WASHINGTON (AP)—It was the old master, Franklin D. Roosevelt, back there in the year of the third term ruckus and fear of war, who wrote an old saying to make it read like this: "If you can't lick 'em, get 'em."

Part of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization NATO. Stevenson knows his way around the world and possesses political prestige, perhaps enough to blunt some of the Democratic criticism of administration foreign policy and national defense achievement. All is not well with the administration on those fronts. FDR was a master hand at getting the enemy to join up with him. It was in June of 1949 that he shell-shocked the Republican Party by announcing two new members of his cabinet: the late Henry L. Stimson to be secretary of war and the late Frank Knox to be secretary of Navy.

Republican National Convention was meeting in Philadelphia on the bright summer day that the Stimson-Knox appointments were announced. The announcement jolted the assembled Republicans, many more so than Al H. Rehn, the party's 1952 presidential nominee.

Former President Hoover never was given an opportunity by Roosevelt to participate in the war effort, despite some obvious qualifications. It remained for President Truman soon after Roosevelt's death to summon a living former president back to public life.

Farley had what it took to run a big war agency but never got the call. Back there in 1949 Farley made a really delicious. It was to oppose a third term. FDR always was a better hater than Lauderdale, speaking before members of the local club at a meeting last night, noted that there are now 400 clubs in Pilot International with some 12,000 members in clubs in the United States, Canada, Japan, England, Bermuda, Hawaii and France.

(In recognition of National Education Week)
Why do we have band in the curriculum of our schools? Some may think that the primary reason is to entertain the public and for self enjoyment to the band members. These are but two of the many reasons for instrumental study, said Bandmaster Ernest Cowley today.

Osceola Strip Not Under Consideration

The Board of Sanford City Commissioners pointed out last night that the mention of the Osceola Air Strip as a possible local airport at a recent meeting of the board was merely "the commission looking into the possibilities of an airport location."

City Manager Warren E. Knowles said yesterday that the Osceola air strip "is out of our plans since there is a remote possibility that it might be in conflict with future Navy plans. We haven't contacted Naval authorities and intend to take no action at all until we do talk with Navy officials," he said.

Milk Board Issues Subpoenas

SANFORD — The Florida Milk Commission has served subpoenas it will try to knock down the price of milk by three cents a quart by breaking up "under the table rebates" between distributors and super-markets.

Commission Chairman J. Bralley Odham charged Thursday that the illegal rebates amount to from eight to 12 million dollars a year in "hidden costs which the public is required for when it buys a bottle of milk."

Odham said he has issued subpoenas to 26 distributors and supermarket executives to appear at the Nov. 19-20 public hearing in Tallahassee. Odham said it is a common practice for distributors to give big discounts to major milk buyers for quantity purchases.

Getting together yesterday to plan the parade route were Sheriff J. L. Hubby and Sanford Police Chief Roy G. Williams. They conferred with parade route Chairman Bob Cushing and the expected line of march is expected to be announced in the immediate future.

AMERICAN BIBLE SOCIETY Dept. U, 450 Park Avenue New York 22, N.Y.

God must speak to men. Despite the barriers of language and dialect which separate nation from nation, tribe from tribe—God must speak to men!

This conviction has long inspired the American Bible Society in its stupendous task... to translate God's word into every tongue... to place the Bible in every hand.

Now in 1,100 tongues God has spoken to men through inspired Scripture. In marble cathedrals and mud huts the same timeless truths are read, heard, taught and discussed in the words men know. And millions of Bibles, Testaments, and portions of Scripture are being placed in eager hands.

This is our triumph... and our continuing challenge... the countless Christians who, individually and through our churches, make possible the work of the American Bible Society. Thank God! Carry on!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Khrushchev Makes Jibes At West

MOSCOW—Communist Party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev took his wife out for one of her rare public appearances Wednesday night and spent the evening making jibes at the West. He said it would be a long time before the West ever caught up on rocket development.
While Mrs. Khrushchev stayed on the sidelines at an Egyptian embassy reception, a grinning and jocular Khrushchev twitted Western reporters about the United States lagging in the missile field and Britain taking a back seat in world politics.
The reception was for Egyptian Minister of War Maj. Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer but Khrushchev was the life of the party.
Says Russia is Ahead

Khrushchev glibly told newsmen that the Soviet Union is well in advance of the United States in rocket development but he said Russia would be willing to agree with the United States that all the rockets of both countries "be sunk in the sea."
He was particularly playful with British reporters and told them "Britain doesn't have an independent foreign policy any more."
"In the Soviet Union we have Sputniks and in the West you have satellites," he said.
Asked whether he meant Britain was a satellite of the United States, Khrushchev replied: "Do you doubt it? Does Macmillan visit Eisenhower or does Eisenhower visit Macmillan?"
Miss On Eshkov Future
Khrushchev refused to be drawn out on what plans the government had for Marshal Georgi Zhukov who was ousted from the Presidential post as defense minister but he did say Zhukov now is in Moscow—"although he can go anywhere he likes."
He said the Soviet Union would always give Zhukov credit for his military prowess but "he didn't make out so well as a political figure."
Asked whether he would like to visit the United States, Khrushchev replied: "I have been asked this question a million times. Whether I want to or not, I can't go as a private citizen."
But he said Russia would be glad to receive President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles as "dear friends."

Tourism, Industry Agriculture Legs Of State's Economy

FORT LAUDERDALE.—Gov. LeRoy Collins referred to tourism, agriculture and industry as "the three sturdy legs" of Florida's economy, and said all are continuing to develop.
He called expansion of electronics, aircraft and missile plants "perhaps the most significant" feature of the state's industrial development during the past 18 months, and added that metal working industries have provided about half of the new jobs in that time.
"Agriculture has widened its base with industrial methods," the governor said, and "tourist resorts are no longer a haven for the few, but are in reach of everyone."
Collins was the principal speaker at a banquet saluting Florida industries which was sponsored by the Southeast Machinery Co.
Collins said he foresaw "no danger areas" ahead for the state. Turning to school needs, he said enrollment in the state increased some 70,000 this year and that eight classrooms a day must be built to keep pace with the growth.
"School authorities here are struggling under tremendous handicaps," the governor said.

What's Modern Military Man Coming To?

By GAY PAULEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Well, what's the modern military man coming to?

