

"You Live Only Once" To Show Here For Two Days

Henry Fonda, Sylvia Sidney Are Cast In Lead Roles Of Film

The most starkly human drama the screen has ever offered comes to the Ritz Theater Wednesday when "You Only Live Once," Walter Wanger's first production for release through United Artists, begins a two-day engagement with Sylvia Sidney and Henry Fonda, the screen sweethearts of "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," reunited in the starring roles.

Dynamic conflict, thrilling action and a scintillating romance are combined in this story of a woman who risked her life to fight by the side of the man she loved when the whole world condemned him and hunted him like an animal in every corner of the earth.

Fritz Lang, who handled the megaphone on "Fury," "M," "Metropolis" and other unforgettable films, directed "You Only Live Once" from an original story by Gene Towne and Graham Baker.

A great supporting cast is headed by Barton MacLane, who incidentally has his first sympathetic role.

To Mary—With Love Returns Here Friday

Today's most talked-about love story brings Warner Baxter and Myrna Loy back into each other's arms in "To Mary—With Love," Twentieth Century-Fox picture at the Ritz Theater next Friday in a return showing.

Brilliantly, the sweethearts of "Penhouse" and "Broadway Bill" bring to the screen the great modern story of two lovers who find, in tears and heartbreak, the true depth of their emotion and affection.

Directed by John Cromwell from Richard Sherman's best-selling novel of the same title, "To Mary—With Love" also features Ian Hunter, Claire Trevor and Jean Dixon.

The department of agriculture says the income of farmers from marketing increased 18 per cent in December, 1936, over December, 1935, reaching a mark of $725,560,000.

SOLVE MYSTERIES

Murder Mystery Here At Ritz On Saturday

Blending a dramatic murder mystery with a continuously hilarious comedy plot in unique fashion, "We're on the Jury," a highly entertaining picture, comes to the Ritz Theater next Saturday.

The mystery forms the background, and the comedy rolls over it in waves of laughter as the story progresses to its surprise finish. The basis is a simple one; a prominent citizen is found dead in his home, and his wife is put on trial for the killing. But a chatty society woman of the town is selected to serve on the jury, and finding herself at variance with her fellow townsmen as to the lady's guilt, she sets about ascertaining the rest of the jury to her views, and also proceeds to solve the mystery by herself.

In the course of her efforts, plenty of unexpected crises occur, and under the deft treatment of Director Ben Holmes, the outcome remains in doubt until the fast-moving finale. Helen Broderick, long acclaimed Broadway's foremost comedienne, plays the resourceful jury-woman, with Victor Moore sharing top honors with her as a well-meaning real estate salesman who is also drafted as one of the townsmen.

Romantic Comedy Is Booked Warren Williams Stars In "Outcast" Here Next Friday

James Melton, Pat Ellis Head Cast Of Colorful Adventure

Litling music, rollicking laughter and glowing romance combine to make "Sing Me a Love Song," a Cosmopolitan production released through First National, which is scheduled as the feature attraction at the Ritz Theater on Wednesday and Thursday one of the most entertaining musical comedies of the year.

There is an all star cast headed by James Melton, the radio singer, Patricia Ellis, Hugh Herbert, Zasu Pitts, Allen Jenkins and Nat Pendleton.

The story by Harry Sauber deals with the colorful adventures of a wealthy and somewhat irresponsible youth who goes to work in his own department store to find out why the wheels aren't going around as they should.

In doing so he falls in love with one of his clerks, gets himself and her tangled up in a series of innocent misadventures which land both in jail.

Included in the cast are Freddie Bartholomew, Sir Guy Standing, C. Aubrey Smith and Virginia Field.

IN "OUTCAST"

Warren Williams and Karen Morley are the romantic pair in "Outcast," drama of mob fury, Friday at the Ritz Theater.

Glenda Farrell Is "Smart Blonde" At Ritz On Tuesday

Something new in the way of a feminine character on the screen is promised in "Smart Blonde," a mystery-comedy-drama produced by Warner Bros. and starring Glenda Farrell, which will be shown at the Ritz Theater on Tuesday.

