZAAR FRIDAY

Derry Meeks, left, and Jean Musgrove, sort items for Sanford's First United Methodist Church Annual Bazaar and Luncheon Friday. A variety of merchandise will be featured in Gift Boutique, Trash and Treasures and Country Store at the bazaar, from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., in McKinley Hall. A salad bar luncheon will be held in Fellowship Hall from Noon to 1:30 p.m.

BSP Chapter Caught Up In Activities

Ruth Gaines was the hostess at her Oak Avenue home for the October meeting of the Xi Theta Epsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

President Faye Lord conducted the business meeting and introduced guests Margie Biene and Bonnie Jones. Mrs. Biene and Ms. Jones, chairmen of the annual Beta Sigma Phi Valentine Ball, presented an outline and information pertaining to the preparation and scheduling of the ball.

Feb. 12, 1983 is the designated ball date and members were reminded that tickets will be limited for the event.

Ways and Means chairman Vickie Hall gave a report on the forthcoming auction and asked members to bring items for the auction at the next meeting. The auction will be held Nov. 13 at the Chamber of Commerce, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Members also discussed plans to attend the All-Chapter Luncheon on Saturday at Maison Et Jardin.

"Lifestyle in the Modern World" was the title of the program presented by Mrs. Gaines. She explained, "The contributors to lifestyle are not static but constantly emerging dynamic forces. The film 'The Many Ways We Are' further demonstrated that our homes, clothes and character are but a few examples that portray what, who and why different lifestyles exist."

Following the program refreshments were served to: Linda Dunn, Laurel Rodgers, Al Kurtz, Donna Frank, Genny Hagen, Linda Morris, Mary Johnson, Ruth Gaines, Faye Lord, Tracey Wight, Lois Smith, Vickie Hall and guest Margie Biene.

Unshaven Woman Loses Job, Love Life

DEAR ABBY: I am a 26-year-old woman who has just undergone an unbelievable experience. I'm a part-time secretary and fashion model. It all started when a male co-worker at the office announced that he was going to grow a beard because shaving irritated his skin. Well, shaving my legs and underarms has always irritated my skin, too, so I decided if a man could stop shaving and be accepted, so could I. After I stopped shaving, my agent informed me that unless I shave my legs and arm pits I was unemployable as a fashion model. My love life also changed dramatically. The men I had dated stopped asking me out. I suppose I could have started shaving again, but I didn't because there was an important principle involved, so I threw away my razor. I have learned two things from this experience: (1) Femininity is not achieved with a razor and cosmetics; it comes from within. (2) A man in our society may choose not to shave and suffer no repercussions. A female does not have that option.

LETTING IT GROW
DEAR LETTING: A woman who wants to be a fashion model (in the United States) knows that shaving her legs and armpits goes with the territory, so when you stopped shaving you should have anticipated the consequences.

However, a woman whose love life suffers because she throws away her razor has endured a hair-raising experience. Your relationships must have been very superficial.

SOME women shave to please themselves because in our culture we're conditioned to regard body hair on women as unsightly and therefore undesirable.

But there are men out there who prefer women to be entirely natural, hairy legs and armpits included. Hang in there, and keep looking!

If Package Deal signed up his daughter for baseball or softball, or volunteered his services as coach, manager or concession worker, I'll bet that before he could say "Jackie Robinson," he'd be fighting off the women with a baseball bat.

HAVING FUN IN ROCKLEDGE, FLA.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "NOTHING TO LIVE FOR" IN COLUMBUS: No one ever collapsed under the burdens of a single day. It is when the burdens of tomorrow are added to it that it becomes unbearable. Live one day at a time.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell "Package Deal," the decent man with an 8-year-old daughter, that if he's looking for a nice woman to marry, he should go to the ballpark. That's where all the single parents (and some of the married ones) find the action in this town.

If you hate to write letters because you don't know what to say, send for Abby's complete booklet on letter-writing. Send $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents), self-addressed envelope to Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 32923, Hollywood, Calif. 90033.

Changes May Be Made Next Year

Herndon Retains Ambulance Contract

By MICHAEL REHA
Herald Staff Writer

A $205,000 subsidy for emergency medical services in Seminole County through September, 1983 has been awarded to Herndon Ambulance Services Inc. of Orlando by Seminole County commissioners.

Commissioners also approved rates of $70 for emergency ambulance trips and $50 for non-emergency trips. Those rates are $10 more than the current rates and are in line with those charged in Orange County's rates.

