Best Therapy For Arthritis

Dr. Lamb

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB

DEAR DR. LAMB — Could you refer me to any information on the treatment of arthritis? Recently a relative in his late 50s developed pain in both hips which the doctors have diagnosed as arthritis. I am wondering if exercise is the best therapy or if rest, which is more comfortable, may be recommended.

I understand there is no cure, but hope the pain could be lessened. He uses a cane, so far with difficulty.

DEAR READER — Arthritis of the hip joints is a fairly common problem in men. This is usually osteoarthritis or wear and tear arthritis. Osteoarthritis affects the weight-bearing joints most frequently, hence the hips, knees and ankles.

The various forms of arthritis are discussed in a book I wrote with LaRue Stone called, "There's Help For Arthritis." You can get a copy by writing to me in care of this newspaper, at P.O. Box 1531, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019 and asking for the book. Send one dollar for the book plus 25 cents postage and handling. Or you can get a copy by writing to the paperback at your book store.

It is important to maintain the full range of motion of all joints regardless of the type of arthritis. That is part of the objective of continued exercise. However, in osteoarthritis there is a tendency to overdo it. Rest is equally important. Characteristically in osteoarthritis rest will relieve the pain. The use of a cane and crutches are efforts to decrease the work and help to relieve the arthritis.

A person with osteoarthritis causing pain should try to limit the amount of activity. A good program is to be up and about for only part of the day, then get the weight off the hips by lying down for a couple of hours. Remember the purpose of the exercise is only to maintain full range of motion and muscle strength. Otherwise the joint does better getting as much rest as possible. A combined rest and suitable exercise program is best.

You can get a lot of good out of some instructions from a good physical therapist or from a specialist in physical medicine.

DEAR DR. LAMB — (2) To Tell The Truth

'Hawkeye' Ballyhoos New Comedy Series

NEW YORK (AP) — On March 14, CBS starts showing "We'll Get By," a half-hour situation comedy series about a New Jersey family. But the show's creator won't be able to see its national premiere.

Fortunately for Alda, 13 "We'll Get By" shows already are in the can. All he has to do is publicize the series and hope it survives in its time slot against NBC's hit "Chico and the Man" series.

He also has to worry later about whether NBC will buy his proposed new series, the pilot of which he said he began writing just last December after "M-A-S-H" finished production for the season.

The new project, as yet untitled, is a situation comedy starring Jack Weston as a lawyer who just borders on shades never trying to earn a living as best he can," Alda said.

The 39-year-old actor, interviewed by phone from his New Jersey home he shares with his wife, three daughters and typewriter, said he's not writing additional scripts for his ambulance-chase just yet.

"No, all we're concentrating on right now is the pilot," he said. "If NBC is interested in seeing more material after that, then of course we can do it."

"But my order of business is really to get the pilot done and then concentrate on letting people around the country know about "We'll Get By."

"Does all this series-creating have to be done all at once? ABC rejected me but eventually gives up the acting game and become a fulltime screenwriter and producer."

"I don't think so," Alda said. "I love acting. Every time I perform I get a wave of feeling about how much fun it is. I don't think I'd ever not want to act."

Ford Pushes For Congress Tax Cut Action

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Declaring "the country has been the loser" because of congressional inaction, President Ford prodded the House and Senate today to act promptly on tax-cut legislation.

"We need a stimulant now and I hope Congress will realize the urgency of the need for action," Ford said at another in his series of out-of-Washington news conferences.

The President was in Florida to promote his energy and economic proposals. In responding to news conference questions, he made these major assertions:

—He is "willing to cooperate" with Congress in developing a compromise energy program but declared "I intend to keep the pressure on" because at present there is no viable alternative to his own proposed program.

—He said negotiations have been under way with unspecified nations on a "minimum oil floor" on oil. He didn't elaborate on the negotiations, but said he seeks a reasonable minimum price to stimulate domestic production of additional oil and natural gas.

—He declared the situation in Cambodia is "extremely critical" and said U.S. military aid is urgently needed to help the Lon Nol government survive.

—He declared his opposition to suggestions that the nation's oil industry be nationalized. "I don't think nationalization of any industry... is in our best interest nor do I think government monopoly in any industry is in our best interest," he said.

—He again predicted that the rise in unemployment would be in the third quarter of this third quarter of this year. "Most experts agree that we are bottoming out," Ford said. He said there is little he can do to ease the problem without congressional action.

The President, as he has repeatedly in his series of trips across the country, chided Congress for failing to enact a tax cut.

He said at its current pace, Congress might not complete work on a tax cut until June. "I think that is very ill-advised and extremely serious," he said of that possibility.

As for Indochina, Ford said "Cambodia will run out of ammunition in a relatively short period of time" unless the U.S. government quickly extends military aid.

He said that if the Cambodians are able to maintain their national integrity in the months ahead it will lead to the "possibility of negotiations that would end the war."

Ford also was asked about the possibility of pardons for the recently convicted Watergate cover-up defendants — all former advisers to resigned President Richard M. Nixon, whom Ford pardoned.

"...Since they are appealing their sentences... it would be inappropriate for me to make any comment one way or another," Ford replied. He added, however, that "if the defendants seek pardons, they should apply through the regular process."

Departing from a toughly worded text at a White House-sponsored economic conference here Tuesday, Ford said: "I believe in the final analysis Congress will do its part."

The President did not read a passage in which he said Congress was heading toward a course that "could lead America to disaster" by delaying action on energy legislation.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said the deletion was not significant, that the President simply departed from his text on an important basis and did not return to the text at the point he left off.

The President was to be host at a breakfast today for newspaper and broadcasting executives from the Southeastern region, then hold a news conference.

In the afternoon, Ford was to play in the pro-amateur division of the Inverrary Golf Classic with comedians Jackie Gleason and Bob Hope and pro golfer Lee Trevino.

The President entertained 15 mayors from seven states and Puerto Rico at a three-hour working dinner at his ocean front hotel Tuesday night.

Mayor Carlos Romero Barcelo of San Juan, president of the National League of Cities, told newsmen there was "a kind of a consensus" among the mayors present that while Ford's energy policy might have flaws, "it's still the best one we have."

At a White House-sponsored conference Tuesday on domestic and economic affairs, Ford praised Askew's request that he release more than $1 billion in highway funds impounded as an economic measure by then President Richard Nixon.

"I promised him that we would take a closer look at the situation, and as a result these funds were made available to all 50 states," Ford told 600 Floridians at the conference.

'Costly' Manhunt Flushes No Gunmen, Just Truants

By BOB LLOYD Herald Staff Writer

A five-hour manhunt at Sanford yesterday didn't turn up two robbery suspects but it did flush two teenage boys who were skipping school in a wooded area off Airport Boulevard.

Sheriff John Polk called off the cordon of officers surrounding an estimated nine-acre area at 2:30 p.m. after a search helicopter landed and a tracking dog flushed a scared 15-year-old boy from dense underbrush.

The search, centering on Lake Ada, south of Airport Boulevard and west of U.S. 17-92, utilized approximately 50 officers from law enforcement agencies throughout Seminole County plus an Orange County Sheriff's helicopter and a Winter Park Police K-9 unit.

Polk said the 15-year-old and his 16-year-old companion answered the description of two Lake Mary robbery suspects even to the color clothing the youths were wearing. But after the 15-year-old came out of the underbrush the woman clerk who was robbed by two men Monday night at the Shop 'N Go store, Country Club Road, Lake Mary, called the youth by name and told investigators he wasn't one of the robbers.

Polk said the manhunt that cost taxpayers about $1,000 in officers' salaries plus equipment did turn up the juveniles plus 12 others that officers suspect were skipping classes at nearby Seminole High School and may have been in the area for a "pop party" in the woods.

The episode began between 9:20 and 10 a.m. yesterday when Lake Mary Police patrolman J. I. Poole was transporting the robbery victim, who police declined to identify, to the sheriff's office. Poole said a car stopped ahead of the police car on Airport Boulevard and two men fitting the robbery suspects' descriptions ran into the woods as the car sped away.

Poole alerted sheriff's deputies and two men fitting the robbery suspects' descriptions ran into the woods as the car sped away.

In the Monday night robbery two bandits, who never showed a weapon, entered the convenience store and one man told the clerk to "get a bag and put all the money in it or I'll kill you."

Poole said the men then told the woman to get in a cooler and fled with $60 — half of it in change.

Tuesday when police units first started combing off the large area of woods, palmetto scrub and swamp — bounded by U.S. 17-92, Airport Boulevard, Old Lake Mary Road and Lake Mary Boulevard, they found a "pop party" in the woods.

The episode began between 9:20 and 10 a.m. yesterday when Lake Mary Police patrolman J. I. Poole was transporting the robbery victim, who police declined to identify, to the sheriff's office.

Robbery Search Ends in Arrests

Police and sheriff's detectives ended a 24-hour search for suspects in a Lake Mary convenience store robbery with four arrests last night and early today.

Three Sanford men were jailed on $10,000 bond each and a 17-year-old Sanford juvenile male was turned over to state Division of Youth Services authorities at the Sanford Juvenile Detention Center.

Being held in county jail were Rocky Ray Darnell, 21, of 101 Mayrose Drive; Marion Lee Corey Jr., 22, and Elvis Howard Webster, 27, both of 600 E. Second St.

The four suspects were charged with robbery and use of a firearm in commission of a felony in connection with the 11 p.m. Monday robbery of a Shop 'N Go store on Country Club Road in Lake Mary.

Sheriff John Polk said Sanford Police Capt. C.B. Fagan and sheriff's detectives Sgt. William Hogan and Jerry Capshaw intensified the hunt for suspects in the robbery after a five-hour search of woods and swamp around Lake Ada at Airport Boulevard and U.S. 17-92 Tuesday by 50 officers failed to turn up suspects in the case.

Investigators said Darnell, who listed his occupation as a fence company worker, was found in a closet during a search at a house in the vicinity of 29th St. and S. Sanford Ave., Sanford.

Corey, an unemployed painter, was arrested by detectives at Country Club Road and SR-46A, Loch Arbor and Webster, an unemployed heavy equipment operator, was arrested on Country Club Road just south of SR-46A near the Mayfair Golf and Country Club.

Investigators today were reportedly searching for a gun believed to have been used in the robbery.

Lake Mary Police said two white males took $60 in cash and change after putting the clerk at the convenience store in a walk-in cooler in the Monday night hold-up.

Casselberry Group Opposes Busing Action New County School Fight Issue Looms

By ED PRICKETT Herald Staff Writer

A Casselberry committee geared up today to fight the "Lake Orianta Plan" at tonight's school board meeting as being bused to Lake Orianta. Presently they walk to school in Casselberry. (Related Story Page 2A)

The spokesman said 123 children in Camelot will be bused. Casselberry citizens have been miffed since the board made its decision because they say they weren't allowed to present their views.

The spokesman also rapped School Supt. Bud Lauer for only bringing three plans before the board instead of the four required by the board at a meeting in Altamonte Springs.

Casselberry residents also say the "Lake Orianta Plan" has incorrect mileage cited in their proposal. "Overall, we feel the administration could find a better plan," the spokesman said.

Contained in the "Lake Orianta Plan" is the proposal to bus 211 blacks out of Rosenwald to Casselberry. It was adopted over Lauer's objections. He wanted the blacks bused to Lake Orianta, a new school presently under construction.

The board decision to close down Rosenwald was 6-1, with board member Dave Sims dissenting. But the decision to bus blacks to Casselberry was 3-2, with Mrs. Pat Telson and E.C. Harper Jr., dissenting.

Mrs. Telson, her husband said today, is in the hospital and won't be able to attend tonight's meeting.

Blacks say Casselberry residents don't want black children in their school, but Casselberry spokesman said today "color has nothing to do with it."