Two pretty girls pioneered a trip to Antarctica and the 301 station there, many of them as long as 18 months, didn't even whistle.
"They were more like home town boys," said Patricia Hepin-stall, 25, and Ruth Kelly, 28, airline stewardesses just returned from a 19,350-mile (round trip) flight to McMurdo Sound, the principal American military base in Antarctica. The girls were on the farthest into the land of deep freeze woman ever has traveled.
Miss Kelly is five feet, seven inches tall, blonde, blue-eyed, a graduate of Northwestern University and a former schoolmarum from Holyoke, Colo. Miss Hepin-stall, who is from Houston, Tex., is a tall brunette, a graduate of Southern Methodist University, and a one-time fashion model.
Pioneers With Charm
They were selected to work and serve meals on the first commercial flight into the antarctic because, as a spokesman for their employer, Pan American World Airways, put it:
"Take one look at both of them and you see why, don't you?"
The flight was a Navy charter, carrying 37 Seabees to McMurdo to relieve others on duty from 6 to 18 months.
Now, the stewardesses head for the North Pole—first to London, then working a flight back by way of the Pole to San Francisco, their home base.
The two were in McMurdo only three and a half hours, but the men planned a busy program.
Seabees Plan Full Program
"You could tell they'd worked on our welcome for weeks," said Miss Kelly. The Seabees treated the girls to a dog sled race, a tour of the base, and had them judge a beard contest. Categories in the latter were pretty extensive—including the longest thatch, the bushiest, and the one with the finest texture "prissy obvious that category," said Miss Kelly. "You know... woman's touch."
They returned with penguin feather souvenirs, seal skin key cases, and pella naming them "Queen of the Antarctic Seabees" and cards giving them lifetime membership in the "Royal Order of the Deep Freeze."

Child's Sore Throat May Mean Serious Ill

By HERMAN K. BURNHEIM, M.D.

A SORE throat may mean real danger. So don't just shrug it off. With children, a sore throat might lead to something as serious as rheumatic fever. In fact, most cases of rheumatic fever follow a "strep throat," tonsillitis or perhaps scarlet fever.

Seems to Recover
In such instances, the youngster seems to recover from the sore throat all right and appears to be perfectly well in two or three days. However, if he is susceptible, symptoms of rheumatic fever may develop within two or three weeks.

While only a physician can accurately diagnose disease, you parents might be on the watch for such symptoms as loss of weight, poor appetite, nervousness and frequent colds. Pain in the joints, either with or without swelling, may also be a sign of rheumatic fever, especially if it occurs in the knees, wrists or ankles.

Other Symptoms
A pale complexion, either a high or low fever, frequent nose-bleeds and complaints of being tired might be symptoms. So- tion to relieve the pressure brings might frequent stomach aches.

Without delay, summon your doctor if your youngster has any combination of two or more of these symptoms. They are particularly important if they follow a sore throat.

School Children
Primarily, rheumatic fever is a disease of children of school age, and kids don't usually complain unless there is something seriously wrong with them. So it's up to you parents to be on the alert for any danger signals.

The secret of preventing rheumatic fever is in getting a jump on it. If a sore throat is treated promptly, there is a good chance that rheumatic fever will not develop.

If your youngster has already had a bout with this disease, you've got to be especially watchful for a recurrence.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
M. H.: Can you tell me what causes Jacksonian epilepsy and whether it can be cured?
Answer: Jacksonian epilepsy is caused by increased pressure within the skull cavity, which may be due to head injuries or tumors. Sometimes, an operation to relieve the pressure brings about improvement.

F. Gibson Tired Of 'Sweet Roles'

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Virginia Gibson is a sweet young thing, but she wishes everybody would forget it for a while.

"It's one of the reasons I'm so happy about being part of 'Hit Parade,'" said Miss Gibson as she straped up a chocolate milkshake. "All of my career, I've been a sweet, young thing—on the stage in the movies, on TV."

"I have no objections to being thought of as young and sweet, but if I'm ever going to become an actress, I figure I'll have to do something different. That's the wonderful thing about 'Hit Parade.' It may sound strange to say it about a musical show, but it gives you a chance to develop as an actress by casting you in all sorts of parts."

Miss Gibson, a slim, blonde expert of St. Louis, is one of a quartet of new singers recruited for "Your Hit Parade" this season. Before her TV hitch, Miss Gibson served a nine-month sentence with "Happy Hunting," a musical that starred Ethel Merman.

Tired Of "Sweet Roles"
Miss Gibson eyed the dregs of her milkshake and considered "Happy Hunting." "I played Miss Merman's daughter, a very sweet young thing," she said, "and also on Broadway, there was 'Loch Ma, I'm Dancing' in which I played a sweet ingenue."

"In Hollywood, it was the same sort of thing—sweet young girls, sweet girl friends, sweet wives, most of them musicals. I did get to play a dramatic role with Joan Crawford in 'Goodbye My Fancy,'—as a sweet co-ed.
"Then on TV, the same thing. I did a 'Lux Video Theatre' and played a sweet ingenue type." Miss Gibson recalled with some despair, "And in a 'Ford Theatre' I was somebody's sweet girl friend. And maybe you remember me as Johnny Carson's nice wife when he had his TV series."

Spotted By Agency
Miss Gibson landed her berth on "Your Hit Parade" after some executive, from B. B. D.A.O., an ad agency, spotted her in the Merman show.

"They called me up last February and asked me to audition," Miss Gibson recalled, "and they told me they wanted me. Well, Miss Merman had a contract with the producer of 'Happy Hunting' that said all the members of the cast had to remain with the show for the run of the play."

"But Miss Merman was very nice about it when I asked for my release. I told her the truth—that I felt I was marking time, singing the same songs over and over, that I wanted the opportunity to do something different."

Miss Gibson—her real name is Gorkal—she was named after the drink with the onion in it—now has that opportunity.

Lack Of School Facilities Is Demonstrated During Past Week

American Education Week provided an opportunity for citizens to see just exactly why Seminole County needs additional school facilities.

Parents and interested citizens visited the school rooms this week to acquaint themselves with school and the school program. To their amazement they found a lunch room being used for a study hall—janitor room turned a classroom because no other room is available—lunches being served to one class at a time because the lunchroom is so small no others could get in.

These are just a few of the examples that were pointed out to visitors who asked especially about the availability of classroom space.

New Seminole County citizens, we believe, are proud of their boy and girls—as a matter of fact we know that they're proud of them. And we believe too that citizens are so proud of their children that they want the finest school facilities available for their education.

And that's the purpose of the $2½ million school construction bond issue that will come before the people for approval next Tuesday, November 19—to provide modern, clean, and complete schools and school facilities for the children of our county.

It would be practically impossible to construct new schools on a "pay-as-we-go basis" doing just $181,000 worth of construction each year. It would take a long time to get the schools constructed on that basis we must admit.

However, by providing the funds in advance of the availability of the money coming in from normal sources, all of the schools needed could be built and placed into use.

This $181,000 capital improvement fund is separate and distinct from a fund used for the renovation, maintenance and construction of year-by-year needs.

The Seminole County Board of Education and our school system is in fine condition financially. There are no outstanding debts. And there are funds available for repaying the bonds or the school board would not have even ventured the $2½ million dollar bond issue for much needed and necessary schools.

