Gloria Aims For Carolina Coast

WILMINGTON, N.C. (UPI) — Hurricane Gloria took aim at the Carolina coast today, sending thousands of people fleeing the storm's 130-mph winds.

The National Hurricane Center in Miami posted hurricane warnings from Cape Romain, S.C., to Cape Henry, Va., including Albemarle and Pamlico sounds.

Dr. Nell Frank, director of the National Hurricane Center, said the storm was expected to come ashore sometime before midnight.

At one point, Gloria's sustained winds topped 156 mph, making it one of the most powerful storms of the century, but by Wednesday night as it churned northwestward toward the coast, it had weakened to 130 mph.

"When a storm gets over cooler water, it starts losing some of its fuel," said hurricane forecaster Gil Clark. "It doesn't have as much energy."

But Clark said Gloria was a "major" hurricane and warned, "It's still a potent force to be reckoned with."

At 6 a.m. EDT, the center of Hurricane Gloria was located about 600 miles south of Cape Hatteras, N.C., near latitude 29.5 north, longitude 75.5 west.

Government and military officials from South Carolina to New York City reviewed emergency plans and made advance storm preparations. Coastal residents boarded their homes and stocked up on hurricane supplies.

The National Park Service closed campgrounds on the Outer Banks and tourists and residents jammed the highway off the vulnerable North Carolina barrier islands and packed the ferry from Ocracoke Island to the mainland.

Dare County Sheriff Bert Austin said most of the Outer Banks' 25,000 permanent residents had evacuated by Wednesday night but some refused to abandon their homes and businesses to Gloria.

"There ain't a soul here now but I ain't going to leave," said Dave Esham, owner of Ocracoke Island's Pony Island Hotel. "This won't be fun."

Nathan Spencer rode the ferry back to Ocracoke late Wednesday to be with his 61-year-old mother, Zenia, who he said has stayed on the island through every hurricane since 1933.

"I'd be a fool if I wasn't scared but it's home and I guess my mother wants to stick it out again. I'm going to stay with my mother," Spencer said.

The 65,000 Marines at Cherry Point and Camp Lejeune, N.C., were told to Wednesday to expect damaging winds within 48 hours. The Navy sent ships to sea or safer harbors from Charleston, S.C., to Norfolk, Va.

"It's safer for the ships to be at sea and to avoid the storm than to have them in the harbor and risk damage to the ships and to the piers," said Cmdr. Dugald Gillies of the Charleston Naval Station.

Lee Eskey, the emergency services coordinator for Virginia Beach, Va., urged the area's 328,000 residents "to be on their toes" and stock up with flashlights, portable radios, batteries, and canned goods.

In New York, Long Island Deputy Police Commissioner Hugo Mutz said auxiliary police were put on call, emergency fuel tanks were topped and plans were completed to evacuate residents of Fire Island if necessary.

Airport Gets $850,000 For Expansion

The Sanford Airport Authority has received a $702,000 grant from the Federal Aviation Authority and $148,000 from the State Department of Transportation to expand the airport's northside facilities. J.S. "Red" Cleveland, aviation director announced today.

The contract has already been let for the $850,000 project and work is scheduled to get underway in 60 days, he said, and is scheduled for completion in six months.

Jim Sheppard, FAA district manager from Orlando, and Dale Jernigan, deputy manager, will be at the airport Friday to present the FAA check and Dick Prime will represent the FDOT district office.

Located on a six-acre site, the project will include additional ramp space, ramp lights, taxiway and lights, an entranceway off of State Road 46 and fencing.

DOT's share will go toward the entrance road and fencing and part of the expense for the ramp and taxiway.

This will provide space for more cargo buildings and is expected to bring more industries to Sanford, Cleveland said.

Cleveland said the money for the project does not come from tax funds, but is from an Aviation Trust Fund generated from an 8-cent per dollar tax on all users of airports. Sanford Airport has to compete with other airports around the country for these funds, he added.

Babies Pulled From Rubble; Official Fears Toll 10,000

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — The earthquake death toll neared 5,000, but rescue teams continued to find survivors — including five babies — buried for nearly a week beneath tons of concrete and twisted steel from collapsed buildings.

Six Americans were among the 4,652 people the Mexican government listed as dead. U.S. Ambassador John Gavin said Wednesday 28 Americans were missing and feared dead. Gavin said he still believed the final death toll will reach 10,000.

Almost 9,000 people were injured and some 2,000 were still listed as missing today.

Rescue teams pulled at least 14 survivors from quake-shattered buildings Wednesday while other workers recovered the bodies of 56 more victims, police said.

Predicting Quakes, 5A

Rescue workers pulled three infants Wednesday from the mountain of broken concrete that was once the government's Juarez Hospital.

"Viva Mexico!" — long live Mexico! — shouted one volunteer as the eight-member Mexican rescue team pulled out the third infant, who survived more than 124 hours buried in the rubble.

The volunteer crew discovered a fourth baby alive Wednesday night after pulling out the three infants. Rescue worker Samuel Ramirez Miranda said he could not predict how long it would take to free the child from the debris.

Sanford Police Chief Steve Harriett, right, scans the wreck of a Sanford police car around 4 a.m. along with FHP trooper H.K. Weaver, left, and a Sanford officer. Upon impact, the police car spun around and hit a sign pole. A prisoner in the vehicle received minor injuries. The accident is still under investigation, according to Weaver. Driver of the second vehicle was not injured.

Sanford Police Car Destroyed In Wreck

A Sanford police car was destroyed early today in a two-car crash at U.S. Highway 17-92 and State Road 46. No one was seriously injured.

The police car, driven by patrolman Alvin B. McGill, was northbound on 17-92 crossing the intersection at State Road 46 (25th Street) when it was struck by a car westbound on SR 46, according to Florida Highway Patrol Investigator H.K. Weaver.

Weaver said a 1982 Dodge being driven by Sharon Carver, 23, Crystal Drive, Sanford, struck the police vehicle in the left rear, spinning it around to the right where it struck the pole of a Fina gas station sign at the southwest corner of the intersection and came to a stop facing south.

Officer McGill was uninjured but a prisoner he was going to transport to the Seminole County jail was taken to Central Florida Regional

Seminole To Add 21 Voting Precincts

Long voting lines have prompted Seminole County commissioners to okay plans for 21 new voting precincts.

Supervisor of Elections Sandy Goard said present precincts will be split in an effort to attain a maximum of 1,700 registered voters per precinct. However, there will still be about 16 precincts that exceed that ideal. The additional 21 precincts would bring the county's total up to 93.

Although new precincts would not go into effect until at least 1986, Ms. Goard suggested the county commission begin changing the precincts now because of the amount of work involved and a state statute that prohibits any changes between Jan. 1, 1987 and the 1990 census.

When new precincts are finalized the county plans to mail out new voter identification cards that will include the new precinct number.

'People don't want to wait in line an hour to vote.'

There are 96,058 registered voters in Seminole County, an increase of 30.5 percent over the 1981 figure of 73,609. A 23,226 increase is projected for 1990 bringing the total number of voters up to 119,284 by that date. A projection for 1995 shows 136,606 voters in the county.

"If we're going to have more precincts, we're going to have to do it by the next (countywide) election (in 1986)," Commissioner Fred Streetman said. "If not then we can't do it before the next census."

A request to split the precincts was initiated by Ms. Goard due to the difficulty some precincts were having in handling the number of voters assigned to that precinct.

Streetman said. "It's a logistical problem. If you have a precinct with 3,000 people then it gets difficult to handle them when it comes election time," Streetman said. "The lines get long and it's hard to find a building large enough to handle them."

Ms. Goard agreed with him. "People don't want to wait in line an hour to vote," she said.

Only two snags have been hit in the relatively smooth process, according to Ms. Goard. "There are 80 people who live in Winter Springs in District 5 who have to go to Oviedo to vote," she said. "We're going to move the district line so they'll be in District 2," and won't have to travel so far to vote.

The other problem is an unclear boundary line between precincts 48 and 69 that Ms. Goard and her office are working to discern.

South Africa Doctor Testifies

Court Halts Prisoner Torture

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — A Supreme Court judge ordered police to stop beating prisoners jailed under state-of-emergency powers in eastern Cape Province after a doctor who examines inmates testified she could "no longer stand by and do nothing."

The judge issued the order in Port Elizabeth Wednesday following the urgent appeal of Wendy Orr, a white, government-employed surgeon who examines inmates in eastern Cape. She said there was "overwhelming evidence" the prisoners were being "systematically assaulted and abused after their arrest."

In Queenstown, north of Port Elizabeth, racial violence that has claimed nearly 700 lives during the past year continued Wednesday. Police in Pretoria said a black man and woman were burned to death.

Orr, who cares for inmates at the St. Albans and North End prisons, told the judge, "My conscience told me I could no longer stand by and do nothing."

Orr said that, of the prisoners she examined from July 22 to Sept. 16, 60 had facial injuries, eight had perforated eardrums and 48 had "such a multiplicity of injuries they could not have been inflicted in a violent attempt to arrest a man or disperse a mob." Eksteen ordered authorities to respond to the allegations by Nov. 26.

Sheriff's Captains To Switch Jobs

Another administration shuffle is in store within the Seminole County sheriff's department as of Nov. 1.

Capt. Jay Leman, 39, will become the administrator of the Seminole County jail, said Sheriff John Polk. Leman is currently in charge of the department's division of support services and before that was head of criminal investigations.

Capt. Luke Stallworth, 45, in charge of the jail, will return to running the support service division, his position before he took charge of the jail.

The shifts will not change the captains' salaries. Leman earns $37,648 and Stallworth $37,081.

Polk said the changes are to broaden the experience of his officers. In August Polk re-assigned two other captains.

"Over all it's part of my moving my captains around and giving them broader experience," Polk said today.

Capt. Roy Hughey, 38, in charge of the patrol division was placed in charge of criminal investigations and Capt. Beau Taylor, 39, who was in charge of support services before Leman, replaced Hughey in the patrol division. Hughey and Taylor both earn $37,648.

Polk said he'd like to keep the men in the positions for about two years.

Chief Trumps Officers Guarding Poker Game

CLUTE, Texas (UPI) — A police chief has dealt reprimands to three veteran officers for moonlighting as security guards at high-stakes poker games.

Chief Fay Markwardt said letters of reprimand were placed in the files of the officers and they were told not to accept second jobs without her approval.

"They have been doing this for so long that they didn't see anything wrong with it," Markwardt said. "Maybe they still don't."

Private card games are legal in Texas provided organizers do not get a cut of the winnings.

"The games are the least of my worries," Markwardt said Tuesday, adding the poker players are "just a group of good old boys having fun, but I don't want any fingers pointed at my officers."

KKK Arrests Called Warning To Civil Rights Violators

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI) — The FBI says federal indictments against nine Ku Klux Klan members on charges of intimidating racially mixed couples are the "first wave" of a new crackdown on Southern civil rights violators.

FBI agents quickly arrested seven Klan members involved Wednesday on charges of shooting near the homes and burning crosses in the yards of racially mixed couples. Two suspects remained at large.

The Klan in North Carolina has been active in the past few years. In 1983, a Klan group in South Carolina, and in 1984, a Klan group in Florida, were indicted for burning crosses in the yards of mixed couples.

Shultz-Shevardnadze Meeting Produces Lower 'Decibel Level'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Administration officials say the first of a new series of top-level U.S.-Soviet meetings failed to yield new arms control proposals from the Kremlin but the "atmospherics" are decidedly improved.

"The decibel level, I would say, is considerably lower," said one U.S. participant in Wednesday's meeting between delegations led by Secretary of State George Shultz and Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze.

The meeting, held at the Soviet U.N. mission, lasted four hours and 22 minutes and was devoted for the most part to preparations for the Nov. 19-20 summit between President Reagan and Mikhail Gorbachev in Geneva, Switzerland.

Shultz and Shevardnadze emerged smiling. Shultz called the talks "useful."

"The atmosphere was frank; the capacity for conversation was easy," he said.

Shevardnadze, speaking through an interpreter, called the meeting "interesting, frank and useful."

One U.S. official said the session was "frank and more conversational than such meetings have been in the past, easy to communicate."

The Soviet news agency Tass issued a dispatch describing the meeting as "businesslike, frank and according to both sides useful."

Group Cries Foul Over Ads

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A consumer group has a bone to pick with McDonald's over the latest Chicken McNuggets advertisements and wants the government to sink its regulatory teeth into the restaurant chain.

The Center for Science in the Public Interest charges that although McDonald's claims Chicken McNuggets contain only chicken breasts and thighs, the fast food also is laced with fatty skin and grease.

In a complaint filed Wednesday with the Federal Trade Commission, the non-profit organization accused McDonald's of "false and misleading advertising" and asked the company to halt the new ads.