"Torchy Blane" is the new character, and she is to run through a series of light yet thrilling pictures, impersonated in each by the lively, likable and wisecracking Glenda.

It is true that girl newspaper reporters have been shown in films before—but no girl in any way like Torchy, who is alternately sly and serious; as nifty as any of her male journalistic confreres, yet altogether feminine. Real girl reporters who have seen previews of "Smart Blonde" say they gladly welcome Torchy into the profession of "Ladies of the Press."

Co-starring with Miss Farrell—and aiding her in solving the mystery—is husky Barton MacLane, in the role of a police detective.

City Will Seek Enactment of 7 Local Measures

Seven pieces of special legislation for Sanford will be sought in the 1937 legislature, according to proposals which were drafted today by City officials.

Probably the most important of the lot is a provision that would allow the City Commission to resume its authority as a Municipal Tax Adjustment Board with power to adjust delinquent taxes for 1933 and prior, also to adjust special assessments.

This authority was held by the Commission for one year and expired only recently after hundreds of individual delinquent tax bills had been settled.

The City also seeks to enact a law "to provide that several parcels of property owned by one party or owned jointly by more than one party may be assessed together, unless request is made in writing."

A third statute would empower the municipality to levy a tax for two purposes, one, for the funded indebtedness of the City, and two, for the operating expenses of the City.

Proposed law number four would enable the City to use certain revenue derived from the operation of the water plant for the refunding of the bonded debt.

Authorization to act as its own insurer for its employees is sought by the municipality in the fifth bill.

Number six seeks "to cancel all taxes due and to become due to Seminole County, Florida, up to (Continued on page three)

France Orders General Advance On Jarama Front In Co-ordinated Push

MADRID, Mar. 14.—(AP)—Four tremendous explosions—apparently from Government mines in battle-scarred University City—rocked Madrid today as insurgent artillery shells tore great holes in buildings of the downtown district.

Meagre reports from the University City Zone where Government militiamen and insurgent troops have contested for weeks described the explosive attacks as fresh attempts to rout Gen. Francisco Franco's forces from their barricaded positions.

Just after the explosions, a Government air squadron flew over the area on an observation flight.

Italian troops were reported fighting on the insurgent side and were declared by the War Ministry to have been forced from strategic positions in the Guadalupe Sector, northeast (Continued on page five)

Broome Says High Court Should Back President

Realty Head Asserts 'National Expediency' More Important Than Debates On Constitutionality

Speaking before the Rotary Club today at its regular weekly luncheon, L. E. Broome, executive secretary of the Florida Real Estate Commission, Orlando, admitted that many of the Roosevelt policies are "clearly unconstitutional," but should be upheld by the court on the grounds of "national expediency."

It would not be the first time that unconstitutional acts had been upheld by the court, on the grounds of "national expediency," Mr. Broome stated, citing the Williams Narcotics Act, nor is this the first time that a proposal has been made to "pack" the court for the purpose of maintaining a definite political philosophy.

"The court has always been packed," Mr. Broome declared, "and it has always interpreted the Constitution in accordance with the philosophies of the political parties to which the majority of the court happened to belong."

The present controversy over the Supreme Court, Mr. Broome said, is the greatest issue which has come before the American people since the Civil War. It is a good thing, he added, for the people that this controversy has arisen and he advised that everyone should do his own thinking with respect to this subject.

The argument that it is necessary to retire certain members of the court on account of their age, he has immediately dropped, admitting that there is no longer any (Continued on page five)

Snow, Sleet Cover South; Mercury Drops

Wintery Assault In Threat On Arkansas Fruit Crops; Rain Hits South

By The Associated Press March winds whipped snow, sleet or rain over much of the south today bringing an abrupt halt to springlike weather.

Temperatures dropped below the freezing mark in some sections of Tennessee and Arkansas, where wintery assault threatened damage to fruit.

Snow falling at Nashville, Memphis and Little Rock melted almost as fast as it struck. White flurries also dotted sections of Virginia with forecasts indicating they would extend as far south as North Georgia.