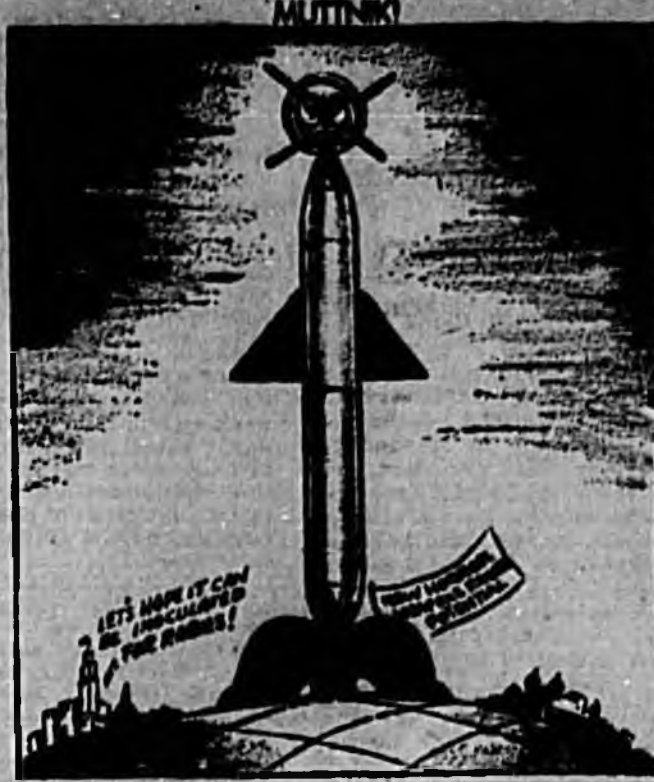

Citizens who are looking forward to having the finest education for their children should see to it that every person eligible to vote next Tuesday is at the polls to cast their ballot "for the bonds."

With fine schools, a good education system, good teachers, and a program looking only to the ultimate in education we need never fear a Sputnik or Sputnik II.

As we have said once before—the very scientist needed to put America in the lead as far as our country's scientific research program is concerned, might be right here in Seminole County. But that one student's future is dependent upon the schools that we have for him.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

"Be not wise in your own conceits"

Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES H. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
The vast Sahara region of Northwest Africa is developing into a new source of trouble for France.

Algerian rebels have extended their operations into the area and put a further strain on the French forces, which have been fighting them for more than three years. At the same time Morocco, which obtained its independence in 1955, has set up an "Office For Saharan Affairs" to emphasize its claim to a part of the territory.

Involved in what seems certain to become, in time, an angry dispute, it is an area that contains immense resources in oil and other mineral products which France is starting to exploit in a big way. Algeria is 850,000 square miles in area. Of this total, about 724,000 miles lie in the Saharan region, the so-called southern regions.

In its attempt to end the Algerian revolt, France is willing to give that country a great measure of self-rule. But the offer extends only to northern Algeria, which contains only about 120,000 square miles. If serious negotiations with the Algerian rebels ever become possible, France is prepared to offer Algeria a part of the riches of the southern territories. But it is evident that it will insist on keeping firm control over that area. As for Morocco, that country has put in a claim to a big part of Mauritania, in French West Africa adjoining Algeria on the southwest.

Morocco's establishment of an office for Saharan affairs is a re-echo to France's action last summer in setting up a new "Ministry For The Sahara" which is to have control of the exploitation of oil and other resources. So far all the incidents reported have been small. But they seem symptomatic of big-scale trouble, ahead, not only in the Algerian rebellion but in any attempt to reach an over-all solution of the Algerian problem.

1957 Is 'Weak' Hurricane Year

By DON LEVITT
United Press Staff Correspondent
MIAMI (AP)—It will be little consolation to the people of Cameroon, La., who went through the horrors of Hurricane Audrey, but 1957 has been classified as a "weak" hurricane year.

The 1957 season ends officially today and weather experts, looking over the record of this year, believe it may herald the start of a decade of few tropical storms. Audrey was the only severe blow to hit the U. S. mainland out of the year's eight tropical storms. But she will be recorded as one of the worst so far in the 20th Century.

Audrey struck western Louisiana on June 27 with winds of 105 miles an hour and high tides that killed at least 350 and caused 100 million dollars in property damage.

"Despite Audrey, it was our second consecutive comparatively weak season," said Gordon H. Dunn, chief of the federal storm warning center at Miami.

Two "light" seasons of storm activity, he said, tend to confirm a theory of some meteorologists that "we are entering a period of comparatively low hurricane frequencies."

Dunn explained many prominent meteorologists, such as Dr. Hurd

Willet of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, think there is a relationship between the earth's cold and warm cycles and the production of hurricanes. They believe warmth breeds hurricanes—a cool cycle deters their formation.

Dunn said there is much proof to substantiate the theory. And if it is true, he added, two weak hurricane seasons in a row could mean "We are now entering a cool cycle that may produce 20 to 30 per cent fewer hurricanes than during a warm cycle."

Osteen News

Manning Todd is in Bell Glade visiting his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Leitner.

Mrs. Todd has been there for a week. Both will return Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. George Doss and daughter, Mrs. Clarence Miller, left Monday for Buffalo, N. Y.

Mrs. Miller will enter a clinic in Buffalo for a physical check-up. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Durza have had as their guests for the past weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Guthrie of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kelley and her mother, Mrs. Driggers, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Thomas of Sanford and Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Hooper and daughter of Orlando visited Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Horton Walsh and son, Tony and daughter, Mrs. Iley called on Mrs. Harry Osteen recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams called on Mr. and Mrs. Fred Youts in Geneva Monday evening. Mrs. P. T. Plety entertained Circle No. 3 of the Sanford Presbyterian Church at a covered dish luncheon this week with 17 members present.

The Osteen Methodist Church has had revival meetings every night this week. Glen Thompson a student at Stetson University is the speaker.

Golf Hardest Hit
He noted that the theory also suggests the spawning grounds shift with the cycles. "During the cold cycles, the Gulf Coast—Louisiana and Texas—seem to be more vulnerable," he said.

Besides Audrey, the Gulf Coast also caught the brunt of storms Bertha, Debbie and Kath.

But Carrie was the only storm other than Audrey that could be classified as severe. The Atlantic storm never hit land, but sent a German square-rigged sailing vessel to the bottom off the Azores with the loss of 80 trainees.

Dunn's season-end report praised the work of Air Force and Navy "hurricane hunters" fliers who tracked and plotted the movement of the big storms. An Air Force plane discovered Carrie some 2,000 miles east of Puerto Rico, the greatest distance from land that a storm ever has been found on a weather reconnaissance flight.

"I DIDN'T MEAN TO!"
COLUMBUS, Ohio (UP)—A dozen policemen rushed to the Ohio Penitentiary when a red light on the police switchboard indicated an emergency there. At the penitentiary police found that an inmate had accidentally bumped an alarm button while printing in the prison record office.

A Hint On Safer Hunting Season

In pioneer days, hunting was largely a means of obtaining food. The men who hunted used their rifles frequently and were good shots. In our day, most hunting is done for sport. Most of the hunters use a gun only two or three times a year, and many of them are only poor to middlin shots.

This difference, coupled with the fact that there are many more hunters in limited areas these days, points up the need for some sort of program to make sure that those who hunt know how to conduct themselves with safety in the field. The increasing number of drivers forced states long ago to require minimum driving skills. The number of hunters is rising annually, too, yet in most areas no effort is made to see that they have minimum skill in the handling of guns.