"The charges are ridiculous," said Bob Keyser, a spokesman at McDonald's headquarters in Oakbrook, Ill. "Everything we say in our ads is true and we stand by it."

Keyser did say Chicken McNuggets contain skin. "But it is substantially less than there is on the chicken you buy in the store."

He also said, "We use beef and vegetable shortening to cook Chicken McNuggets and we think it is the best available."

The consumer group, which tracks health concerns, noted that the New York state attorney general's office recently began an investigation of McDonald's new ad campaign in response to similar complaints about their validity.

Sun, South, Blue Eyes Aid Cancer

BOSTON (UPI) — Exposure to the sun, being born in the South and having blue eyes increase a person's chances of developing eye cancer, but wearing visors or sunglasses while outdoors may reduce it, doctors reported today.

A team led by Dr. Margaret Tucker of the National Cancer Institute said a recent study suggests exposure to ultraviolet radiation from the sun increases the risk of intraocular malignant melanoma — a tumor that tends to spread to other organs.

Their findings, reported in the New England Journal of Medicine, add to other research that shows the incidence of melanoma of the skin rises with exposure to the sun. Both types of melanoma develop from the same type of cell, that produces melanin — the pigment of the skin, hair and eyes.

Intraocular malignant melanoma is the most common primary intraocular malignant tumor in adults in the United States and Europe. It typically affects older people, almost exclusively whites, and is a serious cause of death and vision loss.

The disease strikes individuals at a rate of 4.9 to 7.5 per million.

Second Terrorist Bomb Explodes On Posh Via Veneto

ROME (UPI) — Tourism officials expressed fears of declining revenues and a politician called for expulsion of some Arabs after a bomb injured 14 people and wrecked a British Airways office near the U.S. Embassy.

The bombing Wednesday was the second terror attack on Rome's famed Via Veneto area in 10 days. Police arrested a 16-year-old Lebanese-born Palestinian youth, Hasan Aatab. Authorities were seeking a second suspect seen fleeing the scene of the bombing.

Four of the 14 people injured in the attack were listed in serious condition.

Police chief Marcello Monarca said Aatab identified himself as a member of the Revolutionary Organization of Socialist Moslems and admitted he hurled the bomb at the British Airways office — located about a block from the U.S. Embassy.

In Paris, a man claiming to represent the group telephoned a western news agency and claimed responsibility for the attack.

The Revolutionary Organization of Socialist Moslems also claimed responsibility for a Sept. 16 hand grenade attack on the popular Cafe de Paris on the Via Veneto. Another Palestinian was charged in that attack, which injured 38 people, including nine Americans.

Israel Warns Of Retribution

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI) — Israel, responding to the slayings of three Israelis by gunmen who boarded their yacht in Cyprus, warned, "The killers and their senders will not go unpunished."

The men boarded the yacht in fashionable Larnaca harbor shortly before dawn Wednesday — Yom Kippur, the holiest of the Jewish holy days.

First they shot and killed Esther Palzur, 50, leaving her body, clad only in a nightgown, slumped over a guard rail. Her husband, Reuven Palzur, 53, and their friend, Avraham Anvery, 55, were found dead in the cabin.

Both had been bound, blindfolded and shot at point-blank range.

Their bodies were discovered after the three gunmen surrendered to police, ending a 10-hour stand-off.

Sanford Man Lured Man From His Home Then Raped His Girlfriend, Police Say

A man suspected of luring a rural Sanford man from his home and then returning to rape the man's roommate has been charged with sexual battery and was being held without bond in the Seminole County jail.

The rape reportedly occurred at about midnight Sept. 4 after the Sanford man answered his door and was told by the suspect that he was needed at the scene of an accident on State Road 46 to make an identification, a sheriff's report said.

Shortly after the man left his home the suspect returned, knocked on the door again and when the man's female roommate answered, the suspect reportedly grabbed her, threatened her and forced her to the rear of the building where he allegedly raped her, the report said.

When the Sanford man was returning to his home he told deputies he saw the suspect leaving and was able to give deputies the last name of a suspect, the report said.

The man arrested reportedly contacted sheriff's investigator and told them he knew he was wanted and came to the sheriff's department for questioning, the report said.

The man alleges he paid the woman to have sex. The victim denied his claim and the suspect was charged with sexual battery at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday at the sheriff's department. James Campbell, 26, of 3064 Washington St., Sanford, has been charged in the case.

FONDLING CHARGE NO-SHOW

A 37-year-old Sanford man charged with sexual battery to a 15-year-old boy has been charged with failure to appear on the fondling-related charge.

The man was first arrested in the case on April 13 by Sanford police after reportedly assaulting the boy on several occasions, once in front of his mother, a police report said.

Roy Joseph Murphy of 311 Park Ave. was arrested by sheriff's deputies at the jail at 8:11 p.m. Tuesday and was being held without bond.

BURGLARY & COCAINE

An Orlando man who was spotted allegedly burglarizing two vehicles in a parking lot at 551 E. Semoran Blvd., Fern Park, has been charged with two counts of auto burglary and possession of cocaine and drug paraphernalia.

Witnesses reported to sheriff's deputies that they saw a suspect enter two vehicles. When deputies searched the man, a sheriff's report said, they found a small packet of cocaine in his wallet and a rolled dollar bill. He also reportedly had a packet of cigarette rolling papers.

Jeffrey William Kosick, 31, was arrested at 7:12 a.m. Tuesday and was being held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

WARRANTED ARREST

A 24-year-old Sanford man arrested by Sanford police on a Volusia County warrant for failure to appear on a resisting arrest charge was also charged with possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana after police reportedly found some pot seeds and four partially smoked marijuana cigarettes in the ashtray of his vehicle.

Joseph Charles Baker, 24, of 701 E. 8th St., was arrested Tuesday on 13th Street and was jailed at 4:45 p.m. He has been released on $500 bond and is scheduled to appear in court Oct. 2.

BATTERED WIFE

Sanford police responding to a disturbance call charged a Sanford man with battery/spouse abuse after noting the man's wife, Onnie Shaw, had a bloody nose and scratches and bruises.

Michael Wayne Shaw, 29, of 2440 Grandview Ave., was arrested at his home at 11:23 p.m. Tuesday. He has been released on $500 bond and is scheduled to appear in court Oct. 9.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

The principal of Forest Lake Elementary School, 2801 Sand Lake Road, Longwood, reported to sheriff's deputies $250 worth of gasoline was stolen from a school bus parked at the school between Sept. 15 and 24.

Londa Fae Tuttle, 20, of '99 Wekiva Park Drive, Sanford, reported to sheriff's deputies a $350 engine was stolen from a 1972 Chevrolet while the vehicle was parked in her yard Monday.

Record albums, and jewelry with a total value of about $2,000 were stolen from the home of May S. Morris, 24, of 121 B Jerro Road, Winter Park, on Tuesday, a Seminole County sheriff's report said.

Andrew William Marshall, 17, of 1850 Crowley Circle E., Longwood, told deputies stereo gear worth $250 was stolen from his car parked at Lake Mary High School, Lake Mary, on Tuesday.

A thief took two gold rings with a combined value of $800 and $10 cash from the home of Jimmy R. Clatt, 40, of 931 Longwood Markham Woods Road, on Tuesday, a sheriff's report said.

Dealer Charged With Altering Odometers

LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI) — Raymond L. Barnes, 38, a used car dealer from Summerville, Ga., was arrested Tuesday and charged with altering odometer readings on used cars he sold to unsuspecting dealers through the Lakeland Auto Auction.

Barnes was arrested at the auction by Polk County deputies and FBI agents, and was held in Polk County jail in Bartow Wednesday in lieu of $100,000 bond on a charge of violating Florida's Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organization Act.

Officers seized more than 40 vehicles at the wholesale auction house in what they said was a massive interstate scam to roll back mileage on cars, which then were being sold to dealers from Maine to Florida.

They said Lakeland Auto Auction is a "legitimate business" and not connected in any way to the scheme.

The arrest warrant specified 11 cars which Barnes allegedly sold fraudulently, but the probable cause statement said those 11 were a small portion of the vehicles actually handled in this manner by Barnes Used Cars of Menlo, Ga.

"This was an ongoing scheme to defraud buyers out of monies that would not be paid for higher mileage vehicles," the document read.

Polk County Detective Ed Warren said Barnes has done about $9 million in business at the auction house since July 1983, but said it has not been determined how much of that business was fraudulent.

According to the court documents, Barnes Used Cars would buy relatively high-mileage cars from various dealers, then sell them to Apco Leasing, formerly of Reno, Nev., in a paper transaction without moving the cars.

"Apco Leasing is a front company being used to launder titles, as the state of Nevada requires no mileage statement on their titles," the probable cause document said.

Apco auction to remove the mileage from a title and prepare a new title, while the odometer on the matching car was being turned back.

Authorities said the cars then were sold back to Barnes Used Car and were brought to Lakeland with their altered paperwork to be sold through the auction house.

Falwell Says He Will Not Pay Fine

PENSACOLA, Fla. (UPI) — Moral Majority leader Jerry Falwell, ordered by a judge to honor a $5,000 offer to a former schoolmate whose church he allegedly attacked, said Wednesday he has no intention of paying.

Falwell, in northwest Florida to speak at the 10th anniversary of a local church, claimed the "traffic" court in Sacramento, Calif., ruled in favor of Jerry Sloan because Falwell wasn't represented at the hearing.

"It's just a typical kind of harassment and we appealed it immediately and have no intention of paying him anything," Falwell said at an airport news conference.

Falwell denied the 1984 sermonized attack of the homosexual-oriented Metropolitan Community Church and offered Sloan $5,000 if he could produce a tape recording of it.

Municipal Judge Michael Ullman Tuesday issued a written opinion ordering Falwell to pay $5,000, interest and court costs. The judge said Sloan produced the tape and Falwell was bound to "his unilateral contract."

"He produced a tape after he had edited it ... we sent the bonafide tape out there," said Falwell, who claimed he wasn't notified of the hearing.

In another matter, Falwell said his fund-raising efforts suffered because of his controversial statements concerning South Africa five weeks ago, but he said he won the national debate.

"In the past five weeks we probably lost $1 million from persons who misunderstood what we were saying," Falwell said at a news conference. He blamed the media for the misunderstanding.

"We've won the national debate on the issue," he said. "It was really the hottest issue we ever tackled."

WEATHER

AREA FORECAST: Today — partly sunny with a slight chance of showers or thunderstorms. High near 90. Wind north 10 to 15 mph. Rain chance 20 percent. Tonight — partly cloudy. Low in lower 70s. Light northwest wind. Friday — partly cloudy with chance of showers and thunderstorms. High mid 80s to near 90. Wind becoming north 10 mph by afternoon. Rain chance 30 percent.

NATIONAL REPORT: Freeze warnings were posted for parts of the Plains and the upper Mississippi valley as temperatures again dipped into the 30s early today. In the South, strong thunderstorms carrying high winds and hail swept across Louisiana and eastern Texas Wednesday evening. Elsewhere, high pressure over northeast Colorado brought fair skies and cold temperatures to the Plains and the upper Mississippi Valley.

Early morning readings were in the 30s over northern and western Minnesota, the Dakotas, and most of Nebraska and western Kansas. Freeze warnings were posted for parts of northern Wisconsin and northeastern South Dakota as well as for most of Nebraska.

Frost warnings were issued for southeastern South Dakota, southeastern Nebraska and extreme northwestern Kansas. In Louisiana, a wind gust of 50 to 60 mph was reported at Pioneer Wednesday evening and nickel-size hail pelted Morehouse Parish. Shreveport, hit with pea-size hail and winds of 35 to 45 mph, was drenched with nearly 1 1/2 inches of rain in about 30 minutes, causing street flooding. Marble-size hail and high winds hit Jackson Parish, La., downing tree limbs. In Texas, thunderstorms dumped nearly 2 inches of rain at Wildwood in 25 minutes Wednesday night, and Houston got more than an inch of rain in one hour. Early today, showers and thunderstorms were scattered from the lower Ohio valley across the lower Mississippi valley to southern Texas. Rain also fell over the Great Lakes and the Texas Panhandle. Fair skies were common over the western third of the nation early today. Mild temperatures prevailed over California and Arizona, with readings generally in the 60s and 70s.

AREA READINGS (9 a.m.): temperature: 76; overnight low: 73; Wednesday's high: 89; barometric pressure: 29.84; relative humidity: 87 percent; winds: northwest at 9 mph; no rain; sunrise: 7:16 a.m.; sunset 7:17 p.m.

BOATING FORECAST: St. Augustine to Jupiter Inlet out 50 miles — Small craft should not venture far from port. Wind becoming north 15 to 20 knots today then northwest around 15 knots tonight decreasing to around 10 knots or less Friday. Sea 4 to 6 feet with moderate to large northeast swells occasionally breaking across inlets. A few showers or thunderstorms.