Chilly rains splashed sidewalks at Knoxville, Atlanta, New Orleans, Montgomery and in the Carolinas.

Official forecasts indicated button-up-your-overcoat weather would not at once relax its grip. Still lower temperatures were promised for some Dixie sections. Agricultural interests expressed concern for Southwest Arkansas' peach crop, now in full bloom.

Saturday Evening Post Tells of Canal Battle

Sanford's Side Of Great Issue Set Forth By Garrett In Publication Of National Circulation

Sanford's side of the Florida Ship Canal fight is ably set forth by Garret Garrett in the Mar. 20 issue of the Saturday Evening Post's "This is Florida." Under the bold caption, "Sanford," Mr. Garrett writes in part: "In this region, the fear of the citrus fruit and vegetable growers that the Florida Ship Canal would ruin the water supply amounts to almost a terror. You would think that such a matter as this ought not to be in controversy. You would think that geologists with their sciences could say positively whether or not what is dreaded would happen."

C. R. Lee of Oviedo was named president and Roy Symes of Sanford elected vice-president of the Seminole County Agricultural Conservation Association Saturday afternoon, C. R. Dawson, County farm agent, said today.

Mr. Dawson announced that work sheets under the new program probably will be called for within the next three weeks. He said the County Committee and all Community Committees will be in his office Monday morning to fill out their own work sheets for practical purpose and instruction.

The farm agent said tentative plans are for his representatives to visit each community in the County and collect work sheets in this manner.

In the event that any farmer or grower fails to enter his sheet during the period specified, he will be given a second opportunity to participate in the program by coming to the farm office and filling the sheet.

Mr. Dawson announced that all persons in the 1936 program will be notified individually of the time and place regarding the filing of work sheets.

Plan Of Lakefront Beautification Is Filed At City Hall

Herbert L. Flynn, landscape architect, today had submitted to the City a proposed plan for beautification of the lakefront between Sanford Avenue and a point near the National Guard Armory.

While the sketch was not placed on public view—because it is only tentative—officials described it as expensive and much the desired work as they outlined. If the plan is adopted, Mayor Ed Higgins has reported, the program would be one carried out gradually with only a small amount of work being done at one time. This system is necessary, it was pointed out, because of the large outlay of cash required for the movement.

Judge Declares Nemo Has Right To Occupy Property Of Another Person

DETROIT, Mar. 15.—(AP)—Circuit Judge Allan Campbell today granted an injunction calling upon sitdown strikers to evacuate plants of the Chrysler Corporation in this area which they have occupied since last Monday.

In his opinion, Judge Campbell held that even if the Wagner Labor Relations Act "is valid" it "still does not give the defendants (sitdown strikers) the right to occupy property."

He declared that "respect for law and order and for the courts is menaced. There must be no compromise and the writ will issue."

The injunction order is returnable Wednesday morning. The Wayne county sheriff must serve it on strike leaders before then. Several hundred Union men, massed in the third floor corridor of the County building, accepted the decision quietly and unopposed.

Asked if sit-down strikers would obey the evacuation order, George S. Wilson, president of the Dodge local said a "vote will be taken in the Dodge plant tonight."

Seniors At Oviedo To Stage Benefit Play, 'Hullabaloo'

Proceed from the show will be donated to the school as the seniors' yearly gift to school improvements, beautification and other projects to benefit the upcoming classes.

A sizable purse is expected to be cleared through the event, based on the comparatively large attendance of Oviedo persons at plays in the school auditorium during the current school year.

Prof. R. L. Cooper announced that the school would welcome Sanfordites who wished to see the show.

Income Tax Filing Deadline Falls At Midnight Tonight

Seminole County citizens who must file income tax returns still have until midnight tonight to get their reports under the wire before being liable to a severe penalty.

Penalties of from 5 percent to 25 percent of the total reported on the report are assessable against all those who are delinquent in filing.

Salvation Army To Begin Drive Tuesday Morning

A report of the Advance Gift subscriptions to date will be made by Chairman Sharon. Various lodges, clubs and organizations are being asked to subscribe to the Home Service Fund.

