Authority could govern future county supply

By Steve Paradis

SANFORD — Taking more water out of the aquifer than gets returned each year could lead a Seminole County water authority that would control drinking supplies, according to the county's new director of Environmental Services.

"We're mining the groundwater," said John Cirello, who moved into his position in July. "We're taking out more than is replenished."

He said the area has an average rainfall of 59 inches per year. About five inches runs off and eventually reaches the ocean. Nine inches seeps

Church project exposes phobias for Halloween

By Liane Edixon

LONGWOOD — Instead of conquering blood, gore, and evil this Halloween, the Covenant Community Church in Longwood will ask you to face your fears.

Face the Fear House was opened around Halloween last year for the first time. The F.E.A.R. Institute, a mythological storyline, about Dr. Carl von Cousel, who crossed the line in correcting and studying people's phobias, allegedly opened its doors in 1989. It closed down after some mishaps, but was reopened as an exhibit for "three extremely dark evenings" last year. At last year's event the doctor made an appearance and things got out of hand, the story goes.

This year, it's a manhunt, which will begin as you tour the doctor's home in search for the man who tested people's frights as his life work. But, be prepared, because the hunters will become the hunted at this

A time and a place for bugs

SANFORD — The Central Florida Zoological Park has gone buggy with the opening of the Massey Services Insect Zoo on Oct. 18, 2005.

The attraction is located in the new Wayne M. Densch Discovery Center, which finished construction earlier this year.

The insect exhibit has been in the planning stages for years, and under construction for more than 10 months. A ribbon cutting was held Tuesday morning as Harvey Massey, owner of Massey Services, cut the gold ribbon.

Massey told the crowd of people, which included students from Blue Lake Academy, that some might think it's unusual that a company whose business is getting rid of bugs, sponsored an insect zoo. "It really isn't," Massey said.

The owner explained that in his company of more than 400 employees they look at quality of life differently. They consider education, health care, social services, faith, and arts and culture, all parts of quality of life.

When Massey found out that close to 65,000 children visit the zoo each year, he felt that participating in the project would be an element of not only entertainment for children, but also education.

Lake Mary artist polishes her love for color and creativity

By Karia Reyes

LAKE MARY — A glass bead artist, Sandra Lent, is ready to display her work for the 19th Annual Lake Mary-Heathrow Festival of the Arts on Nov. 5 and 6.

Lent has delved into other art endeavors in the past such as tile back splashes for kitchens; however, she found her passion for glass beads when a dear friend of hers gave her one as a gift.

What started as a hobby five years ago has turned into a profession. Art glass-bead jewelry-making affords Lent the opportunity to be creative. "I love colors," Lent said. "I like being creative. I just love it."

According to a member of the board of directors of the art festival, Trish Thompson, the application process to be in the show is involved, requiring slides of work as well as a resume. The art is then juried by a committee.

"Lent is an established artist who does beautiful work," Thompson said.

In addition to glass beads, Lent does some basic metal work, such as rings.

The process of making the glass beads entails melting a glass rod with an oxygen torch at 1,600 degrees and then when the glass is pliable putting it on a coated mandrel to form the bead. After the glass is on the mandrel, additional layers of glass can be included to make different colors, forming a design.

Once the bead design is complete, it's put on a kiln to cool for several hours.

According to Lent's Web site, sandysbeads.com, "if this [cooling] process is omitted, you may have a bead that is unstable over time."

Lent tries to stay away from the "cutesy" beads to establish her product as more sophisticated and high-end than other bead jewelry. She only uses

SEMINOLE SUMMARY

A GLANCE AROUND OUR COUNTY

Lights out: I'm not sure what the prevailing opinion is on year-round Christmas lights, but according to Jeff Foxworthy — the arbitrator of all things bumpkin — "you might be a redneck if the neighbors start a petition over your Christmas lights."

My personal opinion is that twinkling lights in July are tacky, but what do I know. I think prominently displaying my Andy Griffith Trivia Game enhances the 12-year-old furniture that I try to pass off as shabby chic décor. Evidently the city of Sanford Code Enforcement Department agrees (about the lights, not the trivia game).

Barbara Farrell, the empress of real estate in downtown Sanford, was recently cited by Code Enforcement for having Christmas lights hanging outside her residence, which just happens to be the old Sanford firehouse built in 1887.

As far as Christmas lights go, these were not overly obtrusive. The tiny, clear bulbs hung down from Farrell's awning and actually accentuated that section of Palmetto Avenue. But hey, they're Christmas lights and the city's trying to "raise the bar," as Mayor Linda Kuhn likes to say.

Farrell complied with Code Enforcement (actually the department has been renamed Community Improvement — less tacky I suppose) and took the lights down without a fuss. The whole thing seems rather ridiculous to me for this reason: directly across the street from Farrell the roof is literally caving in on 3D's Jamaican Bakery. Mayor Kuhn knows about it, members of the Downtown Community Redevelopment Agency know about it and, if I'm not mistaken, Police Chief Brian Tooley and Fire Chief Jerry Ransom know about it.

City officials talk a lot about preserving Sanford's historical downtown. By their actions, I guess decorative lights rank higher on the preservation priority list than actually saving buildings that are near collapse. I'm not saying Farrell should have received a pass on the lights, but for gosh sakes, when is the Community Improvement Department actually going to improve the community?

Century mark: Anybody noticed the small advertising sign on the east side of French Avenue just south of 20th Street? It says "2 Barbers — 100 years experience." Holy smoke, imagine the tall tales those gentlemen have heard as they worked the clippers over the years. Just to be on the safe side, though, I wouldn't sit in the chair until the arthritis medicine kicks in.

One more week: I had a lot of e-mails this week from folks trying to win that $25 gift certificate to the Willow Tree Restaurant. The winner was Winter Springs resident R.T. Hillery, formerly of Sanford. He correctly guessed that the Elephant Man is really — well I can't say.

It seems that the Elephant Man's co-workers don't like him very much. They have asked me to extend the contest another week for the sole purpose of having his picture published one more time in The Sanford Herald. The prize this time is a $25 tab at Beer 30 on Airport Boulevard.

As you'll remember from last week, Elephant Man lost a wager to me regarding the outcome of the Alabama-Florida football game. His payoff for foolishly believing the Gators could defeat my Bama boys was donating the mask of the mighty pachyderm, the official mascot of the University of Alabama.

So loyal readers, you have another chance to earn a prize. To recap, here are the clues:

- He's a rabid Florida Gator fan.
- Like all Gator fans, he can't curtail the trash talking so I've dubbed him the "King of Jeers."
- He distributes one of the world's most popular beverages.

I'll add one more clue: Elephant Man is actively involved in numerous Central Florida charities, most prominently the Central Florida Zoo (appropriately enough) and the Central Florida YMCA.

Send an e-mail to dping@seminoleherald.com. Write the words "Elephant Man — Week 2" in the subject line. Mr. Hillery and his family members are, of course, excluded from this contest, as are employees of The Herald and their families. (What's a contest without a legal disclaimer?)

Identify the Elephant Man and win a $25 tab at Beer 30. By the way, the Elephant Man in question is on the left. Anyone who sends my name in owes me $25.

Sincere Pumpkins

If Linus from The Peanuts is correct, then this pumpkin patch will receive a visit from the Great Pumpkin because of its sincerity. John Behling of Casselberry manned the pumpkin patch on Ronald Reagan Boulevard, which includes pumpkins and gourds of all sizes as well as a maze and photo opportunity area. Sales benefit the youth ministry of nearby Covenant Community Church.