EXTENDED FORECAST: Saturday through Monday — chance of showers and thunderstorms mainly north half during the weekend and all sections Monday. Not so warm north Saturday. Lows averaging mid and upper 60s extreme north and 70s elsewhere. Highs mostly mid to upper 80s but near 80 extreme north Saturday.

Home Resales Soar Under Strong Demand

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lower interest rates and a continuing strong demand pushed August sales of used single-family homes to their highest level in nearly six years, the National Association of Realtors reports.

Last month's 9.2 percent increase in the annual rate of home resales, over the July rate of 3.14 million units, was the largest month-to-month increase since January 1983, when the rate jumped 13.5 percent.

Based on the gain from July to August, if the month-to-month increase continued for a full year it would translate into 3.43 million used homes being sold.

Only four times have there been increases larger than last month's in the 17 years since the association began keeping figures. In addition to January 1983, larger increases were recorded in September 1980, July 1980 and April 1970, the association said.

"Clearly, the demand for housing remains strong, and today's lower interest rates are allowing an increasing number of families to realize the American dream of ownership," said David D. Roberts, association president.

"Mortgage interest rates have fallen about 1.5 percent during the last 12 months, giving many families the affordability break they have been waiting for," said Jack Carlson, the association's chief economist.

Carlson also noted that home prices have risen only modestly, giving buyers another leg up in the market. The median price on used single-family homes dropped $300 from July to August, following the pattern for a slight decline of home sales in late summer and early autumn as many sellers seek to close their home sales before school starts.

Nationwide, the median price for a used home in August was 4.9 percent above the previous August price of $73,500.

When Scientists Lobby The Hill

Forty years ago, laments MIT physicist Bernard Feld, "I would go to the office of a congressman or a senator, walk in and say, 'I'm Bernard Feld. I've just come from Los Alamos,' and the red carpet would be spread out. We were great heroes then."

The red carpets rolled out on Capitol Hill for the scientists who worked on the first nuclear bomb at the New Mexico desert laboratory have been rolled up, Feld notes in a recent interview.

Now the Federation of American Scientists, of which Feld is a founding member, has to fight its way into the offices of Congress in a crowd of other scientists, representing a vast number of issues.

For every Federation member descending on Washington to denounce President Reagan's space-based defense, there is another scholar backing the program that has come to be called "Star Wars."

"The number of scientists lobbying has grown enormously. Forty years ago, the only issue that seemed to matter was nuclear," comments University of California at San Diego physicist Herb York, director of the Institute on Global Conflict and Cooperation.

Elected officials now review scientific proposals with more skepticism than would have been possible four decades ago, York notes. Back then, the public and Congress viewed the bomb project scientists as wizards.

To sort out the contradictory demands of a multitude of lobbyists can't be an easy job for the nation's lawmakers. Maintaining a healthy dose of skepticism toward scientists' recommendations must be even harder, since they are masters of highly technical and arcane knowledge.

Without a doubt, science has immeasurably improved life in the 20th century. But scientists, though perhaps more learned than the rest of us, are just as fallible. Among their ranks are bound to appear a few who will try to pass off their particular brand of snake oil as good, solid science.

Science and technology have given us the greatest gifts of all — longer life and resistance to disease. But this century has also witnessed the lethal by-products of progress — the wreck of the Titanic, the efficiency of German death camps, the chemical leakage at the Union Carbide plant in Bhopal, India.

Forty years ago, the Manhattan project Merlins conjured up a mushroom cloud in the southwestern skies. We are still debating the merit of that scientific advance.

Congress is correct to have warehoused its red carpets.

Smell Of Victory

There is, among the imaginary worlds of science fiction, a planet inhabited by ptaavs, whose society is organized around a single central virtue, cowardice. This does not, however, place the ptaavs at the mercy of their enemies. In the stories, they are feared far and wide as the masters of the offensive retreat.

It's a notion that must have intrigued Dr. Jack Scaff, a real-life cardiologist from Hawaii, who has invented the most ptaavlike weapons for the person afraid to use fist, gun or even Mace to defend himself from attack. It's a capsule of genuine skunk stink, easily cracked open in an emergency, which makes the attacker smell so incredibly awful that the attacker simply can't stand to be there.

At least that's the theory. Scaff's "Skunkguard" hasn't yet been tested in practice — unless you count the time a leaking capsule contaminated Scaff's office, necessitating the evacuation of two adjacent floors. Nor are all the glitches in the skunk defense yet worked out, like the problem of getting a cab home afterward and the need to destroy whatever clothes one was wearing at the time. As a matter of fact, Skunkguard buyers seem to find even the thought of dousing themselves with skunk perfume repulsive. But that's the whole idea, isn't it? Maybe it takes a ptaav to appreciate it.

'I Don't Brake For Anything On Four Legs'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Paul Harvey, the news commentator, calls them "bumperstickers." But, considering the amount of blood shed in the cause of privacy, there obviously is another side of the story.

Even so-called comical buttons and bumperstickers reveal enough about a person to classify as indecent exposure.

The courts have entertained many celebrated "freedom of information" cases down through the ages. But as far as I know the right of "freedom from information" has never been tested.

Does not a motorist have the right to drive down the street without being apprised of the political, religious, sexual and recreational preferences of the owner of the car just ahead?

I think so. Ergo, I would support my local legislator if he introduced a bill to require that exhibitionists obtain special licenses before plastering their autos with printed confessions.

Any unlicensed stickers would have to be applied to front bumpers. Such legislation should slow down the voluntary unbundling trend if it didn't stop it entirely.

I have a friend who contends the ultimate bumpersticker or button would disclose absolutely nothing. In other words, one's lapel, or the part of one's car that first feels the impact when rear-ended, would be covered with blanks.

I can see where a non-committal approach might be an improvement, particularly in the field of name tags. But I question whether it goes far enough.

To be truly disingenuous, a button, bumpersticker or name tag should be erroneous, not just circumspect.

If, for example, a Mrs. Thermal Longstream of Farthing's Gap, Miss., were attending a convention in Freebee, Mont., she would not merely wear a blank name tag.

Her name tag would identify her as Mable Upperfloss of Clods, N.M.

By the same token, if she supported President Reagan for re-election in the 1984 presidential election, her bosom would sport a button reading: "Don't blame me; I voted for Mondale."

Misinformation also could be used to advantage on such bumperstickers as "I brake for penguins" and the many variations of "Think Snow" and "I'd rather be..."

Confirmed misanthropes could cover their vehicles with bumperstickers exhorting fellow travelers to "Honk if you love all mankind."

Male homosexuals who hate the smell of tobacco might have fun with bumperstickers that read: "You girls who smoke throw your butts in here."

And tender-hearted drivers who wouldn't dream of running over small animals could stick on warnings that "I don't brake for anything on four legs."

Such misinformation likewise would maintain privacy on bumperstickers that substitute symbols for words. As in, "I (red Valentine heart cartoon) my neurologist."

The above, of course, is only recommended for motorists who have never had so much as a CAT scan.

The other side then is clear in this story. Buttons and bumperstickers don't have to give you a laugh to be funny.

Laws Won't Aid Farmers

WASHINGTON (NEA) — With an increasing number of farmers locked in a hopeless struggle against bankruptcy, politicians here are haggling over agricultural legislation that doesn't even pretend to solve the growers' fundamental problems.

In one of its few attempts to deal with an issue on a multi-year basis, Congress traditionally has fashioned omnibus agricultural legislation covering four- and five-year periods. In theory, such long-range planning is commendable. In practice it doesn't always work.

For example, the 1981 bill (which expires this year) was written when the country had experienced almost a decade of spectacular growth in inflation, farm income and agricultural exports. The legislation wrongly assumed that all three would continue to grow at a phenomenal pace.

This year's bill, governing dozens of federal farm programs for the next five years, attempts to neither forecast future trends nor deal with a situation that has led to financial calamity for many of the nation's farmers.

Instead, the Democrats who control the House and the Republicans who dominate the Senate have sought to impose upon each other the responsibility for the reductions in price and income support programs required by federal budget constraints.

At the same time, the White House and Congress are feuding over a provision in the House bill that would allow wheat and feed-grain farmers to vote for higher government price supports if they agreed to reduce production.

The unseemly haggling is occurring at a time when as many as 43,000 family farms (approximately 1 of every 16 in the country) are technically insolvent because their debts exceed their assets. The owners of another 93,000 farms owe $7 or more for every $10 worth of assets.

Compounding those problems are a series of related adverse trends — including plummeting exports, excess production capacity, higher debt-to-income ratios, shorter loan terms, declining asset values and decreased liquidity of those assets.

The Farmers Home Administration, the lender of last resort for growers, reports a five-fold increase in delinquent payments during the past four years. Its 267,000 borrowers currently owe $5.4 billion — but many of those loans may never be repaid.

France Asks AIDS Research Credit

By Jack Anderson
And

WASHINGTON — Scientists at the prestigious Pasteur Institute in Paris claim that U.S. researchers have stolen credit for the French discovery of the AIDS virus and illegally patented a blood-testing kit that identifies the presence of the deadly virus.

At stake may be a Nobel Prize, not to mention millions of dollars in royalties from the sale of the patented test kits. The French want their share of both glory and money.

The French, threatening court action, have sent documents buttressing their claims to the Health and Human Services Department, demanding recognition of U.S. researchers' reliance on the Pasteur Institute. The documents, seen by our associate Corky Johnson, present a powerful case. Here are the highlights:

— In the spring of 1983, Dr. Luc Montagnier of the Pasteur Institute

Will Reagan Resign?

WASHINGTON (NEA) — It's autumn in Washington — and as the temperature is cooling, the political rumor mill is heating up — most of the political gossip involves Vice President George Bush and his presidential ambitions.

The hottest rumor is that President Reagan will step aside sometime in early 1987 so that Bush can take center stage and run as an incumbent in 1988.

According to this rumor, Reagan's health is worse than anyone lets on; Nancy Reagan is very concerned that he won't survive another three years; and Reagan will resign for health reasons sometime after the 1986 elections, probably in very early 1987.

By then, the top two items on Reagan agenda — tax reform and an arms-control pact — will be either underway or defunct. The tax-reform issue will have been decided; and the president will have met at least twice with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev.

Two recent occurrences are adding some fuel to this Reagan-Bush rumor:

Mrs. Reagan spent much of her August vacation looking for a new house in Los Angeles — reportedly for immediate purchase. If the Reagans won't move back to the West Coast until 1989, this househunting seems premature. In addition, in several interviews and private conversations, Reagan has expressed his already-growing frustration about being a lame duck. That frustration will grow enormously after the 1986 elections, when the nation's political attention becomes riveted on Campaign '88.

Of course, the White House is denying all of this in the strongest terms, but those denials only strengthen the rumors.

It can't be denied, meanwhile, that Bush's presidential campaign is already getting into high gear. Bush now seems preoccupied with wooing two groups — conservatives, who he'll need to capture the GOP nomination; and minorities, especially Hispanics, who he'll need to win the general election.

Bush and his wife, Barbara, recently completed a week-long coast-to-coast trip that had all the trappings of a major campaign swing.

His main topics were his loyalty to Reagan and his unwavering support of everything Reagan backs, especially free enterprise, free trade, no new taxes; and his opposition to the Soviet system — an effort to counter conservative fears that Bush would be soft on communism.

Bush especially tried to reach Hispanics in California and Texas, where he boasted of his Mexican daughter-in-law and his Mexican-American grandchildren — references that were well-received by his Hispanic audiences.

Earlier this summer, Bush added Craig Shirley, former spokesman for the National Conservative Political Action Committee, to his personal staff. It's also reported that his growing political action committee will be headed by former U.S. Treasurer Angela Buchanan (sister of White House Communications Director Pat Buchanan) and former White House political director Ed Rollins — both well regarded by conservatives. Ms. Buchanan and Rollins are expected to occupy high places in the 1988 Bush campaign.

Avoiding Nuclear Holocaust

Imagine a spontaneous uprising in East Germany.

The communist regime threatens to collapse. Soviet troops move in to restore order but can't. Fighting spreads. West German volunteers cross over to aid the rebels. The Soviets blockade Berlin. The West responds with an airlift. Soviet fighters intercept the transports and down several. NATO armored units attempt to open the land routes to Berlin. Soviet forces resist and move toward the West German border. To block their advance and as a warning, the NATO command takes out key bridges across the Elbe River with low-yield nuclear explosions.

At this flash point, could all-out nuclear war still be avoided?

A number of the nation's foremost scholars in the area of war and peace are trying to answer that life-and-death question for the human race. They are participating in a study project under the auspices of the Carnegie Corp., called, simply, "Avoiding Nuclear War."