The U.S. Justice Department has promised to investigate the Rosenwald issue to determine if any civil rights violations have occurred in the decision to bus 211 blacks to Casselberry Elementary.

A spot check of Seminole schools where the percentage of black students is higher showed about the same number of students absent today as yesterday and Monday.

At Midway, Principal Leroy Hampton said 361 blacks were absent, and three showed up today for class. Twelve white students are enrolled at the school, which has a total enrollment of 374.

And at Rosenwald, placard-carrying picketers still marched outside the school, while only five black students showed up for classes out of a phaseout enrollment of 211 in kindergarten through fifth grade. Sanford Middle Principal Dan Pelham reported "about the same" number absent as yesterday. The same report was issued from Lakewood Middle School.

At Seminole High, the message was the same. Principal Don Reynolds said black absenteeism is close to 90 per cent.

At Crooms, Principal E. L. Blackshear reported the black boycott of classes there was about 90 per cent effective today.

Black spokesman James Gadsden and Herbert Felder say the countywide boycott was staged to show the school board the solidarity of black opposition to the Rosenwald phaseout.

The wit and warmth which first captured readers in "Only in America" shines through Columbus was Jewish but better land than the ones they had left behind.

Golden, was one used by immigrant Jews on New York's Lower East Side. To them, Columbus was the man who opened the way to a new and better land than the ones they had left behind.

Golden's description of the origin of the phrase along with his musings as to whether Columbus was Jewish are just a bit of the many amiable thoughts he put forward in this book.

Navy's Budget
 Critical Issue

Navy Secretary William Middendorf has warned Congress that the United States of America is at a "crossroads" that will determine whether our Navy wins or loses the battle to stay abreast of the growing naval strength of the Soviet Union.

We now have fewer ships in our active fleet than we had in 1940 — a year and a half before Pearl Harbor. From a postwar level of 976 vessels in 1968, the fleet has now shrunk to barely 500.

Mr. Middendorf and Adm. James L. Holloway III, the new chief of naval operations, were before the Senate Armed Services Committee to fire the opening gun on behalf of the $3.7 billion Navy budget proposed for 1975-76, with a special plea for $3.18 billion it includes for construction of 23 new ships. As expected they are drawing counterforce from members of Congress who want to trim back defense requests to free more money for domestic programs.

Sen. William Proxmire in particular accuses the Navy of playing a "numbers game" in comparing U.S. and Soviet naval power. The numbers could not be more wrong. If the testimony were based on numbers alone we would expect something like panic in Congress because, in numbers, our 500-ship Navy compares with a Soviet navy of well over 2,000 vessels.

Those numbers are part of the problem, but by no means the most important part. The bottom line is the comparison between the ability of the U.S. Navy to fulfill its mission around the world and the ability of the Soviet navy to keep it from doing so. That is where Mr. Middendorf sees us at the "crossroads."

It has been quite clear for several years that the Russians are building a navy much larger than they need for their own defense. Russia is a land power, largely self-sufficient in natural resources, with a block of contiguous allies in Eastern Europe.

The United States is an "island" nation in today's world, highly dependent on the sea for its survival and linked to 43 nations in mutual security treaties which are holding the free world together. The responsibility of the Navy is increasing with the closing of overseas bases and reduction of our military manpower depleted abroad.

Congress must make a crucial decision at this fork in the road. Either we are going to maintain a Navy that can safely project U.S. power wherever it may be needed in an international emergency, or we are going to give the Soviet Union the headway to challenge that power with a good chance of neutralizing it, if not defeating it.

In one sense, naval strategists must indeed play a numbers game. It involves, for instance, calculating the formidable power of one of our aircraft carriers in comparison with the advances made by Soviet technology in anti-ship missiles and the fast combat craft that can launch them. Or in comparing the eight separate weapons systems on board the newest Soviet cruiser against the four aboard our largest frigate, or in comparing our own antiballistic missile resources against what we know of the Soviet countermeasure capability. Those are complex calculations, and it is obvious that the Russians have been doing their math with the intention of coming out ahead.

Washington Follies

Laughter is vital when taxpayers think of Washington. Oh, the urge may be more toward tears, but derision can be the best prod to bring our big-brother bureaucracy to its senses.

Andy Rooney, an old hand at CBS News in New York, went to Washington a few months ago and began asking questions. His wit is dry and quick, and his sense of the ridiculous came bounding through the picture tube one Sunday night in an hour-long narrative of the ludicrous frustrations that big government put in his way.

There was the Navy admiral, confounded that Rooney had learned manuals were being rewritten to the ninth-grade level. And the awards luncheon for those who cut down on paperwork. Winners had to submit six copies of their entries.

We were reminded that 2.75 million people are paid $35 billion each year to work for our federal government, but that countless outsiders must be hired to help with the work. Go back to Washington, Mr. Rooney, and keep digging.

Around The Clock

In case you haven't ever personally met this year's recipient of the "Woman of the Year" award, Mrs. Winifred (Bill) Glebow, let me tell you — she's the "weakest."

This annual award is presented by the Sanford Kiwanis Club in memory of Mrs. Roberta (Gatchell) and Mrs. G. Said. "I feel this is the most coveted woman's award in Sanford."

I'm fortunate. For a number of years, Bill was the controller, and husband, Walter, was the publisher of The Herald. It gave me an opportunity of getting to know both of them rather well.

They're two of the biggest boosters of this area — and have donated their time and talents (not just lip service) — and are walking testimonials of the good people who are proud to call Sanford their home.

I'll not bore you with a comprehensive list of Mrs. Glebow's many civic and service club accomplishments. I would suppose her list of achievements simply made the task of the selection committee that much easier.

Add my personal congratulations to both these fine people — Walter and Bill Glebow — and may they continue to exert their charm and influence while helping to make this a more pleasant place for all of us to live.

Good deeds should not go unnoticed. . . . The members of the Sanford Kiwanis Club have been generous in helping local athletes, especially so when it comes to "travel time" for these youngsters to take part in the various tournaments. Currently, it's the All Star Intra-medicals. There are 10 youngsters — many of whom were admitted to their coach Lefty Renaud that they wouldn't have been able to come up with the $6 each (to cover housing and meals), had it not been for the generosity of the Kiwanians.

It's also significant to mention that the City of Sanford picked-up the major portion of expenses.

Congratulations to all . . . the donors and the participants.

The Consumer Product Safety Commission has asked for written public comment on a petition that would ban the sale of handgun ammunition as a hazardous substance.

The ban, if imposed, would prohibit the sale of handgun ammunition to all purchasers except police, the military, licensed security guards and licensed pistol clubs.

If you are one of the "rare breed" who does something (like write an occasional letter stating your position) and would want to join forces with those who oppose this stand, send a letter to Consumer Product Safety Commission, P.O. Box 8137, Washington, D.C. 20544.

Remember, keep the letter brief, polite and concise. And for good measure, mail a copy to your U.S. Representatives William Chappell and Richard Kelly and U.S. Senators Lawton Chiles and Richard Stone.

TOM TIEDE
 Scrupulous Sam Scores In Dabi Dabi

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following correspondence between the Dabi Dabi Ambassador to Washington and the Dabi Dabi vistor was intercepted by the CIA which traded it to the FBI for gun card rights to the New York Yankee front line, where it was leaked to your intrepid reporter.)

To His Excellency, the defiant Abu Said Said:
 My Most Excellent Excellency, Sultan of the Sun, Keeper of the Oil Rig Keys, Counter of the Coins, Foreman of the Persian Parade, Beloved Superintendent of our F-105 squadron, He Who Eats With Blessed Fingers, and holder of three Guinness Book of World Records for Fatherless Children, I put my $200 Parker Executive to parchment in bringing you great and glorious news for the 186 people of Dabi Dabi.

I have purchased 3,842,431 surplus American automobiles.

True, your worship, O son of silk, the deed has been done in your fertile name. I today have sealed in our embassy walls, along with a lock of your majesty's most perfect hair, an agreement with Messrs. Henry Ford, Thomas Murphy, Lynn Townsend and Roy Chapin to take occupancy of the vehicles immediately.

Delivered, my beloved, will make us the most mechanized people in the universe, not to mention free of pollution according to 1975 emission standards.

You perhaps are wondering why I have acted thus in your all wondrous behalf, knight of life. With the Prophet's permission I shall explain. Allah be praised, they made me a deal I could refuse. Included are four - on - the - floor, bucket seats - deluxe wheel covers, rack and pinion steering — and, as your preeminence whom so loves to ride in the mode will be pleased, factory air conditioning.

And this is not all, my erudite kindness, I have in addition received assurances from one Gerald R. Ford, Esq., whom your forgiveness will recall as a man of rank in this barbarous land, that the Dabi Dabi firm will hire a cadre of retired General Motors mechanics, to be commanded by a former Chrysler Chief of Pitt Crews, to train the 186 people of Dabi Dabi as to the defense of the rather large raw tires that will result in our road.

Cerard Ford, not to be confused with Henry Ford of the same name (you cannot tell one American from another, your permissiveness) has furthermore promised that each of our 186 people will receive a 155-hawtizer for this sacred purpose.

You are stumped, my Mesopotamian monarch. Yet even if you are, I have not finished. The gentleman named Scrupulous Sam, who says he has been on the same corner for 23 years, your sanguineness, has delivered to me a two-year or 12,000-mile guarantee on all parts and service, except for tires. This, O Boni Fidi, Wearer of Rings, will keep our people worry-free until well into 1977, which as Mohammed has written the 6th surah of your descent from the clouds and the 18th year since your providential hand guided the Exalted to gley, is a most fortunate event.

O treasured sanctification of the unwashed, I must tell you the purchase has been expensive. But here also I have been wise beyond my miserable grade.

DON OAKLEY
 Thatcher Gives New British Look

The Founding Fathers decided nearly 200 years ago that they wanted no part of the British form of government, in which all power belongs to Parliament. They opted instead for a system of legislative, executive and judicial checks and balances.

Ever since then, especially in times of governmental crisis like Watergate, Americans have wondered if they did the right thing.

The British system has never been more attractive than it is at present in the person of Margaret Thatcher, newly elevated to the leadership of her party, the Conservatives. As every news account pointed out, Mrs. Thatcher may well become Britain's first woman prime minister should the Conservatives defeat the Labour party in the next general election, which could be called at any time between now and the next five years.

This is because, of course, the British do not elect a prime minister separately, as we elect a President. They vote for members of Parliament and the party winning the majority of seats selects the prime minister.

Not only does the party out of power have a "shadow cabinet" of officials ready to take over but a shadow prime minister as well — the party's leader, who is also a member of Parliament.

Thus there is little of the uncertainty that attends our politics and our elections, none of the hopes of quadrennial nominating conventions and seldom the phenomenon of the "dark horse" who suddenly emerges when a party cannot agree on a standard bearer.

As used cases, the British voter always looks in advance who the next prime minister will be — or her — program will be. Little wonder that they can limit their election campaigns to a short six weeks.

As noted, Britons may have up to five years to get used to the idea of a woman prime minister. It can't help but start Americans thinking seriously about the same thing.

Madame President. Rather a nice ring to it, wouldn't you?

Letter To The Editor

The Equal Rights Amendment does not guarantee women better jobs, promotions or better working conditions. The Equal Employment Opportunity Act of 1972, the Civil Rights Act and other laws already guarantee women "equal pay for equal work" and need only to be enforced to ensure women equal opportunity with men.

The U.S. House Judiciary Committee, after hearings on ERA, stated in their report No. 92-103:

"The rigidity of interpretation advocated by many of the proponents of the original text of House Joint Resolution 208 (which is the present text of ERA) . . ."

The Wiggins-Modification, making drastic changes in ERA, was added before the Committee approved the bill but was removed in the House at the insistence of the radicals.

ERA should NOT be ratified because women would lose much and gain no benefits which are not already guaranteed by existing laws.