The beginning of the general solicitation movement will mark the end of the advance gift campaign, a drive in which several former Army contributors and supporters were contacted for their 1937 donations.

Capt. Fred Fren, commanding the Army post, has indicated that the major part of the financial campaign will be conducted tomorrow. He said he had no desire to see the move become annoying and drag along.

The captain reported that "clean-up" details probably will be attended to Wednesday and Thursday. Anyone who wishes to donate funds to the cause may do so by telephoning the Salvation Army at 355.

Monday Evening Post Tells Of Canal Battle

The writer described the possibility of locks and a canal, that said the locks will be completed.

The point is that whether a sea-level canal would be only 50 feet deep at Jacksonville and only 20 feet deep at Port Royal on the Gulf of Mexico, it would have to be 120 feet deep at Ocala, where the land is 107 feet above sea level; and a cut of that depth into the limestone springs that contains the fresh water pressure might be hazardous.

It is if it appears that Jacksonville is fighting for something she never had and that the agriculturists are fighting to defend something they already possess.

Several hunters have shipped away two tomahawks from the grave of Sam Bass, notorious outlaw, at Round Rock, Tex.

City Will Seek Enactment Of 7 Local Measures

On certain property heretofore acquired and that may be acquired by the City of Sanford, Florida.

The final piece of hoped-for legislation would validate all levies of taxes, tax assessment rolls and tax sales by the City.

In former years it has been customary for members of the Legislature to extend "legislative courtesy" when senators or representatives present for passage bills which have effect only in the section from which the sponsor is elected, consequently it is only the rarest occasion which local legislation is defeated—if ever—for that matter, draws a negative vote.

Trapping is a big business as well as a sport in Texas. All sections of the state have fur-bearing animals of commercial value.

Cocillon Club Enjoys Harmonica Selections

A novel and interesting feature of the Cocillon Music Club meeting at the studio of Mrs. Fannie S. Munson on Saturday was a group of harmonica selections from the harmonica club of Mrs. S. J. Nix. The numbers included Humoresque of Dvorak; Aloha Oe, an Hawaiian Melody, and a group of folk songs.

Those playing in the band were Lillian Adams, John Adams, Catherine Clark, Louise Clark, Charlie Sparkman, Virginia Dilly, Bunny McCall, Jerro Steele, Lydia Wiebolt and Walter Steele.

Throughout the afternoon program Mrs. Munson gave the following music quotations:

"The only unalloyed joy is in the pursuit and study of art, not in the success which comes as a result."—Lilli Lehmann.

"Talent is soul development."—Rethberg.

"There are songs in the soul of every man. In all of us is the desire to sing—to express through music."—Wooden, Former Sec'y U. S. Treasury.

"Earth's melodies are echoes of Heaven's Eternal Joys."—Michael Hodges.

"Wouldst thou know if a people be well governed, if its manners are good or bad, examine the music it produces."—Confucius.

"The songs of musicians are able to change the feelings and conditions of a state."—Cleora.

"Music, when soft voices die, vibrates in the memory."—Shelley.

"Learn to listen. There is a wide difference between hearing and listening."—Palmerston.

"If you would achieve something, put your mind on it, do it. Waiting for inspiration is some time sheer laziness."—Nordica.

"Every day we spend without learning something is a day lost."—Beethoven.

"The man that hath no music in himself nor is not moved by concord of sweet sound, is fit for treason, stratagems and spoils. Let no such man be trusted."—Shakespeare.

"Let not a day pass, if possible, without hearing some fine music, read a noble poem or see a great picture."—

The following program was heard on the afternoon program:

Raise Children And Drink Wine—Italy

ROME, Mar. 15.—(AP)—Raise your children and glorify the race" and "drink more wine and stimulate your children" are familiar admonitions in Italy.

Il Giornale d'Italia recently published Senator Arturo Mavesca's conclusions that "excessive wine drinking is neglected, the birthrate falls off." Il Giornale, one of Italy's most important newspapers, seldom has been accused of whimsicality, but it gave the senator's studies front-page space.