And both Herndon and county officials Tuesday agreed to make changes in the county's ordinances to streamline the franchise system and increase competition.

Herndon Vice President Bob Chewning said he would provide figures on how much money the company earns and spends on emergency services.

County officials and Aero Products of Longwood had complained that Herndon's failure to supply those figures made it difficult for the county to evaluate how large a subsidy should be granted and made it impossible for other firms to compile data necessary to submit a competitive bid.

Chewning complained that a one-year contract makes it impossible for a firm to make long-term policy decisions, pointing out that his employees don't know for more than a year at a time whether they will have a job.

'It ought to be longer than one year. We've gone through a Chinese fire drill every year with this.'

—County Administrator Roger Neiswender

County Administrator Roger Neiswender agreed that a multi-year contract would be better for both the bidders and the county.

"It ought to be longer than one year," he said. "We've gone through a Chinese fire drill every year with this."

A multi-year contract, Neiswender said, would give the company continuity and would not force county officials to review proposals every year. Commissioners agreed and said they will consider such a plan when the Herndon contract expires Sept. 30, 1983.

Commissioners said they also want to advance the bidding time by several months, putting the period prior to the end of budget meetings in July.

This year, both Herndon and Aero submitted proposals after the county's 1982-83 budget was already decided.

An exclusive franchise also may be considered. County officials have said the current system, with anyone who meets county specifications eligible to operate an ambulance service, is counter-productive because it undercuts the county subsidy.

"I don't think a non-exclusive franchise in the ambulance business is feasible," Neiswender said. The decision to give Herndon the contract came after Aero Products Inc. withdrew its application and Herndon refused to accept an additional extension of its current contract.

The decision to give Herndon the contract came after Aero Products Inc. withdrew its application and Herndon refused to accept an additional three-month extension of its current contract.

Commissioners and Herndon had agreed to extend the 1981-82 contract through the end of 1982 while county staff officials studied the Herndon and Aero proposals. Another extension would have run through March.

Herndon submitted a proposal calling for three emergency units and a subsidy of $100,000. A fourth emergency unit, as requested by the county, will cost an additional $105,000 for start-up costs. The Aero proposal called for four units and a $267,000 subsidy.

Dow Hits All-Time High

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Dow Jones average climbed to an all-time high in a post-election rally that pushed Wall Street into a new era and set off shouts of "God bless America" and "Reaganomics works" on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

Traders were bracing for another possible historic trading session today.

Wall Street entered a new generation of high prices and heavy trading Wednesday as the Reagan administration came out of the congressional elections with mixed results that should produce a period of political compromise.

The Dow average of 30 bluechip industrial stocks climbed a record 43.41 points Wednesday to 1,065.49, an all-time high that might not last too long. The previous peak was 1,061.70 set on Jan. 11, 1973.

The single-day gain Wednesday, which erased the old mark of 38.81 points on Aug. 17 at the outset of this bull market, is expected to launch a frenzy of buying that could drive prices to heretofore unknown heights.

Wednesday's volume of 137.01 million shares, up from the 104.77 million traded Tuesday, was the fifth heaviest in history and not far from the record 147 million traded Oct. 7.

In the view of dozens of analysts, Wall Street is betting on a better economy several months down the road.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Turkish Gunmen Release Hostages From Consulate

COLOGNE, West Germany (UPI) — Nine Turkish gunmen who held dozens of hostages in the Turkish Consulate won a promise they could apply for political asylum and surrendered today, ending a day of tense negotiations.

The left-wing extremist gunmen stormed into the Consulate General building 16 hours earlier, firing handguns in a protest of the right-wing military junta in Turkey.

In all 72 people were taken hostage, 59 of them released in batches Wednesday during the day. Two of the final 13 had slight head wounds from glass splinters and another was suffering from shock.

Soviets Pay For More Kids

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet leadership boasted it can build up its military while still providing for the poor with a social program that includes "rubles-for-babies" incentives aimed at raising the birthrate.

Under the new Soviet plan, women giving birth to a first child will receive the equivalent of $87.50, according to the official but badly inflated exchange rate. Grants of $337.50 will be made to mothers for births beyond 10.

Soviet observers said the payments may be of some help to families but the problems facing the average Soviet household deal more with the scarcity of goods than a scarcity of rubles.