At this point, it is an entirely non-governmental endeavor. Most of the work since its inception two years ago has been done at Harvard's John F. Kennedy School of Government.

The project is only peripherally concerned with the big political issues such as arms control and superpower relations. The focus is the ultimate worst-case scenario: Once the two superpowers are launched on a collision course, how do you prevent the unthinkable from happening?

What makes the project of special interest — even promise — is that it periodically brings American and Soviet experts together to think about the unthinkable. Two such meetings have been held and a third is set for early next year. The meetings may continue for years.

And so far, reports Frederic A. Mosher, a Carnegie staffer who is functioning as chairman of the working group, so good. The Soviets tend to look for grand schemes to prevent crises while their American counterparts are more inclined to focus on the practical details of crisis control. But, Mosher says, there is unquestionably a shared concern about nuclear war and its prevention.

The current study goes one step beyond, assuming that the brakes haven't held and that forces are involved, or about to be. At that point, decision makers on both sides may perceive nuclear war as almost inevitable.

reported his suspicion that a virus was the cause of the dread disease. American scientists were eager to learn more. An article Montagnier wrote for Science magazine was edited and endorsed by Dr. Robert Gallo, chief AIDS researcher at the National Cancer Institute.

Montagnier met with Gallo and his team to discuss the virus, and subsequent correspondence was on a first-name basis.

— Letters from Gallo to Montagnier asked for virus samples and permission to clone them. A receipt for two samples of the French AIDS virus was signed by a Gallo researcher on Sept. 23, 1983.

— The French stipulated that the samples not be used for commercial purposes. Other samples and information were given to U.S. scientists. All this was long before Gallo filed for a patent. The French claim Gallo used their information to find the AIDS virus and develop a test kit, which was then patented.

In an interview, Gallo disputed the French claim, asserting that the two viruses were not the same. He said the French have not adequately isolated the AIDS virus.

— The French filed patent applications in Europe and the United States several months before Gallo's group. The U.S. Patent Office granted Gallo's patent, but has yet to act on the French application.

— In a letter to a colleague after Montagnier had identified the AIDS virus, Gallo acknowledged that he had not yet succeeded in isolating an AIDS virus himself.

— The French charged that U.S. doctors allegedly broke American and international patent laws by failing to disclose the French contribution to their AIDS research.

The French say their documents present a "prima facie case that the Montagnier team was first" to discover the AIDS virus, that the Gallo patent is based on information "derived from the Montagnier team" and therefore is not valid.

The French charge further that Gallo breached a contract with the Pasteur Institute by using the virus samples the French sent him in developing a commercial product.

The French made three demands that must be met if the United States is to avoid court action:

1. Public recognition of the Montagnier team's "invaluable contribution in first finding and identifying" the AIDS virus.

2. Freedom for the French to market their own blood-test kit "without any legal problems."

3. A share of the royalties from sale of the U.S. kit, in return for which the French would allow it to remain on the market without legal action.

Footnote: In a series of memos to each other, Health and Human Services officials stated they can successfully defend the U.S. patent in court and raise the question of why the French, if their claims are accurate, haven't marketed their own test kit in Europe.

Earthquake Prediction Still An Uncertain Science

By Lidia Wasowicz
UPI Science Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The fledgling field of earthquake prediction has come a long way in just five years — but not far enough to say when the next major temblor will hit, experts say.

Recent data had pointed to the vicinity of last week's disastrous Mexican quake as an area due for a major jolt, for example, but lacked the kind of specificity that could have spared lives through timely evacuation.

Scientists doubt such precise predictions will be forthcoming any time soon.

"Within the past five years, we have made significant progress so that the quake off the Mexican coast was no surprise," said William Ellsworth, chief of the Branch of Seismology for the U.S. Geological Survey in Menlo Park, Calif.

"The quake fulfilled the long-term prediction that had identified this area as a major seismic gap, but we had no short-term information that could have been used as an immediate warning."

The concept of seismic gaps is based on the idea that all parts of an active earthquake fault must give way sooner or later. The prognosis for a temblor is most likely for that area which has gone the longest without one.

"We've learned a lot about the recurrence time between one quake and the next on a segment of a fault. We would expect, for example, a repeat of the 1906 San Francisco earthquake within a century and a half," said seismologist Kate Hutton of the California Institute of Technology in Pasadena, Calif.

"But I don't see earthquake predictions ever having a certainty even as lax as that of a weather report."

Relying on long-term forecasts, scientists nine months ago placed measuring instruments within the vicinity of the Mexican temblor.

"We anticipated the quake, and we've got enough equipment there to say it will be the best-recorded major quake ever, in terms of recording the strong-motion waves," said University of California geologist James Brune at the Scripps Institution of Oceanography in San Diego.

The data could prove important because Mexico's active volcanoes and frequent shakers make it as "tectonically active" as Central America, the Pacific Coast of South America, Alaska and Japan, said Karen McNally, head of the Charles Richter Seismological Laboratory and geophysics professor at UC, Santa Cruz.

"Mexico has roughly five times as many large earthquakes as we do in California," she said. "The faults are slipping more rapidly, and the fault zone is wider."

To date, most quake studies have focused on temblor-prone California, where the ground ruptures are easier to study than the less accessible, underwater Mexican faults, said Caltech geophysics professor Hiroo Kanamori.

Of particular interest is the central California farming town of Parkfield, where for 100 years the notorious San Andreas Fault has ruptured with a quake of 5.5 to 6 magnitude on the Richter scale once about every 22 years.

Second Suit Filed Against Dog Owner

A second civil suit has been filed in circuit court against the owner of a weimaraner that has been accused of biting customers at an auto dealership.

J. Paul Benoit, of Longwood, has filed suit against J.R. Auto Ranch Inc. and John Daniels of Longwood. Benoit is seeking unspecified damages in excess of $5,000.

Another suit, filed in January and involving the same dog, is ready for trial, court records show.

Accused in each case is "Binky," watchdog for the auto ranch.

In the latest suit, Benoit states he was attacked while legally at the business on July 9. He states the owner should have known the dog was vicious and should have protected him from the dog. He said there was no "bad dog" sign at the business.

He states he suffered disfigurement from the bite, mental anguish and medical expenses.

The case has been assigned to Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis. No trial date has been set.

In the awaiting-trial case, Thomas Watson of Sanford is also suing the auto ranch and Daniels for an unspecified amount of damages in excess of $5,000. Watson's complaint is similar to Benoit's. He accuses Binky of biting him on Nov. 15. Davis is hearing that case as well.

A Weimaraner is a fearless hunting dog usually standing 25 to 27 inches high and weighing 70 to 85 pounds, according to references sources. They are easy to train and make forceful and aggressive watchdogs but are also good with families and gentle with children, according to the reference source.

Canker Confirmed In Polk Nursery

LAKE ALFRED, Fla. (UPI) — Plant pathologists confirmed Wednesday the discovery of citrus canker at Polk Citrus Nursery in southern Polk County and Charles Poucher, director of the joint state-federal citrus canker eradication program, said destruction of its trees will begin as soon as possible.

Poucher said the 16-acre nursery, owned by Richard Polk, has about 500,000 trees.

One sample from the nursery had been found to be infected by the highly contagious bacteria which kills trees but is harmless to humans, and the second sample was confirmed as cankerous.

Two cankerous samples must be found in a nursery or grove before the state will order destruction of all the trees in the infected facility.

The only known means of eradication of citrus canker is to burn infected and exposed trees.

Poucher said destruction of the trees will begin by the end of the week, or possibly Monday.

It is the 14th nursery found infected since the outbreak was discovered in August 1984. In addition, canker has been found in one small grove of newly planted trees.

The disease has not been found in any commercially productive grove.

More than 14 million citrus trees and seedlings have been destroyed since the outbreak began.

Poucher said destruction of an estimated 3 million trees at the Adams Citrus Nursery near Haines City was 99 percent completed, and said crews moved into the 40-acre Coca-Cola Foods Citrus Nursery near DeSoto City Monday to begin eradication burning there.

Farrakhan Wanted To Frisk Police, Authorities Say

MIAMI (UPI) — Black Muslim leader Louis Farrakhan, who canceled his scheduled speech in Miami, wanted 150 armed supporters to frisk everyone coming to listen to him Saturday as well as police.

City authorities said the request was a factor behind its decision to ask Farrakhan to pay $3,200 for extra security. Farrakhan canceled the engagement at the Gusman Cultural Center because of the city's decision.

"Even if you think we were being unreasonable, they apparently felt there was some kind of serious security problem," Roger Carlton, director of the parking authority in Miami, said.

But Abdul Akbar Mohammed, Farrakhan's assistant, criticized the city Tuesday, implying they increased the number of police and demanded the money to try to force the cancellation.

"We refuse to pay ... the outrageous sum of $3,200 for 16 additional security personnel when we have a history of 55 years of peaceful public meetings," said Mohammed.

Melvin Murphy, 22, DeLand was treated for lacerations and muscle strains and released, said hospital spokesman Kay Bartholomew.

Murphy was arrested on a Lake County charge of failure to carry a driver's license and a Seminole County charge of no driver's license. He was being held today in lieu of $200 bond.

According to Sanford police department records, McGill was involved in a patrol car accident in June 1984. In that incident the patrol car received $3,500 worth of damage and McGill was suspended for one day.

Weaver said today's accident is under investigation and as yet he does not know who is at fault.

He said it would be a few days before he could get all the facts sifted through to make a determination.

"I haven't figured out who ran the red light," he said.

"This is the big move of what we've working on," said Robert Pence, chief of the FBI in North Carolina.

"This harassment and deprivation of civil rights goes right to the heart of basic human rights," Pence said. "We're investigating as many as two dozen indictments."

Civil rights leaders hailed the arrests as important in stopping civil rights violations.

"We have always felt that vigorous law enforcement is the best way to keep the law in check," said Bill Stanton, head of Klan Watch, a Montgomery, Ala., group that monitors white supremacist activities.

The Ku Klux Klan has shown renewed strength since 1979, holding more marches, rallies and cross burnings than at any time since the civil rights protests of the 1960s.

"This kind of activity in today's world should not be tolerated," Pence said. "I think this is going to tell people inclined to this type action that no matter how long it takes and no matter what it takes, we're going to follow them until we get it solved."

Assistant Attorney General William Bradford Reynolds, head of the Justice Department's Civil Rights Division, said more than 150 people, including at least 84 klan members, have been prosecuted for such violence since 1979, when President Carter set up a special unit to combat the racial activity.

"We will seek indictments in every case where credible evidence is developed and suspects identified," Reynolds said.

The 20-count indictment returned in U.S. District Court in Asheville charges the defendants in 1982 and 1983 willfully conspired to "injure, oppress, threaten and intimidate" racially mixed couples.

It said the conspirators and "would shoot firearms into, and in front of, residences ... and construct, place and ignite ... crosses in front of residences" of the couples living in Iredell and Alexander counties.

Also indicted were Tony D. Earp, leader of the Klan in Alexander County; and Klansmen Jerry Henderson, Michael Chambers, Rodney Pope, and Dan Pritchard.

Pence said agents still were trying to find Klansmen Kenneth Blankenship, who is believed to be in North Carolina, and Alfred Childers, who is believed to be in Texas.

One volunteer said six survivors had been located in the ruins of Juarez Hospital and that crews were chipping away at the reinforced concrete to reach them. Rescue efforts continued through the night.

One of the six, who identified herself as Lupita, asked the rescue crew for a beer, the volunteer said.

Earlier, at the General Hospital, where an intern's residence and the Gynecological Hospital were destroyed, workers found a baby girl and rescued an intern. The intern's leg had to be amputated to free her from the concrete and steel.

Gavin said that 28 missing Americans were believed to have been in seven hotels that collapsed.

"Time is running out but we are still trying to find people alive," he told a news conference. "By Thursday we will have very slim hopes of rescuing anyone alive."

The U.S. Embassy identified the Americans killed as Bruce Sloan of New Market, N.H.; Mary Elizabeth Vallejo, 34, of Cozad, Neb., and her two children; Georgiana Merry Yunez, 31, originally of San Antonio, Texas, and her infant son.

In Golden, Colo., the U.S. Geological Survey upgraded the magnitude of last Thursday's earthquake from 7.8 to 8.1 on the Richter scale. That made it the first "great" earthquake — one with a magnitude of 8.0 or more — since July 1980, when a quake of 8.0 magnitude struck the Santa Cruz Islands in the Pacific Ocean. The major aftershock that jolted Mexico Friday evening was also upgraded from a magnitude of 7.3 to 7.5.

Brigades from the Health Ministry intensified fumigation of quake-devastated buildings to prevent epidemics. Crews sprayed garment district buildings where 200 hundred garment workers — mostly young women — were believed to have died. But one mother stood watch at a factory, refusing to believe her daughter was dead.