Strip Tease Dance Said To Be Purely American

By CHARLES NORMAN
 Feature Service Writer
 WASH., Mar. 15.—Herbert Kay, who has a chair like a chair, wearing glasses and a white shirt, is the only man in the room. He is the only man in the room. He is the only man in the room.

the strip-tease," Herbert Kay admitted. "She is taught costuming and rhythm. Every girl favors a different kind of music for her act, and we let her have it."

"To do a strip-tease," says Norman, "a girl has to have grace, poise and personality. When she is ready to make her debut, as you might call it, our casting director gives her a beautiful gown, takes her to dinner at a swell hotel, compliments her, dances with her, escorts her home. The girl gets confidence and feels glamorous. We want our girls to feel glamorous."

Herbert warns up: "European countries have been stripping Uncle Sam long enough — if there's any stripping to be done, Minsky brothers will do it."

Morton: "Burlesque girls are as nice as in any other branch of business."

He displays with pride an advertisement he had written for a theatrical sheet:

STRIP TEASERS WANTED:
 The face is the thing; good figures are numerous, but a beautiful face is rare. All applicants should consult a mirror before applying.

"The strip-tease," Morton volunteers, "was created by 'Curly' Mason. That was 17 years ago, at the old Winter Garden."

The strippers currently being glorified by the brothers Minsky bear out, geographically speaking, the typically American aspect of their specialty. Their homes are in Blytheville, Ark., Watertown, N. Y., Pittsburgh and Scranton, Pa., and Baltimore, Md.

In the house of burlesque, the sun is at home. A typical Minsky revue is called "Fantasia Inferno."

Both Minskys are married. Each goes home to dinner every night. Herbert Kay ("I don't know what the Kay is for," says Morton, "but that's how he wants it spelled") is 45; Morton, 35. Both are members of a family long in burlesque.

Chattanooga Team Begins Training On Local Diamond

Through the courtesy of The Sanford Herald

Joe Engel, chief scout of the Washington Senators and an important cog in the latter's machinery of farm clubs, is at present in Chattanooga where he is completing plans for the coming season of the club there.

Clyde Milton, team manager, this morning said that all the training sessions would be held each morning and would be completed before 1 o'clock every day in order to permit reserve members of the school here an opportunity to continue their practice sessions.

He also listed a number of possible games which might take place between the rookies and members of the Lookouts prior to the opening of the latter's schedule of spring training games which lists six games on the local grounds.

Although the Lookouts will open their schedule with an exhibition game at Leesburg on Mar. 24, their first contest here will not take place until Easter Sunday, Mar. 28, when the St. Louis Cardinals will send their reserves here from Daytona Beach for an exhibition contest.

The following day will find the House of David team with its bearded players as the attraction at the local ball park with Rochester of the International League her on Tuesday, Mar. 30.

The Washington Senators, foster club of the Lookouts, will provide the opposition here on Thursday, Apr. 1, with the Columbus Redbirds of the American Association as the attraction on Sunday, Apr. 4.

Montreal of the International League will complete the tentative schedule, showing here on Wednesday, Apr. 7, after the game with the Columbus team at DeLand the following day previous.

Following the contest with Montreal, the Lookouts will begin their trek northward to prepare for their opening league game in Chattanooga in mid-April.

Indiana University Athletic Director Prizes His Watch

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Mar. 15.—(AP) A gold watch, one of his prized possessions, brings a thrill to Z. G. Clevenger, athletic director at Indiana University.

In 1902, Clevenger, a member of Indiana's baseball team, went to bat in the last half of the ninth with Minnesota leading the Hoosiers, 10-9. Two men were aboard. He smashed out the homer to win the game, 10-11.

Wildly cheering Hoosier fans took up a collection and presented Clevenger the watch.

Clevenger, who never packed more than 145 pounds on his wiry 5-foot-7 frame, also holds the distinction of having scored Indiana's first twentieth century touchdown. A freshman backfield sparkplug on the 1900 Hoosier eleven, he crossed the line for the touchdown which started his team to a 24-to-5 victory over Purdue.