Clearly the Kremlin seeks not so much to improve the material conditions of families as to provide a labor pool for the coming decades, the observers said.

Chrysler On The Edge

TORONTO (UPI) — Chrysler Corp. Chairman Lee Iacocca warned Canadian workers a strike called for Friday could put the company "out of business," but his last-minute intervention failed to resolve the standoff.

Iacocca flew back to Detroit Wednesday after an unsuccessful try to avert a strike by Chrysler Canada's 10,000 union employees. No plans for talks today were announced.

The walkout also would idle 6,000 Chrysler workers in a Detroit foundry that supplies the firm's Windsor operation. But Iacocca said a prolonged shutdown could affect the jobs of 43,000 active U.S. Chrysler employees.

To Compete In 34 Events

Gamers Come From All Over

The Eighth Annual Golden Age Games, to be held Nov. 8-13 in Sanford, is expected to attract 4,000 entries from senior citizens 55 and over from all over the U.S., Canada and Puerto Rico.

They will be coming to demonstrate their prowess in 34 competitive events ranging from canoeing to canasta. Sponsored by General Foods' Post Cereals and the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, the week of events will be kicked off with a just for fun "Falling Arches Stampede." The parade will line up at Fifth Street and Park Avenue at 9:15 a.m. and will move north to City Hall at North Park Avenue and Seminole Boulevard where the opening ceremonies will take place.

The Orlando Naval Training Center Band will play for the ceremonies which will be graced by the presence of the reigning Miss Florida Deanna Pitman (former Miss Sanford) and Miss Sanford, Catherine Stewart.

The week-long program will include bowling, track and field, swimming, dancing, diving, tennis, golf, basketball, walking, cycling, sailing, and shuffleboard.

Some of the less strenuous activities will include billiards, checkers, bridge, dominoes, photography, cribbage, archery, knitting, croquet and horseshoes.

Then there is off beat competition such as the pancake race.

There is also a hobby show which will be open to the public at City Hall from Wednesday through Friday, a Jubilee Dinner-Dance Wednesday night at the Sanford Civic Center, Sanford Avenue and Seminole Boulevard, and a talent contest Thursday at 7 p.m. at the civic center.

"We're delighted to sponsor this unique gathering that is inspirational for men and women of any age," said Ken Defren, manager of corporate communications for General Foods. "Senior Citizens are exercising and enjoying it more than ever before. The Post Golden Age Games proves that age isn't an obstacle to fitness and dramatically underlines the fun of 'feeling good.'"

For entry forms and information about the Games, call 322-2212 or drop by the headquarters at the chamber building at First Street and Sanford Avenue.

Coffee and orange juice furnished by McDonald's will be available at the Games headquarters. A free breakfast will be served at 7 a.m. each day at the Civic Center during the games compliments of Post.

Free Recreational Equipment For Senior Centers Nationwide

For the 45 million Americans over the age of 55, collecting coupons from Post Cereals and Sanka Brand Decaffeinated Coffee could mean free bicycles, tennis rackets, golf sets or any one of 50 pieces of quality equipment for their community club, retirement village or elderly center.

Post and Sanka Brand are teaming up to make this offer nationwide through senior citizen organizations as part of a "Golden Age Fun 'n Fitness" campaign to foster healthy, active lifestyles among the older population. The Golden Age program is an extension of the already successful junior Post Fun 'n Fitness program which enables schools to receive free athletic equipment.

Beginning September 1982, proof-of-purchase from Post and Sanka Brand packages can be exchanged for recreation equipment specially selected to meet the needs of senior citizens. The offer ends June 30, 1983.

Equipment is earned through a points system. Proof-of-purchase seals vary in value from two to four points depending on the size of the product package. Each item of equipment has a designated point value, which allows participants to set seal collecting goals. For example, jump ropes, exercise mats and softball bats require from 300 to 400 points each, whereas exercise cycles, golf clubs and golf bags can be obtained for 1,500 to 2,000 points each.

Collecting seals can be fun and challenging to the imagination. Community groups might stage flea markets where goods are bought with seals; sporting tournaments for which seals are the entry fee; or a senior citizen organization might place collection barrels in strategic locations—supermarkets, shopping malls or on street corners.

Under the Fun 'n Fitness umbrella Post underwrites the Golden Age Games, a national sports gathering open to anyone 55 and older. Held in Sanford, from Nov. 8-13, the games feature 34 competitive events and attract more than 3,000 entries from the U.S., Canada and Puerto Rico.