"I won't leave here, no matter what happens until I see that my daughter is rescued. She is alive. I am sure," she said. She said she had been looking for her daughter since a survivor reported seeing the girl alive.

Thousands of tons of relief supplies have reached Mexico but diplomats and Red Cross workers said rescue work has been hampered by theft, shortages and government red tape.

"We have had reports of goods disappearing," Gavin told reporters.

"Tons of supplies have arrived and we are having difficulties getting any of it," said Blanca Gutierrez, a Red Cross volunteer in the hard-hit Roma barrio.

Meanwhile, residents of some of emergency shelters complained about their treatment.

"It seems that you'd get better food in jail than we eat in the rescue centers," said Fernando Miranda, a resident of the low-income Tepito neighborhood in central Mexico City.

"We are forgotten here. There are no police, no Red Cross workers, nothing," Miranda said. "They want to forget about us."

Longwood Plan Agency Requirements Changed

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Applicants going before Longwood's Land Planning Agency will have to submit their requests 45 calendar days prior to the next regular meeting instead of 30 days to give the city planner more time to review the plans and obtain staff recommendations.

The city commission voted unanimously for the change at its last meeting. City Clerk Don Terry filled in as acting city administrator in the absence of vacationing Greg Manning.

In other business, the city commission voted 3-2 to grant a conditional use request by Dannie Lewis for permission to operate an automobile dealership for used car sales at 427 N. Highway 17-92, where he formerly operated a pizza business. The lot is located between AAA Auction and Max's Pools.

Commissioners Larry Goldberg and June Lormann voted against granting the request because of reservations they had on the size of the lot and possible traffic hazards. Mayor Harvey Smerilson and Commissioners Ed Myers and Perry Faulkner voted in favor.

A site plan for Friendly Ice Cream Restaurant to be built on a 1.2 acre site on the north side of State Road 434 between Ariza Pools and La Petite Child Care was unanimously approved. City Planner Chris Nagle praised the developer for planning to conserve so many of the large trees on the heavily-wooded property. He said plans call for retaining 75 percent of the trees on site and if trees are replaced to do it with 12-14 foot high trees instead the required eight-foot trees.

The developer has agreed to pave Pine Avenue behind the restaurant, but wants to keep the 40-inch-in-diameter oak tree that is growing in the middle of the right-of-way by creating an island in the paved street. Light traffic and slow speeds are anticipated on the street and measures will be taken to keep drivers from running into the tree.

The commission voted unanimously to approve the site plan for Chevron USA Maxi Mart to be located on the northwest corner of the State Road 434 and County Road 427 intersection. Action on the site plan had been continued from Sept. 17 on a vote of 3-2 when Mayor Harvey Smerilson and Commissioners Lormann and Goldberg had questions about drainage and water recycling procedures at the car wash.

Nagle told the commission drainage from the Chevron station into the Department of Transportation's drainage system would not worsen flooding problems west of the railroad and might even help by stopping some of the debris that washes into the road and stops up the drain causing flooding.

An ordinance restricting commercial vehicle and truck travel on some of Longwood's residential streets has been passed unanimously, but not until after the maximum gross weight allowed was raised from 5,000 pounds to 12,000 pounds.

The public hearing and final action on the proposal was continued from Sept. 17 to Monday night's meeting after it was pointed out the figure was so low that it would make the ordinance difficult to enforce.

Exceptions are: emergency vehicles, local pick-up and delivery trucks and vans, city maintenance vehicles, and trucks or commercial vehicles having prior written permission to do so by the police chief or mayor in national emergencies.

Appointments were made and approved by the commission Monday to fill vacancies caused by expirations on the Code Enforcement Board.

Fred Ritter of 930 E. First Place was re-appointed on the nomination of Mayor Harvey Smerilson. Ritter has been on the board as the district 1 appointee since Sept. 14, 1982.

Norman Jacobs, 931 Waverly Drive, was named as the district 5 appointee by Commissioner Larry Goldberg replacing Walter Fleck who was appointed in April of 1983. Appointed at-large was Lewis Warren of 110 Silver Cluster Court to replace Anthony Taddeo, who was appointed in 1983, by Commissioner Ed Myers. Also appointed at-large was Charles Heffner, 1503 Meadowlark St., who was reappointed on the nomination of Commissioner June Lormann. He was appointed in July to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Charles Kennedy, whose term will expire in October. Taddeo and Fleck said they did not wish to be reappointed.

Annual Zoo Auction Scheduled

Central Florida Zoo will hold its sixth annual Wild West Auction and Musical Jamboree Saturday beginning at 6 p.m. at the Sheraton-Maitland Hotel.

Tickets for the fund raising event are $50 per person. The chuck wagon will serve up barbecue chicken and beef ribs, corn-on-the-cob and baked potatoes.

To be auctioned off are such items as a Colorado ski trip for four, seven days and nights.

a Las Vegas round trip airlines tickets for two, one-year Nautilus membership, two foursomes with lunch at Heathrow Country Club, one week vacation at Oceans Landings resort, a corn and beer party for 50, sailboards and computers.

Bids may also be placed in the silent auction prior to the main event. There will be music with a country western beat.

For tickets or additional information call Central Florida Zoo at 323-4450.

Von Bulow Received $1 Million Loan From Getty For Legal Expenses

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — Socialite Claus von Bulow used a $1 million loan from oil magnate John Paul Getty Jr. to pay for the legal costs of his two attempted murder trials, a magazine reported.

Vanity Fair magazine quoted Getty as saying he gave the money to von Bulow to help pay for his legal expenses because the Danish-born defendant would have been broke.

Von Bulow used the money to pay for his bail, lawyers' fees and to help finance his appeal after he was convicted of the charges in 1982.

Von Bulow was found guilty of attempting to murder his wife, Martha "Sunny" von Bulow, with insulin shots in 1979 and 1980.

The state Supreme Court overturned the conviction on constitutional grounds and he was tried a second time on the charges earlier this year in Providence and was acquitted.

Von Bulow has been a long-time friend of the Gettys and at one time worked for John Paul Getty Sr.

"The fact is that a friend needed help and I was able to give it," Getty Jr. told the magazine. "It's no heroic thing, I am certainly not going to ask for it back."

"I have always told him I wanted it to be applied to the legal bills, otherwise he'd be broke," Getty said.

Alan Dershowitz, the Harvard lawyer who engineered von Bulow's successful appeal and retrial, has written an inside account of the case.

Random House will publish the book in March.

Hospital Slates Medicine Health Fair

South Seminole Community Hospital will hold an Emergency Medicine Health Fair at Loehmann's Plaza on Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in observance of Emergency Medical Services Week.

The fair will give Seminole County residents an opportunity to update their knowledge about steps to take at the scene of an emergency, as well as methods for preventing emergencies.

South Seminole Community Hospital and CPR for Citizens will offer a CPR (cardiopulmonary resuscitation) certification class from 1-4 p.m. at the fair. The fee will be $5.

Advance registration is required. Those interested should call 843-4277 to register.

In addition to emergency medical information, some free health screenings will be offered.

Call South Seminole Community Hospital at 834-1200 ext. 895 for more information.

Lewis Gives Earnest Effort For Seminoles

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor
The parents of Earnest Lewis sure knew what they were doing. Earnest, meaning serious in intent or purpose, is the perfect description for Seminole High's determined defensive end.

The 16-year-old sophomore could be making life miserable on the junior varsity level this fall but he joins a select group of 10th graders who are logging playing time as varsity performers for coach Dave Mosure.

It didn't take long for Lewis to move into a starting spot at defensive end, always a strong point at Seminole High. All-Americans Clifford Martin and Dallas Brown started the institution of great defensive ends at Seminole. It was later passed on to Greg Pringle and Charles Riggins, who plays with the Orlando Renegades.

"All four of those guys played varsity since their sophomore year," La Marr Richardson, Seminole assistant principal, said. "That was an important part, too. They were bookends, tough to see LEWIS, Page 11A

Schnitker Gets Big Yardage For Howell

By Tim Horn
Special to the Herald
At 5-11 and almost 190 pounds, Mark Schnitker has the right kind of size and determination to fill a key role for coach Mike Bisceglia's Lake Howell Silver Hawks' football team. He gains valuable chunks of yardage up the middle.

Powering his way up through defensive lines and then practically running over opposing secondaries at almost will, Schnitker has bulled his way to among the current rushing leaders in Seminole county this year.

He'll attempt to continue this trend Friday night when Lake Howell hosts Seminole in the first Seminole Athletic Conference encounter for both schools.

But ironically, when it comes to football, his size has not always been beneficial to the senior fullback.

"I couldn't make the weight limit in middle school," Schnitker said about the

Laughlin Turns Meteorological Gaze To Gloria

A few people watching hurricane Gloria almost as closely as the weathermen are the Seminole County cross country coaches.

Most of the county teams will run in Saturday's Seabreeze Beach Run at Daytona Beach. That is, if hurricane Gloria stays on its current path toward North Carolina instead of shifting toward the Florida east coast.

"You never know," Lyman girls coach Joe Laughlin said. "It might just sit off the coast for a couple of days. If it did, we wouldn't be running Saturday." Laughlin teaches meteorology at Lyman High.

If Gloria has any adverse effects on the Florida weather, the Beach Run will most likely be called off. And that's bad news for some runners, because the next meet, for seniors and juniors, wouldn't be until Saturday, Oct. 5. That would be a wait of 16 days between meets. It wouldn't be as bad for the freshmen and sophomores since the Lyman Freshman-Sophomore Meet is set for Thursday, Oct. 3.

Robin Rogers, Mike Mohler and Nick Radkewich finished 1-2-3 Tuesday as Lyman's Greyhounds claimed a dual meet victory over Lake Brantley's Patriots on a sweltering evening at Lyman High.

The Greyhounds finished with a team score of 22, compared to 33 for Lake Brantley.

Rogers obliterated the rest of the field as he finished first with a time of 16:44. "He ran and awesome time for the way the heat was today," Lyman coach Fred Finke said of Rogers. "He was only eight seconds off his time at Edgewater. He dominated the race from the first mile on."

Following Rogers was Mohler who was second at 17:05 and Radkewich was not far behind as he took third at 17:07. "Mohler and Radkewich ran a good team race," Finke said.

Lake Brantley then had the fourth, fifth and sixth finishers but Lyman's Kevin Quinn broke up the Patriots' pack as he finished seventh at 18:01. Wade Jacobson, in just his second meet for Lyman, was 10th at 18:52.

"Jacobson is coming on strong," Finke said. "He ran the last half mile in 2:25. He's one to look out for."

Tuesday's girls meet was called off because some of the runners were involved in the Yom Kippur holiday.

Lake Howell High's girls team, currently ranked third in the state (4A), will compete in the Jacksonville Sandalwood Invitational Saturday. The meet will give the Lady Hawks a chance to see what the competition in another area of the state is like.

Coach Tom Hammontree said last season the Lady Hawks didn't get to go against the top competition during the regular season and were surprised by a few teams at the state meet. Hammontree is making sure that won't happen this season.

Fort Walton Beach Choctawatchee is the top ranked 4A team followed by Largo, Lake Howell and Winter Park. In the individual rankings, Winter Park's Kim Bovis, the defending state champion is number one with a time of 11:33. Lake Howell's Lisa Samocki is sixth at 12:01.

1985 Fall Road Racing Calendar:
●On Saturday, Sept. 28, the University of Central Florida will host the seventh annual "Run for the Kids" to benefit Threshold, Inc., the local treatment program for dysfunctional children. "Run for the Kids" is the first race in the 1985-86 Track Shack Grand Prix Series.

The Saturday morning event will feature five runs plus early bird cross country races pitting UCF's men's and women's teams against those from Rollins College.

The cross country meets between UCF and Rollins will get under way simultaneously (men five miles, women three) at 7:10 a.m.

The men's 5,000 meter race starts at 8 a.m. with the women following at 8:45. There will be a one-mile fun run at 9:30 and a one-mile team race for fraternities, sororities and clubs 15 minutes later. A quarter mile kiddie run at 10 will wrap it up.

Seminole's Jaime Bojanowski extends while coming off the platform. The Tribe sophomore won the 200 free and 500 free. He also helped the 400 free relay team to second.

Oviedo Whips Scrappy Rams

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer
OVIEDO — Oviedo's Lady Lions had their hands full with a scrappy Lake Mary team Wednesday night. In fact, Lake Mary had a 14-11 lead and had the serve in the opening game.

Oviedo, which stayed close but didn't do much hitting in the early going, needed some kind of spark to turn the tide on the Lady Rams. The Lady Lions got just what they were looking for when Stephanie Nelson got a nice set from Kim Verne and drilled a spike past the Rams' defense to return the serve to Oviedo.