Yours truly,
 Joseph B. Foster

Letters to the editor are always welcome. They should be as brief as possible and comment on matters of general interest. The editors should deal with issues and avoid personalities.

The editor reserves the right to edit those letters for reasons of space, but will exercise great care that the thrust of the letter is not lost in the editing.

All letters must be signed with a mailing address and, when possible, a telephone number so the identity of the writer may be checked and established. However, the Evening Herald will respect the wishes of writers who do not want their names to appear in print.

We reserve, of course, the right to reject any letters this newspaper considers to be libelous or slanderous.

JACK ANDERSON
 Colleagues Censure EEOC Chief Powell

WASHINGTON — The peppery chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, John Powell, has been secretly censured by his fellow commissioners for his bawdy behavior.

The secret minutes of a February 11 session show he was censured by a 2-0 vote after he twice stalked out of the meeting. The censure motion accused him of leaving the room "to break a quorum," exceeding his authority and indulging in "intimidation of personnel."

Ironically, the commission was established 19 years ago to protect minorities from discrimination and intimidation by employers. Greyhound government veterans tell us that the censuring of a regulatory chairman is unprecedented in the federal establishment. But Powell, who still has almost four years of his term to serve, has been an unusual chairman. We have established from records of investigation that he went behind his own general counsel's back to negotiate an attempted settlement of a delicate case for a big manufacturer. He also tried to fire Julia Cooper, who won the 1971 Top Clerk Award as the most distinguished lawyer in government.

The censure episode, as revealed in the secret minutes, began long after the February 11 meeting convened. Suddenly, "Chairman Powell announced the meeting was adjourned," states the minutes, even as Commissioner Raymond Tellez was trying to introduce a motion.

Powell strode out of the room in a huff. His startled colleagues quickly assembled a quorum of three commissioners and reconvened the meeting. Then just as suddenly, according to the minutes, "Chairman Powell re-entered the room . . . vehemently declared the meeting adjourned and demanded the staff to vacate the room."

The staff obediently hustled out and Powell would be compelled to place them in combat units alongside of men. The same rigid interpretation could also require that work protective laws reasonably designed to protect the health and safety of women be invalidated; it could prohibit governmental financial assistance to such beneficial activities as summer camp programs in which boys are treated differently than girls; in some cases it could relieve the fathers of the primary responsibility for the support of even infant children, as well as the support of mothers of such children and cast doubt on the validity of the millions of support decrees presently in existence. There are only a few examples of the undesirable effects that could be produced by the enactment of the original text of House Joint Resolution 208 (which is the present text of ERA).

The Wiggins-Modification, making drastic changes in ERA, was added before the Committee approved the bill but was removed in the House at the insistence of the radicals.

ERA should NOT be ratified because women would lose much and gain no benefits which are not already guaranteed by existing laws.

Yours truly,
 Joseph B. Foster

WORLD IN BRIEF

Cartel Nations Push Debate On Dollar

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — The 13 nations of the oil cartel today continued their debate on proposals to counter the decline in the value of the dollar and the decline in demand for oil that is putting pressure on them to cut prices.

The meeting of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, originally scheduled to end today, is now expected to run into Thursday.

Because oil purchases are paid for in dollars, the weakening of the American currency as well as international inflation is eroding the purchasing power of OPEC's revenues. To check this, Algeria urged abandonment of the dollar and payment for oil in a stronger currency. Others had various proposals to tie oil prices to some combination of currencies, in effect increasing the price in dollars by whatever percentage the exchange rate of the dollar went down.

It's Called Tenderness

Even so, there is a whole lot of things that have defied the inflation - shortage squeeze. Because of improved technology, better production techniques, new materials, strong competition for the reluctant dollar or other factors, the prices of a number of products are actually less than they were a decade or two ago. They run the gamut from television sets to ballpoint pens to power tools to pocket calculators, according to a study by RCA economists.

For example, a 15-inch color TV set (RCA) retailed for $1,200 in 1954. Today, its improved, twin-tube counterpart retails for under $400.

In 1954, a 14-cubic-foot refrigerator (Westinghouse) cost $39. The same size frost-free model today sells for $259.

and it belongs in our way of doing things.

Hennigan Threatens Salary Suit

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — Ex-police chief Tom Hennigan is threatening to go to the labor relations board and the small claims division of county court if the city refuses to give him two weeks vacation pay, reported Council member June Lormann this week.

Councilman Don Schreiner said when Hennigan submitted his resignation last month he purposefully listed an effective date of Feb. 15, the anniversary of his hiring by the city, in order to receive vacation pay. Council accepted the resignation prior to the effective date.

In other business this week, council: — Delayed until March 10 the request of George Scott to close Lakeside Drive between Georgia and Seminole. Scott said he will be offering the city something of value in exchange for the closing, but refused to discuss what it is.

— Also delayed action on a request from Fire Chief Roy LaBossiere for a $253 battery-operated suction unit for the emergency rescue van.

— Reported that work is proceeding on laying drainage lines in the Land Avenue area. M and M Developers, who donated some $2,000 toward the project, requested by letter a status report.

— Received a report from Mayor James R. Lormann that the county commission has approved a 1974 city request for a "no parking" zone on the east side of SR 427 and Church Street.

Bach Workshop Set At Maitland Center

Are you angry? Frustrated? Anxious? Do you feel at times that you are not getting what you want out of life? Then check into the Bach Workshop scheduled at the Maitland Civic Center on March 6 from 7 to 10 p.m.

Sponsored by Seminole Junior College, the workshop features Dr. George Bach, noted author, lecturer, and founder of the Institute of Group Therapy in Los Angeles.

"Because of our inability to handle conflicts with people that are significant to us — husbands, wives, friends, children, bosses — we are not able to build the type of lives we would like to lead," comments Dr. Bach. "During the SJC Workshop, I hope to teach participants to use specific techniques for living more constructively with aggression, hostility, tension and conflict, thus increasing their skills in open, honest, neat communication."

Born in Latvia, Dr. Bach is a naturalized U.S. citizen holding M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in psychology. Founder and current director of the Institute of psychotherapy, family therapy, and marriage counseling. He is the author of "Intensive Group Therapy, The Intimate Enemy (with P. Wyden), Pairing (with P. Deutch), and Aggression Lab (with Yeha Bernhardt). A firm believer on the hands-on approach to learning, Dr. Bach requests that all workshop participants "dress comfortably." Tickets for the workshop may be purchased at Seminole Junior College or at the Maitland Civic Center on Thursday, March 6.

In addition to Thursday's workshop, Dr. Bach will conduct a two day workshop at Seminole Junior College on March 7 and March 8 for people directly involved in helping relationships — counselors, teachers, ministers, social workers, psychologists, personnel directors, etc. Featuring an in-depth exploration of aggression therapy, this workshop will be limited to 60 participants. Reservations may be made by contacting Jim Sawyer or Maggie Culp at SJC. Pre-registration is necessary for the two day workshop.

Longwood Records Reveal Love, 'Intrigue'

By DONNA ESTES

Herald Staff Writer

But little has been said of his wife, Mary Augusta Henck, a search of records leaves many questions unanswered, but give broad hints that the lady may have been involved in a love triangle between two brothers — J.B. Henck and E.W. Henck. Her first marriage to J.B. Henck, apparently split up some time after the 18th of May, 1880. And her new marriage to E.W. Henck occurred sometime prior to July 27, 1880. And while the records indicate her first husband, J.B.

Henck had a son — J.B. Henck Jr. — they do not reveal whether she had any children. If she did, they died before she did. Her will lists her only heir as her husband, E.W. Henck.

Documents filed after E.W. Henck's death on Oct. 26, 1930, note that he had one brother surviving, J.B. Henck, who was disinherited in the Henck will. On May 1, 1873, it is recorded that "Mary A. Henck of Orange County, Fla.," acquired 150.54 acres in Longwood for $125 an acre for a total price of $18,831.

from the Receiver's Office at Gainesville. The acquisition was confirmed by President Rutherford B. Hayes on Jan. 23, 1873 under the provisions of "the Act of Congress" providing for the sale of public lands.

On Dec. 8, 1879, a new warranty deed was executed by Mary A. Henck, now a resident of Philadelphia, who owned the property in her own right, to J. B. Henck Jr. of Boston, Mass. Attached to the warranty deed was a statement signed by J.B. Henck of Brookline, Mass. relinquishing all right to the property as husband of Mary A. Henck.

On July 27, 1880, J.B. Henck Jr., "unmarried," deeded the property back to Mary A. Henck, then "wife of E.W. Henck."

J.B. Henck Jr.'s name pops up in the records again on July 6, 1882 when in London, England he again deeded the property to Mary A. Henck, wife of E.W. Henck, to correct an error in legal description.

And again in 1885, a corrected deed was executed by J.B. Henck Jr. in Orange County, Florida.

Mrs. Henck's name disappears from the records until her will executed on April 26, 1910 in Plainfield, N.J., is filed March 22, 1927, following her death on Feb. 16, 1926 in Longwood.

Burial was in Longwood Cemetery. She left all her property in Seminole County and in New Jersey to her husband, Edward Warren Henck.

Ford Seeks More Fertilizer To Aid Farm Production

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration plans to ask Congress soon for emergency legislation aimed at boosting the production of nitrogen fertilizer needed by farmers, hopefully in time for 1975 crops required to rebuild the nation's soil.

Although details are still being drafted in the Agriculture Department, the plan will call for removal of federal price regulation on sales of natural gas used to make fertilizer. In that way, a plant could bid whatever price it wanted to obtain gas and not be subject to controls or price-fixing by the government. The Federal Power Commission — FPC — now controls prices of natural gas sold across state lines and sets priorities to allocate supplies among users. Less than three percent of the nation's natural gas output is used to make nitrogen fertilizer. But the gas is the main source for the manufacture of ammonia, which in turn is processed into nitrogen compounds used by farmers to boost yields of wheat, corn and other major crops.

Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., has prepared an amendment to an earlier bill he introduced which also would provide special derogation of natural gas for fertilizer purposes for one year. Aides said Dole's proposal also is expected to be introduced shortly.

Perhaps one-fourth of the nitrogen shortage will be due to cutbacks in natural gas available to fertilizer plants under the present priority system, according to the industry's Fertilizer Institute. At USDA, officials do not go along entirely with the industry's shortage predictions but admit the supply situation will be as tight — and perhaps more so — than it was last year. J. Dawson Abart, a staff economist at USDA, says nitrogen fertilizer shortages already have been severe in parts of the country.

What Causes Extra Beat Of Heart

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB — A year ago I started to have extra systoles quite often which worried me very much. My doctor put me in the hospital for tests: X rays, cardiograms and exercise tests. He called in a heart specialist who said my trouble was nervous tension.

My doctor passed away and upon receiving my records I read: "Mitral insufficiency, valvular disease, grade 2, systolic murmur, myocardial irritability with multiple extra systoles."

Now when I have an extra beat I am so afraid I will drop dead. Please explain the above. DEAR READER — Despite all those ominous sounding terms it is obvious that the heart specialist did think you had anything seriously wrong with your heart.

I might point out that the reaction you have had to reading your medical records exactly what some doctors are reluctant to tell some patients who have. Doctors are used to those big words and know how little they mean, but sometimes the patient overreacts to them.

Let's start from the beginning. You had, and apparently still have, extra systoles, sometimes called premature contractions, skipped beats, and a variety of other things. These often occur in otherwise healthy individuals. In the Air Force I saw many healthy young pilots with these who were totally unaware that they ever occurred. Even when they are not associated with heart disease they can be annoying in some people. In general the more concerned the person is, the more likely he or she is to notice these flip flops, and they can make the person very uncomfortable.