He was charged with possession of cocaine and possession of narcotic equipment.

courts on Celery Avenue. He was also charged with driving with a suspended license and possession of no more than 20 grams of marijuana.

• Thyrisa Stafford, 66, of West 13th Street, was arrested by Sanford police on Oct. 18, after he pulled off the road and began walking around the vehicle with a flashlight. When the officer on patrol went to check on him he detected a "strong odor of an unknown alcoholic beverage emitting from his breath." Stafford also gave the officer his wrong birthdate. He was charged with DUI, driving with a suspended license, and fraud for giving a false i.d. to an officer.

• Bruce Hipsher, 49, of Hayes Drive, was arrested by Sanford police Oct. 17, after not stopping at a stop sign. Hipsher was charged with driving with a suspended license, in addition to the citation for running a stop sign. A check on Hipsher's license showed it has been suspended 11 times.

Sunday, and Eastmonte and Westmonte parks in Altamonte Springs.

On the bright side, once the hurricane has retreated into the Atlantic Ocean, temperatures in Central Florida will drop into the 70s for daytime highs and 50 for nighttime lows.

Those with travel plans that involve the Orlando-Sanford International Airport, and who have concerns about how those plans might be affected by Hurricane Wilma, are asked to call the airline they are flying with, rather than the airport. Please consult your ticket for information on how to contact the airline.

Seminole County Government also reminds residents to check their hurricane preparedness list and to restock supplies, such as batteries, food and water; just in case. Seminole County will provide information on the web at: www.seminolecountyfl.gov, as well as on Seminole Government Television (SGTV).

If there are major changes in the storm system during the weekend, the citizens' information line, 407-665-0311, will be staffed with a Seminole County Government, service representative, according to Steve Olson, Sheriff's Office spokesman.

County and municipal emergency personnel listen as former Seminole County Fire Chief Terry Schenck gives the forecast for Hurricane Wilma Friday morning.

Water

back into the groundwater and eventually reaches the aquifer. That leave 45 inches evaporating back into the sky to rain somewhere else.

About 24 inches of water per year, however, gets sucked out of the aquifer for drinking or irrigation, Cirello said, mostly for irrigation.

He spoke at the Joint City/County Advisory Committee meeting Oct. 19. Cirello explained that the county has 16 water utilities, including eight privately owned, seven municipal utilities and one county utility.

"The big problem is irrigation," Cirello said later in an interview with The Herald.

Many homeowners associations want those lawns to look nice, but potable water is often used to do it, he explained. That is changing. A new sewer project in Lake Mary, for example, will include reclaimed water. Lake Mary, Sanford and Seminole County have a three-way partnership with reclaimed water.

The St. Johns River Water Management District wants governments to use more reclaimed water in the future.

In Lake Mary again, their potable water permit will roll back in 2014. That year the allowable usage for potable water will return to 2000 levels, which is less than what the city uses now. Reclaimed water will be a large part of the solution.

In fact, Cirello said, the tri-party agreement has requested to put in a surface water plant at the confluence of the St. Johns and Wekiva rivers. Up to 10 million gallons a day will be treated to reclaimed water standards, he said.

But the water manage-

“ I think we need a water authority.”

Mayor Thomas Walters of the city of Oviedo

ment district wants communities to put forward a unified effort when it comes to water supply. That is where the water authority idea developed.

Cirello pitched the notion at the joint committee Wednesday by issuing a warning first that this is something municipalities might not want to hear. The reception was mainly positive, however, among those attending the meeting, including mayors and commissioners as well as business representatives.

Cirello said communities are usually reluctant to give up their resources. A water authority would take control away from the municipalities, but the director described it as a wholesale partnership, which played well with his audience.

The water authority would be comprised of a representative from each of the partners involved, a one-entity, one-vote policy that works better than basing control on population, Cirello said.

The authority would provide treatment and service, but the utilities would still retail the water to customers, who for the cities are also their constituents. Private utilities would be treated like the cities, he said.

"The days of us all acting independently ... are quickly coming to a close," Cirello said.

Something has to be done, Cirello concluded. "We water quite luxuriously. We water everything," he said. Some areas of Seminole County water up to 350 gallons per person per day. The national average is 100 gallons per person.

"They're using it for irrigation," he explained.

If something is not done, wetlands will dry up as well as wells. Saltwater will eventually intrude and water costs will increase dramatically, he told the committee.

People see many lakes and ponds loaded with water, but what they don't realize is that water returning to the aquifer moves about 15 inches per year. The huge Floridan aquifer, where the county obtains potable water, is hundreds of feet underground.

Other resources may be used such as affluent from treated sewage, as Sanford Commissioner Randy Jones brought up. Cirello agreed.

He also said water supply is not a problem unique to Seminole County. The county has permits issued years ago where potable water is used to irrigate golf courses. This will need to change in the future, he said.

"I think we need a water authority," said Oviedo Mayor Thomas Walters. "I'm in full support of that." He wants the concept to be looked at on a larger scale, and government leaders are just starting to consider the future of the water supply issue.

OPINION

They Need You

One of the outstanding events we have here in Central Florida every weekend, (usually on Friday night), is the high school football game. Why don't more people attend these games?

Sports enthusiasts who are addicted to professional sports are prone to respond that they can't stand to watch high school level games with their fumbles, people tripping over their own feet, missed passes, and otherwise amateur playing. They want to watch someone like Cadillac Williams (Tampa Bucs), dashing down the field, outrunning the opposing team, and taking that ball to a first down or to the end of the field. They want to see a pass thrown half way across the field or further, and caught by someone who is in place and knowing that it's coming.

Nick Pfeifauf

But you know, five to seven years ago, Cadillac Williams was playing on his high school team. While he may have been an outstanding player at that age, there were still people in the stands looking at him with dismay, bemoaning the fact that this was amateur football.

The point here is to call attention to the lack of support at many of our local high school games. These are not just football games, but entertainment events. There are cheerleaders dancing, leaping up into the air and performing gymnastics. There are high school bands performing during half time, as well as keeping the music going during drives down the field or accenting a touchdown. There are often flag-teams with outstanding routines and colorful demonstrations.

Pausing here for a moment to discuss the high school bands, it isn't like the old days. Very few of them will strut out onto the field playing a stirring John Phillip Sousa march. These days, the music consists of show tunes, TV show themes, and tunes from the top of the music charts including rock & roll and other types.