The Lions went on to score five straight points to win the first game, then came back from an early deficit in the second to claim a 16-14, 15-9 victory over the Lady Rams in Seminole Athletic Conference action at Oviedo High.

"Stephanie's spike really spurred us on," Oviedo coach Anita Carlson said. "She's been hitting the ball really well this week."

Nelson's sizzling spike seemed to instill a little fear in the Lady Rams.

"The girls have to learn to accept a good hit like that and keep going," Lake Mary coach Cindy Henry said.

Oviedo ran its record to 4-1 overall and 1-1 in the SAC with its third straight win. The Lady Lions, 3-0 in the Orange Belt Conference, take on OBC foe Kissimmee Osceola tonight at Kissimmee.

Lake Mary, 0-2 overall and 0-1 in the SAC, travels to Spruce Creek tonight for a non-conference match.

Neither team could take control early in the first game as both teams went through an entire rotation with only seven points scored, four by Oviedo and three by Lake Mary.

Betsy Perry then took the serve and the Lady Rams put together a short rally for a 6-4 lead. Kathy Hodak's spike highlighted the rally.

Oviedo came back with three points on Verne's serve and then the teams took turns scoring until the score was tied at 11-11.

Perry then came on to serve again and this time the Lady Rams reeled off three points for a 14-11 lead. The second point was an ace by Perry.

Oviedo then called a timeout and, when play resumed, Nelson nailed the spike that ignited the Lady Lions. Verne went on to serve three points, the last coming on a nicely placed dink by Nelson, to tie the score at 14-14.

Lake Mary regained the serve but couldn't score and Barbara Malone then served the final two points of the first game. The first point was on another dink by Nelson and the second on a Lake Mary net foul. Malone got all five of her serves in Wednesday to run her streak to five straight matches without missing a serve.

Lake Mary took the early advantage in the second game when, with the score tied at 1-1, Anquetette Whack, who played a fine all around match for the Lady Rams, served three points for a 4-1 lead. Marcie Dalziel's spike and Hodak's hit led the way.

The Lady Rams went on to take a 9-4 lead but they couldn't hold on as Verne came on to serve eight straight points to give Oviedo a 12-9 lead. A service ace and a spike by Nelson highlighted the rally. Lake Mary did not return six of the eight serves by Verne.

Lake Mary had the serve three more times without scoring while Oviedo scored one point each on the serves of Trudy Ferguson, Cindy Wood and Nelson with Nelson's point closing out the match.

"The setting by Kim (Verne) and Cindy (Wood) was really good," Carlson said. "That's what makes the offense go. We're starting to get it together."

In junior varsity action Wednesday, Lake Mary opened the season with a 15-5, 15-6 victory over Oviedo.

Lake Mary Dominates, Seminoles Drop Times

By Chuck Burgess
Special to the Herald
While Lake Mary's Ramphibians were dominating the water Wednesday at Sanford's Sanora pool in a tri-meet against Seminole and Oviedo, the 'Noles and Lions were putting together impressive showings of their own.

Lake Mary, which practically controlled the boys' meet from the start, won eight out of the 11 events. Coach Walt Morgan was extremely pleased with his team's performance. "We have a pretty strong team this year," Morgan said.

The Rams, while amassing a whopping 130 points, had some fine performances by their tough boys' team. Winning for the Rams were Karl Kuchma (200 individual medley), Tracy Seibold (50 freestyle), Steve Kostowitz (100 butterfly), Joe Rosser (100 free), Rob Baker (100 backstroke), Todd Rayburn (100 breaststroke), the 200 medley relay team of Seibold, Rayburn, Kuchma, and Miller, and the 400 freestyle relay team of Todd Stebbins, Isaacs, Kostowitz, and Rosser.

Also with some fine swims were the second place finishes of Brian Cook (100 breast), Stebbins (200 free), Vincent (200 I.M.), Isaacs (50 free), Large (100 free), Wes Simecek (500 free), and Purkerson (diving).

While the Rams were splashing to victory, a new kid on the block was also doing some splashing. The kid's name was Oviedo.

Without nationally ranked Andy Gill leading the way for the Lions, the team had to depend on something they thought they never had. Depth.

Coach Scott Nolan was happy to see his team overcome its lack of experience to pull a second-place finish in the tri-meet. "They did a great job today considering it's only our second year out," Nolan said.

The Lions, who scored 77 points, had good swims by many of their athletes. Scott Hunt won the diving and the 200 medley relay team consisting of Gary Gotwalt, Merrell Poole, Jason Maddox, and Don Palmer placed a surprising second.

Even though her boys fell to both teams, Donalyn Knight, head coach of the Fighting Swimmers, felt the team's performance was a strong one. "All of our times are dropping and the team has twice as much confidence as last week," Knight said.

Jaime Bojanowski, a sophomore, led the way for the Tribe by scoring 14 of their 53 points. Bojanowski won the 200 free with a time of 1:53.51, the 500 free in 5:18.88, and was on the second place finishing 400 freestyle relay team. Other members of the relay were Jay Adeock, Scott Lewis, and Kirby Swinehart. Swinehart also placed second in the 100 butterfly and Lewis finished second in the 100 backstroke to finish the scoring for Seminole.

The girls' meet looked somewhat similar to the boys' in that the order was the same. Lake Mary finished first with 122 points, Oviedo second with 73 points, and Seminole with 60 points.

Although the 'Noles had some trouble scoring in the early going, Kristi Keeling took care of their problems by winning the 100 free and just getting nipped at the end of the 500 free.

Stasi Bojanowski, who won the 500 free and placed second in the 100 fly, and Chris Sparrow, who won the diving competition, were the other top two finishers for the Lady Seminoles.

Oviedo, which had to change its lineup on the way to the meet because of a mix-up, was led by Alicia Whitehead and Paula Murphy. Whitehead won the 200 free and Murphy won the 100 breaststroke.

Nolan was impressed with the way the team pulled together in the midst of the last-minute changes. "Our team did a great job considering the mass confusion," Nolan said.

The Rams, on the other hand, had absolutely no confusion at all on their side. Led by senior Kelly McKeel and freshman Kelly Wise, the Rams went on to win six of 11 events.

Winning for the Rams were McKeel (100 back and two relays), Wise (100 fly and one relay), Elisa Maher (50 free and one relay), and Jamie Brosnan, Alice Reese, and Danielle Ponceina, who were all on winning relay teams.

Seminole and Lake Mary will swim again this weekend in the Sharidan Invitational, while Oviedo's next meet is against Seminole next Wednesday at Sanora.

Ueberroth Pitch: Players Can Test Positive Without Penalty

Milton Richman
UPI

NEW YORK (UPI) — Standing at the lectern in one of the Waldorf-Astoria's huge banquet rooms, Peter Ueberroth, a man with a burdensome problem, found himself flanked by an American flag on one side and a Canadian flag on the other.

He wasn't about to sing The Star Spangled Banner or for that matter, O Canada.

That wouldn't solve his problem. Nonetheless, the flags of the two nations formed a perfect background. Together, they somehow called silent but strong attention to the gravity of the crisis facing Ueberroth in his first year as baseball commissioner plus the need for him to do something immediately about it.

and all minor league players had to submit to urinalysis so it might be determined whether they had any drugs in their systems.

That's mandatory. What Ueberroth is proposing now is that the major league players voluntarily be tested three times during the season between spring training and the playoffs.

Ueberroth is offering the players his personal guarantee that even if they test positive, they will suffer no penalty. Instead, he's saying, they will be offered all possible help. He's also assuring them of complete confidentiality. In other words they will not be held up to public criticism or scorn because their transgressions won't be revealed.

If walking the extra mile will help persuade the players to agree to his plan, Ueberroth is doing that, too.

By the authority vested in him as commissioner, he could possibly suspend or ban for life the seven players who have testified with immunity from prosecution in the Pittsburgh drug trials, but he has decided not to take any action against them. Not now, anyway, because he says he'd like to talk to them personally and maybe hold his own hearings later.

Basically, Ueberroth's proposal is quite simple.

The key word there is "voluntarily." Under the existing policy between the major league players and the owners, the players do not have to submit to such tests. Their union, the Players Association, has vigorously and stridently opposed the idea of mandatory testing with the claim it's an intrusion of the players' privacy.

John Milner also has but he's no longer playing.

Daytona 200 Motorcycle Classic Will Have Record-Setting Purse

DAYTONA BEACH — Officials at Daytona International Speedway have announced a record-setting purse of $155,000 for the 1986 Daytona 200 Motorcycle Classic for Superbikes on March 9.

The $155,000 includes $50,000 from a pair of 50-mile qualifying races, each carrying a $25,000 purse.

The $52,000 purse increase maintains the tradition of the 45th annual American Motorcyclist Association 200-mile race as the most prestigious and most lucrative two-wheeled competition in the world.

In addition to the purse increase, Speedway officials announced a revamped qualifying procedure for the Camel Pro event.

The twin 50-mile qualifying races, in addition to timed practice, will be used to set the 80 motorcycle grid for the 200-miler. The twin qualifiers will replace the 100-mile Formula 1 race that was held on Friday last year.

"Running the qualifying races on Friday gives the fans a chance to see the entire field of machines in racing action," said Speedway General Manager John Riddle. "It provides a sneak preview of Sunday's action plus it gives the competitors a chance to check their bikes out under race conditions."

Slims: White Surprises Garrison

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Anne White outperformed Zina Garrison to upset the No. 3 seed 6-2, 6-2 Wednesday at the $150,000 Virginia Slims of New Orleans.

Garrison of Houston missed many first serves and White slammed back the second shots to take the match. White, Newport Beach, Calif., said she was better prepared for this tournament than any other, working toward it all year.

In other matches at the University of New Orleans Lakefront Arena, No. 7 Peanut Louie of San Francisco defeated Lori McNeil of Houston 6-2, 7-6 and No. 5 Wendy Turnbull of Australia beat Wendy White of Atlanta 6-4, 6-1.

In doubles, Californians Terry Holladay and Heather Ludloff upset No. 2 seeds Candy Reynolds, Knoxville, Tenn., and Paula Smith, La Jolla, Calif., 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

Oviedo Hosts Fall Little League

Oviedo Little League will host a fall baseball program for children from 5 to 8 years of age on Saturdays during the months of October and November.

Registration will be held at the Oviedo Little League complex on King Street in Oviedo on Saturday, Sept. 21 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., and Tuesday, the 24th from 7 to 9 p.m. A donation of $20 per player will be requested and volunteers to coach are also being sought.

There will be two divisions: Boys and girls ages 5 to 7 who will not be moving on to the minor league division in the spring will play T-ball. And boys and girls 7 to 8 who plan on playing minor league ball.

Play will begin on Saturday, Oct. 5 and conclude on Saturday, Nov. 21. Games will be held at 10 a.m. and noon.

Wacker: TCU Expects Probation

FORT WORTH, Texas (UPI) — Texas Christian University expects to be put on probation by the NCAA because of recent revelations that football players accepted cash from school boosters.

NCAA investigators met Wednesday with coach Jim Wacker and Athletic Director Frank Windegger and asked the TCU officials not to comment on the investigation.

TCU turned itself in to the NCAA and suspended seven players — including All-America running back Kenneth Davis — who admitted taking money from boosters.

Wacker told the school's booster organization that as many as 29 current and former players took improper payments and he expects the NCAA to place TCU on probation.

McEnroe Easily Defeats Arias

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — John McEnroe, playing with some reservations about the status of his game, easily defeated Jimmy Arias Wednesday night at a $227,000 tennis tournament.

"I hope I don't tire out before the weekend like I did in my Saturday match with Wilander in the Open and then have to come out and meet Lendl," said McEnroe, who lost to the Czechoslovakian in the U.S. Open finals.

McEnroe's quick victory was in sharp contrast to the previous match in which fourth seeded Eliot Teltscher narrowly avoided an upset outlasting veteran Davis Cup performer Vijay Amritraj 6-4, 6-7 (9-7) 7-5 to reach the quarterfinals.

TRC's Late Power Show Turns Back Boveri Bid

Softball

If Brown Boveri Electric had more than two hits Wednesday night, it might have pulled off one of the biggest upsets in Sanford Men's Fall Softball League history.

But two hits just weren't enough as the Tim Raines Connection claimed a 5-1 victory in Sanford Men's Fall Softball League play at Pinchurst Field.

Brown Boveri had tied the score at 1-1 in the top of the fourth but Ned Raines' inside-the-park homer in the bottom of the fifth broke the tie and Joe Benton and Burnett Washington crushed solo homers in the sixth to sew up the win.

The Connection ran its record to 7-0 with the win while Brown Boveri fell to 2-5.