It is wise to be certain that the extra beats are not associated with disease. When they are not, then it is better to reassure the person and advise him to avoid coffee and cigarettes. If the irregularities continue and cause the patient to be too uncomfortable, then it is sometimes advisable to give medicines to control them. Many of these medicines are powerful and doctors prefer not to use them if the problem is not really all that important.

The term myocardial irritability of the heart merely refers to the occurrence of those extra beats that originate in the heart muscle (myocardium). The systolic murmur means a sound during heart contraction (systole) that shouldn't be there. These can occur without heart disease. The grade two means it is very faint which suggests it might not be important. Your family doctor probably called it mitral insufficiency because a minor leakage of the mitral valve is one cause of such a sound. If the leak in the valve is greater the murmur is usually louder. Grade two is about as faint a murmur as you can have and expect anyone except a well-trained heart specialist to hear it.

Apparently the heart specialist who saw you was unimpressed with the murmur and probably thought it was of little consequence. So I think you should have a checkup once a year to evaluate the status of the alleged murmur, but I don't think you have anything major to worry about, and you are not going to drop dead from those problems. Stay off the coffee and cigarettes and try to develop or maintain a regular exercise program.

Hennigan Threatens Salary Suit

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — Ex-police chief Tom Hennigan is threatening to go to the labor relations board and the small claims division of county court if the city refuses to give him two weeks vacation pay, reported Council member Jane Lormann this week.

Many stories have come down through the years about the 1973 and 1980's could talk what stories of romance and intrigue could they tell?

Many stories have come down through the years about Longwood's founder, E.W. Hennigan — of his intrigues with other principals of the Pullman Railroad and his spearheading or at least being involved in the construction of the railroad through Longwood and other parts of Seminole County.

But, little has been said of his wife, Mary Augusta Hennigan. A search of records leaves many questions unanswered, but give broad hints that the lady may have been involved in a love triangle between two brothers — J.B. Hennigan and E.W. Hennigan.

Her first marriage to J.B. Hennigan, apparently split up some time after the 18th of May, 1850. And her new marriage to E.W. Hennigan occurred sometime prior to July 27, 1880.

And while the records indicate her first husband, J.B. Hennigan had a son — J.B. Hennigan Jr. — they do not reveal whether she had any children. If she did, they died before she did. Her will lists her only heir as her husband, E.W. Hennigan.

Documents filed after E.W. Hennigan's death on Oct. 28, 1930, note that he had one brother surviving, J.B. Hennigan, who was disinherited in the Hennigan will.

On May 1, 1878, it is recorded that "Mary A. Hennigan of Orange County, Fla." acquired 19.54 acres in Longwood for $1.25 an acre for a total price of $19.43 from the Receivers office at Gainesville. The acquisition was confirmed by President Rutherford B. Hayes on Jan. 23, 1879 under the provisions of "the Act of Congress" providing for the sale of public lands.

On Dec. 8, 1879, a new warranty deed was executed by Mary A. Hennigan, now a resident of Philadelphia, who owned the property in her own right, to J.B. Hennigan Jr. of Boston, Mass.

Attached to the warranty deed was a statement signed by J.B. Hennigan of Brookline, Mass., relinquishing all right to the property as husband of Mary A. Hennigan, in Orange County, Florida.

On July 27, 1880, J.B. Hennigan Jr., "unmarried," deeded the property back to Mary A. Hennigan, then "wife of E.W. Hennigan."

J.B. Hennigan Jr.'s name pops up in the records again on July 6, 1882 when in London, England he again deeded the property in Seminole County and in New Jersey to her husband, Edward Warren Hennigan.

And again in 1885, a corrected deed was executed by J.B. Hennigan Jr., in Orange County, Florida.

Mrs. Hennigan's name disappears from the records until her will executed on April 26, 1910 in Plainfield, N.J., is filed March 22, 1927, following her death on Feb. 16, 1926 in Longwood Cemetery. She left all her property in Seminole County and in New Jersey to her husband, Edward Warren Hennigan.

Bach Workshop Set At Maitland Center

Are you angry? Frustrated? Anxious? Do you feel at times that you are not getting what you want out of life? Then check into the Bach Workshop scheduled at the Maitland Civic Center on March 6 from 7 to 10 p.m.

Sponsored by Seminole Junior College, the workshop features Dr. George Bach, noted author, lecturer, and founder of the Institute of Group Therapy, and Dr. Bernard R. Bach, Director of the Institute of Psychotherapy, family therapy, and marriage counseling. He is the author of "Intensive Group Therapy, The Intimate Enemy (with P. Wyden), Pairing (with R. Deutch) and Aggression Lab (with Y. Bernhardt). A firm believer in the hands-on approach to learning, Dr. Bach requests that all workshop participants "dress comfortably." Tickets for the workshop may be purchased at Seminole Junior College or at the Maitland Civic Center on Thursday, March 6.

In addition to Thursday's workshop, Dr. Bach will conduct a two-day workshop at Seminole Junior College on March 7 and March 8 for people directly involved in helping relationships — counselors, teachers, ministers, social workers, psychologists, personnel directors, etc. Featuring an in-depth exploration of aggression therapy, this workshop will be limited to 50 participants. Reservations may be made by contacting Jim Sawyer or Maggie Culp at SJC. Pre-registration is necessary for the two-day workshop.

Longwood Records Reveal Love, 'Intrigue', Ford Seeks More Fertilizer To Aid Farm Production

Dr. Lamb

What Causes Extra Beat Of Heart

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB — A year ago I started to have extra systoles quite often which worried me very much. My doctor put me in the hospital for tests: X-rays, cardiograms and exercise tests. He called in a heart specialist who said my trouble was nervous tension. My doctor passed away and upon receiving my records I read: Mitral insufficiency, valvular disease, grade two systolic murmur, myocardial irritability with multiple extra systoles.

Now when I have an extra beat I am so afraid I will drop dead. Please explain the above.

DEAR READER — Despite all these ominous sounding terms it is obvious that the heart specialist did not think you had anything seriously wrong with your heart.

I might point out that the reactions you have had to reading your medical records is exactly why many doctors are reluctant to tell some patients what they have. Doctors are used to those big words and know how little they mean, but sometimes the patient overreacts to them.

Let's start from the beginning. You had, and apparently still have, extra systoles, sometimes called premature contractions, skipped beats and a variety of other things. These often occur in otherwise healthy individuals. In the Air Force I saw many healthy young pilots with these who were totally unaware that they ever occurred. Even when they are not associated with heart disease they can be annoying in some people. In general the more concerned the person is, the more likely he or she is to notice these flip flops, and they can make the person very uncomfortable.

It is wise to be certain that the extra beats are not associated with disease. When they are not, then it is better to reassure the person and advise how to avoid coffee and cigarettes. If the irregularities continue and cause the patient to be too uncomfortable, then it is sometimes advisable to give medicines to control them. Many of these medicines are powerful and doctors prefer not to use them if the problem is not really all that important.

The term myocardial irritability of the heart merely refers to the occurrence of those extra beats that originate in the heart muscle (myocardium).

The systolic murmur means a sound during heart contraction (systole) that shouldn't be there. These can occur without heart disease. The grade two means it is very faint which suggests it might not be important. Your family doctor probably called it mitral insufficiency because a minor leakage of the mitral valve is one cause of such a sound. If the leak in the valve is greater the murmur is usually louder. Grade two is about as faint a murmur as you can have and expect anyone except a well-trained heart specialist to hear it.

Apparently the heart specialist who saw you was unimpressed with the murmur and probably thought it was of little consequence.

So I think you should have a checkup once a year to evaluate the status of the alleged murmur, but I don't think you have anything major to worry about, and you are not going to drop dead from these problems. Stay off the coffee and cigarettes and try to develop or maintain a regular exercise program.

(AP) — The Ford administration plans to ask Congress now for emergency legislation aimed at boosting the production of nitrogen fertilizer needed by farmers, hopefully in time for 1975 crops required to rebuild the nation's sorely pressed food supply.

Although details are still being drafted by the Agriculture Department, the plan will call for removal of federal price regulation on sales of natural gas used to make fertilizer. In that way, a plant could bid whatever price it wanted to obtain gas and not be subject to cutbacks or price-fixing by the government.

The Federal Power Commission—FPC—now controls prices of natural gas sold across state lines and sets priorities to allocate supplies among users. Less than three percent of the nation's natural gas output is used to make nitrogen fertilizer.

But the gas is the main source for the manufacture of ammonia, which in turn is processed into nitrogen compounds used by farmers to boost yields of wheat, corn and other major crops.

Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., has prepared an amendment to an earlier bill he introduced which also would provide special regulation of natural gas for fertilizer purposes for one year. Aides said Dole's proposal also is expected to be introduced shortly.

At USDA, officials do not go along entirely with the industry's shortage predictions but admit the supply situation will be as tight — and perhaps more so — than it was last year.

J. Dawson Abalt, a staff economist at USDA, says nitrogen fertilizer shortages already have been severe in parts of the country.

PERHAPS one-fourth of the nitrogen shortage will be due to cutbacks in natural gas available to fertilizer plants under the present priority system, according to the industry's Fertilizer Institute.

At USDA, officials do not go along entirely with the industry's shortage predictions but admit the supply situation will be as tight — and perhaps more so — than it was last year.

Man Charged In Dog Deaths

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—An Ocala man has been charged in the electrocution deaths of 24 sleek Greyhound racers at Derby Lanes dog track. Richard D. Kiper, who was arrested last week on charges of stealing two Greyhound dogs, was also formally charged Tuesday with 24 counts of destroying personal property valued in excess of $300 and one count of breaking and entering. Kiper was in custody at the Marion County Jail under $100,000 bond on earlier charges of taking two dogs and a transport trailer and of arson and shooting into an occupied dwelling. The bond was raised Tuesday an additional $70,000. The dogs, owned by Robert E. Thomas of St. Petersburg, vice president of the National Greyhound Association, were killed last month. Private investigator Richard Price said he believes the dog killings were the result of a grudge. He said the association had brought charges of cruelty to animals against Kiper in 1972 after he demonstrated to newspaper reporters how he used live rabbits to train greyhounds. Kiper was later fined $3,000 by the association for various practices, Price said. Also arrested was Arline Mestro, charged with arson. She had applied last week for a $10,000 reward offered by the American Greyhound Track Operators Association for information she claimed would help find the dog-killer. Mrs. Mestro was with Kiper when he was arrested last week, police said.

Trinity Prep, Lyman Triumph

Trinity Prep's boys and Lyman's boys were victorious in high school tennis matches Tuesday. The Seminole boys and girls, the Lake Brantley boys and the Lyman girls faltered. Trinity Prep dumped Lake Brantley 4-3, the Lyman boys defeated Oak Ridge 7-0, Oak Ridge downed the Lyman girls 6-1, the boys from Seabreeze trinity Prep downed Ben Turk 8-7 and Landberg of Prep beat Mike Yagerman 8-2. In doubles' matches, Lake Brantley's Constantine and Turk squeezed past Dinnen and Dickinson 8-6, and Woodson and Zellers of Lake Brantley defeated Brown and Butcher 8-2. In Lyman's shutout win over Oak Ridge, Russell Crispell won 8-3, John George prevailed 8-0, Jerry Fekete triumphed 8-0, Doug Spiering defeated his foe 8-4 and Kenneth Kiel won 8-0. Crispell and Fekete, and George and Spiering teamed for 8-3 and 8-2 doubles' wins respectively. In Seminole's setback to Seabreeze, the Tribe's doubles' team of Becky Roffe and Betsy Barley defeated the 11th ranked girls' doubles' team in Florida, Trisha Parker and Teresa McCutchen, 8-6.

The only other winner for Seminole was Sarah Mercer, who downed McCutchen 8-1.