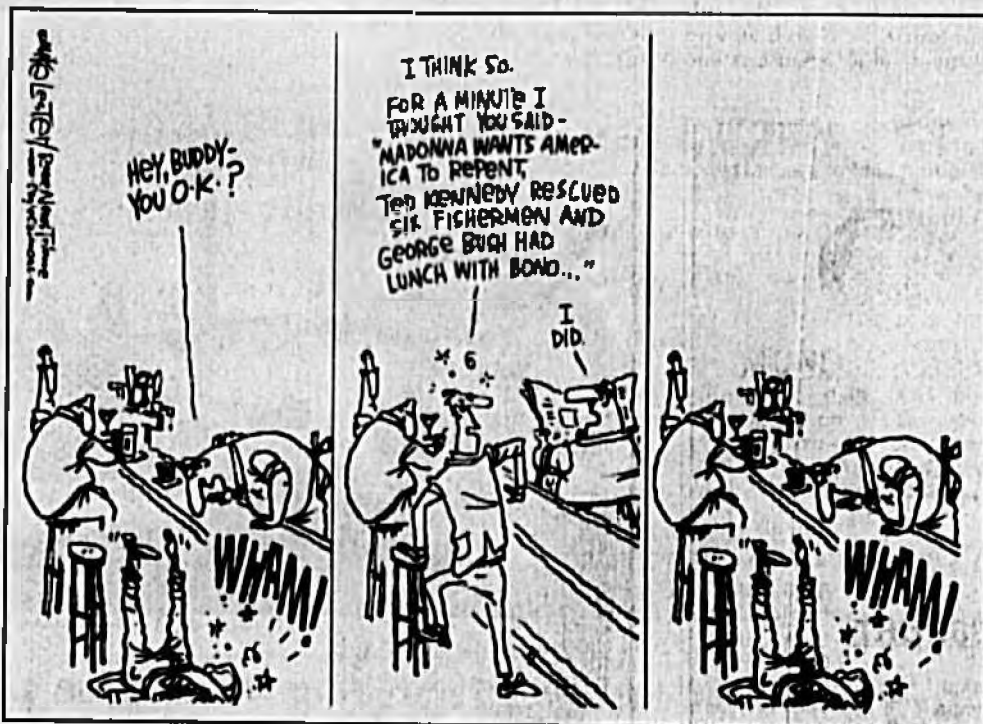

Musicians in these high school bands not only play music as they march, but must be excellent dancers, who follow intricate maneuvers while on the field. When I played in the high school band, we used to feel proud of ourselves if we could form the letter "C" for our school while marching. If our band could form "CHS" on the field, that was a major accomplishment. Now, bandsmen (and women) go into such complex patterns that it is often astounding how they could do what they do. Considering these, I must give my compliments to all band teachers and drum majors who create these outstanding performances.

Now, getting back to the games, and often the lack of attendance, it should be expected that, at least parents of the youngsters playing football, or involved in the band, cheerleaders or twirlers, will hopefully attend. Unfortunately, many don't.

We've all seen TV shows or movies where a youngster, for years, wishes his or her parents had seen that big play on the field, or a special performance. "Daddy, you missed my touchdown, and you promised you would be there". For some parents, missing a game may not be a big deal, but for the youngsters, if parents miss "the big one", it's a memory the children will have into adult-hood.

The football teams aren't pros. The bands aren't John Phillip Sousa. The cheerleaders and twirlers aren't the Radio City Rockettes. But attending these games, you will see youngsters who could be stars of the future. Say what you will, they are trying to be their best to win for their team, but mostly, want to make you proud.

NEXT WEEK, for Halloween, a ghost story out of Charleston, South Carolina.

To the Editor

I appreciate Nick Pfeifauf's column bringing attention to Fire Prevention Week and its historical significance. It is most appreciated that you brought attention to the fact that most fires you cited were started by human beings. Even as recently as Feb. 20, 2003, there were 100 fatalities at the nightclub (Station) fire in Warwick, R.I., again by human error. Today most of these fires are prevented by the Fire Prevention Division which is the fire code enforcement arm of fire departments. But sadly, most fatalities occur in single family residences. Although there has been only one fire fatality in the City of Sanford over the last nine years, nationally there have been over 4,000 deaths last year in the United States from fire, and 94 percent occur in residences. Although the Sanford Fire Department's firefighters stand ready to rush in, I would remind citizens that having smoke detectors in their home is the single most important act they can do to protect themselves. If anyone is unable to afford one they can simply call the department and we will, through grant monies and private donations, supply one and install it for them.

If anyone needs assistance with installing one or would like some advice on where to place it, we can assist with that as well. Please call 407-302-1091 for assistance. If citizens can remember only one thing as we observe Fire Prevention Week this year, let it be this: smoke detectors save lives.

Sincerely,

Jerry Ransom
Fire Chief

Fab Follies kick off 2005-2006 season this weekend at Helen Stairs Theatre

SANFORD — The Fab Follies, Central Florida's premier senior entertainment troupe, with a talented cast of men and women, will perform their brand new musical extravaganza for the coming year, "In The Pink", which promises to be the best production yet.

Glamour is back — and so is wholesome entertainment! With stunning costumes, precision dancing, clever specialty numbers and hit tunes from the past, right up to the present day, there is, indeed, something for everyone to enjoy in this year's new performance.

Hundreds of hours are spent rehearsing the Fab Follies musical revues. The inspiration for all this hard work comes from the show's producer, director and choreographer, Elizabeth Taylor, a professional performer for many years.

It was she who realized that the theatre-going public longed for entertainment, both pleasing to the ear and the eye, and it was she who realized that seniors can do anything they set their mind to do.

Most of the Fab Follies 35-member cast have some previous experience in theatre.

As Ms. Taylor says, "We are a cast of singers who can dance, and dancers who can sing."

Hip replacements, knee replacements and other health conditions are all but forgotten as the troupe puts in the long hours of singing and dancing rehearsals necessary to insure a professional production — and every one of them has fun doing it.

The season opens with "In the Pink" starting Saturday, Oct. 22 and Sunday, Oct. 23 at 2 p.m. in the Helen Stairs Theatre, 203 Magnolia Ave., Sanford.

Reserved seating is $15 for orchestra and $12 for balcony.

Contact the box office at 407-321-8111.

To book one of our performances, or for more information on the Fab Follies contact: Elizabeth A. Taylor at 407-699-6222 or visit our Web site @ www.fabfollies.com.

The Way We Were:

Thinking of the weather

I know that we have all been thinking about weather for the past several months, so I thought I'd bring you a weather column. These are mostly some memories of mine.

Grace Marie Stinecifer

In the Orlando Sentinel, Oct. 2004, there was a map showing the paths of major Category 3 hurricanes since 1851 that have had an impact on Florida. Also listed were their dates and names, if they had one. The first named storm was Easy in Sept. 1950.

I recall, as many of you do, getting out of school for hurricanes several times during the 1940's and early 1950's. The forecasts back then were probably not as accurate so schools wouldn't have wanted to take a chance. I don't recall much damage here from any of these.

I remember Hurricane Easy, though I didn't know its name until recently. The paths on the map are very confusing as they cross each other and sometimes merge. It looks like Easy was all over the state on the west coast through the Orlando area, Daytona Beach, and into Georgia.

You longtime readers of this column may recall my writing about the club that 17 of us girls had from fifth through 12th grade. Among other activities, we would spend a week at New Smyrna Beach each summer beginning in 1950.

We stayed at a house called Sandy Shack that summer, Aug. 28 - Sept. 4, 1950. On Sunday, Sept. 3, it rained hard all day and all our cots on the ocean side of the room got wet, so we doubled up on the dry cots that night. Sandra Dunn slept with me. I don't know whether we knew a hurricane was coming or not. We went home the next day, Labor Day.

School was to open Sept. 5, and we were excited about entering Seminole High as ninth graders. Schools were closed though, Sept. 5th and 6th because of Hurricane Easy. From my diary entries, Tuesday must not have been a bad day as my mother and I went shopping in Orlando and that night my parents and I went to the Morris home to celebrate my Uncle Herman's birthday.

It did rain all day Wednesday, but not bad enough to prevent us from going to town, going to school to pick up my schedule and to eat at Angels that night. Nothing was said about any hurricane damage.

We finally got to enter SHS on Thursday. Several of us met at Barb Cassube's on West 18th Street and entered school together. I will always remember my first day at Seminole High. In my homeroom class I was elected its president and at our first freshman class meeting that day, I was elected class president.

There was a hurricane named King listed in October, 1950, and I found a mention of that in my diary. "No school, Hurricane. Rained in. We really had a time."

I went on to say that I listened to the radio until the power went off, read, talked on the phone, and made fudge. (We had a gas stove).