A deer rifle is an extremely powerful weapon. It can kill a man at long range. There is nothing unreasonable about the proposal that no one ought to be allowed in the field with such a weapon unless he knows how to use it safely.

This is just something to think about on the eve of the first day of the hunting season.

son. All of our hunters are important people—every one of them—and we want to see every one of them return from their hunt.

To Count The Cost Necessary
In the language of the rock and roll set, America is on an outer space kick. Many who until a couple of months ago had given no thought at all to such matters now talk glibly of manned satellites, and rockets to the moon, and the chances of boosting space ship velocity to the speed of light.

It seems to be generally agreed that we must rush to get up a satellite, and then a space station, and then a rocket that will trundle off to the moon and there release red, white and blue signals to astonish the universe. There is a widespread assumption that, once the moon has been reached, it will be full jets ahead for Mars and points outward.

All this may come to pass, though there are excellent reasons for believing that it will not happen quite as rapidly as is often supposed. Still, one might legitimately raise a couple of questions. First, how much of our resources of wealth and manpower do we want to commit to such projects? Second, what are our motives for entering space—what do we intend to do when we reach the moon and points beyond?

These are not questions to be answered flippantly. It is not enough to suggest that we want to penetrate space for the same reason that a famed climber wanted to conquer Everest: Because it's there.

Man has a curiosity which is, quite naturally, insatiable. Perhaps that is reason enough for going forward with our space projects. But it ought to be realized that such projects will cost us very heavily. We ought to have some idea of why we are undertaking such a venture, and what we intend to do in space when we get there.

Many Volunteer For Satellite Ride

By JAMES BAAR
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States may not have any satellites aloft yet but it has plenty of volunteers ready to climb aboard them.

The Pentagon and Naval Research Laboratory—headquarters of satellite project Vanguard—said today they have received dozens of letters and phone calls from would-be space explorers.

Even Premier Nikolai Bulganin said in Moscow he has received a letter from two American girls who want to be space pioneers, even if they have to ride a Red moon.

A Vanguard spokesman said a man calling himself "a crazy Irishman" telephones every other day to offer his services as a space traveler.

"He says he wants to get up in a satellite so he can shoot down the Russian Sputniks," the spokesman said.

"I keep telling him the satellite is only 20 inches wide and he keeps insisting he is very small and he'll go on a diet."

A 13-year old Georgia boy—apparently somewhat more hefty—wrote to the Pentagon he is ready to hop aboard a satellite if it is made larger.

A South Carolina airman wrote simply to Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy: "I'd like to be the first man to embark on so great an adventure in outer space."

The Vanguard spokesman said none of the people who have contacted the Naval Research Laboratory about becoming spacemen have asked for pay of any kind. "They just want to go as quickly as possible," he said.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERR

HELEN MORGAN often is spoken about by persons recalling the wild days of the prohibition era, and indeed they are showing a whole movie devoted to her tragic story. When she died, there were few to mourn her, and not so much as a bouquet of flowers sent to the room where her body rested. Always big-hearted, Joe E. Lewis heard about this, and ordered hundreds of dollars worth of flowers from a nearby florist. They were delivered with cards from all the great show-names of the time. Then Joe hired a big bus, and loaded it with waiters and others who had worked at night clubs where Miss Morgan had sung. So Helen Morgan was buried in style.

Florida School Enrollment Up

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Enrollment in Florida's already bulging public schools shot up by 69,715 new pupils during the past semester to a record-breaking 780,815.

And Superintendent Thomas Bailey has predicted the total enrollment by the end of the school year would exceed 900,000.

He said it would cost about $1,110 per new pupil to pay for added classrooms and teachers. This does not include increased expenditures for such things as transportation, maintenance, school lunches and supplies.

The increase in public school enrollment from September 1956 was 8.9 per cent.

Other increases were reflected in kindergartens and junior colleges.

Dade County led the state in pupil growth with a hike of 13,792 pupils to a total of 136,230. Broward was second with an increase of 9,998 pupils, followed by Pinellas, up 8,137. Duval, up 5,643; Hillsborough, up 4,378; and Orange up 4,231.

"There is no sign of let-up in the rate of increase in enrollment in Florida schools," Bailey said, pointing out that Bureau of Census figures show Florida's population jumped 40 per cent between 1930 and 1956 while school enrollments increased 57 per cent.

He said the big increase attains "greater significance" when it is realized that each 600-pupil increase requires the equivalent of a new 30-classroom school at a cost of $600,000, approximately 23 additional teachers at an annual outlay of $115,000 plus increased expenditures for such things as transportation and school lunches.

Kindergarten enrollment at the end of the first month totalled 2,064 compared to 2,468 last year. Junior college enrollment grew from 4,470 to 5,737.

Other counties with major enrollment increases were: Palm Beach, 3,795; Brevard, 3,237; Escambia, 2,232; Polk, 2,101; Volusia, 1,378; Sarasota, 1,378; and Manatee, 1,079.

Woman's Page Conning The News

By VIRGINIA COHN, Society Editor

Rusty Ecuador entertained the VAH-7 wives bridge club a couple of days ago. Rusty served the friends sweet rolls, doughnuts and coffee, as they did like mad. Playing were Helen Crawford, Elaine Bass, Joyce Roberts, Anne Hooley, Fran Powell, Connie Yount and Shirley Youngblade. Connie won high, Elaine second, and Helen felt fortunate with the booty, because it is certainly better than nothing.

VAR-8 wives will lunch together next Tuesday at the Imperial House at 1:00 P. M. Hope that this will not interfere with the voting of any who are eligible.

Trotted over to the Grammar School to lunch with Fortia today. Open houses have been going on all week at S. G. S., and still the lunch room staff is smiling! What's more the food is delicious. It is really remarkable what a bunch of women can do with very little—and now I'm talking about equipment. They seem to surmount most problems in the schools that could send many a housewife running home to mother.

Jr. Varsity Defeated 19-7 By Winter Park In Last Game Of Year

Quail Hunters May See Strange Birds This Year

Bobtail quail hunters in the South may flush strange birds in front of their dogs this year. It is a small bird, looking like a cross between a meadow lark and a bobwhite quail, bursts out of cover it may be the Japanese Coturnix quail.

Thousands of these importations from Asia have been released in Southern and Midwestern states this year. Because the Coturnix migrates in Europe and Asia, game experts are trying to find out how much roaming the exotic will do in America.

Coturnix released in Tennessee last year were shot by hunters as far as Florida. Some released in Missouri were bagged in Texas and Louisiana.

The migration habit does not eliminate the Coturnix as a desirable new species. That is, if the wild wanderer does not leave the country for good but returns in the spring to nest.

Sportsmen anxious to get a first-hand look at Coturnix may hunt them on more than a dozen shooting preserves in the South. A free directory of these preserves may be obtained by writing your state game commission or the Sportsman's Service Bureau, 250 E. 63rd St., New York.

Under ideal hatchery conditions, the Coturnix matures in about 48 days and may lay fertile eggs when she is only 36-days-old. Starting with a pair in the spring, their grandchildren may be laying by fall.