Seabreeze's Carl Marks dumped Barley 8-6, Cindy Ritz of Seabreeze beat Meg Newman 8-4, Donna Silvernail topped Cindy Sutherland 8-3 and the team of Ritz and Marks topped Seminole's Newman and Sutherland 8-4. Alfonso Gonzalez of Seabreeze defeated Seminole's No. 1 boy player, David McCook, 8-8. Mark Emery topped Seminole's Dean Barley 8-1, James Matthews of Seabreeze downed Rick Moreland 8-5, Clifton Barnett dropped Eddie White of Seminole 8-0 and David Wilkes of Seabreeze stopped Jeff McKee 8-3. ### Seashore Park Meeting Slated Thursday Night

A meeting to discuss the new national seashore park south of New Smyrna has generated an unprecedented degree of interest, not only from Central Florida, but from all parts of the state. The meeting, scheduled at Seminole High School auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, will feature L. Boyd Finch, district director of Special Services for the National Park Service. His district includes the Southeastern states. Cliff Willis, director of the Division of Marine Resources, and Captain Hank Morgan of the Florida Marine Patrol also will be on hand to answer questions concerning rights of the public regarding fishing and hunting in the newly created national park. Delegations of officials from Brevard and Volusia counties will be present, as well as representatives from the Federal Fish and Wildlife Service and the state parks. Rumors have been circulated that a license fee will be required to fish or shrimp within the boundaries of the new park, with figures of $10 for sportsmen and $100 for commercial netters mentioned. The meeting, arranged by Delbert Euga, local member of the Department of Natural Resources, is designed to answer some of these questions. Such a large turnout is expected that questions will be written, and the panel of experts will make every effort to give answers to any possible.

Pierce, Hise Lead Brantley To Slim Prep Baseball Win

Ron Pierce fired a no-hitter and Tommy Hise slammed two home runs as Lake Brantley edged Cocoa Beach 3-1 in high school baseball action Monday. Lake Brantley trounced Bishop Kinney 11-6 and Ovidio faltered to Lakewood 6-2 Tuesday. Pierce was near flawless against Cocoa Beach. In the second inning, after a walk and a stolen base, Pierce threw a pick-off try at second base into center field and Cocoa Beach scored its only run. Hise cracked a round-tripper in the third and Henry Benson and Hise slugged back-to-back homers in the seventh. Keith DeBout and Hise were two-for-four for the Patriots. Branson came on in the fourth inning for Lake Brantley Tuesday to kill a Kinney rally and to record his second mound victory against no defeats. Rick Garza and Pierce slugged two hits for Lake Brantley's fourth in a win. The Patriots are 4-2. Ovidio collected only four hits against Lakewood. The Lions scored two runs in the first inning and could not find home plate the rest of the game. Lake Brantley 001 000 2-3 10 1 Cocoa Beach 010 000 0-1 0 1 Pierce and Laws; Delbert

Bob Hietrick, shown above, will join many of the country's best Class A speedway racers Friday night at the Orlando Sports Stadium in the final tuneup for the $10,000 Speed Weeks '75 Series set at the Volusia County Speedway March 4-8.

Orioles Send Powell To Indians; Reds Sign Trade-Bait Tony Perez

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles, trying for more than a year to trade Boog Powell, finally have found someone willing to gamble that the big first baseman will somehow regain his lost power. The Cleveland Indians, now managed by Frank Robinson—Powell's former slugging teammate with the Orioles—swung a deal Tuesday for the 29-year-old who has struggled at the plate for the past two seasons. Baltimore, which had no more room for Powell after obtaining first baseman Lee May from the Houston Astros, also sent 25-year-old pitcher Don Hood to the Indians. In exchange, the Orioles acquired veteran catcher Dave Duncan and minor league outfielder Alvin McGrew, who was immediately assigned to Baltimore's minor league affiliate at Rochester. "I like the deal," Robinson said. "Hood will be given a chance to start and I think he could also be available in the bullpen. The trade also gives us a set line-up. With Boog at first and John Ellis behind the plate, we've solidified two positions. The set line-up gives us stability and will minimize mental errors." If Powell can do a turnaround in new surroundings, playing in a home park more conducive to home run hitting than Baltimore's Memorial Stadium, the Indians could create quite a race in the American League's Eastern Division. Cleveland was the surprise team through much of the 1972 season before slumping to fourth place, 14 games behind the Orioles whose late rush carried them to a fifth division title in six years. At his best, Powell can virtually carry a team by himself as he did for long stretches in 1970 when he was named the league's Most Valuable Player. He batted .297 that year, with 35 home runs and 114 runs batted in. But Powell batted .255 in each of the past two seasons, and he was no longer the feared slugger. Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver eventually benched him for extended periods in 1971. The trade between the Orioles and Indians was one of two Tuesday. In a less glamorous deal, the Chicago White Sox traded pitcher Stan Perzanowski to the Texas Rangers for pitcher Steve Dunning. Dunning, the No. 1 draft pick for the Cleveland Indians in 1970, posted a 6-4 record for Cleveland in 1972 and was traded to the Rangers late in the 1972 season.

Perzanowski had a 13-8 mark last season with Iowa of the American Association, a tournament official predicted. The rest of the tournament will be conducted as usual. And when the actual competition begins Thursday, Nicklaus will be among the favorites for the $52,000 first prize. Miller, a three-time winner this season, is not competing. He's taking a break of at least two weeks. It may be as long as a month. But Nicklaus and Lee Trevino will be taking up the slack. Nicklaus will play three of the next five weeks. Trevino plans to skip only four more events until the fall. Some other standouts include Arnold Palmer, defending titleholder Leonard Thompson, former Gleason champion Tom Weiskopf, Australian Bruce Crampton, Hubert Green and U.S. Open king Hale Irwin, who has played extremely well in his last few starts. Among the young stars are Forrest Fezler, Tim Watson and Tom Kite, a runner-up last week. Portions of the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday will be telecast nationally by Hughes Television network.

Ford, Not Miller, Highlights Jackie Gleason Golf Classic

LAUDERHILL, Fla. (AP)—President Gerald Ford replaces Johnny Miller at the top attraction Wednesday as the golf tour begins a four-week swing through Florida. Miller isn't playing in the $200,000 Jackie Gleason Classic. He was scheduled to play with Jack Nicklaus, host Gleason, Bob Hope, and Elliot Kahn of Great Neck, N.Y. in the pro-am event that precedes the Thursday start of the 72-hole test on the 7,128 yard, par 72 Inverrary Country Club course. It's a first. No President has played a full round in connection with a PGA tour event. President Ford played nine holes with a variety of pro partners last fall in the World Open at Pinehurst, N.C. Former Vice President Spiro Agnew played in the Bob Hope Inset Classic several times. But no U.S. President ever has competed as a contestant in a PGA pro-am tournament. President Ford's appearance was in connection with a two-day trip to the area for a special conference on economic recovery and energy conservation. He was expected to lure a massive crowd. Some estimates have gone as high as 55,000.

Deltona LL: No Fields?

DELTONA—Although 155 youngsters have signed up to play Little League baseball in Deltona, LL President Carl H. Weide is worried there may be no place to play. Charlie McCarthy, vice president of the Deltona Corporation, has said that the association, and Gregory O'Connell, council coordinator, have appointed committees to look into the matter. The Deltona Civic Association and the Deltona Presidents' Council are working to solve the baseball field shortage. Bill Parke, president of the civic association, and Gregory O'Connell, council coordinator, have appointed committees to look into the matter.

Opening lead — 4 ♠

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Here is another hand we have borrowed from George Coffin. There is nothing difficult about the hand. South has a normal notrump opening bid and North a book raise to three. Give West the king of diamonds and South has an easy nine tricks, but we find his majesty is East's possession. The diamond finesse will lose and South will have to struggle to score his game. In fact, he won't be able to bring it in, if West opens a spade and the defense does not falter. However, he will have no trouble if West opens a heart. The old text books on play recommended the fourth best of your longest and strongest suit as the proper blind lead against notrump. The heart suit is West's strongest and a follower of one of those old textbooks would open a heart. George points out quite properly that the ace of hearts represents a sure entry to the West hand; the queen of spades does not. Hence, the best opening lead is the four of spades, not the four of hearts. This time it works. No writer ever sets up a hand to disprove his theory. Far more important is the fact that it will work far more often than it won't.

Agriculture Yearbook Is A Consumer's Must

By GAYNOR MADDOX
The Herald Services
You can use any food you like with other foods to provide yourself a desirable diet. That quote comes from the recently published 1974 Yearbook of Agriculture, entitled "The Shopper's Guide." It should encourage millions of overweight Americans who want to reduce but dread the thought of entirely giving up some beloved fattening food. This book, properly followed, makes a list of allowances for the special food a person craves compared against other foods which are excellent but not particularly his cup of tea. "The Shopper's Guide" ($5.70, U.S. Government book stores or by check to Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402) is written by a total of 180 specialists. It is divided into six parts and food gets the largest number of articles. It also discusses materials, equipment, gardening, services and recreation. "The Shopper's Guide" is the 75th volume to carry the title "Yearbook of Agriculture." The first was in 1891 and there have been only a few interruptions during wartime. The food section in this newest volume includes such practical subjects, for example, as combining foods for your own advantage, how much food you should buy, organic and inorganic and what they mean, your benefit from nutrition, cans and can labels for consumers and the cold facts about freezing.

All these subjects are treated with down-to-earth approaches. Another useful section of the book rests upon the observation that, "Everyone needs some fat." That, from this book, should be good news to those who thought it were some illegal form of poisoning. "Primarily the fats supply energy. But they also carry the fat-soluble vitamins A, D, E and K," it adds. The book goes on: "Fats also make up part of the structure of the cells, form a protective cushion around vital organs, spare protein foods for body building and aid repair by providing energy. They also supply the essential fatty acid called linoleic acid." You must have heard it many times before but this passage on fats from "The Shopper's Guide" deserves repetition: "The body does not manufacture linoleic acid so it must be provided by food. It is found particularly in oils from corn, cottonseed, safflower and wheat germ. These oils are called 'polyunsaturated.' In planning meals always include some polyunsaturated fats. These foods are usually made from one or more polyunsaturated fats: margarine, salad dressings, mayonnaise, and cooking oils. Poultry and fish also contain linoleic acid as well as other fats." A bit of practical warning from the book: Shop for groceries after all other errands. Take food home and refrigerate or freeze immediately.

A Something Different Salad

By AILEEN CLAIRE
The Herald Services
Salad making is an art, so much so that the fine French restaurants, for example, have a special chef who makes only salads. A refreshing combination of greens and fruits is a perfect way to titillate the appetite and add visual and taste variety to even the most ordinary menu. Those who are cutting calories will find a Scandinavian Spring Slaw or a Grape and Lima Bean Salad a one-dish treat. Others will want to pack such salads in insulated containers to take on picnics or in the lunch box. These cold salads also give ingredients such as lima beans a new lease on life and show the multiple uses of our abundant fruits and vegetables.