Jay Cee Directors Will Meet Tuesday For Board Session

Directors of the Sanford Junior Chamber of Commerce will meet at 8 P. M. Tuesday in President Andrew Carraway's home to discuss, among other things, the proposal to form a State "legislative studying" committee.

This body, it was explained, would examine all bills that are to be submitted to the Legislature and the Jay Cee unit would offer its recommendation or rejection.

President Carraway said directors also would discuss matters pertaining to the State convention scheduled late next month.

The third group of questions and answers by Sinnett appears below. To have your question answered by the wonder who is appearing at the Ritz theater, just fill out the coupon below.

Q. Who will be the next person to get the position I have in mind? M. F. R.

A. The party that is now holding this office will be re-elected by a small majority.

Q. What will be the outcome of my present situation? Mr. W. D. C.

A. You will make the change to Orlando. Accept this position, and stay in Orlando eleven or twelve months. By then you will realize the mistake you have made, and your wife also will see her mistake; there will be a reconciliation. You will go back together and make a success of your marriage. You have the wrong idea of marriage and the only way out is to carry out your plans and then you will be convinced.

Q. What will I do after I complete my college work? Miss V. F. R.

A. You will return north and accept a position in the Chicago office of the company where your brother works. No, you will not marry Harry.

Q. Which of the men I am going with will I marry? Miss E. D. R.

A. James is not sincere and you will never receive a proposal from him. Clarence is the one you will marry, and I see this marriage in September of this year.

Q. Will I get well again? Mrs. L. G. P.

A. Yes. This present condition will improve slowly but surely. Continue the treatment you have been following.

Q. Will I sell my Sanford property this year? C. E. K. Carrabelle, Fla.

A. You I see this property being sold the last quarter of this year. You will invest the money you get from this property in Carrolville, and make money.

Q. What will I get from my present crop? Mr. J. D.

A. You will make three thousand, six hundred dollars from your celery.

Q. Where is my uncle who has been gone five years? Mrs. W. C. B.

A. He is in Dallas, Texas, working for an oil company. Come to the theater, see me in person, and in private reading, I will give you the details.

Q. Do you give interviews any place except the hotel? Mrs. E. L. M.

A. No, only at the theater immediately after each stage performance. Your pride is the trouble. I have interviewed such people as Mrs. Warren Harding while Harding was President. Mrs. Huey Long, and Mrs. Walter P. Chrysler. I am sorry that you are afraid what local people will think if they see you at the theater. You were not so particular when you were having the affair in Miami that you want to consult me about.

Q. How will I come out in the trial? Mr. H. F.

A. You will win this case and I see no reason for your changing attorneys.

Q. Will I get anything from my railroad check? Miss I. F.

A. You will sell this stock at a profit in August of this year.

Q. Can you tell me how to overcome the habit I have formed? Can one person influence another without his or her knowledge? Mrs. H. F. G.

A. Influencing another party without his or her knowledge can be done by using the power of herro suggestion. This I explain at my special ladies' only matinee

Reading And Writing

Perhaps you remember the give with which this land accepted the pronouncement of some perhaps fictional seer that "Jesus Christ was the first Rotarian." Well, listen to this from Sir James Jeans, quoted in connection with Eric Temple Bell's delightful "Men of Mathematics":

"The Great Architect of the Universe now begins to appear as a pure mathematician."

And this from Plato: "God ever geometrizes."

I know perfectly well that there is a distinction between calling Jesus a Rotarian and the concepts of Sir James and the man he paraphrased, Plato. But there also is an analogy.

This is not a digression, but intended as an approach to Dr. Bell's "Men of Mathematics." For this very long but diverting book he has chosen specifically the men who have made modern mathematics, beginning with three men who had, as Dr. Bell says, "modern minds in ancient bodies": Zeno, Eudoxus and Archimedes. The differences between the first two of these ancient worthies have their parallels in surviving differences today.