The incubation period for the Coturnix is 28 days as compared with 23 days for the bobwhite. It takes a full year for native quail to bring off a brood, but Coturnix reproduce like white mice. The Coturnix and bobwhite quail will not cross breed.

Game technicians do not yet know if the Japanese birds will be prolific in the wild but shooting preserve operators have found that they can pen-raise and release them cheaper than the bobs.

The Coturnix weighs about four or five ounces while the native bobwhite usually goes about seven ounces. The meat of the Coturnix is dark but tasty.

Shooting preserve operators have found that the Coturnix does not range in covets. Nearly all the birds are found as singles with an occasional double.

When flushed the Coturnix may fly 100 yards to a quarter of a mile. The flight is unpredictable although a lot of the birds are skimmers. They have a slight zigzag and make sporty targets.

Shooting preserve operators say the Coturnix is excellent for dog work. The Orientals hold tighter than the bobwhite. When they flush, there is no scary brrrrr of wings so typical of bobwhite.

Misouri released over 20,000 Coturnix this spring. Other Southern states, such as Georgia, Alabama and North Carolina, have released Coturnix on special study areas.

Game management experts now know that the Coturnix is a phenomena in the hatchery. The big question is whether or not the importation will reproduce in the wild in sufficient numbers to be a new huntable species.

But regardless of what the Coturnix does in the wild, shooting preserve operators have found the bird adaptable to put-and-take hunting and the quail has found a home with them.

Many Southern hunters will undoubtedly bag Coturnix Quail this season. States game commissions have requested that hunters return the birds with information on the date the bird was shot and exact location.

Tommy Wilson of Los Angeles, the leader in individual rushing with 501 yards, retained first position, but the line-busting Brown jumped into second place with a 464 yard total. The two were followed by Hugh McElhenny of San Francisco 432 and Ollie Matson of the Cardinals (426).

Lanky Jack MacLairan of the Pittsburgh Steelers, latching on to seven passes for the second week in a row, took over first place in pass receiving with 31 completions to displace Clyde Conner of San Francisco, the leader for four weeks. Conner had 30 catches.

Ray Berry of Baltimore, who caught 13 for 224 yards last week, jumped into third place with a total of 29.

Berry High in Yardage
Berry's total yardage of 423 was high, and Jim Mutscheller of Baltimore had the most touchdown receptions with seven.

George Blando of the Bears continued to lead in scoring with 48 points. Mutscheller shared second place with Matson, who wasn't in the first 10 one week ago. Each has 43 points.

Don Chandler of the Giants ousted Norm Van Brocklin of the Rams as punting leader with a 43.2-yard average, while Joe Scudero of the Redskins remained as leader in punt returns. Don McElhenny of Green Bay retained first place in kickoff returns and Jack Butler of the Steelers held on in first place in pass interceptions with eight.

The action started with Winter Park kicking to Sanford. On the second play the baby Seminoles fumbled and set up the first Wildcat TD. The fast backs moved the ball to the four and the fullback took the ball over for the TD. The point was blocked by the fast charging line and the score stood at 6-0.

Sanford's only threat in the first quarter was a 30 yard pass play from Roberts to Troutner that moved the ball inside the 30. But the Wildcat line proceeded to stop the running attack and took over. Troutner, Charles Fox, Johnny Wheelchel, Glenn Hodges, and Billy Alford tightened up in the second quarter and refused to give to the Parkers. Ray Lundquist, who played his best game of the season, and Lin Risner begin to move the ball on several nice runs but, again, the Winter Park defense bottled things up.

Winter Park took the ball over with less than four minutes to the half and started to march. With two minutes remaining, they bucked over for the second TD. The point was, again, blocked and the halftime score stood at 12-0.

The second half started with Winter Park going 35 yards on the first play from scrimmage. They were seriously threatening again but the line shook the ball loose and Sanford recovered. Lundquist ripped off a 25 yard run and was helped by Bobby Barbour, Lin Risner, and Henry Russel. They moved the ball to the four but Risner fumbled and Winter Park took over. The line held them on three plays. Winter Park attempted to kick out of trouble but, Risner, seeking revenge, broke through and blocked the kick. On the first play Russel broke through from the five and scored. Mike Roberts set up to kick the point, and attempted to pass but the snap was bad so he proceeded to run through the entire line for the point. At this point, the score stood at 12-7.

With only five points difference the Sanford hopes were still alive but Winter Park proceeded to pick up their final TD on several long plays. The only other threat by the Baby Seminoles was a desperation pass from Lundquist to Gracey that was good for 30 yards.

These boys have shown a great desire to win and have been very successful in many ways. Coaches Silvers and Lauer have done a wonderful job teaching fundamentals and building good sportsmanship. It is this writer's opinion, football fans will be seeing many of these young lads names in the varsity lineup this coming year. They are great lads and great competitors.

Other Athletic Warriors
He may have something there because Sammy Sneed has a terrific set of tonals. But Slammin' Sam, along with such golfing gurglers as Jimmy Demaret and

Claude Harmon, turned their backs on the mike in favor of fresh air and sunshine.

There's a lot of precedent for Burdette's move. Bill Bangeri, the former Missouri shotputter, excelled in the opera department. Maury McDermott of the Kansas City Athletics appeared on a nightclub wheel, and Roosevelt Grier, all-league tackle with the pro football Giants, is a jazz pianist and singer.

Diszy Dean, when he maestroed the Mississippi Mudcats, was a bearcat on "The Wabash Cannonball." They just never could get equipment strong enough to stand the recording shock.

United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UP)—Low Burdette, the man who put Don Larsen in the shade, set the sights today on a pair of golfers named Don Cherry and Perry Como as well as a boxer named Frank Sinatra.

Burdette, the biggest thing in Milwaukee since throw-away bottles, isn't satisfied with having made selling platters out of the New York Yankees in the 1956 World Series. Now he's going to start selling platters.

For this week the singer-ball man turns singer as Dot Records brings out a disc which purportedly is a dandy.

The piece de resistance of the platter, it having two sides, is a song titled "Three Strikes and You're Out." This may not be news, particularly to the Yankees, but it is billed as "an original love song with a baseball twist."

The other side has the baritone Burdette warbling "Mary Lou." This is not to be confused with "Merry Lew." It actually being a hit song from the days when you and I were much younger, Maggie.

YES, I DEW
There may be some snide remarks anent this side of the record. Low has been fingered occasionally by some perplexed batsmen as a man who deals in the illegal spital. And one of the lines of "Mary Lou" promises: "I love you, yes I dew."

The spelling may be a bit out of line there, but that's the way it's going to be interpreted and you can bet your seventh game ticket stub on that. This was the game, incidentally, which launched Burdette on his new singing career as he stomped the mighty Yankees for the third time. Burdette hails from Nitro, W.Va., and so does a Milwaukee fan named Mac Wiseman who, when not listening to baseball games, runs a recording company. Mac wasn't particularly capitalizing on Burdette's new-won fame. Of course not.