The path of King as shown in the newspaper drawing had it coming in right at Miami, crossing Lake Okechobee, going through West Seminole County, and then to Georgia. I'm beginning to wonder if these paths are correct as two days later, my parents and I drove to Miami and went to the Miami-Boston football game that night. The next day we went shopping and then to a baseball all-star game. (The American League won 7-0). I don't remember this at all, but we used to go to Miami often to games and to visit my great aunt and uncle who lived three blocks from the Orange Bow.

Anyway, I do not mention anything about hurricane damage so it must have been minimal. And ball games must go on.

Of course I remember Hurricane Donna in 1960. I was living in Winter Park while teaching there, but came home to Sanford when I heard the hurricane advisory. I especially remember the wind and hard rains that night. We were kept busy with towels and mops as the rain blew under the doors. There was quite a bit of debris in our back yard the next day and our wooden garage had been damaged. Our power was out for a while, but we had a gas stove and water heater so we were not too inconvenienced. Schools were closed for a few days. When I returned to my duplex apartment behind the owner's home, I found that a tree had fallen on it. No real damage was done. My landlords had cooked several meals on their outdoor grill as the power had been off for several days. It was still off for about a day after I returned.

We have had several really cold winters here through the years. There are two that I especially remember.

During the winter of 1958, I was interning at Killarney Elementary School in Winter park and had rented a room in a widow's home in College Park. I ate cereal and juice there for breakfast, lunch at school and dinner out, usually at Howard Johnson's, as it was close by. It was a very cold winter. I remember the teachers wearing several layers of clothes plus warm socks. My car was not in a garage, so several mornings there was thick frost on my windshield that I would have to pour hot water on to scrape off.

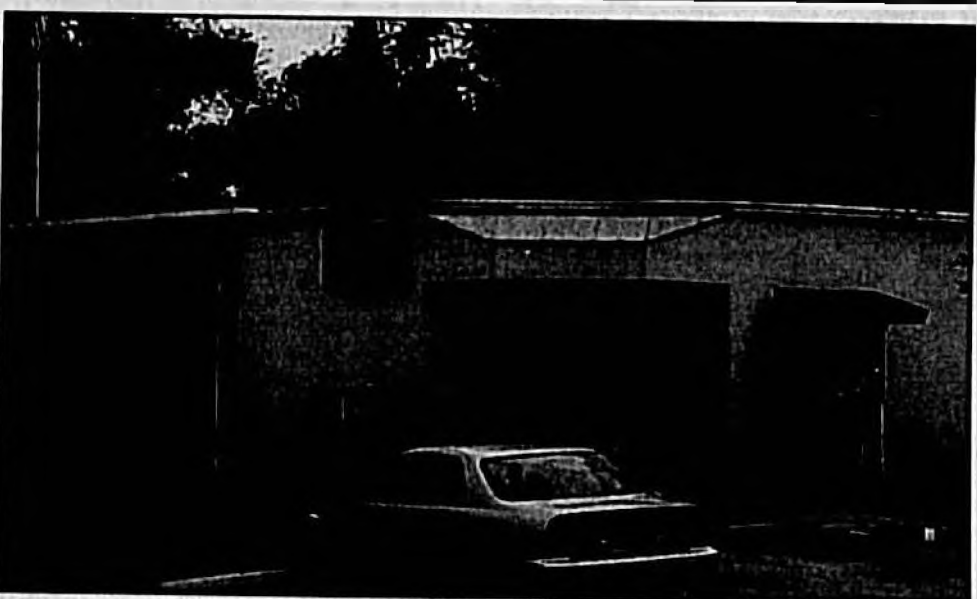

I have the exact temperatures on my calendar for another cold winter, January, 1977. I was then teaching at Seminole High.

On Sunday, Jan. 16, the high temperature was 76 degrees, but on Monday, the range was 30 to 46 degrees. Tuesday the range was 25 to 52 and it snowed (not much, but we did have flurries). Wednesday, Jan. 19 is the day I really remember, as the temperature was 23 to 39. The school's heating system was inadequate for such cold weather, so the students and I shivered all day, bundled up in our coats. Schools were closed the next day, the first time ever because of the cold, but the temperature was higher, 21 to 50. Friday it ranged 28 to 54. I'm sure you Floridians will agree that such a long stretch of severe cold weather here is very unusual - thank goodness.

The Post Office in Geneva marks 125 years this year.

Stetson's Corner Post Office celebrates

Every village, no matter how humble, has a hub, and Geneva's is its Post Office. Let's face it, everyone goes there. Postmaster Laurie Rozier was kind enough to provide interesting information about our Geneva Post Office to this curious columnist, while serving her many customers.

Karen Phillips

Established in 1880, the Geneva Post Office has been around for 125 years. "1961" is marked on the outside of the current building, and until 1988 mail was delivered from Oviedo. Geneva has had 18 postmasters, seven of whom have been women. And the correct term is "postmaster" for both men and women, so strike "postmistress" from your pc vocabulary.

About 7,000 incoming letters and flats (magazines etc.) are processed daily, and 2 million to 3 million pieces annually! Who is the team that makes this happen?

Postmaster Laurie Rozier supervises three full-time mail carriers and four part-time mail clerks. (P.S. I wish there was a word other than clerk, these ladies are always so helpful). The first mail carrier, domiciled in the current building, still works there. Two of the carriers have been with the post office well over 12 years, and her trusty mail clerks have worked there about 10 years.

Laurie has been the postmaster for 12 years, and has 25 years experience in the postal service. Prior to coming to Geneva, she was the customer service supervisor of two post offices in Kissimmee. Laurie graduated from the University of Florida with a degree in Physical Education, and served in the United States Air Force for four years, graduating as a First Lieutenant.

The office was renovated in 2003, adding space to the backroom and especially to the front customer service area. Our post office is considered a medium size, level 18 in the government grading program.

I asked Laurie what she would like Geneva residents to know or do differently. Her main suggestion is: Use your PO box as much as possible rather than your physical address. The reason is that since the area has grown so much, and with the use of mail processing machines, a physical address not on the current route will be kicked back. When the area was smaller, it was possible for the employees to look at every piece of mail and match it to the correct resident. Not so anymore and new relief carriers aren't as familiar with each resident.

Laurie and her team are looking forward to the holidays, and encourage us to become familiar with the U.S. Postal Web site www.usps.com.

"You can do practically everything online that you can do in person," says Laurie. Stamps become even more important before the holidays, and Laurie encourages us to use the orange envelopes provided for obtaining stamps in advance and online. Review the holiday stamp choices and order them in advance from the Geneva office.

The website has tons of information about stamp collecting, special gifts, shipping information, and answers to many postal questions.

Customer service is very important especially with the competition like independent mailing stores. All the postal employees are very focused on providing the most efficient and friendly service possible.

Do you think this team has easy hours? Wrong! Laurie's team arrives between 6 a.m. and 6:30 a.m. to process incoming mail. Their goal is to have all mail in the PO boxes by 9 a.m., a goal they normally meet. The mail carriers arrive by 7:30 a.m. to sort and line up the mail for their routes, and may work through the late afternoon. Cushy hours, they are not, but Laurie is dedicated to running the office as if it was her own business.

Training is important and all the postal employees have passed many classes and exams. Laurie believes her experience as both a carrier and a customer service manager allows her to understand both sides of this business, delivery and retail.

After 9-11, postal employees were given intense information and training on bio-hazards and since then, special machines safeguard the employees and the public from such threats.