In other games Wednesday, Sessions Well Drilling stuck close to the Connection by upending Thorne Land Clearing, 5-2, and McKee Development won its second straight, 10-9, over Cardinal Industries.

In the win over Thorne Land Clearing, Sessions Well Drilling scored three times in the first then added two insurance runs in the sixth. RBI singles by Ray Bowling and Joe Ervin highlighted the first inning while Don Causseaux's double and Pete Harrison's single provided the runs in the sixth.

Session's Well Drilling, which improved to 6-1 with the win, held Thorne Land Clearing (4-3) to four hits.

In Wednesday's nightcap, McKee Development rallied for seven runs in the bottom of the seventh for a come-from-behind victory over Cardinal Industries.

Disqualifying News

Crazy Luke Graham slips between the ropes as Bugsy McGraw applies the pressure in pro wrestling action Wednesday at the Sanford Civic Center. Just under 100 fans witnessed McGraw win by disqualification. In the tag team battle, pitting Ravishing Randy Rose and Pretty Boy Doug Somers against Golden Boy Chic Donovan and Cowboy Bill Mack, it ended in double disqualification.

...Lewis

get around." And Lewis, the son of Sanford's Julia Mae Lewis, plans to fit the mold, which was further enhanced last year by Fred Brinson and Walt Lowry, both of whom made the All-County first team. "My main goal is to be an All-American," he said following a 20-13 loss to Titusville. It's a big goal, one achieved by only Dallas Brown and Clifford Martin. But with a goal like that, one doesn't need any other motivation.

Lewis took a step in that direction against Titusville. The 6-1, 180-pounder collected 6 tackles, 5 assists and a quarterback sack to earn Optimist Club of Sanford co-defensive player of the week honors with linebacker Brian Brinson.

Lewis, too, seems to have a ferocity which is sometimes lacking in the high school player. Often, the prep player can't turn on the meanness on the football field and turn it off out of uniform. So many times the dividing line between All-American or All-Stater versus All-County is bridged by that tenacity as well as ability.

Lewis said he knows the difference and he made Titusville quarterback Bobby Guthrie his first example.

Seminole trailed, 14-0. Guthrie faded to pass as the second quarter opened. Lewis muscled past his defender and headed straight for the QB. Guthrie was trapped, overwhelmed by the quickness and strength of Lewis. The big sophomore engulfed him and promptly put Guthrie on his backside.

It was his first varsity sack, one he recalled with relish. "It was the 72 flex," Lewis said about the defensive alignment. "It had been clogged up all night but this time it was wide open."

Even more impressive than the sack was the way he went about it. "I wanted to hit him soooooo hard," Lewis recounted. "But I couldn't...this time. I wanted to make sure that I got him first."

But there was a next time.

Later in the quarter, Guthrie again faded to throw. Lewis unloaded on him as he released the ball. A good, clean hard shot. Guthrie didn't play the second half. "The next time," Lewis said with just a hint of a smile, "I got him out."

It's this tenacity and determination which allows Mosure to speak of Lewis in glowing tones despite his inexperience at the varsity level. "He's definitely as good as any sophomore I've worked with," Mosure said. "That includes (Chicago Bear wide receiver) Dennis McKinnon. He can be a tremendous player by the time he's through here."

He spoke with great earnest, of course.

...Pitch

Leave it to Peter Ueberroth. He doesn't make too many wrong moves. Politically or public relations-wise. In his latest one, all he has to do is win over the up-to-now adamant Players Association and he may pull it off for several reasons.

Maybe the most important one is that his plan avoids turning this situation into one of those we-against-them confrontations. He's using the soft approach, hoping he'll catch more flies with honey than vinegar.

"Although there has been great demand for me to take dramatic action, Landis-like, if you will, I'm not going to do that today," Ueberroth said in an obvious reference to the lifetime ban imposed by baseball's first commissioner, Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, on eight of the Black Sox players even though they had been acquitted by a court of throwing the 1919 World Series.

Ueberroth quoted Landis as once saying "I want every player to feel I'm behind him and I'm his friend — so long as he's on the square," and Ueberroth said he feels the same way about the players.

More to the point, he also told them that if they don't go along with his ideas voluntarily, they may have to do so involuntarily in the long run. He said he already has been given notice by members of the Senate and the House that baseball could be subject to future governmental intervention if it doesn't solve its own problems.

...Schnitker

guidelines. "You had to be under a certain weight to be able to play and I was always too big."

So after being unable to play in middle school, Schnitker also bypassed playing football during his freshman year. He waited until entering his sophomore year at Lake Howell to begin playing.

He began his high school career as a starting linebacker and fullback for the Silver Hawk junior varsity during the 1983 season and helped lead them to a 3-3 record. Although starting at the fullback position, Schnitker was used mainly as a blocking back though for the team's fleet-footed halfback, Terry Gammons.

Last year as a junior, Schnitker moved up to the varsity squad and was one of the team's starting linebackers. He was also a backup fullback. But it was not until the eighth game of the season against Lake Mary that Schnitker showed how valuable of a runner he could be for the Silver Hawks.

With the team's starting fullback out with an injury, Schnitker got the starting assignment. He ran effectively against a strong Lake Mary defense and scored the winning touchdown as the Silver Hawks handed the Rams their only regular-season loss, 10-7.

He also started in Lake Howell's final two games of 1984 against Lyman and Winter Park and performed well.

Heading into this season, Biscaglia was counting on Schnitker to play a major part in the Silver Hawks offensive attack and the big fullback has responded with 269 yards in two games — including a 177-yard and 2-touchdown performance in the team's opener — to place a close second to Oviedo's Andrew Smith (276 yards) in the race for the county rushing title. Lake Howell has gotten off to a 2-0 start.

"Mark came into his own toward the end of last year," Biscaglia said. "And so we were counting on him and Terry Gammons to give us a good running game this year. But with Terry's injury and now Derrington possibly being out (Gammons replacement at halfback who has developed a sprained wrist), everything has been put on his shoulders."

But under those or any type of circumstances, the success of Schnitker will not surprise Biscaglia.

"Mark's heart is bigger than he is," Biscaglia said. "He is just a real good competitor. He will give me 100 percent all the time."

"I believe one of the most important assists in a player is their competitiveness. And Mark is just so competitive in all sports."

Schnitker, who also plays varsity basketball and baseball, has a few goals in mind he would like to accomplish during the 1985 football season for himself and the team.

"I would really like to gain 1,000 yards," he said. "I want to just go as hard as I can and be a team leader on offense."

"Winning the new (SAC) conference would be great. I think we have the ability to win it."

Briefly

Festivities At SCC Launch Universal Children's Day

Music, folk dancing, clowns, and informative displays will launch Universal Children's Day on Oct. 1 at Seminole Community College. Afternoon festivities will begin at 4 p.m., continuing at 7 p.m. with guest speakers and more entertainment. The Baha'is of Central Florida and the Seminole County Task Force on Child Abuse Prevention are the sponsors.

In the afternoon, watch dancers from countries around the world and regional America or roam through displays from local organizations who serve the needs of the children in central Florida.

In the evening, Glenn Rinker of WCPX-TV will speak on the plight of the children of Africa and hopes for their future. Children's author Dr. John Hatcher and Florida folklorist Dr. David Closson will also speak. More music and refreshments will follow.

Instituted in 1950 by the Baha'is of the United States, Universal Children's Day was adopted in 1972 as an international event by the United Nations. Its purpose is to promote the physical and mental well-being of the world's children.

Some of the agencies from the Seminole County Task Force on Child Abuse Prevention joining the Baha'is in promoting the day's observance are Missing Children's Center, Ursula Sunshine, UNICEF, CHARLEE, U.N.-U.S.A. Central Florida chapter, Dividends, Children's Home Society, West Lake Hospital and We Care.

Pen Women To Meet

The National League of American Pen Women will hold a luncheon at the Langford Hotel in Winter Park Oct. 5. Speaker will be Sol Malkoff, printing designer, calligrapher and typographer presently teaching Advertising Design at UCF and Calligraphy at the Matland Art Center.

Malkoff was associated with leading printers, publishers, and typographers in Chicago, Atlanta, and New York in designing books, magazines, advertising and commercial printing. He is a member of the Type Directors of New York and the Society for Italic Handwriting, London. He is past president of the Typographers Association of New York and the Atlanta Club of Printing House Craftsman.

Reservations must be made by noon, Oct. 3. For information and reservations phone 699-5510.

Cake Show Open To Public

The Seventh Annual Cake Exhibition, sponsored by the Cake Arts Society of Sanford, will be held Saturday, Sept. 28, at Holiday Inn, Interstate 4, Sanford.

According to coordinator Joan Cameron, as in the past the show will benefit the Meals on Wheels Program for elderly shut-ins.

The show is free and open to the public from 1-4 p.m. for viewing the cakes. Door prizes will be given during the afternoon.

4-H Breads Fair Saturday

Seminole County 4-H is sponsoring a special youth "Breads Fair" on Sept. 28 from 9:30-11:30 a.m. at the Seminole County Agricultural Center at Five Points. The workshop is open to youth 8-18 years of age.

This special workshop will teach a fun new way to make yeast bread in a bag. Each participant will make one loaf of bread. Cost for the workshop is $1.50 per person. Registration deadline is Sept. 20. To register call the Seminole County 4-H Office at 323-2500 Ext. 183.

PWP Membership Night Set

The DeLand-Sanford Chapter #284 of Parents Without Partners is having a membership drive. Single parents are asked to attend "Membership Night" at the DeLand Chamber of Commerce on Oct. 3 at 7:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

Contact Judy at 736-9406, Dottie at 668-5132, or Pat at 734-0187 for information.

Dinner-Dance For GAG

Howell Place of Sanford will host a candlelight dinner-dance, Friday, Sept. 27, from 6 to 9 p.m., at the facility on 200 W. Airport Boulevard. Proceeds will benefit the Golden Age Games of Sanford. The donation is $10 a couple to attend the fund-raiser.

For information and reservations call 323-7306.

Free Seafood Preparation Demo

A foods demonstration on inexpensive ways to prepare seafood will be held on Oct. 8, from 1-3 p.m. and 5:30-7:30 p.m. at the Seminole County Agricultural Center in Sanford.

Home Economist Joy Sheffield from the Florida Department of National Resources will give this free program to the public at the Extension Service, 4320 S. Orlando Drive, Sanford.

For more information contact Home Economist Barbara Hughes, 323-2500, Ext. 179 or 183.

Great Day In The Country

This soft sculpture family made a big hit in the Oviedo Woman's Club 1984 fall festival.

Spaces Available For Arts And Crafts Fest

Great Day in the Country, a fall arts and crafts festival sponsored by the Oviedo Woman's Club to benefit local charities, has been set for Nov. 9 on the picnic grounds behind St. Luke's Lutheran Church on route 426 near Red Bug Road.

Chris Reid, Great Day Chairwoman, has been planning since early spring to add a variety of special demonstrations of old and new crafts that should be of interest to all ages.

Many applications are already in for the 100 available booth spaces. Applications will be accepted until Oct. 1 or until all spaces are filled. Church groups, youth groups, civic clubs and service organizations are encouraged to participate if they wish to raise funds for their needs.

Brochures have been sent to area artists and craftsmen who will be selling handmade wares and competing for cash prizes. If you are an artist or craftsman and have not received a brochure, please contact the following for information: Great Day in the Country, P.O. Box 1607, Oviedo, FL 32765 or call (305) 365-5496 or 365-3483.

'Man In The Glass' A Priceless Gift

DEAR ABBY: Many years ago, when I was a young boy, I memorized a poem titled "The Man in the Glass." Since then, I have included it with my gift to many boys on their 13th birthday. (According to the Jewish religion, a boy officially becomes a man at 13.)

I have been told by many who have received it that the poem itself was a priceless gift. I am enclosing the poem and hope you feel it is worthy of printing.

MILTON R., TRENTON, N.J.

DEAR MILTON: It is, and I thank you for it.

THE MAN IN THE GLASS
When you get what you want in your struggle for self
And the world makes you king for a day.

Just go to a mirror and look at yourself
And see what that man has to say.

For it isn't your father or mother or wife
Whose judgment upon you must pass.

The fellow whose verdict counts most in your life
Is the one staring back from the glass.
Some people might think you're a straight-shootin' chum
And call you a wonderful guy.

But the man in the glass says you're only a bum
If you can't look him straight in the eye.

He's the fellow to please, never mind all the rest
For he's with you clear to the end
And you've passed your most dangerous test
If the guy in the glass is your friend.

You may fool the whole world down the pathway of years
And get pats on the back as you pass
But your final reward will be

Dear Abby

heartache and tears
If you've cheated the man in the glass.

— AUTHOR UNKNOWN

DEAR ABBY: How do you tell a middle-aged man who is going bald that letting the few remaining strands of hair grow long, then wrapping them around his head, does not give the illusion of having hair? It just makes them look ridiculous!