Spring salads using grapes, limes, pineapple and vegetables

- |                                     |   |   |
|-------------------------------------|---|---|
| 1 can (8 ounces) pineapple, drained | 1/2 cup sour cream  | and radishes. Combine sour cream and mayonnaise and stir into slaw, mixing well. Season to taste. Chill until serving time. Makes 8 to 10 servings. |
| 1 small head cabbage, grated        | 1/2 cup mayonnaise  |   |
| 1 large carrot, grated              | Sugar, salt and pepper  |   |
| 1/2 cup radishes, sliced            | In mixing bowl, gently toss together grapes, pineapple, cabbage, carrot |   |

SATURDAY SUPPER
Turkey Pie Balls
Salad and Relishes
Hot Fruit Compote
TURKEY PIE
You can use cooked turkey from the freezer this way—
Peanut oil
1/2 cup chopped onion
6 tablespoons flour
3 cups clear fat-free chicken broth
Salt, pepper and ground thyme to taste
3 cups cooked cubed turkey
1 1/2 cups sliced cooked carrots
1 cup sliced cooked potatoes
16-ounce package frozen peas, thawed
1 cup flour
3 tablespoons ice water
1 egg, slightly beaten
In a large saucepan heat 1/2 cup peanut oil; add onion and cook gently until tender; stir in flour. Remove from heat and gradually stir in broth, keeping smooth, then seasonings. Stirring constantly, bring to a boil. Stir in turkey, carrots, potatoes and peas. Turn into a 2-quart oblong baking dish. Combine flour and 1/4 teaspoon salt. With a fork, beat together 1/4 cup peanut oil and the ice water until well mixed; pour over flour and stir lightly until well mixed. Press dough into a smooth ball; flatten slightly. Roll out between 2 sheets of wax paper to fit top of baking dish. Place pastry, paper side up, on top of filling; peel off paper. Shape edge. Cut several slits in crust. Brush with egg. Bake in a preheated 425-degree oven until lightly browned — about 40 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

DINNER FOR TWO
Chicken Fricassee
Mashed potatoes Broccoli
Fresh Fruit Cheese
CHICKEN FRICASSEE
Chicken parts are used. 1 or 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tender-dryer chicken thighs and 2 drumsticks
Medium onion, peeled and cut into thin strips
Clove garlic, minced
2-ounce can tomato sauce
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1-1/2 teaspoon ground allspice
1/2 teaspoon brown gravy coloring and seasoning salt
Pinch of sugar
In a 10-inch skillet over medium heat, heat the butter; add chicken and brown. Add onion and garlic and cook, stirring a few times, for about 5 minutes. Mix together the remaining ingredients and add. Bring to a boil; cover tightly and simmer until chicken is tender — 20 to 30 minutes. Makes 2 servings.

A Little Beef Goes Long Way

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
The Herald Services
One of our most successful ways of using beef thriftily is to bake a small cut of brisket — along with onion, celery and carrot — the day before serving it. After the beef has been chilled, it may be sliced very thin, and that makes it go a long way without eaters feeling deprived. At least one of our tasters has already voiced any dissatisfaction with this mode of serving! Along with the meat, vegetables and gravy, we offer generous servings of buckwheat groats and these, too, help stretch the beef. If groats do not appeal to you, you can of course serve potatoes.

BAKED BRISKET
2 pounds (about) boneless lean fresh beef brisket in one piece (called thin, straight or first cut)
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon ground allspice
2 medium onions, peeled and cut into 1/4-inch thick strips
2 ribs celery, sliced 1/4-inch thick
1 large carrot, pared and sliced 1/4-inch thick
Rub brisket with a mixture of the salt, pepper and allspice. Place the onion, celery and carrot — in that order — in a casserole (with a tight fitting cover) into which the meat will just fit. Place the brisket, fat side up, over the vegetables and add the bay leaf; do not add water; cover tightly. Bake in a 300-degree oven until beef is tender 2 to 2 1/2 hours. Remove the beef and chill. Discard bay leaf. Strain broth. Chill broth and vegetables in separate containers. Before serving, cut away some of the fat from the top of the beef if you like; slice most very thin. Remove hardened fat from broth; the amount of broth will vary greatly, depending in large part on the type of casserole used; if you want more broth, add beef bouillon. Heat sliced meat, vegetables and broth in a large skillet.

A lean meaty cut will go a long way

Spanish Rice A Great Dish

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
The Herald Services
Years ago when I was food editor of a magazine, my assistant Roslyn Belly would invite me along with other friends to her family's house in Brooklyn for a special menu. Roslyn's parents, Dr. Jack Belly and his wife Bess, were wonderfully hospitable and their cook's fried chicken and Spanish rice dinners became famous among Roslyn's friends. I had never come on the combination before and never have since, but it has stayed in my memory as particularly delectable. This is how it came into being.
The Belly's cook, Jeanie Reid, came from North Carolina and no one needed to tell her how to make the best fried chicken in the world! But Spanish rice was new to her and when Roslyn gave her a rather mundane recipe for it to serve with roast veal, she made up her own and to the Belly's surprise and delight, offered it with her fried chicken. Her trick was to add pimiento stuffed green olives to the rice dish which gave it a real lift. I'm afraid I do not have Jeanie's recipe for the chicken — no one in the Belly family ever did find out how she conquered that particular culinary magic. But Roslyn carefully kept the recipe for the Spanish rice and passed it along to me. Recently we recreated it in my test kitchen and it came up to every expectation.

SPANISH RICE
1/4 cup olive oil
1 cup extra long-grain or converted-type rice
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
Medium clove garlic, crushed
16-ounce can whole tomatoes, undrained
1/2 cup water
1/2 teaspoon cayenne pepper
Powdered saffron to taste, if desired
Whole pimiento-stuffed green olives and parsley sprigs for garnish

In a 10-inch skillet heat the oil. Add rice, onion, green pepper and garlic; cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until rice is lightly browned — about 10 minutes. Add tomatoes; with a wooden spoon break them up. Stir in chopped olives, water, cayenne and, if used, the saffron. Heat to boiling; reduce heat to low; cover and cook until rice is tender and liquid has evaporated — about 25 minutes. Spoon into serving dish; garnish center with whole olives surrounded with parsley sprigs. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

CELERY DINNER
Roast Chicken with Pecan Stuffing
Potatoes GreenPeas Salad
Rolls Ice Cream Beverage
PECAN STUFFING
1/2 cup corn-oil margarine
1/2 cup chopped celery
1-3rd cup finely chopped onion
1 1/4 teaspoons crushed dried sage
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 1/2 cups toasted bread cubes
1/2 cup chopped toasted pecans
In a skillet, in the hot margarine, gently cook the celery and onion until wilted. Stir in sage, salt and pepper. Mix with bread and nuts. Use as stuffing for a 5-pound roasting chicken, roasting in a 375-degree oven for about 2 hours — 25 minutes per pound. Bake several times with drippings. Makes 5 servings.

SATURDAY REFRESHER
Cheese with Apple Wedges
Savory Almonds
Cookies Beverage
SAVORY ALMONDS
Store in a tightly closed jar until ready to serve.
1 1/2 cups whole blanched almonds
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1/4 teaspoon celery salt
1/4 teaspoon onion powder
1/2 teaspoon seasoned pepper
Turn almonds and butter into an 8-inch skillet and cook gently until golden, stirring often — about 5 minutes. In a bowl stir together the seasonings; lift nuts from skillet with a slotted spoon and drop into seasoning mixture; toss well. For crispier nuts, turn onto a small cookie sheet and bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for about 10 minutes. Cool.

AFTER-SCHOOL FARE
Red Apple Wedges
Jelly Doughnuts
JELLY DOUGHNUTS
They delight youngsters. 8-ounce can refrigerated buttermilk biscuits
Peanut oil
Jelly
Confectioners' sugar
Following package directions, remove biscuits from can; separate. Fry in deep hot (375 degrees on a frying thermometer) oil until brown, turning once. Drain on brown paper or paper toweling. When cool, cut a small hole in side of each "doughnut" and insert jelly. Dip in sugar. Makes 10.

Jewish Passover Feast Is 8-Day Celebration Period

By AILEEN CLAIRE
The Herald Staff

The feast of Passover starts the evening of March 26 this year. The eight-day celebration begins with the Seder or Passover Feast heralds the deliverance of the Jews from their long bondage in Egypt and their exodus to the promised land.

During the Seder, ritual foods are passed around the table and eaten at appropriate points in the reading of the Haggadah, or story of Passover. These include:

—Three matzo, or unleavened bread covered with a napkin to remind celebrants that Jews fleeing from Egypt were unable to bake bread in their haste.

—A piece of lamb shank one symbol of the ancient sacrificial lamb and known as the Pascal lamb.

—A roasted egg, reminder of fertility and creation.

—A dish of charoseth, a mixture of chopped apple, almonds, cinnamon and wine, representative of the mortar used by the Israelite slaves in Egypt.

—Salt water in a little dish into which the green tops of horseradish or other bitter herb are dipped as a reminder of the bitterness of the oppression suffered by the Israelites.

Wine is a part of the ritual and four cups are consumed at specific points in the service, each draught having its own symbolism.

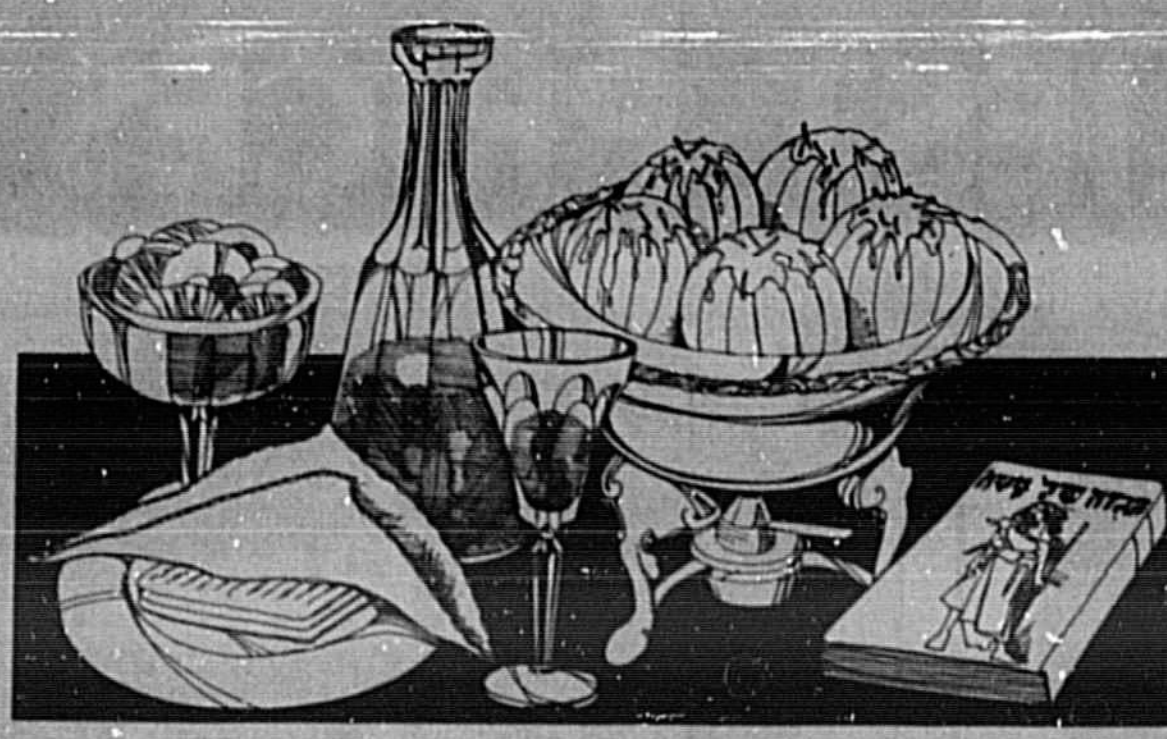

Presiding over the Seder table is the head of the family. Traditionally he sits at the head of the table in an armchair well supplied with pillows. This symbolizes he is a freeman and king in his own household.

Although some traditions fall by the wayside, the Seder remains an important holiday feast — one which Jewish homemakers throughout the world plan and cook for while following the special dietary laws observed during Passover. This is a time of true feasting and desserts, especially, are a dramatic and delightful closing to everyone's Seder.