Catalogs detailing the Golden Age Fun 'n Fitness program, with ideas for accumulating seals, will be mailed to 10,000 senior centers nationwide. Order forms and photos of the recreational equipment offered are also included.

If your local organization wants a catalog or if you wish additional information, call toll-free 800-435-7678.

GENERAL RULES AND INFORMATION

A person must be 55 years of age or older to participate. Persons will participate in one age category, except where age groupings are designated.

Each event shall carry an entry fee to be designated by executive committee annually. All entry fees must be paid at time of registration.

The Golden Age Games are open to all persons who meet the age requirements. To be eligible to enter any of the events you must fill out a registration form; standard release form and pay the set entry fee.

We encourage all participants to pre-register so that you will be guaranteed the activities of your choice.

We also urge you to pay close attention to deadlines, locations and check-in times for the activities.

Each event chairman will be directed to close all events as directed on application and printed schedule.

The Golden Age Games are governed by the rules and regulations set down in this book of rules and regulations. Modifications, variances and official interpretations shall be made only by the general chairman of the Golden Age Games or in his absence, the executive manager of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

All appeals for official interpretations shall first be made to the chairperson of the particular event, who, if they deem necessary shall bring the problem to the general chairman.

Sanford City Hall To Be Site Of Several Contests

The Sanford City Hall, at the corner of Park Avenue and Seminole Boulevard, will be the site this year of the Golden Age Games Hobby Show, Photography Contest and Knitting Spectacular. The events were formerly held at the Chamber of Commerce building.

Seminole County Extension Homemakers sponsors the hobby show and the knitting contest. The photography contest will be sponsored this year for the first time by the Evening Herald.

Exhibits in both events can be entered from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Tuesday at City Hall. Judging will be from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and the exhibits will be open to the public from 1-5 p.m. Wednesday, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Thursday, and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Friday. Entries must be picked up between 1 and 4 p.m. Friday.

Divisions in the hobby show will be arts, crafts, ceramics, horticulture, collections, needlework, home decorations and materials. Ribbons will be awarded in all categories within each division. A gold medal will be awarded for "Best of Show" in each category and a silver medal for runner-up in each category. The bronze medal will be awarded for the most blue ribbons in each category.

To be eligible, participants must be 55 years of age or older and amateurs in the category in which they exhibit. Judging the horticulture division will be Volusia County horticultural agent Linda Brachhold.

The arts division will be judged by Vicki Jones, Phyllis Whitehead and Nathetta Patterson, all of the Pine Castle Center For the Arts. Other divisions will be judged by Ella Kuykendall, Janie Boyles and Lila Mae Cox, all of the Volusia County Extension Homemakers.

The sponsors of the hobby show expect more than 350 entries.

The Knitting Spectacular will be held to the accompaniment of fiddle music from 3-5 p.m. Thursday and is open to both men and women. Participants may use their own knitting needles and size is optional. One new skein of yarn (with the exception of rug yarn) is acceptable. Contestants will be allowed at least 10 minutes warm up period prior to the 30-minute knitting competition. The judge will be Marian Stansberry of Winter Springs.

The contest will consist of the participants casting on 25 stitches and then proceeding to alternate rows of knitting and purling. The winner will be judged by the number of rows completed.

Participants in the hobby show may enter one or all categories by paying $1 for each category in which they may enter more than one object.

The photography contest is open to persons 55 or older who do not presently earn their livelihood as a photographer.

There will be black and white and color photography divisions with the following categories in each: portraits, action, wildlife, children with or without pets, still life and scapes. Participants may enter up to five photos in each category. Each picture must be properly framed.

Race Walking New Event At The Games This Year

The Fleet Reserve Association B. Duke Woody Branch 147 of Sanford will sponsor two new events in this year's Golden Age Games.

They will sponsor the two-mile race-walk and the six-mile leisure walk.

The races will be recorded, timed and judged by members of the FRA. The two-mile race-walk will be held at the Seminole High School stadium at 2 p.m. Nov. 9.

One of the least understood sports, race-walking is undergoing a startling revival in the United States and should prove to be a popular event, according to Bill Maliczowski, chairman of the event.

The six-mile leisure walk challenges the stamina of the walking enthusiast. The participants will walk a six-mile course along the streets of Sanford Nov. 12 starting at Seminole Blvd. and Sanford Ave. at 8:30 a.m..