Then Dr. Bell comes sweeping down the centuries, concentrating always on the men instead of their formulae. Quite obviously, it would require an entire library to treat scientific only the work as well as the personalities of the great mathematicians, and just as evidently, such a monumental work would have as little chance for popular sale as a fashion magazine in the Australian bush. Of course he explains why the men were great, and it must be confessed that there are a few collections of mathematical pathos scattered through the text.

But these are not compulsory. Dr. Bell advocates skipping them if they bother, although he declares that any victor over high school mathematics ought to be able to understand all he has written. Which puts it up to the reader. Dr. Bell describes the science of celestial bookkeeping — most of us don't even know what it is. He makes his relation to life very clear, and he spreads through the mind of his readers, little by little, an understanding of its fascination. Then he brings the lot of practitioners to life — crooked diplomats, drunks, keen livers, men who worked themselves to death, humble men, snobs, even a few "originals."

"Men of Mathematics" is an experience, even for us ignorant ones.

"Men of Mathematics," by Eric Temple Bell (Simon & Schuster; $5).

Seminole County Pays $170,611 On 1936 Assessment

Jenkins Reports 55 Percent Of Total For Year Collected In Mid-March

Delinquencies Begin In April

State Law Allows Land Sale To Satisfy Tax Bills

Jno. D. Jenkins, Seminole County tax collector, reported today that taxpayers owning property which is under the authority of his office have turned in $170,611.57 of the 1936 assessment roll. He said allowable discounts of $6,056.76 have been made, bringing a total of $176,668.31.

Mr. Jenkins' figures covered a period which ended in mid-March when a total of 55.7 percent of the $17,131.30 State and County assessment had been paid on Seminole County property. The collector emphasized that any taxes on lands remaining unpaid on the first Monday in April are delinquent, adding that the law requires that this property be advertised and sold for the satisfaction of the tax bill. "Unpaid personal property taxes on remaining unpaid become delinquent on the same date," Mr. Jenkins remarked, "and the law requires the tax collector to advertise such property and sell it to satisfy the tax collector's lien on the property."

The collector said he anticipated a last-minute rush to settle outstanding tax bills before they become delinquent. A review of records in other Florida counties show Seminole to have been one of the leaders in the percentage of taxes paid in 1936 when 93 percent of those assessed had been settled before Mr. Jenkins made his annual report. Remaining unpaid on the 1936 roll is the amount of $166,422.94, according to Mr. Jenkins' figures.

Officials Discuss Extra Insurance For City Workmen

City Commissioners last night discussed the possibility of subscribing a certain amount of casualty insurance which would cover any accident involving the deaths of two or more employees in one accident.

As his own insurer, the municipality procures bond against accidents or mishaps in which its employees are injured. The self-insurer policy was adopted because of the excessive premiums charged by commercial companies. The Commission authorized the payment of $100 to the Florida League of Municipalities to be used by the organization in its legislative program. Also approved was the purchase of a City bond from Fred R. Wilson.

Legion Canvass Is Planned To Raise Drum, Bugle Funds

Sanford Legionnaires last night laid plans for a public canvass to raise at least $500 with which to purchase equipment to outfit another unit of the Sons of the Legion Drum and Bugle Corps.

A Legion Committee was scheduled to start the financial campaign this afternoon. The drive is planned to continue for 10 days. Perry Hove, Legion chairman on boys' work, said instruments for the second unit already have been credited on pledges of Legionnaires that the money will be raised.

Mr. Hove said he expected to have about 40 to 50 boys in the Junior Legion outfit who will be able to qualify for a place on the drum and bugle corps.

Two Rollins College Boys Die In Crash

Orlando, New Jersey Youth Fatally Injured; Trio Of Others Also Hurt

RICHMOND, Va., Mar. 16.—(AP)—Two Rollins College students were killed and two others and a professor seriously injured near here yesterday when a large sedan carrying the undefeated fencing team to scheduled matches with a northern school, swerved from the rain-swept Richmond-Petersburg highway, crashed into a telephone pole and burned.