FESTIVE POACHED ORANGES

6 oranges
3 tablespoons pareve margarine
1 cup currant jelly (or clear raspberry jelly)
1/4 cup orange juice
1 tablespoon potato starch
2 tablespoons cold water

Remove thin outer rind from three of the oranges with vegetable peeler and cut into very thin slices. Place the rind in small saucepan with water to cover. Bring to a boil, reduce heat and simmer 10 minutes. Drain, reserving rind. Cut remaining peel and white membrane from all 6 oranges. Place large crepe pan or skillet

ORANGE PASSOVER CAKE

1/2 cup potato starch
1/2 cup potato starch
2 teaspoons cinnamon
9 eggs, separated
1 1/2 cups sugar, divided
1/2 cup frozen Florida orange juice concentrate, thawed and undiluted
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1 cup shredded carrots (2 to 3 medium)
1/4 cup finely chopped walnuts
1/2 cup chopped raisins

Sift together cake meal, potato starch, salt and cinnamon. Set aside. In a large bowl, beat egg whites until foamy. Gradually beat in 1/2 cup sugar, continuing to beat until stiff peaks form. Set aside. In a large bowl beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Gradually beat in remaining 1 cup sugar. Add dry ingredients and undiluted orange juice concentrate alternately to beaten egg yolks, mixing only until well blended. Stir in grated orange rind, carrots, walnuts and raisins. Fold egg white mixture gently into egg yolks until batter is well blended, but do not overmix. Turn into ungreased 10-inch

Less Expensive Salads As Good As They Look

Cranberry sauce perks up salads made with leftovers

By AILEEN CLAIRE
The Herald Staff

Price-conscious cooks are beginning to squeeze every penny's worth of edibility from their food purchases. One way to do this and not court too many gripes about "leftovers again" from the family is to mix up less-expensive salads that are good to look at, good to taste and good for your health, especially the weight-conscious. Use leftover vegetables, meats, poultry, fish, fruits with some fresh greens, a different salad dressing and some unexpected new ingredients such as water chestnuts, cranberry sauces or relishes.

HAMBURRY SALAD

4 large navel oranges
2 cups sliced cooked ham
1-4 cup sliced scallions
1 can (5 ounces) water chestnuts, drained and sliced
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup condensed Chicken broth
1/2 cup jellied cranberry sauce
2 tablespoons salad oil
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1 clove garlic, minced
1 leek, lettuce cubes or other fresh lettuce

Slice off one-third from top of each orange. Cut a thin slice from bottom of each orange to allow them to stand straight. Scoop out pulp of oranges. Reserve orange shells. Dice scraped out orange segments. In a bowl mix diced oranges with ham, scallions, water chestnuts, celery. In a blender

Squash Is Good All Year Round

By AILEEN CLAIRE
The Herald Staff

Squash was another food item known to American Indians long before European settlers touched this continent's shores. Always a delight for summer eating, squash also goes well with wintery dishes.

Among the best of winter squashes is the butternut squash which is sweet and nutty. It usually is served boiled and mashed with butter and seasonings. For an easy, but special treat, whip up a Butternut Squash Souffle to accompany your favorite pork or chicken dish. This is a recipe that vegetarians will enjoy, too.

BUTTERNUT SQUASH SOUFFLE

2 cups cooked, mashed squash
1/2 cup dark corn syrup
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind

1 teaspoon salt
Dash nutmeg
Dash pepper
3 egg yolks, well beaten
3 egg whites, stiffly beaten
1/2 cup chopped nuts, optional

Mix together squash, corn syrup, grated lemon rind, salt, nutmeg, pepper and egg yolks. Stir in stiffly beaten egg whites. Spoon into ungreased 1- and one-half quart baking dish. Set into pan and fill pan with hot water almost to top of dish. Bake in 350 degree oven until knife inserted in center of casserole comes out clean, about 1- and one-fourth hours. Garnish with a circle of chopped nuts, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

(Note: Mixture may be baked in a 9-inch pastry shell. Bake in 400-degree oven 50 minutes until set and knife inserted in center comes out clean.)

Prepare All Foods Lovingly' The Herald Services

The French, past masters of food, cook their vegetables with love. We should learn from them to take the time and care to prepare vegetables so that in themselves they become an important part of every lunch as well as every dinner.

You, along with the French cooks, should learn to prepare foods lovingly with heart-saving ingredients rather than high-calorie, high-cholesterol additions. Start serving your family more vegetables cooked to perfection the poly-unsaturated way.

Like the French, we recommend using the less expensive seasonal produce.

BROCCOLI WITH HORSE RADISH SAUCE
1 pound fresh broccoli or 1 10-ounce package frozen broccoli spears
1½ tablespoons polyunsaturated oil
1½ tablespoons flour
¼ cup skim milk
2 teaspoons prepared white horseradish
¼ tablespoon lemon juice
Salt and pepper

Prepare broccoli according to package directions. Drain and set aside in a warm place. Shake flour, milk and oil together in a covered jar. Add salt and pepper. Cook over very low heat for two minutes, stirring until thickened. Stir in horseradish and lemon juice. Pour over the warm broccoli spears and serve. Makes a generous ½ cup sauce. Serves four.

Chicken takes on added dimensions with some kitchen sleight-of-hand. Take skinless, boneless chicken breast halves and pound until quite thin giving them the aura of more expensive veal. Browned quickly, the chicken breasts are then topped with a rich sauce of heavy cream and Danish Tybo cheese and broiled.

MOCK VEAL SOUBISE WITH CHEESE
8 skinless and boneless chicken breast halves
Salt and pepper

1 egg, well beaten
2 cups dry bread or cornflake crumbs
½ cup (1 thick) butter or margarine
2 large onions, minced
¼ cup chicken broth
1 cup (½ pint) heavy cream
1½ cups (1½ ounces) grated Danish Tybo cheese

Place chicken breasts between two sheets of wax paper and pound until they are ¼-inch thick. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Dip chicken pieces into egg and then coat with crumbs, pressing them firmly to make crumbs adhere. Heat half of the butter in a saucepan, add onions and saute for 5 minutes or until soft but not brown. Add chicken broth and simmer covered for 15 minutes or until onions are mushy. Pour cream and onions and their liquid into a blender and whirl until smooth, or beat with rotary beater. Season to taste with salt and pepper. In a skillet heat remaining butter and brown chicken on all sides. Place browned slices side by side in a shallow baking pan or broiler pan. Spoon over onion mixture and sprinkle with cheese. Place under broiler and broil about 10 minutes or until cheese is melted and lightly browned. Makes 6 servings.

Place carrots, celery, onion, tomatoes and their liquid, salt, pepper, sugar, bay leaf, garlic powder, thyme, and cayenne pepper in a heavy saucepan. Mix well. Stir in water. Bring to a boil, cover, and simmer over low heat for 20 minutes. Add green pepper and simmer an additional 10 minutes. Discard bay leaf before serving. Serves four.

PUREED CARROTS: 2 pounds carrots, scraped and cut into 1-inch pieces; 2 tablespoons lemon juice; 1 teaspoon parsley, minced.

Place carrots in salted boiling water to cover. Cover the pot and cook over moderate heat for 10 to 20 minutes, until tender. Time depends on the size and age of the carrots. (Larger, older carrots will take longer.) Drain. Mash well with a potato masher. Place in blender container. Add lemon juice and process for one minute or until the carrots are well pureed. Add parsley and serve. Serves four.

All Children Need Food Training From Their Parents

By SHIRLEY BRIGHT BOODY Registered Dietitian The Herald Services

Parents spend a lot of time, patience, care, love and money on their children.

Today's youth have a great many opportunities and parents encourage them to participate. Very often, however, there seems to be a neglect in the formation of good eating habits.

The child's clothing will be carefully selected, but his lunches will be left to chance. Summer camp will be thoughtfully chosen, but little attention will be given to what the child snacks on between meals.

Great care will be expended to teach children good table manners while neglecting to notice what foods these manners are being used upon.

I was following a lady in the market recently and, while she was putting cans of food in her cart, her daughter who looked to be about 12, kept skipping off and then returning to place items into the cart. While I watched she contributed two packages of cookies, a bag of potato chips and a jar of chocolate sauce to the family menu.

Being good to your kids does not mean allowing them to eat anything they want. They need to be trained to eat just as they need to be toilet trained. They have to be directed in proper eating habits as well as in social graces.

Good manners and good eating habits are formed by example. If father complains about having to eat certain fruits and vegetables, Junior is going to figure he can also be choosy.

If mother is nibbling all day, then sister is going to feel it perfectly proper to do likewise.

A child's eating habits will be no better than his parent's and for Dad to excuse his poor food selections by claiming immaturity due to seniority is hardly convincing to his offspring. If Dad runs off to work on a cup of coffee and a doughnut, then Mom is left with a sale's job, convincing his progeny that they need their juice and cereal and protein. Children are great mimics and will develop eating habits that they observe.

Setting an example of horrible eating habits in front of children invites the development of food hangups that may plague the child forever.

Many fathers feel that this development is strictly in the mother's domain, and they refuse any responsibility for their child's eating habits. This is not so, however. The child will watch and learn from either parent—or both.

Many mothers face the problem of an overweight husband and father who categorically denies any blame for his kid's overeating. And yet they see their father consistently overloading his plate, and they do the same, often going back for second or even third servings. Sometimes people will eat large quantities of food, hardly conscious of what they are doing.

A common way of serving meals in many homes is the "family style," where large platters and plates are piled high and passed from one to another.

This pattern of serving food acts as a perpetual temptation to the potential overeater. There it is, right in front of him and there is always a great inclination to take some more.

As an alternative, try serving everything from the kitchen. You'll not only save the extra dishes to wash, but you have an ideal way of controlling quantity. If your children are served normal quantities, they are much more apt to develop the habit of eating normal quantities.

It may be hard at first to change to "restaurant style," but if there are excessive eaters at your house, it will be well worth any effort.

Zoo Support Continues

The Central Florida Zoo has come a long way — but it still has a long way to go, and thanks to the continuing efforts of area clubs and organizations, as well as individuals, it looks as if the June opening will be on schedule. Recently, 85 members and guests of the DeBary Garden Club contributed a total of $130 during a silver bowl collection taken by club president Mrs. James Wallis...

Mom 'In Love' With Son-In-Law

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think I'm crazy, but I'm in love with my son-in-law, Lenny, is 22, and he's in love with me. I'm 37. It all started when I went to stay at my daughter's house while she was at the hospital having a baby. She has one child, a year old. I don't know what happened. Abby, but all at once Lenny hugged me, and before I knew it, I was in his arms and we were kissing like a couple of teen-agers. I've never been so thrilled in all my life. We went the limit, and now I don't think I can live without him. Lenny says he feels the same way about me. He says the difference in our ages doesn't mean a thing to him. Me either. In fact this 22-year-old kid is more of a man than my husband, who is 42.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN I would be willing to go anywhere in the world with Lenny, but I don't want to hurt my daughter. Also I have a husband and five other kids at home. Please give me some advice, but don't tell me to give up Lenny. I'm too far gone on him. SEEING STARS DEAR SEENING: You had better quit star-gazing and get back to earth. Your daughter and her children need Lenny. And you have a husband and five children who need you. It may have been a thrilling, new, physical experience, but it's not the kind of stuff which lasting marriages are made. Cool it, Mom.