An open event to all persons over 55 years of age, gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded to first, second and third-place men's and women's finalists. Entry forms and a schedule of events may be obtained from the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, First St. and Sanford Ave.

Entries in this year's Games will include Kay Thomson, a member of the Fleet Reserve Ladies Auxillary. She will be remembered for her many victories in the 1980 and 1981 Games. Also participating from FRA will be Vince Butler and Ralph Simas, golf finalists last year and Maliczowski, a tennis medalist in the 1980 and 1981 Games.

Giving Out Games Awards

The awards system may include the use of ribbons in some activities where categories, subject matter and activity lends itself to preliminary competition. However, quality medals will be awarded to the top three finalists in all events.

All awards shall be awarded to the winners immediately following each event in a prestigious manner.

For the sake of determining the decathlon winner points will be awarded each place, per event in the decathlon only.

First Place seven points;
Second Place five points;
Third Place two points.

No trophies or awards other than the official Golden Age Games medals will be awarded.

In case of tie score in the decathlon the contestants' performance will be compared starting with the first event scheduled chronologically in which both competed. The winner of the performance comparison will receive an additional 1/4 point as a tie breaker.

SWEAT AND SKILL

The Golden Age Games is a true test of athletic ability and skill for older Athletes. At right, leg strength and stamina are called for in the bicycle race. While nautical ability, left, is demanded by the sailing competition.

CONCENTRATION, FINESSE

But the Games are not all sweat socks and straining bodies. There are leisurely brands of competition as well. A peaceful game of shuffleboard, above, and the intent concentration of the cribbage game are also part of the fun.

Swimming has become one of the most popular events at the Golden Age Games.

Games Swimming At Sharidan Club

Golden Age Games swimming competition is now a spectator sport.

The atmosphere is perfect — rain or shine at the Sharidan Aquatic Club and Center in Longwood where the swimming and diving events are held under the sponsorship of the American Red Cross Central Florida Chapter.

The program will show you who is swimming and in what lane, heat and event. The big electronic scoreboard will tell you who won the race and tell you the time to the hundredth of a second. No more waiting until the officials and their watches figure it out.

There will be men and women swimmers from age 55-95 participating in all four strokes: freestyle, back, breast, butterfly plus the individual medley. They will swim the strokes in two and four-lap races.

Fred Tyler, gold medalist on the 1976 Olympics relay team with Mark Spitz, will be on hand to award the gold, silver and bronze medals to the Golden Age swimmers.

The swim club spectator area will accommodate more than 1,000 persons with a complete snack bar for comfort and convenience.

Deadline for swimming entries will be Nov. 10 at 5 p.m. at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce. The swim events begin at 9 a.m. Thursday, Nov. 11.

New this year is the one-and three-meter competitive diving to be held Tuesday, Nov. 9, beginning at 10 a.m. Deadline for entries will be Monday, Nov. 8, at 5 p.m.

Dorothy Langkop Plays To Win

Dorothy Franey Langkop of Dallas is as enthusiastic about athletic competition today as she was 50 years ago when she won the gold medal for the 500-meter ice skating race in the 1932 Olympics.

Since the '30s, she has been a perennial supporter of U.S. Olympic teams, but the role of spectator is not enough for Dorothy. At age 66, she is still an avid golfer and frequently plays mixed-doubles tournament tennis with Roger Staubach, ex-Dallas Cowboy star, as her partner.

Because of the strong ties to sports, she "is the ideal person to chair the steering committee for the first annual Texas Senior Games," according to Ed Palm, chairman of the Texas Board on Aging. The Texas Games will be held in Arlington, June 24-26.

Dorothy wanted to see how other states were organizing sports contests for senior citizens before starting plans for Texas, so last year she and her husband, Eugene Langkop, signed up to participate in the Golden Age Games, held annually in Sanford. Together and separately, the Langkops won several gold medals in both golf and tennis competition.

A native of St. Paul, Minn., Dorothy came to Dallas in 1943 for six-weeks' visit with her sister.

"I fell in love with Dallas and with Texas and decided to stay," she recalls.

Prior to that time—as a result of the fame she had gained as an Olympic star—she had been traveling throughout the U.S. as the featured skater in ice shows.

To facilitate a permanent move to Dallas, Dorothy retired as a professional performer and organized an ice show of her own serving as producer, director and choreographer. From 1943 to 1957, her show provided continuous entertainment at the Adolphus Hotel Century Room.