New residents of Geneva may not know that Laurie's sister is Dr. Dorothy (Dot) Richardson, two time gold medal winner and captain of the first ever Women's Olympic Softball team. Dot is an orthopedic surgeon who now lives in Clermont; you can visit her website www.dotr Richardson.com.

Finally, the improved bulletin board outside the post office has no connection to the post office and has been allowed there since the site functions as a communications center. The board was built and materials donated by the Geneva Historical and Genealogical Society, and is maintained by the Geneva Citizens' Association.

The Geneva Post Office, by the way, is a federal facility rather than a contract office like the one in Chuluota, and there is no danger of it closing. With almost 100 years of combined experience we thank Laurie Rozier and her team, and know we are lucky to have such a friendly and expert team handling our mail.

We need you to tell us what you know that is good about Geneva! Please share your information, ideas and comments by calling 407-221-7002, via e-mail at karenmphilips@bellsouth.net, (please put "Stetson's Corner" in the subject line), or with a fax to 407-349-2800. Thanks!

The Rev. Jeff Dixon, pastor of Covenant Community Church in Lake Mary, explains the construction of the Face the Fear House Wednesday.

Fear

year's event. The Rev. Jeff Dixon said that they started the event last year, because they wanted to do something different. He said that a lot of churches shy away from Halloween related events, but he wanted to have fun with it and communicate some lessons. "Folks came in and had a blast," Dixon said of last year's event. Bugs, creatures, and clowns are some of the scares used at last year's event. This year, they've upped the ante, Dixon said. They've taken the scariest parts of last year's exhibit, and added some new frights. Dixon said that they aren't going to do anything overly spiritual, but they will give good, practical advice for people who have phobias, in the form of a take home DVD. "We're trying to hit a different niche," Dixon said. "When it's all said and done, we'll remind them that they don't have to be scared of life." The Face the Fear House is rated PG-13, and there will be no grabbing of arms or legs to scare. They will also have the Seminole County Sheriff's Office at the event, for precaution. Dixon wants people to feel comfortable when they come in and have them know: "I'm going in, and I'm going to be scared, but I'm going to be safe." The attraction takes about ten to fifteen minutes to get through, and tickets are $5 for one time through the scare house, or $7 to go through multiple times. It will be open Saturday, Oct. 29 through Monday, Oct. 31 from 7 to 10 p.m. Take U.S. 17-92 to Ronald Reagan Boulevard. From Sanford/Lake Mary take a left on Ronald Reagan, or from Longwood take a right on Ronald Reagan. Then, take a right on Pen Avenue and attendants will be there to assist.

"It should be relatively spooky," Dixon said. "We'll scare them." The Covenant Community Church is a member of the Southern Baptist Convention. They are a small congregation of about 150 members. The church said that most of the members were tired of church when they came across Covenant Community. They preach in a contemporary style with music every Sunday. They also participate in a lot of community events, such as The Seminole County Egg Hunt. The church also has a pumpkin patch across the street from Pen Avenue opened daily from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. They will also have a trunk or treat for small children on Oct. 30 from 6 to 7 p.m. Decorated trunks will serve as spots for your children to collect treats in a safe atmosphere. For more information on the scare house, visit www.facethefearhouse.com.

Seminole schools part of energy program

Progress Energy Florida will donate $49,000 to the Florida Solar Energy Center to sponsor a student curriculum initiative that embraces the use of a variety of energy alternatives — such as hydrogen — while understanding the importance of energy conservation. "Progress Energy is pleased to offer this opportunity to provide a framework for young people to see the potential of hydrogen and other forms of alternative energy," Bill Habermeyer, president and CEO of Progress Energy Florida, said. "This program will help educate the next generation about the exciting possibilities offered by these energy sources for our future." Progress Energy Florida and the FSEC are partnering with public schools to educate students about the possibilities of hydrogen as an alternative energy source. Lake Howell High School in Winter Park and Tusawilla Middle School in Oviedo are two Seminole County schools that will participate. The curriculum will parallel the Sunshine State Standards and will include activities to prepare students for the Florida Comprehensive Assessment Testing. As they learn about hydrogen and alternative energy issues, students will also be asked to organize the Youth Energy Solutions (YES) Summit. Scheduled for spring 2006, the summit will bring together all of the educational partners and participants to discuss what they have learned the preceding year and to share their vision for the future.

Most people finance real estate the same way they would cars or other depreciating assets. Real estate is different because it goes up in value and needs to be financed differently to minimize your interest payments.

Girlfriend's friends hit Winter Springs man, return child to the live-in mother

From Staff Reports

WINTER SPRINGS — On Oct. 18, the Winter Springs Police responded to 102 Camphorwood Court in reference to a battery.

Jack Daniel Guenther reported to Winter Springs Police that he was attacked in his sleep by two women he knows to be friends of his live-in girlfriend, Ryta Patterson.

Guenther alleges Bonnie Allred broke a bottle over his head while Ashley Robison hit and kicked him. The females left the residence with the child of Guenther and Patterson. The two suspects immediately met with Patterson and turned over the child to her.

Winter Springs Police then made contact with Ryta Patterson. She stated that she was having drinks with Robison and Allred that evening. Patterson told officers that Robison and Allred had an argument with her about an incident that occurred earlier between Guenther and Patterson.

Robison, 22, was charged with kidnapping, burglary with assault/battery, battery touch or strike and petty larceny.

Allred, 23, was charged with kidnapping, burglary with assault/battery, aggravated battery on a person using deadly force, and petty larceny.

"It's better than I thought it would be," Massey said after the ribbon cutting.

This is the first insect zoo in the state of Florida, and the second in the southeast. Massey said that one of his entomologists pointed out that when children see insects, some get really excited. Those that get excited, Massey explained, are our future scientists.

Zoo staff was on hand with a variety of different insects crawling in plastic display boxes and on hands and arms.

Bob Wood was showing an Emperor Scorpion from Africa, and he said that if the scorpion climbs out of the display box you would need to keep your hands away from the creature's tail.

Another zoo staff member was showing off a Madagascar Hissing Cockroach. The cockroach was at least five times as large as a cockroach commonly seen hiding out in garages, but the zoo staffer said the bug is completely harmless despite the name. The hissing roach eats only plants and dead animals, and makes a hissing sound by blowing air out of small holes on its top side.

"It's just a noise," the zoo staffer said. The students from Blue Lake Academy were on a field trip for the insect opening and they walked around to the displays of walking sticks from Australia, praying mantises and colorful lubber grasshoppers from Florida, tarantulas, centipedes, scorpions and giant snails.

The zoo also had a working beehive to allow guests to watch the bees at work making honey, and mounted specimens filled the walls inside the Discovery Center that included butterflies and other invertebrates from all over the world.

This giant African millipede has wrapped itself around the finger of education keeper Heidi Gillum at the opening of the insect zoo Oct. 18.

Students also had a chance to play and learn with hands-on puzzles, puppets, books, and magnifying glasses to help them discover the world of invertebrates.

The Massey Services Insect Zoo was made possible by a generous donation from Massey Services, Inc., a press release said. Massey Services is one of the nation's largest service companies providing residential and commercial pest prevention, termite protection and lawn, tree and shrub care services to more than 145,000 customers.

In addition, donations of specimens and expertise were provided by the McGuire Center for Lepidoptera Research, the Florida State Plant and Apilary Division, Beekeeper Michael Housel, and the Department of Environmental Protection.

The Central Florida Zoological Park is a 116-acre private, nonprofit organization dedicated to preserving the beauty and wonder of animals and their habitats. The Zoo is open daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and located at 3755 NW Highway 17-92 in Sanford.