Don Cheney, 20, of Orlando, Fla., and Malcolm Corlies, 19, of East Orange, N. J., died almost instantly when the machine, attempting to pass another car, spun out of control. Fred, William Roney, 43-year-old modern language professor and coach of the fencing team, was seriously injured, as were Jack Hagenbuch, 18, of Newark, N. J., driver, and Gene Townsend, 21, of Orlando, Fla., Oscar Sherman, Jr., 19, of New York, George E. Fuller, 22, of Mobile, Ala., and Don Alfred Cotruilo, 20, team captain, were only slightly bruised and did not require hospitalization.

At Memorial Hospital here physicians said Hagenbuch and Professor Roney appeared the most seriously hurt, although all suffered commotion of the brain. Hagenbuch, who suffered a depressed fracture of the skull, probably will be operated on today, they said. Professor Roney received several severe scalp lacerations and several fractured ribs. His skull apparently was not fractured, as first was feared, attendants said.

Townsend escaped with deep scalp lacerations and concussion and appeared the least dangerously hurt of the three. All were conscious last night and raving "fairly" well, the hospital said. Cotruilo and his two roommates who were not hurt, visibly shaken by the tragedy, registered at the Richmond Young Men's Christian Association, to await advice from school authorities.

Lottery Ticket Possession Charge Draws Fine By Judge Miller; Disorderly House Operator Feels Wrath

John Walker, white, was hauled into Municipal Court yesterday on a charge of being drunk and disorderly but found two more allegations against his name before Judge Frank Miller called for the next case.

Walker received a fine of $10 or a sentence of 30 days for the original charge. When an officer reported he had resisted arrest, the judge slapped on another $5 or 10 days. The prisoner seemed to resent the addition and his action resulted in a third charge of contempt of court for which he was fined another $5 or a sentence of 10 days.

Berry Stebbins, negro, was arrested a $35 fine or remanded to jail for 70 days on an allegation of possessing a lottery ticket. A similar sentence was handed Maggie White, colored, charged with operating a disorderly house.

A $10 bond was exacted by J. B. McDonald, white, on a drunkness charge, and a similar allegation against T. D. Warren, also white, resulted in a suspended sentence.

City Officials Get First View Of Park Program

Long-Time Beautification Plan Laid Before Commission

The City Commission last night stamped its official approval on a tentative lakefront improvement plan drawn up by Herbert Flynt, landscape architect of Winter Park.

Officials poured over the large map prepared by Mr. Flynt, examining it in detail and announced it appeared to be the answer to the long-time beautification program they sought. The area shown on the chart begins at Sanford Avenue and runs east to San Juan Avenue in length. In breadth, the section runs north and south between Lakeshore Boulevard and First Street.

Beginning at the west end, Mr. Flynt has planned an open-air auditorium which he would locate at First Street and Cross Avenue. Just to the north of the stage he shows several shuffleboard courts and a bowling court.

Progressing to the east, one finds a spacious lawn which reaches through the entire depth of the park. Its center is at a point where Pine Avenue intersects with First Street.

Adding to the lawn on the east are several tennis courts. A public swimming pool is laid out by the architect in the center of the park where Chapman Avenue strikes First Street. To the northeast of the pool are more tennis courts, while to the southeast lies a basketball court.

Further to the east is shown a diamondball court. At Lakeshore Avenue another lawn is proposed to span the complete depth of the park. Between this layout of grass and San Juan Avenue is a children's playground.

Throughout the whole of the project, Mr. Flynt has dotted his map with large shade trees, shrubbery and flowers. All are set down in excellent geometrical pattern.

New Yorker Says Celery Not Found In Dining Houses

A New Yorker winning in Sanford told the Chamber of Commerce today that he was particularly surprised to find himself in the world's celery center and yet was seldom able to get celery in any public establishment unless it was "specially ordered."

The Chamber rallied immediately to mimeograph a stack of letters addressed to all public dining units, urging that celery not only be served with every meal, but that it be made an object of table decoration.

"There are many delicious ways of preparing celery," the bulletin read, "other than using it as a raw food. We are sure your guests would enjoy it."