In 1945, she married Eugene, who retired last year as a vice president of the Johansen Shoe Corporation.

"He's not really retired," Dorothy says, "because he's as busy as he ever was with our family business, the Langkop Realty and Investment Company."

Their two sons, Gene Franey, 33, and Jimmy, 30, are associated with their father in the realty company.

Like Babe Didrikson Zaharias, Dorothy seems to have been born with a natural and highly versatile talent for sports.

"Ice skating is almost a way of life for children who grow up in Minnesota. At least it was for me," she says.

"We had a rink in our back yard; and as soon as I could

GRAND MARSHALS

Sam and Helen Kaminsky of Sanford, will be grand marshals of the Golden Age Games Falling Arches Stampede parade which will begin at 8:30 a.m. moving from Fifth Street north on Park Avenue to Sanford City Hall for the opening ceremonies. The Kaminskys have served on the Golden Age Games Executive Committee for eight years. They have been active in the Over 50 Club which sponsors weekly senior citizen dances with a live band as well as the Golden Age Games Dance Contest and Jubilee Dinner-Dance.

JACK AND EDITH HARRISON

Harrisons Light The Fire

Former official host and hostess of the Golden Age Games Jack and Edith Harrison, who moved from Sanford to Baltimore, Md. last year, will light the Olympic flame to officially open the 1982 Games at the opening ceremonies at Sanford City Hall, Monday at 9:15 a.m.

The 1981 Games were dedicated to the couple. The Harrisons had worked on the Golden Age Games Executive Committee for seven years before leaving.

Edith, 80, was overall women's Golden Age champion in 1976 and in 1977 carried the torch to light the official flame. She and Jack, 84, have traveled all over the country promoting the Sanford Golden Age Games wherever they went.

Welcome To The Games

The annual Golden Age Games general chairman wishes to extend a cordial welcome to all participants during the week of November 8-13.

During this week we will renew old friendships of those who have returned to Sanford to compete again and at the same time we will welcome the new participants for the first time.

We look, with enthusiasm, to being able to present a program of great importance for the seniors.

The addition of new activities this year will offer 33 different events in which the hopefuls can compete.

The city of Sanford, Sanford Chamber of Commerce and all organizations in the community have joined in unison to present the 1982 Golden Age Games as the biggest and best of all previous games.

We are extremely jubilant that Dorothy Langkop of Dallas, Texas, a two time Gold Medalist in the Olympics, will be our Honorary Chairperson this year.

Best of luck to all participants.

...Former Olympian Still Competing

walk, I was out there learning to skate by pushing a chair around for balance.

"St. Paul has marvelous parks and playgrounds. As a child, I was always at one them, either skating or giving the best I had at some other sport—basketball, tumbling, track or softball, you name it."

She began to enter speed skating competitive events when she was quite young, under the tutelage of a city parks instructor, Ralph Kressler, whom she says was an "excellent coach."

To qualify for the 1932 Olympics at age 16, she had to win skating races at the following competitive levels: city, state, northwest, midwest, mid-Atlantic, national, north American and world play-offs. The 1932 Winter Games were held at Lake Placid, N.Y.

In 1957, Dorothy's participation in sports almost came to an abrupt end. Her left foot was critically mangled in a dove-hunting accident at Celina, Texas, when a hunting companion accidentally discharged the 16-gauge shotgun she was loading.

Dorothy was rushed to Baylor Hospital in Dallas. For five days, doctors feared they would have to amputate her foot, because of the gangrenous condition which developed.

"After I survived the crisis, they told me my foot would have to be rebuilt and that I'd be lucky to walk normally again," she recalls. "No more skating, golf or tennis, they said."

"But I never believed that. I just wouldn't accept that." She underwent several major operations. After the first one, she says, she would go out in her back and force herself to walk 10 yards.

"Then I'd sit down and cry with the pain. The doctors thought I was rushing things, but I couldn't keep from trying. A year and a half later, I showed them I was right by winning a city golf tournament."

DOROTHY F. LANGKOP
...still skating 50 years after Olympic gold

It was impossible to remove the scores of shotgun pellets from Dorothy's foot, so she is never really free from pain, as a result of that accident.

"But I'd rather be in pain on a golf course or a tennis court than home in a rocking chair feeling sorry for myself."

Dorothy Franey Langkop is one who knows more about the thrill of victory than she does about the agony or defeat.