I know that everyone has the right to wear his hair the way he wants to, but I'm sure if men knew how bad they look when they try to cover their baldness in this way, they wouldn't do it.

I love this man dearly, but there is no way I can tell him what I've told you. So please print this, Abby. Not only for the man I love, but for other men who make this ridiculous effort at covering the obvious.

SPLITTING HAIRS IN FL

Diuretics Capable Of Producing Gout

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — My cousin tells me she has gout. I thought this disease went out with the Dark Ages.

DEAR READER — Plague was more characteristic of the Dark Ages; gout is still very much with us, for an interesting reason I'll describe in a minute.

When human bodies metabolize protein, they produce a chemical called uric acid. Uric acid remains dissolved in slightly acid fluid and is normally excreted by the kidneys. Some people however, have a genetic tendency to manufacture more uric acid than normal. (I'm simplifying the description to make a point.) Under certain circumstances, when body fluids become less acid, uric acid leaves the solution and crystallizes in the form of tiny barbs. This crystallization process tends to take place in joint fluids and in parts of the kidneys. The crystals of uric acid are then free to puncture, lacerate and irritate joint linings and kidney tissues. Although the joints are very sensitive to this injury — and produce pain — the kidneys do not. So when we think of gout, we usually think of acute and very painful arthritis. People have been developing gouty arthritis for millennia.

Here's the hitch: Many people today have high blood pressure. One of the most common treatments for hypertension is a class of compounds called diuretics, which are kidney stimulants. Diuretics have a tendency to produce gouty arthritis in people who are susceptible. Therefore, more people today have gout than is due, in part, to modern treatment of a separate disease.

Gout is entirely controllable by the use of a drug that blocks the formation of uric acid. Although humans have suffered gout for centuries, they no longer have to put up with the symptoms.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I read that microbiologists at Tulane University have had success in treating common warts with daily applications of Vitamin C-enriched cod liver oil. They disappear in four to 12 weeks. Would ordinary cod liver oil do the same thing?

DEAR READER — Many so-called "folk remedies" are safe and may produce results. Cod-liver-oil treatment for warts is such a remedy. Boosting the oil with vitamin C may or may not enhance its activity. To the extent that cod-liver oil cures warts, the addition of the vitamin is probably superfluous. Send your questions to Dr. Gott at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, Ohio 44101.

WIN AT BRIDGE

It was not surprising that the bidding got as high as it did on today's deal. That usually happens when both sides have a good fit and the high-card strength is evenly divided. That five spades was not doubted was unusual, but logical. East's jump to four hearts described a hand with great playing strength in hearts, but not necessarily great defensive values. So when North and South were forced to play five spades, the opponents were happy enough to have them that high. Fine if South went down, but if he was going to make it, it would not be in a doubled contract.

South could now draw trumps and make a diamond play, but that line is both simplistic and lazy. Whenever there is a key play to be made in a side suit, you should search for more information to lead you to the right decision. Here it was best for South to trump a second club in dummy, play the spade ace and a spade to the queen, and then trump the last club. West would reveal that he had started with the A-Q alone of clubs. Thus East had started with seven clubs. Surely East had four hearts for his four-heart jump over North's takeout double. And of course East had followed to one spade play. What's left in diamonds? Only one.

South can make the contract if he applies bridge logic. West led the club ace and switched to a heart. East won the king and tried the ace, but declarer ruffed.

Declarer can now play his diamond king and take the marked finesse against the queen to land his contract.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY SEPTEMBER 27, 1985
 A financial upswing is in the offing for you in the year ahead. An enterprise that starts off with a trickle will gradually increase into a gusher.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you are a poor collector today regarding something that is owed you, considerable time could elapse before the debt is finally settled. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker set instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Situations that are a trifle too difficult for others to manage will be dumped on you today. Fortunately, they picked the right guy.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Even if it costs you a degree of inconvenience, it's best today not to leave an important matter dangling. Seek it through to the end.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) This is a good day to get together with an old friend you've been neglecting lately. Don't let this valuable relationship wither.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Positive measures can be taken today to shore up your economic foundations and enhance your material security. Think money.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your greatest asset today is your mental fortitude. If you set your mind on a specific goal, you'll figure out ways to achieve it.
ARIES (March 21-April 19) You are finally going to be rewarded for something you did for a friend, which you thought was never acknowledged or appreciated.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Although you'll be in a social mood, you're still not apt to feel at ease being part of a large group. Seek quality companionship, not quantity.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Something special you will do today will win respect from your peers and enhance your reputation. It won't be easy to pull off.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) A matter about which you have been doubtful will work out smoothly today. You'll be relieved to learn your apprehensions were groundless.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Do not be resistant to changes today, even if they are not of your own doing. Shifts in conditions will prove to your benefit in the long run.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Insist today that the person with whom you made an arrangement honors the terms originally agreed upon.

Now It Can Be Told: Patty Couldn't Sing Harmony

By Dick Kleiner
HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Anybody with at least one winsome gray hair remembers the Andrews Sisters, "Beer Barrel Polka," "Bei Mir Bist Du Schon" and all those dandy sounds of the '30s and '40s.
 Most of us can shut our eyes and conjure up a mental movie of those three girls — pretty Maxene at our left, tall and cheerful Laverne at our right and vivacious Patty in the middle, the lead singer.
 We always figured Patty was the best singer, otherwise why would she be in the middle, doing all the solos? Well, now comes the revelation, after all these years.
 "Patty was the lead singer because singing harmony came naturally to me and Laverne," says Maxene today. "But Patty couldn't sing harmony. So it worked better for her to be the lead singer, and we would just harmonize with her."

 The group has long since broken up. Laverne died almost 20 years ago. And Patty and Maxene are no longer friends.
 "We don't talk," says Maxene. "But I'm not going to talk about that."
 But now, at 69, Maxene is embarking on a career as a soloist. She has just recorded an album, "Maxene: An Andrews Sister" (on the Bainbridge label), which is her first ever by herself.
 For some years, after Laverne's death, Patty and Maxene worked together. Then, when they split acrimoniously in '79, Maxene thought of retiring. But she says she is only happy when she is singing, so she slowly began working up an act by herself.
 "When I began going out on my own," she says, "it was a shock to my system. I was so insecure I had to go to a vocal coach, and he tried to instill some confidence in me. It was scary, let me tell you, to do my first performance alone."

 But she stuck to it, singing the obligatory medley of the old Andrews Sisters' hits and adding some new songs occasionally. Her search for new material brought her one day to an arranger's studio. He said he had a song that sounded as though it had been written expressly for her by the composer, a school teacher.
 The song was "I Suppose" and the composer was Nancy Goland, who happened to be married to the arranger, Arnold Goland. And the song was perfect for Maxene Andrews. It forms the keystone of her new album, which Arnold Goland eventually arranged and produced.
 "We recorded it the way we used to record songs," Maxene says. "The orchestra and I were in the studio at the same time. I can't work the way they record today — a track at a time. I have to hear it all together at the same time."

While Maxene looks for new material constantly, she won't attempt to sing anything with a rock sound.
 "I just haven't the vocal gymnastics to sing rock," she says. "In my era, singers were pure singers — Perry Como, Maggie Whiting, people like that."
 "Today, it isn't singing at all that these rock stars do. If you have the money to buy good electronic equipment, you can be a singer today. It's all electronics. I don't know how today's singers would sound if they took their noise away."
 So she is still singing the way she always sang — except now there are no two sisters standing next to her. At 69, she doesn't know if it's too late to become a star all over again, but she's game to try.
 "Maybe I will. Maybe not. I really don't care. As long as the Lord lets me sing, I'll be happy."

Quickie Counseling

How To Shake The Blues And Not Your Budget

By Michael Hestand
 How often, during a bout of the blues, have you wondered if your worries warrant psychological counseling? And how often have you dispelled the thought of therapy because of its high price and prolonged commitment?
 Freud may not have intended psychiatry to be convenient, cost-effective and self-motivating. But short-term therapists do.
 "Short-term therapists are like master mechanics," says Milton Berger, the co-director of the American Short-Term Therapy Center in New York City. "They must have a long and complete education so they can fix the carburetor without tearing down the engine."

 A hybrid approach to counseling, short-term therapy is a less expensive, less time-consuming course of therapy that benefits people who wouldn't normally see a therapist.
 The key to successful short-term therapy is focusing on one or two specific problems. Then, the patient and therapist work at identifying the problem, understanding past and present events that may have given rise to it and resolving it in as short a time as possible.

 Berger says that the most effective treatment comes from borrowing techniques from a variety of therapies: gestalt therapy, transactional analysis, psychoanalysis, assertiveness training, encounter groups, family counseling and behavior modification.
 "A short-term therapist doesn't allow prolonged sidetracking into other problems," says Berger. "If a patient goes too far away from the specific problem, whether it's work or family related, he won't go back to face it. It's our duty as therapists to resist a patient's inertia and desire for someone to rescue him and to remind him that he is responsible for himself."
 David Grant, a copywriter for an advertising firm, turned to a short-term therapist when he found that he was boring friends with his negative comments on everything from restaurants to a friend's new car. He knew that something was disturbing him, but hesitated when he thought of seeing a counselor because he was wary of a "long-term commitment that I knew I couldn't afford."

 After eight visits with his short-term therapist, Grant realized that he had been sitting quietly through an office shake-up, afraid to ask his boss what was going on.
 "I knew my work was good but I needed some affirmation from the boss. So at his [the therapist's] urging I went in and asked if he had any problems with me."
 "He didn't act surprised or concerned. He said things were fine, and thanked me for asking. I felt a little embarrassed, but I never had to see the therapist again."
 Short-term therapy can involve from six to 26 sessions with an average cost of $75 for a private session, $40 for a group. Even at its most expensive, the counseling runs less than $2,000. Compared to the price of $3,000 to $6,000 for a week of psychiatric hospitalization and $4,000 to 8,000 for a year of private outpatient consultation, it's a bargain for keeping emotionally fit.

 But short-term therapists are quick to point to the limitations of their discipline, and dispel the notion that there are psychiatric shortcuts. There is a specialized approach to specific emotions, anxiety and stress.
 "Short-term therapy won't work for chronic depressives, those addicted to alcohol or drugs, borderline personalities or anyone with a history of suicide attempts or hospitalization for mental illness," says Max Rosenbaum, a psychologist and co-director of the Short-Term Therapy Center.
 But if you feel that you're under too much stress, or that you're drinking too much these days, or that the fun is out of your home life and work, short-term help "might be the remedy to the nagging anxiety that if allowed to persist, may mushroom into a major disabling situation," says Rosenbaum.
 Dr. Peter Sifneos, a psychiatrist at the Harvard Medical School, concurs.
 "Research into patient treatment over the past 25 years shows that short-term therapy helps people to cope with crises

It's 'Cats Only' At This Motel

By Linda Warren
ADA, Mich. (UPI) — Unabashed cat lover Joyce Snyder firmly believes nothing is too good for a feline, and guests in her country vacation hideaway have no complaints about the appointments in their "residential units."
 At Joyce's Kitty Motel in the pastoral woods of Ada Township, cats aren't merely boarded, they're treated like royalty at a pet spa. Snyder says many of her pampered roomers aren't that excited when it's time to go home.
 Meals are home cooked daily to each cat owners' specific order — one resident dined only on a special blend of spinach and bananas — and each of the 30 units is fully carpeted and furnished with brightly patterned feather pillows.
 Easy listening music is piped in or, especially when there's a full house, Snyder turns on the television. She said her guests particularly enjoy cartoons and wildlife adventures, especially if they feature brightly colored birds.
 "I like to treat them like little people because that's what they are to me," said Snyder, who has eight "very spoiled" cats of her own at home. Snyder lives right next door to the cottage-style boarding house, which is the only "cats only" boarding facility in the state.
 The daily routine for guests includes three "play periods" daily, when cats are let out one at a time for a full run of the two-floor cottage. A wide array of cat toys is provided and Snyder gives each one lots of individual attention to assure even the most finicky feline doesn't get bored.
 She has converted four of the individual units into doubles by cutting an archway in the dividing wall, so pairs can stay together. One "room" is set aside for dining and litter facilities and the other for sleeping.
 "It's definitely more upsetting to cats to be boarded than for dogs," Snyder said. "Cats want privacy but they have a lot of personality and need contact with people, too."
 Cats normally are boarded in facilities that take dogs as well and so spend all of their time cooped up in open wire cages with little of the personal attention they need, she said.
 A grooming routine, including a full brushing to guard against hair balls, is on the daily agenda for guests at the Kitty Motel. The motel's units also are cleaned and disinfected each day and the carpeted "playroom" gets a twice daily vacuuming, Snyder said.