Raptors U-16 girls dominate at Disney

Special to the Herald

The Inter-United Elite Raptors U-16 girls' premier soccer team recently claimed the championship at the 2005 Disney Soccer Showcase Qualifier II at Disney's Wide World of Sports Complex.

Made up of players from Seminole County high schools, including Lake Mary, Oviedo and Winter Springs, the Raptors used an outstanding defensive effort to go 5-0 in the event.

The team was virtually untouched in Pool Play, outscoring the Clearwater Chargers, Indiantonic Force and Stetson Futbol Club, 7-1, in winning the three games.

The Raptors' toughest game ended up being in the semifinals as the locals and the Hillsborough United '89 Red battled through regulation time and two 10-minute overtime periods without either team being able to find the back of the net.

That forced a shootout, which the Raptors were able to prevail in and earned the team a spot in the Championship Game opposite the Palm Harbor Nighthawks.

In that game the Raptors proved that they truly were worthy of being champions as they whitewashed the Nighthawks, 2-0.

The championship earned the Raptors a spot in the top flight of Disney's Soccer Showcase presented by adidas that will take place from December 27, 2005-through-January 2, 2006. The boys' teams will play the first three days, with the girls' teams taking to the field from Dec. 30-Jan. 2. The Raptors will join 47 other teams from 21 states in the U-16 Bracket.

The Fall Prep Season moves closer to a finish this week as the Cross Country teams enter the postseason, replacing Golf, which will be holding its State Finals Tuesday and Wednesday.

The local football teams only played a couple of important district games this week, although the heavyweight battle between Class 6A-District 2 unbeaten Lake Brantley and Oviedo and once-beaten Winter Springs trying to stay in the 6A-2 hunt by hosting Seminole, still made it an interesting week. A full recap of Friday's action will appear in Wednesday's Sanford Herald.

But, back to the playoffs, if any of the local golf teams finished in the Top 3 or one of the Top 3 individual scorers, if not on the top three teams, will be playing in the FHSAA Finals to be held in the Fort Pierce area.

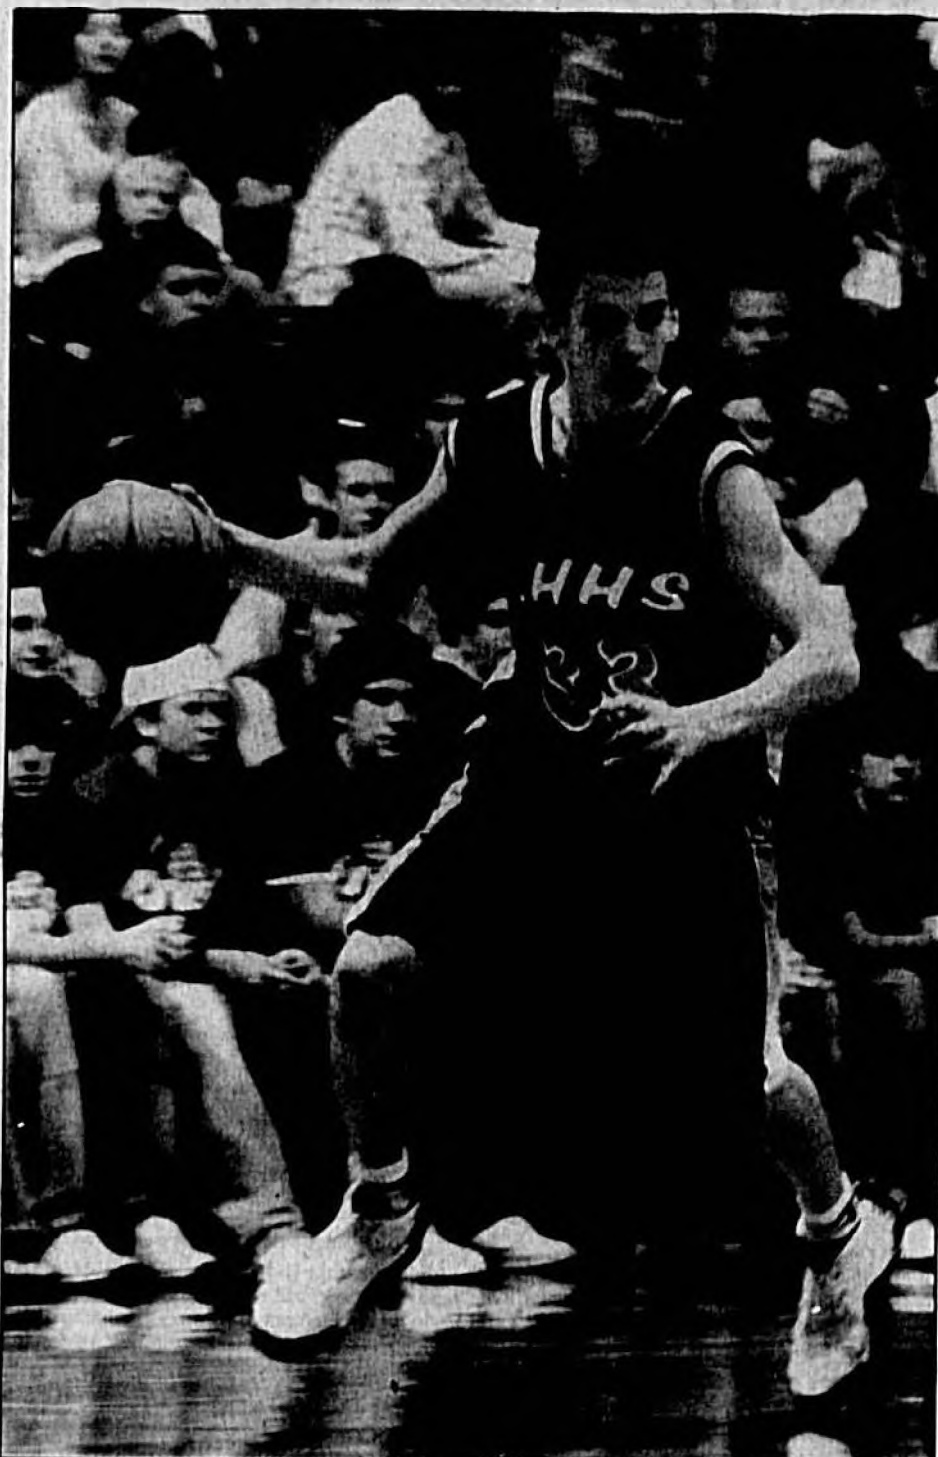

The Class 2A boys will play at Hammock Creek Golf Course, the 2A girls at Pointe West Golf Course, the 1A boys at Fairwinds Golf Course and the 1A girls at The Saints' Golf Course.

The girls' volleyball teams will not get much of a break as the district survivors will be playing in the Regional Quarterfinals on Tuesday at 7 p.m.

The District Champions will host District Runners-Up and the winner of Tuesday's matches will advance to the Regional Semifinals next Saturday, October 29th, at 2 p.m.

UCF showed signs of life just once last Saturday, cutting the Golden Eagle lead to 10-7 on a 34-yard touchdown pass from Steven Moffett (above) to Mike Walker. Southern Miss would then score 35 straight points to put the game out of reach by halftime. The Golden Knights will look to bounce back this evening when they host Tulane at the Florida Citrus Bowl starting at 6 p.m.

UCF falls to Southern Miss.

Special to the Herald

Dustin Almond tied a school record with five touchdown passes as Southern Miss beat UCF 52-31 last Saturday.