"Shucks," Wiseman explains, "I just knew that any old boy from West Virginia can sing."

Other Athletic Warriors
He may have something there because Sammy Sneed has a terrific set of tonals. But Slammin' Sam, along with such golfing gurglers as Jimmy Demaret and

Claude Harmon, turned their backs on the mike in favor of fresh air and sunshine.

There's a lot of precedent for Burdette's move. Bill Bangeri, the former Missouri shotputter, excelled in the opera department. Maury McDermott of the Kansas City Athletics appeared on a nightclub wheel, and Roosevelt Grier, all-league tackle with the pro football Giants, is a jazz pianist and singer.

Diszy Dean, when he maestroed the Mississippi Mudcats, was a bearcat on "The Wabash Cannonball." They just never could get equipment strong enough to stand the recording shock.

Seminole Host Melbourne In Kiwanis Game Tonight

By JERRY COVINGTON
Tonight will be the most important night of the year in Memorial Stadium. In the last home game of the season, the wonderful Sanford Seminoles face the toughest team in Central Florida—the Melbourne Bulldogs. This is said to be one of the most outstanding prep games in the state as undefeated Sanford and once defeated Melbourne clash. As far as defense goes, these teams are just about tops in these parts.

After fighting through their first six tilts, the Seminoles have compiled, what could very possibly be, the schools greatest record. If they defeat Melbourne, it could be the first Conference victory in many a year. They are probably the top team in the state on defense, holding all six opponents to a miraculous twelve points and 264 yards from scrimmage.

The offensive and defensive lines will be in top shape for the contest with the exception of Jack Stotzky, who is scheduled to all this one out with a bad knee. Jack's absence will be greatly felt as he has played a big roll in all the previous victories but Mike Tammy is right there to fill in for him.

Tyre, Hittell, Brown, Swain, Stotzky, Walker, and Jones are all set and are planning to go full speed ahead. When this line is mentioned, there are still no names that stand out above others as each man has had an equal share in this tremendous task that has been handled so well. This will be their greatest test and it is my hunch that they will be the difference in this 1957 classic.

The well-rounded backfield is in top shape for the contest and it is also a bunch that follows like Yeackle, Johnson, and Barbour will be able to solve the Bulldogs defense. With "The Little General" calling the shots, passing, punting, and rolling out, this could be the ticket to upset the "Dogs." All these boys are tops as far as being gentlemen and great competitors is concerned, and it is also a hunch that they have the stuff to go all the way.

Going into this tilt, these fighting Seminoles are probably the best coached team in Florida. Flogg and Luede have teamed together and have come up with one of the greatest combinations in prep football. The team is under complete control at all times and these men have the entire teams respect. All these things together, have produced chances for the schools greatest football honor.

Win, lose, or draw we are wishing you luck and are behind you 100 per cent Seminoles! Come out to the stadium tonight at 8 p. m. for the sporting event of the year and help this fine team over the biggest hump in the schedule.

O'Connell First Among Passers

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Cleveland Browns, content to win the most games with the least fanfare in the statistics columns, finally popped to the front in the National Football League figures by placing Tommy O'Connell first among the passers.

O'Connell took over as the league's leading passer by ousting Eddie Le Baron of the Redskins. Rookie Jim Brown muscled himself into second place among the individual rushers.

O'Connell, completing 7 of 11 for 124 yards and two touchdowns against Pittsburgh last weekend, posted an average of 10.04 yards gained for every pass thrown as the Redskins' little star dropped to a 9.27 yard average.

Round Out 1st Five
John Unitas, Baltimore (8.16), Lamar McHan, Chicago Cardinals (8.15) and Eddie Brown of the Chicago Bears (7.82) completed the first five.

Tommy Wilson of Los Angeles, the leader in individual rushing with 501 yards, retained first position, but the line-busting Brown jumped into second place with a 464 yard total. The two were followed by Hugh McElhenny of San Francisco 432 and Ollie Matson of the Cardinals (426).

Lanky Jack MacLairan of the Pittsburgh Steelers, latching on to seven passes for the second week in a row, took over first place in pass receiving with 31 completions to displace Clyde Conner of San Francisco, the leader for four weeks. Conner had 30 catches.

Ray Berry of Baltimore, who caught 13 for 224 yards last week, jumped into third place with a total of 29.

Berry High in Yardage
Berry's total yardage of 423 was high, and Jim Mutscheller of Baltimore had the most touchdown receptions with seven.

'Tammy And Bachelor' Opens Sunday At Ritz

In all your life you've never met a girl like Tammy, but you're going to feel awfully glad you did when you see Universal-International's merry and provocative production, "Tammy and the Bachelor," which opens Sunday at the Ritz Theatre.

Somewhat the world seems a little brighter and a little righter after getting acquainted with this unshibbled doll from a houseboat on the Mississippi, brought to life on the screen by Debbie Reynolds in a delightfully piquant performance.

Debbie Reynolds is the sophisticated bachelorette Tammy in "Tammy and the Bachelor," Universal-International picture in Technicolor and Cinemascope in which Nielsen, Walter Brennan and Mala Powers are co-stars with Debbie.

TV News

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (AP)—The eyes have it since the advent of TV, but that doesn't mean the ears have had it.

So believes Frank Gallop, an announcer whose mellow tones have been caressing the nation's tympani for more than 20 years. Gallop, an alumnus of such radio shows as Milton Berle's, "Gangbusters" and the New York Philharmonic, currently works for television's Perry Como.

Gallop owns the mystery voice that booms out during the gag station breaks on the NBC-TV Como Show.

Where's Old Timers?
"Everybody keeps asking what's happened to the old time announcer," said Gallop, "well, the answer is nothing has happened to him. He's still with us on TV. The picture hasn't killed him at all. In fact, he's making more money than ever."

However, Gallop confesses TV has made work harder for the announcer. "You can take the 'Stella Dallas' Show I used to do on radio as an example," he said. "I'd walk into the studio 20 minutes before airtime, look over my copy and that was it."

"On a television show like the 'Como hour, we work far harder. Unbelievably harder. There have been times when we've worked far into the night just blocking out camera moves."

Many of the new announcers spawned by TV are curly-haired, dimpled and darling, but Gallop points out that good looks alone won't sell a sponsor's product.

"One of the biggest fallacies about the television announcing business is the belief that we just walk out there, pick up a piece of paper and start reading and that's all there is to it," said Gallop.

Product of Hard Work
"How untrue that belief is. You'll find that every successful announcer is the product of long years of work. A voice that has authority and ease is not something you can develop overnight."

"I can name you two handfuls of old time announcers who are still working hard — fellows like Ben Grauer, Hugh James, Ed Herlihy, Don Wilson. I could tick off dozens more. They're working and will continue to work because they've labored long and hard to develop a flow that sounds effortless."

"That's why all the dimples and wavy hair in the world don't mean a thing if those looks aren't backed up with experience. That's why even 'Ghoul' Gallop goes on and on."

Gallop, a former bond salesman from Boston who got into the radio business back in 1934, is rarely seen on camera on the Como Show. Strangely enough, he likes it that way.