FBI Enters County School Investigation

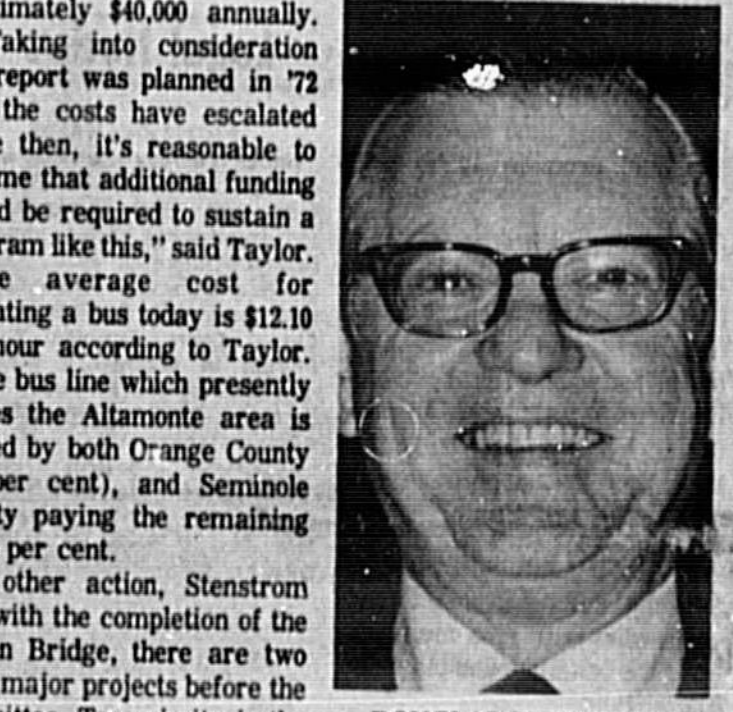

By ED PRICKETT Herald Staff Writer FBI agents will be in Seminole County "within the next day or so" to conduct a U.S. Justice Department investigation into civil rights implications of the closing down of Rosenwald Elementary, a spokesman confirmed today. A Tampa FBI agent said his office launched the probe after justice officials contacted him yesterday and informed Tampa agents the investigation is at the behest of the U.S. Attorney General. The agent declined to specify the number of FBI agents that will be utilized in Seminole County, but he did say the investigation will last "about two weeks" and agents will turn over all information to justice officials for their evaluation. The confirmed probe by the FBI is the latest in a series of events concerning Rosenwald since the school board voted two weeks ago to close down the Altamonte Springs facility and turn it into a center for handicapped children. The school board stood by their decision to close Rosenwald last night by rejecting a proposal by School Supt. Bud Layer "that all action by the board be rescinded pending an investigation by the U.S. Justice Department." Layer's proposal bit the dust when a motion by board member E. C. Harper Jr. to suspend the zoning line decision failed to receive a second. "Let's scratch it and start over again," Harper said. Twice he made that motion, and twice it failed to get a second. Then Casselberry resident, John Chambliss, rapped the board for not following the recommendation given them by their superintendent. Chambliss also appealed to the board to study further the "Lake Orienta Plan," which sparked a three-day countywide boycott by Seminole's blacks. According to unofficial estimates by school officials, (Continued On Page 3-A)

JOHN CHAMBLISS

Sanford Bus Service Slated Could Begin By May 1

By JOHN A. SPOLSKI Associate Editor The Roads and Bridges Committee of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce met this morning to review the progress of the soon-to-be built Osteen Bridge, located one mile south of Sanford on SR 415. According to Co-Chairman Douglas Stenstrom all is proceeding according to previously announced plans and the construction should begin during the period beginning July 15 through Aug. 1, 1975. It was to be the responsibility of Richard Taylor, assistant executive director of the Orange-Seminole-Osceola Transportation Authority to spring the surprise of the day when he told of plans to initiate bus service within Sanford. According to Taylor, the service could begin as soon as May 1 of this year. Taylor said the $48,000 funding for the proposed two-carrier bus line was appropriated by the Seminole County Commission. "This should not be confused with the present bus service being provided in the south end of the county," said Taylor. "It would be strictly inter-Sanford and not Sanford to Orlando, either. The proposal would offer six-day service and operate Monday through Saturday and basically serve the two 'traffic generators' — downtown Sanford and the Sanford Plaza. According to Taylor, this bus service is designed to serve the elderly; lower income families; and those who are presently without any transportation. The actual fare for riding the bus has not been established according to Taylor. However, in a survey report prepared in 1972 it was proposed to charge 20 cents. Additional economics on the matter reflect two buses operating 11 hours daily at a cost of $9.50 per hour, five days per week, would cost $54,550 to sustain the overall operation. And the costs have escalated since then, it's reasonable to assume that additional funding would be required to sustain a program like this," said Taylor. The average cost for operating a bus today is $12.10 per hour according to Taylor. Without this type of federal funding the chances of an overpass ever being built were remote. A related motion was also adopted seeking the Florida Department of Transportation to provide an engineering study and centerline study, covering this highway hazard, which would be paid for from secondary road funds. According to County Engineer Bill Bush even after the funds were approved for such a project it would require another five years before it could be constructed. Stone, U. S. Representatives William Chappell and Richard Kelly to secure the inclusion of the overpass project by name (Sanford-SR46) railroad overpass as an amendment to the 1973 Federal Highway Act, or the next act approved by Congress. It was agreed that without this type of federal funding the chances of an overpass ever being built were remote. A related motion was also adopted seeking the Florida Department of Transportation to provide an engineering study and centerline study, covering this highway hazard, which would be paid for from secondary road funds. According to County Engineer Bill Bush even after the funds were approved for such a project it would require another five years before it could be constructed. Preferring not to wait that long before getting the state to commit itself on a cooperative effort, the committee opted to submit this motion with the hope that both the federal and state governments would be working concurrently on the project. Members indicated that they would like to keep the proposed corridor for the beltline through Seminole free of development, but admitted that it would be hard to do without more specifics on the exact location of the proposed road. There were not enough of the seven Seminole Authority members present for a quorum, so the meeting was not deemed "official." But those present generally agreed that the Authority would probably lay back until further information about financing is revealed, and not meet on a monthly basis as planned. Beltline Funds Not Available

By BILL BELLEVILLE Herald Staff Writer A tri-county beltline that would cut through western Seminole County near Lake Mary would be financially unfeasible at this time, County Expressway Authority members learned last night. And, the news put the brakes on the activities of the newly organized Authority. State Department of Transportation (DOT) Roading Coordinator Sam Draper told Authority members that the gas tax funds, and other state revenues that would support the beltline, are just not up to expectations at this time. At a later time when the economy takes an upward swing, such revenue will then make the project a workable one. Draper's presentation was essentially the same one that he gave to the Orange County Expressway Authority last month. There were not enough of the seven Seminole Authority members present for a quorum, so the meeting was not deemed "official." But those present generally agreed that the Authority would probably lay back until further information about financing is revealed, and not meet on a monthly basis as planned. $9-Million Office Park Plans Told

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer LONGWOOD — Plans for a $9 million office park to be constructed on the 43-acre Joe Schrimsher property bounded Range Line Road and SR 434 were unveiled before the city zoning commission last night by development consultant David Farr. Action on the requested annexation of the tract and rezoning from its current agricultural designation in the county to I-1 business district in the city was delayed until proper notices are sent to all property owners within 500 feet of the parcel and a public hearing held by the zoning commission, in accordance with city law. In answer to a question from a zoning board member last night, Farr said no application had been filed with the county on the project. Farr told The Herald today he discovered after the last night's meeting, that a member of the Schrimsher family talked with County Planner Roger Neiswander and Zoning Director J. B. Williams about the proposal last year to develop the property into apartment and commercial uses.

Farr said the county officials indicated drainage problems existed with the site and since the tract was bounded by Longwood perhaps it should be annexed into the city. Farr said the suggestion was made primarily because they (the county officials) "did not want to mess with it." "But there was never a formal application made to the city," Farr said, adding annexation was discussed with then Mayor Eugene Jaques. When Farr applied to the city for annexation and rezoning to commercial and apartment use last fall, residents of Devonshire which bounds the Schrimsher tract protested. Farr said last night approximately half the property is flood prone including the one-third currently under water. He said plans are to develop 22 acres out of the 43 into 300,000 square feet of office space and 1,000 parking spaces within 18 months to two years when the economy's financing picture has improved. Access to the development will be via SR 434, Farr said, adding that Schrimsher will provide a traffic signal at the intersection of the entranceway with SR

434 if the state Department of Transportation (DOT) signs off on the plan. Farr explained, however, that DOT usually will not approve installation of a traffic signal until after property is developed and a need is demonstrated. He said the park will be composed of one and two-story buildings and a 50-foot buffer will be provided to separate residential properties to the north and west. Parking area will be built within the buffer, Farr said. The development consultant said drainage will be directed to a DOT drainage pipe to be constructed beneath SR 434, taking the water to the south Island Lake area and from there either back north through Winsor Manor or to a drainage ditch east to Fairy Lake. No fill will be placed below the 85 foot contour mark on the property, Farr said, but building sites will be filled in somewhat. He said the developer will provide both acceleration and deceleration lanes on SR 434. The dike will be removed from the underwater side of the property to permit better drainage from parcels of adjacent Devonshire subdivision, he said. Asked why Schrimsher wanted to annex and develop the property within the city, the former county planner said city services — police and fire protection — would be necessary for the urban-type development. He added when Schrimsher purchased the property two years ago, a city representative urged that he seek annexation. Farr said although the privately owned Sanlando Utilities Co. does not now have sewer system capacity to serve the property, it was expected capacity would be available in two years. Zoning Commissioner Robert Hammond said it will not be possible at this point to drain the property through South Island Lake to Fairy Lake. It was noted that drainage water dumped into South Island Lake now eventually ends up in Crane's Roost in Altamonte Springs. Mayor James R. Lormann urged the zoning commission to consider favorable plans for good industrial and commercial development and annexation when legal. He said he wants to see the historical district encouraged and those businesses in and near the historic district that plan renovations to use the historical motif.

Two Nabbed In Auto Theft

By BOB LLOYD Herald Staff Writer Two men have been arrested by sheriff's agents in connection with efforts to sell a stolen $8,000 sports car at Longwood for $1,300. Deputies today were reported hunting a third suspect after an all-night investigation. Sheriff's Lt. R. C. Parker charged Keith Allan Oliver, 20, of Nashville, Tenn., and Terry Ray Mingle, 23, of Agee, 408, Franklin Arms Apartments, Florida Ave., Sanford, with buying, receiving and concealing stolen property. The two men were being held in county jail today on $5,000 bond each. Detective Jerry Capshaw and Parker said they met two men last night in Longwood on SR 47, south of SR 434 after a 1974 Corvette, reported stolen last week in Nashville, was offered for sale for $1,300. Parker said Oliver and another suspect were arrested and the unidentified man, believed to be a Texas parolee, escaped and fled in a car with a third man. Parker said he fired two shotgun blasts — one in the air and the other in the direction of the fleeing car. Officers said a car answering the description was found early today parked at a motel at I-4 and SR 434, Longwood, after a massive search by law enforcement officers. County jail records indicate that Oliver was arrested at 10:45 p.m. at Longwood and Mingle at 8:49 a.m. at his Sanford residence. Officers said the stolen sports car was confiscated in Longwood where officers met with the suspects. Authorities said preliminary investigations show no indications that the incident is connected with any known auto theft ring.

Second Bar Slaying Suspect Given Life Prison Sentence

A second man has pleaded guilty to murdering an Appoka area tavern owner in a robbery slaying of 54-year-old Edward Adamkiewicz at his Adams' Inn, U.S. 441 near Appoka. Meinert pleaded guilty and was sentenced Monday. Jones, emotionally blaming the incident on alcoholism, told the court yesterday that he "didn't mean for a man to lose his life because I was drinking." He said he was in an "alcoholic haze" when Adamkiewicz was shot five times at the rear door of the tavern. Investigators found $11 in change in the victim's pockets when his body was found in a pool of blood, a pistol clutched in his hand. Meinert told the court Monday that he and Jones went to the tavern to rob Adamkiewicz and had already decided to kill him because he was drunk or trouble erupted would bring on a court case. Sheriff's Capt. L. J. Kriz testified that the murder gun was found along with the victim's wallet, under a seat in a car owned by Jones. He said tests on Jones' hands showed he had recently fired a gun. Deputies, summoned by neighbors after hearing gun shots and seeing a car fire the murder scene, arrested Jones and Meinert at a nearby trailer park in Orange County the night of the robbery-slaying. Adamkiewicz for years had quietly operated the tavern and when brawl or trouble erupted would summon deputies by calling and saying only "Please send a taxicab to Eddie's," officers said.