Almond also ran for another score, and the Golden Eagles broke a school record with 45 first half points in taking a 45-7 halftime lead.

The Southern Miss win over the Golden Knights ended UCF's three game winning streak. It also moved Southern Miss into a four way tie for first place in the East Division of Conference USA, along with UCF, Marshall and East Carolina.

The 45 first-half points eclipsed a 30-year-old Golden Eagle record established when head coach Jeff Bower played quarterback for the team.

Almond, who had only six scoring passes in the first four games, hit both Antwon Courington and Chris Johnson twice with first half scoring passes. He finished the night 23-of-37 for 277 yards.

UCF fumbled three times in the first 20 minutes of the game, losing each one inside its own 20-yard line. The Golden Knights would commit five first-half turnovers and allow four sacks.

Southern Miss converted all three of those early miscues into touchdowns. The Golden Eagles also set up a pair of field goals in the first half on two long kick returns.

The first Golden Knight fumble led to a 16-yard scoring pass from Almond to Courington. That combined with a 24-yard Darren McCaleb field goal, gave Southern Miss a 10-0 lead midway through the opening period.

McCaleb's kick was set up by a 47-yard punt return by Jasper Faulk. McCaleb later added a 20-yard, the result of a 72-yard kickoff return by John Eubanks.

UCF showed signs of life just once, cutting the Golden Eagle lead to 10-7 on a 34-yard touchdown pass from Steven Moffett to Mike Walker. Southern Miss would then score 35 straight points to put the game out of reach by halftime.

UCF will return to the home turf at the Orlando Citrus Bowl today (Saturday) for the third of only four home games this season to face Tulane. Kickoff is set for 6 p.m.

The game will be broadcast as part of CSTV's "All-Access" package. Digital cable subscribers can call 888-SPORTS-IN or contact their local cable operator. In Orlando, the game is available on Bright House Networks channel 505 on a pay-per-view basis.

The UCF ISP Network and its flagship station 740-The Team AM (WQTM) will broadcast the game live with the pregame show beginning at 4 p.m. Marc Daniels will once again have the call with Gary Parris. Jerry O'Neill will handle the sideline duties. Network affiliates include WMMV-1350 in Cocoa, WDCF-1350 Dade City, WRDQ-1340 in Daytona Beach and WMMB-1240 Melbourne.

Fans looking for a more extensive preview and UCF head coach George O'Leary's thoughts on Tulane, should tune into "The George O'Leary Show," which will air today at 1 p.m. on WESH-2.

The UCF baseball team started preparations for the 2006 season this past Monday with the first day of fall practice. The Golden Knights return 19 letterwinners from last season's 42-18 team, including the team's No. 1 starter in junior RHP All-American candidate Tim Bascom and redshirt sophomore RHP Taylor Meier from Orangewood Christian. Meier, a freshman All-American in 2004, missed all of the 2005 campaign with an arm injury.

The Golden Knights will play in one of the nation's elite baseball conferences in Conference USA in 2006. The schedule in the spring includes home dates vs. Florida, Stetson, USF, Michigan and a three-game C-USA series with Rice.

"Things are going well," stated UCF head coach Jay Bergman. "We are ready to get started this next three weeks and see where the players are."

UCF has three weeks of fall practice, including Scout Day on October 31 at Jay Bergman Field. The Golden Knights will work out for the Major League Baseball scouts and be tested and timed in several drills while also holding an intersquad scrimmage.

"We have four athletes who are back this year after missing last season due to injury, so it is a different picture in terms of depth," added Bergman. "Our players will be challenged every weekend at a higher level in Conference USA. The new league is going to challenge our players and coaches and we will need to bring our 'A' game every weekend in conference play."

Bascom headlines a pitching staff that has several talented arms. The Dunedin native was 10-2 with a 3.10 ERA in 2005, including 113 strikeouts in 113.1 innings of work. He led the team in victories, innings pitched and strikeouts en route to first team all-conference honors. He ranked 10th in UCF single-season history in innings pitched and sixth in the UCF annals in single-season strikeouts.

Meier is healthy after missing the entire 2005 season due to injury. The 6-6 right-hander was 6-3 with a 2.55 ERA in 2004 with 56 strikeouts in 74 innings. He was one of three All-Americans on the 2004 pitching staff, joining consensus All-American Matt Fox and former Lake Mary star Kyle Bono.

Redshirt senior Taylor Cobb is another power arm who returns to the pitching staff for the Golden Knights. The Jacksonville native did not play in 2004 due to an arm injury and struggled with his health in 2005, but is healthy and ready to go for 2006.

Pitching coach and recruiting coordinator Craig Cozart has perhaps the best overall depth on his pitching staff since joining the coaching staff at UCF. After Bascom, Meier and Cobb, Cozart has the return of several dependable bullpen arms in junior LHP Brian Brooks from Oviedo, senior RHP Dominic Petracca from Seminole High School and redshirt sophomore RHP Brett Bordwine. Bordwine was the team's closer going into the 2005 season before suffering a season-ending injury in preseason practice last January.

Several talented freshmen should also vie for a spot in the starting rotation or in the bullpen. Two southpaws, Mitch Herold and Mitch Houck, are two freshmen who could see significant innings along with freshman RHP Kyle Sweat.

Offensively, UCF was hit hard by graduation and the draft with the loss of Dee Brown, Winter Springs and SCC star John-Michael Howell, Marshall Bernhard and Lake Mary's Drew Butera. UCF returns eight position players, led by senior C/1B Ryan Bono and redshirt junior INF Matt Horwath, both former Lake Mary High School standouts.

Bono is a three-year starter for the Golden Knights. He hit .282 with four home runs and 44 RBI in 2005. Horwath, who transferred from LSU prior to the 2005 season, hit .276 with eight homers and 35 RBI last year. Two-year starter Matt Ray returns as well after batting .279 with three long balls and 32 stolen bases a year ago.

Three incoming freshman could be starters in the outfield once the 2006 season commences. In center field, high school All-American Dave DiNatale brings impressive credentials to UCF. A 22nd round draft pick of the Pittsburgh Pirates, DiNatale is one of five freshmen on the team who were drafted last summer.

Melbourne native Shane Yncian has shown the coaching staff excellent potential during fall individual workouts and could man another outfield position while Chadd Hartman is another talented newcomer with a potent bat.

Sophomore Tyson Auer, another former Lake Mary Ram, and redshirt senior Drake Wade are two players with significant playing experience who are in the mix in the outfield.

Freshman first baseman Kiko Vazquez is another intriguing newcomer to watch this spring for the Golden Knights. The Golden Knights open the 2006 season Saturday, Feb. 4 at Florida International.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL PICKED SIXTH IN C-USA PRESEASON POLL

The UCF women's basketball team was slated to finish sixth by the Conference USA coaches in the C-USA Preseason Poll released by the league office on Monday.

"We are excited to begin our first season in C-USA and this is a great jumping off point," said UCF head coach Gail Strelger, who is in her seventh year at the helm. "We want to be able to hold onto this position in the middle of the pack and make strides toward the top of the conference."

With seven first place votes, Rice was voted to win the conference title, while crosstown rival Houston was picked second. SMU was selected third followed by Marshall in fourth and Tulsa in fifth.

Southern Miss followed UCF in seventh with Memphis in eighth and Tulane in ninth. Rounding out the poll were UAB, UTEP and East Carolina.

Rice junior forward Lauren Neaves was chosen as the C-USA Preseason Player of the Year. In lieu of a preseason all-conference team, the league office announced a list of players to watch. Among the 23 athletes were UCF senior guard Celeste Hudson, a former Lyman High School star, and senior forward Shelby Weber.