Czech Criminal Sentenced
VIENNA (AP)—A Czech murderer known as "The Beast of Chomutov" has been sentenced to death for killing seven persons and raping 17 young girls, Prague newspapers reported today. The reports said Václav Mrazek, 32, was sentenced last Saturday and will be hanged "shortly." His list of crimes was unprecedented in Czechoslovakian criminal history, the newspapers said.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates that 20 per cent of all fresh produce purchased by housewives is packaged.

'The Big Land' Will Play At Movieland

America's foremost action star, Alan Ladd, returns to the screen in the action-packed thriller "The Big Land." The Jaguar Production, from Warner Bros., opens Sunday at the Movieland Ride-In Theatre.

The WarnerColor film which also has Virginia Mayo and Edmund O'Brien toppling the cast, has as its setting the Kansas Territory in the days immediately following the Civil War. It also reunites the screen combination of Ladd and Mapor, not seen together since made "The Iron Mistress" for Warners' in 1932. Since then, Ladd has been seen in such notable offerings as "Drum Beat," "The McConnell Story" and "Sant'ero," while Miss Mayo has starred in "King Richard and the Crusaders" and "The Silver Chalice." Edmund O'Brien, a veteran of the cinematic boards, achieved his most notable success in "The Barefoot Contessa" in 1953, for his portrayal. After that he was seen at Warners' in "Pete Kelly's Blues" and "A Cry in the Night." "The Big Land" was directed by Gordon Douglas. The screen play for the WarnerColor thriller was written by David Dortort and Martin Rackin. Also featured in the cast are Anthony Caruso, Julie Bishop and John Quisen.

ALAN LADD, Virginia Mayo & Edmund O'Brien star in "The Big Land" opening Sunday at the Movieland Ride-In Theatre.

New Station in Antarctica
LONDON (UP)—Moscow Radio reported today that the Soviet Antarctic expedition has opened a new scientific station in the interior of the frozen continent. The broadcast heard here said the station, called Komсомолская, was located on a plateau about 12,000 feet above sea level. Meteorological observations are being taken at the station, the radio said.

"Wild Cargo" is brought from the jungles of the world by Jack W. Burke, who was formerly in the employ of the well-known animal collector, Frank "Bring 'em Back Alive" Buck. ### Rev. Ware Will Lead Adventure In Missions

An "Adventure in Missions" will be held at the First Methodist Church in Sanford, Tuesday evening, Nov. 19, at 7:45 p. m. The Rev. H. Melton Ware, Missionary Secretary of the Florida Methodist Conference, will lead the "Adventure". Mr. Ware is at present pastor of the First Methodist Church of Jacksonville and representing the Florida Conference has just returned from a two months visitation tour around the world, having visited the different Methodist Missionary Stations in some 18 countries and traveling some 20 thousand miles by commercial airplane, longboat, bamboo ferry, sled, jeep and on foot. The major portion of his work was spent in the Philippine Islands and Sarawak, Borneo. He says that some of the places took him back 3000 years in the cultural history of mankind; and then to see the change that has been wrought by the Missionary work of the Methodist Church, and the other churches in their specific fields of labor. Mr. Ware will show slides of his visits in various places, and describe the work being done there. Mr. Ware is a native of Sanford, and comes home to try to tell his own people of the needs of Missionaries, and the opportunity that we have. He graduated from Seminole High in 1923, UofT in 1926, from Chandler School of Theology in Atlanta in 1929, and later took post graduate work at Columbia University, and spent four years as Chaplain with the U. S. Army during World War II. Southern College conferred the Honorary Degree of Doctor of Divinity on him in 1936. ### Federal Reserve Discount Rate Cut Special Services For '58 Revealed

By EDWARD COWAN United Press Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON (AP)—The government has eased up on the anti-inflation brakes in a move that indicates the boom is over. The Federal Reserve Board, in the first reversal of its cherished "tight-money" policy, cut the discount rate Thursday from 3 1/2 to 3 per cent at four of its member banks. The remaining eight banks are expected to follow suit shortly. The move means that businessmen, would-be homeowners and car buyers, and others probably will be able to borrow more money from banks easier—and cheaper. It is an attempt by the government to get the people buying again. Top economists said in New York that the action indicates that inflationary pressures in the economy have eased. They said it also indicates that the boom has ended and that business activity has begun to slow down. Inflation Not Dominant The government had pursued a tight-money policy as a means of holding down the inflationary spiral. But a spokesman said the reserve board's action recognizes that inflation now "has ceased to be the dominant factor in the economy." The discount rate is the interest reserve banks charge member banks to borrow money. A reduction could stimulate credit—and thus the overall economy—if member banks pass on the lower cost of borrowing to their customers. It also encourages the banks to borrow more freely from the reserve and thus increases their ability to make more private loans. The lower discount rate, announced Thursday, went into effect today at reserve banks in New York, Atlanta, St. Louis, and Richmond, Va. The other banks are at Cleveland, Chicago, Minneapolis, Philadelphia, Kansas City, Boston, Dallas and San Francisco. Congress Favorable Congressional reaction to the move was immediate and favorable among both Republicans and Democrats. Rep. Wright Patman (D-Tex.), chairman of the Senate-House Economic Committee, said the reduced rate showed that reserve chairman William McChesney Martin "is getting on the top of the capitol and shouting to the banks throughout the country to ease up and lower their interest rates." The lower discount was announced at a high-level meeting Tuesday between President Eisenhower and Reserve Chairman Martin, Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson, Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks and other of his top economic experts.

Lake Mary News

By ETTIE JANE KROGH

I had a nice surprise Wednesday evening, Mrs. Escar Price Neider called for a little visit on the phone. She taught public school music all the eight years I went to Lake Mary School. It was so nice to hear from her again. Can't wait till she can come out and as you know all the school pictures will come out and we'll have a wonderful time of "Where is she now" or "Remember when?"

Wednesday evening the Sunday School teachers of the Community Presbyterian Church met at the Richard Keogh home for a planning meeting. Plans for the Christmas program were made. The program will be Dec. 22 (Sunday night) at 7. Each child of the Sunday School will have a part with words and song. After the program Santa will arrive with candy and a little talk with the children.

At the planning session were Mrs. Fannie Leffer, Mrs. Arnold Oney, Don Kirchner, the Rev. Alexander Linn and Mr. and Mrs. Keogh.

I saw Mrs. W. C. Hopkins Wednesday for a minute. She said that some of the P-T-A members were getting together Friday morning at her home to address over 200 letters to be sent to the freshers in this area about the Nov. 19 School Bond Election. Mrs. Hopkins and her committee should take a bow for all the work they are doing for this election. They realize as all of us should the importance of this election.

We received some news this week and are anxiously waiting to hear more. My great grandfather Birch underwent surgery in Canton, N. Y. last Friday. Grandfather is 90 so you can see even if he were 30 years younger we would worry. He has never visited us here in Florida but anyone who knows our family has heard us speak of him many many times.