The Golden Knights open the regular season on Nov. 18 against Florida A&M in the opening round of the UCF Golden Knights Classic.

SHS BOOSTER BBQ

The Seminole High School Boosters Club will be holding their annual Boosters BBQ on Saturday, November 12th, at the Seminole High School Courtyard.

Revenues from the BBQ will help support Seminole High School athletic programs as well as many extra-curricular activities. These programs are not financed by the School Board; therefore funds must be raised locally at each individual school.

Donations are being accepted for door prizes and a silent auction as well as needed food and paper products. Contributions given by the community id what makes this BBQ a success.

The event will run from noon to 4 p.m.. Tickets are $10 for a 1/2-chicken dinner, door prizes and the right to bid in the silent auction.

For more information please contact Marilyn Van Winkle, BBQ Chairperson, at 407-320-5014.

Some of the older sports

Compiled by Nick Pfeiffert Staff Writer

Sports fans of Central Florida know about baseball, football, basketball, soccer, and many other sports. Those who moved here from up north also may be fans of Ice Hockey. But here are two sports that aren't quite as prominent in this area.

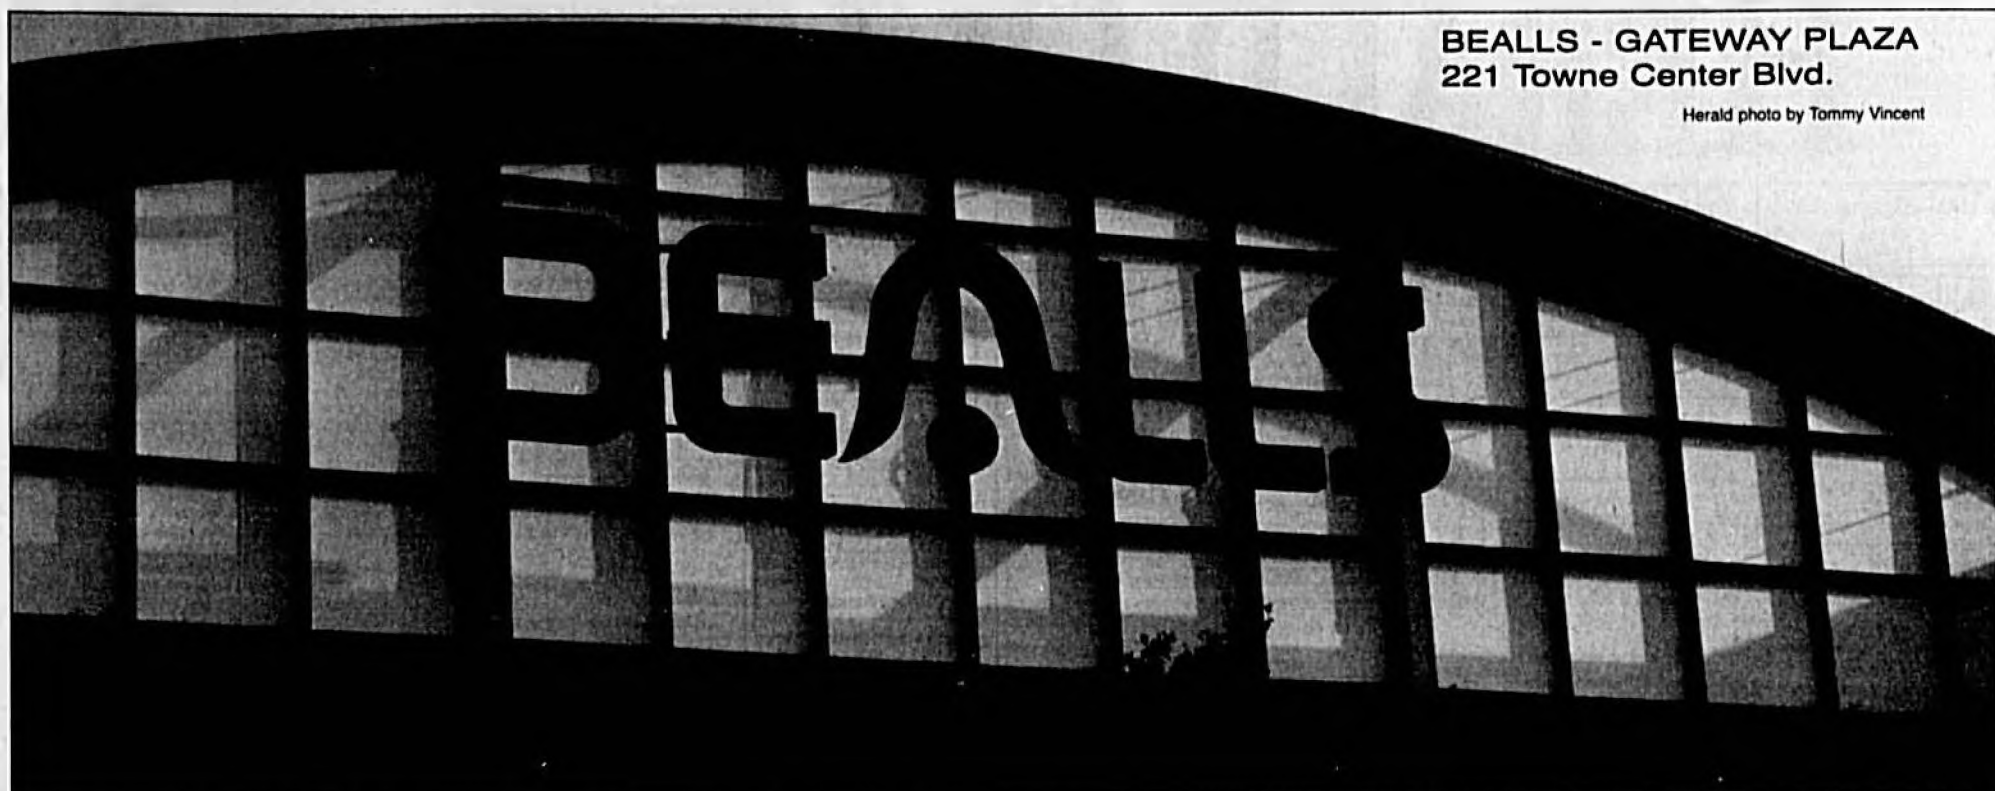

Curling - This may sound like a drinking-man's sport. The top international men's championship is called the "Scotch Whiskey Cup". Curling is played on ice with curling stones at a maximum of 44 pounds. Although women were involved early on, the first Women's World Curling Championship wasn't sanctioned until 1979. I couldn't find out when the sport may have originated.

Cricket - Now here's an old sport and if you are on cable TV, you will probably find a cricket match from time to time. It is one of the national sports of England, and is played in most countries with English connections. The first competition is believed to have taken place in 1877, called "Test Matches". The main sponsoring organization, the International Cricket Conference, was formed in 1909. One of my sources says the first cricket match was played in Sussex, England, with the first prize equaling 50 guineas. It was held beginning in 1697.

Sporting competition has been around since the beginning of time, and no doubt, sports fans were just as interested as they are today. The Romans held competition in the coliseum; many countries had archery contests (remember the one Robin Hood was in?), and playing cards, although not considered a sport by some folks, originated in China back in the 10th century. I wouldn't be surprised if there were rock-throwing contests among cave men back in the very beginning.

"C'mon, Ally, toss that rock. You could win us some dinosaur meat as the first prize."