Mr. and Mrs. McMillin and family have bought the Howard house on South Third Street. They moved in the first of the week. Mrs. McMillin is a sister of Mrs. Doris Oney and Arthur Daugherty. We welcome this couple and their family to the community.

A large house was moved to the north end of Lake Mary Wednesday. In fact it was stuck or something on the little white bridge and traffic had to go by another road for several hours.

I had a nice visit with Mrs. Charles Arnet Wednesday morning. She is the new publicity chairman of the Lake Mary Home Demonstration Club. They Tuesday meeting must have been interesting. Ruby Sjoblom also stopped to tell me about the meeting.

All of us in Lake Mary know Mrs. Hood. Why don't we send her a birthday card on Tuesday. I'm sure I don't know how many years young she is but we all know and love her. So let's remember Mrs. Hood on Her Day Tuesday, Nov. 19.

The speaker for the Tuesday meeting of the Lake Mary Home Demonstration Club was W. Gramlow, member of the Seminole County TB Association. Mrs. H. Selbert and Mrs. M. Bracht gave demonstrations on food planning. Each member was given a booklet on Calories and Meal Planning. Mrs. Leon Taylor is chairman of the Christmas Parade Float Committee. The club's float will be an Early American Kitchen, complete with mother, grandmother and three children.

There will be a bake sale in front of the Lake Mary post office on Dec. 18. Following the business meeting Mrs. Charles Kruger and Mrs. C. W. Sjoblom were hostesses to a covered dish luncheon. The table was centered with a Thanksgiving theme centerpiece. Mrs. Olin Boutwell baked a birthday cake and "Happy Birthday" was sung to Mrs. Sjoblom. Mrs. Charles Arnet, and Mrs. Martha Bracht who have birthdays this month.

Attending the meeting were Mrs. Boutwell, president; Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Kruger, Mrs. Sjoblom, Mrs. Selbert, Mrs. John McLaughlin, Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. Heinbuch, Mrs. Arnet and Mrs. Theo Sillen.

The next meeting will be Tuesday, Dec. 10 at the Chamber of Commerce Bldg.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Brodie Jr. announce the birth of their first child a son James Hoyt III on Oct. 22 in Corpus Christi, Tex. The baby weighed three pounds. Mrs. Brodie said that in a recent letter June said that the doctors say the baby is doing fine. The Brodies Sr. are counting the days until they can see this first grandchild.

Recent callers at the P. D. Anderson were her aunt Mrs. Louise P. Wilson and cousin Mrs. J. V. Richards of Enterprise and Mrs. Clarence Koon of Dallas. Mrs. Anderson said that she had seen the latter since 1920.

In celebration of the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Fowler, the P. D. Andersons entertained and friends Mr. and Mrs. Walter Collingwood of Longwood, at a chili supper Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Freeman and three children spent the past weekend with relatives in Dothan, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. Frisby returned to Lake Mary from their summer home in Michigan this week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Klob of Bonn, Va. were recent guests of their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Tillis.

73,340,000 Orange Production Seen For '57-58 Season

WASHINGTON (AP) — The agriculture department predicts 73,340,000 boxes of early and mid-season oranges will be produced in the 1957-58 season in Florida and other citrus states except California.

The department has made no estimate yet on either the early and mid-season crop in California or the California Valencia crop.

The production forecast is 3 per cent larger than last season and 38 per cent overall.

The Florida Valencia crop was forecast at 43 million boxes, 11 per cent above last year. The department predicted a 30 per cent increase in Valencia production in Texas over last year and an 8 per cent increase in the Arizona crop.

Production of grapefruit for 1957-58, excluding the California summer crop, was estimated at 43,300,000 boxes, practically the same as last year but 4 per cent below average.

The Florida grapefruit crop was estimated at 36 million boxes.

Herman F. Steele, assistant general manager of Florida Citrus Mutual at Lakeland, said the reduction in the grapefruit estimate from the one issued 30 days ago "comes as no surprise."

He said that Mutual had called the estimate last month "completely unrealistic," and that "based on evidence we have been compiling since the start of the season, indications are that there may be still further reductions as the season advances."

"Today's revision certainly should bolster industry thinking that this season's grapefruit crop will be marketed advantageously from the standpoint of the grower," he said.

Florida's tangerine crop for the season was forecast at 4,800,000 boxes, 8 per cent below last year, and the lime crop in the state was estimated at 400,000 boxes, the same as during the past two seasons.

The department predicted a lemon crop of 14,700,000 boxes, 8 per cent smaller than last year but 13 per cent above average.

Falls supply about 64 per cent of the calories in American household foods.

Lowest recorded official temperature in North Dakota was 80 below zero in Parshall, Feb. 18, 1936.

Apples were brought to America by the early settlers.

CRATER OPENS IN SEATTLE STREET

A police barricade borders a huge hole which opened in a Seattle, Wash., street. The hole began to develop late at night and quickly enlarged to a crater some 45 feet deep, 10 feet wide, and 80 feet long, awaiting a fully grown chestnut tree in the process. City engineers are trying to determine what caused the collapse.

Give Your Kids A Chance!

TOMORROW'S LEADERS are in the schools today. To prepare for their future they should have the best facilities we can provide. Let's see that they have the chance they deserve to learn in schools at least equal to the demands of the day.

Seminole County's Growing!

POPULATION has doubled in the last eight years. Every survey made forecasts a continuation of this sweeping upward trend. SCHOOL ENROLLMENT has gone up over 50 percent in the last five years. With the added families that come here day by day we must plan for a school enrollment increase of at least another 50 percent in the next three years.

School Space Is Needed!

You know that the classrooms are filled to capacity now. The additional students demand added school space if we are to avoid the unsatisfactory daily double sessions. Our out-moded schools MUST be modernized and expanded quickly.

Pineau Here For Talks With Dulles On Franco-American Relations

By HENRY LOGEMAN
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau flew to the United States today for urgent talks with John Foster Dulles on a growing rift in Franco-American relations.

creating a serious rift in the Atlantic alliance and jeopardizing the Dec. 16 NATO summit conference in Paris to be attended by President Eisenhower.

Pineau will see Dulles in Washington Tuesday afternoon. He will prepare for the meeting by talking in New York today with United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld and French Ambassador Herve Alphand.

Worried French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau admitted that he neither knew nor understood how well his talks with Dulles turn out they will not soothe the anger of the French people over U.S. and British arms shipments to Tunisia.

later Selwyn Lloyd was reported anxious to meet with both Dulles and Pineau before the NATO summit conference Dec. 16 to help restore the "Grand Alliance."

All the main Soviet newspapers, including Pravda, Izvestia, Truth and Sovietways Weekly, carried dispatches from Paris under such headlines as "Scandal in the Atlantic Family," "Tunisian Thorn in Atlantic Side" and "United States Trying to Push France from Africa."

In Tunis, the Tunisian French language weekly "L'Action" said Algerian Nationalist circles saw the arms shipments as a sign of Washington "willingness to end the immobilism of its North African policy."

United States for full support of France's position in North Africa, particularly in Algeria.
